4 And if they blow but with one trumpet, then the princes which are heads of the thousands of Israel, shall gather themselves unto thee.

5 When ye blow an alarm e, then the camps that lie on the east-part, shall go forward.

e To wit, once, as appears from ver. 6.

6 When ye blow an alarm the second time, then the camps that lie on the south-side, shall take their journey: they shall blow an alarm for their journeys f.

f As a sign for them to march forward, and consequently for the rest to follow them, which is easily understood out of these words.

7 But when the congregation is to be gathered together, ye shall blow: but ye shall not sound an alarm.

8 And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow with the trumpets g: and they shall be to you for an ordinance for ever throughout your generations.

g To oblige them to the greater regard and observance, as if God himself had called them.

9 And if ye go to war in your land against the enemy that oppresseth you, then ye shall blow an alarm with the trumpets h, and ye shall be remembred before the LORD your God, and ye shall be saved from your enemies i.

h Which was practised accordingly. See Numb. 31. 6. 2 Chron. 13. 12. i If you use this ordinance of God with trust and dependance upon God for help, which condition is necessarily to be understood from divers other Scriptures, where it is expressed.

10 Also * in the days of your gladness k, and in * ch. 29. 1 Chron. 23. your solemn days l, and in the beginnings of your 24. 2 Chron. months m, ye shall blow with the trumpets over your 12. & 16. burnt-offerings, and over the sacrifices of your peace- & 29. 26 offerings, that they may be to you for a memorial be- Ezra 3. 10. fore your God n: I am the LORD your God. Neh. 12. 35.

k (i. e.) Days appointed for rejoycing and thanksgiving to God, either for former mercies, or for succeeding deliverances, as Esth. 9. 18, &c. Compare Hos. 2. 11. l Your stated and constant festivals. m Of which see, Psal. 81. 3. n That God may remember you for good to accept and bless you; as that phrase oft signifies.

11 And it came to pass on the twentieth day of the second month, in the second year, that the cloud was taken up from off the tabernacle of the testimony.

12 And the children of Israel took * their journeys * ch. 2. 9, out of the wilderness of Sinai, and the cloud rested in 16, 24, 33. the wilderness of Paran o:

o From which they travelled to other places, and then returned into it again, Numb. 12. 16.

13 And they first took their journey, according to the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

14 * In the first place went the standard of the camp * ch. 2. 3. of the children of Judah, according to their armies: and over his host was * Nahshon the son of Ammina- * ch. 1. 4. dab.

15 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Issachar, was Nethaneel the son of Zuar.

16 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, was Eliab the son of Helon.

17 And * the tabernacle was taken down, and the * ch. 1. 51. sons of Gershon, and the sons of Merari set forward, * * ch. 4. 24, bearing the tabernacle. 31.

18 And the * standard of the camp of Reuben set * ch. 2. 10. forward according to their armies: and over his host was Elizur the son of Shedeur.

19 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Simeon, was Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

20 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Gad, was Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

21 And the Kohathites set forward, bearing the * * ch. 4. 4. sanctuary, and ‖ the other p did set up the tabernacle ‖ That is, against they came. the Gershonites, and the Merarites. See ver. 17.

p (i. e.) The Gershonites, and Merarites, as is evident both from their work and office, which was to take down and set up the Tabernacle, Numb. 3. 25——26. and 4. 22——33. and from ver. 17. who therefore marched after the first camp, a good distance from and before the Kohathites, that they might prepare the Tabernacle for the reception of its utensils, which the Kohathites brought some time after them.

22 And * the standard of the camp of the children * ch. 2. 18. of Ephraim set forward according to their armies: and over his host was Elishama the son of Ammihud.

23 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Manasseh, was Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.

24 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, was Abidan the son of Gideoni.

25 And * the standard of the camp of the children * ch. 2. 31. of Dan set forward which was the rereward of all the camps throughout their hosts, and over his host was Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.

26 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Asher, was Pagiel the son of Ocran.

27 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, was Ahira the son of Enan.

28 † Thus were the journeyings q of the children of † Heb. Israel, according to their armies when they set forward. These.

q (i. e.) In this manner and order they marched.

29 And Moses said unto Hobab, the son of Raguel r the Midianite, Moses his father in law s, We are journeying unto the place of which the LORD said, I will give it you: come thou with us, and * we will do thee good: for the * Judg. 1. LORD hath spoken good concerning Israel. 16.

r Called also Revel, Exod. 2. 18. who seems to be the same who is called Jethro, Exod. 3. 1. it being usual in Scripture for one person to have two or three names. And therefore this Hobab is not Jethro, but his son, which may seem more probable, because Jethro was old and unfit for travel, and desirous, as may well be thought, to die in his own Country, whether he returned, Exod. 18. 27. but Hobab was young and fitter for these journeys, and therefore intreated by Moses to stay and bear them company. s Which words are ambiguous; but seem to belong to Raguel, or Revel, not to Hobab, tho' others are of another mind.

30 And he said unto him, I will not go t, but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred.

t So he might truly and sincerely say, though after this speech he was overcome by the intreaties and perswasions of Moses. Or, he did go and settle his affairs and afterwards return: for we find his posterity settled among the Israelites. See Judg. 1. 16. & 4. 11, 18, &c.

31 And he said, Leave us not, I pray thee, forasmuch as thou knowest how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and thou mayest be to us instead of eyes u.

u To direct and guide us: for though the cloud determined them to a general place, yet many particulars might be uncertain and unknown to Moses, wherein Hobab, having long lived in those parts, might be able to advise him, as concerning the conveniences of water for their Cattle, concerning the safety or danger of the several parts by reason of Serpents or Wild-beasts, or Enemies, in the parts adjoining to them, that so they might guard themselves better against them. Or, this is to be understood of his directing them not so much in their way, as about great and difficult matters, wherein the counsel he had from God did not exclude the advice of men, as we see in Hobab's father Jethro, Exod. 18. And it is probable, this was the wise son of a wise father.

32 And it shall be if thou go with us, yea, it shall be, that what goodness the LORD shall do unto us, the same will we do unto thee.

33 And they departed from the mount of the LORD three days journey x: and the ark of the covenant of the LORD went before them y in the three days journey: * Deut. 1. 33. Jer. 31. 2. Ezek. 20. 6. to * search out a resting place z for them.

x With continued journeys, only it seems most probable, that the cloud made little pauses that they might have time for sleep and necessary refreshments, which their natures required. And thus all writers, when they relate the continued journeys of persons for many days together, are to be understood with this exception. y Not so much in place, say some, for so it went in the midst, or at least after the first camp, as may seem from ver. 21. as in office and authority, as a General who is said to go before or lead his Army, though he do not go in the very first place. But others more probably think, that the Ark, which indeed is not mentioned, ver. 21. albeit in their stations it was in the middle, where also the cloud was, yet in their marches it went before them, as also the cloud did, and so the cloud was constantly over the Ark whether it stood or went, and therefore the Ark is said to go before and direct them, not as if the Ark could be seen of all the camps, which being carried only upon mens shoulders was impossible, but because the cloud, which always attended upon the Ark, and did together with the Ark constitute in a manner one sign of God's presence, did lead and direct them. z Where they might safely and commodiously rest. But this is a metaphorical expression, for discovering to them; for otherwise the Ark could not search, and God, who knew all places and things, needed not to search.

34 And the cloud of the LORD was upon them by day †, when they went out of the camp.

† And by night too, as was expressed before. So we must learn to compare places of Scripture, and to supply the defects of one out of another, as we do in all authors.

35 And it came to pass when the ark set forward, that
* Psal. 68. 1, 2. Moses said, * Rise up, LORD, and let thine enemies be scattered, and let them that hate thee flee before thee.

36 And when it rested, he said, Return ‖, O LORD, † Heb. ten thousand thousands. unto the † many thousands of Israel.

‖ Or, give rest, i. e. a safe and quiet place, free from enemies and dangers.

CHAP. XI.

The murmuring of the People, for which the fire breaketh in upon them, 1. Moses prayeth to God, the fire is quenched, 2. The Name of the place, and why called, 3. The People murmur again, and lust after flesh, 4—— 6. Manna described, 7——9. Moses's Complaint and Prayer, 10——15. God commandeth him to gather 70 of the Elders of Israel to help him, 16, 17. Promising them flesh to eat, 18, 19, 20. Moses his Unbelief, 21, 22. God is angry with him, 23. Moses having gathered 70 of the Elders of Israel together, rehearseth the words of the Lord to him, 24. God coming down in a Cloud, taketh of Moses's spirit and giveth to the 70; The effects thereof, 25. Eldad and Medad Prophesie in the Camp, 26——29. God giveth them Quails to eat, 30——32. And smiteth the People with a very great Plague, 33, 34, 35.

‖ Or, were as it were complainers. † Heb. it was evil in the ears of, &c. * Psal. 78. 21. AND when the people ‖ complained a, † it displeased the LORD, and the LORD heard it, and his anger was kindled, and the fire of the LORD b burnt * among them, and consumed them that were in the uttermost parts of the camp c.

a Or, murmured, the occasion whereof seems to be their last three days journey in a vast howling wilderness, without any benefit; and thereupon the remembrance of their long abode in the wilderness, and the prospect and fear of many other tedious, and fruitless, and dangerous journeys, whereby they were like to be long delayed from coming to that rest, that land of milk and honey, which God had promised them, and which they thirsted after. b (i. e.) A fire sent from God in an extraordinary manner, possibly from the pillar of cloud and fire, or from heaven, as 2 King. 1. 12. c Either because the sin began there among the mixt multitude, who probably had their place there, or amongst those who were feeble and weary with their last journey, and therefore hindmost in the march: or in mercy to the people, whom he would rather awaken to repentance than utterly destroy, and therefore he sent it into the skirts and not the heart and midst of the camp.

2 And the people d cried unto Moses e: and when Moses prayed unto the LORD, the fire † was quench- † Heb. sunk. ed.

d The murmurers, being penitent; or others for fear. e Whom they knew to be very prevalent with God.

3 And he called the name of the place ‖ Taberah f: ‖ That is, because the fire of the LORD burnt among them. a burning.

f From this fire; as it was called Kibroth-hattaavah from another occasion, ver. 34, 35. and Numb. 33. 16. As it is no new thing in Scripture for persons and places to have two names. Both these names were imposed as monuments of the peoples sin and of God's just judgment. See Deut. 9. 7, 22, 24.

4 And the * mixt multitude g that was among them, * Exod. 12. † fell a lusting, and the children of Israel h also † wept 38. † Heb. lusted lust. again i, and said, * Who shall give us flesh k to eat?

g Consisting of Egyptians or other people, which being affected with God's miraculous works in Egypt, and thereupon believing the promise of God to carry them to a land of milk and honey, for their own advantage joined themselves to the Israelites, Exod. 12. 38. and now finding themselves sadly disappointed they discover their evil minds. h Whose special relation and obligation to God should have restrained them from such carriages. i This word relates either to their former murmuring upon this occasion a twelve-month before, Exod. 16. 2. or rather to their complaining mentioned, ver. 1. to note the aggravation of their sin, that having just now sinned in the same kind, and sorely smarted for their sin, and being but newly delivered from their fears and dangers caused thereby, they forthwith return to their vomit and murmur again, and that more passionately than before, expressing themselves in tears and bitter words. k This word is here taken generally so as to include fish, as the next words shew, and as it is used, 1 Cor. 15. 39. They had indeed flesh and cattel which they brought with them out of Egypt, but these were reserved for breed to be carried into Canaan, and were so few that they would scarce have served them for a month, as may be gathered from Numb. 11. 20, 21, 22. † Heb. turned and wept. * 1 Cor. 10. 6. Psal. 78. 18. & 106. 14.

5 * We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt * Exod. 16. freely l: the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, 3. and the onions, and the garlick.

l Either without price, for fish was very plentiful, and fishing was there free, or with a very small price; for nothing is sometimes put for a little, as Job. 18. 20. Act. 27. 33. and nunc for few, as Jer. 8. 6. 1 Cor. 2. 8. And this is the more probable because the Egyptians might not taste of fish, nor of the leeks and onions, which they worshipped for Gods, and therefore the Israelites, who speak these words, might have them there upon cheaper terms.

6 But now our soul m is dried away n; there is nothing at all besides this Manna, before our eyes o.

m Either 1. our life, as the soul signifies, Gen. 9. 5. Psal. 33. 19. Job. 36. 14. or 2. our body, which is oft signified by the soul, as Psal. 16. 10. and 35. 12. and 105. 18. So Levit. 19. 28. and 21. 1. Numb. 5. 2. n Is withered and pines away; which possibly might be true through envy and discontent, and inordinate appetite, as 2 Sam. 13. 4. Prov. 14. 30. o Heb. Our eyes see or look to nothing but this Manna. They speak as if the Manna were only useful to please their eyes, with its fine colour and shape, but not to satisfie their appetites, or sustain their natures.

7 And * the manna was as coriander-seed p, and the * Exod. 16. † colour thereof as the colour of bdellium q. 14, 31.

p Not for colour, for that is black, but for shape and figure. † Heb. eye

q Which is either 1. the gum of a tree, of a white and bright colour, of it as the or rather 2. a gem or precious stone, as the Hebrew Doctors take it; eye of. and particularly a pearl, as some render it, wherewith the Manna doth manifestly agree both in its colour, which is white, Exod. 16. 14. and in its figure which is round. See more on Gen. 2. 12.

8 And the people went about, and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it: and the taste of it was as the taste of fresh oyl r.

r Or, of the most excellent oyl; or, of the flour of oyl: or, as others, of cakes or paste made with the best oyl, the word cakes being easily supplied out of the foregoing member of the verse: or, which is not much differing, like wafers made with honey, as it is said Exod. 16. 31. The nature and use of Manna is here thus particularly described, to shew the greatness of their sin in despising such excellent food as this was.

9 And when the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell upon it s.

s And then the dew fell again upon it and covered it, as we see Exod. 16. 13, 14. so the Manna lay hid as it were between two beds of dew. Hence the phrase of hidden Manna, Rev. 2. 17.

10 Then Moses heard the people weep throughout their families, every man in the door of his tent t, and * the anger of the LORD was kindled greatly; Moses * Psal. 78. also was displeased u. 21.

t To note, that they were not ashamed of their sin. u Partly for their great unthankfulness; partly foreseeing the dreadful judgments coming upon them; and partly for his own burden expressed in the following verses.

11 And Moses said unto the LORD, Wherefore hast thou afflicted thy servant? and wherefore have I not found favour in thy sight x, that thou layest the burden of all this people upon me?

x Why didst thou not hear my prayer, when I desired thou wouldest excuse me, and commit the care and government of this unruly people to some other person? See Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 10.

12 Have I conceived all this people? have I ‖ begotten them y, that thou shouldest say unto me, Carry ‖ Or, bare them.

them in thy bosom (as a nursing father beareth the sucking-child) unto the land which thou sweares unto their fathers?

y Are they my children, that I should be obliged to provide food and all things for their necessity and desire? z Which expression shews the tender care and affection that governors by the command of God ought to have towards their people.

13 Whence should I have flesh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, saying, Give us flesh that we may eat.

14 I am not able to bear all this people a alone b, because it is too heavy for me.

a (i. e.) The burden of providing for and satisfying of them. b Obj. How was he alone, when there were others added to help him, Exod. 18. 21, 24? Answ. Those were only assistant to him in civil causes and smaller matters, but the harder and greater affairs, such as this unquestionably was, were brought to Moses and determined by him alone, Exod. 18. 22.

15 And if thou deal thus with me, * kill me, I pray thee, out of hand, if I have found favour in thy sight, and let me not see my wretchedness c.

c Heb. my evil, i. e. my intolerable anguish and torment, arising from the insuperable difficulty of my office and work of ruling this people, and from the dread of their utter extirpation which they will bring upon themselves, and the dishonour which thence will accrue to God and to religion, as if not I only but God also were an Impostor. Seeing is here put for feeling, as to see death, Psal. 89. 48. Luk. 2. 26. is to suffer it, and to see the salvation of God, Psal. 50. 23. & 91. 16. is to enjoy it.

16 And the LORD said unto Moses, Gather unto me * seventy men of the elders of Israel d, whom thou knowest to be the elders e of the people, and officers over them: and bring them unto the tabernacle of the congregation, that they may stand there with thee.

* See Exod. 4. 29.

d Of whom see Exod. 3. 16. and 5. 6. Levit. 4. 15. Deut. 16. 18. e Whom thou by experience discernest to be Elders not only in years, and name and place, but also in wisdom and gravity, and authority with the people.

17 And I will come down f, and talk with thee there, and I * will take of the spirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them g, and they shall bear the burden of the people with thee, that thou bear it not thy self alone.

f Not by local motion, but by my powerful presence and operation. See Gen. 11. 5. and Exod. 34. 5. g (i. e.) I will give the same spirit to them which I have given to thee. But as the spirit was not conveyed to them from or through Moses, but immediately from God, so the spirit or its gifts were not by this means impaired in Moses. The spirit is here put for the gifts of the spirit, as it is Numb. 27. 18. Joel 2. 28. Joh. 7. 39. Act. 19. 2, 6. 1 Cor. 14. 12, 32. and particularly for the spirit of prophecy, v. 25. whereby they were enabled, as Moses had been and still was, to discern hidden and future things, and resolve doubtful and difficult cases, which made them fit for government. It is observable, that God would not, and therefore men should not, call any persons to any office for which they were not sufficiently fit and qualified.

18 And say thou unto the people, Sanctifie your selves h against to morrow, and ye shall eat flesh: (for ye have wept in the ears of the LORD i, saying, Who shall give us flesh to eat? for it was well with us in Egypt) therefore the LORD will give you flesh, and ye shall eat.

h (i. e.) Prepare your selves, either to receive the miraculous blessings of God, the flesh you desire: or rather, prepare to meet thy God, O Israel, in the way of his judgments, and to receive the punishment which God will inflict upon you; for it is evident from ver. 20. that God answered them with a curse instead of a blessing. Prepare your selves by true repentance, that you may either obtain some mitigation of the plague, or, whilest your bodies are destroyed by the flesh you desire and eat, ver. 33, 34. your souls may be saved from the wrath of God. Sanctifying is oft used for preparing, as Jer. 6. 4. and 12. 3. and 51. 28. i Not secretly in your closets, but openly and impudently in the doors of your tents, ver. 10. calling heaven and earth to witness your cries and complaints.

19 Ye shall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, neither ten days, nor twenty days:

20 But even a † whole month, until it come out at your nostrils k, and it be loathsome unto you l; because ye have despised the LORD m which is among you n, and have wept before him, saying, Why came we forth out of Egypt o?

k Which meat loathed and violently vomited up frequently doth. l Being glutted with the abundance of it. Thus God destroys them by granting their desires, and turns even their blessings into curses: whilest he deals much more favourably with Moses, though he also fell into the same sin with the people, i. e. impatience and murmuring. But God will make a great difference between persons and persons, and between Moses his sins of infirmity and the peoples presumptuous and oft repeated provocations. m (i. e.) You have lightly esteemed his bounty and manifold blessings in Manna and other things, and have preferred the leeks, onions, &c. of Egypt before them all: you have sleighted and distrusted his promises and providence after so long and large experience of it. n Who is present and resident with you to observe all your carriages, and to punish your offences. This is added as a great aggravation of the crime, to sin in the presence of the Judge.

o Why did God do us such an injury? Why did we so foolishly follow and obey him in coming forth?

21 And Moses said, * The people amongst whom I am, are six hundred thousand footmen p, and thou hast said, I will give them flesh that they may eat a whole month.

* Exod. 12. 37. 46.

p Fit for war, Exod. 12. 37. besides women, children, &c. That Moses speaks this as doubting or distrusting God's words is evident enough from ver. 22, 23. And that Moses was not remarkably punished for this as he was afterward for the same sin, Numb. 20. next to God's good pleasure may be imputed to the different circumstances of this and that sin: this was the first great offence of this kind, and therefore more easily passed by, that was after warning and against more light and experience. This seems to have been spoken secretly in Moses his breast: that openly and publickly before the people, and to their scandal, and therefore it was fit to be openly and severely punished to prevent the contagion of that example.

22 Shall the flocks and the herds be slain for them, to suffice them q? or shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them to suffice them?

q Will they be sufficient for them? or where shall they have more?

23 And the LORD said unto Moses, * Is the LORDS hand waxed short r? thou shalt see now whether my word shall come to pass unto thee, or not.

* Isa. 50. 2 & 59. 1.

r (i. e.) Less able to work such great and glorious miracles as I have done.

24 And Moses went out s and told the people the words of the LORD, and gathered the seventy men t of the elders of the people, and set them round about the tabernacle u.

s Out of the tabernacle, into which he entred to receive God's answers from the Mercy-seat, Numb. 7. 89. t Either they are called seventy from the stated number, though two of them were lacking, ver. 26. as the Apostles are called the twelve, Mat. 26. 20. when one of that number was absent: or, he is said to have gathered them, when he gave command to gather them. u Partly that the awe of God might be imprinted upon their hearts, that they might more seriously undertake and more faithfully manage their high employment, partly to gain them the more authority and respect from the people, and principally, because that was the place where God manifested himself, and gave his blessings, and therefore there he would bestow his spirit upon them.

25 And the LORD came down in a cloud, and spake unto him, and took of the spirit that was upon him, and gave it unto the seventy elders; and it came to pass, that when the spirit rested upon them x, they prophesied y, and † did not cease ‖.

x (i. e.) Not only moved them for a time, but took up his settled abode with them, because the use and end of this gift was not temporary but perpetual. y (i. e.) Discoursed of the word and works of God in a singular and marvellous manner, as the Prophets did. So this word is used, 1 Sam. 10. 5, 6. Joel 2. 28. Act. 2. 17. 1 Cor. 14. 3. Yet were they not hereby constituted Prophets or teachers, but civil Magistrates and Rulers, who together with the spirit of government, which is here sufficiently implied, received also the spirit of Prophecy, as a sign and seal both to themselves and to the people, that God had called them to that employment and would be with them in it; as it was with Saul upon the same occasion, 1 Sam. 10. 10. ‖ Either for that day, they continued in that exercise all that day, and, it may be, all the night too, as it is said of Saul, 1 Sam. 19. 24. or, afterwards also, to note that this was a continued gift conferred upon them to enable them the better to discharge their Magistracy; which was more expedient for them then for the Rulers of other people, because the Jews were under a Theocracy or the government of God, and even their civil controversies were decided out of that word of God which the Prophets expounded, and in their wilderness condition they had frequent occasions of seeking counsel from God, which was the work of Prophets, and they were to determine all things agreeably to the mind and will of God, which therefore they were obliged to study. Others translate the words, and they added not: so the sence is, They prophesied only this day for an assurance of vocation to and due qualification for their work, but afterwards they prophesied no more; the gift of prophecy ceased in them, and only the spirit of government rested upon them.

26 But there remained two of the men in the camp z, the name of the one was Eldad, and the name of the other, Medad: and the spirit rested upon them (and they were of them that were written a, but went not out unto the tabernacle) and they prophesied in the camp.

z Not going to the Tabernacle, as the rest did, either modestly declining that high employment from an humble sence of their own insufficiency, as Saul did, 1 Sam. 10. 22. or not having sufficient or seasonable notice to repair thither: or, being detained in the camp and in their dwellings whether by uncleanness, or sickness, or some urgent occasion, not without God's special providence, that so the Miracle might be more evident, and their call and authority more unquestionable to all the people. a To wit, in a book or paper by Moses, who by God's direction nominated the fittest and worthiest persons.

27 And there ran a young man, and told Moses b, and said, Eldad and Medad do prophesie in the camp.

b Fearing least his authority should be diminished by their prophesying; and thereby, as by the signal given at this time, taking authority to themselves without his knowledge and consent.

28 And Joshua the son of Nun the servant of Moses, one

* See Luk. 9. 49. one of his young men c answered, and said, * My lord Moses, forbid them d.

c Or, one of his choice ministers, a chosen or excellent person: which may be emphatically added, to note that even great and good men may mistake and mis-judge about the works of God. Or, from his youth, as the words will bear, and the Chaldee, Syr. &c. render it. So it may be added as a reason why Joshua above others were concerned for Moses his honour and authority. d He feared either schism, or sedition, or that by their usurpation of authority independently upon Moses and separately from him, his power and esteem might be lessened, as the next words shew.

29 And Moses said unto him, Envyest thou for my sake e? would God that all the LORDS people were prophets f, and that the LORD would put his spirit upon them.

e Art thou grieved because the gifts and graces of God are imparted to others besides me? Compare Joh. 3. 26. f He saith Prophets, not rulers, for that he knew was absurd and impossible.

30 And Moses gat him into the camp g, he and the elders of Israel.

g Among the people, to exercise the gifts and authority now, or formerly received.

31 And there went forth a * wind from the LORD b, and brought quails i from the sea k, and let them fall by the camp, † as it were a days journey on this side, and as it were a days journey on the other side round about the camp, and as it were two cubits high upon the face of the earth l.

* Exod. 16. 13. Psal. 78. 26. and 105. 40. † Heb. as it were the way of a day.

b (i. e.) An extraordinary and miraculous wind both for its vehemency and for its effects. i A delicious and very nourishing food, which, considering their greedy appetite, and the newness and plenty of it, disposed them to surfets and other distempers of body, and prepared the way for the following plague. God gave them quails once before, Exod. 16. 13. but neither in the same quantity, nor with the same design and effect as now. k Principally from the Red sea, and both sides of it; where, by the report of ancient heathen writers, they were then in great numbers, and, no doubt, were wonderfully increased by Gods special providence now for this very occasion. l Not as if the quails did cover all the ground two cubits high for a days journey on each side of the camp, for then there had been no place left where they could spread them all abroad round about the camp, as it is said they did, ver. 32. but the meaning is, that the quails came and fell down round about the camp for a whole days journey on each side of it, and that in all that space they lay here and there in great heaps, which were oft-times two cubits high.

m Or rather rose up, which word is oft used for attempting or beginning to do any business. n Some at one time, and some at the other, and some, through the greediness or diffidence, at both times. o (i. e.) Ten ass loads. Which if it seem incredible, you must consider, 1. that the gatherers here were not all the people, which could not be without great confusion and other inconveniencies, but some on the behalf of all, possibly one for each family, or the like, while the rest were exercised about other necessary things. So the meaning is not, that every Israelite had so much for his share, but that every collector gathered so much for the family, or others by whom he was intrusted. 2. That the people did not gather for their present use only, but for a good while to come as we shall see, and being greedy and distrustful of God's goodness, it is not strange if they gathered much more than they needed. 3. That the word, rendred homers, may signifie heaps, as it doth, Exod. 8. 14. Judg. 15. 16. Hab. 3. 15. and ten is oft put for many, and so the sence is, that every one gathered several heaps. If yet the number seems incredible, it must be further known. 4. That heathen and other authors affirm, that in those eastern and southern countreys quails are innumerable, so that in one part of Italy, within the compass of five miles, there were taken about an hundred thousand of them every day for a month together; and that sometimes they fly so thick over the sea, that being weary they fall into ships, sometimes in such numbers that they sink them with their weight, as Varro and Solinus affirm. And Athenæus relates, that in Egypt, a country prodigiously populous, as all agree, they were in such plenty, that all those vast numbers of people could not consume them, but were forced to salt and keep them for their future use. So that there is no need at all that God should create innumerable quails for this purpose: which yet if it were affirmed he did, Atheists and Anti-scripturists have no occasion of triumph, since they must either own the creation of the world, which is a far greater miracle, or ascribe the production of the world to a casual jumble of Atoms, which is more senceless and ridiculous than all the fables of the Poets. p That so they may dry them, and salt them, and preserve them for their future use, according to what they had seen and learned in Egypt.

* Psal. 78. 30, 31. 33 And while the * flesh was yet between their teeth, ere it was chewed q, the wrath of the LORD was kindled against the people, and the LORD smote the people with a very great plague r.

q Heb. cut off, to wit, from their mouths, which is here understood, and expressed Joel 1. 5. i. e. ere it was taken away, as the flocks are said to be cut off from the fold, Heb. 3. 17. when they are lost and perished. The sence is, before they had done eating their quails, which lasted for a month, as appears from ver. 20. r Whether it was leanness sent into them, Psal. 106. 15. whereby the food was deprived of its nourishing power which it hath only from Gods blessing; or surfet, a punishment most suitable to their sin, and most likely to follow their intemperate desire and use of this food; or the pestilence, it is not much material: but a great and sore plague unquestionably it was. Quest. Why did God so sorely punish the peoples murmuring and complaining for lack of flesh here, when he spared them after the same sin, Exod. 16? Ans. Because this sin was a far greater sin than that, and aggravated with worse circumstances; as proceeding not from necessity, as that did, when as yet they had no food, but from meer lust and wantonness, when they had Manna constantly given them; as committed after large experience of Gods care and kindness, after God had pardoned their former sins, and after God had in a solemn and terrible manner made known his laws and duty to them.

34 And he called the name of that place * Kibrothhat-taavah, because there they buried the people that lusted.

* That is, the graves of lust.

s Heb. the graves of lust, i. e. of the men that lusted, as it here follows. The abstract for the concrete, which is frequent, as poverty, 2 King. 24. 14. pride, Psal. 36. 11. deceit, sins, Prov. 13. 6. &c. dreams, Jer. 27. 9. are put for men who are poor, or proud, or deceitful, or sinful, or dreamers. And it notes, that this plague did not seize upon all that did eat of the quails, for then all had been destroyed, but only upon those who were inordinate both in the desire and use of them.

35 And the people journeyed from Kibroth-hattaavah unto Hazeroth t: and † abode at Hazeroth.

* Heb. they were in, &c.

t Of which place see on Numb. 33. 17. and Deut. 1. 1.

CHAP. XII.

Miriam and Aaron murmur against Moses, 1, 2, 3. God commandeth him, Aaron and Miriam to come to the Tabernacle, which they did, 4, 5. God rebuketh Aaron and Miriam, 6—9. Miriam becometh Leprous, 10. Aaron humbling himself before Moses, 11, 12. he interceedeth for him, 13. Miriam remains without the camp seven days, 14, 16.

1 AND Miriam and Aaron a spake against Moses, because of the * Ethiopian woman b whom he had married, (for † he had * married an Ethiopian woman.)

a Whom God permitted to murmur against their brother, partly to exercise and discover his admirable meekness and patience for 21. the instruction of after ages: and partly that by this shaking Moses * Heb. his authority might take the deeper root, and the people might be taken. deterred from all sedition and rebellion against him, by this example. Miriam seems to be first named, because she was the chief instigatour or first mover of the sedition; wherefore she also is more eminently punished. b Which was either 1. Zipporah, who is here called an Ethiopian, in the Hebrew a Cushite, because she was a Midianite: the word Cush being generally used in scripture, not for Ethiopia properly so called below Egypt, but for Arabia, as some late learned men have evidently proved from 2 King. 19. 9. 2 Chron. 21. 16. Ezek. 29. 10. and 30. 8, 9. Hab. 3. 7. and other places. If she be meant, as it is commonly conceived, I suppose they did not quarrel with him for marrying her, because that was done long since, but for indulging her too much, and being swayed by her and her relations, by whom they might think he was perswaded to make this innovation, and to chuse seventy Rulers, as he had been formerly, Exod. 18. by which copartnership in government they thought their authority and reputation much diminished, especially thought their authority and reputation much diminished, especially when no notice was taken nor use made of them in the choice, but all was done by the direction of Moses, and for his assistance in the all was done by the direction of Moses, and for his assistance in the government. And because they durst not accuse God, who was the government. And because they durst not accuse God, who was the chief agent in it, they charge Moses, his instrument, as the manner of men is. Or 2. some other woman, though not named in Scripture, whom he married either whilst Zipporah lived, or rather because she was now dead, though that, as many other things, be not recorded. For, as the quarrel seems to be about his marrying a stranger, so it is probable it was a late and fresh occasion about which they contended, and not a thing done 40 years ago. And it was lawful for him as well as any other to marry an Ethiopian or Arabian woman, provided she were, as doubtless this woman was, a sincere profelyte, which were by the law of God admitted to the same priviledges with the Israelites, Exod. 12. 48. so there might be many reasons why Moses might chuse to marry such a person rather than an Israelite, or why God so ordered it by his providence, either because she was a person of eminent worth and vertue, or because God intended that the government should not be continued in the hands of Moses his children, and therefore would have some political blemish to be upon the family, as being strangers by one parent. And this they here urge as a blemish to Moses also.

2 And they said, Hath the LORD indeed spoken only by Moses? * hath he not spoken also by us c? And the LORD heard it d.

c Are not we Prophets as well as he? so Aaron was made, Exod. 4. 15, 16. and so Miriam is called, Exod. 15. 20. See also Mic. 6. 4. And Moses hath debased and mixed the holy seed, which we have not done. Why then should he take all power to himself, and make rulers as he pleaseth, without consulting us in the case? d (i. e.) Observed their words and carriage to Moses.

3 (Now the man Moses was very meek e, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth.

e This is added as the reason why Moses took no notice of their reproach, but was one that heard it not, and why God did so speedily and severely plead Moses his cause, because he did not seek himself. Quest. 1. Did it become Moses thus to commend himself? Answ. 1. The holy pen-men of Scripture are not to be meastured or censured by other profane Writers, because they are guided by special instinct, in every thing they write; and as they oft-times publish their own and their near relations greatest faults, where it may be useful to the honour of God, and the edification of the Church in after ages, so it is not strange if for the same reasons sometimes they commend themselves, especially when they are forced to it by the insolence and contempt of their adversaries, which was Moses his case here, in which case St. Paul also commends himself, 2 Cor. 11. 5, &c. and 12, 11, 12. Which they might the better do, because all their writings and carriage made it evident to all men, that they did not this out of vain glory, and that they were exalted above the affectation of mens praises, and the dread of mens reproaches. 2. This might be added, as some other clauses were, by some succeeding Prophet, which was no dispargement to the authority of the holy Scriptures, seeing it is all written by one hand, though divers pens be used by it. Quest. 2. How was Moses so meek, when we oft-times read of his anger, as Exod. 11. 8. and 16. 20. and 32. 19. Levit. 10. 16. Numb. 16. 15. and 20. 10, 11, compared with Psal. 106. 32, 33. Answ. 1. The meekest men upon earth are provoked sometimes, yea oftner than Moses was. 2. True meekness doth not exclude all anger, but only such as is unjust or immoderate or implacable. Moses was and ought to be angry where God was offended and dishonoured, as he was in almost all the places alledged.

4 And the LORD spake suddenly f unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, Come out g ye three into the tabernacle of the congregation; and they three came out.

f Partly to shew his great respect unto Moses, and unto the grace of meekness; and partly to stifle the beginnings of the sedition, that this example might not spread amongst the people, who had too much of that leaven among them. g To wit, out of your private dwellings, and from amongst the people, both that you may not infect them by such scandalous words, and partly that you may know my pleasure and your own doom.

5 And the LORD came down in the pillar of the cloud, and stood in the door of the tabernacle h, and called Aaron and Miriam, and they both came forth.

h Where they stood without, not being admitted into the Tabernacle, as Aaron used to be: which is noted as a sign of Gods displeasure.

6 And he said, Hear now my words: if there be a prophet among you i, I the LORD will make my self known unto him in a vision k, and will speak unto him in a dream l:

i If you be Prophets, as you pretend, yet know there is a difference among Prophets, nor do I put equal authority and honour upon all of them. k Whereby God represents things to the mind of a Prophet when he is awake, as Gen. 15. 1. and 46. 2. Dan. 8. 18. and 10. 8. l By which God manifests his mind to them in a dream, as Gen. 20. 3. and 28. 12.

*Heb. 3. 2. 7 My servant Moses is not so, * who is faithful in all mine house m.

m (i. e.) Whom I have set over all my house, i. e. my Church and people, and therefore over you, and who hath discharged his office faithfully, and not partially and self-seekingly, as you sallly accuse him.

*Exod. 33. 11. 8 With him will I speak * mouth to mouth n, even apparently o, and not in dark speeches p, and the similitude of the LORD q shall he behold: wherefore then were ye not afraid to speak against my servant r Moses?

n (i. e.) Distinctly, by an articulate voice; immediately, not by an interpreter, nor by shadows and representations in his fancy, as it is in visions and dreams; and familiarly. This is called speaking face to face, 2 Epist. of John ver. 12. and 3 Epist. ver. 14. o Plainly and certainly. p Not in parables, similitudes, riddles, dark resemblances; as by shewing a boiling pot, an Almond Tree, &c. to Jeremy, a chariot with wheels, &c. to Ezekiel. q Not the face or essence of God, which no man can see and live, Exod. 33. 20. it being invisible, Col. 1. 15. and never seen by man, John 1. 18. but some singular manifestation of his glorious presence, as Exod. 33. 11, 20, &c. and 34. 5, &c. Deut. 34. 10. Yea the Son of God appeared to him in an humane shape, which he took up for a time, that he might give him a foretaste of his future incarnation. r Who is so in such an eminent and extraordinary manner.

9 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against them, and he departed s.

s From the door of the Tabernacle, in token of his great displeasure, not waiting for their answer, and judging them unworthy of any further discourse.

10 And the cloud departed from off the the tabernacle t, and * behold, Miriam became leprous u, white as snow x: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and behold, she was leprous.

t Not from the whole Tabernacle, for then they must have removed, but from that part of the Tabernacle, whither it was come, to that part which was directly over the Mercy-seat, where it constantly abode. u She, and not Aaron, either because she was first or chief in the transgression; or because God would not have his worship either interrupted or dishonoured, which it must have been if Aaron had been leprous. x This kind of leprosie was the most virulent and incurable of all. See Exod. 4. 6. 2 Kings 5. 27. It is true, when the leprosie began in a particular part, and thence spread it self over all the flesh by degrees, and at last made it all white, that was an evidence of the cure of the leprosie, Levit. 13. 12, 13. but it was otherwise when one was suddenly and extraordinarily smitten with this universal whiteness, which shewed the great corruption of the whole mass of blood, as it was here.

11 And Aaron said unto Moses, Alas, my lord, I beseech thee, lay not the sin upon us y wherein we have done foolishly, and wherein we have sinned.

y Let not the guilt and punishment of this sin rest upon us, upon her in this kind, upon me in any other kind, but pray to God for the pardon and removal of it.

12 Let her not be as one dead z, of whom the flesh is half consumed, when he cometh out of his mothers womb a.

z Either naturally, because part of her flesh was putrefied and dead, and not to be restored but by the mighty power of God: Or morally, because she was cut off from all converse with others, Levit. 13. 46. a Like an untimely birth without due shape and proportion, or like a still born child, that hath been for some time dead in the womb, which when it comes forth, is white and putrefied, and part of it consumed.

13 And Moses cryed unto the LORD, saying, Heal her now, O God, I beseech thee.

14 And the LORD said unto Moses, * If her father had but spit in her face b, should she not be ashamed c seven days? let her be * shut out from the camp seven days d, and after that let her be received in again.

*See Heb. 12. 9. *Lev. 13. 46.

b (i. e.) Expressed some eminent token of indignation and contempt, which this was, Job 30. 10. Isa. 50. 6. c And withdraw her self, from her fathers presence, as Jonathan did upon a like occasion, 1 Sam. 20. 34. So though God healed her according to Moses his request, yet he would have her publickly bear the shame of her sin, and be a warning to others to keep them from the same transgression. d The time appointed for cleansing the unclean. See Numb. 6. 9. and 31. 19.

15 And Miriam was shut out from the camp seven days: and the people journeyed not, till Miriam was brought in again e.

e Which was a testimony of respect to her both from God and from the people, God so ordering it, partly lest she should be overwhelmed by such a publick rebuke from God, and partly left, she being a Prophetess, together with her person, the gift of Prophesie should come into contempt.

16 And afterward the people removed from Hazeroth f, and pitched in the wilderness of Paran g.

f Where they abode, as is said, Numb. 11. 35. for Miriams sake. g (i. e.) In another part of the same wilderness, as may be gathered from Numb. 10. 12. See also Deut. 33. 2. It is possible they might have removed out of one part of that wilderness into another wilderness, and then returned again into another part of it, as we know the Israelites had many strange windings and turnings in their Wilderness travels. And this part was more especially called Rithmah, Numb. 33. 18. and Kadesh-barnea, Numb. 13. 26. Deut 1. 19. which were two noted places in that part, both which seem to be comprehended within their camp, or near adjoining to it.

CHAP. XIII.

God commandeth Moses to send Spies to search out the land of Canaan, 1, 2, 3. their names, 4——15. Moses's commandment where to go, and what to do, 16——22. their return with the fruits of the land, and their report, 23——29. they are encouraged by Caleb, 30, 31. but ten other dishearten 'em by their false Report, 32——35.

1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses a, saying, a. In answer to the peoples petition about it, as is evident from Deut. 1. 22. And it is probable from the following story, that the people desired it out of diffidence of Gods promise, and providence, though Moses liked of it as a prudent course to learn where or how to make the first invasion. And God granted their desire for their trial and punishment, as well knowing from what root it came.

2 * Send thou men b, that they may search the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel: of every tribe of their fathers c shall ye send a man, every one a ruler d among them.

*Chap. 32. 8. Deut. 1. 22.

b Do as the people press thee to do. c (i. r.) Which comes from their several parents or Patriarchs. d A person of wisdom and authority, which might make his witness more considerable with the people.

3 And Moses, by the commandment of the LORD, sent them from the Wilderness of Paran: all those men were heads of the children of Israel.

4 And these were their names: Of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur.

5 Of the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the son of Hori.

6 Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

7 Of the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph.

8 Of the tribe of Ephraim, Oshea e the son of Nun.

e Called also Joshua, ver. 16.

9 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu.

10 Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the son of Sodi.

11 Of the tribe of Joseph, namely, of the tribe of Manasseh f, Gaddi the son of Susi.

f (i. e.) Of that part of the tribe of Joseph, which is peculiarly called the tribe of Manasseh, as the other part of it was called the tribe of Ephraim, ver. 8. The name of Joseph is elsewhere appropriated to Ephraim, as Ezek. 37. 16, 19. Rev. 7. 8. here to Manasseh; possibly to aggravate the sin of the ruler of this tribe, who did so basely degenerate from his noble ancestor, Joseph.

12 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli.

13 Of the tribe of Asher, Shether the son of Michael.

14 Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vophsi.

16 These

16 These are the names of the men which Moses sent to spy out the land: and Moses called Oshea the son of Nun, Jehoshua g.

g Oshea notes a desire of Salvation, signifying, Save we pray thee, but Jehoshua, or Joshua includes a promise of Salvation, that he should save, or that God by his hands should save the people. So this was a prophecy of his succession to Moses in the government, and of the success of his arms.

17 And Moses sent them to spie out the land of Canaan, and said unto them, Get ye up this way southward h, and go up into the mountain i:

h (i. e.) Into the Southern part of Canaan, which was the nearest part, and the worst too, being dry and desert, Jos. 15. 1, 3. Judg. 1. 15. Psal. 126. 4. and therefore fittest for them to enter and pass through with less observation. i (i. e.) Into the mountainous country, and thence into the valleys, and so take an exact survey of the whole land.

18 And see the land what it is k, and the people that dwelleth therein, whether they be strong or weak, few or many:

k Both for largeness, and for nature and quality; as is more particularly expressed, ver. 19, 20.

19 And what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad l, and what cities they be that they dwell in, whether in tents m or in strong holds:

l Healthful, or unwholesome, fruitful or barren. m As the Arabians did, or in unwalled Villages, which, like tents, are exposed to an enemy.

20 And what the land is, whether it be fat n or lean, whether there be wood therein, or not. And be ye of good courage o, and bring of the fruit of the land, (now the time was the time of the first ripe grapes.)

n Rich and fertile. o Doubt not but God will preserve you in this dangerous Journey, and be not dismayed nor discouraged if you find the people numerous, potent, and well fortified.

21 So they went up, and searched the land, from the wilderness of Zin p, unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath q.

p In the south of Canaan, Numb. 34. 3. Jos. 15. 3. differing from the wilderness of Sin, which was nigh unto Egypt, Exod. 16. 1. q (i. e.) From the South they passed through the whole land even to the Northern parts of it, Rehob, a city in the North-west part, Jos. 19. 28. Judg. 1. 31. and Hemath, a city in the North-east part, Jos. 19. 35. Ezek. 47. 17. And that they might more expeditiously and securely perform this office, it is probable, that they divided themselves into several small parties, and informed themselves not only by their eye, but also by their ear, and the information of persons of whom they enquired about the nature and condition of their land.

22 And they ascended by the south r, and came s unto Hebron: where * Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, the children of Anak t were: (now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt u.)

r Here Moses having generally described their progress and course from South to North, now returns more particularly to relate some memorable places and passages, as that having entred the land in the southern parts, they travelled then till they came to Hebron. s Heb. He came, to wit, Caleb, as appears from Jos. 14. 9. 12, 14. For, as was now intimated, the spies distributed their work among them, and went either severally, or by pairs, and, it seems, the survey of this part was left to Caleb. t A famous giant so called, whose children these are called, either more generally, as all giants sometimes were, or rather more specially, because Arbah, from whom Hebron was called Kiriath-arbah, was the father of Anak, Jos. 15. 13. And this circumstance is mentioned as an evidence of the goodness of that land and soil, because the giants chose it for their habitation. u This seems to be noted to confront the Egyptians, who vainly boasted of the antiquity of their city Zoan above all places.

23 * And they came unto the † brook of Eshcol, and cut down from thence a branch with one cluster of grapes, and they bare it between two upon a staff x; and they brought of the pomegranates, and of the figs.

x Either for the weight of it, considering the length of the way they were to carry it; or for the preservation of it whole and entire. In those Eastern and Southern countries there are vines and grapes of an extraordinary bigness as Strabo and Pliny affirm.

*Or, Vally. †That is, a cluster of grapes.

24 The place was called the * brook † Eshcol, because of the cluster of grapes which the children of Israel cut down from thence.

25 And they returned from searching of the land after forty days.

26 And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh y, and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and shewed them the fruit of the land.

y So called by way of abbreviation, which is frequent in Hebrew names, for Kadesh-barnea, Deut. 1. 19. which some rashly confound with Kadesh in the wilderness of Sin, Numb. 20. 1. and 27. 14. and 33. 16. into which they came not till the 40th year after their coming out of Egypt, as appears from Numb. 33. 37, 38. whereas they were in this Kadesh in the second year, and before they received the sentence of their forty years abode in the wilderness.

z In the audience of the people, as appears from ver. 30. 33. a They craftily begin their relation with commendations, that their following slanders might be more easily believed.

28 Nevertheless, the * people be strong b that dwell in the land, and the cities are * walled, and very great: and moreover, we saw the children of Anak there.

*Deut. 2. 10, 21. *Deut. 1. 28.

b Potent for the strength of their body and the valour of their minds.

29 The Amalekite dwelleth in the land of the south c: and the Hittite, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite dwelleth in the mountains d: and the Canaanite dwelleth by the sea e, and by the coast of Jordan.

c Where we are to enter the land, and they who were so eager and fierce against us that they came into the wilderness to fight with us, will without doubt oppose us when we come close by their land, and are about to settle in their neighbourhood, the rather, to revenge themselves for their former loss and shame received by us. Therefore they mention them, though they were no Canaanites. d (i. e.) In the mountainous country in the South-east part of the land, so that you cannot enter there without great difficulty, both because of the noted strength and valour of those people, and because of the advantage they have from the mountains. e Not the mid-land Sea, which is commonly understood by that expression, but the salt or dead sea, as appears, 1. because it is that sea which is next to Jordan, as here follows: 2. because the Canaanites dwelt principally in those parts, and not near the mid-land sea. So these guard the entrance on the East-side, as the others do on the South.

30 And Caleb f stilled the people g before Moses h, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it, for we are well able to overcome it i.

f Together with Joshua, as is manifest from Numb. 14. 6. 7, 30. but Caleb alone is here mentioned, possibly because he spake first and most, which he might better do, because he might be presumed to be more impartial than Joshua, who being Moses his Minister might be thought to speak only what he knew his master would like. g Which implies either that they had began to murmur, or that by their looks and carriages they discovered that grief and anger which boiled in their breasts. h Or, towards Moses, against whom they were incensed, as the man who had brought them into such sad circumstances. i Partly in moral probability, because we are one people united under one head, whereas they are divided into several nations, and governments of differing counsels and interests and inclinations; and principally because of the assistance of the almighty God.

31 But the men that went up with him k, said, We be not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we l.

k All of them, Joshua excepted. l Both in stature of body and numbers of people. Thus they wickedly question the power and truth and goodness of God, of all which they had such ample testimonies.

32 And they brought up m an evil report of the land n, which they had searched, unto the children of Israel, saying, The land through which we have gone to search it, is a land * that eateth up the inhabitants thereof o: and † all the people that we saw in it, are * men of a great stature.

m Heb. brought forth, to wit, out of their mouths: they uttered a reproach or reproachful words. n (i. e.) Against, or, concerning the Land. It is the genitive case of the object, as Mat. 10. 1. and 14. 1. o Not so much by civil wars, as most think, for that was likely to make their conquest more easie; nor by the barrenness of the soil, which consumed the people with the excessive pains it required to make it fruitful, as others think, for they confessed the excellency of the land, ver. 27. but rather by the unwholesomness of the air and place, which they guessed from the many funerals, which, as some Hebrew Writers, not without probability affirm, they observed in their travels through it: though that came to pass from another cause, even from the singular providence of God, which, to facilitate the Israelites conquest, cut off vast numbers of the Canaanites either by a plague, or by the hornets sent before them, as is expressed, Jos. 24. 12. or some other way.

Heb. men of stature.

33 And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants: and we were in our own sight as grashoppers p, and so we were in their sight.

p (i. e.) Small and contemptible.

CHAP. XIV.

The children of Israel murmur against Moses and Aaron, 1——4. Moses, Aaron, Caleb and Joshua go to appease the people, 5—9. wherefore the people would have stoned 'em, 10. The Lord threatneth 'em with the pestilence, 11, 12. Moses intreateth the Lord for the people, 13—19. The Lord heareth Moses, 20—22. yet promiseth that the murmurers shall never enter into the Land of Canaan, 23. Judgments on the murmurers, 24. They that brought an evil report on the land die of the plague, 37. They who would take possession of the land contrary to Gods command are smitten, 40—45.

1 AND all the congregation a lifted up their voice, and cryed, and the people wept that night.

a Except Caleb and Joshua and some few others. A Synecdochical expression, the whole for the greatest part.

2 And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses, and against Aaron b, and the whole congregation said unto them, * Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt, or would God that we had died in this wilderness.

*See ver. 28, 29.

b As the instruments and occasions of their present calamity. c It was not long before they had their desire, and did die in the wilderness.

3 And

3 And wherefore hath the LORD d brought us unto this land, to fall by the sword, that our wives, and our children should be a prey e? were it not better for us to return into Egypt?

d From the instruments they rise higher, and strike at God the chief cause and author of their journey: by which we see the prodigious growth and progress of sin when it is not resisted. e To the Canaanites whose land we were made to believe we should possess.

4 And they said one to another, Let us make a captain f, and let us return into Egypt g.

f Instead of Moses, one who will be more faithful to our interest than he. g This was but a purpose or a desire, and yet it is imputed to them as if they had done it, Nehem. 9. 16, 17. they appointed a captain, &c. even as Abrahams purpose to offer up Isaac is reckoned for the deed, Heb. 11. 17. g Stupendious madness! whence should they have protection against the many hazards, and provision against all the wants of the wilderness? could they expect either Gods cloud to cover and guide them, or Manna from heaven to feed them? who should conduct them over the Red Sea? or, if they went another way, who should defend them against those nations whose borders they were to pass? what entertainment could they expect from the Egyptians, whom they had deserted and brought to so much ruine?

5 Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces h before all the assembly i of the congregation of the children of Israel.

h To testifie their hearty grief for the peoples blasphemy against God and sedition against Moses, and that dreadful judgment which they easily foresaw this must bring upon the congregation and people of God.

7 And they spake unto all the company of the children of Israel, saying, The land which we passed through to search it, is an exceeding good land.

8 If the LORD delight in us l, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us, a land which floweth with milk and honey.

l If by our rebellion and ingratitude we do not provoke God to loath and forsake us.

9 Only rebel ye not against the LORD, neither fear ye the people of the land, for they are bread for us m: † their defence n is departed from them, and the LORD is with us o: fear them not.

m We shall destroy them as easily as we do our bread or common food. C mpare Numbers 24. 8. Psal. 14. 4. n (i. e.) Their counsel, conduct, and courage, and especially, God, who was pleased to afford them his protection till their iniquities were full, Gen. 15. 16. is utterly departed from them, and hath given them up as a prey to us. o By his special grace and almighty power to save us from them and from all our enemies.

10 But all the congregation bade stone them with stones: and the glory of the LORD appeared p in the tabernacle q of the congregation, before all the children of Israel.

p Now in the extremity of danger to rescue his faithful servants, and to stop the rage of the people. q (i. e.) Upon or above the tabernacle, where the cloud usually resided, in which the glory of God did appear upon occasion, and now in a more illustrious manner, as the state of things required.

11 And the LORD said unto Moses, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be e're they believe me, for all the signs which I have shewed among them?

12 I will smite them with the pestilence, and disinherit them r, * and will make of thee a greater nation and mightier than they.

* Exod. 32. 10.

r This was not an absolute determination, as the event shewed, but only a commination, like that of Nineveh's destruction within 40 days, with a condition implyed, except there be speedy repentance, or powerful intercession.

13 And * Moses said unto the LORD, Then s the Egyptians shall hear it (for thou broughtest up this people in thy might from among them t.)

* Exod. 32. 12. Deut. 32. 27.

s (i. e.) In case thou dost utterly destroy them. t Whereby thou didst get great honour to thy self, which now thou wilt certainly lose.

14 And they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land u: * for they have heard that thou, LORD, art among this people; that thou, LORD, art seen face to face, and that * thy cloud standeth over them, and that thou goest before them, by day time in a pillar of a cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night.

* Exod. 15. 14. Josh. 2. 9. and 5. 1. * Exod. 33. 21.

u For there was much entercourse between these two nations.

x (i. e.) Altogether, or to a man; and suddenly as it were by one blow, as if all had but one neck.

16 Because the LORD was not * able to bring this people into the land which he sware unto them y, therefore he hath slain them in the wilderness.

* Deut. 9. 28.

y His power was quite spent in bringing them out of Egypt, and could not finish the work he had begun and had sworn to do.

17 And now, I beseech thee, let the power of my LORD be great z, according as thou hast spoken, saying, z (i. e.) Appear to be great, discover its greatness. A real verb put for a declarative, or the thing for the manifestation of the thing. And this may be understood either 1. of Gods power in preserving the people and carrying them on into Canaan, which sence may seem to be favoured by the foregoing verse, where the Egyptians deny that God had power to do so. And according to that sence he adds the following words, not as an explication of this power, but as an argument to move him to shew forth his power for his people notwithstanding theirs sins, according as, or rather because (as the Hebrew word is oft rendred) he had spoken saying, &c. and so he should maintain the honour and the truth of his own name or of those titles which he had ascribed to himself. Or 2. the power of his grace and mercy, or the greatness of his mercy, as he calls it, ver. 19. in pardoning of this and their other sins: for to this the following words manifestly restrain it, according as thou hast spoken, &c. where the pardon of their sins is the only instance of this power both described in Gods titles, ver. 18. and prayed for by Moses, ver. 19. pardon, I beseech thee, &c. and granted by God in answer to him, ver. 20. I have pardoned, &c. Nor is it strange that the pardon of sin, especially of such great sins, be spoken of as an act of power in God, because undoubtedly it is an act of omnipotent, and infinite goodness; whence despairing sinners sometimes cry out, that their sins are greater than God can pardon, as some translate Cains words, Gen. 4. 13. And since power is applied to Gods wrath in punishing sin, Rom. 9. 22. why may it not as well be attributed to Gods mercy in forgiving it? Especially if it be considered that even in men, revenge is an act of impotency, and consequently it must needs be an act of power to conquer their passions and inclinations to revenge, and to pardon those enemies whom they could destroy.

18 The LORD is * long-suffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression, and by no means clearing the guilty, * visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation a.

* Exod. 34. 6. Psal. 103. 8. * Exod. 20. 5. and 34. 7.

a These words may seem to be very improperly mentioned, as being a powerful argument to move God to destroy this wicked people, and not to pardon them. It may be answered, that Moses useth these words together with the rest, partly because he would not sever what God had put together, and partly to shew that he did not desire a full and absolute pardon, (but was willing that God should execute his vengeance upon the principal authors of this rebellion, & leave some charakter of his displeasure upon all the people, as God did,) but only that God would not disinherit them, ver. 12. nor kill all the people as one man, ver. 15. nor destroy them both root and branch, because he had promised not to extend his wrath against them in punishing their sins beyond the third and fourth generation. But the truer answer seems to be, that these words are to be transtated otherwise, and in destroying he will not utterly destroy, though he visit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation. Of which see the notes on Exod. 34. 7. where all this verse is explained.

19 Pardon, I beseech thee, the iniquity of this people, according to the greatness of thy mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this people from Egypt, even * until now b.

b After many and great provocations: shew thy self still to be the same sin-pardoning God.

20 And the LORD said, I have pardoned according to thy word c.

c So far, as not utterly to destroy them, as I threatned ver. 12. and thou didst fear, and beg the prevention of it, ver. 15.

21 But truly as I live, * all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD d.

* Psal. 72. 19.

d (i. e.) With the report of the glorious and righteous acts of God in punishing this rebellious people in manner following. That this is the true sence, appears both from the particle of opposition, and the solemn introduction of them, But truly as I live, and from the following verses, because all those men, &c. which come in without any note of opposition, and have a manifest relation to and connexion with this verse.

22 Because all those men which have seen my glory e, and my miracles which I did in Egypt, and in the wilderness, and have tempted me now these ten times f, and have not hearkened to my voice;

e (i. e.) My glorious appearances in the cloud, and in the Tabernacle. f (i. e.) Many times. A certain number for an uncertain, as Gen. 31. 7. Levit. 26. 8. Job. 19. 3. Though some reckon ten times precisely, wherein they did eminently provoke God.

* Deut. 1. 35. Psal. 95. 11. and 106. 26. Heb. 3. 17. † Heb. if they see the 24 But my servant * Caleb g, because he had another spirit with him h, and hath followed me fully i; him will I bring into the land, whereinto he went k, and his seed shall possess it l.

* Numb. 32. 12.

g Joshua is not here named, because he was not now among the people, but a constant attendant upon Moses, nor was he to be reckoned as one of them, any more than Moses and Aaron were, because he was to be their chief commander. h (i. e.) Was a man of another temper, and carriage, faithful and couragious, not acted by that evil spirit of cowardize, unbelief, unthankfulness, disobedience, which ruled in his brethren, but by the spirit of God. i (i. e.) Universally and constantly, in and through difficulties and dangers, which made his partners halt. k In general, Canaan, and particularly Hebron, and the adjacent parts, Jos. 14. 9. l Or, shall expel it, i. e. its inhabitants, the land being oft put for the people of it. Compare Jos. 8. 7. and 14. 12.

25 (Now the Amalekites, and the Canaanites dwelt in the valley m) to morrow turn ye, and get ye into the wilderness, by the way of the Red-sea n.

m Beyond the mountain at the foot whereof they now were, v. 40. And this clause is added, either 1. as an aggravation of Israel's misery and punishment, that being now ready to enter and take possession of the land they are forced to go back into the wilderness: or 2. as an argument to oblige them more willingly to obey the following command of returning into the wilderness, because their enemies were very near them, and severed from them only by that Homan mountain, and, if they did not speedily depart, their enemies would hear of them and fall upon them, and so the evil which before they causelesly feared would come upon them; they, their wives and their children would become a prey to the Amalekites and Canaanites, because God had forsaken them and would not assist nor defend them. The verse may be rendred thus, And or But, for the present, the Amalekite, and the Canaanite dwell in the valley: therefore (which particle is here understood, as it is in other places) to morrow turn ye, &c. Though some knit these words to the former, and read the place thus, Caleb—and his seed shall possess it, to wit, the land near Hebron, and also, the land of the Amalekites, and of the Canaanites that dwell in the valley. Quest. But how are the Canaanites said to dwell in the valley, here, when they dwelt in the hill, v. 45. and by the sea-coasts, Numb. 21. 1? Ans. 1. Part of them dwelt in one place, and part in other places. 2. The word, Canaanite, may here be understood more generally of all the inhabitants of Canaan. n (i. e.) That leadeth to the Red-sea, and to Egypt, the place whither you desire to return, v. 3, 4.

26 And the LORD spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying,

27 How long shall I bear with o this evil congregation which murmur against me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel which they murmur against me.

o Or, pardon, as v. 19, 20. or spare: which words are necessarily and easily understood. It is a short and imperfect speech, which is frequent in case of anger, as Exod. 32. 32. Psal. 6. 3. and 90. 13.

Ezech. 33. 11. and 18. 23, 32. and 33. 11. 28 Say unto them, * As truly as I live, saith the LORD, * ye have spoken p in mine ears, so will I do to you q:

Deut. 1. 35. Heb. 3. 10.

29 Your carcases shall fall in this wilderness, and all that were numbred of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward which have murmured against me.

30 Doubtless ye shall not come into the land concerning which I † sware to make you r dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

r (i. e.) Your Nation; for God did not swear to do so to these particular persons.

31 But your little ones which ye said should be a prey, them will I bring in, and they shall know the land which ye have despised.

32 But as for you, your carcases they shall fall in this wilderness.

33 And your children shall ‖ wander s in the wilderness forty years t, and bear your whoredoms u until your carcases be wasted in the wilderness.

s Like sheep feeding in the deserts: or, shall be shepherds, i. e. shall live like the shepherds of Arabia, in tents and removing from place to place, having no certain dwelling. t (i. e.) So long as to make up the time of your dwelling in the wilderness forty years, as appears from Numb. 33. 8. Deut. 1. 3. and 2. 14. Compare Amos 5. 25. It is manifest, that one whole year and part of another were past before this sin or judgment. u (i. e.) The punishment of your whoredoms, to wit, of your Apostacy from, and perfidiousness against your Lord, who was your husband, and had married you to himself. See Jer. 3. 14. Whence Idolatry is called whoredom.

Ezech. 33. 25. Psal. 95. 10. Ezek. 4. 6. Or, after the reckoning of my purpose.

34 * After the number of the days in which ye searched the land, even * forty days (each day for a year x) shall ye bear your iniquities; even forty years, and ye shall know ‖ my breach of promise y.

* Numb. 14. 33. and 32. 13.

x So there should have been 40 years to come, but God was pleased mercifully to accept of the time past as a part of that time. y That as you have first broken the covenant between you and me, by breaking the terms or conditions of it, so I will make it void on my part, by denying you the blessings promised in that covenant, and to be given to you in case of your obedience. So you shall see, that the breach of promise wherewith you charged me,

v. 3. lies at your door, and was forced from me by your perfidiousness. Or, my breach, either passively, i. e. your breaking off from me, as such pronouns are oft used, as Gen. 50. 4. Isa. 53. 11. and 56. 7. or actively, i. e. my breaking of or departing from you, and stopping the current of my blessings towards you: you shall feel by experience, how sad your condition is when I withdraw my grace and favour from you.

35 I the LORD have said, I will surely do it unto all this evil congregation, that are gathered together against me; in this wilderness they shall be consumed, and there they shall die.

36 And the men whom Moses sent to search the land, who returned, and made all the congregation to murmur against him, by bringing up a slander upon the land:

37 Even those men that did bring up the evil report upon the land, * died by the plague z before the LORD a.

* 1 Cor. 10. 10.

z Either by the pestilence, threatned v. 12. or by some other sudden and extraordinary judgment. a (i. e.) Sent from the cloud in which God dwelt, and from whence he spake to Moses, and wherein his glory at this time appeared before all the people, v. 10. who therefore were all, and these spies among the rest, before the Lord.

Heb 3. 17. Jude 5.

38 But Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, which were of the men that went to search the land, lived still.

39 And Moses told these sayings unto all the children of Israel, and the people mourned greatly.

40 And they rose up early in the morning, and gat them up b into the top of the mountain, saying, Lo, we * be here, and will go up unto the place which the LORD hath promised: for we have sinned.

* Deut. 1. 41

b (i. e.) Designed or attempted or prepared themselves to go up: for that they were not yet actually gone up, plainly appears from v. 42, 44. and from Deut. 1. 41. Things designed or indeavoured in Scripture-phrase are oft said to be done. See on Gen. 37. 21, 22. Exod. 8. 18.

41 And Moses said, Wherefore now do ye transgress the commandment of the LORD o? but it shall not prosper.

c Either that command, Go not up, &c. which, though in this place mentioned after, yet may seem to have gone before their transgression, by comparing this place with Deut. 1. 42, 43. or that command above, v. 25. turn ye and get ye into the wilderness, &c. which was a course directly contrary to that which they took.

42 Go not up, for the LORD is not among you, that ye be not smitten before your enemies.

43 For the Amalekite, and the Canaanite are there before you, and ye shall fall by the sword: because ye are turned away from the LORD, therefore the LORD will not be with you.

44 But they presumed d to go up unto the hill top: nevertheless the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and Moses departed not out of the camp.

d Guilty both of rashness and rebellion, thus running from one extreme to another.

45 Then the Amalekite came down, and the Canaanite e which dwelt f in that hill, and smote them, and discomfited them, even unto * Hormah g.

* Deut. 1. 44. * ch. 21. 3.

Or, sat, i. e. placed themselves, lay in ambush, expecting your coming. g A place so called afterwards, Numb. 21. 3. from the great slaughter or destruction of the Israelites at this time.

3 And will make an offering by fire unto the LORD, a burnt-offering, or a sacrifice b * in † performing a vow, † Heb. fe. or in a free-will offering, or * in your solemn feasts, to preparing. make a * sweet savour unto the LORD, of the herd or of the flock:

* Lev. 17. 8 and 22. 18. and 23. 37. Deut. 12. 27. * Lev. 13. 8 12, 36. ch. 28. 3. and 29. 2, 8 and 39. 2, 8 Deut. 16. 10. * Ex. 29. 18.

b (i. e.) A peace-offering, as appears 1. because that word is put by it self is oft so taken, as Exod. 18. 12. Levit. 17. 5, 8. and 23. 37. Deut. 12. 27. 2. because the offerings for sins and trespasses had no meat-offerings and drink-offerings attending upon them, excepting only the case of the Lepers cleansing, Lev. 14. 10.

3. because this is explained by and called peace-offerings, v. 8. 4. from the words here following, because peace-offerings were commonly offered either in performance of a vow, or freely, or by Gods command in their solemn feasts, all which are here expressed.

4 Then * shall he that offereth his offering unto
* Lev. 2.1. Ex. 29.40 Lev. 23.13 the LORD, bring a * meat-offering of a tenth-deal e of flour, mingled with the fourth part of an hin of oil d.

e Or, tenth-part, to wit, of an Ephah, i. e. an Omer, Exod. 16. 36. d Wherein it seems to differ from such meat-offerings as were solitary, and not accessories to other sacrifices.

5 And the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering shalt thou prepare, with the burnt-offering, or sacrifice, for one lamb.

6 Or for a ram, thou shalt prepare for a meat offering two tenth-deals e of flour mingled with the third part of an hin of oyl.

e Because this belonged to a better sacrifice than the former; and therefore in the next sacrifice of a bullock, there are three tenth deals. So the accessory sacrifice grows proportionably with the principal.

7 And for a drink-offering, thou shalt offer the third part of an hin of wine, for a sweet savour unto the LORD.

8 And when thou prepareſt a bullock for a burnt-
*Lev. 7. 11. offering, or for a sacrifice in performing a vow, or * peace-offerings f unto the LORD:

f (i. e.) Or any other peace-offerings, to wit, such as were offered either freely or by command, which may be called peace-offerings or thank-offerings, by way of eminency, because such are offered purely by way of gratitude to God, and with single respect to his command and honour, whereas the peace-offerings made in performance of a vow were made and offered by way of contract, and with design of getting some advantage by them.

9 Then shall he bring with a bullock a meat-offering of three tenth deals of flour, mingled with half an hin of oyl.

10 And thou shalt bring for a drink-offering half an hin of wine, for an offering made by fire of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

11 Thus shall it be done for one bullock, or for one ram, or for a lamb, or a kid.

12 According to the number that ye shall prepare, so shall ye do to every one according to their number g.

g (i. e.) As many cattel as ye sacrifice, so many meat and drink-offerings ye shall offer.

13 All that are born of the country shall do these things after this manner, in offering an offering made by fire of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

h To wit, Proselyte, for such offerings were not accepted from others.

*Ex. 12. 49. ch. 9. 14. 15 * One ordinance shall be both for you of the congregation, and also for the stranger that sojourneth, with you, an ordinance for ever in your generations: as ye are, so shall the stranger be before the LORD i.

i (i. e.) As to the worship of God: his sacrifices shall be offered in the same manner and accepted by God upon the same terms, as yours: which was a presage of the future calling of the Gentiles. And this is added by way of caution and distinction, to shew that strangers were not upon this pretence to partake of their civil priviledges.

16 One law, and one manner shall be for you, and for the stranger that sojourneth with you.

17 And the LORD spake unto Moſes, saying,

18 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come unto the land whither I bring you,

19 Then it shall be, that when ye eat k of the bread l of the land, ye shall offer up an heave-offering unto the LORD m.

k (i. e.) When you are about to eat it: for before they did eat it, they were to offer this offering to God. l (i. e.) The bread-corn, as that word is used, Job 28. 5. Psal. 104. 14. Isa. 28. 28. m (i. e.) To the Priest of the Lord, as appears from Exek. 44. 30.

20 Ye shall offer up a cake of the first of your dough
*Lev. 2. 14. and 23. 10. 16. for an heave-offering: as ye do * the heave-offering of the threshing floor n, so shall ye heave it o.

n (i. e.) Of the corn in the threshing-floor, as Deut. 16. 13. when you have gathered in your corn. o (i. e.) You shall offer this in the same proportion, to the same persons, i. e. the Priests. and with the same rites.

21 Of the first of your dough ye shall give unto the LORD an heave-offering in your generations.

*Lev. 4. 2. 22 And *if ye have erred, and not observed all these commandments p which the LORD hath spoken unto Moſes;

p To wit, those now spoken of, those which concern the outward worship and service of God, or the rites or ceremonies belonging to it. And herein principally this law may seem to differ from that Lev. 4. 13. which speaks of some positive miscarriage or doing that which ought not to have been done about the holy things of God, whereas this speaks only of an omission of something which ought to have been done about holy ceremonies. But besides this, that law, Lev. 4. 13. concerns the whole congregation of Israel, as it is there expressed, but this concerns only the congregation, or a congregation, as it is here expressed, v. 24. i. e. any particular congregation of Israelites, whether of a whole tribe meeting together by their representatives, or a lesser congregation, such as there were to be many in Canaan, and the words rendred, all the congregation, may be, and are by some here, rendred, every congregation. And by vertue of this law, as some suppose, the Israelites newly after their return from the captivity offered 12 bullocks, one for each tribe, Ezra 8. 35.

23 Even all that the LORD hath commanded you by the hand of Moſes, from the day that the LORD commanded Moſes, and henceforward among your generations:

24 Then it shall be, if ought be committed by ignorance, † without the knowledge of the congregation, † Heb. the eye. that all the congregation shall offer one young bullock for a burnt-offering r, for a sweet savour unto the LORD, with his meat-offering, and his drink-offering, according to the ‖ manner, and one kid of the goats for a sin- ‖ Or, fashion. offering.

r In Levit. 4. the bullock is for a sin-offering, here it is for a burnt-offering, either because they are different laws, as hath been said; or, because here is added a new penalty, to breed the greater caution and diligence in the Israelites, who had given many instances, and now a fresh and eminent instance, of their heedlesness in observing the commands of God: and so, besides that bullock for a sin-offering, which he leaves to be gathered out of Lev. 4. 14. he now requires another bullock for a burnt-offering.

25 And the priest shall make an atonement for all the congregation of the children of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them, for it is ignorance: and they shall bring their offering, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD, and their sin-offering before the LORD, for their ignorance.

26 And it shall be forgiven all the congregation of the children of Israel, and the stranger that sojourneth among them, seeing all the people were in ignorance.

27 * And if any soul sin through ignorance, then *Lev. 4. 27. he shall bring a she-goat of the first year for a sin-offering.

28 And the priest shall make an atonement for the soul that sinneth ignorantly, when he sinneth by ignorance before the LORD, to make an atonement for him, and it shall be forgiven him.

29 Ye shall have one law for him that † sinneth † Heb. through ignorance, both for him that is born amongst the children of Israel, and for the stranger that sojourneth among them.

30 But the soul that doth ought s † presumptuously t, † Heb. (whether he be born in the land, or a stranger) the same with a reproacheth the LORD u; and that soul shall be cut off high from among his people.

s Understand, such things as ought not to be done, and things relating to the worship of God. t Heb. with an high, or lifted up hand, i. e. knowingly, wilfully, boldly, resolvedly, deliberately, designedly. So this phrase is elsewhere used. See Exod. 14. 8. Lev. 26. 21. Numb. 33. 3. Job 15. 26. Psal. 19. 13. u (i. e.) He sets God at defiance, and exposeth him to contempt, as if he were unworthy of any regard, and unable to punish transgressors.

31 Because he hath despised the word of the LORD, and hath broken his commandment, that soul shall utterly be cut off: his iniquity shall be upon him x.

x (i. e.) The punishment shall be confined to himself, and not fall upon the congregation, as it will do, if they neglect to cut him off.

32 And while the children of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man that gathered sticks on the sabbath day y.

y This seems to be added as an example of a presumptuous sin: for as the law of the sabbath was plain and positive, so this transgression of it must needs be a known and wilful sin.

33 And they that found him gathering sticks, brought him unto Moſes and Aaron, and unto all the congregation z.

z (i. c.) To the Rulers of the congregation, who as they represented and governed the congregation are called by the name of the congregation.

34 And they a put him * in ward, because it was *Lev. 24. 12. not declared what should be done unto him b.

a (i. e.) Moſes and Aaron, and the 70 Rulers last mentioned. b (i. e.) In what manner he was to be cut off, or by what kind of death he was to die, which therefore God here particularly determines: otherwise it was known in general that sabbath-breakers were to be put to death, from Exod. 31. 14. and 35. 2.

35 And the LORD said unto Moſes, * The man *Ex. 31. shall be surely put to death: all the congregation shall stone him with stones without the camp.

36 And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and stoned him with stones, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

Deut. 22. 12. Ezr. 23. 5. Heb. wings. 38 Speak unto the children of Israel, and bid * them that they make them fringes b in the † borders c of their garments d, throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband e of blue f.

b These were certain threds or ends of their garments, standing out a little further than the rest of their garments, left there for this use. c (i. e.) in the four borders or quarters, as it is, Deut. 22. 12. Heb. wings, which is oft used for borders or ends, as Ruth 3. 9. 1 Sam. 15. 27. and 24. 5. &c. d. (i. e.) Of their upper garment, or that wherewith they covered themselves, as is expressed Deut. 22. 12. This was practised by the Pharisees in Christs time, who are noted for making their borders larger than ordinary, Mat. 23. 5. and by Christ himself, as may be gathered from Luk. 8. 44. e To make it more obvious to the sight, and consequently more serviceable to the use here mentioned. f Or, of a purple colour, as the Jewish writers agree, whose opinion is the more considerable, because it was matter of constant practice among them.

39 And it shall be unto you for a fringe g, that ye may look upon it, and remember h all the commandments of the LORD, and do them: and that ye seek not i after your own heart, and your own eyes k, after which ye use to go a whoring l:

g It (i. e.) the ribband, shall be unto you, i. e. shall serve you for the fringe, to wit, to render it more visible and notorious by its certain and remarkable and distinct colour, whereas the fringe without this was of the same piece and colour with the garment, and therefore less observable. Or, it, (i. e.) the ribband, shall be in your fringes, or, put to your fringes, fastened to them. h That by looking upon it you may remember; that your eye may affect your mind and heart. i Or, inquire not for other rules or ways of serving me than I have prescribed you. k (i. e.) Neither after the devices and inventions of your own minds or hearts, as Nadab and Abihu did when they offered strange fire, and as you now did when you pretended to serve and please me by going up the hill and to. wards Canaan without and against my command; nor after the examples or inventions of others which your eyes see, as you did when you were set upon worshipping a calf after the manner of Egypt. l (i. e.) To depart from me, and to prefer your own fancies before my commands, and to live only by present sight or sense, and not at all by faith in my promises.

40 That ye may remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God.

41 I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the LORD your God m.

m Though I am justly displeased with you for your frequent and horrid rebellions, for which also I will keep you 40 years in the wilderness, yet I will not utterly cast you off, but will continue to be your God, to preserve and provide for you there, and after that time to bring you into Canaan.

p Humbly begging that God would direct him and defend and vindicate him from this false and odious imputation. See Numb. 14. 5. Accordingly God answers his prayers, and inspires him with this following answer to Korah, and strengthens him with new courage, and confidence of good success.

5 And he spake unto Korah, and unto all his company, saying, Even to morrow q the LORD will shew who are his, and who is holy, and will cause him to come near unto him r: even him whom he hath chosen, will he cause to come near unto him s.

q Heb. In the morning, the time appointed by men for administring justice, Psal. 108. 8. Jer. 21. 12. and chosen by God for that work, Psal. 73. 14. Isa. 47. 11. Zeph. 3. 5. Some time is allowed, partly that Korah and his company might prepare themselves and their censers; and partly to give them space for consideration and repentance. r Or, and whom he will cause. s (i. e.) He will by some evident and miraculous token declare his approbation of him and his ministery.

6 This do; take ye censers u Korah, and all his company:

u Since ye will be Priests, take your censers, and act as Priests, at your peril.

7 And put fire therein, and put incense in them before the LORD to morrow: and it shall be that the man whom the LORD doth choose x, he shall be holy: ye take too much upon you, ye sons of Levi.

x (i. e.) Declare his choice and appointment of them for that work.

8 And Moſes said unto Korah, Hear, I pray you, ye sons of Levi.

y Consider what I say before it be too late, and repent of your great wickedness.

9 Seemeth it but a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the congregation of Israel, to bring you near to himself z, to do the service of the tabernacle of the LORD, and to stand before the congregation, to minister unto them a?

z Nearer than the other Tribes, though not so near as the Priests. a (i. e.) In their stead and for their good. So they were the servants both of God and of the Church, which was an high dignity, though not sufficient for their ambitious minds.

10 And he hath brought thee near to him, and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee: and seek ye the priesthood also b?

b There being at this time but very few Priests, and the profits and priviledges belonging to them being many and great, they thought it but fit and reasonable that they, or some of the chief of them, should be admitted to a share in their work and advantages.

11 For which cause both thou and all thy company are gathered together against the LORD c: and what is Aaron that ye murmur against him?

c Whose minister and chosen servant Aaron is. You strike at God through Aaron's sides. Compare: 1 Sam. 8. 7. Luk. 10. 16 Joh. 13. 20.

12 And Moſes sent to call Dathan and Abiram d the sons of Eliab: which said e, We will not come up f

d To treat with them and give them, as he had done Korah and his company, a timely admonition. e Unto the messengers sent to them by Moſes. f To Moſes his Tabernacle, whither the people used to go up for judgment. Men are said in Scripture-phrase to go up to places of judgment. See Deut. 25. 7. Ruth. 4. 1. Ezra 10. 7, 8. But because they would not now go up, therefore they went down quick into the pit, ver. 33.

13 Is it a small thing that thou hast brought us up out of a land that floweth with milk and honey g, to kill us in the wilderness, except thou make thy self altogether a prince over us?

g (i. e.) Out of Egypt, a place indeed of great plenty, but to them a place of torment and intolerable slavery. They invidiously and scoffingly use the same words wherewith God by Moſes commended the land of Canaan.

14 Moreover, thou hast not brought us into a land †Heb. bore out. that floweth with milk and honey, or given us inheritance of fields and vineyards, wilt thou † put out the eyes of these men b? we will not come up i.

b (i. e.) Of those who are confederate with us, and of all the people who are of our mind: Wilt thou make them blind, or persuade them that they are blind, and that they do not see what is visible to all that have eyes, to wit, that thou hast deceived them, and broken thy faith and promise given to them? or wilt thou lead them about like blind men whither thou pleasest, one time towards Canaan, another time towards Egypt again? i We will not obey thy summons, nor own thy authority.

15 And Moses was very wroth k, and said unto the * Gen. 4. 4, 5. † Acts 20. 33. LORD, * Respect not thou their offering l: I † have not taken one ass m from them, neither have I hurt one of them n.

k Not so much for his own sake, for he had learnt to bear indignities, Numb. 12. as for Gods sake, who was highly dishonoured, blasphemed and provoked, by these speeches and carriages, in which case he ought to be angry, as Christ was, Mark 3. 5. l. (i. e.) Accept not their incense which they are now going to offer, but shew some eminent dislike of it. He calls it their offering, though it was offered by Korah and his companions, because it was offered in the name and by the consent of all the conspiratours, for the decision of the present controversie between them and Moses. m. (i. e.) Not any thing of the smallest value, as an ass was. See 1 Sam, 12. 3. n I have never injured them, nor used my power to defraud or oppress them, as I might have done, but, which is here implied, I have done them many good offices, but no hurt: therefore their crime is inexcusable, because without any cause or provocation on my part.

16 And Moses said unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company before the LORD o, thou, and they, and Aaron to morrow.

o Not in the Tabernacle, which was not capable of so many persons severally offering Incense, but at the door of the Tabernacle, ver. 18. which place is oft said to be before the Lord, as Exod. 29. 42. Levit. 1. 11. &c. where they might now lawfully offer it by Moses his direction upon this extraordinary occasion and necessity, because this work could not be done in that place, which alone was allowed for the offering up of incense, not only for its smallness, but also because none but Priests might enter to do this work. Here also the people, who were to be instructed by this experiment, might see the proof and success of it.

17 And take every man his censer, and put incense in them, and bring ye before the LORD every man his censer, two hundred and fifty censers: thou also and Aaron, each of you his censer.

18 And they took every man his censer p, and put fire in them q, and laid incense thereon, and stood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, with Moses and Aaron.

p Which they could easily make in a slight manner, which would suffice for the present purpose. q Taken from the Altar which stood in that place, Levit. 1. 3. 5. for Aaron might not use other fire, Levit. 10. 1. And it is likely the remembrance of the death of Nadab and Abihu deterr'd them from offering any strange fire.

19 And Korah gathered all the congregation r against them unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the glory of the LORD appeared s unto all the congregation.

r That they might be witnesses of the event, and, upon their success, which they doubted not of, might fall upon Moses and Aaron with popular rage, and destroy them. And it seems by this that the people were generally incensed against Moses, and inclined to Korahs side. s In the cloud, which then shone with greater brightness and Majesty, as a token of Gods approach and presence. See Exod. 16. 7, 10. Levit. 9. 6, 23. Numb. 20. 6.

20 And the LORD spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying,

* Gen. 19. 17, 22 Jer. 51. 6. Rev. 18. 4. 21 * Separate your selves from among this congregation ‖, that I may consume them in a moment.

‖ To wit, Korah, and his 250 men, and the people whom he gathered against Moses and Aaron, ver. 19.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and said, O God, * chap. 27. 16. Job 12. 10. Eccl. 12. 7. Isa. 57. 16. Zac. 12. 1. Heb. 12. 9. * the God of the spirits t of all flesh u, shall one man x sin, and wilt thou be wrath with all the congregation?

t (i. e.) Of souls, as the word spirit in scripture is oft used, as Psal. 31. 5. and 77. 3. Prov. 17. 22. Eccl. 12. 7. Luk. 23. 46. Act. 7. 59. And this is no empty title here, but very emphatical and argumentative, thus, Thou art the maker of spirits, Zach. 12. 1. destroy not thy own workmanship, Isa. 64. 8. O thou who art the preserver of men, and of their spirits: the Lord of spirits, Job. 12. 10. who as thou mayst justly destroy this people, so thou canst preserve whom thou pleasest: the father of Spirits, Heb. 12. 9. O deal mercifully with thy own children: the searcher of spirits, thou canst distinguish between those who have maliciously raised this tumult, and those whose ignorance and simple credulity hath made them a prey to crafty seducers. u (i. e.) Of all mankind: the word flesh is oft put for men, as Gen. 6. 13. Job 12. 10. Isa. 40. 5, 6. Ezek. 20. 48. and 21. 4, 5. x To wit, Korah, the ringleader of this sedition.

23 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speak unto the congregation y, saying, Get ye up from about the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram z.

y Whom for your sakes I will spare upon the condition here following. z And Ow too, who is mentioned ver. 1. though some think he desisted and repented, and therefore is not now mentioned.

25 And Moses rose up, and went unto Dathan and Abiram a: and the elders of Israel b followed him.

a Because they refused to come to him, he goes to them, to their cost. b The 70 rulers, whom he carried with him for the greater solemnity of the action, and for his own better vindication, because he lay under such calumnies, and to encourage them in their work, notwithstanding the obstinate and intractable nature of the people they were to govern.

26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of these wicked men c, and touch nothing of theirs d, lest ye be consumed in all their sins e.

c Shew your dislike of them and their wicked ways by a speedy removal of your persons and tents from about them, d Because they and all that was theirs was under a curse, and therefore not to be touched. See Deut. 13. 16, 17. e Lest being guilty of their sins, you perish together with them.

27 So they gat up from the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram f on every side: and Dathan and Abiram came out, and stood in the door of their tents g, and their wives, and their sons, and their little children.

f Whose tents were not far asunder, being both on the south-side of the Tabernacle, as appears from Numb. 2. 10. and 3. 29. g. An argument of their foolish confidence, pride and impudence, obstinacy and impenitency, whereby they declared that they neither feared God, nor reverenced man; and made themselves ripe for the approaching judgment.

28 And Moses said, Hereby ye shall know that the LORD hath sent me to do all these works h, for I have not done them † of mine own mind i. † Gr. of my heart.

h To wit, which I have done, and for which I am traduced by Jos. the false and such like wicked men, as the bringing of the people out of Egypt; the conducting of them through, and the keeping of them so long in the wilderness; the exercising of power and authority among and over them; giving of Laws to them, as about other things, so concerning the Priesthood, which is the ground of the present quarrel; and, that which vexeth them most, that when they were upon the borders of Canaan, and ready to enter in, I should cause them to go back into this vast howling wilderness, and fix them there for forty years. i By pretending or usurping an authority which God gave me not; by feigning words or messages from God to establish my own inventions, and to comply with my own will or lust or interest, as I am now accused to have done. For this phrase see Numb. 24. 13. Ezek. 13. 2.

29 If these men die † the common death of all men k, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men l, † Heb. according to all men. then the LORD hath not sent me m.

k (i. e.) By a natural death. l (i. e.) By plague, or sword, or some usual judgment. m (i. e.) I am content that you take me for an Impostour, fastly pretending to be sent of God. This he might well say, because he was inspired by God to say this, and infallibly assured by God that this should be done.

30 But if the LORD † make a new thing n, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow them up, with all that appertain unto them, and they go down quick † into the pit o, then ye shall understand that these men have provoked the LORD p. † Heb. maketh a new work.

n (i. e.) Do such a work as was never heard before. o (i. e.) Into the grave which God thereby makes. The Hebrew word Scheol sometimes signifies hell, and sometimes the grave, as Gen. 37. 35. Psal. 55. 15.. p By making his words and works to be nothing but my devices and artifices.

31 * And it came to pass as he had made an end of speaking all these words, that the ground clave asunder that was under them: * chap. 16. 30. & 17. 5. Deut. 11. 6. Psal. 106. 17.

32 And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their houses, and * all the men that appertained unto Korah q, and all their goods. * See ver. 27. & chap. 26. 11.

q (i. e.) All his family which were there, women, children, and servants: but his sons, who were spared, Numb. 26. 11, 58. 1 Chron. 6. 22, 37. were absent either upon some service of the Tabernacle, or upon some other occasion, God so ordering it by his providence, either because they disliked their fathers act, or upon Moses his intercession for them, or for some other reason. This expression may seem to intimate, that Korah himself was not here, but that he continued with his 250 men before the Lord, ver 18, 19 where they were waiting for Gods decision of the controversie, nor is it probable that their chief captain would desert them, and leave them standing there without an head, especially, when Aaron, his great adversary, abode there still, and did not go with Moses to Dathan, &c. ver. 25. And Korah may seem to have been confounded with those 250. ver. 35. though he be not mentioned there, but is easily understood by comparing that verse with ver. 16, 17, 18. and from the nature of the thing it self, there being no cause of doubt but that destruction which befel the accessaries did much more involve the principal. And so much is intimated, ver. 40. that no stranger come near to offer incense before the Lord, that he be not as Korah, and as his company, i. e. destroyed, as they were, by fire from the Lord. And when the Psalmist relates this history, Psal. 106. the earths swallowing them up is confined to Dathan and Abiram, ver. 17. and for all the rest of that conspiracy, it is added, ver. 18. And a fire was kindled in their company, the flame burnt up the wicked. As for Num. 26. 10. which seems to oppose this opinion, we shall see more on that place, if God permit.

33 They and all that appertained to them, went down alive into † the pit r, and the earth closed upon them; † Heb. hell and they perished from among the congregation.

r (i. e.) Into the earth, which first opened it self to receive them, and then shut it self to destroy them and transmit them to further punishment.

34 And all Israel that were round about them, fled at the cry of them: for they said, Lest the earth swallow us also.

35 And there came out a fire from the LORD s, and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incense.

s (i. e.) From the cloud, wherein the glory of the Lord appeared, ver. 19. to give sentence in this cause.

36 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

37 Speak unto Eleazar t the son of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning u, and scatter thou the fire x yonder y, for they are hallowed z.

t Rather than to Aaron, partly because the troublesome part of the work was more proper for him, and partly lest Aaron should be polluted by going amongst those dead carcasses; for it is probable this fire consumed them, as lightning sometimes doth others, by taking away their lives, and leaving their bodies dead upon the place. u (i. e.) From among the dead bodies of those who were burnt. Burning put for those who are burnt, as captivity for the captives, Numb. 21. 1. and poverty for the poor, 2 King. 24. 14. x (i. e.) The cinders or ashes which are left in or near their censers. y (i. e.) Far from the altar and sanctuary, into an unclean place, where the ashes were wont to be cast: by which God shews his rejection of their services. z Either 1. by Gods appointment, because they were presented before the Lord by his express order, ver. 16, 17. Or 2. by Gods just judgment, because they, together with the persons that used them, were accursed and devoted by God, and therefore were the Lords, and not to be employed in any profane or common use, as appears from Lev. 27. 28. But the first reason is the chief, and is rendred by God himself, ver. 38.

38 The censers of these sinners against their own souls a, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the Altar b: for they offered them before the LORD, therefore they are hallowed, and they shall be a sign c unto the children of Israel.

a (i. c.) Their own lives: who were the authors of their own death and destruction. Compare 1 King. 2. 23. Prov. 20. 2. This he saith for the vindication of Gods justice and his own ministry in this severe dispensation. b To wit, of burnt-offerings, which was made of wood, but covered with brass before this time, Exod. 27. 1, 2. to which this other covering was added for further ornament and security against the fire, which was continually burning upon it. c A monument or warning to all strangers to take heed of invading the Priesthood, as it follows, ver. 40.

39 And Eleazar the priest took the brazen censers, wherewith they that were burnt had offered, and they were made broad plates for a covering of the altar:

40 To be a memorial unto the children of Israel, that no stranger, which is not of the seed of Aaron, come near to offer incense before the LORD, that he be not as Korah, and as his company d: as the LORD said to him e by the hand of Moses.

d (i. c.) That he do not imitate them in their sin, and therefore bring upon himself the same plague. e (i. e.) To Eleazar. These words belong to ver. 38. the meaning is, that Eleazar did as God bad him.

41 But on the morrow f all the congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron, saying, ye have killed g the people of the LORD h.

f Prodigious wickedness and madness so soon to forget such a terrible instance of divine vengeance. g You, who should have preserved them, and interceded for them, have pulled down Gods wrath upon them, for the maintenance of your own authority and interest. h So they call those wicked wretches, and rebels against God: which shews the power of passion and prejudice to corrupt mens judgment.

42 And it came to pass, when the congregation was gathered against Moses, and against Aaron, that they i looked toward the tabernacle of the congregation, and behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the LORD appeared.

i (i. e.) Moses and Aaron, who in all their distresses made God their refuge.

43 And Moses and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation k.

k to hear what God, who now appeared, would say to him.

44 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

45 Get ye up from among this congregation, that I may consume them as in a moment: and they fell upon their faces l.

l To beg pardon and mercy for the people, as they oft did; thus rendring good to them for evil, which the people requited with evil for their kindness.

46 And Moses said unto Aaron, Take a censer, and put fire therein from off the altar, and put on incense m, and go quickly unto the congregation n, and make an atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the LORD; the plague is begun o.

m Which was a sign of intercession, Psal. 141. 2. and was to be accompanied with it, Luk. 1. 9, 10. n With the incense, to stir up the people to repentance and prayer to prevent their utter ruine. This he might do upon this extraordinary occasion, having Gods command for his warrant, though ordinarily incense was to be offered only in the Tabernacle. o In cutting off the people by a sudden and miraculous stroke.

47 And Aaron took as Moses commanded, and ran into the midst of the congregation p: and behold, the plague was begun amongst the people: and he put on incense, and made an atonement for the people.

p Hazarding his own life to obey God and to do this wicked people good.

48 And he stood between the dead and the living q, and the plague was stayed.

q Whereby it may seem that this plague, like that fire, Numb. 11. 1. began in the uttermost parts of the congregation, and so proceeded destroying one after another in an orderly manner, which gave Aaron occasion and direction so to place himself, as a Mediatour to God on their behalf.

49 Now they that died in the plague, were fourteen thousand and seven hundred, beside them that died about the matter of Korah.

50 And Aaron returned unto Moses unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the plague was stayed.

CHAP. XVII.

God confirming Aarons calling by the budding and the blossoming of his rod, 1——9. Commandeth it to be laid up for a Memorial and Terrour to Rebels, 10. The People being terrified thereby, seek to Moses for succour, 11——15.

1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel a, and take of every one of them b a rod c, according to the house of their fathers d, of all their princes according to the house of their fathers, twelve rods: write thou every mans name upon his rod.

a That I may fully and finally satisfie all their scruples, and take away all pretence and cause of murmuring. b Not of every person, but of every Tribe, as it follows. c Either an ordinary walking staff: or rather, that staff or rod, which the Princes carried in their hands as tokens of their dignity and authority; as may be gathered from Numb. 21. 18. compared with Psal. 110. 2. Jer. 48. 16, 17. d (i. e.) According to each family proceeding from the Patriarch or Father of that Tribe. e (i. e.) Every Princes: for they being the first-born, and the chief of their Tribes might above all others pretend to the Priesthood, if it was communicable to any of their tribes, and besides each Prince represented and acted for all his Tribe: so that this was a full decision of the whole question. And this place seems to confirm, what was before observed, that not only Korah and the Levites, but also those of other Tribes contested with Moses and Aaron about the Priesthood, as that which belonged to all the congregation, they being all holy, as they said, Numb. 16. 3.

3 And thou shalt write Aarons name f upon the rod of Levi; for one rod shall be for the head of the house of their fathers g.

f Rather than Levi's name, for that would have left the controversie undecided between Aaron and the other Levites, whereas this would justifie the appropriation of the Priesthood to Aarons family. g (i. e.) There shall be in this, as there is in all the other Tribes, only one rod, and that for the head of their Tribe, who is Aaron in this Tribe: whereas it might have been expected that there should have been two rods, one for Aaron, and another for his Competitours of the same Tribe. But Aarons name was sufficient to determine both the Tribe, and that branch or family of the Tribe, to whom this dignity should be affixed.

4 And thou shalt lay them up in the tabernacle of the congregation, before the testimony h, * where I will meet with you i. * Exod. 25. 22.

h (i. e.) Before the Ark of the testimony, either mediately, close by the vail behind which the Ark stood: or rather immediately, within the vail in the most holy place, close by the Ark, as may be gathered by comparing this place with ver. 10. and with Heb. 9. 4. i And manifest my mind to you for the ending of this dispute.

5 And it shall come to pass, that the mans rod whom I shall choose, shall blossom: and I will make to cease from me the murmurings of the children of Israel, whereby they murmur against you.

6 And Moses spake unto the children of Israel, and every one of their princes gave him † a rod a-piece, for each prince one, according to their fathers houses, even twelve rods: and the rod of Aaron was among their rods b. † Heb. a rod for one prince, a rod for one prince.

b (i. e.) Was laid up with the rest, being either one of the twelve, as the Hebrews affirm, or the thirteenth, as others think.

7 And Moses laid up the rods before the LORD in the tabernacle of witness.

8 And it came to pass, that on the morrow Moses went into the tabernacle of witness l, and behold, the rod of Aaron for the house of Levi was budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed blossoms, and yeilded almonds m.

l Into the most holy place, which he might safely do under the protection of Gods command, though otherwise none but the High-priest priest might enter there, and that once in a year. m This being, as Josephus with great probability affirms, a staff of an almond tree, as the rest also were.

9 And Moses brought out all the rods from before the LORD, unto all the children of Israel: and they looked, and took every man his rod.

*Heb. 9 4. 10 And the LORD said unto Moses, * Bring Aarons rod again before the testimony, to be kept for a token †Heb. children of rebellion. against the † rebels, and thou shalt quite take away their murmurings from me, that they die not n.

n For if after all these warnings and prohibitions, backt with such miracles and judgments, they shall usurp the Priesthood, they shall assuredly die for it.

11 And Moses did so: as the LORD commanded him, so did he.

12 And the children of Israel spake unto Moses saying, Behold, we die, we perish, we all perish o.

o Words of consternation arising partly from the remembrance of these severe and repeated judgments, partly from the threatning of death upon any succeeding murmurings, partly from the sense of their own guilt and weakness, which made them fear lest they should relapse into the same miscarriages, and thereby bring the vengeance of God upon themselves.

13 Whosoever cometh any thing near p unto the tabernacle of the LORD, shall die: shall we be consumed with dying q?

p (i.e.) Nearer than he should do; an errour which we may easily commit. q Will God proceed with us in these severe courses, according to his strict justice? will he shew us no mercy nor pity, till all the people be cut off and destroyed with dying one after another?

CHAP. XVIII.

God shewing to Aaron, his sons and the Levites, their Office, 1—7. Appointeth to Aaron and his sons their maintenance, 8—20. And also to the Levites, 21—24. He commandeth them by Moses, to give Tenths of their Tenths to the chief Priests, 25—32.

1 AND the LORD said unto Aaron, Thou, and thy sons, and thy fathers house with thee, shall *Lev. 18. 25. bear * the iniquity of the sanctuary a: and thou and thy sons with thee, shall bear the iniquity of your priesthood b.

a (i.e.) Shall suffer the punishment of all the usurpations, or pollutions of the Sanctuary, or the holy things, by the Levites or any of the people, because you have authority and power from me to keep them all within their bounds, and I expect you use it to that end. Thus the people are in good measure secured against their fears expressed Numb. 17. 12, 13. Also they are informed that Aarons high dignity was attended with great burdens, having not only his own, but the peoples sins to answer for; and therefore they had no such reason to envy him as they might think, if the benefits and encumbrances and dangers were equally considered. b. (i.e.) Of all the errours committed by your selves, or by you permitted in others in things belonging to your Priesthood.

2 And thy brethren also of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou with thee, that they may *See Gen. 29 34. be * joyned unto thee, and minister unto thee c; but thou and thy sons with thee shall minister d before the tabernacle of witness.

c About sacrifices and offerings and other things, according to the rules and limits I have prescribed them. The Levites are said to minister to Aaron here, to the Church, Numb. 16. 9. and to God, Deut. 10. 8. They shall not contend with thee for superiority, as they have done, but they shall be subordinate and servants to thee. d Or, both to thee, and to thy sons with thee: Which translation may seem to be favoured by the following words, before the tabernacle, which was the proper place where the Levites ministred, whereas the Priests did minister to God both before and in the Tabernacle. Besides, both the foregoing words, and the two following verses, do entirely speak of the ministry of the Levites, and the ministry of the Priests is distinctly spoken of, ver. 5.

3 And they shall keep thy charge e, and the charge of all the tabernacle f: only they shall not come nigh the vessels of the sanctuary, and the altar g, that neither they, nor ye b also die.

e (i.e.) That which thou shalt command them and commit unto them. f (i.e.) Of the boards and hangings and utensils of the Tabernacle, to take them down and carry them, and set them up again. g Which therefore were to be covered by the Priests before the Levites might meddle with them. h They for presuming to touch them, and you for your negligence in not covering them well, or not looking to them.

4 And they shall be joyned unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the service of the tabernacle: and a stranger shall not come nigh unto you.

5 And ye shall keep the charge of the sanctuary i, and the charge of the altar, that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Israel k.

i (i.e.) Of the holy, and of the most holy, place. k For coming too near the holy place, or for usurping any part of your sacred function, or for any other miscarriage which they may be guilty of through your carelesness or remisness, in which case they shall perish for their errour, but their blood will I require at your hands, who should have advised them better, or over-ruled them.

*chap. 3. 12. 45. chap 3.9. 6 And I, behold, I have * taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Israel: to * you they are given as a gift for the LORD l, to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

l (i.e.) For the service of the Lord, to assist you therein, in the servile and troublesome parts of it.

7 Therefore thou and thy sons with thee shall keep your priests office for every thing of the altar m, and within the vail n, and ye shall serve: I have given your priests office unto you, as a service of gift o: and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

m To wit, of burnt-offering, as appears from the following words. n This phrase elsewhere signifies the inward or second vail, but here it signifies either the outward vail only, or rather both the vails, the singular number being put for the plural, as when the altar is put for both the altars, as hath been noted; and so this phrase comprehends both the holy and the most holy Place. o As a gift which I have freely conferred upon you, and upon you alone; and therefore let no man henceforth dare either to charge you with arrogance and usurpation in appropriating this to your selves, or to invade your office.

8 And the LORD spake unto Aaron, Behold, I also have given thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, of all the hallowed things of the children of Israel, unto thee have I given them p by reason of the anointing q, and to thy sons by an ordinance for ever.

p Not only the charge of them, but the use of them for thy self and family, in such manner as I have elsewhere expressed. q To wit, to the Priestly office, i. e. because thou art Priest, and art to devote thy self wholly to my service: which that thou maist perform more diligently and cheerfully, I give thee this recompense.

9 This shall be thine of the most holy things r reserved from the fire s: every oblation t of theirs, every * meat-*Lev. 2. offering of theirs, and every * sin-offering of theirs, and 5, 7. every * trespass-offering of theirs, which they shall render *Lev. 4. unto me u, shall be most holy for thee, and for thy sons x. 27, 8, 6. 7. 1. 14. 13.

r Such as were to be eaten only by the Priests, and that in the Sanctuary. How these differ from the holy things, see on Levit. 6. 17. s (i.e.) Such Sacrifices or such parts of Sacrifices as were not burnt in the fire. t Which may be understood either 1. of the wave-loaves, Levit. 23. 17. and the shew-bread, which were most holy things, Lev. 23. 20. and 24. 9. and which did belong to the Priest; nor was there any other such oblation, besides what is here particularly expressed: for the peace-offerings were not most holy, and the burnt-offerings were not the Priests. Or, 2. of oblations in general; and so the following particulars are mentioned by way of explication and restriction of that general word, to shew what oblations are here meant, and to exclude peace-offerings and burnt-offerings. u By way of compensation for a trespass committed against me, in which case a ram was to be offered, Levi. 6. 2, 6. which was a most holy thing, and may be particularly designed here. x Thou shalt esteem it as a most holy thing, and shalt use it accordingly, in manner following. Or, these are most holy, and therefore shall be for thee and for thy sons, to wit, exclusively, none else may eat them.

10 In the most holy place y shalt thou eat it; every male z shall eat it: it shall be holy unto thee.

y To wit, in the court of the Priests, where there were places for this use. See Lev. 6. 16, 17, 26. and 7. 6. and 8. 31, and 14. 13. Neh. 13. 5, 9. Ezek. 42. 13. which is called the most holy place, not simply and absolutely, as the place within the vail was, but in respect of the thing he speaks of, because this was the most holy of all the places appointed for eating of holy things, whereof some might be eaten in any clean place in the camp, Lev. 10. 14. or in their own houses. And as the most holy place is sometimes called simply Holy, so it is not strange if an holy place be called most holy, especially this place which was near to the altar of burnt-offerings, which is called most holy, and made all that touched it holy, Exod. 29. 37. And God would have these things eaten by them in an holy place, as in Gods presence, that they might be obliged to the greater caution, and not to abuse God's good creatures, and especially holy things, to intemperance, and that they might learn to eat this and their other food with thankfulness to God the giver of it, and with respect to his service and glory, which was afterward prescribed to Christians, 1 Cor. 10. 31. 1 Tim. 4. 3. z And they only; whereas of peace-offerings the females might eat their share, Deut. 12. 18.

11 And this is thine: the heave-offering a of their gift b, with all the wave-offerings c of the children of Israel: I have given them unto * thee, and to thy sons, *Lev. 12. and to thy daughters with thee d, by a statute for ever: 14. Deut. * every one that is clean in thy house e shall eat of it. 12. 3. Lev. 22.

a (i.e.) The right-shoulder, which was the Priests. b To wit, of their peace-offerings, as may appear because here is an enumeration of all that belonged to the Priest in the several oblations, and therefore it is not likely that he would omit the peace-offerings, wherein the Priest had a share, and the very share here spoken of and called an heave-offering, which was the right shoulder, Lev. 7. 32. which also might be eaten by the daughters, Lev. 7. 34. and 10. 14. as is here said. See Numb. 6. 17. &c. c To wit, the breasts of the peace-offerings, which were waved, Lev. 7. 30, 31, 34. d (i.e.) Who are with thee in thy house; for if they were married to strangers, they might not eat of them, Lev. 22. 12, 13. d To wit, as fixed members of thy house, though they be bond-slaves: for strangers and hired servants were excepted, Lev. 22. 10, 11.

12 * All the † best f of the oil, and all the best of the *Deut. 18. wine, and of the wheat, the first fruits of them g which 4. they shall offer unto the LORD, them have I given thee. †Heb. fat.

f Heb. the fat for the best: the fat of wheat is the best of it, Deut. 32. 14. Psal. 81. 16. and 147. 14. g As well those which were offered offered in the name and behalf of the body of the people at the solemn feasts, Lev. 23. 10. 17. as those which were required of particular persons, Exod. 22. 29. and 23. 19. whereof the precise quantity is not determined, but left free to the giver, as an exercise for his piety and charity, only they are enjoyned to give the first and the best of them.

13 And whatsoever is first ripe h in the land, * *Exod. 22. which they shall bring unto the LORD, shall be 29. and 23. thine: every one that is clean i in thine house shall 19. and 34. eat of it. 26. Lev. 2. 14. ch. 15. 20 Deut. 26. 2.

h (i. e.) Not only the first-fruits of the oil and wine, and wheat now mentioned, but all other first-fruits of all other grains, and all fruit-trees, &c. i And none else, because these were first offered to God, and by consequent given to the Priests; but for those which were directly and immediately given to the Priests, the clean and unclean might eat of them.

*Lev. 27. 28. 14 * Every thing devoted k in Israel, shall be thine.

k Dedicated to God by vow or otherwise, provided it be such a thing as might be eaten or consumed by use: for the vessels or treasures of gold and silver which were devoted or dedicated by Joshua, Dawid, or others, were not the Priests, but were appropriated to the uses of the Temple.

*Exod. 13. 2. and 22. 29. Lev. 27. 26. ch. 3. 13. Ex. 34. 20 15 Every thing that openeth * the matrix in all flesh, which they bring unto the LORD, whether it be of men l or beasts, shall be thine: nevertheless, the * first-born of man shalt thou surely redeem, and the firstling of unclean beasts shalt thou redeem.

l Which were offered to God in his Temple, Exod. 13. 12. Luk. 2. 22. and to his service and disposal.

16 And those that are to be redeemed m, from a month old shalt thou redeem, according to thine estimation n, for the money of five shekels, after the shekel *Ex. 30. 13 of the sanctuary. * which is twenty gerahs. Lev. 27. 25 Ezek. 45. 12.

m To wit, of men only, not of unclean beasts last mentioned, as is manifest from the time and price of redemption here mentioned, both which agree to men; the time, Numb. 18. 16. the price, Numb. 3. 46, 47. but neither agree to unclean beasts, which were to be redeemed with a sheep, Exod. 13. 13. and that after it was 8 days old. n This belongs, either 1. to the foregoing clause, to this purpose, that whereas women newly delivered of a child continued in their uncleanness either a longer or shorter time, according to the quality of the birth, as it was male or female, Lev. 12. 4, 5. and the temper of the mother, the Priest was to take that time when he judged the mother to be clean, that so the mother might be purified, and the child redeemed at the same time. Or rather 2. to the following clause, to wit, the price which was to be paid, as appears by comparing this place with Lev. 27. 2, 3. And both there and here it is said to be done according to the Priests estimation, though a certain rule be added to guide his estimation, and a certain price set, because the Priest was to apply that general rule to each person, and to put that price upon him.

17 But the firstling of a cow, or the firstling of a sheep, or the firstling of a goat, thou shalt not redeem, they are holy o: thou shalt sprinkle their blood upon the altar; and shalt burn their fat for an offering made by fire, for a sweet savour unto the LORD.

o To wit, in a peculiar manner, and higher degree than other beasts, consecrated to an holy use, even to be sacrificed unto God, and not to be redeemed, nor alienated to any other use. Compare Deut. 15. 19.

18 And the flesh p of them shall be thine: as *Exod. 29. the * wave-breast, and as the right shoulder are 26, 28. thine.

p All the flesh of them, and not only some parts, as in other sacrifices.

19 All the heave-offerings of the holy things, which the children of Israel offer unto the LORD, have I given thee, and thy sons, and thy daughters with thee, by a statute for ever: it is a covenant of salt q for ever, before the LORD, unto thee, and to thy seed with thee.

q (i. e.) A durable and perpetual covenant; so called here, and 2 Chron. 13. 5. either, because salt is a sign of incorruption, as being of singular use to preserve things from corruption: or, because it is confirmed and ratified on their part by salt, which is therefore called the salt of the covenant, for which the Priests were obliged to take care, that it should never be lacking from any meat-offering, Lev. 2. 13. And this promise or priviledge conferred upon the Priests is called a covenant because it is given them conditionally, upon condition of their service, and care about the worship of God, and sacrifices, which were commonly accompanied with meat-offerings, and therefore with salt.

20 And the LORD spake unto Aaron, Thou shalt have no inheritance in their land r, neither *Deut. 10. shalt thou have any part among them: * I am thy 9. and 12. part s, and thine inheritance among the children of 12. and 18. Israel. Josh. 13.

r (i. e.) In the land of the children of Israel, mentioned ver. 14, 33. 13. You shall not have a distinct and separate portion of land, Ezek. 44. as the other tribes shall. The reason of this law, was, partly 28. because God would have them wholly devoted to and employed in his service, and therefore free from worldly encumbrances and businesses; partly, because God had abundantly provided for them otherwise by tithes and first-fruits and oblations of all sorts; partly because God would have their worldly comfort and happiness depend singly upon him and his service, and so would oblige them to use more zeal and diligence in the advancement of piety, even for their own interest, which was either better or worse as true religion flourished or decayed. See Judg. 17, 9, 10. and 19. 18. 2 Chron. 13. 9. and 30. 22. and 31. 4. partly that this might be a firm bond of hearty love and affection between the people and their teachers the Levites, who as they performed religious services for the people, so they received their subsistence from them; and partly that by this means being dispersed among the several tribes, they might have the better opportunity for teaching and watching over the people, which was their duty, Deut. 33. 10. 2 Chron. 30, 22. Mal 2. 4, 5, 6, 7. s (i.e.) I have appointed thee a liberal maintenance out of my oblations.

21 And behold, * I have given the children of Levi * Lev. 27. all the tenth t in Israel, for an inheritance, for their 30. service which they serve, even the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

t For the tithes were all given to the Levites, and out of their tithes the tenth was given to the Priests, here v. 26, &c. and Neh. 10. 37, 38.

22 Neither must the children of Israel henceforth come nigh the tabernacle of the congregation u, lest they bear † Heb. to sin, † and die. die.

u (i.e.) So nigh as to do any act proper to the Priests or Levites.

23 But the Levites shall do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they shall bear their iniquity x: it shall be a statute for ever throughout their generations, that among the children of Israel they have no inheritance.

x (i.e.) The punishment due not only for their own, but also for the peoples miscarriage, if it be committed through their connivance or negligence. And this was the reason why the Priests withstood King Uzziah, when he would have burnt incense to the Lord, 2 Chron. 26. 17, 18.

24 But the tithes of the children of Israel, which they offer as an heave-offering unto the LORD y, I have given to the Levites to inherit: therefore I have said unto them, Among the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance.

y (i.e.) As a rent-charge or an acknowledgement that they have and hold all their lands and the fruits of it from Gods bounty. Note that the word heave-offering, which is for the most part understood of a particular kind of offerings heaved or lifted up to the Lord, is here used for any offering in general, as before, v. 8.

25 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Thus speak unto the Levites, and say unto them, When ye take of the children of Israel the tithes, which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then ye shall offer up an heave-offering of it for the LORD, even a tenth part of the tithe.

27 And this your heave-offering shall be reckoned unto you, as though it were the corn of the threshing-floor z, and as the fulness of the wine-press.

z It shall be accepted of you as much as if you offered it out of your own lands and labours.

28 Thus ye also shall offer an heave-offering unto the LORD of all your tithes which ye receive of the children of Israel, and ye shall give thereof the LORDS heave-offering to Aaron the priest a.

a And to his children, which were one with him, and were all to have their share herein.

29 Out of all your gifts b ye shall offer c every heave-offering d of the LORD, of all the † best thereof, even †Heb. fat. the hallowed part thereof e out of it.

b Not only out of your tithes, but out of the other gifts which you receive from the people, and out of those fields which shall belong to your cities. c To wit, to the Priest. d (i.e.) As many gifts so many heave-offerings; you shall reserve a part out of each of them for the Priest. e This may describe either 1. the nature and proportion of this offering, and so peradventure he means the tenth part, which was the part or proportion that God hallowed or sanctified to himself as his proper portion, both here and elsewhere: or 2. the reason or ground of this offering, because it is a thing hallowed or appropriated by God to himself, and given by him to the Priest, and because the payment of this due doth hallow all the rest, so as they may use it with comfort and good conscience, as it follows, v. 31, 32.

30 Therefore thou shalt say unto them, When ye have heaved the best thereof from it, then it shall be counted unto the Levites, as the increase of the threshing floor, and as the increase of the wine-press.

31 And ye shall eat it in every place f, ye and your housholds: for * it is your reward for your service in * 1 Tim. the tabernacle of the congregation. 5. 18.

f (i.e.) In every clean place, and not in the holy place only.

32 And ye shall bear no sin by reason of it, when ye have heaved from it the best of it g: * neither shall ye * Lev. 22. pollute the holy things of the children of Israel h, lest ye die. 15, 16.

g Implying, that if they neglected this duty, they sinned in the use of such unhallowed food. h As you will do, if you abuse their holy offerings, by referring that intirely to your selves which they offer to God to be disposed as he hath appointed, to wit, part to you, and part to the Priests.

CHAP. XIX.

The manner of making the water of Separation, and of what, 1——10.
The use of it, wherewith the Unclean are to be purified, 11——13.
Laws concerning dispositions of Cleansing, 14——22.

1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying,

2 This is the ordinance of the law a which the LORD hath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring thee b a red c heifer without spot, wherein is no blemish d, and upon which never came yoke e.

a Or, The constitution of the law, i. e. that which God hath ordained or established by Law. b Not their common charge, because it was for the common good. c A fit colour to shadow forth both the bloody nature and complexion of sin, Isa. 1. 8. and the humane nature, and especially the Blood of Christ, from which this water and all other Rites had their purifying vertue. d A fit Type of Christ, who was such, Heb. 7. 26. 1 Pet. 1. 19. e Whereby may be signified, either that Christ in himself was free from all the yoke or obligation of Gods Command, till for our sakes he took up our yoke, and put himself under the Law; or that Christ was not drawn or forced to undertake our burden and cross, but that he did voluntarily chuse it. See John 10. 17, 18.

3 And ye shall give her unto Eleazar the priest f, that he may bring her * forth without the camp g, and one b shall slay her before his face.

f Who was the second Priest, and, in some cases, the vicegerent or Deputy of the High-priest. To him, not to Aaron, because this service made him unclean for a season, v. 7. and consequently unfit for Holy Ministrations, whereas the High-priest was, as far as possibly he could, to be preserved from all sorts of defilement, and constantly fit for his high and holy work. g Partly because it was reputed an unclean and accursed thing, being ceremoniously laden with the sins of all the people; and partly to signifie that Christ should suffer without the Camp, as he did, Heb. 13. 12. in the place where male-factors suffered, Lev. 24. 14. h A Person appointed by Eleazar for this work.

4 And Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood with his finger, and * sprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle i of the congregation seven times.

i Or, Towards or over against the Tabernacle, either 1. Near to it, and so we must suppose that he took some of the blood in a basin, and carried it from without the camp to the Tabernacle, and then returned to this place again: Which might be done, though it be not here expressed. And this seems to agree best with other places, where this sprinkling seven times was performed in or near the Tabernacle, as Lev. 4. 17. Or 2. Standing at a good distance from it, even without the camp, yet turning and looking towards it. For here is no intimation that he went into the camp before this work was done, but rather the contrary is implied, v. 7. And because being defiled by this work he could not come near to the Tabernacle, it was sufficient for him to turn and look towards it. Either way this posture signified his presenting of this blood before the Lord by way of atonement and satisfaction for his and the peoples sins, and his expectation of acceptance and pardon only from God, and from his mercy seat in the Tabernacle.

5 And one shall burn the heifer k in his sight: * her skin, and her flesh, and her blood l, with her dung, shall he burn.

*Ex 29. 14 Lev. 4. 11, 12.

k To signifie the sharp and grievous sufferings of Christ for our sins. l All of it, but what was spent in sprinkling.

6 And the priest shall take cedar-wood, and hyssop, and scarlet m, and cast it into the midst of the burning of the heifer.

m All which are here burnt, and as it were offered to God, that they might be sanctified to this holy use for the future; for of these kinds of things was the sprinkle made wherewith the unclean were sprinkled, Lev. 14. 4.

7 Then the priest shall wash his clothes, and he shall bathe his flesh in water, and afterward he shall come into the camp, and the priest shall be unclean until the even n.

n Partly to teach us the imperfection of the Levitical Priesthood, in which the Priest himself was defiled by some parts of his work, and the absolute necessity of a better and holier Priesthood; and partly to shew that Christ himself, though he had no sin of his own, yet was reputed by men, and judged by God, as an unclean and sinful person, by reason of our sins which were laid upon him, Isa. 53. 12. 2 Cor. 5. 21.

8 And he that burneth her, shall wash his clothes in water, and bathe his flesh in water, and shall be unclean until the even.

9 And a man that is clean, shall gather up * the ashes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it shall be kept for the congregation of the children of Israel o for a water p of separation q: it r is a purification for sin s.

o (i. e.) For their use, and therefore in a fit place or places, whence any of them might easily procure it. p Or, To the water, i. e. to be put to the water, or mixed with it. q i. e. Appointed for the cleansing of them that are in a state of Separation, who for their uncleanness are separated from the Congregation. r Either the Heifer thus managed, or the Water thus made and sprinkled.

s Heb. a sin, i. e. a kind of an offering for sin, or rather a mean for the expiation or cleansing of sin. The name of sin is sometimes given to the punishment of sin, and sometimes to the sacrifice or offering for sin.

10 And he that gathereth the ashes of the Heifer, shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the even: and it shall be unto the children of Israel, and unto the stranger that sojourneth among them t for a statute for ever.

t To wit, a Proselyte, not any stranger, as some understand it. For since it is confessed all the other ceremonial Laws do not oblige them, and that where the name of stranger is put, as here it is, it generally speaks of a Proselyte, it is more reasonable to take it so here, than without any reason or evidence to make this a particular exception from the general Rule.

11 * He that toucheth the dead body of any † man, shall be unclean seven days u.

*Lev. 21. 1. chap. 5. 2. Hag. 2. 13.

u Whereas the touch of a dead beast made a man unclean only till even, Levit. 11. 24.

x (i. e.) With the water of separation. y To typifie Christ's resurrection on that day by which we are cleansed or sanctified. z To teach us, that our purification in this life is gradual, and not perfect till we come to that eternal Sabbath, which the seventh day respected. a But was first to purifie himself, and four days after that to be clean.

13 Whosoever toucheth b the dead body of any man that is dead, and purifieth not himself, defileth the tabernacle of the LORD c, and that soul shall be cut off from Israel: because the water of separation was not sprinkled upon him: he shall be unclean, his uncleanness is yet upon him d.

b To wit, if this transgression be done presumptuously; for if it was done ignorantly, he was only to offer sacrifice, Lev. 5. 3, 6, 17. c By approaching to it in his uncleanness: for Holy things or places were ceremonially defiled with the touch of any unclean person or thing. See Lev. 15. 31. and 16. 16. Hagg. 2. 13. d He continues in his guilt and filth, not now to be washed away by this water, but to be punished by cutting off.

14 This is the law, when a man dieth in a tent, all that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, shall be unclean seven days.

15 And every * open vessel e, which hath no covering bound upon it, is unclean.

e Because it receives the air of the tent, by which it is ceremonially polluted. Compare Lev. 11. 32, 33.

16 And whosoever toucheth one that is slain with a sword f in the open fields, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days.

f Or by any other violent way.

17 And for an unclean person, they shall take of the † ashes of † the burnt heifer of purification for sin, and † running water g shall be put thereto in a vessel h.

†Heb. of the burning. † Heb. living. g (e. i.) Waters flowing from a spring or River, which are the purest. These manifestly signifie Gods Spirit, which is oft compared to water, Joh. 7. 38, 39. and by which alone true purification is obtained. h Where they were to be mixed, and then the water was to be strained out and kept for this use. shall be given.

18 And a clean person i shall take hyssop, and dip it in the water, and sprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the vessels k, and upon the persons that were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one slain, or one dead, or a grave.

i To wit, a Priest; for to such the work of cleansing was appropriated. See Lev. 13. k Even those which were in part purified by the fire. See Numb. 31. 23.

19 And the clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean on the third day, and on the seventh day: and on the seventh day, he shall purifie himself, and wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and shall be clean at even.

20 But the man that shall be unclean, and shall not purifie himself k, that soul shall be cut off from among the congregation: because he hath defiled the sanctuary of the LORD, the water of separation hath not been sprinkled upon him, he is unclean.

k (i. e.) Shall contemptuously refuse to submit to this way of purification.

21 And it shall be a perpetual statute unto them that he that sprinkleth the water of separation shall wash his clothes l: and he that toucheth the water of separation m shall be unclean until even.

l Because he is unclean, as it here follows. It is strange, that the same water should cleanse one person, and defile another, but God would have it so, partly to teach us that it did not cleanse by any virtue in it self, or in the work done, but only by virtue of Gods appointment: partly to mind the Jews of the imperfection of their Priesthood, and their ritual purifications and expiations, and and consequently of the necessity of a better Priest and Sacrifice and way of purifying, which these outward Rites did point at: and partly to shew that the efficacy of Gods ordinances doth not depend upon the person or quality of his Ministers, because the same person who was polluted himself could and did cleanse others. m Either by sprinkling of it, or by being sprinkled with it, for even he that was cleansed by it, was not fully cleansed as soon as he was sprinkled, but only at the even of that day, as is said here and above, ver. 19.

22 And whatsoever the unclean person n toucheth, shall be unclean: and the soul that toucheth it shall be unclean o until even p.

n Not he who is so only by touching the water of separation, ver. 21. but he who is so by the greater sort of uncleanness, which lasted seven days, of which ver. 11. and which was not removed without the use of this water of purification, as is manifest from the context and other places of Scripture, and from the nature of the thing: For the lesser sort of uncleanness, mentioned in the foregoing verse, lasted only till even, and was cleansed by the sole washing of his clothes and flesh in water ver. 7. without any use of this water of purification, which, if it had been necessary, must have been used on the third, and on the seventh day, according to the rule, ver. 12, 19. and so the uncleanness of one day had been made an uncleanness of seven days, which is a contradiction. Besides it is unreasonable, that he who immediately touched the defiling thing should be no more and longer unclean, than he who touched that person onely; and it is contrary to other rules in like cases, as Levit. 15. where the Man or Woman having an issue are thereby made unclean for seven days, ver. 13, 28. but he who toucheth them is made unclean onely till even, ver. 7. 27. And therefore this cannot be meant of him who was unclean by touching this water, who himself was unclean onely till even, ver. 21. as also he who toucheth him is in this place. o To signifie to us, the very infectious nature of sin and of sinfull company. p Because as his defilement was less, so it was fit the duration of it should be shorter.

CHAP. XX.

The people journey in the wilderness of Zin: They murmur against Moses for want of Water, 2——5. God commandeth Moses to speak to the Rock, that it might yeild water, 6, 7. Moses striking the Rock twice, 8——11. displeaseth God, 12. Moses desiring passage through Edom, 13——17. is denied, 18——20. Aaron by Gods command delivering up his Office to Eleazar his Son, dieth, 21——28. All the Congregation bemoan him.

1 THen a came the children of Israel, even the whole congregation, into the desert of Zin b, in the first moneth c, and the people abode in Kadesh d; and Miriam died there e, and was buryed there.

a To wit, after many other stations and long journeys here omitted, but particularly described, Numb. 33. b A place near the land of Edom, distinct and distant from that Sin, Exod. 16. 1. c To wit, of the fortieth year, as is evident, because the next station to this was in mount Hor, where Aaron died, ver. 22, 23, &c. who died in the fifth month of the fortieth year, Numb. 33. 38. Moses doth not give us an exact journal of all their occurrences in the wilderness, but only of those which were most remarkable, and especially of those which happened in the first and second, and in the fortieth year, d Whether the same place called Kadesh-barnea, where they were long since, Numb. 13. 26. and to which they now return after 38 years tedious travels and wandrings in the desert, Deut. 2. 14. or another place more southerly, it is not material. e Four months before Aaron, and but a few more before Moses.

2 And there was no water for the congregation f: and they gathered themselves together against Moses, and against Aaron.

f Which having followed them through all their former journeys, began now to fail them here, because they were now come near Canaan and other countreys, where waters might be had by ordinary means, and therefore God would not use extraordinary, lest he should seem to prostitute the honour of miracles. This story, though like that, Exod. 17. is different from it, as appears by divers circumstances.

3 And the people * chode with Moses, and spake, saying, Would God that we had died * when our brethren died before the LORD g.

*Exod. 17. 2. *chap. 11. 1, 33. & 14. 37. & 16. 32, 35, 46.

g (i. e.) Suddenly, rather than to die such a lingring and painful death. Their sin was much greater than their parents in like case, because they should have taken warning by their miscarriages, and by the terrible effects of them, which their eyes had seen.

4 And * why have ye brought up the congregation of the LORD into this wilderness, that we and our cattel should die there?

5 And wherefore have ye made us to come up out of Egypt, to bring us in unto this evil place? it is no place of seed, or of figs, or vines, or of pomegranates, neither is there any water to drink.

6 And Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the Assembly b, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and * they fell upon their faces: and * the glory of the LORD appeared unto them.

*chap. 14. 5 & 16. 4. *chap. 14. 10.

b Partly to avoid the growing rage of the people, for Gods singular protection of them did not exclude the use of ordinary means: and partly to go to God for relief and redress.

7 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

*Exod. 17. 5.

8 * Take the rod i, and gather thou the assembly together, thou and Aaron thy brother, and speak ye unto the rock k before their eyes, and it shall give forth his water, and thou shalt bring forth to them water out of the rock; so thou shalt give the congregation and their beasts drink.

i That rod which was laid up before the Lord in the tabernacle, as appears from ver. 9. But whether it was Aarons rod, which was undoubtedly laid up there, Numb. 17. 10. or Moses his rod by which he wrought so many Miracles, it is not considerable; or whether it was not one and the same rod, which was commonly called Moses his rod, as here, ver. 11. and elsewhere, and sometimes Aarons rod, as Exod. 7. 12. which may seem most probable. For it is likely, though not related elsewhere in Scripture, that wonder-working rod, called the rod of God, Exod. 4 20. was laid up in some part of the tabernacle, though not in or near the Ark, where Aarons blossoming rod for a particular reason was put. k Which will sooner hear and obey my commands than these sottish and stubborn people.

9 And Moses took the rod from before the LORD l, as he commanded him.

l (i. c.) Out of the Tabernacle.

10 And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he said unto them, Hear now, ye rebels, must we fetch you water out of this rock?

11 And Moses lift up his hand, and with his rod he smote the rock twice: and the * water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their beasts also.

m To the men it was a sacrament, 1 Cor. 10. 3, 4. but to the beasts it was no holy but a common thing. So that the elements in the Sacraments have no inherent and inseparable holiness, but only a relative holiness with respect to their use, out of which they are unholy and common.

12 And the LORD spake unto Moses, and Aaron, Because * ye believed † me not n, to sanctifie me o in the eyes of the children of Israel p, therefore ye shall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them.

*chap 27. 14. Deut. 1. 37. & 3. 26. & 32. 51. † Heb. not expressions and actions, either 1. by smiting the rock, and that in me. twice, which is emphatically noted, as if he doubted whether once smiting would have done it, whereas he was not commanded to smite so much as once, but only to speak to it: or 2. by the doubtfulness of these words, ver. 10. Must we fetch water out of the rock? which implies a suspicion of it, as the like words do, Gen. 18. 13. whereas they should have spoken positively and confidently to the rock to give forth waters. And yet they did not doubt of the power of God, but of his will, whether he would gratifie these rebels with this further miracle, after so many of the like kind. And besides the words themselves, it is considerable, both with what mind they were spoken, which God saw to be distrustful, and in what manner they were delivered, which the people might discern to come from misbelief or doubt. And there might be divers other unbelieving words used by them at this time and place, though they be not here recorded, it being usual in Scripture to give only the sum or principal heads of discourses or events, leaving the rest to e gathered out of them. See Psal. 106. 32, 33. o (i. e.) To give me glory of my power in doing this miracle, and of my truth in punctually fulfilling my promise so to do, and of my goodness in doing it notwithstanding the peoples perverseness. p This made their sin scandalous to the Israelites, who of themselves were too prone to infidelity, and little needed such an ill example; to prevent the contagion whereof God leaves a monument of his great displeasure u, on them, and inflicts a punishment as publick and manifest as their sin was.

13 * This is the water of ‖ Meribah q because the children of Israel strove with the LORD, and he was sanctified in them r.

*Deut. 33. 8. Psal. 95. 8. & 106. 32, &c. ‖ That is, strife.

q Called Meribah Cadesh, to distinguish it from another Meribah, Exod. 17. 7. r. Or, among them, to wit, the children of Israel last mentioned, by the demonstration of his omnipotency, veracity, and clemency towards the Israelites, and of his impartial holiness and severity against sin even in his greatest friends and favourites, as Moses was.

14 And Moses sent messengers s from Kadesh unto the king of Edom, Thus saith thy brother t Israel, Thou knowest all the travel that hath † befallen us u, s By God's direction, Deut 2. 1, 2, 3. t For was not Esau (who is Edom, Gen. 36. 1.) Jacob's brother? Mal. 1. 2. u All the wandrings and afflictions of our parents and of us their children, which doubtless have come to thine ears.

15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt a long time: and the Egyptians vexed us and our fathers.

16 And * when we cried unto the LORD, he heard our voice, and sent an angel x, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt: and behold, we are in Kadesh y, a city in the uttermost of thy border.

*Exod. 3. 7.

x To wit, the Angel of the covenant, Christ Jesus, who first appeared to Moses in the bush, Exod. 3. 2. and afterward in the cloudy pillar, who conducted Moses and the people out of Egypt, and thorough the wilderness, as appears from Exod. 14. 19. and 23. 20. and 33. 14. 1 Cor. 10. 4. For though Moses may be called an Angel or messenger, a title given to Phinehas, Judg. 2. 1. and to the Prophets, 2 Chron. 36. 16. and to Haggai, Hag. 1. 13. yet it is not probable that he is meant, partly because Moses was the person that sent this message; partly because there was no reason why he should express himself by such a dark and doubtful title to them; and partly because another Angel besides and above Moses did conduct them, and the mention hereof to the Edomites was likely to give more authority and efficacy to their present message. y (i.e.) Near the city Kadish, the particle in being oft so used, as we have shewed.

17 Let us pass, I pray thee, through thy countrey: we will not pass through the fields, or through the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the kings high-way, we will not turn to the right hand, nor to the left, until we have passed thy borders.

z Or, pits, which any of you have digged for your private use, to wit, without paying for it, ver. 19. Deut. 2. 6. but only of the warers of common rivers, which are free to all passengers, and will not be prejudicial to thee.

18 And Edom said unto him, Thou shalt not pass by me a, lest I come out against thee with the sword.

a (i.e.) Through my country, as thou desirest: I will not suffer thee to do so: which was an act of common policy to secure themselves from so numerous an host.

19 And the children of Israel said unto him b, We will go by the high-way: And if I and my cattel drink of thy water, then I will pay for it c: I will only (without doing any thing else) go through on my feet.

b (i.e.) Their messengers replied unto them what here follows c For water was a scarce commodity in those parts.

20 And he said, Thou shalt not go through. And Edom came out against him with much people, and with a strong hand.

21 Thus Edom refused to give Israel passage through his border d: wherefore Israel turned away from him e.

d But permitted them to go by their border, Deut. 2. 4, 8. Judg. 11. 18. and furnished them with victuals for their money, Deut. 2. 29. e According to God's command, Deut. 2. 5.

22 And the children of Israel, even the whole congregation, journeyed from * Kadesh, and came unto mount Hor f.

f Whose inhabitants were then called Horims, Deut. 2. 12. and Ejau the Horite, Gen. 36. 20.

23 And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron in mount Hor, by the coast of the land of Edom, saying, 24 Aaron shall be gathered unto his people: for he shall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Israel, because ye rebelled against my † word g at the water of Meribah.

g This was one but not the only reason. God would not have Moses and Aaron to carry the people into Canaan, for this reason also, to signifie the insufficiency of the Mosaical law and Aaronical Priesthood to make them perfectly happy, and the necessity of a better, and so to keep the Israelites from resting in them so as to be taken off from their expectation of Christ, and from the entertainment of him when he should come.

25 * Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring them up unto mount Hor.

* chap. 33. 38. Deut. 32. 50.

26 And strip Aaron of his garments h, and put them upon Eleazar his son i, and Aaron shall be gathered unto his people, and shall die there.

h To wit, of his priestly garments, Exod. 28. 2. Levit. 8. 7. 8, 9. in token of his resignation of his office. See the like Isa. 22. 15, 19, 20, 21. i By way of admission and inauguration of him to his office.

27 And Moses did as the LORD commanded: and they went up into mount Hor, in the sight of all the congregation k.

k That their hearts might be more affected with their loss of so great a pillar, and that they all might be witnesses of the translation of the Priesthood from Aaron to Eleazar, and therefore might give him the honour due to him.

28 And Moses stripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son, and * Aaron died there l in the top of the mount: and Moses and Eleazar came down from the mount.

* Deut. 10. 6. & 32. 50.

l To wit, in mount Hor. Obj. He died in Moseroth, Deut. 10. 6. Answ. Moseroth was the general name of the place where that station was, and mount Hor is a particular place in it, where he died, and was buried also, Deut. 10. 6.

29 And when all the congregation saw m that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirty days n, even all the house of Israel.

m (i.e.) Understood by the relation of Moses and Eleazar, and by other signs. So seeing is used, Gen. 42. 1. Act. 7. 12. n The time of publick and solemn mourning for great persons. See Deut. 34. 8.

CHAP. XXI.

The Canaanites fight against Israel, and take some of them Prisoners, 1. Through God's Assistance they overcome them, and destroy their cities, 2, 3. The people murmur, 4, 5. Are plagued with fiery Serpents, 6. They repent, 7. A brazen Serpent erected, to which they look, and are healed, 8, 9. They journey, 10——16. Their Hymn for water given at Beer, 17. They sue for passage to the Amorites: are denied: fight them: overcome, and dwell in their cities, 18——26. Proverbial sayings concerning it, 27——30. Og King of Bashan, his sons, and all his people, are killed by the Israelites, and their Land possessed by them, 33——35.

AND when * † King Arad the Canaanite a, which dwelt in the south b, heard tell that Israel came by the way of the spies c, then he fought against Israel, and took some of them Prisoners d.

* chap. 33. 40. † Heb. the king Arad the Canaanite.

a Or rather, the Canaanite King of Arad: for Arad is not the name of a man, but of a city or territory, as may seem from Jos. 12. 14. Judg. 1. 16. if at least this was the same place with that. And so it seems to be called a Canaanite in a general sense, as the Amorites and others sometimes are. b To wit, of Canaan, as appears from Num. 33. 40. towards the East, and near the dead Sea. c Not of those spies which Moses sent to spie the land, Numb. 13. 17. for that was done 38 years before this, and they went so privately, that the Canaanites took no notice of them, nor knew which way they came or went; but of the spies which he himself sent out to observe the marches and motions of the Israelites. But the words may be otherwise rendred, either thus, in the manner of spies, so the sense is, when he heard that divers of the Israelites came into or towards his country in the nature of spies, to prepare the way for the rest: or thus, by the way of Atharim, a place so called, as the seventy Interpreters here take it, and it seems not improbable. d Which God permitted for Israels humiliation and punishment, and to teach them not to expect the conquest of that land from their own wisdom or valour, but wholly from Gods favour and assistance. See Deut. 9. 4. Psal. 44. 3. 4.

2 And Israel vowed a vow unto the LORD e, and said, If thou wilt indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will utterly destroy their cities f.

e Being sensible of their own weakness, they endeavour to engage God to help them in the war, which they intended to renew. f I will reserve no person nor thing for my own use, but devote them all to total destruction, which was the consequent of such vows. See Lev. 27. 29. Deut. 13. 15.

3 And the LORD hearkened to the voice of Israel, and delivered up the Canaanite: and they † utterly destroyed them g, and their cities, and he called the name ‖ of the place Hormah.

† Or, them. ‖ That is this is mentioned here by anticipation, that the vow being now made and mentioned, the effect or performance of it might be recorded, though out of its place; and so this verse must be supposed to be added by some of the Prophets, and inserted into Moses his history, as some other passages seem to be. Or 2. at this time: and so this is not the same Arad with that, Jos. 12 14. nor this the same Hormah with that there mentioned, but another of the same name, which is most frequent in persons and places in Scripture. And this is the more probable, because that Arad and Hormah, Jos. 12. 14. are two distinct places, and had divers kings, whereas here the same place is called both Arad and Hormah; and because that Arad seems to be at some good distance from this, and more within the country, and more northward, as may be gathered from the other places joyned with it, Jos. 12. whereas this Arad was near Edom, ver. 4. and in the south, ver. 1. Quest. 1. How could this be done in the land of Canaan, when Moses neither entred himself, nor led the people into that land? Answ. Neither Moses nor the whole body of the people did this exploit, but a select number sent out for this purpose to punish that king and people, who were so fierce and malicious that they came out of their own country to fight with the Israelites in the wilderness; and these, when they had done this work, returned to their brethren into the wilderness. Quest. 2. Why did they not all now go into Canaan, when some of them had once entred it, and pursue this victory? Ans. Because God would not permit it, there being several works yet to be done, other people must be conquered, the Israelites must be further humbled and tried and purged, Moses must die, and then they shall enter, and that in a more glorious manner, even over Jordan, which shall be miraculously dried up, and give them passage.

4 And they * journeyed from mount Hor by the way of the Red-sea h to compass the land of Edom: and the soul of the people was much ‖ † discouraged because of the way i.

* chap. 33. 41. ‖ Or, vexed. † Heb. shortned.

h (i.e.) Which leadeth to the Red-sea, as they must needs do to † compass the land of Edom. i By reason of this journey, which shortned was long and troublesome, and prepossessed (for they were now going towards Egypt) and unexpected, either because they doubted not but their brethren the Edomites would grant them their reasonable requeſt of passing through their land, which disappointment made it worse; Or, because the successful entrance and victorious progress which some of them had made in the borders of Canaan, made them think they might have speedily gone in and taken possession of it, and so have saved their tedious travels and further difficulties, into which Moses had again brought them.

5 And the people spake against God k, and against Moses, Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt to die in the Wilderness? for there is no bread, neither is there any water, and * our soul loatheth this light bread l.

k Against Christ, their chief conductor, whom they tempted, 1 Cor. 10. 9. l (i.e.) Of small substance and virtue. Thus contemptuously do they speak of Manna, whereas it appears it yielded excellent nourishment, because in the strength of it they were able to go so many and such tedious journies.

6 And * the LORD sent fiery serpents m among the people, and they bit the people, and much people of Israel died.

* Deut. 8. 15.

m Such there were many in this wilderness, Deut. 8. 15. which having been hitherto restrained by God, are now let loose and sent among them. They are called fiery from their effects, because their poison caused an intolerable heat and burning and thirst in the bodies of the Israelites, which was aggravated with this circumstance of the place, that here was no water, ver. 5.

7 Therefore

7 Therefore the people came to Moses, and said, We have sinned: for we have spoken against the LORD, and against thee: pray unto the LORD that he take away the serpents from us: and Moses prayed for the people.

8 And the LORD said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent n, and set it upon a Pole o: and it shall come to pass, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, shall live p.

n (i.e.) The figure of a serpent in brass, which is of a fiery colour. This would require some time: God would not speedily take off the judgment, because he saw they were not thoroughly humbled. o That the people might see it from all parts of the camp, and therefore the pole must be high, and the serpent large. p This method of cure was prescribed, partly that it might appear to be God's own work, and not the effect of nature or art: and partly that it might be an eminent type of our salvation by Christ. See Joh. 3. 14, 15. The serpent signified Christ, who was in the likeness of sinful flesh, Rom. 8. 3. though without sin, as this brazen serpent had the outward shape, but not the inward poison, of the other serpents: the pole resembled the cross upon which Christ was lift up for our salvation: and looking up to it designed our believing in Christ.

9 And * Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole, and it came to pass, that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived q.

* 2 King. 18. 4. Joh. 3. 14.

q He was delivered from death, and cured of his disease.

10 And the children of Israel set forward, and * pitched in Oboth r.

* chap. 33. 43.

r Not immediately, but after two other stations mentioned, Num. 33.

11 And they journeyed from Oboth, * and pitched at † Ije-Abarim, in the wilderness which is before Moab s toward the sun-rising.

* chap. 33. 44. † Or, heaps of Abarim.

s called the wilderness of Moab, Deut. 2. 8.

12 From thence they removed, and pitched in the valley of Zared t.

t Or rather, by the torrent or brook of Zared, as we render it, Deut. 2. 13. which ran into the dead sea, and from which the valley also might be so called.

13 From thence they removed, and pitched on the other side of Arnon u, which is in the wilderness that cometh out of the coasts of the Amorite: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorite x.

u Or rather, on this side of Arnon, for so it now was to the Israelites, who had not yet passed over it, as appears from Deut. 2. 24. But the same words, Judg. 11. 18. are to be rendred, on the other side of Arnon, for so it was to Jephthah: and the same preposition signifieth on this side, or beyond, according to the circumstances of the place. x (i.e.) Though formerly it and the land beyond it belonged to Moab, yet afterwards it had been taken from them by Sihon; ver. 26. 28. This is added to reconcile two seemingly contrary commands of God, the one that of not medling with the land of the Moabites, Deut. 2. 9 the other that of going over Arnon and taking possession of the land beyond it. Deut. 2. 24. because, saith he, it is not now the land of the Moabites, but of the Amorites.

14 Wherefore it is said in the book of the wars of the LORD y, ‖ what he did in the Red-sea z, and in the brooks a of Arnon;

y This seems to have been some Poem or narration of the wars and victories of the Lord, either by or relating to the Israelites: which may be asserted without any prejudice to the integrity of the Holy Scripture, because this book doth not appear to have been written by a Prophet, or to be designed for a part of the Canon, but by some other ingenious person, who intended only to write an historical relation of these matters, which yet Moses might quote, as St. Paul doth some of the heathen Poets. And as St. Luke assures us, that many did write an history of the things done and said by Christ, Luke 1. 1. whole writings were never received as Canonical, the like may be justly conceived concerning this and some few other books mentioned in the old Testament. Though the words may be thus rendred, Wherefore it shall be said in the relation or narration (for so the Hebrew Sepher is confessed to signifie) of the wars of the Lord: 2. Or, At Vaheb in Suphah, or in the land of Suph. Vaheb seems to be the name not of a man, but of a city or place, and Suphah the name of the country where it was; and the Hebrew particle eth is oft rendred at. And whereas the sense seems to be imperfect, it must be noted, that he quotes only a fragment or piece of the book, and that principally to prove the situation of Arnon, which he had asserted ver. 13. for which end the passage quoted is sufficient. And the sense is easily to be understood, for it is plain enough that this Poet or Writer is describing the wars and works of God by the several places where they were done; and having begun the sentence before, and mentioned other places, he comes to these here mentioned, At Vaheb in Suphah, and at the brooks of Arnon, &c. And it seems probable that the war here designed was that of Sihon against the Moabites, mentioned below, ver. 26. which is duly ascribed to the Lord, because it was undertaken and perfected by the singular direction and assistance of God, and that for the sake of the Israelites, that by this means that country might be invaded and possessed by them, without taking it away from the Moabites, which they were forbidden to meddle with or to disturb, Deut. 2. 9. and so their title to it might be more just and unquestionable. See Judg. 11. 12, 13, 27. a (i.e.) The brook, the plural number for the singular, as the plural number waters is used concerning Jordan, Psal. 74. 15. and concerning Tigris, Nah. 2. 6. and concerning Euphrates, Psal. 137. 1. and concerning Thermodon in Virgil, all which may be so called because of the several little streams into which they were divided.

15 And at the stream of the brooks that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar b, and † lieth upon the border of Moab.

b A chief city in Moab, so opposed from Jos. 13. 9. and Isaiah 15. 1. 28.

16 And from thence they went to Beer: c that is the well whereof the LORD spake unto Moses, Gather the people together, and I will give them water.

c This place and Mattanah, Nahaliel, and Bamoth named here, v. 19. are not mentioned among those places, where they pitched, or encamped; Numb. 33. Either therefore they did not pitch or encamp in these places, but only pass by or through them, nor indeed is it here said they pitched or encamped in these places, which is said of those places, Numb. 33. but only that they went to them, ver. 18. or, these six stations omitted there, and to be supplied from hence; for though it be there said they went from such a place, and pitched in such a place, yet it is not said they went immediately from the one place to the other, and therefore they might take these places in their way. d To wit, in a miraculous manner.

17 Then Israel sang this song e: † Spring up, O well, ‖ Sing ye unto it ‖

e To praise God for giving them such a seasonable blessing, before they asked it, or complained for the want of it. f Give forth thy waters that we may drink. g Heb. ascend, i. d. let thy waters, which now lye hid below in the earth, ascend for thy use. It is either a prediction that it should spring up, or a prayer that it might; or a command in the name of God directed to the well, by an usual Prosopœia, as when God bids the heavens hear, and the earth give ear, Isa. 1. 2. Any of these ways it shews their faith.

18 The princes digged g the well, the nobles of the people digged it, by the direction of the lawgiver h, with their staves i: And from the wilderness they went to Mattanah:

g Either by themselves, or by others whom they commanded to do it. h Or, with the lawgiver, i. e. Moses, they together with or they by Moses his direction and appointment, which is implied, ver. 16. i Which are here mentioned, either 1. as the ensigns of their authority, Judg. 5. 14. by which they gave this command of digging: 2. as the instruments of their work, not that they digged literally and effectually dig the well or receptacle for the water, for which spades were more proper than staves, but that as Moses smote the rock with his rod, so they struck the earth with their staves, making only some small impression for form sake, or as a sign that God would cause the water to flow forth out of the earth where they smote it, as he did before out of the rock.

k See the Notes on ver. 16.

20 And from Bamoth in the valley l, that is in the † countrey of Moab, to the top of ‖ Pisgah m, which looketh toward ‖ Jeshimon.

Heb. field. ‖ Or, the wilderness.

l Or, the valley, which might be called Bamoth, not because it was hill, a place naturally high, but from divers other reasons which may be easily guessed. Or, to the valley, or to their valley, that famous or rather infamous valley, to wit, of Abel-Shittim, Numb. 25. 49. where they committed those foul abominations recorded Numb. 25. m This was the top of those high hills of Abarim; of which see Deut. 3. 17. 27. & 32. 49. & 34. 1, 6.

21 And Israel sent messengers * unto Sihon the king of the Amorite, saying,

* chap. 20. 14. Deut. 2. 26.

n By Gods allowance, that so Sihon malice might be the more evident and inexcusible; and that their title to his country more clear in the judgments of all men, as being gotten by a just war, into which they were forced for their own defence.

22 Let me pass through thy land: we will not turn into the fields, or into the vineyards; we will not drink of the waters of the well: but we will go along by the kings high-way, until we be past thy borders.

* Deut. 2. 27. Judg. 11. 19.

o They spoke what they seriously intended and would have done, if he had given them quiet passage: but what they knew that Sihon would not do it, and that he would withstand them, and that they should subdue him and take his land, as God had told them before they sent this message, as appears from Deut. 2. 24, 26, 27. and accordingly God hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinate, for this end, that he might deliver him into Israels hand, Deut. 2. 30. And no wonder, for he and his people were Amorites, and, therefore devoted to Destruction, as all that people were.

23 * And Sihon would not suffer Israel to pass through his border: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and went out against Israel into the wilderness: and he came to Jahaz p, and fought against Israel.

* Deut. 2. 32.

p A city, of which see Deut. 2. 32. Jer. 48. 21.

24 * And Israel smote him with the edge of the sword, and possessed his land from Arnon unto Jabbok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was strong i.

* Deut. 2. 33. & 29. 7 Josh. 12. 2. & 13. 25.

i Or, which reached from Arnon, &c. such supplements being very usual: and so here is contained a description or limitation of Sihons conquest and kingdom; that it extended only from Arnon unto the children of Ammon; and then the following words, Amos 1. 13. for the border of the children of Ammon was strong, come in very duly; not as a reason why the Israelites did not or could not conquer the Ammonites; for they were absolutely forbidden to meddle with them, Deut. 2. 3. but as a reason why Sihon could not enlarge his conquests and empire to the Ammonites, as he had done to the Moabites. † A river by which the countries of Ammon and Moab were in part bounded and divided. † Either by the advantage of the river, or by their strong holds in their frontiers.

25 And Israel took all these cities: and Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites: in Heshbon, and in all the † Heb. daughters. † villages thereof.

26 For Heshbon was the city of Sihon u the king of the Amorite, who had fought against the former king of Moab x, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon.

u This is added as a reason why Israel took possession of this land, notwithstanding God's prohibition of meddling with them or their land, Deut. 2. 9. because it was not now the land of the Moabites, but had been some time since taken from them, and in the possession of the Amorites. x (i. e.) The Predecessor of Balak, who was the present King.

27 Wherefore they that speak in proverbs y, say, Come into Heshbon z: let the city of Sihon a be built and prepared.

y The poets or other ingenious persons, to wit, of the Amorites or Canaanites, who made this following Song of Triumph over the vanquished Moabites: which is here brought in, partly as a proof that this was now Sihon's land, and partly as an evidence of the just judgment of God in spoiling the spoilers, and subduing those who insulted over their conquered Enemies. z These are the words either of Sihon speaking thus to his people, or of the people exhorting one another to come and possess and repair the city which they had taken. a That which once was the royal city of the king of Moab, but now is the city of Sihon.

28 For there is a * fire a gone out of Heshbon b, a * Jer. 48. 45.
flame from the city of Sihon: it hath consumed Ar of Moab c, and the lords of the high places d of Arnon.

a (i. e.) The fury of war, which is oft and fitly compared to fire here, as Isa. 47. 14. Amos 1. 7, 10, 12, 14. & 2. 2, 5. b That city which before was a refuge and defence to all the country, now is turned into a great annoyance and a publick mischief. c Quasi. How can this be, since Ar was yet in the hands of the Moabites, Deut. 2. 9, 18, 29? Ans. 1. This may be understood not of the city Ar, but of the people or the country subject or belonging to that great and royal city, as the Chaldees understands it. 2. Possibly Ar was taken by Sihon of the Moabites, but afterwards was either recovered by the Moabites, or upon the Israelites approach quitted by Sihon, gathering all his Forces together, that he might fight with the Israelites, and so repossessed by the Moabites. 3. This place may be thus rendred, It shall consume Ar of Moab, the past tense being put for the future, as is usual in prophetical passages; and so this may be the Amorites prediction or presage, That having taken Heshbon and its territories, they should now extend their victories to Ar of Moab, though they fell short of that hope, as ordinarily men do. d Either 1. the princes or governours of the strong holds, which were frequent by in high places, especially in that mountainous country, and which were in divers parts all along the river of Arnon, and having taken some of these, they promised to themselves that they should take all the rest, and so proceed further and further, till they had taken Ar it self. Or rather 2. the priests and people that worship their God in their high places: which may seem more probable, 1. because as the Israelites worshipped God, so the heathens worshipped Baal, in high places, Numb. 22. 41. and particularly the Moabites are noted for so doing, Jer. 48. 35. 2. Because amongst the eminent places of Moab there is mention of Bamoth-baal, or, of the high-places of Baal, Jos. 13. 17.

29 Wo to thee, Moab e; thou art undone, O people
1 Kin. 11. 7, 33. of * Chemosh f: he hath given his sons that escaped, and his daughters into captivity g, unto Sihon king of the Amorite h.

e Alas poor Moab, thou couldst not save thy self from Sihon's sword. f (i. e.) The worshippers of Chemosh: so the God of the Moabites was called, 1 King. 11. 7, 33. 2 King. 23. 13. Jer. 48. 46. g He, (i. e.) their God, hath delivered up his own people to his and their enemies; he could not defend them, but suffered many of them to be killed, nor could he secure even those that had escaped the sword, but suffered them to fall into their enemies hands, and by them to be carried into captivity. h Now the words of this and the following verse seem to be not a part of that triumphant song or poem made, as I suppose, by some Amoritish bard or poet, which seems to be concluded, ver. 28. but of the Israelites making their observation upon it. And here they scoffe at the impotency not only of the Moabites, but of their God also, who could not save his people from the sword of Sihon and the Amorites.

30 We have shot at them i: Heshbon is perished, even unto Dibon k, and we have laid them waste even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medebah l.

i Though you feeble Moabites, and your God too, could not resist Sihon, we Israelites, by the help of our God, have shot, to wit, with success and victory, as the following words shew, at them, to wit, at Sihon and his Amorites; which is easily and plainly understood, both from the foregoing and following words. k Heshbon the Royal City of Sihon, and by him lately repaired, is perished, is taken away from Sihon, and so is all his Territory or Country, even as far as Dibon, which, as Sihon think, is called Dibon-gad, Numb. 33. 45. l. (i. e.) Whose Territory extendeth to Medeba. Or, we, even to Medeba: for the Hebrew word asher, is sometimes used for ye, or moreover, 2 Sam. 18. 20. Psal. 20. 6. & 95. 11. The sense is, the whole Country of Sihon, taken by him from the Moabites, is wasted and perished.

31 Thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorite.

32 And Moses sent to spy out Jaazer m, and they took the villages thereof, and drove out the Amorite that was there.

m One of the Cities of Moab formerly taken from them by Sihon, and now taken from him by the Israelites, Numb. 32. 1, 3, 35. and after the decay or destruction of the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes repossessed by the Moabites, Jer. 48. 32.

33 * And they turned, and went up by the way of * Deut. 3. 1.
Bashan: and Og n the King of Bashan o went out against them, he, and all his People, to the battel at Edrei.

n Who also was a king of the Amorites, of whom see Deut. 3. 1, 11. And it may seem that Sihon and Og were the leaders or Captains of two great Colonies which came out of Canaan, and drove out the former Inhabitants of these places. o A rich Countrey, famous for its pastures and breed of Cattle, Deut. 32. 14. Psal. 22. 12. Jer. 50. 19. and for its Oaks, Ezek. 27. 6.

34 And the LORD said unto Moses, Fear him not p: * Psal. 135. 10, 11. 136. 20.
for I have delivered him into thy hand, and all his people, and his land, and * thou shalt do to him, as thou didst unto Sihon King of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon.

p A necessary caution, for he was a great Giant, Deut. 3. 11. likely to strike them with terrour.

35 So they smote him, and his Sons, and all his people, until there was none left him alive, and they possessed his land.

CHAP. XXII.

The Israelites pitch in the Plains of Moab, 1. Balak the King sends for Balaam to curse Israel, 2——8. He enquires of the Lord, who forbids him to go: He goes not, 9——14. Balak sends again: The Lord permits Balaam to go, 15——21. An Angel stands in the way; which his Ass perceives: His eyes are at length opened to see the Angel, who rebukes him, 22——33. He confesses his fault, and offers to go back: He is commanded to go on, and speak as should be revealed to him, 34, 35, Balak comes to meets him; receives him; expostulates with him; he declares he has no power but to speak the Word which God should put into his mouth, 36——41.

1 AND * the children of Israel set forward, and * chap. 21. 48.
pitched in the plains of Moab a, on this side Jordan by Jericho b.

a Which still retained their antient title, though they had been taken away from the Moabites by Sihon, and from him by the Israelites. b (i. e.) Over against Jericho. Or, near the passage over Jordan to Jericho, or its Territories.

2 And Balak the son of Zippor c saw all that Israel had done to the Amorite.

c The son or successour of him whom Sihon had spoiled of part of his Kingdom, Numb. 21. 26. Of him see Judg. 11. 25. Mich. 6. 5.

3 And Moab was sore afraid d of the people because they were many, and Moab was distressed because of the children of Israel.

d As it was foretold both in general of all Nations, Deut. 2. 25. and particularly concerning Moab, Exod. 15. 15.

4 And Moab said unto the elders of Midian e: Now shall this company lick up f all that are round about us g, as the ox licketh up the gras of the field. And Balak the son of Zippor was King of the Moabites at that time.

e Called the Kings of Midian, Numb. 31. 8. and Princes of Midian, Jos. 13. 21. who though divided into their Kingdoms, yet were now united upon the approach of the Israelites their common Enemy, and being, as it seems, a potent and crafty people, and Neighbours to the Moabites, these seek Confederacy with them. We read of Midianites near Mount Sinai, Exod. 2. and 3. which seem to have been a part or colony of this people, that went out to seek new quarters, as the manner of those times was, but the body of that people were seated in those parts, as is evident from many Scriptures. f (i. e.) Consume and utterly destroy, in which sense the fire is said to lick up the water and sacrifices, 1 King. 18. 38. The meaning is, we can expect no mercy from them, they will utterly root us out as they did the Amorites, if we do not make a stout and timely opposition. g (i. e.) All our people, who lived in the Countrey and Territory adjoyning to each City, where the Princes resided.

† Josh. 24. 9. Ne. 13. 2. Mic. 6. 5. 2 Pet. 2. 15. Jude 11. Rev. 2. 14.

5 * He sent messengers therefore unto Balaam h the † Heb. he sent.
son of Beor i to Pethor k, which is by the river of the land of the children of his people l, to call him, saying, Behold, there is a people come out from Egypt: behold, they cover the † face of the earth, and they abide over † Heb. eye.

h Who is called a Prophet, 2 Pet. 2. 16. because God was pleased to inspire and direct him to speak the following prophecie, as he did inspire Caiphas to speak those words, Joh. 11. 51, 52. and as sometimes he did for a time inspire other wicked men, but in truth he was a soothsayer, as he is called, Jos. 13. 22. See Numb. 24. 1. Or, Beor, 2 Pet. 2. 15. for he had two names, as many others had. k A City in Mesopotamia or Aram, see Numb. 23. 7. Deut. 23. 4. l. (i. e.) By Euphrates, which is called the River, by way of eminency, as Gen. 15. 18. Jos. 24. 2, 15. and here the River of Balaam's land or country, to wit, of Mesopotamia or Aram, Numb. 23. 7. m They are encamped in my neighbourhood, ready to invade my Kingdom.

6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, curse me n this people, for they are too mighty for me: peradventure I shall prevail, that we may smite them o, and that I may drive them out of the land: for I wot that he whom thou blessest, p is blessed, and he whom thou curssest, is cursed q.

i (i. e.) Come them for my sake and benefit; use thy utmost power, which thou hast with thy Gods or infernal Spirits, to blast and ruine them. o Thou by thy magical imprecations, and I by my sword joyned with them. p He had some experience of, or, at least, a great confidence in Balaam's skill and power in these matters. q And the elders of Moab, and the elders of Midian departed, with the rewards of divination q in their hands, and they came unto Balaam, and spake unto him the words of Balak.

q Heb. with divinations, by which he understands not the Instruments of Divination, which it was needless and absurd to bring to so eminent a Diviner, who doubtless was throughly furnished for his own trade; but the Rewards of it, as it is explained 2 Pet. 2. 15. and as in the Hebrew, 2 Sam. 4. 10. good tydings is put for the reward of good tydings. Nor is it probable, they would go to, or could expect to prevail with such a person, especially being noted for his covetousness, as appears from the story, without that powerful engine.

8 And he said unto them, Lodge here this night r, and I will bring you word again, as the LORD s shall speak unto me: and the princes of Moab t abode with Balaam.

r The Night was the time when God used to reveal his mind by dreams. Here is the first discovery of his Wickedness, that he takes time to consider, and doth his endeavour to effect that wicked motion of cursing the Israelites, which he should have rejected and abhorred at the first mention of it. s Heb. Jehovah, the true God, whom he here mentions, either for his own greater reputation, as if he consulted not with inferiour spirits, as other Soothsayers did, but with the supream God; or rather because this was Israel's God, and the only possible way of ruining them was by engaging their God against them: as the known way of the Romans and other Heathens, when they went to besiege any City, they used Inchantments to call forth that God under whose peculiar protection they were. t And of Midian too, as is manifest from ver. 7. which was needless to repeat here.

9 And God came unto Balaam u, and said, What men are these with thee? * chap. 23. 4.

u Not to gratifie his covetous desire, but to advance his own honour and service, even by the Counsels of his enemies. x He asketh not this for his own Information, but partly that Balaam by repeating the thing in God's presence might be convinced and ashamed of his sin and folly in offering his Service in such a cursed business; and partly for a foundation to the following answer.

10 And Balaam said unto God, Balak the son of Zippor, King of Moab, hath sent unto me, saying,

11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, which covereth the face of the earth: come now, curse † Heb. I shall prevail in fighting against them. me them; peradventure † I shall be able to overcome them, and drive them out.

12 And God said unto Balaam y, Thou shalt not go with them; thou shalt not curse the people, for they are blessed z.

y To whom God revealeth his mind, not for any love to him, but for the sake of his people concerned in it, as he did to Pharaoh, Gen. 41. 25. and to Nebuchadnezzar, Dan. 2. 45. z By my irrevocable decree and sentence, and therefore it is in vain for men to curse them.

13 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and said unto the Princes of Balak, get ye into your land: for the LORD refuseth to give me leave to go with you a.

a He conceals the principal things, to wit, the reason of God's prohibition, which might have given a stop to their further course and counsels in this matter, and secretly intimates his own good will and readiness to comply with them, if God had not hindred him.

14 And the Princes of Moab rose up, and they went unto Balak, and said, Balaam refuseth to come with us b.

b Thus they lay the blame upon Balaam, which he imputed to God.

15 And Balak sent yet again princes, mo, and more honourable than they.

16 And they came to Balaam, and said to him, Thus saith Balak the son of Zippor, † let nothing c, I pray thee, † Heb. let not this let hinder thee from coming unto me. hinder thee from coming unto me.

c No counsel nor suggestion either of God or Man.

17 For I will promote thee unto very great honour d, and I will do whatsoever thou sayest unto me: come therefore, I pray thee, curse me this people.

d Before he wrought upon his covetousness, now upon his ambition.

18 A Balaam answered and said unto the servants of chap. 24. 13. Balak, * If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot e go beyond the word of the LORD my God f, to do less or more.

e You desire and expect that from me which is out of my power, to resist the Will of the great God. He silly insinuates, That he wanted not Will, but Power only. f So he calls him, partly to magnifie himself as the servant of the great Jehovah; partly, that by professing this respect unto God he might the sooner induce him to grant his Desire; and partly because he worshipped the true God, together with Idols, as many in those times and places did.

19 Now therefore, I pray you, tarry ye also here this night, that I may know what the LORD will say unto me more g.

g Possibly he may change his mind, or yield to my avowed suit. Thus he fought to make God and his conscience stoop to the service of his pride and covetousness, which was abominable.

20 And God came unto Balaam at night, and said unto him, If the men come to call thee, rise up and go with them h: but yet the word which I shall say unto thee: that shalt thou do i.

h Since this is thy great desire and purpose, as far as thou canst, take thy course; I will, according to thy will, withdraw my restraint, and leave thee to thy self and thy own choice. Compare Psal. 81. 12. † These words signifie not so much his duty, as the event and his disappointment. Thou shalt not do what thou desirest, to wit, curse my people and so enrich and advance thy self, but I will so over-rule thy mind and bridle thy tongue, that thou shalt speak nothing but what is contrary to thy desire and account, and therefore though I permit thee to go, thou shalt lose thy design in it. † Heb. le Satan.

21 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and saddled his ass, and went with the princes of Moab.

22 And God's anger was kindled because he went k; and the Angel of the LORD stood in the way, † for an † Heb. le Satan.
adversary against him l: now he was riding upon his ass, and his two servants were with him m.

k Either 1. Because he went of his own accord, with the Princes of Moab, and did not wait till they came to call him, Ans. urged him to go, which was the sign and condition of Gods permission, v. 20. but rather himself rose and called them, as it may seem from v. 21. Or 2. Because those words, v. 20. did contain no approbation nor licence, but a bare permission; and that in anger, as Balaam might easily have understood, if he had considered his own heart, or the circumstances of his concession. This was no more an approbation than that passage of Christ to Judas, John 13. 27. That thou doest, do quickly. Or 3. Because he went with ill design, and desire to do it quickly. Or 3. Because he went with ill design, and desire to do contrary to what God had charged him, to wit, to curse the people, as plainly appears from the following story, and from Deut. 23. 5. For God hath been oft and justly angry with those who have done what God bad them, when they did it in evil manner, or for evil ends, as appears from Isa. 10. 6, 7. and many other places. l (i. e.) To oppose and terrifie, if not to kill him. m The rest of the company being probably gone before them. For in those ancient times there was more of simplicity, and less of ceremony, and therefore it is not strange that Balaam came at some distance, after the rest, and attended only by his own servants.

23 And * the ass saw the Angel n of the LORD * 2 Pet. 2. 16.
standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand, and the ass turned aside out of the way, and went in Jud. 11.
to the field: and Balaam smote the ass, to turn her into the way.

n Which Balaam saw not, because God withheld his eyes as he did the eyes of Daniel's companions, Dan. 10. 7. It is a truth, which meer Philosophers own, that when God withdraws his concourse or help from any of his creatures, they cannot perform their natural acts and offices; the eye cannot see, as Gen. 19. nor the ear hear, nor the fire burn, as Dan. 3.

24 But the angel of the LORD stood in a path of the vineyards: a wall being on this side, and a wall on that side:

25 And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she thrust her self unto the wall, and crushed Balaams foot against the wall: and he smote her again.

26 And the angel of the LORD went further, and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn either to the right hand or to the left.

27 And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she fell down under Balaam, and Balaams anger was kindled, and he smote the ass with a staff.

28 And the LORD opened the mouth of the ass o, and she said unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou hast smitten me these three times?

o (i. e.) Conferred upon her the power of Speech and reasoning for that time. Impudent are those heathens that disbelieve and scoff at the Scripture for this and such like relations contained in it, when there are examples of the same kind of Prodigies, to wit, of Oxen and other brute creatures speaking some few words, in the greatest and most approved writers of the Roman History, as Plutarch, Polybius, Livy, and others. See the particulars in my Latin Synopsis on this place.

29 And Balaam said unto the ass p, Because thou hast mocked me: I would there were a sword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee.

p Balaam was not much terrified with the Ass's speaking, because he was much accustomed to converse with evil Spirits which oft appeared to him and discoursed with him in the shape of such creatures.

30 And the ass said unto Balaam, Am not I thine ass, † upon which thou hast ridden ever since I was † Heb. who hast ridden upon me. thine, unto this day? was I ever wont to do so unto thee? and he said, Nay.

31 Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, † Or, ever since thou wast, &c. and and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down Or, bowed his head, and fell flat on his face q.

q In token of reverence and submission.

32 And the Angel of the LORD said unto him, Wherefore hast thou smitten thine ass these three times?
† Heb. Lo-satan, that is, to be an adversary to thee. Behold, I went out † to withstand thee, because thy way is perverse before me:

33 How sever thou mayest deceive thy self or others, I see the perverseness of thy heart and way; the wickedness of thy design and desires in this journey, which thou hast undertaken, not to please me, but to gratifie Balak, and, if it be possible, to curse my people.

33 And the ass saw me, and turned from me these three times: unless the had turned from me, surely now also I had slain thee, and saved her alive s.

s I had slain thee alone, and not her, and therefore her turning aside and falling down was wholly for thy sake and benefit, not for her own, and thy anger against her was unjust and unreasonable.

† Heb. be evil in thine eyes. 34 And Balaam said unto the angel of the LORD, I have sinned, for I knew not that thou stoodest in the way against me: now therefore if it † displease thee t, I will get me back again.

t A frivolous supposition; for it was apparently displeasing to God, who had now said that his way was perverse, and had therefore opposed him and sought to slay him: but hereby he shews how loth he was to go back and lose the hopes he had conceived, and besides he speaks of desisting from the outward action, but shews no sense of the plague of his heart, his vile affections, which were the root of this ill designed journey.

35 And the angel of the LORD said unto Balaam, Go with the men u: but only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that thou shalt speak u: so Balaam went with the princes of Balak.

u This may be either 1. A meer permission, since neither the convictions of thy own conscience, nor the experience of thy danger, have weaned thee from thy base designs and inclinations, I shall no further restrain thee; my Angel shall give thee no more disturbance; goon and prosper. Or 2. a concession; I allow thee to go, upon the following terms. For the words here are more absolute and unconditional than those, ver. 20. x These words may express either 1. The event; Or, 2. His duty. See above on ver. 20.

36 And when Balak heard that Balaam was come, he went out to meet him y unto a city of Moab, which z is in the border of Arnon, which z in the utmost coast z.

y That by this great honour he might give him a taste and earnest of those great rewards he designed him, and thereby oblige him to use his utmost skill and interest for him. z Not far from the Camp of the Israelites, whom he desired him to curse.

37 And Balak said unto Balaam, Did I not earnestly send unto thee, to call thee? wherefore camest thou not unto me? Am I not able indeed to promote thee to honour?

38 And Balaam said unto Balak, Lo, I am come unto thee: have I now any power at all to say any thing a? the word that God putteth in my mouth, that shall I speak b.

a To wit, agreeable to thy expectation or my own Inclination. b I am forced to do so by his superiour power, and therefore be not offended with me, if I speak things unpleasing to thee.

39 And Balaam went with Balak, and they came unto
Or, acity || Kirjath huzoth.

40 And Balak offered c oxen and sheep, and sent to Balaam d, and to the princes that were with him e.

c Or, killed, either for sacrifice: or rather for a feast; for the sacrifices were offered after this, Numb. 23. 1. 2. d To invite him to the feast. e Whom the King had left to accompany him and attend upon him.

41 And it came to pass on the morrow, that Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal f, that thence he might see the utmost part of the people g.

f (i.e.) Consecrated to the Worship of Baal, i. e. of Baal Peor, who was their Baal or God, Numb. 25. 3. or of Chemosh. g (i.e.) All that people, even to the utmost and remotest of them, as appears by comparing this with Numb. 23. 13. He hoped that the sight of such a numerous host ready to break in upon his country would stir up his passion and further his charms.

CHAP. XXIII.

Balak and Balaam sacrifice: God meets him, and blesseth Israel, 1—10. Balak is troubled: they go to another place to curse them: they sacrifice again: Balaam consults God, who meets him, and the again blesseth Israel, 11—24. They go to a third place and sacrifice again, 27—30.

1 AND Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars a, and prepare me here seven oxen, and seven rams b.

a Either 1. To Baal, in whose high places this was done, and to whom alone Balak used to sacrifice. Or rather 2. To the true God, otherwise he would not have mentioned it to God as an argument why he should grant his requests, as he doth, ver. 4. And though Balak was averse from God and his Worship, yet he would be easily overruled by Balaam, who doubtless told him that it was in vain to make an address to any other than the God of Israel, who alone was able either to bless or curse them, as he pleased. And therefore when Balaam lost his design this way, he tried it another way with greater success, but still used the same method, in procuring their own God to destroy the Israelites; Numb. 31. But though he direct his sacrifices to a right subject, he chooseth a wrong place, and, to comply with Balak's desire, makes use of the high places of Baal for this end, and mingles his own superstitious with the Worship of God, in erecting divers Altars, according to the manner of Heathens and Idolaters, 2 King. 18. 22. Isa. 17. 8. Jer. 11. 13. Hos. 8. 11. and 10. 1. and 12. 11. whereas God appointed and holy men used but one Altar, though many sacrifices were to be offered upon it, Gen. 8. 20. Exod. 17. 15. and 24. 4. b This being the solemn and usual number in sacrifices, 1 Chron. 15. 26. 2 Chron. 29. 21. Job 42. 8.

2 And Balak did as Balaam had spoken, and Balak and Balaam c offered on every altar a bullock and a ram.

c Balak by procuring them, and Balaam by offering them: though in antient times Kings were Priests also, and so might perform a priestly work, as this was.

3 And Balaam said unto Balak, Stand by thy burnt-offering d, and I will go e: peradventure the LORD will come to meet me: and whatsoever he sheweth me f, I will tell thee. And || he went to an high place g.

d As in God's presence, as one that offers thy self as well as thy sacrifices to obtain his favour. e To some solitary and convenient place, where I may by my inchantments prevail with God to appear to me, and to answer thy and my desires in cursing this people. f (i.e.) Reveals to me, either by word or sign. g Or, into the plain, as that word properly signifies, for he was now in an high place, Numb. 22. 41. But this is not material, it was doubtless some solitary place, where he might use some gestures and ceremonies which he would not have others see, and where he might more reasonably expect to meet with God; for both good and evil spirits most commonly appeared to persons in such places.

4 And God met Balaam h; and he said unto him, I have prepared seven altars, and I have offered upon every altar a bullock and a ram i.

h Not to comply with Balaam's charms, nor to gratifie, but to oppose, his wicked desires, and to force him against his own inclination and interest to utter the following words. i Which I pray thee accept, and give me leave to curse thy people, as their abundant wickedness deserves.

5 And the LORD put a word in Balaams mouth k, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak.

k He suggested what he should say, even those words, ver. 8. 9. 10.

6 And he returned unto him, and lo, he stood by his burnt-sacrifice, he, and all the princes of Moab.

7 And he took up l his parable m, and said, Balak the King of Moab hath brought me from Aram n, out of the mountains of the east o, saying, Come, curse me Jacob p, and come, defie Israel.

l To wit into his mouth; he expressed or spoke. m (i. e.) His oracular and prophetical speech; which he calls a parable, because of the weightiness of the matter, and the majesty and smartness of the expressions which is usual in parables. n From Aram, Naharaim, or Mesopotamia, Deut. 23. 4. See Gen. 10. 22. o In which quarter Aram lay. The East was infamous for charmers or soothsayers, Isa. 2. 6. p The posterity of Jacob, i. e. Israel, as it here follows.

8 How shall I curse whom God hath not † cursed q? or how shall I defie, whom the LORD hath not defied?

q God hath not cursed but blessed Israel, and therefore it is a vain and ridiculous attempt for me to curse them in frequently promised, to bless. k Is he like a man that oft speaks and promises what he either never intends, or cannot or will not perform?

9 For from the top of the rocks r I see him i, and from the hills I behold him: lo, * the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations s.
* Deut. 33. 28.

r Upon which I now stand. s I see the people, according to thy desire, chap. 22. 41. but cannot improve that sight to the end for which thou didst design it, to wit to curse them. t This people are of a distinct kind from others, God's peculiar people, separated from all other nations, as in Religion and Laws, so also in divine protection; and therefore my inchantments cannot have that power against them which they have against other persons and people. See Exod. 19. 5. Levit. 20. 24. 26.

10 Who can count the dust of Jacob u, and the number of the fourth part of Israel x? Let † me die * the death of the righteous y, and let my last end z be like his.
† Heb. soul or life. * Psal. 116. 15.

u (i.e.) The numberless people of Jacob or Israel, who according to God's promise, Gen. 13. 16. and 28. 14. are now become as the dust of the earth. x (i.e.) Of one of the camps of Israel; for they were divided into four camps, Numb. 2. which Balaam from this height could easily discover: much less can any man number all their host. y (i.e.) Of this righteous and holy people, the Israelites, called Jeshurun, Deut. 32. 15. which word signifies upright or righteous. The sense is, they are not only happy above other Nations in this life, as I have said, and therefore in vain should I curse them, but they have this peculiar priviledge, that they are happy after death: their happiness begins where the happiness of other people ends; and therefore I heartily wish that my soul may have its portion with theirs when I dye. But it was a vain wish, for as he would not live as God's people did, so he died by the sword, as others of God's enemies did, Numb. 31. 8. Jos. 13. 22. x (i. e.) My death, as the word is used. Or, my posterity, as this Hebrew word signifies, Psal. 109. 13. Dan. 11. 4. Amos 4. 2. And as the covenant and blessing of God given to Abraham did reach to his posterity, so this might not be unknown to Balaam, which might give him occasion for this wish. Or, my reward, as the word is taken, Prov. 23. 18. and 24. 20. But the first sense seems the most true, because it agrees best with the usage of Scripture to repeat the same thing in other other words, and this includes the third sense, to wit, the reward, which is here supposed to follow death; and for posterity, it doth not appear that he had any, or, if he had, that he was so very solicitous for them; or that he knew the tenour of Gods covenant with Abraham and his posterity. Nay he rather seems to have had some hope of ruining Abraham's posterity, which he attempted both here and afterwards.

11 And Balak said unto Balaam, What hast thou done unto me? I took thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast blessed them altogether.

12 And he answered and said, Must I not take heed to speak that which the LORD hath put in my mouth a?

a I speak not these words by my own choice, but by the constraint of an higher power which I cannot resist.

13 And Balak said unto him, Come, I pray thee, with me unto another place, from whence thou mayest see them: thou shalt see but the utmost part of them, and shalt not see them all b: and curse me them from thence.

b He thought the sight of the people necessary both to excite Balaam's passions, and to strengthen and direct his conjurations, but he would now have him see but a part of the people, and not all, because the sight of all of them might dismay and discourage him, and, as it did before, raise his fancy to an admiration of the multitude and of the felicity of the people, ver. 9. 10.

14 And he brought him into the field of Zophim c to the top of || Pisgah d, and built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.
Or, the list.

c A place so call'd from the spies & watches which were kept there. d An high hill in the land of Moab, so called, Deut. 3. 27. and 34. 1.

15 And he said unto Balak, Stand here by thy burnt-offering, while I meet the LORD e yonder.

e To consult him, and to receive an answer from him, if peradventure those renewed sacrifices will melt him into some compliance with our desires.

† chap. 22. 35. 16 And the LORD met Balaam f, and † put a word in his mouth, and said, go again to Balak, and say thus.

f See above on verse 4. and Numb. 22. 35.

17. And when he came to him, behold, he stood by his burnt-offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak said unto him, What hath the LORD spoken?

18 And he took up his parable, and said, Rise up g, Balak, and hearken unto me, thou son of Zippor:

f This word implies, either 1. The reverence wherewith he should hear and receive God's message, as Ehud did, Judg. 3. 20. which might have been probable, if Balak had been now sitting, as Ehud there was: but he was standing, ver. 15. or rather 2. The diligent attention required; rouse up thy self and carefully mind what I say.

* 1 Sam. 15. 29. Mal. 3. 6. Rom. 11. 29. Jam. 1. 17. 19 * God is not a man that he should lie h, neither the son of man, that he should repent i: hath he said, and shall he not do it k? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good?

h (i.e.) Break his Faith and Promises made to his People for their preservation and benediction. i (i. e.) Change his counsels or purposes; which men do, either because they are not able to execute them, or because they are better informed and their minds changed by some unexpected occurrent, or by their lusts and passions, none of which have place in God. And therefore I plainly see that all our endeavours and repeated sacrifices are to no purpose, and can make no impression in God, nor induce him to curse those whom he hath purposed, and solemnly and frequently promised, to bless. k Is he like a man that oft speaks and promises what he either never intends, or cannot or will not perform?

20 Behold, I have received commandment to bless l: and he hath blessed, and I cannot reverse it.

l Or, I have received a blessing, to wit, a sentence of blessing, which God hath put into my mind and mouth, and which I cannot forbear to utter. Heb. I have received to bless. The infinitive put for the noun, as is frequent.

21 He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel m: the LORD his God is with him n, and the shout of a King is among them o.

m He, (i.e.) God, understood, v. 20. and expressed, v. 19. hath not or doth not behold or see iniquity or perverseness, i. e. any sin, in Jacob or Israel; which cannot be meant of a simple seeing or knowing of him, for so God did see and observe, yea and chastise their sins, as is manifest, Exod. 32. 9. Deut. 9. 13. but of such a sight of their sins as should provoke God utterly to forsake and curse and destroy them, which was Balak's desire, and Balaam's hope and design. For as Balaam knew that none but Israels God could curse or destroy Israel, so he knew that nothing but their sin could move him so to do; and therefore he took a right though wicked course afterwards, to tempt them to sin, and thereby to expose them to ruine, Numb. 25. And Balaam had now hoped that God was incensed against Israel for their sins, and therefore would be prevailed with to give them up to the curse and spoil. But, saith he, I was mistaken, I see God hath a singular favour to this people, and though he sees and punisheth sin in other persons and people with utter destruction, as he hath now done in Sihon and Og and the Amorites, yet he will not do so with Israel; he winks at their sins, forgets and forgives them, and will not punish them as their iniquities deserve. In this sense God is said not to see sin, as elsewhere he is said to forget them, Isa. 43. 25. Jer. 31 34. and, to cover them, Psal. 32. 1. which keeps them out of sight and so out of mind, and to blot them out, Psal. 51. 1, 9. and to cast them behind his back, Isa. 38. 17. or, into the depth of the sea, Mic. 7. 19. in which cases they cannot be seen nor read. And men are oft said not to know or see those sins in their children or others, which they do not take notice of so as to punish them. And this sense best agrees with the context, God hath decreed and promised to bless this people, and he hath bless'd them, and I cannot reverse it, ver. 20. and he will not reverse it, though provoked to do so by their sins, which he will take no notice of. Others thus, He hath not beheld, as hitherto he hath not, so for the future he will not behold, i. e. so as to approve it, as that word is oft used, as Gen. 7. 1. Isa. 66. 2. Hab. 1. 13. or so as to suffer it, in injury against Jacob, &c. For aven here rendred iniquity, is oft used in that sence, as Job 5. 6, 7. Prov. 12. 21. & 22. 8. And the other word amal rendred perverseness oft notes vexation and trouble. as Job 5. 6, 7. Psal. 25. 17. & 36. 4. and the particle beth rendred in is oft used for against, as Exod. 14. 25. & 20. 16. Numb. 12. 1. So the sense is, God will not see them wronged, or ruined by any of their adversaries, whereof the following words may be a good reason, for God is with him, &c. n (i.e.) He hath a favour for this people, and will defend and save them. So the phrase of God's being with a person or people signifies, as Judg. 6. 13. Psal. 46. 7. Isa. 8. 10. o (i. e.) Such joyful and triumphant shouts as those wherewith a people congratulate the approach and presence of their King when he appears among them upon some solemn occasion, or when he returns from battel with victory and spoils. The expression implies God's being their King and Ruler, and their abundant security and just confidence in him as such. And here is an allusion to the silver trumpets which were made by God's command, and used upon great solemnities, in which God their King was present in a special manner, Numb. 10. 9. Jos. 6. 16, 20. 1 Sam. 4. 5. 2 Chron. 13. 12.

22 * God brought them out of Egypt p: he q hath as it were the strength of an unicorn r.
* chap. 24. 8.

p To wit, by a strong hand, and in spight of all their enemies, and therefore it is in vain to seek or hope to overcome them. q Either 1. God, last mentioned. But so the comparison is mean and unbecoming. Or rather, 2. Israel, whom God brought out of Egypt, such change of numbers being very common in the Hebrew language. The sence is, Israel is not now what he was in Egypt, a poor, weak, dispirited, unarmed people, but high and strong and invincible. r Whose great strength and fierceness is celebrated in Scripture, Numb. 24. 8. Deut. 33. 17. Job 39. 9. Psal. 22. 21. & 92. 10. But whether it be an Unicorn, or a Rhinoceros, or a strong and fierce kind of wild goat, which is here called reem, it is not necessary here to determine.

23 Surely there is no inchantment || against Jacob s, neither is there any divination against Israel: according to this time t it shall be said of Jacob, and of Israel, What hath God wrought u?

s I find by experience and serious consideration that all mine and thine endeavours to enchant Israel are in vain, being frustrated by their omnipotent God. I can do thee no service by my art against them. t Not only in succeeding times and ages, of which he speaks, chap. 24 17; &c. but even now, in this time and age, and so forward. u (i. e.) How wonderful and glorious are those works which God is now about to do for Israel, by drying up Jordan, by subduing the Canaanites, &c. These things will be matter of discourse and admiration to all ages.

24 Behold, the people shall rise up x as * a great lion, and lift up himself as a young lion: he shall not lie down y, until he eat of the prey and drink the blood of the slain.
* Gen. 49. 9.

x As a lion rowzeth up himself to fight, or to go out to the prey, so shall Israel stir up themselves to warlike attempts against all their enemies, as occasion shall offer it self. y (i.e.) Not rest or cease from fighting and pursuing.

25 And Balak said unto Balaam, Neither curse them at all, nor bless them at all.

26 But Balaam answered and said unto Balak, Told I not thee, saying, all that the LORD speaketh, that I must do?

27 And Balak said unto Balaam, Come, I pray thee, I will bring thee unto another place: peradventure it will please God, that thou mayest curse me them from thence.

28 And Balak brought Balaam unto the top of Peor z, that looketh toward Jeshimon.

z An high place called Beth-Peor. Deut. 3 29. i. e. the house or temple of Peor, because there they worshipped Baal-peor.

29 And Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks and seven rams.

30 And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

CHAP. XXIV.

Balaam lays aside his sorceries, and the Spirit of God comes upon him: his Eyes are open: Hears the words of God; and sees the Vision of the Almighty, 1——4. Prophesies of Israels prosperity, 5——9. Balak is Angry: commands him to fly: his Answer, 10——14. He prophesies of the Messias the King, and of the destruction of the Nations, 15——24. He returns to his place; and Balak goes his way, 25.

1 AND when Balaam saw that it pleased the LORD to bless Israel, he went not as at * other times, † to seek for inchantments a; but he set his face toward the wilderness b.
* chap 23. 3, 15. † Heb. to the meeting of inchantments.

a (i.e.) To use enchantments, which he is said to have done, either because when he consulted and sacrificed to God, he did also use enchantments and consult with the Devil, that if one would not, the other might help him; or, because he consulted God in a magical & superstitious way, by using such postures or instruments or forms of words as inchanters used. b Where Israel lay encamped, either with intent to curse Israel without Gods leave: or rather, expecting what God of his own accord would suggest to him concerning this matter.

2 And Balaam lift up his eyes, and he saw Israel abiding in his tents, according to their tribes: and the spirit of God came upon him d.

c In the order appointed Numb. 2. d (i. e.) Inspired him to speak the following words, and so constrained him again to bless those whom he desired to curse.

*chap. 23. 7, 18. †Heb. who are open s, hath said ;

3 * And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man † whose eyes had his eyes shut, but now open.

e The eyes, either 1. of his body, as in the following verse: or 2. of his mind, which God had opened in a peculiar and prophetical manner, whence Prophets are called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9.. He implies that before he was blind and stupid, having eyes, but not seeing nor understanding. Some render the words, having his eyes shut, as the Hebrew verb Satham signifies, the letters Schin and Samech being frequently exchanged ; and so the meaning is, that he received this revelation either in a dream, when mens eyes are simply shut ; or in an extasie or trance, when mens eyes, though open, are in a manner shut, to wit, as to the use and exercise of them.

f So called either strictly and properly, because he was awake when this was revealed to him : or largely and improperly, for any extraordinary discovery of Gods mind to him, whether sleeping or waking. g Or, extasie, fainting and falling upon the ground, as the Prophets used to do. See 1 Sam. 19. 24. Ezek. 1. 28. and 3. 23. and 43. 3. Dan. 8. 17. 18. and 10. 16. Rev. 1. 17. Others, falling suddenly into a sleep, as the Prophets sometimes did, as Gen. 15. 12. Dan. 8. 18.

5 How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thy tabernacles, O Israel ?

6 As the valleys h are they i spread forth, as gardens by the rivers side k, as the trees of lign-aloes l which the LORD hath planted m, and as cedar-trees n beside the waters o.

h Which oft-times from a small beginning are spread forth far and wide. Others, as the brooks, or rivers, as the word signifies, which stretch out and disperse their waters into several channels, and sometimes further. i (i. e.) The Israelites last mentioned. k Pleasant and fruitful and secured by a fence. l An Arabian and Indian tree of a sweet smell, yeilding good shade and shelter both to man and beast : such is Israel, famous among the nations, and not only safe themselves, but yeilding shelter to all that joyn themselves to them. m Which are the best of the kind ; such as not man but God might seem to have planted, as the best of all fruits are ascribed to God, as the trees, buds, cities, of God, &c. Compare Psal. 104. 16. n Which are famous for growth and height and strength and durableness, whence Solomon Temple was built of this wood, 1 King. 6. 9, 10. o Where trees thrive best.

p He (i. e.) God, will abundantly water the valleys, gardens and trees, which represent the Israelites, ver. 6. i. e. he will wonderfully bless his people, not only with outward blessings, of which a chief one in those parts was plenty of water, but also with higher gifts and graces, with his word and spirit, which are often signified by waters, Joh. 3. 5. & 4. 10. & 7. 38, 39 and at last with eternal life, the contemplation whereof made Balaam desire to die the death of the righteous. Others thus, God shall make his posterity numerous : for the procreation of Children is oft signified by waters, fountains, cisterns, &c. as Psal. 68. 26. Prov. 5. 15, 18. & 9. 17. Isa. 48. 1. But there is no necessity of flying to Metaphors here, and therefore the other being the literal and proper sense, is by the laws of good interpretation to be preferred before it. q This seed may be literally understood of their seed, which shall be sown in a fruitful ground, and therefore bring forth a better encrease, Isa. 32. 20. Others thus, His seed shall be so numerous, that it shall branch forth into many people, the several tribes being reckoned and sometimes called several people. Or, his seed shall rule over many people or nations, which are sometimes signified by many waters, as Psal. 144. 7. Isa. 57. 20. Jer. 47. 2. Rev. 17. 15. But here also the literal sense seems best. r (i. e.) The King of Israel, either God, who was in a peculiar manner their King or Ruler, Numb 23. 21. Judg. 6. 13. 1 Sam. 8. 7. Isa. 33. 22. or their chief Governour or Governours, whether King or others : for Moses is called their king, Deut. 33. 5. and the Judges were in a manner Kings. s (i. e.) Than the King of the Amalekites, which King and people were famous and potent in that age, ver. 20. as may be guessed by their bold attempt upon so numerous a people as Israel was. And it is probably thought by the Jewish and other Interpreters, that Agag was the common name of the Amalekitish Kings, as Abimelech was of the Philistines, and Pharaoh of the Egyptians, and Cæsar of the Romans. But though this King only be instanced in, yet other Kings, to wit, such as did or should border upon the Israelites, are doubtless to be understood, above whom the Kings and People of Israel sometimes were advanced, and oftener should have been, if they had not been their own hindrance by their sins. Some make this a prophecy of Saul's conquering Agag and his people, 1 Sam. 15. 7, 8. But the words seem to be more general and to signifie a greater honour and advantage to Israel than that was.

*chap 23. 22. 8 * God brought him forth out of Egypt, he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn : he shall eat up the nations his enemies, and shall break t their bones, and pierce them through with his arrows.

t Or, unlom, or, take out, i. e. shall eat the flesh to the very bones, and then break them also.

*Gen. 49. 9 *Gen. 12. 3 & 27. 29. 9 * He couched, he lay down u as a lion, and as a great lion : who shall stir him up u ? * Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee.

t Having conquered his enemies the Canaanites, and their land he shall quietly and securely rest and settle himself their. u (i. e.) Awake or provoke him

10 And Balaks anger was kindled against Balaam, and he smote his hands together x : and Balak said unto Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast altogether blessed them these three times.

x A sign of great anger, Ezek. 21. 17. and 22. 13.

11. Therefore now, flee thou to thy place y : I thought to promote thee unto great honour, but lo, the LORD z hath kept thee back from honour.

y Whence I sent for thee, Numb. 22. 5. z Whose commands thou hast preferred before my desires and interest ; and therefore seek thy recompence from him, and not from me.

12 And Balaam said unto Balak, Spake I not also to thy messengers which thou sentest unto me, saying, 13 * If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the LORD, to do either good or bad † of mine own mind : but what the LORD saith that will I speak.

*chap. 22. 18. †Gr. from my heart.

14 And now behold, I go unto my people : come therefore, and * I will advertise thee a what this people shall do to thy people in the latter days b.

a Or, inform thee, to wit, concerning future things, as it here follows, for this word seems inseparably joyned with the following. Others, give thee counsel, and tell thee what this people, &c. So it is a short and defective speech, such as we have, Exod. 4. 5. and 13. 8. And by counsel they understand that which is related, Numb. 25. 1, 2. which was done by Balaam's counsel, Numb. 31. 16. Revel. 2. 14. But the former sense is more unforced and agreeable to the following words, as they ly. b Not in thy time, therefore thou hast no reason to fear, but in succeeding ages, as 2 Sam. 8. 2. &c.

15 And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes were open hath said :

16 He hath said, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the most High, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open :

17 I shall c see him d but not now e : I shall behold him, but not nigh : there shall come a * star f out of Jacob, and a scepter g shall rise out of Israel, and shall ‖ smite the corners h of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth i.

c Or, I have seen, or do see, for the future is oft put for other times or tenses : he speaks of a prophetical sight, like that of Abraham's, who saw Christ's day, Joh. 8. 56. d To wit, the star, and scepter as it here follows, i. e. a great and eminent Prince, which was to come out of Israel's loyns, either 1. David, who first did the things here spoken of, 2 Sam. 8. 2. Psal. 60. 8. and 108. 9. and some of the Kings of Judah and Israel after him, for it is not necessarily understood of one particular person : or 2. the Messias, as both Jewish and Christian Interpreters expound it, who most eminently and fully performed what is here said, in destroying the enemies of Israel or of God's Church, who are here described under the names of the nearest and fiercest enemies of Israel : which he doth partly by himself, by his word and spirit, and spiritual plagues ; and partly by his ministers, those princes whom he makes nursing fathers to his Church, and scourges to his Enemies. And to him alone agrees the foregoing verb properly, I shall see him, to wit, in my own person, or with the eyes of my own body, as every eye shall see him, Rev. 1. 7. when he comes to judgment. Nor can it seem strange that Balaam should speak of such high and remote things, seeing he foresaw and foretold these things by the revelation of the spirit of God, by which also he foresaw the great felicity of good men, and the miserable state of bad men after death and judgment, Numb. 23. 10. e Not yet, but after many ages. f A title oft given to Princes and eminent and illustrious persons, and particularly to the Messias, Rev. 2. 28. and 22. 16. g (i. e.) A scepter-bearer, a king or ruler, even that scepter mentioned Gen. 49. 10. h Either 1 literally, the borders, which by a Synecdoche are oft used in Scripture for the whole country to which they belong, as Exod. 8. 2. Psal. 74. 17. and 147. 14. Jer. 15. 13. and 17. 3. Or 2. metaphorically, to wit, princes and rulers, who are sometimes compared to corners, as Zach. 10. 4. and Christ himself is called a corner-stone, because he unites and supports the building. But I prefer the former sense. i Which seems to be the name of some then eminent, though now unknown, place or prince in Moab, where there were many princes, as appears from Numb. 23. 6. Amos 2. 3. there being innumerable instances of such places or persons sometimes famous, but now utterly lost as to all monuments and remembrances of them.

18 And * Edom shall be a possession d, Seir e also shall be a possession for his Enemies f, and Israel shall do valiantly g :

*2 Sam. 8. 14. Psal. 60. 8.

d Which was also foretold, Gen. 25. 23. and in part fulfilled, 2 Sam. 8. 14. 1 Chron. 18. 13. but more fully by Christ, Amos 9: 12. Obad. ver. 18. who shall subdue and possess all his enemies ; here signified by the name of Edom, as Jacob or Israel, his brother, signifies all his Church and people. e A part and mountain of Edom, Gen. 36. 8. which may be here mentioned as the strongest part of Edom, to shew that not only the rest of Edom, which is more accessible, but even the rocks and best munitions of it, shall be taken. f The Israelites. g Or, gain power, or riches, or victory, all which are comprehended in this phrase.

19 Out of Jacob h shall come he that shall have dominion i, and shall destroy him that remaineth of the city k.

h Out of Jacob's loyns. i David, and especially Christ. k Or, from or out of this city, i. e. the cities, the singular number for the plural, which hath been oft noted before. The sence is, He shall not only subdue those Moabites and Edomites which meet him in the field, but he shall pursue them even to their strongest holds and cities, and shall pull them out thence. Possibly he may not destroy royal city as may be guessed from Psal. 60. 9. eminent city in which they confided most, their Metropolis or 20 And when he looked l on Amalek, he took up his parable, and said, Amalek was ‖ the first m of the nations, but his latter end ‖ shall be that he perish for ever n.

l From the top of Pisgah, which was exceeding high, and gave him the prospect of parts of all these kingdoms. m Heb. the first fruits ; so called either, 1. because they were the first of all the neighboring nations which were embodied together in one government : or, 2. because they were the most powerful and eminent of them, as is implied above, ver. 7. the best things in each kind being oft signified by the name of first-fruits. Or, 3. because he was the first who fought against Israel and was vanquished by them, in that famous battel Exod. 17. which victory was an earnest and first-fruits of that large harvest of victories which the Israelites should in due time get over all their enemies, and among others, over Amalek himself, 1 Sam. 15: 3. n He began with God and with Israel, but God will end with him, and the firm purpose and will of God is, that he shall be utterly destroyed, Exod. 17. 14. so that Saul lost his kingdom for not executing this decree and God's command pursuant thereunto, 1 Sam. 15.

21 And he looked on * the Kenite o, and took up his parable, and said, Strong is thy dwelling-place, and thou putteft thy nest p in a rock :

* 1 Sam. 15. 6.

o The posterity or kindred of Jethro ; not that part of them which dwelt among the Israelites, to whom the following words do not agree, but those of them who were mingled with the Amalekites and Midianites. See Exod. 3. 1. Judg. 1. 16. & 4. 11. 1 Sam. 15. 6. p (i. e.) Thy dwelling-place, so called, either because it was in an high place, as nests commonly are : or from their security and confidance of continuing long and safe in it : See Job 29. 18. or in allusion to their name, for ken in Hebrew signifies a nest.

22 Nevertheless † the Kenite q shall be wasted, ‖ until Ashur shall carry thee away captive r.

† Heb. Kain. ‖ Or, how long shall it be ere Asshur carry thee away captive?

q Heb. Kain, i. e. the Kenite, so called, either by a transposition of letters, which is very usual in the Hebrew tongue : or from the name of some eminent place where they lived, or person from whom they were descended, though now the memory of them be utterly lost, as it hath fared with innumerable other places and persons famous in their generations mentioned in ancient heathen writers. r (i. e.) Shall be by degrees diminished and wasted by the incursions of divers enemies, till at last the Assyrian comes to compleat the work and carries them into captivity. For the Kenites lived partly among the ten tribes, Jos. 19. 33. compared with Judg. 4. 11. and partly with the two tribes, Judg. 1. 16. & 4. 16, 17. and were carried captive with them, part by Salmanaser, the king of Assyria, 2 King. 17. 6. and part by Nebuchadnezzar, who also is called an Assyrian, Ezra 6. 22. Isa. 52. 4. The words may be rendred thus, shall he waste d. How long ? to wit, shall they be thus wasted ? (these particles being oft used abruptly and pathetically in the same manner, Psal. 6. 3. & 90. 13. Isa. 6. 11.) till Ashur comes, Ashur shall carry thee away captive.

23 And he took up his parable, and said, Alas ? who shall live s when God doth this ?

s How calamitous and miserable will the state of the World be, when the Assyrian, and after him the Chaldean, shall over-run and over-turn all these parts of the World ? who will be able to live and keep his heart from fainting under such grievous pressures ? how few will then escape the destroying sword ?

24 And ships shall come from the coast of Chittim t, and shall afflict Ashur, and shall afflict Eber u, and he also x shall perish for ever.

t A place or people so called from Chittim the son of Javan, Gen. 10. 4. whose posterity were very numerous, and were first seated in the lesser Asia, and from thence sent forth colonies into the islands of the Ægean sea, and into Cyprus, and afterwards into Macedonia and other parts of Greece, and then into Italy. Whence it comes to pass that by this name is understood sometimes Macedonia, as appears from 1 Macc. 1. 1. and 8. Macc. 8. 5. and sometimes Italy, as is manifest, from Dan. 11. 29, 30. and sometimes both, as in this place : for he speaks here of the scourge that God hath appointed for the Assyrian after he had done God's work in punishing of his people and the bordering nations. Now although the Assyrian and Chaldean empire was subdued by the Medes and Persians, yet the chief afflictions and calamities of that people came from two hands, both beyond the sea and brought to them by ships, as is here expressed ; first from the Grecians under Alexander and his successors, by whom that people were grievously oppressed and wasted ; then from the Romans, who subdued all the Grecian empire, one great part whereof were the Assyrians largely so called, and after many bloody wars made them a colony. u (i. e.) The posterity of Eber, Gen. 10. 24. the Hebrews, who were the chief and flower of Ebers children, and therefore are here designed by that general name, such general expressions being oft used concerning one particular and the most eminent of its kind. And it pleased God to express it thus darkly here, because though he would foretel this for the comfort and instruction of his people in after ages, yet he would not have Balak, nor Balaam neither, understand or utter any thing which might seem to thwart that happy estate of Israel, which Balaam clearly saw and openly applauded. x Not the Hebrews, as some understand, for his affliction was now mentioned before, and other Scriptures tell us they shall have a better end, and that all Israel shall be saved, and therefore not perish for ever, but the afflicter or scourge of Asher and Eber, to wit, the Grecian and Roman Empire.

25 And Balaam rose up, and went, and returned to his place y : and Balak also went his way.

y (i. e.) To Mesopotamia. Obj. He went only to Midian, where he was slain, Num. 31. 8. Answ. 1. He is said to return home because he intended and began to do so, tho' he was diverted by the Midianites : for men in Scripture are oft said to do what they design or attempt to do, as Exod 8. 18. Numb. 14. 40. Answ. 2. He did go home first, tho' afterwards he returned to the Midianites, either because they sent for him, or to recover his lost credit, and to do that by policy which he could not do by charms, to which purpose he gave them that devilish counsel which was put in practice, Numb. 25. and that by his advice, Num. 31. 16. Rev. 2. 14.

CHAP. XXV.

The Israelites Whoredom and Idolatry : God commands the guilty to be put to death, — 5. A Plague : Phinehas his zeal ; for which God promises him the Priesthood, 6—15. God commands the Midianites to be slain for this their Treachery in drawing the People to sin, 16—18.

1 AND Israel abode in * Shittim a, and the people b began to commit whoredom c with the daughters of Moab d.

a A place called more largely, Abel-Shittim, Numb. 33. 49. it being usual with the Hebrews to abbreviate long proper names, as Hermon is put for Baal-hermon, Judg. 3. 3. Tha'ad for Elat-baload, Jos. 19. 4. Nimrim, Isa. 15. 6. for Beth-nimrim, Numb 32. 36. And this was their last station, from whence they passed immediately into Canaan. So this is here noted as a great aggravation of their sin, that they committed it, when God was going to put them into the possession of their long-expected and much-desired land. b Not all, but many of them, as appears from Deut. 4. 3, 4. 1 Cor. 10. 8. c Both corporally and spiritually, either because they prostituted themselves to them upon condition of worshipping their God : or because their filthy God was worshipped by such filthy acts, as Priapus and Venus were. d And of Midian too, as is evident from ver. 6. 17, 18. and Numb. 31. 16. for both these people being confederated in this wicked design, the one is put for the other, and the daughters of Moab may be named, either because they began the transgression, or because they were the chief persons, possibly, the relations or courtiers of Balak king of Moab.

2 And * they called e the people unto the sacrifices of their gods f : and the people did eat, and bowed down g to their gods h : e This may be noted, either 1. as the consequent of their whoredom, an invitation to further society in their sacred feasts ; or rather 2. as the cause or occasion of their whoredom, the Hebrew vau here signifying for, as it oft doth. The Moabites being now neighbours to the Israelites, and finding themselves unable to effect their design against Israel by war and witchcraft, they now fell another way to work, by contracting familiarity with them, and, perceiving their evil and lustful inclinations, they, i. e. their daughters, last mentioned, invited them to their feasts. e (i. e.) Unto the feasts which were made of their parts of their sacrifices, after the manner of the Jews and Gentiles too, the participation whereof, was reckoned a participation in the worship of that God to whom the sacrifices were offered, 1 Cor. 10. 8. and therefore was forbidden to the Israelites when such feasts and sacrifices belonged to a false God, Exod. 24. 15. Yet this was a less and more modest kind of Idolatry, and therefore is fitly used to usher in what was more gross and impious. f (i. e.) Of their God, Baal-peor, the plural Elohim being here used, as commonly it is, for one God. g Which properly notes the outward act of worship, which here consisting in, or being accompanied with filthy actions, may either signifie or connote them. h Before their Gods, or, to the honour and worship of their Gods.

3 And Israel joyned himself i unto Baal-peor k : and the anger of the LORD was kindled l against Israel.

i The word implies a forsaking of God to whom they were and should have been joyned, and a turning to, embracing of, strict conjunction with, and fervent affection after, this false God. Compare Hos. 9. 10. and 2 Cor. 6. 14. k Called Baal, by the name common to many false Gods, and especially to those that represented any of the heavenly bodies, and Peor, either from the hill Peor, where he was worshipped, Numb. 23. 28. or rather from a verb signifying to open and uncover, either because of the obscene posture in which possibly the Idol was set, as Priapus was : or because of the filthinels which was exercised in his worship. l (i. e.) Discovered it self in a dreadful plague, Psal. 106. 29.

4 And the LORD said unto Moses, * Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up m before the LORD n against the sun o, that the fierce anger of the LORD may be turned away from Israel.

m The sense is, either 1. Take, to wit, to thy self and thy assistance, all the heads, i. e. the Judges, as they are called ver. 5. Or Rulers, of the People, and in their presence, and by their help, hang them, i. e. the people, now mentioned, to wit, such of them as were guilty, as was said ver. 2. And this sense seems to be favoured by the next verse, where the execution of this command is mentioned, Moses said unto the Judges of Israel, whom he had taken to himself and called together, Slay ye every one his man, i. e. Each of you execute this command of God, and hang up the delinquents under your several jurisdictions. Or 2. Take, i. e. apprehend, all the heads, i. e. the chief, of the people, such as were chief, either in this transgression, or rather in place and power, who are singled out to this exemplary punishment either for their neglect in not preventing, restraining or punishing the offenders according to their power and duty, or for their concurrence with others in this wickedness, which was more odious and mischievous in them than in others. And then this must be necessarily limited to such heads as were guilty, which is evident from the nature of the thing, and from the words of the verse. And so these heads of the people differ as in name and title, so in place and dignity from the Judges of the people, ver. 5. which may seem to note the superior Magistrates, even the 70 Elders, which, being persons of great worth and piety, chosen by God, and endowed with his spirit, most probably kept themselves from this contagion, and therefore were fitter to punish others; and the heads of the People, seem to be the inferior Magistrates, the rulers of tens or hundreds, or the like, who as they did many of them, partake with the people in other rebellions, so probably were involved in this guilt. Now these are to be hanged up as other malefactors, and condemned persons were, Deut. 21.23. x To the vindication of God's honour and justice. o (i. e.) Publickly, as their sin was publick and scandalous, and speedily before the Sun go down. But withal this phrase may signifie, that these also must be taken down about Sun-setting, as other malefactors were, Deut. 21.23.

*Exod.32. 27. 5 And Moses said unto the judges of Israel, * slay ye every one his men p that were joined unto Baal-Peor.

p (i.e.) Those under his charge: for as these 70 were chosen to assist Moses in the government, so doubtless the care and management of the people was distributed among them by just and equal proportions.

6 And behold q one of the children of Israel came, and brought into his brethren r a Midianitish woman, in the sight of Moses s, and in the sight of all the congregation t of the children of Israel, who were weeping u before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

q This was done, either 1. Before God's command to Moses, and by him to the Judges, ver. 4, 5. such transpositions and disorders being not unusual in sacred story. Or rather, 2. In the order it is related, to wit, when Moses had given the charge to the Judges, and, as it may seem, before the execution of it, otherwise it is probable he would not have been so bold and foolish to have run upon present and certain ruin, when the examples were fresh and frequent before his eyes. r (i.e.) Into the camp of the Israelites, or to his Friends and Relations in his tent, whither he carried her, ver. 8. for his or their fleshly satisfaction. s An argument of intolerable impudence and contempt of God and of Moses. t (i.e.) The rulers of the congregation with divers of the people. u Bewailing the abominable wickedness of the people, and the dreadful judgments of God, and imploring God's mercy and favour.

*Psal.106. 30. *Exod. 6. 25. 7 And * when Phinehas the * son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, saw it, he rose up from amongst the congregation, and took a javelin in his hand, (Or, brothel.) 8 And he went after the man of Israel into the ‖ tent x, and thrust both of them through y, the man of Israel and the woman through her belly z: so the plague a was stayed from the children of Israel.

x Or, Brothel-house: For since they gave way to such lewd practices, no doubt they singled out convenient places for their wickedness. y Which is no warrant for private persons to take upon them the execution of justice upon any, though the greatest malefactors, because Phinehas was himself a man in great authority and power, and did this after the command given by Moses to the rulers to slay these transgressors, and in the very sight, and no doubt, by the consent of Moses himself, and also by the special instinct and direction of God's spirit. z Or in her brothel-house, for the word is the same before used, and translated tent, and it may be called hers, because she chose or used that place for her wicked purposes, as the rest doubtless did other places of like nature. a Either the pestilence, or some other sudden and grievous mortality.

*1 Cor.10. 8. 9 And * those that died in the plague, were twenty and four thousand b.

b Object. They were but 23000. 1 Cor. 10. 8. Answ. The odd thousand here added were slain by the Judges according to the order of Moses, the rest by the immediate hand of God, but both forts died of the plague, the word being used, as oft it is, for the sword, or hand, or stroke of God.

10 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

*Psal.106. 30. 11 * Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest hath turned my wrath away from the children of Israel, (while he was zealous c for my sake d among them) that I consumed not the children of Israel in my jealousie.

c Fervent and resolute and valiant. d For my satisfaction and vindication.

12 Wherefore say, Behold, I give unto him my covenant of peace e.

e (i.e.) The covenant of an everlasting priesthood, as it is expounded, v. 13. which is called a covenant of peace, partly with respect to the happy effect of this heroical action of his, whereby he made peace between God and his people; and partly with regard to the principal end and use of the Priestly office, which was constantly to do that which Phinehas now did, even to mediate between God and Men, to obtain and preserve his own and Israel's peace and reconciliation with God, by offering up sacrifices and incense, and prayers, to God on their behalf, Numb. 16. 47, 48. as also by turning them away from iniquity, which is the only peace-breaker, and by teaching and pressing the observation of that Law, which is the only bond of their peace, Mal. 2. 5, 6, 7.

13 And he shall have it, and his seed after him f, even the covenant of an everlasting priesthood g, because he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Israel.

f Quest. What advantage had he by this promise, seeing the thing here promised was due to him by birth? Answ. 1. The same blessing may be oft-times promised, as the Kingdom was to David; and the renewing of this promise might seem convenient here, to signifie that bloodshed was so far from polluting him, and thereby casting him out of the Priesthood, that it was a mean to confirm him in it. 2. This promise secured him and his against divers contingences, which otherwise might have befallen him or them, as that he should live longer than his father, else he could not have been the High-priest; that he should be preserved from those blemishes which might have rendred him uncapable of the Priesthood, which were many; that he should have a seed, and they such as were fit for that office. g (i.e.) To continue as long as the Law and Commonwealth of the Jews did. Quest. How was this verified, seeing the Priesthood went from Eleazar's to Ithamar's line in Eli and three or four of his Successors? Answ. 1. This promise, as others of the like nature, was conditional, and therefore might be made void and of none effect, by the miscarriages of Phinehas his sons, as it seems it was, and thereupon a like promise was made to Eli of the line of Ithamar, that he and his should walk before the Lord, to wit, in the office of High-priest, for ever, which also for his and their sins was made void, 1 Sam. 2. 30. Answ. 2. That was but a short interruption, and not considerable in so long a succession, for the Priesthood returned to Phinehas his line in the time of Solomon, 1 King. 2. 26, 27, 34. 1 Chron. 24. 3. and continued in that line till the captivity of Babylon, as is evident, and afterward too, 1 Chron. 6. 4. Ezra 7. 1, 5. even until Christ's time, for any thing which appears to the contrary.

14 Now the name of the Israelite that was slain, even that was slain with the Midianitish woman, was Zimri the son of Salu, a prince h of † a chief house i among the Simeonites k.

h This is added as a proof of Phinehas his zeal that he durst venture upon so great a person, who was likely to have many avengers of his blood. i Heb. Of the house of his Father. Every Tribe was divided into great Housholds called the houses of their Fathers, Numb. 1. 2. and he was the Prince or chief of one of these, though not of the whole Tribe. k Of the Tribe of Simeon, which seems to have been too much influenced by his and other such examples, so that for 59300. which were numbred, Numb. 1. 22, 23. there were now only 22200. Numb. 26. 14.

15 And the name of the Midianitish woman that was slain, was Cozbi the daughter of Zur l; he was head over a people, and of a chief house m in Midian.

l One of the Kings or Princes of Midian, Numb. 31. 8. Jos. 13. 21. m Or, and over her fathers house.

*ch.31. 17 * Vex the Midianites n and smite them o.

n And why not the Moabites, who were as guilty, ver. 1. Answ. 1. Because God will reserve to himself a liberty of punishing or sparing, according to his own good pleasure. 2. God had a kindness for the Moabites for Lot's sake, Deut. 2. 9. 3. God punished the Moabites in another manner, partly by his own immediate hand, whereby it is probable he cut off those Moabitish women that were guilty of this fact, partly by a particular and dreadful kind of excommunication, Deut. 23. 3. and partly by impunity, which in its consequences is commonly worse and more pernicious than any or all temporal punishments, which none that believes the Bible can deny. 4. It is probable the Midianites were most guilty, as in perswading Balak to send for Balaam, as may be gathered from Numb. 22. 4, 7. So in the reception of Balaam after Balak had dismissed him, Numb. 31. 8. and in further consultation with him, and in contriving the means for the executing of this wicked plot. o (i. e.) Kill them: in which words as there is a command to war against them, so there is a promise of success.

18 For they vex you with their wiles p, wherewith they have beguiled you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi q, the daughter of a prince of Midian, their sister r, which was slain in the day of the plague for Peors sake.

p For under pretence of Kindred and Friendship and Leagues, yea and Marriages, which they offered to them, instead of that War which the Israelites expected from them, they sought only an opportunity to insinuate themselves into their familiarity, and execute their hellish plot of bringing that curse upon the Israelites, which they had in vain attempted to bring another way. q By drawing you both to spiritual and corporal whoredom. r In a large sense, to wit, their Country woman.

CHAP. XXVI.

Israel numbred: such as were fit for War: of every Tribe: Levi excepted: their Number, 1——51. The Land to be distributed according to their Number, 52——56. The Levites numbred by themselves, because they had no Inheritance, 57——62. All that were numbred by Moses and Aaron at Sinai, save only Caleb and Joshua, died in the Wilderness, 63——65.

1 AND it came to pass after the plague a that the LORD spake unto Moses, and unto Eleazar b the son of Aaron the priest, saying, a Last mentioned, chap. 25. 8, 9. b Who, his father being dead, was High-priest.

2 Take the sum c of all the congregation of the children of Israel * from twenty years old and upward, throughout their fathers house, all that are able to go to war in Israel.

c They were numbred twice before, Exod. 30. 11, 12. and Numb. 1. 1, 2. Now they are numbred a third time, partly to demonstrate the faithfulness of God, both in cutting all those off whom he had threatned to cut off, Numb. 14. 29. and in a stupendious increase and multiplication of the people according to his promise, notwithstanding all their sins, and the sweeping judgments inflicted upon them; and partly to prepare the way for the equal division of the Land which they were now going to possess.

3 And Moses and Eleazar the priest spake with them in the plains of Moab d, by Jordan near Jericho e, saying, d See Numb. 22. 1. & 33. 48. e See Numb. 22. 1.

4 Take the sum of the people f, from twenty years old and upward as the LORD * commanded Moses, and the * ch. 1. children of Israel which went forth out of the land of Egypt.

f Which words are easily supplied and necessarily to be understood from ver. 2.

*Gen.46. 8. Exod.6. 14. 1 Chro. 5. 1. 5 * Reuben the eldest son of Israel: the children of Reuben; Hanock, of whom cometh the family of the Hanochite: of Pallu, the family of the Palluite:

6 Of Hesron, the family of the Hesronite: of Carmi, the family of the Carmite.

7 These are the families g of the Reubenite: and they that were numbred of them, were forty and three thousand and seven hundred and thirty h

g (i.e.) The chief houses, which were subdivided into divers lesser families. h Whereas in their last numbring they were 46500, Numb. 1. 21. for Korah's conspiracy, as well as other provocations of theirs had cut off many of them.

8 And the sons i of Pallu; Eliab.

i For, son, of which change of the number. See Gen. 21. 7. & 46. 7.

9 And the sons of Eliab; Nemuel, and Dathan, and Abiram: this is that Dathan, and Abiram, which were * famous in the congregation, who strove against Moses, and against Aaron in the company of Korah, when they strove against the LORD.

10 And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up together with Korah k, when that company died, what time the fire devoured two hundred and fifty men: and they became a sign l:

k According to this translation Korah was not consumed by fire with his 250 men, Numb. 16. but swallowed up by the Earth. But others rather think he was devoured by the fire, of which see on Numb. 16. 32, 35. and render these words, and the things of Korah, or belonging to Korah, to wit, his tent and goods, and family, children excepted as here follows. Which interpretation receives strength by comparing this place with Numb. 16. 32. And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them (to wit, Dathan and Abiram, as is manifest from ver. 24. 25, 27.) up and their houses, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, which variation of the phrase plainly shews that Korah himself was not swallowed up with them, but only his men and his tabernacle, which is mentioned there together with the tabernacles of Dathan and Abiram, ver. 24. 27. but his person is not there mentioned with their persons. Nor is it unusual both in sacred and profane authors, by the name of a man who is the head and master to understand only his house and family, though himself be not included. But this difficulty may be cleared another way. The Hebrew particle eth may be here the note of a Nominative case, as it is 2 Kings 6. 5. Neh. 9. 19. Jer. 38. 16. Ezek. 39. 14. & 43. 7. and there may be a defect of a verb, which is most frequent, and so the place may be rendred thus, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, to wit, Dathan and Abiram, ver. 9. and Korah, or, and as for Korah he died (which verb is easily understood out of the following noun, of which Ellipsis there are many instances in Scripture, some where of have been given before, and more will follow in their places) in the death of that company, or when that company died, their sins when the fire devoured the two hundred and fifty men. And so this phrase, and Numb. 16. 35. explain one another, and whereas there is mention only of 250 men consumed by that fire, Korah is here added to the number. l (i. e.) God made them a monument or example, to warn others not to rebel against God nor against Magistracy, nor to usurp the Priestly Office.

m God being pleased to spare them, either because they disowned their fathers fact, and thereupon separated themselves both from his tent and company, or because Moses interceded for them, or because God would glorifie his own free mercy in sparing some, while he punished others, according to his declaration in a like case, Exod. 33. 19. Hence the sons of Korah are mentioned, 1 Chron. 6. 22, 38. and oft in the book of Psalms.

12 The sons of Simeon after their families: of Nemuel n, the family of the Nemuelite: of Jamin, the family of the Jaminite: of Jachin o, the family of the Jachinite:

n Called Jemuel, Gen. 46. 10. Exod. 6. 15. o Called also Jarib, 1 Chron. 4. 24. And such names might be either added or changed upon some special occasion not recorded in Scripture.

13 Of Zerah o, the family of the Zarhite: of Shaul, the family of the Shaulite.

o Called also Zohar, Gen. 46 10. Exod. 6. 15. There is another of his sons, Obad, mentioned Gen. 46. 10. not here, possibly because his family was extinct before this time.

14 These are the families of the Simeonite: twenty and two thousand and two hundred p.

p Whereas there were 35400 in Numb. 1. 23. It is thought the example of Zimri, one of their princes, Numb. 25. and some others among them, did infect the generality of the Tribe, and so caused this great diminution, in their numbers.

15 The children of Gad q after their families: of Zephon r, the family of the Zephonite; of Haggi, the family of the Haggite: of Shuni, the family of the Shunite.

q Who is placed next, because he was joined with Reuben and Simeon in the same camp and quarters, Numb. 2. 10, 14. r Called Zephion, Gen. 46. 16.

16 Of Ozni s, the family of the Oznites: of Eri, the family of the Erites:

s Called Ezbon, Gen. 46. 16.

17 Of Arod t, the family of the Arodites: of Areli, the family of the Arelites.

t Called Arodi, Gen. 46. 16.

18 These are the families of the children of Gad, according to those that were numbred of them, forty thousand and five hundred u.

u Fewer by above 5000 than there were in their last numbring, Numb. 2. 15.

19 * The sons of Judah were Er and Onan: and Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan.

*Gen. 38. 2. &c. and 46. 12. *1 Chro. 2. 3.

20 And the sons of Judah after their families were; of Shelah, the family of the Shelanites: of Pharez, the family of the Pharzites: of Zerah, the family of the Zarhites.

21 And the sons of Pharez x were; of Hesron, the family of the Hesronites: of Hamul, the family of the Hamulites.

x Which though Judahs Grandchildren are here mentioned among his sons, because they are put in the stead of Er and Onan, which died before.

22 These are the families of Judah, according to those that were numbred of them, threescore and sixteen thousand and five hundred y.

y About 2000 more than they were, Numb. 1. 27. whereas the three going Tribes were all diminished, this Tribe was now encreased; and the blessing promised to that Tribe above the rest, Gen. 49. 8. doth herein begin to shew it self 23 * Of the sons of Issachar after their families: of Tola, the family of the Tolaites: of Pua z, the family of the Punites.

*1 Chron. 7. 1.

z Called also Phuvah, Gen. 46. 13. as his brother Jashub, ver. 24. is called Job, Gen. 46. 13.

24 Of Jashub, the family of the Jashubites: of Shimron, the family of the Shimronites.

25 These are the families of Issachar, according to those that were numbred of them, threescore and four thousand and three hundred a.

a A great increase. Compare Numb. 2. 6.

26 Of * the sons of Zebulun, after their families, of Sered, the families of the Sardites: of Elon, the family of the Elonites: of Jahleel, the family of the Jahleelites.

*Gen. 46. 14.

27 These are the families of the Zebulunites, according to those that were numbred of them, threescore thousand and five hundred b.

b Whereas before they were but 57400 in Numb. 1. 31. & 2. 8. So that Judahs camp was much encreased, as Reubens was much diminished.

28 * The sons of Joseph, after their families, were Manasseh and Ephraim.

*Gen.46. 20.

29 Of the sons of Manasseh: of * Machir, the family of the Machirites: and Machir begat Gilead: of Gilead come the family of the Gileadites c.

c Gilead is here mentioned as Machirs only son; and therefore some conceive that the family of the Machirites, and of the Gileadites, are one and the same family, only called by two names, first Machirites, but afterwards Gileadites. Others make them distinct families, because Machir had other children, Gen. 50. 23. 1 Chron. 7. 14, 15, 16. which are called by their fathers name, Machirites, whereas the children of his eldest son Gilead are called by his name, Gileadites. But though Machir had other children, it seems they were but one family, as may be gathered by comparing this and the following verses with Jos. 17. 1, 2, 3. & 1 Chron. 7. 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

30 These are the sons of Gilead, of Jeezer d, the family of the Jeezerites: of Helek, the family of the Helekites.

d Called also Abiezer, Jos. 17. 2. Judg. 6. 11, 34. 1 Chron. 7. 18.

31 And of Asriel, the family of the Asrielites: and of Sechem, the family of the Sechemites:

32 And of Shemida, the family of Shemidaites: and of Hepher, the family of the Hepherites.

33 And * Zelophead the son of Hepher had no sons, but daughters: and the names of the daughters of Zelophead, were Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

34 These are the families of Manasseh, and those that were numbred of them, fifty and two thousand and seven hundred e.

e Whereas they were but 32200. in Numb. 1. 35. So they are now increased above 20000. according to that prophecy, Gen. 49. 22.

35 These are the sons of Ephraim, after their families: of Shuthelah, the family of the Shuthalhites: of Becher f, the family of the Bachrites: of Tahan, the family of the Tahanites.

f Called also Bered, 1 Chron. 7. 20.

36 And these are the sons of Shuthelah: of Eran g, the family of the Eranites.

g Called Edan or Hadan, 1 Chron. 7. 26. the letters Daleth and Resh being alike in the Hebrew tongue, and therefore oft changed, as is evident from Scripture-instances.

37 These are the families of the sons of Ephraim, according to those that were numbred of them, thirty and two thousand and five hundred. These are the sons of Joseph after their families.

* 1 Chron. 7. 6. 38 * The sons of Benjamin b after their families: of Bela, the family of the Belaites: of Ashbel i, the family of the Ashbelites: of Ahiram k, the family of the Ahiramites:

b Who were ten, Gen. 46. 21. whereof only five are here mentioned, the rest probably, together with their families, being extinct ere this time. i Called also Jediael, 1 Chron. 7. 6. k Called also Aharah, 1 Chron. 8. 1. and Ehi, Gen. 46. 21.

39 Of Shupham l, the family of the Shuphamites: of Hupham m, the family of the Huphamites.

l Called also Shuppim, 1 Chron. 7. 12. and Muppim, Gen. 46. 21. m Called Huppim, Gen. 46. 21. 1 Chron. 7. 12.

40 And the sons of Bela were Ard and Naaman: of Ard n, the family of the Ardites: and of Naaman, the family of the Naamites.

n Or, Arde, and by transposition, Adar, 1 Chron. 8. 3.

41 These are the sons of Benjamin after their families: and they that were numbred of them, were forty and five thousand and six hundred.

42 These are the sons of Dan after their families: of Shuham o. the family of the Shuhamites. These are the families of Dan after their families p.

o Called, by transposition, Hushim, Gen. 46. 23. p The greater families subdivided into lesser families.

43 All the families of the Shuhamites, according to those that were numbred of them, were threescore and four thousand and four hundred q.

q All from one son and family, whereas of Benjamin who had ten sons, and here five families, there were only 45600. to shew that the increase of families depends singly upon God's blessing and good pleasure.

* 1 Chron. 7. 30. 44 * Of the children of Asher after their families: of Jimna, the family of the Jimnites: of Jesui r, the family of the Jesuites; of Beriah, the family of the Berilites.

r Called Ishui, Gen. 46. 17. where also there is another son of Asher named, to wit, Ishuah, whose family seems now to be lost.

45 Of the sons of Beriah: of Heber, the family of the Heberites: of Malchiel, the family of the Malchielites.

46 And the name of the daughter of Asher, was Sarah s.

s Who seems to be here mentioned because she was a woman of masculine wisdom, or courage, or other vertue.

47 These are the families of the sons of Asher, according to those that were numbred of them, who were fifty and three thousand and four hundred t.

t Whereas they were only 41500 in Numb. 1. 41.

* Gen. 46. 24. 1 Chron. 7. 13. * 1 Chron. 7. 13. Shallum. 48 * Of the sons of Naphtali after their families: of Jahzeel, the family of the Jahzeelites: of Guni, the family of the Gunites:

49 Of Jezer, the family of the Jezerites: of * Shillem, the family of the Shillemites.

50 These are the families of Naphtali, according to their families: and they that were numbred of them, were forty and five thousand and four hundred.

51 These were the numbred of the children of Israel, six hundred thousand, and a thousand seven hundred and thirty u.

u Very nigh as many as there were before, Numb. 1. 46. So wisely and marvellously did God at the same time manifest his justice in cutting off so vast a number, and his mercy in giving such a speedy and numerous supply, and his truth in both.

52 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

53 Unto these x the land shall be divided y for an inheritance, according to the number of names z.

x To these families now mentioned. y By lot, ver. 55. The land was divided into nine parts and an half, respect being had in such division to the goodness as well as to the largeness of the several portions, and the lot gave each tribe their part. z (i.e.) Of the persons, names being oft put for persons, as Act. 1. 15. Phil. 2. 9. Rev. 3. 4. & 11. 13. The meaning is, that the share of each tribe was divided amongst the several families, to some more, to some less, according to the number of the persons of each family, Numb. 33. 54. And withal, if one of the lots or portions proved too large or too little for all the families and persons of that tribe, in this case they might either give part of their portion to another tribe, as Simeon and Dan had parts of Judahs share, Jos. 19. 4, 40. or take away a part from the portion belonging to another tribe.

* ch. 33. 54. † Heb. multiply thou inheritance. 54 * To many thou a shalt † give the more inheritance, and to few thou shalt † give the less inheritance: to every one shall his inheritance be given, according to those that were numbred of him b.

a Thou Mos. partly by thy self, for he divided the land beyond Jordan to the two tribes and an half, and partly by thy successor Joshua, whom thou shalt empower and command to do it. b According to the number of the families and persons now numbred and being 20 years old, no regard being to be had either to any increase of the number by those who came up to that age between this time and the division of the land, or to the diminution of this number by the sword of Canaanites or otherwise.

* ch. 33. 54. Josh. 11. 23. & 14. 2. 55 Notwithstanding, the land shall be * divided by lot c: according to the names of the tribes of their fathers d they shall inherit.

c Which lots seem to have been cast only for the tribes, not as some would have it for the several families, for the distribution of it to them was left to the rulers without according to the rule now given, ver. 54. Yet, if any lot was too large for the Tribe, they might give up part of their right to others, with the Rulers consent, as Judah gave a share to Simeon and to Dan within his lot. d (i. e.) The lots shall go under the names of each tribe or each Patriarch.

56 According to the lot shall the possession thereof be divided between many and few e.

e (i. e.) That share, which shall by Lot fall to each tribe, shall be distributed to the several families and persons in such proportions as their numbers shall require.

* Ch. 1. 11. Exod. 6. 16, 17, 18, 19. 1 Chron. 6. 1, 16. 57 * And these are they that were numbred of the Levites: of Gershon the family of the Gershonites: of Kohath, the family of the Kohathites: of Merari, the family of the Merarites.

58 These are the families of the Levites f: the family of the Libnites, the family of the Hebronites, the family of the Mahlites, the family of the Mushites, the family of the Korhites: and Kohath begat Amram.

f Which are here numbred by themselves, because they were not to have a distinct share of the land, whence it is that they are not so distinctly and exactly mentioned as the other tribes, but confusedly and imperfectly, some of them being wholly omitted here. See Exod. 6. 17, 18, 19.

* Exod. 2. 1, 2. & 6. 20. 59 And the name of Amrams wife was * Jocheb ed, the daughter of Levi, whom her mother g bare to Levi in Egypt: and she bare unto Amram, Aaron and Moses, and Miriam their sister.

g To wit, Levi's wife, which must necessarily be understood.

60 And unto Aaron was born Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

* Lev. 10. 2. ch. 3. 4. 1 Chron. 24. 2. 61 And * Nadab and Abihu died, when they offered strange fire before the LORD.

62 And those that were numbred of them, were twenty and three thousand h, all males from a month old and upward i: for they were not numbred among the children of Israel, because there was no inheritance given them among the children of Israel.

h One thousand more than they were, Numb. 3. 39. i The reason of which different way of numbring, see on Numb. 3. 15.

63 These are they that were numbred by Moses and Eleazar the priest, who numbred the children of Israel in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

64 But among these there was not a man of them whom Moses and Aaron the priest numbred, when they numbred the children of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai.

* ch. 14. 28, 29. 1 Cor. 10. 5, 6. 65 For the LORD had said of them, They * shall surely die in the wilderness: and there was not left a man of them i, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

i To wit, of those who then murmured and rebelled against God, as plainly appears both because this threatning and punishment is confined to those transgressors, and because otherwise this had not been true, for of those that were then numbred there were now left Eleazar and Ithamar, and possibly many of the Levites, and some others, who being not guilty of that sin did not partake of their judgment. Caleb and Joshua are mentioned here, as also Numb. 14. not by way of exception, as if these were murmurers, which is utterly denied, Numb. 14. 24. but by way of opposition, to signify that they, though they were two of the Spies, and companions of them who were the chief authors and ringleaders of that mutiny, yet they kept themselves from their sin, and therefore God kept them from their plague and destruction, as also he did some others for the same reason.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Law of Inheritance: for Daughters on defect of Sons: and on defect of them to the Brother: and if there be none, to the next Kinsman, 1——11. God Commands Moses to go up into a Mountain to view the Land of Canaan, and die there: The Reason, 12——14. Moses prays to the Lord to appoint an able Successor, 15——17. Joshua chosen, and confirm'd in his Office by Imposition of hands before all the People, 18——23.

1 THen came the daughters of * Zelophehad a, the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of Manasseh, the son of Joseph; and these are the names of his daughters; Mahlah, Noah and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah.

* ch. 26. 33. & 36. 11. Josh. 17. 3.

a Perceiving that the males only were numbred, and that the land was to be divided to them only, they put in their claim for a share in their fathers inheritance.

2 And they stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the priest, and before the princes, and all the congregation, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation b, saying,

b Nigh unto which it seems was the place where Moses and the chief rulers assembled for the administration of publick affairs, which also was very convenient, because they had frequent occasion of recourse to God for his assistance and direction therein.

* ch. 14. 35. & 26. 64. 65. ch. 16. 3 Our father * died in the wilderness, and he was not in the company of them that gathered themselves together against the LORD * in the company of Korah c: but died in his own sin d, and had no sons.

c Nor in any other rebellion of the people, which must be understood, because all of them are opposed to his own sin, in which alone he is said to die. But they mention this only either 1. because he might possibly be accused to be guilty of this: Or 2. because, he being an eminent person might be thought guilty of that rather than of any other, because the great and famous men were more concerned in that rebellion than others: Or 3. to gain the favour of Moses, against whom that rebellion was more particularly directed, and more desperately prosecuted than any other. Or 4. because peradventure he died about that time, and therefore might be presumed guilty of that crime. Or, rather, 5. because that sin, and, as it may seem, that only of all the sinscommitted in the wilderness, was of such a flagitious nature, that God thought fit to extend the punishment not only to the persons of those rebels, but also to their children and families, Numb. 16. 27, 32. as was usual in like cases, as Deut. 13. 15. Jos. 7. 24. Whence it is noted as a singular priviledge granted to the children of Korah, that they died not, Numb. 26. 11. whereas the children of their confederates died with them. And this makes their argument here more proper and powerful, that he did not die in that sin for which his posterity were to be cut off, and to lose either their lives or their inheritances, and therefore their claim was more just.

d Either 1. for that sin mentioned Numb. 14. which they call his own sin, in opposition not to the rest of the people, for it was a common sin, but to his children, i. e. the sin for which he alone was to suffer in his person and not in his posterity, as God had appointed, Numb. 14. 33. Or rather 2. for his own personal sins, for 1. these were more properly his own sins. 2. It was a truth, and that believed by the Jews, that death was a punishment for mens own sins. 3. The punishment of that common sin was not directly and properly death, but exclusion from the land of Canaan, and death only by way of consequence upon that.

e As it will be, if it be not preserved by an inheritance given to us in his name and for his sake. Hence some gather, that the first son of each of these heiresses was called by their fathers name, by vertue of that law Deut. 25. 6. whereby the brothers first son was to bear the name of his elder brother, whose widow he married. f In the land of Canaan upon the division of it, which, though not yet conquered, they concluded would certainly be so, and thereby gave glory to God by believing.

5 And Moses brought their cause before the LORD g.

g (i.e.) Into the Tabernacle, where God was pleased to speak with Moses upon occasions, Exod. 25. 22. Numb. 7. 89. For it was an hard case, and though their plea seemed reasonable, yet Moses shewed his humility and modesty, that he would not determine it himself without Gods particular direction.

6 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

7 The daughters of Zelophead speak right: thou shalt surely give them h a possession of an inheritance among their fathers brethren, and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their fathers i to pass unto them.

h In Hebrew it is of the masculine gender, to shew that women in this case should enjoy the mans priviledge, and that the heavenly Canaan, whereof this was a type, did belong no less to women than to men, Gal. 3. 28. i (i.e.) Which belonged to their fathers, in case they had lived.

8 And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter.

9 And if he have no daughter, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren.

10 And if he have no brethren k, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his fathers brethren.

k Nor sisters, as appears from ver. 8.

11 And if his father have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his kinsman, that is next to him of his family, and he shall possess it: and it shall be unto the children of Israel a statute of judgment l, as the LORD commanded Moses.

l A statute or rule, by which the Magistrate shall give judgment in such cases.

* Deut. 3. 27. and 32. 49. 12 And the LORD said unto Moses, * Get thee up into this mount Abrim m, and see the land which I have given unto the children of Israel.

m The whole tract of mountains was called Abarim, Numb. 33. 47. whereof one of the highest was called Nebo, Deut. 32. 49. and the top of that Pisgah, Deut. 34. 1.

* chap. 20. 24. and 31. 2. Deut. 10. 6. * chap. 20. 24. Deut 1. 37. Psal. 106. 32. * Exod. 17. 7. * chap. 16. 22. 13 And when thou hast seen it, thou also shalt be gathered unto thy people n, as * Aaron thy brother was gathered.

n Of which phrase see Gen. 15. 15. and 25. 8.

14 For * ye rebelled against my commandment (in the desert of Zin, in the strife of the congregation) to sanctifie me at the water before their eyes: that is the * water of Meribah in Kadesh o in the wilderness of Zin.

o This is added, to distinguish this miscarriage of Moses from that of the people in Rephidim, Exod. 17. 7.

15 And Moses spake unto the LORD p, saying, p The words here following, and others too, which are recorded, Deut. 3. 23, 26.

* chap. 16. 22. 16 Let the LORD * God of the spirits of all flesh q, set a man over the congregation;

q (i. e.) Of all men: the searcher of spirits, that knoweth who is fit for this great employment; the father and giver and governour of spirits, who canst raise and fit the spirits of men to the highest and hardest works, as thou didst those Numb. 11. 16, 17. See Numb. 16. 22.

17 which may go out before them, and which may go in before them r, and which may lead them out, and which may bring them in; that the congregation of the LORD be not * as sheep which have no shepherd.

* Zech. 10. 2. Matth. 9. 36.

r (i. e.) Which may wisely conduct them in all their affairs, both when they go forth to war, or upon other occasions, and when they return home and live in peace. A metaphor from shepherds, as it here follows, which in those places used not to go behind their sheep, as ours now do, but before them, and to lead them forth to their pasture, and in due time to lead them home again. Of this phrase see Deut. 28. 6. Act. 1. 21.

18 And the LORD said unto Moses, Take thee Joshua, the son of Nun, a man in whom is the spirit s, and lay thine hand upon him t; s The spirit of government, of wisdom, and of the fear of the Lord, &c. t By which ceremony Moses did both design the person and confer the power, and by his prayers, which accompanied that rite, obtain from God all the spiritual gifts and graces necessary for his future employment, as appears from Deut. 34. 9. See of this custom Gen. 48. 14. Levit. 1. 4. Numb. 8. 10. 1 Tim. 4. 14.

19 And set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation u, and give him a charge x in their sight.

u That they may be witnesses of the whole action, and may acknowledge him for their supream ruler. x Thou shalt command him in my name to undertake the government of my people, which otherwise he will be afraid and unwilling to do, and thou shalt give him counsels and instructions for the right management of that great trust.

y Thou shalt not now use him as a servant, as thou hast done, but as a brother and thy partner in the government, shewing respect to him, and causing others to do so, and thou shalt impart to him the ensigns and evidences of thy own authority, whatsoever they be. Some understand this honour of those spiritual endowments which did adorn Moses, which Moses was now to confer upon him. But this Joshua had before, for in him was the spirit, ver. 18. and he received a further measure of the spirit by Moses his laying on of hands, from both which this honour is distinguished, and, had he meant this, he would not have expressed it in so dark and doubtful a phrase, but have called it a putting not of honour, but of the spirit, upon him, as it is called, Numb. 11. 17. And seeing the word honour here may very well be properly understood, why should we run to figurative significations?

* Exod. 28. 30. 21 And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall ask counsel for him z, * after the judgment ‖ of Urim † before the LORD *: at his word ‖ shall they go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he and all the children of Israel with him, even all the congregation.

z When he requires him to do so, and in important and difficult matters. See Jos. 9. 14. Judg. 1. 1. and 20. 18. 1 Sam. 23. 9. ‖ Or, by or from the judgment, i. e. by seeking and receiving and communicating to him the judgment or sentence thereby given: or, by the judgment is here put defectively for, by the breast-plate of judgment, as it is called, Exod. 28. 30. as the testimony is oft put for, the ark of the testimony. Or, concerning the judgment, or sentence, i. e. what the mind and will of God is in the matter. Or, after the manner or rite, for so the Hebrew word mishpat here used oft signifies. † Understand, and of Thummim, for these two generally go together, only here, as also 1 Sam. 28. 6. Urim is synecdochically put for both Urim and Thummim. For the manner of this enquiry and answer see on Exod. 28. 30. * Ordinarily in the Tabernacle near the second vail setting his face to the Ark, or otherwise preferring himself as in Gods presence, as Abiathar did by Davids direction, 1 Sam. 23. 9. when they were both banished from the Ark. ‖ (i. e.) The word of the Lord, last mentioned, delivered to him by the High-priest.

22 And Moses did as the LORD commanded him: and he took Joshua, and set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation.

23 And he laid his hands upon him, and gave him a charge, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Offerings to be observed at set times: the daily burnt offering in the morning: together with it's meat and drink offering: and at evening, 1——8. The Sabbath-offering, 9, 10. The burnt-offering of the new moons; with it's meat, drink, and sin-offering, 11——15. The Passover's, 16, 18. Sacrifices: their continuance, 19——25. The Pentecost and the sacrifices thereof, 26——31.

* Lev. 5. 11. & 21. Mal. 1. 7, 8. 1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel a, and say unto them, My offering and * my bread for my sacrifices made by fire b for a † sweet savour unto me, shall ye observe to offer unto me in their due season.

a God here repeats some of the former laws about sacrifices, not without great reason, partly because they had been generally † Heb. a savour of my rest. discontinued for 38 years together; partly because the generation to which the former laws had been given about these things was wholly dead, and it was fit the new generation should be instructed about them, as their parents were; partly to renew the testimonies of Gods grace and mercy, notwithstanding their frequent forfeitures thereof by their horrid Apostacies and Rebellions; and principally because they were now ready to enter into that land, in which they were obliged to put these things in practice, Deut. 12. 8. &c. b According to this translation the sence is, My offering, i. e. my offering or sacrifices, and my bread, i. e. either my shewbread, or rather my meat-offering made of bread or meal, for my sacrifices made by fire, i. e. which is to accompany my burnt-offerings. Or thus, My offering, to wit, my bread, (i. e.) my meat-offering, which was made of bread or meal, which is oft expressed by this very name of korban or offering, as Levit. 2. 1. and 6. 20. but because korban signifies not only a meat-offering but other offerings also, as Lev. 7. 37, 38. therefore he limits that general word by adding, my bread) *with (*to the Hebrew Lamed is oft used, as Gen. 46. 26. Exra 1. 5. and 2. 63. &c.) my sacrifices made by fire, which may be understood either 1. generally for all the sacrifices, as that phrase is sometimes taken, as 1 Sam. 2. 28. where it must needs be so meant, because the burnt-offerings properly so called were not given to the Priest, but referred to God himself, and the Priests portion lay in the other sacrifices only, or 2. specially and properly for burnt-offerings; and so under them, as the most eminent kind, are contained all other sacrifices; as under the meat-offering here is contained the drink-offering. And according to this translation and explication these words contain a full and general rule, comprehending all the particulars following in this chapter, as in reason they ought to do, and which otherwise they do not.

* Exod. 29. 38. † Heb. in a day. 3 And thou shalt say unto them, * This is the offering made by fire, which ye shall offer unto the LORD: two lambs of the first year without spot, † day by day, for a continual burnt-offering.

4 The one lamb shalt thou offer in the morning, and † Heb. between the two evenings. the other lamb shalt thou offer † at even.

* Lev. 2. 4. 5 And a tenth part of an ephah of flour for a * meat-offering c, mingled with the fourth part of an * hin of beaten oyl.

c Which was an appendix or accessory to the principal sacrifice. See on Lev. 2. 1 and Numb. 15. 4.

* Exod. 29. 40. 6 It is a continual burnt-offering, which was ordained d in mount Sinai for a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

d Or, prescribed, instituted by God Or, made, i. e. offered at that place; though since omitted for 38 years.

7 And the drink-offering thereof shall be the fourth part of an hin for the one lamb: in the holy place e shalt † Heb. Shekar. Gr. Sicera. See Luk. 1. 15. thou cause the † strong wine f to be poured unto the LORD, for a drink-offering.

e i. e.) Upon the altar of burnt-offerings which was in the court of the Priests nigh to the entrance into the Sanctuary. See Exod. 29. 42. 2 Chron. 29. 7. f Heb. Shecar, which though it signifie in the general all kinds of strong drink, yet is here put for the most famous of that kind, to wit, for wine, which alone was used in offerings, as appears below, ver. 18. Exod. 29. 40.

8 And the other lamb shalt thou offer at even: as the meat-offering of the morning, and as the drink-offering thereof, thou shalt offer it g, a sacrifice made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

g Or, thou shalt offer with it. Or, with the meat-offering of the morning, and with the drink-offering thereof, thou shalt offer it; the letter caph being put for both, which are alike in Hebrew, and the words are said to be read with both in some copies.

9 And on the sabbath day two lambs h of the first year without spot, and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oyl, and the drink-offering thereof.

h Besides that for the daily sacrifice, ver. 10.

10 This is the burnt-offering of every sabbath, beside the continual burnt offering, and his drink offering.

i Which, though not reckoned among the solemn feasts, Lev. 23. yet were celebrated as such, by the the sound of trumpets, Numb. 10. 10. by extraordinary sacrifices, by abstinence from servile works, Amos 8. 5. and by attendance upon the ministry of Gods word, 2 King. 4. 23. And God ordained it thus, partly that by giving God the first fruits of every month, they should acknowledge him as the Lord of all their time, and own his providence by which all times and seasons and all the fruits and blessings of them, and actions done in them are ordered, and partly that it might be a type of the future renovation of the world by Christ.

12 And three tenth deals of flour for a meat offering, mingled with oyl, for one bullock; and two tenth deals of flour for a meat-offering mingled with oyl, for one ram.

13 And a several tenth deal of flour mingled with oyl, for a meat-offering unto one lamb, for a burnt offering of a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

14 And their drink offerings shall be half an hin of wine unto a bullock, and the third part of an hin unto a ram, and a fourth part of an hin unto a lamb: this is the burnt-offering of every month throughout the months k of the year.

k (i. e.) To be offered in the beginning of every month.

15 And one kid of the goats l for a sin-offering unto the LORD m shall be offered, besides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

l An he-goat. See Numb. 15. 24. m Not unto the moon, to which the Gentiles offered it.

16 * And in the fourteenth day of the first month is the passover of the LORD n. * Exod. 12. 18.

n Instituted by him and to his honour and service. See on Levit. 23. 5. See on Lev. 23. 5. chap. 9. 1. Deut. 16.

17 And in the fifteenth day of this month is the feast o, seven days shall unleavened bread be eaten.

o To wit, of unleavened bread; of which see on Lev. 23. 6.

18 In the * first day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall do no manner of servile work therein. * Exod. 12. 16. Lev. 23.

19 But ye shall offer a sacrifice made by fire for a burnt-offering unto the LORD, two young bullocks, and one ram, and seven lambs of the first year: they shall be unto you without blemish.

20 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oyl: three tenth deals shall ye offer for a bullock, and two tenth deals for a ram.

21 A several tenth deal shalt thou offer for every lamb throughout the seven lambs.

22 And one goat for a sin-offering, to make an atonement for you.

23 Ye shall offer these beside the burnt-offering in the morning p, which is for a continual burnt-offering.

p And that in the evening too, as is evident from the nature of the thing, and from other scriptures, but the morning-sacrifice alone is mentioned, partly because the celebration of the feast began with it, and principally because this alone was doubtful, whether this might not be omitted when so many other sacrifices were offered in that morning, whereas there was no question but the evening sacrifice should be offered, when there were none other besides it to be offered.

24 After this manner ye shall offer daily throughout the seven days † the meat of the sacrifice made by fire q, of a sweet savour unto the LORD: it shall be offered besides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink offering. † Heb. bread. Lev. 3. 11, 16.

q (i. e.) The sacrifice made by fire, which is as it were my meat or food: for as God is said to smell the sacrifices, to wit, metaphorically, i. e. to accept of them, so is he said to eat them, i. e. to devour or consume them, and to be satisfied with them; such things spoken of God after the manner of men are to be understood so as to agree with the majesty of God.

25 And on the seventh day ye shall have an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work.

26 Also * in the day of the first-fruits r, when ye bring a new meat-offering unto the LORD, after your weeks be out s, ye shall have an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work. * Exod. 23. 16. and 34. 22. Deut. 16.

r In the feast of Pentecost, Act. 2. 1. s New fruits, two loaves made of your new corn, Levit. 23. 16. t (i. e.) The seven weeks which you are to number from the Passover, Lev. 23. 15. Heb. in the weeks, in being put for after, as it is Isa. 20. 1. Luk. 9. 36. and 11. 37

27 But ye shall offer the burnt-offering u for a sweet savour unto the LORD, two young bullocks, one ram, seven lambs of the first year.

u For the celebration of the feast over and besides that other offering which was joined with the first-fruits, Lev. 23. 18. so here is a new additional sacrifice prescribed, which doth not destroy the former.

28 And their meat-offering of flour mingled with oyl, three tenth deals unto one bullock, two tenth deals unto one ram.

29 A several tenth deal unto one lamb, throughout the seven lambs.

30 And one kid of the goats to make an atonement for you.

31 Ye shall offer them besides the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, (they shall be unto you without blemish) and their drink-offerings.

CHAP. XXIX.

The Sacrifice at the Feast of the Trumpets: it's Burnt-offering: and Sin-offering, 1—4. Of the Feast of Atonement: it's Offerings, 5—11. Of the Feast of Tabernacles: during 7 days: their Offerings: the 8th day a great Holiday, 12—36.

1 AND in the seventh month a, on the first day of the month, ye shall have an holy convocation, Ye shall do no servile work: * it is a day of blowing the trumpets b unto you. * Lev. 23. 24

a So it was in their Ecclesiastical account, in which the month Abib was the first: but as to civil matters this was the first month. b Whereby the people were admonished solemnly to prepare themselves for the feasts, which were as many in this month, as in all the year besides.

2 And ye shall offer a burnt-offering c for a sweet savour unto the LORD, one young bullock, one ram, and seven lambs of the first year without blemish.

c Besides the offerings of every month and day, as is expressed, ver. 6.

3 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oyl, three tenth deals for a bullock, and two tenth deals for a ram:

4 And one tenth deal for one lamb, throughout the seven lambs:

5 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, to make an atonement for you.

* chap. 28. 11. * chap. 28. 3. 6 Beside * the burnt-offering of the month d, and his meat-offering, and * the daily burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and their drink-offerings according to their manner e for a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

d Belonging to every new moon, of which see Numb. 28. 11, 12. 2 Chron. 2. 4. e According to the order, rites and ceremonies appointed by God.

* Lev. 16. 29. and 23. 27. 7 And * ye shall have on the tenth day of this seventh month an holy convocation; and ye shall afflict your souls f: ye shall not do any work therein.

f (i. e.) Your selves, by fasting and abstinence from all delightful things, and by compunction and bitter sorrow for your sins and the judgments of God either deserved by you or inflicted upon you for your sins. See Levit. 16. 29. 30. and 23. 27.

8 But ye shall offer a burnt-offering unto the LORD, for a sweet savour, one young bullock, one ram, and seven lambs of the first year: they shall be unto you without blemish.

9 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oyl, three tenth deals to a bullock, and two tenth deals to one ram:

10 A several tenth deal for one lamb, throughout the seven lambs.

* Lev. 16. 3, 5. 11 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering, beside the * sin-offering of atonement g, and the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering of it, and their drink-offerings.

g By which the High-priest made atonement; of which see Lev. 16. 9, 29, 30.

* Lev 23. 34. 12 And * on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, ye shall have an holy convocation, ye shall do no servile work, and ye shall keep a feast h unto the LORD seven days i.

h The feast of booths; of which see Lev. 23. 34, 35. Deut. 16. 13. i Not by abstaining so long from all servile works, but by offering extraordinary sacrifices each day.

* Ezra 3. 4 13 And ye * shall offer a burnt-offering, a sacrifice made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD, thirteen young bullocks k, two rams and fourteen lambs k of the first year: they shall be without blemish.

k More sacrifices than at any other feast, partly because this feast was in the close of the year, when it was meet to supply the defects of the year past, and when they had gathered in all their fruits, Deut. 16. 13, 15. and therefore ought to make the larger returns and acknowledgment to God; partly because it was Gods pleasure so to order it, for reasons known to himself, in whose will we ought to acquiesce. And the same reason holds why these sacrifices grew fewer and fewer every day.

14 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oyl, three tenth-deals unto every bullock of the thirteen bullocks, two tenth deals to each ram of the two rams:

15 And a several tenth deal to each lamb of the fourteen lambs:

16 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering beside the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

17 And on the second day ye shall offer twelve young bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the first year without spot.

* 18 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner l:

l Of which see for meat-offerings, ver. 3, 4, 9, 10. and for drink-offerings, Numb. 28. 7, 14.

19 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering thereof, and their drink-offerings.

20 And on the third day, eleven bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the first year without blemish.

21 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

22 And one goat for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

23 And on the fourth day ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year without blemish.

24 Their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

25 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

26 And on the fifth day nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year without spot:

27 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

28 And one goat for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

29 And on the sixth day eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year without blemish:

30 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

31 And one goat for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

32 And on the seventh day seven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year without blemish:

33 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

34 And one goat for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

* Lev. 23. 36. 35 On the eighth day ye shall have a * solemn assembly: ye shall do no servile work therein.

36 But ye shall offer a burnt-offering, a sacrifice made by fire of a sweet savour unto the LORD, one bullock, one ram, seven lambs m of the first year without blemish:

m This was the last and great day of the feast, as it is called, Joh. 7. 37. and yet the sacrifices were fewer than any other day, to teach them not to trust to the multitude of their sacrifices, nor to expect remission of sins from them, but from the one and only sacrifice of Christ.

37 Their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullock, for the ram, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

38 And one goat for a sin-offering, beside the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

39 These things ye shall ‖ do unto the LORD, in your set feasts, besides your * vows, and your free-will offerings n, for your burnt-offerings, and for your meat-offerings, and for your drink-offerings, and for your peace-offerings. ‖ offer. * Lev. 7. 11, 16.

n Your ordinary sacrifices shall not be omitted because of the extraordinary, which ye offer on special occations.

40 And Moses told the children of Israel according to all that the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAP. XXX.

Vows not to be broke: If a man vow, he must perform, 1, 2. If a daughter living with her father vows, and he disapproves thereof, she is free, 3—5. If a married woman voweth, and her husband disapproves thereof, she is free, 6—8. A widow or divorced woman's vow binding, 9. but not those of a married woman, unless her husband consent or be silent, 10—15.

AND Moses spake unto the heads of the tribes a, concerning the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded.

a The chief Rulers of each Tribe, who were to communicate it to the rest.

2 If a man b vow a vow c unto the LORD d, or swear an oath e to bind his Soul with a bond f, he shall not † break his word g: he shall do according to all that † Heb. profane. proceedeth out of his own mouth h.

b Which notes both the Sex, as appears by v. 3. and the Age, that he be grown up, for none can be so weak as to think the vow of a young Child would bind it. c i. e. A simple vow to do something possible and lawful. d To the Honour and Service of God. e Confirm his Vow by an Oath. f To restrain himself from something otherwise lawful, as suppose from such a sort of Meat or Drink; or to oblige himself to the performance of something otherwise not necessary, as to observe a private day of fasting. g Heb. not pollute, or prophane his word, as the same phrase is used, Psal. 55. 20. and 89. 34. i. e. not render his word, and consequently himself prophane, or vile and contemptible in the eyes of others. h And that without delay, Deut. 23. 21. Eccles. 5. 4. provided the thing be not unlawful and forbidden by God, Act. 23. 14. for it is an idle conceit that a man can give away Gods right, or that he can make void Gods commands by his own vows, which was the dotage of the Pharisees, Mark 6, 23, 26.

3 If a woman i also vow a vow unto the LORD, and bind her self by a bond, being in her fathers house k, in her youth l:

i Or a man in the same circumstances, a son or a servant, as plainly appears from hence, because the reason of this Law is perfectly the same in both Sexes, which is, that such persons have given away what was not their own, but anothers, even their superiours right, which is against the Rule and Law of Natural Reason, and against the Word of God, which binds all persons to give to every one their due. He instanceth only in the Woman, because that Sex is both by Creation and Sin put into a state of subjection, but under the chief and most unquestionable kind all other Subjects in like circumstances are comprehended, as is very usual. k (i. e.) Under his Care, Power, and Government which she is, whilst she continues in her Fathers House, being a Virgin, as appears by the opposition of a married Woman, v. 6. and of a Widow, and Divorced Woman, v. 9. and by this Phrase of being in her fathers house, for when she marries, she is removed into her Husbands house, Ruth. 1.9. Or, being in, or of her Fathers Family, the word House being commonly used for Family, for when she marries, she is transplanted and removed into another Family. l When not only her Sex, but her Age disenables her for vowing; and this clause is added not by way of restriction, as if Virgins in their riper years were freed from their Parents jurisdiction, and at their own disposal, (which undoubtedly they are not) but by way of addition, or amplification, q. d. especially (which particle is here to be understood, such defects of particles being frequent in the Hebrew Tongue) in her youth, which is commonly reckoned about her Twelfth or Thirteenth year.

u Under which Title seem to be comprehended, as in other places of Scripture, Masters, Magistrates, and all other superiours, in such cases wherein their right is given away by the inferior's vow; as for instance, when a Servant vows to go a long journey for his Friend, and his Master will not permit him to do so; but not in other cases; as if a Servant vows to do something for another in that time which his Master alloweth to his own use and disposal, in this case his vow binds him, but not in the former. x His silence being an interpretative consent, and much more if he declares his approbation of it. o i.e. Be established, or confirmed, or be in force.

5 But if her Father disallow her in the day that he heareth p; not any of her vows, or of her bonds, wherewith she hath bound her soul, shall stand: and the LORD shall forgive her q, because her Father disallowed her.

p i. e. Speedily, or without delay, allowing only necessary and convenient time for deliberation. And it is hereby intimated, that the day or time he had for disallowing her vow, was not to be reckoned from her vowing, but from his hearing, or knowledge of her vow. q Or will forgive either her rashness of making such vows, or rather her not performing of it. But this is to be understood only of such vows which could not be performed without invading the Fathers, or Superiours right; for if one should vow to forbear such, or such a sin, and all unnecessary occasions or means leading to it, and to perform such, or such duties, when he had opportunity, no Father, nor Superiour can discharge him from such vows.

6 And if she had at all an husband r when † she vowed s, or uttered ought out of her lips t, wherewith she bound her soul;

r To whose Will and Authority she was thereby made subject. s To wit, when she was in her Fathers house, as is evident by comparing v. 10. and this clause seems to be added by way of exception to that which was said, v. 3, 4. to signifie, that though she were in her Fathers house, yet if she were married, her Husband only, and not her Father, could disoblige her from her vow. t Either 1. By way of vow, and so this clause explains and determines the former, i. e. if the express her vow in words. Or 2. By way of Oath, concerning which this same phrase is used Levit. 5. 4. and so this clause is distinct from the former, which the disjunctive particle, or, implies.

7 And her husband heard it, and held his peace at her in the day that he heard it: then her vows shall stand, and her bonds, wherewith she bound her soul, shall stand.

8 But if her husband disallow her, on the day that he heard it, then he shall make her vow which she vowed, and that which she uttered with her lips, wherewith she bound her soul, of none effect, and the LORD shall forgive her.

9 But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced u, wherewith they have bound their souls, shall stand against her.

u Though she be in her Fathers house, whether such persons oft returned: which limitation may be gathered both from the opposition of her being in her Husbands house, v. 10. and from hence, that this was the only doubtful case, for if such a person was not in her Father's house, she was unquestionably bound by it, but being now freed from her Husband, and returned to her Father, it was doubtful whether she was not returned to the same state of subjection in which she was before, and consequently unable to make or perform a vow without her Fathers consent, as she was before, which is here denied.

10 And if she vowed in her husbands house x, or bound her soul by a bond with an oath;

x i. e. If she that now is a Widow, or Divorced, made that vow whilest her Husband lived with her; as suppose she then vowed, that if she was a Widow, she would give such a proportion of her estate to pious or charitable uses, of which vow she might repent when she came to be a Widow, and might believe or pretend she was free from it, because that vow was made in her Husbands life time, which is here granted, in case her Husband then disallowed it, but denied, in case by silence, or otherwise he consented to it. And thus this Law is sufficiently distinguished from that above, v. 6, 7, 8.

11 And her husband heard it, and held his peace at her, and disallowed her not: then all her vows shall stand, and every bond, wherewith she bound her soul, shall stand.

12 But if her husband hath utterly made them void on the day he heard them, then whatsoever proceeded out of her lips, concerning her vows, or concerning the bond of her soul, shall not stand, her husband hath made them void, and the LORD shall forgive her.

13 Every vow, and every binding oath to afflict the soul y, her husband may establish it, or her husband may make it void.

y i. e. Her self by fasting, which oft goes under that name, as Levit. 16. 29, 31. and 23. 27, 32. Isa. 58. 5. by watching, or the like. And these words are added not for limitation, for it is manifest from v. 5. 8, 10, 12. that the power of Parents and Husbands was more general and large, but for amplification, to shew that the Husband had this power not only in those vows which concerned himself or his estate, but also in those which might seem only to concern her own Person, or Body. And the reason hereof is, because the Wives person or body being the Husbands right, she might not do any thing to the injury of her body without his consent.

14 But if her Husband altogether hold his peace at her, from day to day, then he establisheth all her vows, or all her bonds which are upon her: he confirmeth them, because he held his peace at her, in the day that he heard them.

15 But if he shall any ways make them void after that he hath heard them z, then he shall bear her Iniquity †.

z And approved them by his silence from day to day, if now after that time spent, he shall upon further thoughts dislike and hinder it, which he ought not to do. † Her non-performance of her vow shall be imputed to him, not to her.

16 These are the statutes which the LORD commanded Moses, between a man and his wife, between the father and his daughter, being yet in her youth in her fathers house.

CHAP. XXXI.

God commands Moses, before he die, to avenge Israel of the Midianites, 1, 2. he chooses 12000 men: and Phinehas: The Kings of Midian and Balaam slain, 3—6. their Women and Cattle taken: and Cities burnt: they bring the spoil to Moses and Eleazar, 7—12. Moses is wroth with the Officers for saving the Women alive: commands them to kill every Male-child and Woman that had known man: the rest saved alive: and to purifie themselves and the captives, 13—24. a Law for dividing the Booty: executed: and the sum of the Booty, 25—40. The Tribute-offering of the Lord given to the Priests and Levites, 41—47. The Captains make an Offering to the Lord: which is laid up in the Tabernacle for a memorial, 48—54.

1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 * Avenge the children of Israel of the Midianites: a afterwards shalt thou * be gathered unto thy people.

* Chap. 25. 17. * Chap. 27. 13.

a For their malicious designs and practices against Israel, both by hiring Balaam to curse them, and by sending their Women to insnare them. The Moabites also were guilty, but God out of his own good pleasure, and in kindness to Lot, was pleased to spare them, the rather, because the measure of their Iniquity was not yet full.

3 And Moses spake unto the people, saying, Arm some of your selves unto the war, and let them go against the Midianites, and avenge the LORD b of Midian.

b For the affront and injury which they offered to God, partly by their own Idolatry and lewdness, and partly by seducing Gods people into Rebellion against him. Gods great care was to avenge the Israelites, v. 2. and Moses his chief desire was to avenge God rather than himself or the people. With al he doth hereby insinuate, that God and his people have the same cause, the same Friends and Enemies.

4 † Of every tribe a thousand, throughout all the tribes of Israel, shall ye send to the war.

† Heb. A thousand a tribe, a thousand a tribe.

5 So there were delivered out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand of every tribe c, twelve thousand armed for war.

c To prevent Emulations or Divisions. d God would send no more, though it is apparent that the Midianites were numerous and strong, because he would try and exercise their truft in him, and because he would hereby give them an earnest of their Canaanitish Conquests.

6 And Moses sent them to the war, a thousand of every tribe; them and Phinehas e the son of Eleazar the Priest to the war, with the holy instruments f, and the trumpets to blow g in his hand.

e Who had the charge not of the Army, as General, (an Office never committed to any Priest in all the Old Testament) but of the Holy Instruments, &c. as is here expressed, and was also sent to encourage, and quicken, and confirm them in their good enterprize. It is not here mentioned who was the general, whether Joshua, as some think, because he is not named amongst those who went out to meet the returning host, though that might be for other reasons, or some other Prince, nor is it worth while to determine. f Either 1 the Ark, with the things belonging to it, which before the building of the Temple, they did sometimes carry into the War for the encouragement of their Army. See Numb. 14. 44. Jos. 6. 9. 1 Sam. 4. 4. and 14. 18. But why then is it thus ambiguously expressed, seeing in all the other places it is called by its proper Name? Nor is the Ark ever so called in Scripture. Or 2. The Trumpets, as it here follows, the words being thus to be read, the Holy Instruments, that is, the Trumpets: for and is oft times put exegetically for that is, or to wit, as Gen. 13. 15. 1 Chron.

1 Chron. 21. 12. compared with 2 Sam. 24 13. Zach. 1. 4. & 9. 9, &c. Or rather 3. The Holy Breast-plate, wherein was the Urim and Thummim, which was easily carried, and used, and very useful in War upon many emergent occasions. See 1 Sam. 23. 9 & 30. 7. g Which were to be used in war as well as in the service of the Tabernacle. See Numb. 10. 9. 2 Chron. 13. 12.

7 And they warred against the Midianites, as the LORD commanded Moses, and they slew * all the males h.

* See Judg. 6. 33.

h Namely all whom they took in that war; Or, all who lived in those parts, for it is probable (and was then very usual) some colonies of them were sent forth to remoter places, which therefore had no hand either in their former sin, or in this present ruine, of whom we read after this, Judg. 6. And herein they did according to God's own order concerning such people, Deut. 20. 13. only their fault was, that they did not consider the special reason and great obligation which they had to involve the Women in the destruction, for which reason Moses blames them afterward, v. 15. 16.

8 And they slew the Kings of Midian i, besides the rest of them that were slain; namely, * Evi, and Rekem, and Zur k, and Hur, and Reba, five Kings of Midian: Balaam also l the son of Beor, they slew with the sword.

* Josh. 13. 21.

i Called Dukes or Princes of Sihon, Jos. 13. 21. because they were subject to him while he lived, but upon his death they resumed their Kingly power. k The Father of Cozbi, Numb. 25. 15. 1 Ofs. He was gone and returned to his own place, Numb. 24. 25. which was Aram or Mesopotamia, Numb. 23. 7. Answ. Either he did go thitherward, but in his journey made some stay in Midian, where he was overtaken by divine vengeance: or understanding the success of his wicked counsel left with Balaam, in the sin and slaughter of the Israelites, he returned, partly to enjoy the reputation and reward of his counsel which he had lost before, and partly to employ his Hellish arts against Israel, now they were, as he thought forsaken by their God, and exposed to his malice. Here Balaam dies the death of the wicked, and not of the righteous, as he desired, Numb. 23. 10.

9 And the children of Israel took all the Women of Midian Captives, and their little ones, and took the spoil of all their cattel, and all their flocks, and all their goods.

10 And they burnt all their cities m wherein they dwelt, and all their goodly castles with fire:

m Partly to blot out the name and memory of so lewd and vile a people; partly left any of the Israelites should be tempted to settle there, and so be discouraged in their progress to Canaan; and partly left they should be possessed by other people who might prove as bad Neighbors to them as these would have been.

11 And they took all the spoil, and all the prey both of men and of beasts.

12 And they brought the captives, and the prey and the spoil unto Moses, and Eleazar the Priest, and unto the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the camp at the plains of Moab, which are by Jordan near Jericho.

13 And Moses, and Eleazar the Priest, and all the Princes of the congregation went forth to meet them without the camp n.

n Partly to put respect upon them, and congratulate with them for their happy success; and partly to prevent the pollution of the Camp by the untimely entrance of the Warriors into it.

14 And Moses was wroth with the officers of the host, with the captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, which came from the † battel.

o Because they had spared those who were most criminal, and who by the law of God and of Nature were worthy of Death.

15 And Moses said unto them, Have ye saved * all the women alive?

* See Deut. 20. 23. * 1 Sam. 15. 3. * ch. 25. 2. * ch. 24. 14. * 2 Pet. 2. 15. * ch. 35. 9. * Judg. 21. 11.

16 Behold, * these caused the children of Israel, through the * counsel of Balaam, to commit trespass against the LORD in the matter of Peor, and * there was a plague among the congregation of the LORD.

17 Now therefore, * kill every male among the little ones p, and kill every woman that hath known man q, by lying with † him.

p Which they were forbidden to do to other people, Deut. 20. 14. except the Canaanites, to whom this people had equalled themselves by their horrid crimes, and therefore it is not strange, nor unjust, that God, the supream Lord of all mens lives, who as he gives them, so may take them away when he pleaseth, did equal them in the punishment. q Partly for punishment, because the guilt was general, and though some of them only did prostitute themselves to the Israelites, yet the rest made themselves accessary by their consent or concurrence, or approbation; and partly, for prevention of the like mischief from such an adulterous generation.

18 But all the women children that have not known a man r by lying with him, keep alive for your selves s.

r To wit, carnally. See on Gen. 48. 1. & 19. 8. Levit. 18. 22. s Either to sell them as slaves to others, or to use them as Servants to your selves, or to marry them, when you have prepared and instructed them.

19 And do ye abide without the camp seven days t: whosoever hath killed any person, and * whosoever hath touched any slain, purify u both your selves, and your captives on the third day, and on the seventh day.

* Chap. 19. 11, &c.

t According to the Law, Levit. 15. 13. and Numb. 19. 11, 12.

† Heb. Instrument, or vessel of skin.

u With the water of sprinkling, Numb. 19. 9.

20 And purifie all u your raiment, and all that is † made of skins, and all work of goats hair x, and all things made of wood.

x To wit, your spoil and prey. See Levit. 8. 15. & 14. 49. x All which had contracted some ceremonial uncleanness either from the dead Bodies which were them, or the tents or houses where they were, in which such dead Bodies lay, or from the touch of the Israelitish Soldiers, who were legally defiled by the slaughters they made.

21 And Eleazar the priest said unto the men of war which went to the battel, This is the ordinance of the Law which the LORD commanded Moses, 22 Only the gold, and the silver, the brass, the iron, the tin, and the lead.

23 Every thing that may abide the fire, ye shall make it go through the fire, and it shall be clean: nevertheless, it shall be purified * with the water of separation; and all * Chap. that abideth not the fire, ye shall make go thro' the water. 19. 9, 17.

24 And ye shall wash your clothes on the seventh day, and ye shall be clean, and afterward ye shall come into the camp.

25 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Take the sum of the prey † that was taken, both of † Heb. man and of beast, thou and Eleazar the priest, and the chief fathers of the congregation; Of the captivity.

27 And * divide the prey into two parts, between them that took the war upon them, who went out to battel, and between all the congregation y.

* Josh. 22. 8. 1 Sam. 30. 24.

y The Congregation hath some share, because the Warriors went in the name of all, and because all having been injured by the Midianites, all were to have some share in the reparations: but the Warriors who were but 12000, have a far greater share than others of their brethren, because they underwent greater pains and dangers.

28 And levy a tribute unto the LORD of the men of war which went out to battel: one soul z of five hundred, both of the persons, and of the beeves, and of the asses, and of the sheep.

z (i. e.) One person; as it follows here and ver. 30.

29 Take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the priest for an heave offering of the LORD a.

a In thankfulness to God for their preservation and good success.

30 And of the children of Israels half, thou shalt take one portion of fifty b, of the persons, of the beeves, of the asses, and of the ‖ sheep, of all manner of beasts, and give them unto the Levites, * which keep the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD.

‖ Or goats. * chap. 3. 7, 8, 25, 32, 36.

b Whereas the former part was one of 500; the reason of the difference is, partly, because this was taken but of the peoples portion, whose hazards being less than the others, their gains also in all reason were to be less; partly because this was to be distributed into more hands, the Levites being now numerous, when the Priests were but few.

31 And Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the LORD commanded Moses.

32 And the booty, being the rest of the prey c which the men of war had caught, was six hundred thousand, and seventy thousand, and five thousand sheep, c All which was now left of the prey. It is so expressed because they took more, but some of the persons were since killed, ver. 17. and some of the cattel was spent for the necessary provisions of the army;

33 And threescore and twelve thousand beeves,

34 And threescore and one thousand asses,

35 And thirty and two thousand persons in all, of women that had not known man, by lying with him.

36 And the half, which was the portion of them that went out to war, was in number three hundred thousand, and seven and thirty thousand, and five hundred sheep.

37 And the LORDS tribute of the sheep was six hundred and threescore and fifteen.

38 And the beeves were thirty and six thousand, of which the LORDS tribute was threescore and twelve.

39 And the asses were thirty thousand and five hundred, of which the LORDS tribute was threescore and one.

40 And the persons were sixteen thousand, of which the LORDS tribute was thirty and two persons.

41 And Moses gave the tribute which was the LORDS heave-offering unto Eleazar the priest, as the LORD commanded Moses d.

d Either now upon his consulting of God in the case, or formerly in general rules and laws for such occasions, such as Numb. 18. 8.

42 And of the children of Israels half, which Moses divided from the men that warred:

43 (Now the half that pertained unto the congregation, was three hundred thousand and thirty thousand, and seven thousand and five hundred sheep.

44 And thirty and six thousand beeves:

45 And thirty thousand asses, and five hundred,

46 And sixteen thousand persons,)

47 Even of the children of Israels half, Moses took one portion of fifty, both of man and of beast, and gave gave them unto the Levites, which kept the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

48 And the officers, which were over thouſands of the hoſt, the captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds came near unto Moſes, 49 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Thy ſervants have taken the ſum of the men of war which are under our † charge, and there lacketh not one man of us.

50 We have therefore brought an oblation for the LORD, what every man hath † gotten, of jewels of gold, chains and bracelets, rings, earings, and tablets, to make an atonement for our ſouls e before the LORD.

e For their error noted ver. 14. 15; 16. and withal for a memorial, as it is ſaid ver. 54. or by way of gratitude for ſuch a ſtupendious aſſiſtance and deliverance, as appears from the word therefore in the beginning of this verſe, and from ver. 49.

51 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of them: even all wrought jewels.

52 And all the gold of the † offering that they offered up to the LORD, of the captains of thouſands, and of the captains of hundreds, was ſixteen thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty ſhekels.

53 (For the men of war had taken ſpoil, every man for himſelf.)

54 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of the captains of thouſands and of hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for a memorial for the children of Iſrael before the LORD.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Reubenites and Gadites ſue for their Inheritance on that ſide Jordan, as being fit for Cattel, 1——5. Moſes reproves them as diſcouraging the People, and herein following their Father's ill example, 6——15. They promiſe to leave their Children and Cattel there, and go armed before their Brethren till Canaan ſhould be ſubdu'd, 16——19. On which condition, they, together with the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, obtain their deſire, 20——42

1 NOW the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, had a very great multitude of cattel: and when they ſaw the land of Jazer a, and the land of Gilead b, that behold, the place was a place for cattel:

a A city and country taken from the Amorites, Numb. 21. 32. b A mountainous country, famous for paſturage, Jer. 50. 19. Mich. 7. 14.

2 The children of Gad, and the children of Reuben came and ſpake unto Moſes, and to Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the princes of the congregation, ſaying, 3 Ataroth c, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah d, and Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam e, and Nebo, and Beon f.

c Different from that Ataroth, Joſh. 16. 2, 7. which was on the other ſide of Jordan. d Called Beth-nimrah, ver. 36. and Joſ. 13. 27. and the waters of Nimrim, Iſa. 15. 6. e Called Shibmah, ver. 38. f Which is thought to be the ſame place called Baal-meon, ver. 38. and Beth-meon, Jer. 48. 23.

* ch. 21. 24, 34.

4 Even the countrey * which the LORD ſmote before the congregation of Iſrael g, is a land for cattel, and thy ſervants have cattel.

g And given to them for a poſſeſſion, in the ſame manner as he will give the land of Canaan.

5 Wherefore, ſaid they, if we have found grace in thy ſight, let this land be given unto thy ſervants for a poſſeſſion: and bring us not over Jordan h.

h To wit, to give us our poſſeſſion there, but let this land on this ſide Jordan be our whole poſſeſſion.

6 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, Shall your brethren go to war, and ſhall ye ſit here i?

i In eaſe and peace, whileſt your brethren are ingaged in a bloody war. Their words were ambiguous, and Moſes thought this to be an act of unbelief and ſloth, and ſelf-love and policy.

7 And wherefore † diſcourage ye the heart of the children of Iſrael, from going over into the land which the LORD hath given them?

* ch. 13. 3. * Deut. 1. 22.

8 Thus did your fathers, when I * ſent them from Kadeſh-barnea * to ſee the land.

* ch. 13. 24.

9 For * when they went up into the valley of Eſhcol, and ſaw the land, they diſcouraged the heart of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould not go k into the land which the LORD had given them.

k That they ſhould not attempt to go, but rather return to Egypt, Numb. 14. 4.

10 And the LORDS anger was kindled the ſame time, and he ſware, ſaying, * ch. 14. 28, 29. * chap. 14. 24, 30. † Heb. fulfilled after me.

11 Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, * from twenty years old and upward, ſhall ſee the land which I ſware unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, becauſe * they have not † wholly followed me:

l So called from Kenaz, his grand-father, or one of his eminent anceſtors, Joſ. 15. 17. 1 Chron. 4. 13, 14, 15.

13 And the LORDS anger was kindled againſt Iſrael, and he made them wander in the wilderneſs forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the ſight of the LORD were conſumed.

14 And, behold, ye are riſen up in your fathers ſtead, an increaſe of ſinful men m, to augment yet the fierce anger of the LORD toward Iſrael.

m Succeeding your fathers, as in their places and eſtates, ſo alſo in their ſins.

15 For if ye turn away from after him, he will yet again leave them in the wilderneſs, and ye ſhall deſtroy all this people n.

n Who being moved by your counſel and example, will refuſe to go over Jordan, and to poſſeſs the land of Canaan.

16 And they came near unto him, and ſaid, We will build ſheep folds here for our cattel, and cities for our little ones:

17 But we our ſelves o will go ready armed before the children of Iſrael, until we have brought them unto their place: and our little ones ſhall dwell in the fenced cities, becauſe of the inhabitants of the land p.

o Either all, or as many of us as ſhall be thought neceſſary, leaving only ſo many as may be neceſſary to provide for the ſuſtenance and defence of our wives and children here. See Joſ. 4. 12, 13. p The Moabites and Edomites, or other bordering people.

* Joſh. 22. 4.

18 * We will not return unto our houſes, until the children of Iſrael have inherited every man his inheritance:

19 For we will not inherit with them on yonder ſide Jordan, or forward, becauſe our inheritance is fallen to us on this ſide Jordan eaſtward.

* Joſh. 22. 4.

20 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If ye will do this thing, if ye will go armed before the LORD p, to war, p Either 1. ſincerely and heartily, as in God's preſence. Or rather 2. before the Ark, which was the token of God's preſence. He alludes either to the order of the tribes in their march, whereby Reuben and Gad marched next and immediately before the Ark, as appears from Numb. 2. 10, 14, 16, 17. Or to the manner of their paſſage over Jordan, wherein the Ark went firſt into Jordan, and ſtood there whileſt all the tribes marched over Jordan by and before it, Joſ. 3. & 4. and theſe amongſt the reſt, as is expreſly noted in theſe very words, that they paſſed over before the Lord, Joſ. 4. 13.

21 And will go all of you armed over Jordan before the LORD, until he hath driven out his enemies from before him.

22 And * the land be ſubdued before the LORD: * Deut. 3. 18. then afterward ye ſhall return, and be guiltleſs before the LORD, and before Iſrael; and * this land ſhall be your poſſeſſion before the LORD.

* Deut. 12. 10. Joſh. 18. 1. & 22. 4.

q (i.e.) By his preſence and gracious and powerful aſſiſtance.

23 But if ye will not do ſo, behold, ye have ſinned againſt the LORD: and be ſure your ſin r will find you out.

24 Build your cities for your little ones, and folds for your ſheep; and do that which hath proceeded out of your mouth s.

s Which you have uttered and promiſed to do. See this or the like phraſe, Numb. 30. 12. & Deut. 23. 18.

25 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben, ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Thy ſervants will do as my lord commandeth.

26 Our little ones, our wives, our flocks, and all our cattel ſhall be there in the cities of Gilead t.

t Largely ſo called, as that word is oft uſed, for that whole country beyond Jordan, as in other places it is taken more ſtrictly for a part of it, as here below, ver. 39, 40. and elſewhere.

27 But thy ſervants will paſs over, every man armed for war, before the LORD to battel, as my lord ſaith.

* Joſh. 4. 12.

28 So concerning them, Moſes commanded Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael:

29 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben will paſs with you over Jordan, every man armed to battel before the LORD, and the land ſhall be ſubdued before you, then ye ſhall give them the land of Gilead for a poſſeſſion:

30 But if they will not paſs over with you armed, they ſhall have poſſeſſion among you in the land of Canaan u.

u They ſhall forfeit and loſe their poſſeſſions in Gilead, and ſhall be conſtrained to go over Jordan, and to ſeek poſſeſſions there among their brethren.

31 And

31 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben anſwered, ſaying, As the LORD hath ſaid x unto thy ſervants, ſo will we do.

x Either at this time by thy mouth: or formerly, where he commandeth us as well as our brethren to go into Canaan and poſſeſs it.

32 We will paſs over armed before the LORD into the land of Canaan, that the poſſeſſion of our inheritance on this ſide Jordan may be ours.

* Deut. 3. 2. Joſh. 13. 8. and 22. 4. * ch. 21. 24, 33.

33 And * Moſes gave unto them, even to the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and unto half the tribe of Manaſſeh y the ſon of Joſeph, the * Kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorite, and the kingdom of Og king of Baſhan, the land with the cities thereof, in the coaſts, even the cities of the country round about.

y Who are here added to the Tribes of Reuben and Gad, either becauſe upon the good ſucceſs of the two Tribes of Reuben and Gad, they were encouraged to make the ſame requeſt for themſelves, as having much cattel, as well as they: or becauſe upon further conſideration it was found that this portion of land was more than ſufficient for thoſe two tribes, and it was given by Moſes to theſe rather than to any other, becauſe they fought againſt the Amorites with great courage and ſucceſs, here ver. 39. & Joſ. 17. 1.

34 And the children of Gad built z Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer, z (i. e.) Repaired and fortified, as that word is oft uſed, as 1 King. 12. 25. 2 King. 14. 22. 2 Chron. 8. 8. & 11. 5, &c. and 26. 2. Dan. 4. 30. For they neither had need nor leiſure as yet to do more, the old cities not being burnt and ruined, as divers in Canaan were.

CHAP. XXXIII.

A relation of the marches and Campings of the Iſraelites from Egypt to Canaan, 1——50. They are commanded to drive out the Canaanites, and deſtroy their Pictures, Molten Images, and high Places, and to divide the Land by Lot, 51——54. The Canaanites, if not diſpoſſeſs'd, ſhould trouble and vex them; and God would do to them as he thought to do to the others, 55, 56.

1 THESE are the journeys of the children of Iſrael, which went forth out of the land of Egypt with their armies a, under the hand of Moſes and Aaron.

a (i.e.) In great number and exact order, as armies march, and they did, Exod. 12. 37, 38, & 13. 18.

2 And Moſes wrote their goings out according to their journeys, by the commandment of the LORD b: and theſe are their journeys, according to their goings out.

b Who would have this done, partly to evince the truth of the hiſtory, partly to preſerve the remembrance of God's glorious and miraculous works both of judgment and mercy towards his people, and thereby to confirm their faith in their preſent difficult undertaking.

* Exod. 12. 37.

3 And they * departed from Rameſes c in the firſt month, on the fifteenth day of the firſt month: on the morrow after the paſſover the children of Iſrael went out p Not by banishing, but by destroying them, as it is explained, Deut. 7. 1, 2. and elsewhere. q Which seem to have been stones curiously ingraven, and set up for worship. See Deut. 16. 22. r See Exod. 23. 24, 32. Deut. 7. 5. s (i. e.) by a Metoonymy, the Chapels, Altars, Groves, or other means of worship there set up, for the hills themselves could not be destroyed by them. t (i. e.) Both vexatious and pernicious, for the eye is a tender part, and a wound there is very mischievous.

56 Moreover, it shall come to pass, that I shall do unto you, as I thought to do unto them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

God describes the Borders of Canaan, 1——15. And names those who should divide the same among the Children of Israel, 16——29.

1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come into the land of Canaan (this is the land that shall fall unto you for an inheritance, even the land of Canaan with the coasts a thereof.)

a Or, limits or bounds, to wit, of the land beyond Jordan. Which are here particularly described, 1. to direct and bound them in their wars and conquests, that they might not seek the enlargement of their empire, after the manner of other nations, but be contented with their own portion. 2. To encourage them in their attempt upon Canaan, and assure them of their success. 3. To guide them in the approaching distribution of the land.

* Josh. 19.1 * Gen. 14.3 3 Then * your south-quarter b shall be from the wilderness of Zin, along by the coast of Edom c, and your south-border shall be the outmost coast of * the salt sea d eastward e.

b Which is here described from East to West by divers windings and turnings, by reason of the mountains, rivers, &c. c Bordering all along upon the Edomites. d So called from the salt and sulphurous taste of its waters. e (i. e.) At the eastern part of that sea, where the Eastern and Southern borders meet.

4 And your border shall turn from the south to the ascent of Akrabbim f, and pass unto Zin: and the going forth thereof shall be from the south g to Kadesh-Barnea h, and shall go on to Hazar-addar i, and pass on to Azmon k.

f Called Maaleh-akrabbim, Jos. 15. 3. which was at the south end of the salt or dead sea. g Or, on the south, i. e. proceeding onward towards the South. h Which was on the Southern part of Canaan, Numb. 13. 27. i Which in Jos. 15. 3. may seem distinguished into two places, Hezron and Addar, which here are united, because peradventure they were contiguous, or joined together. Or, the village of Addar, and so this is the same place called Addar, Jos. 15. 3. and for Hezron, that may be another place here omitted, and there supplied for more exactness. k Which is at the West-end of the mount of Edom.

5 And the border shall fetch a compass from Azmon unto the river of Egypt l, and the goings out of it shall be at the sea m.

l Called Sihor, Jos. 13. 3. which divided Egypt from Canaan. See Gen. 15. 18. m The midland sea, called the sea emphatically, whereas the other seas there, as they are called, are indeed but lakes.

6 And as for the western border, ye shall even have the great n sea for a border: this shall be your west-border.

n The midland sea from the south to the North so far as runs parallel with mount Libanus.

7 And this shall be your north border: from the great sea ye shall point out for you mount Hor o.

o Not that Hor where Aaron died, Numb. 20. 22. which was Southward, and bordering upon Edom, Numb. 33. 37, 38. and therefore could not be their northern border, but another mountain, and, as it is conceived, the mountain of Libanus, which is elsewhere mentioned as the Northern border of the land, and which, in regard of divers parts, or by divers people, is called by divers names, as Sirion and Senir, Deut. 3. 9. and Sion, Deut. 4. 48. and Hermon, Jos. 13. 5. and here Hor, which signifies a mountain, and this may be called so by way of eminency. Certain it is, that as Hor here, so Hermon, Jos. 13. 5. is joined with the entrance of Hamath, which makes it probable they are one and the same place.

8 From mount Hor, ye shall point out your border unto the entrance of Hamath p, and the goings forth of the border shall be to Zedad.

p Called Hamath the great, Amos 6. 2. which is among the Northern borders, Ezek. 47. 16, 17. See Gen. 10. 15, 18. Numb. 13. 21. Judg. 3. 3. 1 King. 8. 65.

9 And the border shall go unto Ziphron, and the goings out of it shall be at Hazar-enan: this shall be your north-border.

10 And ye shall point out your east-border, from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

11 And the coast shall go down from Shepham to Riblah, on the east-side of Ain: and the border shall descend, and shall reach unto the † side of the sea of Chinnereth q eastward. † Heb. shoulder.

q Of this name we have a city, Jos. 19. 35. and a country, Jos. 12. 2. 1 King. 15. 20. and a Sea or Lake, here and Jos. 12. 3. and 13. 27. which in the New Testament is called the sea of Genesareth, Luk. 5. 1. and of Galilee, and of Tiberias, Joh. 6. 1.

12 And the border shall go down to Jordan r, and the goings out of it shall be at the salt sea: this shall be your land with the coasts thereof round about.

r (i. e.) All along the river of Jordan even to the end of it, which is the eastern border.

13 And Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying, This is the land which they shall inherit by lot, which the LORD commanded to give unto the nine tribes, and to the half tribe.

14 * For the tribe of the children of Reuben, according to the house of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, according to the house of their fathers, have received their inheritance, and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance. * ch. 32.33 Josh. 14. & 13.8.

15 The two tribes, and the half tribe, have received their inheritance on this side Jordan near Jericho, eastward, toward the sun-rising.

16 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

17 These are the names of the men which shall divide the land unto you: * Eleazar the priest s, and Joshua the son of Nun. * Josh. 14. & 19.51.

s Who was to act in God's name, to cast lots, to prevent differences and contentions, to consult with God in cases of difficulty, to transact the whole business in a solemn and religious manner.

18 And ye shall take one prince of every tribe, to divide the land by inheritance.

19 And the names of the men are these: of the tribe of Judah t, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

t The order of the Tribes is here differing from that Numb. 1. 7, 26. and in other places, being here, as also Jos. 16. and 17. & 18. & 19. conformed to the order of their several inheritances, which afterwards fell to them by Lot. Which is an evident demonstration of the infinite wisdom of God's providence, and of his exact and peculiar care over his people.

20 And

20 And of the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the son of Ammihud.

21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chisbon.

22 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the son of Jogli.

23 The prince of the children of Joseph: for the tribe of the children of Manasseh, Hanniel the son of Ephod.

24 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Ephraim, Kemuel the son of Shiphtan.

25 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, Elizaphan the son of Parnach.

26 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Issachar, Paltiel the son of Azzan.

27 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Asher, Ahihud the son of Shelomi.

28 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Naphtali; Pedahel the son of Ammihud.

29 These are they whom the LORD commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Israel, in the land of Canaan.

CHAP. XXXV.

Eight and forty Cities given to the Levites: together with their suburbs: among which six Cities of Refuge: for an Israelite or Stranger who had kill'd another unawares, 1—15. Wilful murther decided: and the murtherer to be put to death, 16—21. The Man-slayer must abide in the City of Refuge till the death of the High-Priest: and if caught out of it might be killed, 25—29. Two witnesses required to condemn a man to dye, 30. No Satisfaction to be taken for the Life of a Murtherer, 31. nor that any one might return from a City of Refuge before the time, 32. that the land be not defiled and polluted and not cleansed of the Blood shed in it, 33, 34.

1 AND the LORD spake unto Moses in the plains of Moab by Jordan, near Jericho, saying,

Josh. 14. 2. 20. 21. 2 * Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their possession, cities to dwell in: and ye shall give also unto the Levites, suburbs for the cities round about them.

3 And the cities shall they have to dwell in, and the suburbs of them shall be for their cattel a, and for their goods, and for all their beasts.

a For pasturage for their cattel: where they might not build houses, nor plant gardens, orchards or vineyards, no nor sow corn, for which they were abundantly provided out of the first-fruits and tithes. And these suburbs did not belong to the Levites in common, but were distributed to them in convenient proportions, as may appear from Jos. 21. 18. 1 Chron. 6. 60.

4 And the suburbs of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall reach from the wall of the city and outward, a thousand cubits round about b.

b Obj. In the next verse it is two thousand. How do these agree? Answ. 1. LXX Interpreters read both here and ver. 5. two thousand cubits, whence some suppose this to be an error in the Hebrew Text, which, being in a matter neither concerning faith nor good manners, is not prejudicial to the authority of the holy Scriptures. Answ. 2. The one thousand cubits may be in length from the city, and the two thousand cubits in breadth on each side of the city, and so they well agree; for a line of a thousand cubits being drawn in length eastward and another westward and another northward and another southward, a line, drawn at a thousand cubits distance from the city, from east to west must needs contain two thousand cubits, and so must the other line from north to south, and so on every side of the city there must be two thousand cubits. Answ. 3. This verse and the next do not speak to the same thing: this speaks of the space or place from whence the suburbs shall be measured, the next verse speaks of the space unto which that measure shall be extended; and the words may very well be read thus, And the suburbs—— shall be (so it is only an ellipsis of the verb substantive, which is most frequent, and the meaning is, shall be taken or accounted) from the wall of the city and from (that particle being supplied or understood from the foregoing words, which is very usual) without it, or, from the outward parts of it, (which being a general and indefinite expression is limited and explained by the following words) even from a thousand cubits round about. Which are mentioned not as the thing measured, for as yet there is not a word of measuring, but as the term or space from which the measuring line should begin. And then it follows ver. 5. And ye shall measure from without the city, (not from the wall of the city, as was said before ver. 4. but from without it, i. e. from the said outward part or space of a thousand cubits without the wall of the city round about) on the east-side two thousand cubits, &c. So in truth there were three thousand cubits from the wall of the city, whereof one thousand probably were for out-houses, stalls for cattel, gardens, vineyards and olive-yards, and the like, and the other two thousand for pasture, which are therefore called the field of the suburbs, Lev. 25. 34. by way of distinction from the suburbs themselves, which consist of the first thousand cubits from the wall of the city.

5 And ye shall measure from without the city on the east-side two thousand cubits, and on the south-side two thousand cubits, and on the west-side two thousand cubits, and on the north-side two thousand cubits: and the city shall be in the midst: this shall be to them the suburbs of the cities.

6 And among the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, there shall be * six cities for refuge c, which ye shall appoint for the man-slayer d, that he may flee thither: and † to them ye shall add forty and two cities. * Deut. 4. Josh. 20. 2. & 21. 3. † Heb. to them.

c Or, of receit, or escape, or resort, to wit, for man-slayers: And these cities are assigned among the Levites, partly because they might be presumed to be the most proper and impartial Judges between man-slayers, and wilful murderers; partly because their presence and counsel and authority would more effectually bridle the passions of the avenger of blood who might pursue him thither; and partly to signifie, that it is only in Christ (whom the Levitical-Priests did represent) that sinners find refuge and safety from the destroyer. The names of these Cities we have Deut. 4. 41, 43. Jos. 20. 8. d Such as is here described, ver. 11. 15, 22, 23.

7 So all the cities which ye shall give to the Levites shall be forty and eight cities: them shall ye give with their suburbs. † Heb. they shall give.

8 And the cities which ye shall give, shall be of the possession of the children of Israel: * from them that have many, ye shall give many e; but from them that have few, ye shall give few. Every one shall give of his cities unto the Levites according to his inheritance which † he inheriteth. * chap. 26. 54. † Heb. they inherit.

e Compare Numb. 33. 54. Jos. 20. 2.

9 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, * When ye be come over Jordan, into the land of Canaan: * Deut. 19. 2. Josh. 20. 2.

11 Then * ye shall appoint you cities to be cities of refuge for you, that the slayer may flee thither, which killeth any person † at unawares f. * Exod. 21. 13. † Heb. by error.

f (i. e.) Not wilfully, designedly or maliciously, but inconsiderately, through mistake or indiscretion or carelessness. See Levit. 4. 2.

12 And they shall be unto you cities for refuge from the avenger g, that the man-slayer die not h, until he stand before the congregation in judgment i.

g To wit, of the party slain, or, of blood, as it is fully expressed below ver. 19, 25. Heb. from the redeemer, or, from the next kinsman, to whom by the law belonged the right of redemption of the lands of, and vindication of the injury done to, the person deceased. h (i. e.) Be not killed by the avenger meeting him in some other place. i (i. e.) Before the society or convention of Judges or Elders who were appointed in every City for the decision of criminal causes, who were 23 who were to examine the matter, and that publickly before the people, whether the murder was wilful or casual. Quest. In what City was this cause to be tried? Answ. Some say, in the City of refuge, others say, in the City in or near which the fact was committed. It seems to me it was done in both, at first in the City of refuge, as is manifest in Jos. 20. 4. but at last trial and sentence did not satisfie the avenger of blood, it was fully and finally determined in the other City, as is sufficiently evident both by comparing this place with ver. 25. and Jos. 20. 6. and from the usual and most reasonable course of Justice, which is that facts should be examined, as far as may be, in or near the places where they were committed, and where the witnesses and evidences were at hand. k Or, for judgment; i. e. to receive sentence there according to the nature of the fact.

13 And of these cities which ye shall give, six cities shall ye have for refuge.

14 Ye shall give three cities on this side Jordan l, and three cities shall ye give in the land of Canaan, which shall be cities of refuge:

l Because that land was as long as Canaan, though not so broad, and besides these might be convenient for many of them that lived in Canaan.

15 These six cities shall be a refuge, both for the children of Israel, and for the stranger m: and for the sojourner among them: that every one that killeth any person unawares, may flee thither.

m Not the proselyte only, but all strangers, this being no matter of religious priviledge, but of common right and agreeable to the Law of nature and practice of wise heathens.

16 * And if he smite him with an instrument of iron, so that he die n, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death p. * Exod. 21.12,14.

n Wittingly and wilfully, though not with premeditated malice or design, as appears by comparing this with ver. 20, 21, 22, 23. o To wit, suddenly, not so, if he walked abroad afterward, Exod. 21. 19, 20. p Yea though he were fled into the City of refuge.

17 And if he smite him † with throwing a stone q, (wherewith he may die) and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death. † Heb. with a stone of the hand.

q Heb. with the stone of the hand, i. e. cast by the hand, and that knowingly, as appears by ver. 23.

18 Or if he smite him with an hand-weapon of wood (wherewith he may die) and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death.

19 The revenger of blood himself shall slay the murderer r: when he meeteth him, he shall slay him.

r Either 1. By himself, as the following words they; for it is only a permission, that he may do it without offence to God or danger to himself. Or 2. By the Magistrate, from whom he shall demand justice: so it is a command, as may appear by comparing this with ver. 31. and Deut. 19. 12, 13.

20 But

20 But * if he thrust him of hatred, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die:

21 Or in enmity smite him with his hand that he die: he that smote him shall surely be put to death, for he is a murderer: the revenger of blood shall slay the murderer when he meeteth him.

22 But if he thrust him suddenly s, * without enmity, or have cast upon him any thing without laying of wait:

s Through sudden passion, or provocation. Or, by chance, or unawares.

23 Or with any stone wherewith a man may die, seeing him not, and cast it upon him that he die, and was not his enemy, neither sought his harm:

24 Then u the congregation shall judge between the slayer, and the revenger of blood, according to these judgments.

u If the man slayer flee to the city of refuge.

25 And the congregation shall deliver the slayer out of the hand of the revenger of blood, and the congregation shall restore him to the city of his refuge, whither he was fled: and he shall abide in it x, unto the death of the high priest y which was anointed with holy oyl.

x Be confined to it, partly to shew the hatefulness of wilful murder in Gods account by so severe a punishment, as this in many cases might prove, inflicted upon the very appearance of it, and partly for the security of the manslayer, left the presence of such a person, and his conversation among the kindred of the deceased, might occasion reproach and blood-shed. y Partly because the publick grief for the loss of so publick a person was likely to assuage the private griefs and passions of men, the rather, because by this example they were minded of their own mortality, and thereby withheld from taking vengeance; and principally to shew that the death of Christ (the true High-Priest, whom the others did evidently and eminently represent and typifie) is the only mean whereby sins are pardoned and sinners are set at liberty.

26 But if the slayer shall at any time come without the border of his city of refuge, whither he was fled:

27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of blood kill the slayer, he † shall not be guilty of blood z:

z i. e. Not liable to punishment from men, though not free guilt before God, because he kills an innocent person, as appears from Deut. 19. 10. This God ordained to oblige the man-slayer to abide in his city of refuge. See ver. 32.

28 Because he should have remained in the city of his refuge, until the death of the high priest: but after the death of the high priest, the slayer shall return into the land of his possession.

29 So these things shall be for a statute of judgment unto you, throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

30 Whoso killeth any person, the murderer shall be put to death by the * mouth of witnesses: but one witness shall not testifie against any person to cause him to die a.

a No Judge shall condemn any man to death upon a single testimony.

31 Moreover, ye shall take take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer b which is † guilty of death, but he shall be surely put to death.

b No intercession, nor ransom shall be accepted to save his Life, or procure him a pardon.

32 And ye shall take no satisfaction for him that is fled to the city of his refuge, that he should come again to dwell in the land, until the death of the priest c.

c Whereby God would signifie the absolute and indispensable necessity of Christs death to expiate sin, and to redeem the sinner.

33 So ye shall not pollute the land wherein ye are: for blood, it * defileth the land: and † the land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that sheddeth it d.

d These words are added as a reason not of the last Law, ver. 32. for in that case the land was cleansed without the blood of the man-slayer, but of the Law next foregoing that, ver. 31. in which case it holds, and the sense is, if you shall spare the murderer or take any satisfaction for him, you do together with your selves involve your Land and People in guilt, and will certainly bring down Gods vengeance upon your selves and them.

34 Defile not therefore the land which ye shall inherit e, wherein I dwell: for I the LORD dwell among the children of Israel.

e Be not cruel to your own land by making it a den of murderers.

CHAP. XXXVI.

The inconvenience of Daughter's Inheriting is remedied by a general Command, that all such marry in the tribe of their Fathers: to which of them they shall think best, 1—9. They obey, 10—12. These Commands God gave by Moses to Israel in the Plains of Moab, 13.

1 AND the chief fathers of the families a of the children of Gilead the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of the sons of Joseph came near, and spake before Moses, and before the princes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel.

a Who had the care and management of the publick affairs of that Tribe committed to them.

2 And they said, * The LORD commanded my lord to give the land for an inheritance by lot to the children of Israel: and * my lord was commanded by the LORD, to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother b unto his daughters.

* chap. 26. 55.
* chap. 27. 1. Josh. 17. 3.

b (i. e.) Our kinsman, one of our Tribe, Jos. 17. 2, 3.

3 And if they be married to any of the sons of the other Tribes of the children of Israel, then shall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and shall be put to the inheritance of the Tribe, † whereunto they are received c: so shall it be taken from the lot of our inheritance.

c For their inheritance will pass to their children, who will be of another tribe by their fathers side, which alone is considered in this place.

4 And when the * jubile of the children of Israel shall be d, then shall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the Tribe whereunto they are received: so shall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

* Lev. 25. 10.

d Which God appointed principally for this end to preserve the inheritance in the hands of the Tribes and Families to which they were first given.

5 And Moses commanded the children of Israel according to the word of the LORD, saying, The tribe of the sons of Joseph hath said well e.

e Their plea is just and reasonable. God did not take particular care about every occurrence that happened or might happen, but left divers things to be found out by humane prudence, which being his own gift it was meet there should be opportunities left for the exercise of it, and God thought fit to approve and ratifie the prudent and profitable inventions of men by his own law or sanction, as in the case of Jethro, Exod. 18. of Zelophehads Daughters, Numb. 27. and here of their brethren. But it is observable, that God allowed this only in civil affairs, but never in the matters of his worship, where he utterly forbids it.

6 This is the thing which the LORD doth command concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, Let them † marry to whom they think best: only to the family of the tribe of their father f shall they marry.

f They seem hereby to be confined not only to the same Tribe, but also to the family of their Tribe, as appears from the reason of the Law, for God would have the inheritance of Families as well as Tribes kept entire and unmixed: and this was one reason of that Law of marrying the Brothers wife, Deut. 25. And although the next verse may seem to thwart this interpretation, the reason of this Law being there given that inheritances might not go from Tribe to Tribe, yet ver. 8. confirms it, where the very same phrase is repeated, and that more emphatically, that such shall marry one of the family of the Tribe of her Father; and this further reason and restriction is added, that they may enjoy every man the inheritance (not only of his Tribe, but) of his Fathers, to wit, belonging to his fathers family.

7 So shall not the inheritance of the children of Israel remove from tribe to tribe: for every one of the children of Israel shall † keep himself to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And every daughter that possesseth an inheritance g in any tribe of the children of Israel, shall be wife unto one of the family of the tribe of her father: that the children of Israel may enjoy every man the inheritance of his fathers.

g By which clause it seems that this Law was not general to forbid every woman to marry into another Tribe (as may be reasonably concluded from the practice of so many Patriarchs, Kings, Priests, and other holy men, who have married women of other Tribes, yea sometimes of other Nations, which it is not likely they would have done, if this had been a transgression of Gods Law) but restrained to heiresses, or such as were likely to be so. See 1 Chron. 23. 22. But if they had brethren, it is probable they were free to marry into any Tribe, yet so that, if their brethren dyed, their punishment was, that the inheritance went from them to the next a kin of their fathers Tribe and Family. And the principal reason why God was solicitous to preserve Tribes and Families unmixed was, that the Tribe and Family too, out of which the Messiah was to come, and by which he should be known, might be evident and unquestionable.

9 Neither shall the inheritance remove from one tribe to another tribe: but every one of the tribes of the children of Israel shall keep himself to his own inheritance.

10 Even as the LORD commanded Moses, so did the daughters of Zelophehad.

11 * For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah the daughters of Zelophehad, were married unto their fathers brothers sons h.

* chap. 27. 1.

h It is uncertain whether brothers or sons be taken strictly and properly, or more large, as those words are oft used in Scripture.

12 And they were married † into the families of the sons of Manasseh, the son of Joseph and their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father.

† Heb. to some that were of the families.

13 These are the commandments, and the judgments which the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses, unto the children of Israel in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

DEU-

DEUTERONOMY.

The ARGUMENT.

MOses, in the two last Months of his life, rehearseth, what God had done for them, and their frequent murmurings, rebellions, and constant ingratitude; he begs to enter into the Land, but is permitted only to see it; he forbiddeth any communion with the Nations for several reasons. Chap. 7. He gives a short repetition of those sundry Laws, Moral, Ceremonial, Judicial, and Military, which he had given them, from whence this Book is called Deuteronomy. Then, after many Exhortations, he prophesieth of Christ, afterwards he shews how matters of War are to be managed, and, giving many other particular directions with reference to Duties, Conditions, and Persons of both Sexes, he pronounceth Blessings on the Obedient, and Curses on the Disobedient; he then gives a charge for laying up, and reading of the Law at certain times, and every seven years to be solemnly read before all the people; he composeth a Song for common use, comprizing the wonderful things here mentioned; he prophesieth of Christs coming, and the calling of the Gentiles, seeth the Land, and dieth, leaving Joshua, after he had consecrated him, to succeed.

CHAP. I.

A Rehearsal of what had befallen Israel in their forty years march, as God's Command to depart, 1,—6. Moses's inability to judge alone, 9—12. other Judges and Officers appointed, 13—16. Charge given the Judges, 17, 18. Their passage to Kadesh-Barnea, 19, 20, 21. Spies sent to search the Land of the Amorites, 22. Their Return and Report, 23. The disobedience of the people, 26. God's Wrath, 34. they smitten by the Amorites, 44. Their Complaints to God, which the Lord regards not, 45.

1 THese be the words which Moses spake a unto all Israel b, on this side Jordan; in the wilderness, in the plain c over against the ‖ Red sea, between Paran d, and Tophel, and Laban e, and Hazeroth f, and Dizahab.

a These are the Laws, Counsels and Admonitions delivered by Moses from God to Israel, which are here repeated for the instruction and obligation of those who by reason of their tender years were uncapable either of understanding them, or of entring into Covenant with God. b To wit, by the Heads or Elders of the several Tribes, or others, who were to communicate these discourses to all the people in several Assemblies. c Either 1. In the vast desert of Arabia. But that is no where called a plain. Or rather 2. In the plain of Moab, as may appear by comparing this with v. 5. and Numb. 22. 1. and Deut. 34. 8. Obj. That was far from the Red-Sea here mentioned. Answ. The word Suph here used doth not signifie the Red-Sea, which is commonly called jam-Suph, and which was at too great a distance, but some other place now unknown to us (as also most of the following places are) so called from the Reeds or Flags, or Rushes (which that word signifies) that grew in or near it; which reason of the name being common to other places with the Red-Sea, it is not strange if they got the same name. Compare Numb. 21. 14. d Not that Numb. 10. 12. Which there and elsewhere is called the Wilderness of Paran, and which was too remote, but some other place called by the same name, than which nothing more usual. e Places not mentioned elsewhere. f Of which see Numb. 11. 35. and 33. 17, 18. And these places seem to be the several bounds and limits not of the whole Country of Moab, but of the plain of Moab, where Moses now was, and spake these words.

2 (There be eleven days journey g from Horeb h, by the way of mount Seir i, unto Kadesh-barnea k.)

g This is added to shew that the reason why the Israelites in so many years were advanced no further from Horeb, than to these plains, was not the great distance of the places or length of the way, which was but a journey of eleven days at most, but because of their rebellions, as is mentioned before and repeated in this book. h Or Sinai; the place where the Law was given, which is promiscuously called by both those names. i Or Mount Edom, i. e. the mountainous Country of Seir, which was first possessed by the Horims, and afterwards by the Edomites, Deut. 2. 12. k which was not far from the borders of Canaan. See Gen. 16. 14. Numb. 13. 26.

3 And it came to pass in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month l, on the first day of the month, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel, according unto all that the LORD had given him in commandment unto them;

l Which was but a little before his death.

m His Palace or Mansion-house was at Ashtaroth, and he was slain at Edrei, Numb. 21. 23. of both these places, see Gen. 14. 5. Jos. 13. 31.

5 On this side Jordan, in the land of Moab, ‖ began Moses to declare this law, saying,

‖ Or, willed to declare, that is, willingly believed. See Joh. 6. 2. Numb. 10. 12, 22. 21. Gr.

l Heb. Before your faces; it is open to your view, and to your possession; there is no impediment in the way. See of this phrase, Gen. 13. 9. and 34. 10.

9 And I spake unto you at that time m, saying, I am not able to bear you my self alone:

10 The LORD your God hath multiplied you, and behold, ye are this day as the stars of heaven for multitude.

th their desire, and permitted them to do so for their nd exercise, Numb. 13. 1, 2, 3.

24 And * they turned and went up into the mountain, and came unto the valley c of Eshol d, and searched it out.

c Or, the brook: the word signifies both, for brooks commonly run in Valleys. d i. e. of grapes, so called from the goodly cluster of grapes which they brought from thence, Numb. 13. 23.

25 And they took of the fruit e of the land in their hand, and brought it down unto us, and brought us word again, and said, It is a good land f which the LORD our God doth give unto us.

e Grapes, Pomegranates and Figs, Numb. 13. 23. f Which acknowledgment coming from its Enemies, should have prevailed with you to go in, more than their discouraging words should have beat you off, because the Lord who had given you this land, was unquestionably able to settle you in it in spight of all opposition.

26 Notwithstanding ye would not go up, but rebelled against the commandment of the LORD our God.

27 And ye murmured in your tents, and said, Because the LORD hated us g, he hath brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorite, to destroy us.

g And therefore designed to destroy us.

28 Whither shall we go up? our brethren have † discouraged our heart, saying, * The people is greater b and taller than we, the cities are great, and walled up to Heaven i; and moreover, we have seen the sons of the * Anakins k there.

b In number and strength and valour. i. e. To a great height. A common Hyperbole, as Gen. 11. 4. Psal. 107. 26. k The Children of Anak or Enak. See Judg. 1. 10, 20.

29 Then I said unto you, Dread not, neither be afraid of them.

30 The LORD your God which goeth before you, he shall fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt l, before your eyes, l Where you were weak, dispirited, divided, raw and unexperienced and in a great measure unarmed, and able to do nothing against your numerous, potent, united Enemies, but to stand still and see the salvation of God. And therefore now your distrust is highly unreasonable, when you have been hardned and fitted for military service by your travels, disciplined and experienced in some degree as to Martial Affairs, encouraged by frequent and glorious Miracles for 40 years together, and you are going into a Country divided into several Nations and Kingdoms.

31 And in the wilderness, where thou hast seen how that the LORD thy God * bare thee m as a man doth bear his son, in all the way that ye went, until ye came into this place.

m Or, carried thee, as a father carries his weak and tender child in his arms, as Isa. 49. 22. or as upon Eagles wings, as it is, Exod. 19. 4. through difficulties and dangers, gently leading you according as you were able to go, and sustaining you by his power and goodness. See of this or the like phrase, Numb. 11. 12. Deut. 32. 10, 11. Psal. 91. 12. Isa. 46. 3, 4.

32 Yet in this thing n ye did not believe the LORD your God;

n In this matter which God commanded and encouraged you to do, to wit, in going in confidently to possess the land. Or, in this word, whereby God promised to fight for you, and assured you of good success.

33 * Who went in the way before you, * to search you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night, to shew you by what way ye should go, and in a cloud by day.

34 And the LORD heard the voice of your words o, and was wroth and sware, saying, o To wit, your murmurings, your unthankful, impatient, distrustful and rebellious speeches and carriages.

35 * Surely there shall not one of these men of this evil generation see that good land, which I sware to give unto your fathers;

36 Save Caleb p the son of Jephunneh, he shall see it, and to him will I give the land q that he hath trodden upon, and to his children, because he hath † wholly followed the LORD.

p Under whom Joshua is comprehended, as is manifest from 1. 38. and Numb. 14. 30. though not here expressed, because he was not now to be one of the people, but to be set over them as chief Governor. q That particular part of the Land. Compare Jos. 14. 9.

37 * Also the LORD was angry with me for your sakes r, saying, Thou also shalt not go in thither.

r Upon occasion of your wickedness and perverseness, by which you provoked me to speak unadvisedly, Psal. 106. 32, 33.

38 * But Joshua the son of Nun, which standeth before thee s, he shall go in thither; Encourage him: for he shall cause Israel to inherit it.

s i. e. Who is now my Minister and Servant, for such are often described by this phrase, as 1 King. 1. 28. Num. 11. 28.

39 Moreover, your little ones, which ye said should be a prey, and your children which in that day had no knowledge between good and evil t, they shall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they shall possess it.

t A common description of the state of childhood, as Jonah 4. 11.

40 But as for you, turn ye, and take your journey into the Wilderness by the way of the Red-sea.

41 Then ye answered and said unto me, * We have sinned against the LORD, we will go up and fight, according to all that the LORD our God commanded us. And when ye had girded on every man his weapons of war, ye were ready u to go up into the hill.

u Or, ye offered your selves, or you began, or you earnestly resolved and attempted.

42 And the LORD said unto me, Say unto them, Go not up, neither fight, for I am not among you x: lest ye be smitten before your enemies.

x With my powerful presence and assistance.

43 So I spake unto you, and ye would not hear, but rebelled against the commandment of the LORD, and † went presumptuously up into the hill.

44 And the Amorite which dwelt in that mountain came out against you, and chased you, as bees do y, and destroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah.

y As Bees which being provoked come out of their Hives in great numbers, and with great fury pursue and sting their Adversary and Disturber, Psal. 118. 12.

45 And ye returned, and wept before the LORD, but the LORD would not hearken to your voice, nor give ear unto you.

46 So ye abode in Kadesh many days, according unto the days that ye abode there z.

z i. e. As you abode in Kadesh many, even 40 days, until the spies which you sent returned to give you an account, so you also abode there many days, or a long time after, and were not now permitted to make any further progress towards Canaan.

CHAP. II.

Their march from Kadesh-Barnea, 1—3. A charge that they trouble not the Edomites, 4, 5. nor the Moabites, 9. nor the Ammonites, 19. But are encouraged to fight the Amorites; they put them to flight, and take possession of their Lands, 26—37.

1 THen we turned, and took our journey into the wilderness, by the way of the Red-sea, * as the LORD spake unto me: and we compassed mount Seir a many days b.

a The Mountainous Country of Seir or Edom. b Or, many years, even for 38 years.

2 And the LORD spake unto me, saying,

3 Ye have compassed this mountain long enough, turn ye northward c.

c Towards the land of the Amorites and Canaanites.

4 And command thou the people, saying, * ye are to pass through the coast d of your brethren, the children of Esau, which dwell in Seir e, and they shall be afraid of you f: take ye good heed unto your selves therefore:

d Or, by, or near the coast or border: for they did not pass through their borders, as it is said, Numb. 20. 21. And the particle Beth doth oft signifie by or near, as Gen. 37. 13. Jos. 5. 13. Judg. 8. 5. Jer 32. 7. Thus that difference may be reconciled, which others reconcile thus, that they at first denied it, but afterwards granted it. e These words restrain the prohibition to these particular Children of Esau, for there were another sort or branch of Esau's Children, which were to be meddled with and destroyed, even the Amalekites, Exod. 17. 14. Deut. 25. 17. who were Esau's posterity, Gen. 36. 12. f But, I charge you take no advantage of their fears, which you will be very apt to do.

5 Meddle not with them g; for I will not give you of their land, † no not so much as a foot-breadth, * because I have given mount Seir unto Esau for a possession.

f To wit, in battel at this time.

6 Ye shall buy meat of them g for money, that ye may eat, and ye shall also buy water of them h for money, that ye may drink.

g For though the Manna did yet rain upon them, they were not forbidden to buy other meats when they had opportunity, but only were forbidden greedily to hunger after them when they could not obtain them. h For water in those parts was scarce, and therefore private persons did severally dig pits for their particular use. See Gen. 26. 18. Numb. 21. 18.

7 For the LORD thy God hath blessed thee i in all the works of thy hand; he knoweth k thy walking through this great wilderness: these forty years the LORD thy God hath been with thee, thou hast lacked nothing.

i By Gods blessing thou art able to buy thy conveniencies, and therefore thy theft and rapine will be inexcusable, because without any pretence of necessity. k Heb. He hath known, i. e. observed, or regarded with care and kindness, which that word oft notes, as Psal. 1. 6. and 31. 7. Which experience of God's singular goodness to thee, should make thee trust him still, and not use any undutiful and unjust practices to procure what thou wantest or desirest.

8 And

8 And when we passed by from our brethren, the children of Esau which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain from Elah, and from Ezion-Gaber l, we turned m and passed by the way of the wilderness of Moab.

l Of which see Numb. 33. 35. which may be either that place upon the Red-sea, 1 King. 9. 26. or another of the same name. m To wit, from our direct road which lay through Edom land.

9 And the LORD said unto me, ‖ Distress not the Moabites, neither contend with them in battel: for I will not give thee of their land for a possession, because I have given Ar n unto the children of Lot o for a possession.

n The chief City of the Moabites, Numb. 21. 15, 28. here put for the whole Country which depended upon it. o So called to signifie that this preservation, was not for their sakes, for they were a wicked people, but for Lots sake whose memory God yet honours.

10 (The Emims p dwelt therein in times past, a people great and many, and tall as * the Anakims:

p Men terrible for stature and strength, as their very name imports. See Gen. 14. 5. whose expulsion by the Moabites is here noted as a great incouragement to the Israelites, for whose sake he would much more drive out the wicked and accursed Canaanites.

* Numb. 13. 28, 33.

11 Which also were accounted giants; as the Anakims: but the Moabites call them Emims.

* Gen. 36. 20. † Heb. inherited them.

12 * The Horims q also dwelt in Seir before-time, but the children of Esau † succeeded them, when they had destroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their ‖ stead, as Israel did unto the land of his possession which the LORD gave unto them r.

q Of whom see Gen. 14. 6. and 36. 20. r Obj. God had not yet given it unto them. Answ. 1. The past tense is here put for the future, will give, after the manner of the Prophets. 2. Things are oft said to be done when they are only resolved, or decreed, or attempted to be done, in which sence Reuben is said to deliver Joseph, Gen. 37. 21. Balak to fight against Israel, Jos. 24. 9. Abraham to have offered his son, Heb. 11. 17. 3. God may well be said to have given it, not only because he had purposed and promised to give it, but also because he was now about to give it, and had already given them some part of it; and that as an earnest of the whole. 4. This may be particularly understood of that part of Israels possession which was beyond Jordan, which God had actually given to them, that is, to some of them, for even the land of Canaan on this side Jordan was not given to all of them, but only to some of the tribes.

13 Now rise up, said I, and get ye over * the ‖ brook Zered: and we went over the brook Zered.

* Numb. 21. 12. ‖ Or, valley

14 And the space in which we came from Kadesh-Barnea, until we were come over the brook Zered, was thirty and eight years, until all the generation of the men of war were wasted out from among the host, as the LORD sware unto them.

* Num. 14. 35. Ch. 1. 46.

15 For indeed the hand of the LORD was against them, to destroy them from among the host, until they were consumed.

16 So it came to pass when all the men of war were consumed and dead from among the people,

17 That the LORD spake unto me, saying,

18 Thou art to pass over through Ar, the coast of Moab s, this day.

s Or, to pass by the border of Moab, by Ar.

19 And when thou comest nigh over against the children of Ammon, distress them not, nor meddle with them: for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon any possession, because I have given it unto the children of Lot for a possession.

20 (That also was accounted a land of giants: giants dwelt therein in old time, and the Ammonites call them

* Gen. 14. 5. Zamzummims t; t Which signifies men most wicked and abominable, or most presumptuous, or most crafty.

21 A people great, and many, and tall as the Anakims: but the LORD destroyed them before them u, and they succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead:

u Who therefore will certainly do as much for his own people.

22 As he did to the children of Esau, * which dwelt in Seir, when he destroyed the Horims from before them, and they succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead, even unto this day.

* Gen. 32. 3.

23 And the Avims which dwelt in Hazerim, even unto Azzah, the Caphtorims x, which came forth out of Caphtor y, destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.)

x A people near to the Philistines, Gen. 10. 14. and conversant with them in this enterprize, and so dwelling together, and by degrees were probably united together by Marriages or otherways, and became one people, the Caphtorims being at last swallowed up in the Philistines. See Jer. 47. 4. Amos 9. 7. y Which is by the learned thought to be Cappadocia. Whither their people might make an expedition out of Egypt either because of the report of the great Riches of part of that Country which drew others thither from places equally remote, or after the manner of those ancient times, or for some other reason now unknown.

* Numb. 21. 13, 16. † Heb. he gave, possessed.

24 Rise ye up, take your journey, and * pass over the river Arnon: behold, I have given into thy hand Sihon the Amorite, King of Heshbon, and his land: † begin to possess it, and contend with him in battel.

25 This day will I begin to put the dread of thee, and the fear of thee upon the nations that are under the whole heaven z, who shall hear report of thee, and shall tremble, and be in anguish because of thee.

z Which is a Synecdoche and an Hyperbole, but is explained by the following words which restrain the sentence to those nations that heard of them.

26 And I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemoth a, unto Sihon king of Heshbon, * with words of peace b, saying, a So called from a city of that name, Jos. 13. 18. and called Jothmon, Numb. 21. 20. b With offers of peace; which they refusing, their destruction was highly just and reasonable.

* Ch. 20. 10.

27 * Let me pass through thy land; I will go along by the high way c, I will neither turn unto the right hand, nor to the left.

* Numb. 21. 21, 22.

c In my direct road to Canaan, from which I will not turn aside into thy Fields, or Vineyards, or Houses.

28 Thou shalt sell me meat for money, that I may eat, and give me water for money, that I may drink: only I will pass through on my feet d:

d Or, with my foot-men, or with my company which are on foot: which is added significantly, because if their Army had consisted as much of Horsemen as many other Armies did, their passage through his land might have been more mischievous and dangerous: but they were generally on foot.

29 (As the children of Esau which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites which dwell in Ar, did unto me e) until I shall pass over Jordan, into the land which the LORD our God giveth us.

e Obj. The king of Edom, i. e. of the children of Esau, did not grant them passage, Numb. 20. Answ. They did permit them to pass quietly by the borders, though not through the heart of their Land, and in their passage the people sold them meat and drink, being it seems more kind to them than their king would have had them; and therefore they here ascribe this favour not to the king, though they are now treating with a king, but to the people, the children of Esau.

30 But Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him f: for * the LORD thy God hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinate g, that he might deliver him into thy hand, as appeareth this day.

* Josh. 11. 20.

f i. e. By his Borders. g Unmoveable and inexorable to our desires.

31 And the LORD said unto me, Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before thee, begin to possess, that thou mayest inherit his land.

32 * Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to fight at Jahaz.

* Numb. 21. 23.

33 And the LORD our God delivered him before us, and we smote him, and his sons, and all his people.

34 And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly destroyed † g the men, and the women, and the little ones of every city, we left none to remain.

† Heb. every city

g By Gods command, these being a part of those people who of men and were devoted by the Lord of Life and Death, to utter destruction women, and for their abominable wickedness. See Deut. 7. 2. and 20. 16. little ones.

35 Only the cattel we took for a prey unto our selves, and the spoil of the cities which we took.

36 From Aroer h, which is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the city that is by the river, even unto Gilead, there was not one city too strong for us: the LORD our God delivered all unto us:

h Which was in the border of Moab, but now in the hands of the Amorites. † Heb. in the river, wherewith it was encompassed, Numb. 21. 15. 28. Jos. 12. 2. and 13. 9. He speaketh relatively to the time when now was in the Moabites jurisdiction, above v. 9.

37 Only unto the land of the children of Ammon thou camest not, nor unto any place of the river * Jab-bok, nor unto the cities in the mountains i, nor unto whatsoever the LORD our God forbad us.

* Gen. 32. 22.

i i. e. Beyond Jabbok: for that was the border of the Ammonites, Jos. 12. 2. Obj. Half the land of the Ammonites is said to be given to the tribe of Gad, Jos. 13. 25. Answ. This is true of that half of it which the Amorites had taken from them; but not of the other half which yet was in the possession of the Ammonites. † The mountainous Country of the Ammonites. * Heb. Commanded us: commanding is put for forbidding here, as Gen. 2. 16. and 3. 11. Lev. 4. 2. Deut. 4. 23. The words may be thus rendred, Concerning which the Lord gave us commands to charge, to wit, that we should not meddle with them, as was said before. So it is only an ellipsis of the preposition, which is very frequent.

CHAP. III.

Their marches, 1, 2. Og its King is put to flight, slain, possessed his Land, 3——11. which is distributed to two Tribes and half; 12—17. who are commanded to assist their Brethren to possess the land beyond Jordan, 18——20. Moses encourages Joshua, 21—22. His Prayer to go into the promised Land, 23——25. God grants not his request, 26. He gives him a prospect of it, 27. and bids him encourage Joshua, 28.

1 THen we turned, and went up the way to Bashan: and * Og the King of Bashan came out against us, he, and all his people, to battel at Edrei.

* Num. 21. 33, &c. ch. 29. 7.

2 And the LORD said unto me, Fear him not a: for I will deliver him, and all his people, and his land into thy hand; and thou shalt do unto him, as thou didst unto Num. 21. 34. * Sihon King of the Amorite, which dwelt at Heshbon.

a Though he be of so frightful a look and stature, v. 11.

Num. 21. 33. 3 So the LORD our God delivered into our hands * Og also the King of Bashan, and all his people: and we smote him, until none was left to him remaining.

4 And we took all his cities at that time, there was not a city which we took not from them; threescore cities, all the region of Argob b the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

b A Province within Bashan. or at least subject and belonging to Bashan, as appears from v. 13: and 1 King. 4. 13. called Argob, possibly from the name of a man its former Lord and owner.

5 All these cities were fenced with high walls, gates, and bars c, besides unwalled towns a great many.

c Which may encourage you in your attempt upon Canaan, notwithstanding the fenced cities which the spies told you of, and you must expect to find.

6 And we utterly destroyed them, as we did unto Sihon King of Heshbon, utterly destroying the men, women, and children of every city.

7 But all the cattel, and the spoil of the cities, we took for a prey to our selves.

8 And we took at that time out of the hand of the two Kings of the Amorite, the land that was on this side Jordan d, from the river of Arnon, unto Mount Hermon e:

d So it was when Moses wrote this book, but afterward when Israel passed over Jordan it was called the land beyond Jordan.

2 (Which Hermon the Zidonians call Sirion: and the Amorite call it Shenir e.

e Elsewhere called Mount Gilead, and Libanus or Lebanon, and here Shenir, and Sirion, and, by abbreviation, Sion, Deut. 4. 48. Which several names are given to this one mountain partly by several people, and partly in regard of several tops and parts of it, whence Schenir and Hermon are mentioned as distinct places, Cant. 4. 8.

Josh. 12. 5. and 13. 11. 10 All the cities of the plain, and all Gilead f, and * all Bashan, unto Salchah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

f Gilead is sometimes taken largely for all the Israelites possessions beyond Jordan, and so it comprehends Bashan, but here more strictly for that part of it which lies in and near mount Gilead, and so it is distinguished from Bashan and Argob.

11 For only Og king of Bashan remained of the remnant of giants g: behold, his bedstead was a bedstead of
Sam. 12. 26. Jer. 49. 2. iron: is it not in * Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man h.

g The other giants of Bashan were destroyed before, and therefore when Og was killed, the Israelites work was done. 12 Here it might now be, either because the Ammonites in some former battel with Og had taken it as a spoil; or because after Og's death, the Ammonites desired to have this monument of his greatness, and the Israelites permitted them to carry it away to their chief city. 2 To wit, of ordinary stature. So his bed was four yards and an half long, and two yards broad.

12 And this land which we possessed at that time from Aroer, which u by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and * the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenite, and to the Gadite.
Num. 32. Josh. 13. 8. &c. 13 And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half tribe of Manasseh: all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, which was called the land of giants.

14 * Jair the son of Manasseh took all the country of
* 1 Chron. 2. 22. Argob, unto the coasts of Geshuri i, and Maachathi m, Num. 32. 41. and called them after his own name Bashan-Havoth-Jair unto this day n.

i Or, Gessurites; a people bordering the North of Canaan, 2 Sam. 3. 3. and 15. 8. See also Jos. 13. 13. m Of whom see 2 Sam. 3. 3. and 10. 6. n This must be put among those other passages which were not written by Moses, but added by those holy men who digested the books of Moses into this order and inserted some very few passages to accommodate things to their own time and people.

Num. 32. 39. 15 And * I gave Gilead unto Machir o.

o (i. e.) The half part of Gilead, as appears from v. 12, 13. See on Numb. 32. 40. p (i. e.) Unto the children of Machir son of Manasseh, for Machir was now dead.

16 And unto the Reubenite, and unto the Gadite I gave from Gilead even unto the River Arnon, half the valley q, and the border, even unto the river Jabbok r, Num. 21. * which is the border of the children of Ammon s.

q Or reubenites to the middle of the River: for the word rendred half signifies commonly middle, and the same Hebrew word signifying both a valley and a brook or river, it seems more reasonable to understand it of a River, as the same word is here rendred in the next foregoing clause of this verse, then of a valley, which was not mentioned before, especially seeing there is here an article added which seemeth to emphatical, and to more than River, to which now mentioned. Add to this, that there was no such valley, much less any half-valley, belonging both unto the Reubenits and Gadites. But according to the other translation the sense is plain and agreeable to the truth, that their Land extended from Gilead unto Arnon, and, to speak exactly, to the middle of that River, for as that River was the border between them and others, so one half of it belonged to them, as the other half did to others. And that this is no subtil device, as some may think it, but the truth of the thing, and the real meaning of the place, will appear by comparing this place with two others, 1. with Jos. 12. 2. where the same thing is expressed in the same words in the Hebrew which are here, though our translators render the self-same words there, from the middle of the River, which here they render, half of the valley; and where the bounds of Sihon kingdom, which was the same portion here mentioned as given to Reuben and Gad, are thus described, from Aroer, which is upon the bank of the River of Arnon, and from the middle of the River, and from half Gilead, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon. 2. With Deut. 2. 36. From Aroer, which is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the city that is by the River, or rather, as the Hebrew hath it, in the River, i. e. from Ar, which was the chief city of the Moabites, and therefore denied to the Israelites, as is here implied, and more fully expressed, Deut. 2. 9. which City was seated in an Island in the middle of the River. So that here we have a just and full reason why the border of this Land given to Reuben and Gad is so nicely and critically described here, even to the middle of a River, which although in truth and strictness it be the bound of those Lands which are divided by a River, yet is not usually expressed in the description of borders, either in Scripture or other Authors, because here was an eminent City of the Moabites in the middle of this River, which by this curious and exact description is excepted from their possession, as God would have it to be. r The meaning seems so be this, And the border, to wit, of their Land, was, which verb substantive is commonly understood, or went forth, (as the phrase is, Jos. 15. 6, 7, &c.) from thence, to wit, from the River Arnon, even unto the River Jabbok, for so indeed their border did proceed. s Object. This was the border between them and the Manassites, as is evident, and therefore not the border of the Ammonites. Answ. It bordered upon the Manassites in one part, and upon the Ammonites in another part, to wit, in that part which is remoter from Jordan, and so both are true.

17 The plain t also, and Jordan, and the coast thereof from Chinnereth u, even unto the sea of the plain x even the salt sea, ‖ under Ashdoth Pisgah y eastward.

t The Low Country towards Jordan. u Of which see on Numb. 34. 11. Jos. 12. 3. x (i. e.) That salt Sea, as it here follows, which before that dreadful conflagration was a goodly plain, called the plain of Jordan. Gen. 13. 10. y The proper name of a City, of which, Jos. 13. 20.

18 And I commanded you z at that time, saying, The LORD your God hath given you this land to possess it: * ye shall pass over armed before your brethren, the children of Israel, all that are † meet for the war a.

† Heb. Num. 32. 20.

z To wit, the Reubenites and Gadites mentioned, v. 16. to whom of you. he now turns his speech by an Apostrophe. a In such number as your brethren shall judge necessary. See Jos. 1. 14. and 4. 13.

19 But your wives, and your little ones, and your cattle (for I know that ye have much cattle) shall abide in your cities, which I have given you.

20 Until the LORD have given rest b unto your brethren, as well as unto you, and until they also possess the land which the LORD your God hath given them beyond Jordan: and then shall ye * return every man unto his possession which I have given you. Josh. 1. 14.

b A peaceable and fixed possession.

21 And * I commanded Joshua at that time, saying, Num. 27. 18. Thine eyes have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto these two kings: so shall the LORD do unto all the kingdoms whither thou passest.

22 Ye shall not fear them: for the LORD your God he shall fight for you.

23 And I besought the LORD at that time, saying,

24 O LORD God, thou hast begun to shew thy servant thy greatness, and thy mighty hand: for * what God Psal. 86. 8. is there in heaven or in earth, that can do according to and 145. 4. thy works, and according to thy might?

25 I pray thee let me go over c, and see the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly mountain, and Lebanon e.

c For he supposed Gods threatning might be conditional and reversible, as many others were. d Or, that blessed mount, which the Jews not improbably understand of that mountain on which the Temple was to be built. For he was highly desired and determined to prepare an habitation for God, Exod. 15. 2. and knew very well that God would chuse a certain place for his habitation, and put his name there, Deut. 12. 5. So he also knew that it was in manner both of the true worshippers of God and of Idolaters to worship their God in high places, and particularly that Abraham did worship God in the mount of Moria, Gen. 22. 2. and therefore did rightly reasonably conclude that God would chuse some certain mountain for the place of his habitation, tho possibly understood by revelation that he that very mount of Moria, where Abraham performed that eminent and glorious act of worship, should also the children of Abraham should have their place of constant and settled worship. This he seems to call that mountain, emphatically and eminently, that which was much in Moses his thoughts, though not in his eye, and the blessed (in the Hebrew tob oft, signifies) or the goodly mountain. e Or, the mountainous may be here put for the mountainous countries, as that word is oft used, as Gen. 36. 9. Numb. 13. 29. and and 23. 7. Deut. 1. 7. Jos. 10. 6. and 11. 16, 21, &c. And it is known that a great part of the glory and beauty and profit of this Country lay in its Hills or Mountains. See Deut. 11. 11. and 33. 15. And that goodly mountain may by an Enallage of the number be put for those goodly mountains in Canaan, which were many. Thus also he proceeds gradually in this desire and description, and prays that he may see in general the good land that is beyond Jordan, and then particularly, the goodly mountains of it, and especially that famous mount of Lebanon, which was so celebrated for its tall and large Cedars, and other Trees and excellent Plants. See Psal. 29. 5. and 104. 16. Isa. 2. 13. and 14. 8.

Numb. 20. 12. and 27. 14. Deut. ch. 1. 37. and 3. 25. 26 But the LORD * was wroth with me for your sakes f, and would not hear me: and the LORD said unto me, Let it suffice thee g, speak no more unto me of this matter.

f By occasion of your sins which provoked me to unadvised words and carriages, Psal. 106. 32, 33. See Numb. 20. 12. Deut. 31. 2. and 34. 4. g That this is my pleasure and unalterable resolution. Compare 2 Cor. 12. 8, 9.

Numb. 27. 12. [Or, the hill.] 27 * Get thee up into the top of ‖ Pisgah h, and lift up thine eyes i westward, and northward, and southward, and eastward, and behold it with thine eyes: for thou shalt not go over this Jordan.

h Of which see on Numb. 27. 12. i Towards the Land of Canaan and its several quarters.

Numb. 27. 18. 28 But * charge Joshua k, and encourage him, and strengthen him l: for he shall go over m before this people, and he shall cause them to inherit the land which thou shalt see.

k Give him commission and authority, and a command to execute his trust, and conduct the people. l With exhortations and promises and assurances of my presence and help and of good success. m It was not Moses, but Joshua or Jesus that was to give the people rest, Heb. 4. 8.

29 So we abode in * the valley over against Beth-Peor n.
Deut. 34. 6. n The House or Temple of Peor, or of Baal-Peor, of which see Numb. 25. 3. whence this place or city had its name.

CHAP. IV.

An Exhortation to obey the Law, 1—13. And warning against Idolatry, 14—24. From the mischief of it upon themselves and Children, 25. 28. Gods promise upon their Repentance, 29—31. And from Gods wonders towards them, 32—40. Cities of Refuge are appointed, 41—43.

NOw therefore hearken, O Israel, unto the statutes a, and unto the judgments b which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in, and possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers giveth you.

a The Laws which concern the worship and service of God.

b The Laws concerning your duties to men. So these two comprehend both Tables, and the whole Law of God.

Deut. ch. 12. Josh. 1. 7. Prov. 30. 6 Eccl. 12. 13. Rev. 22. 18, 19. 2 * Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish ought from it c, that ye may keep the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you.

c By devising other doctrines or ways of worship than what I have taught or prescribed. See Numb. 15. 39, 40. Deut. 12. 8, 32. 1 King. 12. 33. Prov. 30. 6. Matth. 15. 9. For this were to accuse me of want of wisdom or care or faithfulness in not giving you sufficient instructions for my own service. d By rejecting or neglecting any thing which I have commanded, though it seem never so small.

Numb. 25. 3, &c. of Baal-Peor: for all the men that followed Baal-Peor, Josh. 22. 17 the LORD thy God hath destroyed them from among you.

4 But ye that did cleave unto the LORD your God, are alive every one of you this day.

5 Behold, I have taught you statutes and judgments, even as the LORD my God commanded me, that ye should do so in the land whither ye go to possess it.

Job. 28. 28 Psalm. 19. Prov. 1. 7. 6 Keep therefore, and do them, for this is * your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations, e which shall hear all these statutes, and say, Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.

d For though the generality of Heathen people in the latter and degenerate ages of the world did through inveterate prejudices and for their own lusts and interests condemn the Laws of the Hebrews as foolish and absurd, yet it is most certain, that divers of the wisest heathens did highly approve of them so far that they made use of divers of them, and translated them into their own Laws and Constitutions; and Moses, the giver of these Laws, hath been mentioned with great honour for his wisdom and learning by many of them. And particularly the old Heathen Oracle expressly said, that the Chaldeans or Hebrews, who worshipped the uncreated God, were the only wise men.

Sam. 7. 23. Heb. a God. So Gr. Psal. 96. 1 & 145. 18. & 148. 14. Isa. 55. 6. 7 For * what nation is there so great, who hath † God so nigh unto them c, as the LORD our God is in all things that we call upon him for?

c By glorious miracles, by the pledges of his special presence, by the operations of his grace, and particularly, as it here follows, by his readiness to hear our prayers, and to give us those succours which we call upon him for.

8 And what nation is there so great, that hath statutes and judgments so righteous f, as all this law which I set before you this day?

f Whereby he implies that the true greatness of a nation doth not consist in pomp or power, or largeness of empire, as commonly men think, but in the righteousness of its Laws.

9 Only take heed to thy self, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but * teach them thy sons and thy sons sons; Gen. 18. 19. Deut. 6. 7.

10 Specially * the day that thou stoodst before the LORD thy God in Horeb g, when the LORD said unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they shall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children. Psal. 78. 5, 6. Ex. 19. 9, 16. and 20. 18. Heb. 12. 18.

g Some of them stood there in their own persons, though then they were but young, the rest stood then in the loins of their Parents, in whom they may well be said to stand there, because they are said to have entred into covenant with God, because their Parents did so in their name and for their use.

11 And ye came near, and stood under the mountain; * the mountain burnt with fire unto the † midst of heaven h, with darkness, clouds and thick darkness. Ex. 19. 18. † Heb. heart.

h Flaming up into the air, which is oft called Heaven, and the midst or the heart of it is not only that which is strictly and properly the middle part, but that which is within it; though but a little way, in which sense places or persons or things are said to be in the heart of the Sea, Exod. 15. 8. Prov. 23. 34. Ezek. 28. 2. and Christ in the heart of the Earth, Matth. 12. 40.

12 And the LORD spake unto you out of the midst of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but saw no similitude i, † only ye heard a voice. † Heb. saw a voice.

i (i. e.) No resemblance or representation of God, whereby either his essence or properties or actions were represented, such as were usual among the heathens.

13 And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even * ten commandments, Ex. 34. 28. and * he wrote them upon two tables of stone. Deut. 4. 13. Ex. 21. 1.

14 And * the LORD commanded me at that time, to teach you statutes and judgments k, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to possess it. Deut. 34. 6.

k (i. e.) The ceremonial and judicial Laws which are here distinguished from the moral, or the Ten Commandments, v. 13.

15 Take ye therefore good heed unto your selves l (for ye saw no manner of similitude on the day that the LORD spake unto you in Horeb m, out of the midst of the fire.)

l By which caution he insinuates many great proneness to the worship of Images. m God, who in other places and times did appear in a similitude, in the fashion of a man, now in this most solemn appearance, when he comes to give eternal Laws for the regulation and direction of the Israelites in the worship of God, and in their duty to men, he purposely avoids all such representations, to shew that he abhors all worship of images, or of himself by images of what kind soever, as it here follows, v. 16, 17, 18, 19. because he is the invisible God and cannot be represented by any visible image. See Isa. 40. 18. Act. 17. 29.

16 Left ye corrupt your selves n, and * make you a graven image o, the similitude of any figure, the likeness of male or female: 2 Ex. 24. 5 n (i. e.) Corrupt your minds with mean and carnal thoughts of God. Or, corrupt your ways or courses, by worshipping God in a corrupt manner, or by falling into Idolatry. o To wit, for worship, or for the representation of God, as it is explained v. 19. for otherwise it was not simply unlawful to draw the picture or make a figure of a man or a beast.

17 The likeness of any beast p that is on the earth, the likeness of any winged fowl that flieth in the air:

p Whereby the Heathen nations did represent and worship God some by an Ox, some by a Goat, or an Hen, or a Serpent, or a Fish, &c.

18 The likeness * of any thing that creepeth on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth: Rom. 1. 23.

19 And lest thou * lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and * when thou seest the sun, and the moon and the stars, even * all the host of heaven, shouldst be driven to worship them q, and serve them, which the LORD thy God hath † divided unto all nations r under the whole heaven. ch. 17. 3. Job 31. 27. Gen. 2. 1. [Or, imparted.]

q (i. e.) Strongly enclined, and in a manner constrained partly by the glory of these heavenly bodies, which may seem to be made for higher purposes than to enlighten this lump of earth; partly from that natural propension which is in men to Idolatry. Or, shouldst be driven or thrust, to wit, out of the way of the Lord, (as it is more fully expressed, Deut. 13. 5.) or, be seduced, or led aside, as silly sheep easily are, and worship them. Or, shouldst be cast down, or thrown down by self and worship them, i. e. Worship them by falling down before them. r Which are not Gods, but Creatures, made not for the worship, but for the use of men, yea, of the meanest and most barbarous people under Heaven, and therefore cannot without great absurdity be worshipped, especially by you who are so much advanced above other Nations in Wisdom and Knowledge, and in this, that you are my peculiar people.

20 But the LORD hath taken you, and * brought you forth out of the iron furnace s, even out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as ye are this day. 1 King. 8. 51. Jer. 11. 4.

s (i. e.) The furnace wherein Iron and other Metals are melted, to which Egypt is fitly compared, not only for the Torment and Misery which they there indured, but also because they were throughly tried and purged thereby, as Metals are by the fire. 2 His peculiar protection from generation to generation. See Rom. 15. 1. Deuter. 7. 6. Tit. 2. 14. And therefore for you to forsake God, and worship Idols, will be not only wickedness and madness, but most abominable ingratitude.

Num. 20. 12. 21 Furthermore, * the LORD was angry with me for your sakes, and swear that I should not go over Jordan, and that I should not go in unto that good land, which the LORD thy God giveth thee t for an inheritance.

t God hath granted you the favour which he denied to me: which greatly increaseth your obligation to God.

22 But I must die in this land, I must not go over Jordan: but ye shall go over, and possess that good land.

23 Take heed unto your selves, lest ye forget the covenant of the LORD your God, which he made with you, and make you a graven image, or the likeness of any thing, * which the LORD thy God hath forbidden thee u.

* Exod. 20. 4, 5.

u Or, commanded thee, to wit, not to do, which is easily understood by comparing this place with Exod. 20. 4, 5. and with Gen. 3. 11. where this phrase is fully expressed. See more on Lev. 4. 2. Deut. 3. 37.

*chap 9. 3. Isa. 33. 14. Heb. 12. 29. *Exod. 20. 5. Isa. 42. 8. 24 For the * LORD thy God is a consuming fire x, even a * jealous God y.

x A just and terrible God, who, notwithstanding his special relation to thee, will severely punish and destroy thee, if thou provokest him by Idolatry, or other ways. y Who being espoused to thee, will be highly incensed against thee, (if thou followest after other lovers, or committest whoredom with Idols,) and will bear no rival or partner.

25 When thou shalt beget children, and childrens children, and shall have remained long in the land, and shall corrupt your selves, and make a graven image, or the likeness of any thing, and shall do evil in the sight of the LORD z thy God, to provoke him to anger:

z Which words are here added, either 1. As a caution. Your Idolatry, though possibly secretly and cunningly managed, will not be hid from him; he sees it, and he will punish it. Or 2. To aggravate their spiritual Whoredom, as being committed in the sight and presence of their Lord and Husband, whose eye is more peculiarly upon them in all their ways, than it is upon other people. Or 3. By way of opposition unto mens judgment. Idolatry oftimes seems good, and reasonable, and religious in the eyes of men, but, saith he, it is evil in the eyes of the Lord, whose judgment is most considerable.

26 I call heaven and earth a to witness against you this day, that ye shall soon utterly perish from off the land whereunto ye go over Jordan to possess it; ye shall not prolong your days upon it; but shall utterly be destroyed.

a Either 1. Figuratively, i. e. God, and Angels, and Men. Or rather 2. Properly; it being usual in Scripture to call in the senseless Creatures as witnesses in such cases, as Deut. 32. 1. Isa. 1. 2. Jer. 2. 12.

*Levit. 26. 33. ch. 28. 64. Neh. 1. 8. 27 And the LORD * shall scatter you among the nations, and ye shall be left † few in number among the heathen, whither the LORD shall lead you.

*ch. 28. 36, 64. Jer. 16. 13. *Psal. 115 4, 5. and 135. 15. b (i. e.) Idols. You shall be compelled by men, and given up by me to Idolatry. So that very thing which was your choice, shall be your punishment: it being just and usual for God to punish one sin by giving them up to another, as is manifest from Rom. 1. 24, 25.

Isa. 45. 20. and 46. 7. *Lev. 26. 40. ch. 30. 1. Neh. 1. 9. 29 * But if from thence thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him c with all thy heart d, and with all thy soul.

c If thou desirest his help and favour. See Deut. 30. 1. Isa. 55. 6. d (i. e.) sincerely and fervently.

†Heb. have found thee. 30 When thou art in tribulation, and all these things † are come upon thee, even in the latter days e, if thou turn to the LORD thy God, and shalt be obedient unto his voice;

e Either in general, in succeeding Ages and Generations; or particularly, in the days of the Messias, which are commonly called in Scripture the latter, or last days: as Isa. 2. 2. Hos. 3. 5. Micah 4. 1. Dan. 2. 44. Heb. 1. 2. and 9. 26. And so this may reflect the conversion and redemption of the Jewish Nation even in those times when their case seems most desperate, when they have forsaken their God, and rejected their Messias for many ages, to wit, towards the end of the World.

31 (For the LORD thy God is a merciful God) he will not forsake thee, neither destroy thee, nor forget the covenant of thy fathers f, which he sware unto them.

f (i. e.) Made with thy fathers including their posterity, as Gen. 17. 7.

32 For ask now of the days that are past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the one side of heaven g unto the other, whether there hath been any such thing, as this great thing is or hath been heard like it:

g (i. e.) Of the Earth under Heaven. Ask all the Inhabitants of the world. Compare Matt. 24. 31. with Mark 13. 27.

33 Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live h?

h (i. e.) And was not overwhelmed and consumed by such a glorious appearance. See Exod. 24. 11. and 33. 20.

*ch. 7. 19. and 29. 3. 34 Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, * by temptations i, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched-out arm, and by great terrors k, according to all that the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

i By tribulations and persecutions, which are commonly called temptations, which are here fitly mentioned, as one great occasion first of their cries unto God, and then of Gods coming for their rescue. Or, temptations is the general title, which is explained by the following particulars, signs, and wonders, &c. which are called temptations, because they were trials both to the Egyptians and Israelites, whether thereby they would be induced to believe and obey God or no. k Raised in the minds of the Egyptians, as the History sheweth: compare Deut. 2. 25. and 34. 12. or, by terrible things done among them.

35 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know, that the LORD he is God, * there is none else besides him.

36 * Out of heaven t he made thee to hear his voice, that he might instruct thee: and upon earth u he shewed thee his great fire, and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire.

t (i. e.) Out of the air, above Mount Sinai. See Exod. 19. 9. and 20. 18, 22. u At the top of Mount Sinai.

37 And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight x with his mighty power out of Egypt;

x Keeping his eye fixed upon him, as the Father doth on his beloved child. Or, with his presence. i. e. He did not send them forth by Moses, but he himself was present with them, and as it were marched along with them, in the pillar of cloud and fire.

38 To drive out nations from before thee, greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

39 Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that * the LORD he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath, there is none else.

Josh. 2. 11.

40 Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments, which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee: and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for ever.

41 Then Moses severed three cities y on this side Jordan towards the sun-rising:

y As God had command him, Numb. 35. 6, 14.

42 That the slayer might flee thither, which should kill his neighbour unawares, and hated him not in times past; and that fleeing unto one of these cities, he might live:

Josh. 20. 43 Namely, * Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain country of the Reubenite; and Ramoth in Gilead of the Gadite, and Golan in Bashan of the Manassite.

44 And this z is the law of which Moses set before the children of Israel:

z Which hath been generally intimated already, but is more particularly and punctually expressed in the following chapter, to which these words are a preface.

45 These are the testimonies, and the statutes, and the judgments which Moses spake unto the children of Israel, after they came forth out of Egypt;

46 On this side Jordan, * in the valley over against Beth-Peor, in the land of Sihon King of the Amorite, who dwelt at Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel * smote, after they were come forth out of Egypt, *ch. 3. 29. Num. 25. 1 Josh. 13. 20. *Num. 21. 24. 47 And they possessed his land, and the land of * Og King of Bashan, two kings of the Amorite, which were on this side Jordan toward the sun-rising, *ch. 3. 11. 48 From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, even unto Mount Sion, which is * Hermon;

*ch. 3. 9.

49 And all the plain on this side Jordan, eastward, even unto the sea of the plain under the * springs of Pisgah.

*ch. 3. 17.

CHAP. V.

God upon Mount Horeb, makes a Covenant with Israel, 1——5. The Covenant or Ten Commandments is delivered to Moses in two Tables, 6—22. The Israelites desire, that not God, but Moses may speak to them, 23—27. which God approves of, 28, 29. Moses exhorts them to Obedience, with a promise of life, 32, 33.

1 AND Moses called all Israel a, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and Judgments, which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and † keep, and do them.

a To wit, by their Elders, who were to impart it to the rest.

2 * The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb.

*Ex. 19. 5.

3 The LORD * made not the covenant with our fathers b, but with us: even us, who are all of us here alive this day c.

*See Ex. 19. 17. Heb. 8. 9

b Either 1. Not only with them, the word only being here understood, as it is Gen. 32. 28. and 35. 10. 1 Sam. 8. 7. Jer. 7. 19. and 31. 34. Matt. 9. 13. Or, 2. Not at all with them. But then the word Covenant is not here to be taken for the Covenant of Grace in general, for so it was made with their fathers, Exod. 2. 24. but for this particular and mixed dispensation of the Covenant at Sinai, as appears both by the foregoing and following words. c He saith not, that all who made that Covenant at Sinai are now alive, for many of them were dead, but that this Covenant was made with all that are now alive, alive, which is most true, for it was made with the elder sort of them in their own persons, and with the rest in their Parents, who did covenant for them: for this phrase with us, is put exclusively as to their fathers, but not as to their posterity, as is evident from the nature of the Covenant, Act. 2. 39. and course of the story.

*Ex. 19. 9, 19. 4 * The LORD talked with you face to face d, in the mount out of the midst of the fire.

d Not in a visible shape, which was utterly denied, Deut. 4. 12, 15. but personally and immediately, not by the Mouth or Ministery of Moses; plainly and certainly, as when two men talk face to face; freely and familiarly, so as not to overwhelm and confound you. Compare Exod. 33. 11. Numb. 12. 8.

5 (I stood between the LORD and you e at that time, to shew you the word of the LORD f: for ye were afraid, by reason of the fire, and went not up into the mount) saying, e As a Mediator or Messenger between you, according to your desire, below v. 27. Compare Exod. 19. 16, &c. and 20. 19. Gal. 3. 19. f Not the ten Commandments, which God himself uttered, but the following statutes and judgments.

*Ex. 20. 2. &c. Lev. 26. 1. Psal. 81. 10. † Heb. servants. 6 * I am the LORD thy God b, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of † bondage.

b The ten Commandments delivered Exod. 20. are here repeated with some small difference of words, but the sence is perfectly the same, and therefore the explication of them must be fetched thence.

7 Thou shalt have none other gods before me.

8 Thou shalt not make thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth.

9 Thou shalt not bow down thy self unto them, nor serve them: for I the LORD thy God am a jealous God, * visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me;

*Ex. 34. 7. *Jer. 32. 18

10 * And shewing mercy unto thousands, of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

11 Thou shalt not take the Name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his Name in vain.

12 Keep i the sabbath-day to sanctifie it, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee k.

i To wit, in mind and memory, as it is Exod. 20. 8. k To wit, in Exod. 20. whither he directs them, and therefore he here omits the Argument of the Creation, which is urged there.

13 Six days thou shalt labour, and do all thy work.

*Gen. 2. 2. Heb. 4. 4. 14 But the seventh day is the * sabbath of the LORD thy God, in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thine ox, nor thine ass, nor any of thy cattel, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates; that thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant may rest as well as thou.

15 And remember that thou wast a servant l in the land of Egypt, and that the LORD thy God brought thee out thence through a mighty hand, and by a stretched-out arm: therefore the LORD thy God commanded thee to keep the sabbath-day.

l And therefore art highly obliged both to serve that God who redeemed thee, especially upon his own day, and not to grudge thy servants their rest upon that day.

*ch. 27. 16. Colos. 3. 20. 16 * Honour thy father and thy mother, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee, that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

*Mat. 5. 21. *Luk. 18. 20. 17 * Thou shalt not kill.

18 * Neither shalt thou commit adultery.

19 * Neither shalt thou steal.

*Rom. 13. 9. 20 Neither shalt thou bear false witness against thy neighbour.

*Rom. 7. 7. 21 * Neither shalt thou desire thy neighbours wife, neither shalt thou covet thy neighbours house m, his field, or his man-servant, or his maid-servant, his ox, or his ass, or any thing that is thy neighbours.

m In Exod. 20. the order is contrary, and thy neighbours house is put before his wife, whereby it is evident, that Moses intended this but for one Commandment, wherein the order of the words was an inconsiderable circumstance: for if this were two Commandments, as some would have it, it would be altogether uncertain which is the Ninth, and which the Tenth Commandment, seeing the one is first, Exod. 20. and the other here.

22 These words the LORD spake unto all your assembly in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, of the cloud, and of the thick darkness, with a great voice, and he added no more n, and * he wrote them in two tables of stone, and delivered them unto me.

n He ceased for that time to speak immediately, and with that loud voice unto the people, for the rest were delivered to Moses, and by him communicated to the people. This he did to shew the preeminency of that Law above the rest, and its everlasting Obligation.

*Ex. 20. 18 23 * And it came to pass, when ye heard the voice out of the midst of the darkness, (for the mountain did burn with fire) that ye came near unto me, even all the heads of your tribes, and your elders, 24 And ye said, Behold, the LORD our God hath shewed us his glory and his greatness, and * we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire: we have seen this day that God doth talk with man, and * he liveth.

*Ex. 19. 19 * ch. 4. 33.

25 Now therefore why should we die o? for this great fire will consume us, If we † hear the voice of the LORD our God any more, then we shall die,

o For though God hath for this season kept us alive to our admiration, yet we shall never be able to endure any further discourse from him in such a terrible manner, but shall certainly sink under the burden of it. Compare Gen. 16. 13. Judg. 6. 22.

26 For who is there of all flesh p, that hath heard the voice of the living God, speaking out of the midst of the fire (as we have) and lived!

p Flesh is here put for Man in his frail corruptible and mortal state, as Mat. 16. 17. 1 Cor. 15. 50. Eph. 6. 12. Heb. 2. 14.

27 Go thou near, and hear all that the LORD our God shall say, and * speak thou unto us all that the LORD our God shall speak unto thee, and we will hear it, and do it.

28 And the LORD heard the voice of your words, when ye spake unto me, and the LORD said unto me, I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have spoken unto thee: * they have well said all that they have spoken.

* Deut. 18. 17.

29 † * O that there were such an heart in them q that they would fear me, and keep all my commandments always, that it might be well with them, and with their children for ever!

†Heb. who will give their heart to be such in them.

q Heb. Who will give them such an heart? This is spoken of God after the manner of men, to shew that such an heart is desirable to him, and required by him: otherwise it is certain that God can give such an heart, and hath promised to give it, Jer. 32. 40. Ezek. 36. 27. And if God will work, who can hinder him? Job. 11. 10.

*ch. 32. 29 Psal. 81. 13 Isa. 48. 18. Mat. 23. 37.

30 Go, say to them, Get ye into your tents again.

31 But as for thee, stand thou here by me, and I will speak unto thee all the commandments, and the statutes, and the judgments which thou shalt teach them, that they may do them in the land which I give them to possess it.

*ch. 17. 20 and 28. 14. Josh. 1. 7.

r Neither by superstitious additions to Gods Commands, nor by a bold or prophane rejection or contempt of any one of them.

33 Ye shall walk in all the ways which the LORD your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that it may be well with you, and that ye may prolong your days, in the land which ye shall possess.

CHAP. VI.

The end of the Commandment, Obedience, 1—2. He exhorts them thereto, 3. The Unity of the Divine Essence asserted, 4. The Duty required of the Israelites, 5. To Love God, 5, 6. And teach their Children, 7. To use Signs, as Memorials of it, 8, 9. Not to forget God in prosperity, 10—12. Not to worship other Gods, 13—15. Not to tempt God, 16. But keep his Commandments, 17. And to transmit the Knowledge of Gods works to their posterity, 20——25.

NOW these are the commandments, the statutes, and the judgments which the LORD your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye † go to possess it:

2 That thou mightest fear the LORD a thy God, to keep all his statutes; and his commandments which I command thee, thou and thy son, and thy sons son, all the days of thy life; and that thy days may be prolonged.

a Which he hereby implies to be the first principle of true Obedience.

3 Hear therefore, O Israel, and observe to do it, that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increase mightily, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promised thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

* Mark. 12. 29. † Heb. the LORD our God, the LORD is one. So Gr.

b One in Essence, and the only object of our Worship.

5 And * thou shalt love the LORD c thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

*ch. 10. 12 Mat. 22. 37. Mark 12. 30. Luk. 10. 27.

c Now he shews another spring or principle of sincere Obedience to God, even hearty love to God, which will make his work and service easie, and that the fear he mentioned before, v. 2. was such as would consist with love to God, and not that slavish fear and horrour which produceth hatred.

*ch. 11. 18. Psal. 37. 31. & 40. 8. & 119. 98. Isa. 51. 7.

6 And * these words which I command thee this day shall be in thine heart d.

d i. e. In thy mind to remember them, and meditate upon them, and in thy Affection to love and pursue them.

7 And thou shalt * † teach them diligently e unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

16 Ye shall not tempt the LORD k your God * as ye tempted him in Massah.

k i. e. Not provoke him, as the following instance explains. Sinners, especially presumptuous sinners, are oft said to tempt God, i. e. to make a trial of God, whether he be what he pretends to be, so wise as to see their sins, so just and true and powerful as to take vengeance on them for their sins, concerning which they are very apt to doubt because of the present impunity and prosperity of many such persons. See Numb. 14. 22. Psal. 78. 18. Mat. 4. 7. Acts 5. 9.

17 Ye shall diligently keep the commandments of the LORD your God, and his testimonies, and his statutes which he hath commanded thee.

18 And thou shalt do that which is right and good in the sight of the LORD l that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest go in, and possess the good land which the LORD sware unto thy fathers:

l Not that which is right in thine own eyes, as many superstitious and sinful practices seem right and good to evil minded men. Let Gods will and word, and not thine own fancy or invention, be thy rule in Gods service. Good actions are oft said to be right in Gods sight, as Jer. 34. 15. Act. 4. 19. and evil actions are oft said to be right in our own eyes, as Deut. 12. 8. Judg. 17. 6.

and † sore upon Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon his houshould before our eyes:

23 And he brought us out from thence, that he might bring us in, to give us the land which he sware unto our fathers.

24 And the LORD commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear the LORD our God for our good m always, that he might preserve us alive as it is this day.

m The benefit of Obedience is ours, not Gods, Job 35. 7. and therefore our Obedience is highly reasonable, & absolutely necessary.

‡ Heb. and righteousness shall be to it. Gr. mercy shall be to us.

25 † And it * shall be our righteousness n, if we observe to do all these commandments, before the LORD our God, as he hath commanded us.

n Heb. Righteousness shall be to us. We shall be owned and pronounced by God to be truly righteous and holy persons, if we sincerely obey him, otherwise we shall be declared to be unrighteous and ungodly persons, and all our profession of Religion will appear to be in Hypocrisie. Or, mercy shall be to us, or with us. For as the Hebrew word rendred righteousness is very oft put for mercy, as Psal. 24. 5. and 36. 10. and 51. 14. Prov. 10. 2. and 11. 4. Dan. 9. 16, &c. so this sence seems best to agree both with the Scripture use of this phrase, in which righteousness, seldom or never, to my remembrance, but grace or mercy frequently, is said to be to us or with us, as 2 Sam. 15. 20. Psal. 89. 24. Prov. 14. 22. Gal. 6. 16. 2 Joh. 3. and with the foregoing verse and argument, God, faith he, v. 24. commanded these things for our good, that he might preserve us alive, as it is this day. And, saith he in this verse, this is not all, for as he hath done us good, so he will go on to do us more and more good, and Gods mercy shall be to us, or with us, in the remainder of our lives, and for ever, if we observe, &c.

CHAP. VII.

Israel is Commanded to cast out the Hittites, the Perizzites, &c. 1. All Communion with them forbidden, 2—3. For fear of Idolatry, 4. They must ruin the places of Idolatry, 5. The Israelites holiness and relation to God, 6. His faithfulness to the Obedient, 9. And vengeance on them that hate him, 10. The Advantages of Obedience, 12—16. God encourages them, and promises to drive out the Nations before 'em, 17—24. They are commanded to destroy their Images, 25. And keep themselves clean from their cursed things, 26.

WHen the * LORD thy God shall bring thee into the land whither thou goest to possess it, and hath cast out many nations before thee, the Hittite, and the Girgashite, and the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite, seven Nations a greater and mightier than thou:

a There were ten in Gen. 15. 19. But this being some hundreds of years after that, it is not strange if three of them were either destroyed by Foreign or Domestick wars, or by cohabitation and marriage united with, and swallowed up in some of the rest.

2 And when the LORD thy God shall deliver them before thee, thou shalt smite them, and * utterly destroy them; * thou shalt † make no covenant with them, nor shew mercy unto them.

c i. e. There is manifest danger of Apostacy and Idolatry from such matches. Which reason doth both limit the Law to such of these as were unconverted, otherwise Solmon married Rahab, Mat. 1. 5. and enlarge it to other Idolatrous Nations, as appears from 1 Kings 11. 2. Ezra 9. 2. Neh. 13. 23.

7 The LORD did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were moe in number than any people; (for ye were the fewest of all people e.)

e To wit, at that time when God first declared his love to you, and choice of you for his peculiar people, which was done to Abraham. For Abraham had but one Son concerned in this choice and covenant, to wit, Isaac, and that was in his hundredth year; and Isaac was 60 years old ere he had a Child, and then they had only two Children; and though Jacob had 12 Sons, yet it was a long time ere they made any considerable increase. Nor do we read of any great multiplication of them till after Joseph's death, Exod. 1. 6, 7.

8 But because the LORD loved you f, and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, hath the LORD brought you out with a mighty hand, and redeemed you out of the house of bondmen, from the hand of Pharaoh King of Egypt.

f i. e. Because it pleased him to love you, it was his free choice, without any cause or motive on your part. Compare Deut. 10. 15. 1 Sam. 12. 22. Psalm 43. 4.

9 Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God g, * which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him, and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations:

h Not only those who hate him directly and properly, (for so did few or none of the Israelites to whom he here speaks,) but those who hate him by construction and consequence; those who hate and oppose his People, and Word, and Image, those who presumptuously and wilfully persist in the breach of Gods Commandments, as appears from v. 9. where the love of God, to which this hatred is opposite, is described and expressed by the keeping of his commandments. i. e. Openly, and so as they shall see it, and not be able to avoid it.

k To wit, so as some men count slackness, 2 Pet. 3. 9. so as to delay it beyond the fit time or season for vengeance, yet withal he is long-suffering, and slow to anger, as that and other places inform us.

CHAP. VIII.

Israel is exhorted to Obedience, 1. and to remember God's Judgments and Mercies, 2—6. The excellency of the Land they were going into, 7—9. Not to forget the Lord in their fulness and Prosperity, 10—16. nor ascribe their wealth to their own power, 17. but to God, 18. God threatens to destroy Idolaters, 19, 20.

ALl the commandments which I command thee this day, shall ye observe to do, that ye may live a, and multiply, and go in, and possess the land which the LORD sware unto your fathers.

a i. e. Live comfortably and happily, as life is often taken, as Gen. 17. 18. Prov. 3. 2. as on the contrary, troubles or afflictions are called Death, Exod. 10. 17. 2 Cor. 11. 23.

2 And thou shalt remember all the way b which the LORD thy God led thee these fourty years in the wilderness, to humble thee, and to * prove thee, to know c what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments or no.

ch. 13. 3.

b i. e. All the events which befel thee in the way, the miraculous protections, deliverances, provisions, instructions which God gave thee, and withal the frequent and severe punishments of thy disobedience. c i. e. That thou mightest discover to thy self and others that infidelity, inconstancy, hypocrisie, apostacy, rebellion and perverseness, which lay hid in thy heart; the discovery whereof was of singular use both to them, and to the Church of God in all succeeding ages.

3 And he humbled thee, and * suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with * Manna (which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know) that he might make thee know, that man doth * not live by bread only, but by * every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD d doth man live.

Ex. 16. 3. Neh. 9. 21. Deut. 32. 10. Ex. 16. 12, 14. Mat. 4. 4. Luk. 4. 4.

d i. e. By every or any thing which God appoints for this end, how unlikely soever it may seem to be for nourishment, as appears in the Manna; seeing it is not the Creature, but only Gods command and blessing upon it, that makes it sufficient for the support of life.

4 * Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee e, neither did thy foot swell f these fourty years.

ch. 29. 5. Neh. 9. 21.

e Did not wear away through age, which they must needs have done without a miracle. f Notwithstanding thy long and hard travels, which also was miraculous.

5 * Thou shalt also consider in thine heart, that as a man chasteneth his son g, so the LORD thy God chasteneth thee.

2 Sam. 7. 14. Psal. 89. 32. Rev. 3. 19.

g (i. e.) Unwillingly, being constrained by thy necessity; moderately, in judgment remembring mercy; and for thy reformation, not for thy destruction. Compare Prov. 3. 11, 12. Heb. 12. 5, &c.

6 Therefore thou shalt keep the commandments of the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways, and to fear him.

7 For the LORD thy God bringeth thee into a good land, * a land of brooks of water, of fountains, and depths h that spring out of valleys, and hills.

ch. 11. 10, 11

h (i. e.) Deep Wells or Springs, or Lakes, which were divers and large.

8 A land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig-trees, and pomegranats, a land of † oil olive i, and honey.

i Heb. Of the Olive-tree of oyl, i. e. Not of wild and barren, but olive-tree of fruitful Olive-trees, which yield plenty of Oyl.

9 A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack any thing in it: a land * whose stones are iron k, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass l.

ch. 33. 25

k Where are mines of iron in a manner as plentiful as stones, and upon which Travellers must tread, as in other parts they do upon stones. l To wit, in great plenty. These are mentioned, because they had none such in Egypt whence they came.

10 * When thou hast eaten, and art full, then thou shalt bless the LORD thy God m, for the good land which he hath given thee.

ch. 6. 11, 12.

m (i. e.) Solemnly praise him for thy food; which is a debt both of gratitude and justice, because it is from his providence and favour that thou receivest both thy food and refreshment and strength by it. The more unworthy and absurd is that too common profaneness of them, who, professing to believe a God and his Providence, from whom all their comforts come, grudge to own him at their meals, either by desiring his blessing before them, or by offering the praise to God after them.

11 Beware that thou forget not the LORD thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgments, and his statutes, which I command thee this day:

ch. 28. 47.

12 * Lest, when thou hast eaten, and art full, and hast built goodly houses, and dwelt therein:

and 32. 15.

13 And when thy herds, and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied:

Prov. 30. 9

14 Then thine heart be lifted up n, and thou forget the LORD thy God, (which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage;

6. Hos. 13. 6.

n As if thou didst receive and enjoy these things either by thy own wisdom, and valour, and industry, ver. 17. or for thy own merit, Deut. 9. 4. See Isa. 13. 6. 1 Cor. 4. 7.

15 Who led thee through that great and terrible wilderness, * wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water, * who brought thee forth water out of the rock of flint;

Num. 21. 6. Hos. 13. 5. Num. 20. 11. Ex. 16. 15.

16 Who fed thee in the wilderness with * manna, which thy fathers knew not, that he might humble thee, and that he might prove thee to do thee good at thy latter end p.

Num. 11. 7.

a By keeping thee in a constant dependance upon him for every days food, and convincing thee what an impotent, helpless, and beggerly Creature thou art in thy self, having nothing wherein to subsist, but from hand to mouth, and being supported wholly by the alms of divine goodness given to thee from day to day. The mercies of God, if duly considered, are as powerful an argument or mean to humble us as the greatest afflictions, because they increase our debts to God, and manifest our dependance upon him, and insufficiency without him, and by making God great, they make us little in our own eyes. Though this clause, as well as that which follows, may have respect to their afflictions, mentioned, v. 15.

p (i. e.) That after he hath purged and prepared thee by afflictions, he may give thee, and thou mayest receive and enjoy his blessings with less disadvantage, whilst by the remembrance of former afflictions thou art made thankful for them, and more cautious not to abuse and forfeit them again.

17 And thou say in thine heart, My power, and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth.

18 But thou shalt remember the LORD thy God; for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth q, that he may establish his covenant which he sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day.

q So this word is used, Numb. 24. 18. Job 20. 18. Prov. 31. 29.

19 And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the LORD thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testifie against you this day that ye shall surely perish.

20 As the nations which the LORD destroyeth before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the LORD your God.

CHAP. IX.

Israel's march over Jordan to possess Canaan, 1—3. But must not ascribe it to their own Righteousness, 4—6. A rehearsal of their manifold provocations at Horeb, 8. at Taberah, 22. and at Kadesh-Barnea, 23, 24.

1 HEar, O Israel, thou art to pass over Jordan this day a, to go in to possess nations b greater and *ch. 1. 28. mightier than thy self c, cities great and * fenced up to heaven d.

a (i. e.) Shortly, within a little time, the word day being oft put for time, as Job. 8. 9. 1 Cor. 4. 5. Revel. 16. 14. within two months; for Moses spake this on the first day of the eleventh month, Deut. 1. 3. and they passed over Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, Jos. 4. 19. b (i. e.) The land of those nations; for that only they were to possess, but as for the Nations or people they were not to possess, but to destroy them. Thus they are said to inherit God, Jer. 49. 1. i. e. the Country and Cities of God, as it is there explained. c This he adds, partly that they might not be surprised when they find them to be such: partly that they might not trust to their own strength, but wholly rely upon God's help for the destroying of them, and, after the work was done, might ascribe the praise and glory of it to God alone, and not to themselves. d As the Spies reported, Deut. 1. 28. See on Gen. 11. 4.

*Numb. 13. 28, 29. 2 A people great and tall, the children of * the Anakims, whom thou knowest, and of whom thou hast heard say e, Who can stand before the children of Anak?

e Either from the spies, or rather from common fame, for this seems to be a proverb used in those times.

3 Understand therefore this day, that the LORD thy *ch. 4. 24. Heb. 12. 29. God is he which goeth over before thee as a * consuming fire: he shall destroy them and he shall bring them down before thy face; so shalt thou drive them out, and destroy them quickly f as the LORD hath said unto thee.

f Without great difficulty or long wars.

4 Speak not thou in thine heart, after that the LORD
*Rom. 11. 6, 20 thy God hath cast them out from before thee, saying, * For my righteousness the LORD hath brought me in to 1 Cor. 4. 4, 7. possess this land: but * for the wickedness of these nations
*Gen 15. 16 the LORD doth drive them out from before thee.

f Not for thy righteousness, or for the uprightness of thine heart g, dost thou go to possess their land; but for the wickedness of these nations the LORD thy God doth
*Gen. 12. 7 & 13. 15 & 15. 7. & 17. 8. & 26. 4. & 28. 13. drive them out from before thee, and that he may perform * the word which the LORD sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob h.

g Neither for thy upright heart, nor holy life, which are the two things which God above all things regards, 1 Chron. 29. 17. Psal. 15. 1, 2. And consequently he excludes all merit. And surely they who did not deserve this earthly Canaan, could not merit the kingdom of Glory. h To shew my faithfulness in accomplishing that promise which I graciously made and confirmed with my oath. By which words it is implied, that this land was not given to them for the righteousness of their fathers, though they were righteous and holy persons, and much less for their own righteousness, which they had not, as it follows.

6 Understand therefore, that the LORD thy God
*Ex. 32. 9. & 34. 9. giveth thee not this good land to possess it for thy righteousness, for thou art a * stiff-necked people i.

i Rebellious and perverse, and so destitute of all pretence of righteousness; such were the people, but there were divers particular persons amongst them truly righteous and holy, and yet even their righteousness is denied to be the procuring cause of this land.

7 Remember, and forget not how thou provokedst *Ex. 17. 2. the LORD thy God to wrath in the wilderness: * from the *Num. 14. 16. day thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious against the LORD.

*Num. 4. & 20. 13. 8 Also * in Horeb k, ye provoked the LORD to *Ex. 32. 4. wrath, so that the LORD was angry with you, to have *Ps. 106. 19. destroyed you.

k When your miraculous deliverance out of Egypt was fresh in memory; when God had but newly manifested himself to you in so stupendious and dreadful a manner, and had taken you into covenant with himself, when God was actually conferring further mercies upon you.

9 * When I was gone up into the mountain to receive
*Ex. 24. 18. the tables of stone, even the tables of the covenant which *Ex. 34. 28. the LORD made with you, then * I abode in the mount forty days and forty nights; I neither did eat bread, nor drink water l.

l (i. e.) I wholly abstained from all meat and drink. Compare 1 King. 13. 8, 9, 13. 2 King. 6. 22.

10 * And the LORD delivered unto me two tables
*Ex. 31. 18. of stone, written with the finger of God m, and on them was written according to all the words which the LORD spake with you in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, * in the day of the assembly n.

*Exod. m Immediately and miraculously, which was done not only to & 20. 1 procure the greater reverence to the Law, but also to signifie, that it was the work of God alone to write this Law upon the Tables of mens hearts. See Jer. 31. 33. 2 Cor. 3. 3, 7. n (i. e.) When the people were gathered by Gods command to the bottom of Mount Sinai, to hear and receive Gods Ten Commandments from his own mouth.

11 And it came to pass at the end of fourty days, and fourty nights, that the LORD gave me the two tables of stone, even the tables of the covenant.

12 And the LORD said unto me, * Arise, get thee
*Ex. 32. 7. down quickly from hence; for thy people which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt, have corrupted themselves: they are quickly turned aside out of the way which I commanded them; they have made them a molten image.

13 Furthermore, the LORD spake unto me, saying, I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people.

14 Let me alone o, that I may destroy them, and blot out their name from under heaven: and I will make of thee a nation greater and mightier than they.

o Stop not the course of my fury by thy intercession.

15 So I turned and came down from the mount, and the mount burned with fire: and the two tables of the covenant were in my two hands.

16 And * I looked, and behold, ye had sinned a-
*Ex. 32. gainst the LORD your God, and had made you a molten calf: ye had turned aside quickly out of the way which the LORD had commanded you.

17 And I took the two tables, and cast them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes p.

p Not by an unbridled passion, but in zeal for Gods honour, and by the direction of Gods spirit, to signifie to the people, that the covenant between God and them contained in those tables was broken and made void, and they were now quite cast out of Gods favour, and could expect nothing from him but fiery indignation and severe justice. See on Exod. 32. 19.

18 And * I fell down q before the LORD, as at the *Ps. 106. 23. first, forty days, and forty nights; I did neither eat bread, nor drink water, because of all your sins, which ye sinned, in doing wickedly in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

q In way of humiliation and supplication, on your behalf.

19 (For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure wherewith the LORD was wroth against you, to destroy you) But the LORD hearkned unto me at that time also.

20 And the LORD was very angry with Aaron r, to have destroyed him: And I prayed for Aaron also the same time.

r Though he was only accessary, as being perswaded, and in a manner compelled to comply with your desire.

21 And * I took your sin s, the calf which ye had
*Ex. 32. made, and burnt it with fire, and stamped it, and ground it very small, even until it was as small as dust: and I cast the dust thereof into the brook t that descended out of the mount.

s (i. e.) The object and matter of your sin, as sin is taken Isa. 31. 7.

t That there might be no monument or remembrance of it left.

22 And at * Taberah, and at * Massa, and at * Ki-
*Num. 11. 1, 2. broth-hattaavah, ye provoked the LORD to wrath.
*Ps. 78. 21. *Num. 11. 34.

23 Likewise * when the LORD sent you from Kadesh-
*Num. barnea, saying, Go up, and possess the land which I 13. 3. have given you, then ye rebelled against the command- *Num. ment of the LORD your God, and ye believed him not, 14. 11. nor hearkned to his voice.

24 Ye

24 Ye have been rebellious against the LORD, from the day that I knew you.

25 Thus I fell down before the LORD forty days and *ver. 18. forty nights u, as I fell down * at the first, because the LORD had said, he would destroy you.

u The same mentioned before, v. 18. as appears, 1. By comparing this with Exodus, where this History is more fully related, and where this is said to be done twice only. 2. By the occasion and matter of Moses his prayer here following, which is the same with the former. 3. By the words here following, as I fell down at first, which shew that this was the second time of his so doing.

26 I prayed therefore unto the LORD and said, O LORD God, destroy not thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed through thy greatness x, which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

x (i. e.) Through the greatness of thy power, which appeared most eminently in that work, as is noted, v. 29.

27 Remember thy Servants y, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: look not unto the stubbornness of this people, nor to their wickedness, nor to their sin.

y (i. e.) The promise made and sworn to thy Servants, which was mentioned above, v. 5.

28 Lest the land whence thou broughtest us out, say,
*Num. 14. 16. * Because the LORD was not able to bring them into the land which he promised them, and because he hated them, he hath brought them out to slay them in the wilderness.

29 Yet they are thy people z, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out by thy mighty power, and by thy stretched-out arm.

z Whom thou hast chosen to thy self out of all mankind, and publickly owned them for thine, and hast purchased and redeemed them from the Egyptians.

CHAP. X.

Moses repeats God's mercies in restoring the two Tables, 1—5. Aaron's death. Eleazar his Son officiates in his stead, 6, 7. The Tribe of Levi is separated for the Priesthood, 8, 9. God hearkning to Moses not to destroy them, 10. He is commanded to lead towards Canaan, 11. God requires their Obedience, 12—15. To circumcise their Hearts, 16, 17. To help the Fatherless and Widow, 18. To love Strangers, 19. To fear and serve the Lord for his Mercies towards them, 20—22.

1 AT that time a the LORD said unto me, * Hew
*Exod. 34. 1. thee two tables of stone like unto the first, and come up unto me into the mount, and make thee an ark of wood b.

a When God was newly appeased by my intercession. b Either a temporary Ark for this use, till the other was finished: or the famous Ark, as may seem by comparing this with v. 5. It is not evident in what order these things were done, nor is it strange if Moses in this short and general relation neglect the order of time, as being nothing to his present purpose.

2 And I will write on the tables, the words that were in the first tables which thou brakest, and thou shalt put them in the ark.

*Exod. 25. 10. 3 And I made an ark of * Shittim wood, and hewed two tables of stone like unto the first, and went up into the mount, having the two tables in mine hand.

*Exod. 34. 28. 4 And * he wrote on the tables according to the first † Heb. words. writing, the † ten commandments, which the LORD spake unto you in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the assembly; and the LORD gave them unto me.

5 And I turned my self: and came down from the mount, and put the tables in the ark which I had made, and there they be, as the LORD commanded me.

*Num. 33. 30. *Num. 20. 28. 6 And the children of Israel took their journey c from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan to * Mosera d; * there Aaron died e, and there he was buried, and Eleazar his son ministred in the priests office in his stead.

c This following History comes in manifestly by way of Parenthesis, as may appear from ver. 10. where he returns to his former discourse; and it seems to be here inserted, either, 1. Because the Priests and Levites here mentioned were the Guardians and Keepers of the Ark and Tables here mentioned. Or rather, 2. As an evidence of God's gracious answer to Moses his prayers, and of his reconciliation to the people, notwithstanding their late and great provocation. For, saith he, after this they proceeded by God's guidance in their Journeys, some eminent stages whereof he names for all: and though Aaron died in one of them, yet God made up that Breach, and Eleazar came in his place, and ministred as Priest, one branch of which office was to intercede for the people. Then, saith he, God brought them from the barren parts of the wilderness to a land of rivers of waters, v. 7. a pleasant and fruitful Soil. Then he adds, God separated the Levites, &c. v. 8. d Obj. This place seems directly contrary to that, Numb. 33. 31. where their journey is quite contrary to this, even from Moseroth to Bene-jaakan. This indeed is a great difficulty, and prophane wits take occasion to cavil. And if a satisfactory answer be not yet given to it by Interpreters, it ought not therefore to be concluded unanswerable, because many things formerly thought unanswerable, have been since fully cleared, and therefore the like may be presumed concerning other doubts yet remaining. And it were much more reasonable to acknowledge here a transposition of the words through the Scribe's mistake, than upon such a pretence to reject the divine Authority of those sacred Books, which hath been confirmed by such irresistable Arguments. But there is no need of these general pleas, seeing particular answers are and may be given to this difficulty sufficient to satisfie modest and impartial enquirers. Answ. 1. The places here mentioned are differing from those, Numb. 33. it being very frequent in Scripture for divers persons and places to be called by the same names, and yet the names are not wholly the same; for there it is Bene-jaakan, and here Beeroth bene-jaakan, or Beerath of the children of Jaakan; there Moseroth, here Mosera; there Hor-hagidgad, here Gudgodah; there Jotbathah, here Jotbath. If the places were the same, it may justly seem strange why Moses should so industriously make a change in every one of the names. And therefore these may be other Stations, which being omitted in Numb. 33. are supplied here, it being usual in sacred Scripture to supply the defects of one place out of another. Answ. 2. Admitting these two places to be the same with those, Numb. 33. 31. yet the journeys are divers. They went from Beerath of the children of Jaacan to Mosera, which is omitted in Numbers, and therefore here supplyed; and then back again from Mosera or Moseroth to Bene-jaakan, as is there said: for which return there might then be some sufficient reason, though now unknown to us, as the reasons of many such like things are: or God might order it so for his own pleasure, and it is not impossible he might do it for this reason, that by this seeming contradiction, as well as some others, he might in just judgment do what he threatned to the Jews, Jer. 6. 21. even lay stumbling blocks before prophane and proud wits, and give them that occasion of deceiving and ruining themselves, which they so greedily seek and gladly embrace; which is the reason given by some of the antients why God hath left so many difficulties in Scripture. Answ. 3. The words may be otherwise rendred, from Beerath of the children of Jaakan, and from Moserah: where the order of the places is not observed, as was noted before of the order of time, v. 1. because it was nothing to the purpose here, and because that might be easily fetched from Numb. 33. where those journeys are more particularly and exactly described. For the conjunction and, that may be here wanting, and to be supplied, as it is, Exod. 6. 23. 1 Sam. 4. 7. Psal. 133. 3. Isa. 63. 11. Hab. 3. 11. And the preposition from is easily supplied from the foregoing words, as is most usual. Nor seems there to be any more reason to render it to Moserah, than from Moserah, seeing the Hebrew letter He in the end is made a part of the proper name, and therefore is not local. e Qu. How is this true? when Aaron dyed not in Moserah, but in Mount Hor, Numb. 33. 37. Answ. 1. Moserah may be a different place from Moseroth, and that may be the name of a Town or Region in which Mount Hor was, or to which it belonged. Or, the same mountain, in respect of divers parts and opposite sides of it, might be called by divers names, here Moserah, and there Hor. And it is possible they might go several journeys, and pass to divers stations, and by fetching a compass (which they oft did in their wilderness travels) come to the other side of the same Mountain. Answ. 2. The Hebrew particle, scham, may here note the time, and not the place of Aaron's death, and may be rendred then, as it is taken, Gen. 49. 24. Psal. 14. 5. Eccles. 3. 17. Zepham. 1. 14. And then is not to be taken precisely, but with some latitude, as it is oft used in Scripture; that is, about that time, after a few removes more; as the words, at that time, v. 8. must necessarily be understood.

7 * From thence e they journeyed unto Gudgodah

e Either, 1. From that place, and that either from Mosera, last mentioned: or from Bene-jaakan: for relatives many times in Scripture belong to the remoter antecedent. Or, 2. From that time: for this particle sometimes notes not place, but time, as 2 King. 2. 21. Isa. 65. 20. So the meaning is, At, or about that time, as it is v. 8. which being considered, may serve to clear the great difficulty discoursed upon the last verse concerning the seeming contradiction of this place, and Numb. 33. 31, 32.

8 At that time f * the LORD separated the tribe of *Num. 3. Levi to bear the ark of the covenant of the LORD, to & 6. 4. 4. stand before the LORD g to minister unto him, and to & 8. 14. bless in his name h unto this day.

f About that time, i. e. when I was come down from the Mount; as was said v. 5. For these words manifestly look to that verse, the 6 & 7 verses being put in by way of Parenthesis, as was said before. Or, if it relate to the words immediately foregoing, this may be meant of a second separation of them upon Aaron's Death, and having mentioned the separation of Eleazar to the Office of the high Priest in his Father's stead, v. 6. he now repeats it, that the Levites who were his, as they had been his Father's Servants, were seperated as before, or were confirmed in their Office. g A phrase used concerning the Prophets, 1 Kin. 17. 1. & 18. 15. this being the posture of Ministers. Hence the Angels are said to stand, 2 Chron. 18. 18. Luk. 1. 19. h Either, 1. Particularly, to pronounce the solemn blessing of God upon the Congregation, which was done in God's name, of which see Levit. 9. 23. Numb. 6. 23. &c. But that work was peculiar to the Priests, not common to all the Levites. Or, more generally, to bless, Either 1. God, i. e. to praise him, which being a considerable part of the Levites work, 1 Chron. 16. it is not probable it would be omitted here, where their Office is so particularly described. Or, 2. The people, whom they did bless by performance of those holy ministrations for the people, and giving those instructions to them, to which God's blessing was promised and usually given; and this they did in Gods name, i. e. by command, and commission from him.

9 * Wherefore Levi hath no part nor inheritance with *Num. 18. his brethren: the LORD is his inheritance i, according 20. as the LORD thy God promised him.

i (i. e.) The Lord's portion, to wit, tithes and offerings, which belong to God, are given by him to the Levites for their subsistence from generation to generation, as inheritances tus. *Exod. 34.

10 And * I stayed in the mount, according to the
‖ Or, former days. first time, forty days, and forty nights: and the LORD * hearkened unto me at that time also, and the LORD would not destroy thee.
*Exod. 32. 32, 33. &

11 * And the LORD said unto me, Arise, † take thy journey before the people, that they may go in k, and possess the land, which I sware unto their fathers to give unto them.

k This shews, that God was appeased and reconciled to the people, whom therefore he led forwards towards Canaan.

12 And now, Israel, * what doth the LORD thy God require of thee l, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and * to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, l By way of duty and gratitude to God for such amazing mercies.

13 To keep the commandments of the LORD, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?

14 Behold * the heaven m, and the heaven of heavens n is the LORD thy God's, * the earth also, with all that therein is o.

m The airy and starry heaven. n The highest or third heaven, 1 King. 8. 27. 2 Cor. 12. 2. called the heaven of heavens for its eminency, as the song of songs, king of kings, holy of holies, &c. o With all creatures and all men, which being all his, he might have chosen what Nation he pleased to be his people.

15 Only the LORD had a delight in thy fathers to love them p, and he chose their seed after them, even you, above all people, as it is this day.

p He shews that God had no particular reason nor obligation to their fathers any more than to other persons or people, all being equally his creatures, and that his choice of them out of and above all others, proceeded only from God's good pleasure and free love.

16 Circumcise therefore * the foreskin of your hearts q, and be no more stiff-necked.

q Rest not in your bodily circumcision, but seriously set upon that substantial work which is signified and designed thereby: cleanse your hearts from all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, which fitly compared to the foreskin, which if not cut off, made persons profane, unclean and odious in the sight of God. Compare Deut. 30. 6. Jer. 4. 4. and 9. 25. Rom. 2. 28, 29. Col. 2. 11.

17 For the LORD your God is God of gods, and * Lord of lords, a great God, a mighty, and a terrible, which * regardeth not persons r, nor taketh reward.

r Whether Jews or Gentiles, but deals justly and equally with all sorts of men; and as whosoever fears and obeys him shall be accepted of him, so all incorrigible transgressors shall be severely punished, and you no less than other people: therefore do not flatter your selves as if God would bear with your sins because of his particular kindness to you or to your fathers.

18 He * doth execute the judgment s of the fatherless, and widow, and loveth the stranger, in giving him food and raiment.

s (i. e.) Plead their cause, and give them right against their more potent adversaries, and therefore he expects you should do so too.

19 * Love ye therefore the stranger: for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

20 * Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God: him shalt thou serve, and to him shalt thou * cleave t, and swear by his Name.

t With firm confidence, true affection, and constant attendance and obedience.

21 * He is thy praise u, and he is thy God that hath done for thee these great and terrible things which thine eyes have seen.

u Either 1. the object and matter of thy praise, as Exod. 15. 2. whom thou shouldest ever praise. Or rather, 2. the ground of thy praise, i. e. of thy praise-worthiness; he who makes thee honourable and glorious above those people whose God he is not.

22 Thy fathers went down into Egypt * with threescore and ten persons: and now the LORD thy God hath made thee * as the stars of heaven for multitude.

CHAP. XI.

Moses exhorts them to Obedience by rehearsing God's Works, 1——9. and by the Excellency of the Land they were to possess, 10——12. A Promise of Blessings to their Obedience, 13——15. They are warned against Idolatry, 16, 17. To teach it their Children, 19. And keep Memorials of it, 20. for their own Benefit, 21. God promises again, upon their Obedience, to drive out the Nations, 22, 25. A Blessing and a Curse is set before them, 26,—28. They are bid to bless on Mount Gerizim, but curse on Mount Ebal, 29.

1 THerefore thou shalt love the LORD thy God, and keep his charge, and his statutes, and his judgments, and his commandments alway.

2 And know a ye this day: for I speak not with your children, which have not known, and which have not seen the chastisement of the LORD your God, his greatness, his mighty hand, and his stretched-out arm:

a (i. e.) Acknowledge and consider it with diligence and thankfulness.

3 And his miracles, and his acts, which he did in the midst of Egypt, unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and unto all his land.

4 And what he did unto the army of Egypt, unto their horses, and to their chariots, * how he made the water of the Red-sea to overflow them, as they pursued after you, and how the LORD hath destroyed them unto this day b:

b The effect of which destruction continueth to this day, in their weakness and fear, and our safety from all their further attempts against us.

5 And what he did unto you in the wilderness, until ye came unto this place:

6 And * what he did unto Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, the son of Reuben: how the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their households, and their tents, and all the ‖ substance that † was in their possession c, in the midst of all Israel:

c Heb. At their feet, i. e. under their power, Psal. 8. 6. which seems followed them or belonged to them.

7 But your eyes have seen all the great acts of the LORD d, which he did.

d All of them had seen some, and some of them had seen all the great things done in Egypt and at the Red-sea, and in the Wilderness, fort.

8 Therefore shall ye keep all the commandments which I command you this day, that ye may be strong, and go in, and possess the land whither ye go to possess it:

9 And that ye may prolong your days in the land which the LORD sware unto your fathers to give unto them, and to their seed, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 For the land whither thou goest in to possess it, is not as the land of Egypt, from whence ye came out, where thou sowedst thy seed, and wateredst it with thy foot e as a garden of herbs:

e (i. e.) With great pains and labour of thy feet, partly by going up and down to fetch water and dispense it, and partly by digging furrows with thy foot, and using engines for distributing the water, which engines they thrust with their feet. For though the River Nilus did once in a year overflow the grounds, and made them fruitful, yet oft times it failed or scanted them, and then they were put to great pains about their ground; and when it did overflow sufficiently, and left its mud upon the earth, yet that Mud was in a little time hardned, and needed another watering and much digging and labour both of the hand and feet, especially in places something higher or more remote from that River; which inconvenience Canaan was free from.

11 But the land whither ye go to possess it, is a land of hills and vallies f and drinketh water of the rain of heaven g:

f And therefore much more healthful than Egypt was, which as it was enriched, so it was annoyed, with Nilus, which overflowed the land in summer time, and thereby made the Country both unpleasant, and, which is much worse, unhealthful. And health being the greatest of all outward blessings, Canaan must therefore needs be a more desirable habitation than Egypt, which is the thing here implyed. g Which is more honourable, because this comes not from man's art or industry, but immediately from God's power and goodness; more ease, being given thee without thy charge or pains; more sweet and pleasant, not hindering thy going abroad upon thy occasions, as the overflow of Nilus did, whereby the Egyptians were confined in a great measure to their several houses; more safe and healthful, being free from that Mud which attends upon the waters of Nilus; and more certain too, the former and the later rain being promised to be given to them in their several seasons, upon condition of their obedience, which condition, though it may seem a clog and inconvenience, yet indeed was a great benefit, that by their own necessities and worldly interest they should be obliged to that obedience, upon which their happiness depended both for this life and for the next.

12 A land which the LORD thy God † careth for h: * the eyes of the LORD thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year, even unto the end of the year i.

h To wit, in a special manner, watering it immediately as it were by his own hand, without man's help, and giving peculiar blessings to it, which Egypt enjoys not. i To give it the rain, and other blessings proper to the several seasons. But all these mercies, and the fruitfulness of the land consequent upon them, were suspended upon their disobedience, as it here follows. And therefore it is not at all strange that some later writers decry the land of Canaan as in great part a barren soyl, which is so far from affording any ground to question the divine authority of the holy Scriptures, in which its fruitfulness is declared, that it doth much more confirm it, this being but an effect of that threatning that God would turn a fruitful land into barrenness for the wickedness of those that dwell in it, Psal. 107. 34. and elsewhere; and the wickedness of the Israelites in succeeding ages being notorious, it is but just and fit that the barrenness of their land should be as evident and infamous.

13 And it shall come to pass, if ye shall hearken diligently unto my commandments, which I command you this day, to love the LORD your God, and to serve him with all your heart, and with all your soul;

14 That I will give you the rain of your land k in his due season, the first rain, and the latter rain l, that thou mayest gather in thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil.

k (i. e.) which is needful and sufficient for your land; or which is proper to your land, not common to Egypt, where, as all authors agree, there is little or no rain. l The first fell in seed time, to make the corn spring; the other a little before harvest, to ripen it. See Jer. 5. 24. Joel 2. 23. Amos 4. 7. Jam. 5. 7.

15 And I will † send grass in thy fields for thy cattle, that thou mayest eat and be full.

16 Take heed to your selves, that your heart be not deceived m, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them:

m By the specious pretenses of Idolaters, who will plead the general consent of all nations, except yours, in the worship of creatures, and that they worship the creatures only for God's sake, and as they are glorious works of God, whom they worship in and by them: which, and the like arguments, being commonly alledged by Heathens for their Idolatries, as their own writers declare, might possibly seduce an unwary Israelite: and therefore they are here cautioned against such deceit, and withal it is implyed, that if a man's mind be corrupted and deceived, so as he believes Idolatry to be lawful; this will not excuse him in the sight of God.

17 And then the LORD's wrath be kindled against you, and he shut up the heaven n, that there be no rain, and that the land yeild not her fruit, and lest ye perish quickly from off the good land which the LORD giveth you.

n Which is compared sometimes to a bottle, Job 38. 37. which may be either stopped or opened: sometimes to a great store-house wherein God lays up his treasures of rain, Job 38. 22. Psal. 33. 7. the doors whereof God is said to open when he gives rain, and to shut when he with-holds it. See 1 King. 8. 35. 2 Chron. 6. 26. and 7. 13.

19 And * ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

20 And thou shalt write them upon the door-posts of thine house, and upon thy gates:

21 That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which the LORD sware unto your fathers to give them, as the days of heaven upon the earth o.

o (i. e.) As long as this visible world lasts; whil'st the heaven keeps its place and continues its influences upon earth, until all these things be dissolved. Compare Psal. 72. 5. and 81. 5. and 89. 29. Jer. 33. 25.

22 For if ye shall diligently keep all these commandments which I command you, to do them, to love the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him:

23 Then will the LORD drive out all these nations from before you, and ye shall possess greater nations, and mightier than your selves.

24 * Every place whereon the soles of your feet shall tread p, shall be yours q: * from the wilderness r, and Lebanon s, from the river, the river Euphrates t, even unto the uttermost sea u, shall your coast be.

p Not absolutely, as if the Jews should be Lords of all the world, as the Rabbins fondly conceit, but in the promised land, as it is restrained in the following words. q Either by possession, or by dominion, to wit, upon condition of your obedience. * To wit, of Sin, on the south-side. r And from Lebanon: or, and to Lebanon, which was the Northern border. s On the East. So far their Right of Dominion extended, but that their sins cut them short: and so far Solomon extended his Dominion. u The Western or Midland Sea: Heb. the hindermost Sea: for the Eastern part of the World being generally esteemed the foremost, and the Southern on the right hand, Psal. 89. 12. and consequently the Northern on the left hand, the Western part must needs be behind. Of these bounds of the Land see Gen. 15. 19. and 15 18. Exod. 23. 31. Jos. 1. 3, 4.

25 There shall no man be able to stand before you: for the LORD your God shall lay the fear of you, and the dread of you upon all the land that ye shall tread upon, as he hath said unto you.

26 * Behold, I set before you x this day a blessing and a curse:

x I propose them to your minds and to your choice.

27 * A blessing, if ye obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you this day:

28 And a * curse, if ye will not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but turn aside out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods which ye have not known y.

y Which you have no acquaintance with, nor experience of their power or wisdom or goodness, as you have had of mine.

29 And it shall come to pass, when the LORD thy God hath brought thee into the land whither thou goest to possess it, that thou shalt * put * the blessing upon mount Gerizim, and the curse upon mount Ebal.

* Heb. Thou shalt give; i. e. speak or pronounce or cause to be pronounced. So the word to give is used, Deut. 13. 17. 2. 36. 3.

30 Are they not on the other side Jordan by the way where the sun goeth down, in the land of the Canaanites, which dwell in the champian over against Gilgal ‖ beside the plains of Moreh?

‖ Looking towards Gilgal, though at some considerable distance from it; as this particle is sometimes used.

31 For ye shall pass over Jordan, to go in to possess the land which the LORD your God giveth you, and ye shall possess it, and dwell therein.

32 And ye shall observe * to do all the statutes and judgments which I set before you this day.

And these are called here the heave-offerings of their hand, because the offerer was first to take these into his hands, and to heave them before the Lord (as other places tell us) and then to give them to the Priest, as appears from Deut. 18. 3, 4. and 26. 4. k Given for your voluntary oblations, which were not due by my prescription, but only by your own choice and voluntary engagement: you may chuse what kind of offering you please to vow and offer, but not the place where you shall offer them. l Either 1. the holy firstlings or first-born, as appears by Numb. 18. where they are commanded to be brought to this one place here designed, and to be offered upon God's altar, v. 17. It is objected by some, that those were given to the Priests, Numb. 18. 18. but these were to be eaten by the people here, ver. 7. But that the next verse doth not say, but only in general, there shall ye eat, to wit, such of the offerings mentioned ver. 6. as they were allowed to eat, but not such as were the Priests peculiar, for these they might not eat, nor all these expressed; for it is evident they might not eat any of the burnt offerings, nor some parts of the other sacrifices, which are here mentioned. g Which were wisely appropriated to that one and publick place, partly for the security of the true Religion, and for the prevention of Idolatry and Superstition, which otherwise might more easily have crept in: and partly to signifie that their Sacrifices were not accepted for their own worth, but by God's gracious appointment, and for the sake of God's Altar, by which they were sanctified; and for the sake of Christ, whom the Altar did manifestly represent. h Of which see below on ver. 17. i (i. e.) Your first-fruits, to wit, of the earth, as of corn and wine and oyl and other fruits, as plainly appears by comparing this place with Deut. 18. 4. and 26. 2. where these are commanded to be brought thither; and seeing here is an exact and particular enumeration of all such things, and these cannot be put under any of the other branches, these must needs be intended here, the rather, because the other kind of first-fruits, to wit, of the herds and flocks, are here expressly mentioned. And these are called here the heave-offerings of their hand, because the offerer was first to take these into his hands, and to heave them before the Lord (as other places tell us) and then to give them to the Priest, as appears from Deut. 18. 3, 4. and 26. 4. k Given for your voluntary oblations, which were not due by my prescription, but only by your own choice and voluntary engagement: you may chuse what kind of offering you please to vow and offer, but not the place where you shall offer them. l Either 1. the holy firstlings or first-born, as appears by Numb. 18. where they are commanded to be brought to this one place here designed, and to be offered upon God's altar, v. 17. It is objected by some, that those were given to the Priests, Numb. 18. 18. but these were to be eaten by the people here, ver. 7. But that the next verse doth not say, but only in general, there shall ye eat, to wit, such of the offerings mentioned ver. 6. as they were allowed to eat, but not such as were the Priests peculiar, for these they might not eat, nor all these expressed; for it is evident they might not eat any of the burnt offerings, nor some parts of the other sacrifices, which are here mentioned. Or, 2. the second births, which were the peoples first-born, or the first which they could eat of, which they were to set before the Lord by way of acknowledgement of his favour in giving them to them and all their succeeding births. 7 And there m ye shall eat n before the LORD o your God, and ye shall rejoyce in all that ye put your hand unto p, ye and your houlholds, wherein the LORD thy God hath blessed thee.

m Not in the most holy place, wherein only the Priests might eat, Numb. 18. 10. but more generally in places allowed to the people for this end in the holy city. n To wit, your part of the things mentioned, ver. 6. o (i. e.) In the place of God's presence, where God's Sanctuary shall be. p Either to bestow your pains and labour upon it: or, to take and use or enjoy it. The sense is, You thus doing shall be blessed and enabled to rejoyce, or to take comfort in all your labours and enjoyments, which otherwise would be accursed to you. We have the same phrase below, ver. 18. and Deut. 15. 10.

8 Ye shall not do after all the things that we do here q this day, every man whatsoever is right in his own eyes.

q Where the inconveniency of the place and the uncertainty of our abode in and removal from several places, would not permit exact order in sacrifices and feasts and ceremonies, which therefore God was pleased then to dispense with; but, saith he, he will not do so there. ‖ Not that universal liberty was given to all persons to worship whom and how they listed, but that in many things their unsetled condition gave every one opportunity to do so, if he thought good.

9 For ye are not as yet come to the rest, and to the inheritance which the LORD your God giveth you.

10 But when ye go over Jordan, and dwell in the land which the LORD your God giveth you to inherit, and when he giveth you rest from all your enemies round about, so that ye dwell in safety,

*1 Ki. 8. 29. Ps. 78. 68. 11 Then there shall be * a place which the LORD your God shall chuse to cause his Name r to dwell there, thither shall ye bring all that I command you: your burnt-offerings, and your sacrifices, your tithes, and the heave-† Heb. the choice of your vows. offerings of your hand, and all † your choice vows s, which ye vow unto the LORD.

r (i. e.) His Majesty and glory, his worship and service, his special and gracious presence, and the tokens of it. s Heb. the choice of your vows, i. e. your select or chosen vows; so called, because things offered for vows were to be perfect, whereas superfluous or defective creatures were accepted in free-will offerings, as appears from Lev. 22. 21, 22, 23.

12 And ye shall rejoyce before the LORD your God, ye, and your sons, and your daughters t, and your men-servants, and your maid-servants, and the Levite that u *ch. 10. 9. within your gates, forasmuch as * he hath no part nor inheritance with you.

t Hence it appears, that though the males only were obliged to appear before God in their solemn feasts, Exod. 23. 17. yet the women also were permitted to come, as they did. See Judg. 21. 19, 21. 1 Sam. 1, 3, 7, 21, 22, 23.

13 Take heed to thy self, that thou offer not thy burnt-offerings u in every place that thou seest x:

u Nor the other things mentioned above, this one and most eminent kind being put for all the rest, as is usual: for being all expressed before, it was needless to repeat them again x To wit, with complacency and approbation, which thou thinkest very fit and proper for such a work, as one might possibly judge of some high-places or groves or gardens.

14 But in the place which the LORD shall chuse in one of thy tribes, there thou shalt offer thy burnt-offerings, and there thou shalt do all that I command thee.

15 Notwithstanding thou mayest kill and eat flesh y in all thy gates z, whatsoever thy soul lusteth after a, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God, which he *ver. 22. hath given thee b: the * unclean c and the clean may eat thereof d, as of the roe-buck, and as of the hart.

y To wit, for thy common use and food. z (i. e.) Thy cities or dwellings. a What you shall desire either for quantity or quality, provided always you observe the laws given you elsewhere about avoiding excess and uncleanness in the things you eat. b According to thy quality and estate: whereby he manifestly condemns those who profusely and riotously spend other mens money, and live at a rate which their consciences know to be much above their ability: which certainly is an ungodly and unrighteous, though too common, practice. c Who is forbidden to eat of holy meats, Lev. 7. 20. d To wit, of any sort of creatures, even of those sorts which are offered to God in sacrifices, which are as free to your use, as the roe-buck, and the hart, which were not accepted in sacrifice, Lev. 22. 19. yet were clean beasts, Deut. 14. 5. and therefore here is a tacit exception of unclean beasts.

*Gen. 9. 4. Le. 7. 1. ch. 15. 23. † Heb. cast out. See chap. 16. 5. 16 * Only ye shall not eat the blood, ye shall pour it out upon the earth as water.

17 Thou † mayest not eat within thy gates f the tithe of thy corn, or of thy wine, or of thy oil g, or the first-lings of thy herds, or of thy flock h, nor any of thy vows which thou vowest, nor thy free-will offerings, or heave-offerings of thine hand.

e Either 1. thou, O Levite: or rather 2. thou, O Israelite, whom he distinguisheth from the Levite, ver. 18, accordingly as the following particulars agree to the one or to the other of you. f (i. e.) In your private habitations, here opposed to the place of God's Worship, ver. 18. g Here seems to be a great difficulty, not yet sufficiently observed nor cleared by Interpreters. There were divers kinds of tithes, 1. The tithes given to the Levites out of all, of which Numb. 18. 21, 24. Deut. 14. 22. Neh. 10. 37. 2. The tithe of those tithes, which were to be given by the Levites to the Priests, of which Numb. 18. 26, 28. Neh. 10. 38. 3. The third years tithe, of which Deut. 14. 28. To which some add another tithe, which they call the second tithe which they say was taken after the Levites tithe was laid by. Now each of these hath its difficulty. It seems this place cannot be understood 1. of the Levites tithe, partly because it might seem a great and wholly superfluous trouble to carry all their tithes up to Jerusalem, and to carry them back to their several habitations for their use; partly because those were holy to the Lord, Lev. 27. 30. and not to be eaten by the people, ver. 31. whereas these belonged principally to the people, the Levites being only taken in as accessories to eat with them, as it is here ver. 18. and partly because those might be eaten in every place, as it is expresly affirmed, Numb. 18. 31. Nor 2 of the tithe of the tithe, which was the Priest's, and neither Levites nor others might eat of it, except they were of or in the Priests houshold. Nor 3. of the third years tithe, because that was to be eaten within their gates, Deut. 14. 28. 29. as this was not. I do therefore humbly conceive, that this is meant of the second tithe, spoken of Deut. 14. 22. and that this was the very same tithe with that third years tithe, with this only difference, that in the third year they were to eat them, together with the Levites within their gates, Deut. 14. 28, 29. but in the two first years they were to eat them, together with the Levites also, in the place of God's Worship, as it is prescribed here and Deut. 14. 23. And that it is one and the same tithe which is spoken of, Deut. 14. 22. and ver. 28. seems more than probable, both because they are called by the same name, all the tithe of their increase, and because that ver. 28. manifestly looks back to that ver. 22. and because otherwise every third year the Israelites were to pay three several tithes one after another, which Scripture no where affirms, and it seems to make the peoples burdens and the Levites Provisions too great. For the objection taken from Deut. 26. 12, 13. it shall be considered in its place. And the reason of that difference of place, and why the same tithes were eaten for two years together in Jerusalem, and the third year in their own gates, seems to be this, That in the two first years there was a more special regard had to the Levites, who were very much conversant in Jerusalem, where those tithes were then eaten, and in the third year there is a respect had to the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, who are mentioned as joynt-sharers with the Levites in this third years tithe, whose occasions and obligations of coming to Jerusalem were not so many nor strong as those of the Levites, and therefore they were to be found generally within their gates, where these were to be eaten. And whereas the objection made before against the charge-able and useless carrying of the first tithes to Jerusalem might be applied here, it is answered there, and it is provided, that when they lived at a great distance from Jerusalem they might turn it into money and bestow it there, Deut. 14. 24, 25, 26. which both confirms the objection as to the first tithe, for which no such provision was made, and answers it as to this, where such a remedy is expressed. And whereas it may be pleaded on the behalf of the first, or the Levitical tithe, that those tithes were brought to Jerusalem, and that there were store-houses or chambers in the Temple appointed for the receiving of the tithes, 2 Chro. 31. 5, 6, 11, 12. Neh. 10. 37, 38. and 12. 44. it may be answered, That those chambers, being only 38 in number, and each of them, except two, but six cubits broad, and twelve cubits long, were altogether uncapable of all those tithes, and seem principally, if not solely appointed for the Priests tithes, and not for all them neither, but only for so much of them as would serve for the use and necessity of those Priests and Levites too that were in the actual ministration. h As the tithes now mentioned were not the Levitical, but second tithes, as hath been discoursed, so these firstlings do not seem to be the first firstlings, which being appropriated to the Levites were not to be eaten by any of the people, except those of or in the Levites Families, but the second firstlings, which were the first which the owner could dispose of, and which, in conformity to the second tithes, he is required to set apart for this use.

18 But thou must eat them before the LORD thy God, in the place which the LORD thy God shall chuse, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy man-ser-vant, and thy maid-servant, and the Levite that is within thy gates: and thou shalt rejoyce before the LORD thy God, in all that thou puttest thine hands unto.

19 * Take heed to thy self i, that thou forsake not the *ch. 6. 12. Levite, † as long as thou livest upon the earth. † Heb.

i Left a worldly mind and self-love make thee rob the Levites of their dues, as afterwards the ungodly Jews did. See Mal. 3. 8.

20 When the LORD thy God shall enlarge thy border k, * as he hath promised thee, and thou shalt say, I will eat flesh; (because thy soul longeth to eat flesh) thou mayest eat flesh, whatsoever thy soul lusteth after.

k Which will make it inconvenient and impossible to do what now thou dost, and because of the narrow bounds of thy Camp canst conveniently do, to wit, to bring all the cattle thou usest to the Tabernacle, which it seems probable they did, to prevent their eating of blood. Compare Levit. 17. 3, 4 Sam. 14. 34.

21 If the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen to put his name there, be too far from thee ‖, then thou shalt kill of thy herd, and of thy flock, which the LORD hath given thee, as I have commanded thee l, and thou shalt eat in thy gates whatsoever thy soul lusteth after. ‖ In

‖ In which case being obliged to carry their sacrifices to the place of worship, that the blood might be there poured forth, &c. they might think themselves obliged, for the same reason, to carry their other cattle thither to be killed. They are therefore released from all such obligations, and left at liberty to kill them at home, whether they lived nearer to that place, or further from it; only the latter is here mentioned, as being the matter of the Scruple, and as containing the former in it. l In such manner as the blood may be poured forth, as above, ver. 16. and below, ver. 24.

22 * Even as the roe-buck and the hart m is eaten, so *Deut. 15. thou shalt eat them: the unclean and the clean shall eat of them alike n.

m As common or unhallowed food, though they be of the same kind with the sacrifices which are offered to God. n Because there was no holiness in such meat for which the unclean might be excluded from it.

23 * Only † be sure that thou eat not the blood: for *Ver. 16. Heb. be the blood is the † life o, and thou mayest not eat the † life with the flesh. *Heb. soul. *Heb. soul.

o Of which see on Gen. 9. 4. Lev. 17. 11. The animal life depends upon the blood.

24 Thou shalt not eat it, thou shalt pour it upon the earth as water.

25 Thou shalt not eat it, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee; when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the LORD.

26 Only thy holy things p which thou hast, and thy vows thou shalt take, and go unto the place which the LORD shall chuse.

p Mentioned before, ver. 6. 12, 17. which thou hast consecrated to God.

*Lev. 1, 3, 9. 27 And * thou shalt offer thy burnt-offerings, the flesh and the blood, upon the altar of the LORD thy God, *& and the blood of thy sacrifices shall be poured out upon the altar of the LORD thy God, and thou shalt eat the flesh q.

q Excepting what shall be burned to God's honour, and given to the Priest according to his appointment.

28 Observe and hear all these words which I command thee, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou dost that which is good and right in the sight of the LORD thy God.

29 When the LORD thy God shall cut off the nations from before thee, whither thou goest to possess them r, *Heb. in- and thou † succeedest them, and dwellest in their land: stead of dispossessest them.

r Of which phrase see Deut. 9. 1. and 11. 23.

30 Take heed to thy self, that thou be not snared s *Heb. of them. † by following them, after that they be destroyed t from before thee; and that thou inquire not after their gods u, saying, How did these nations serve their gods? even so will I do likewise.

s Drawn into their sin and ruine. t (i. e.) By following the example they left, when their persons are destroyed. u Through curiosity to know their Gods and the manner of the worship, lest thy vain and foolish mind be seduced by its speciousness or newness.

31 Thou shalt not do so unto the LORD x thy God: *Heb. abo- for every † abomination to the LORD which he hateth, mination of have they done unto their Gods: for * even their sons *Lev. 18. and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their & 20. 2. gods. ch. 18. 10. Jer. 32. 35.

x Either 1. Not offer him that indignity and injury to worship other gods together with him. Or rather, 2. Not worship him in such manner as they worshipped their Gods, to wit, by offering thy children to him, as they did to their gods, as it here follows, or by thy own devices or superstitions, as is implied, ver. 32.

32 What thing soever I command you, observe to do *Ch. 4. 2. it: * thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it. Josh. 1. 7.

CHAP. XIII.

Prov. 30. 6. Rev. 22. 18. Enticers to Idolatry, being permitted by God, to try Israel, were to be put to death, 1—5. though near of kin, 6—12. if a city found guilty of Idolatry, to be burnt and utterly destroyed, 13—16. They were not to take any of its cursed things, but to obey God's Command, that his mercy might be upon them, 17, 18.

1 IF there arise among you a a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams b, and giveth thee a sign or a wonder c:

a (i. e.) One of your nation, for such might be both seduced and afterwards seducers. b One that pretends himself to be one to whom God hath revealed himself, either by visions or dreams. See Numb. 12. 6. c (i. e.) Shall foretell some strange and wonderful thing to come, as appears from ver. 2. as the true Prophets used to do, as 2 Sam. 10.

*See ch. 18 22. Jer. 28. 9. Mat. 7. 22. 2 And * the sign or the wonder come to pass d, whereof he spake unto thee, saying e, Let us go after other gods, (which thou hast not known) and let us serve them:

d Which God may suffer for the reason after mentioned. e This word is to be joyned with the beginning of verse 2. If there arise among you a prophet, or dreamer of dreams, saying, what there follows, and giveth thee a sign, &c. to confirm his doctrine, such transpositions are frequent.

3 Thou shalt not hearken to the words of that prophet e, or that dreamer of dreams; for the LORD your *1 Cor. 11. God * proveth you f, to know g whether ye love the Pp. LORD your God with all your heart, and with all your soul.

e Not receive his doctrine, though the sign come to pass. For although when such a sign or wonder foretold did not follow or come to pass, it was a sign of a false prophet, as is said, Deut. 18. 22. yet when it did come to pass, it was no sufficient or infallible sign of a true one, especially in such a case when he brings in new Gods. The reason of the difference is, because many causes must concur to make a thing good and true, but any one failure is sufficient to make a thing bad or false. And particularly there are many signs, yea such as men may think to be wonders, which may be wrought by evil spirits, God so permitting it for divers wise and just reasons, not only for the trial of the good; as it here follows, but also for the punishment of ungodly men, who would not receive Divine Truths, though attested by many evident and unquestionable miracles, and therefore are most justly exposed to these temptations to believe lies. f (i. e.) Try eth your faith and love and obedience, examineth your sincerity by your constancy. See Matt. 24. 24. 2 Thes. 2. 11. Rev. 13. 14. See on Gen. 22. 1. Deut. 8. 2, 7. g That he may know it, to wit, judicially, or in a publick manner, so as both you and others may know and see it, that so the justice of his judgments upon you may be more evident and glorious.

4 Ye shall walk after the LORD your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments, and obey his voice, *ch. 10. 20. and ye shall serve him h, and * cleave unto him.

h To wit, only as appears from the opposition. Compare Deut. 6. 13. with Mat. 4. 10.

5 And * that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams shall *ch. 18. 20. be put to death (because he hath † spoken i to turn you Zech. 13 3. away from the LORD k your God, which brought you †Heb. spo- out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you out of the ken revolt house of bondage, to thrust thee out of the way l which against the the LORD thy God commanded to walk in,) * so shalt LORD. *ch. 22. 21, thou put the evil m away from the midst of thee. 24. 1 Cor. 5. 13.

i (i. e.) Taught or perswaded you. k To forsake God and his worship. He shews that the chiefest and most certain character of a true Prophet, is to be taken from his doctrine rather than from his miracles. l This phrase notes the great force and power of seducers to corrupt mens minds. Compare Deut. 4. 19. 2 King. 17. 21. Mat. 24. 24. m Either 1. that evil thing, that wicked doctrine and practice. Or 2. that wicked and scandalous man, that Idolater and Seducer.

6 * If thy brother, the son of thy mother n, or thy *ch. 17. 2. son, or thy daughter o, or the wife of thy bosom p, or thy friend, which is as thine own soul q, intice thee * secretly, saying, Let us go and serve other gods r (which thou hast not known, thou, nor thy fathers,)

n This is added, to restrain the signification of the word brother, which is oft used generally for one near akin, and to express the nearness of the relation, the mother's side being the surest, and usually the ground of the truest and most fervent affection. See Gen. 20. 12. o Thy piety must overcome both thy affection to thy nearest relation, and thy compassion to the weaker Sex. p Richer 1. that is near to thy heart, that hath thy dearest love. Or rather 2. that lyeth in thy bosom, as it is expressed, Mic. 7. 5. Compare Gen. 16. 5. Prov. 5. 20. Deut. 28. 54. So we read of the husband of her bosom, Deut. 28. 56. q As dear to thee as thy self. The father and mother are here omitted, not, as some fancy, because children might not in this nor in any case accuse their parents, for certainly they owe more reverence and duty to God, who is injured in this case, than to their parents, and Levi is commended for neglecting his father and mother in this case; but because they are sufficiently contained in the former examples; for since mens love doth usually defcend more strongly than it ascends, and the relation of a wife is and ought to be nearer and dearer than of a parent, that favour which is denied to wives and children cannot be thought fit to be allowed to parents. r Though it be without success, because the very attempt of such an abominable crime deserved death, as it is judged in case of treason. s Unknown and obscure and new Gods; which greatly aggravates the crime, to forsake a God whom thou and thy fathers have long known, and had great and good experience of, for such upstarts.

7 Namely, of the gods of the people which are round about you, nigh unto thee, or far off from thee, from the one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth t:

t He arms against the pretence of the universality of this Idol-worship, wherewith they were like to be oft assaulted.

8 Thou shalt not consent unto him, nor hearken unto him, neither shall thine eye pity him, neither shalt thou spare, neither shalt thou conceal him u.

u (i. e.) Smother his fault, hide or protect his person, but shalt accuse him to the Magistrate, and demand justice upon him, which was not to be done in most other criminal causes; and no wonder, this crime being of a far higher nature than others.

9 But * thou shalt surely kill him x; thine hand shall *ch. 17. 7 be first upon him, to put him to death y, and afterwards the hand of all the people.

x Not privately, which pretence would have opened the door to innumerable murders, but by procuring his death by the sentence of the Magistrate. y Thou shalt call the first stone at him, as the Witness was to do. See Deut. 17. 7. Act. 7. 58.

10 And thou shalt stone him with stones that he die: because he hath sought to thrust thee away from the LORD thy God which brought thee from the land of ‖Heb. house of Egypt, from the house of † bondage. men.

11 And ch. 17. 13.

11 And * all Israel shall hear, and fear, and shall do no more any such wickednes as this is, among you.

12 If thou shalt hear say in one of thy cities which the LORD thy God hath given thee, to dwell there, saying,

13 Certain men, ‖ the children of Belial x, are gone out from among you a, and have withdrawn the inhabitants of their city, saying, Let us go and serve other gods (which ye have not known:)

x A title oft used in Scripture, as Judg. 19. 22. 1 Sam. 2. 16. and 25. 25. 2 Sam. 16. 7. It signifies properly persons without yoke, vile and wretched miscreants, lawless and rebellious, that will suffer no restraint, that neither fear God, nor reverence man.

a (i.e.) From your Church and Religion. It notes a separation or departure from them, not in place (as appears by their partnership with their fellow Citizens both in the sin and punishment, as it here follows) but in heart, doctrine and worship, as the same phrase is used, 1 Joh, 2. 19.

14 Then shalt thou b inquire, and make search, and ask diligently: and behold, if it be truth, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought among you:

b This is meant of the Magistrate, to whose office this properly belongs, and of whom he continues to speak in the same manner, thou, ver. 15. and ver. 16.

15 Thou shalt surely smite the inhabitants of that city c with the edge of the sword, * destroying it utterly d, and all that therein is, and the cattel with the edge of the sword.

c To wit, all that are guilty, not the innocent part, such as disowned this Apostacy, who doubtless by choice and intereſt, at least upon warning, would come out of so wicked and curſed a place.

d The very same punishment which was inflicted upon the cities of the curſed Canaanites, to whom having made themselves equal in sin, it is but fit and just that God should equal them in punishment.

16 And thou shalt gather all the spoil of it into the midst of the street thereof, and shalt burn with fire the city, and all the spoil thereof every whit, for the LORD thy God e: and it shall be an heap for ever, it shall not be built again f.

e (i. e.) For the satisfaction of God's justice, the maintenance of his honour and authority and laws, and the pacification of his offended Majesty. f It shall be an eternal monument of God's justice, and terrour to after ages, who may be tempted to like practices.

17 * And there shall cleave nought of the ‖ cursed thing g to thine hand, that the LORD may turn from the fierceneſs of his anger, and shew thee mercy, and have compaſſion upon thee, and multiply thee h, as he hath sworn unto thy fathers;

g (i. e.) Of the goods of that accurſed city. h So thou shalt have no loſs of thy numbers by cutting off so many people.

18 When thou shalt hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep all his Commandments which I command thee this day, to do that which is right in the eyes of the LORD thy God.

Heathenish Rites of Mourning prohibited, 1, 2. And the eating of any abominable thing, 3. All unclean Beasts, 4——8. Fish, 9, 10. And Birds, prohibited, 11, 12. True tything commanded, 22. And where it was to be eaten, 23——27. A command about the third years Tything, 28. And who should eat it, 29.

1 YE are the children of the LORD your God a: * ye shall not cut your selves, nor make any baldneſs between your eyes b for the dead c.

a Whom therefore you must not disparage by unworthy or unbecoming practices, such as here follow, and whom you must not disobey. b Which were the practices of Idolaters, both in the worship of their Idols, as 1 King. 18. 28. or, in their funerals, as here, and Jer. 16. 6. or upon occaſion of publick calamities, as Jer. 41. 5. and 47. 5. See more on Levit. 19. 27, 28. and 21. 5.

c Through exceſſive sorrow for your dead friends, as if you had no hope of their happineſs after death, 1 Theſſ. 4. 13.

2 * For thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself, above all the nations that are upon the earth.

3 Thou shalt not eat any abominable d thing.

d (i. e.) Unclean and forbidden by me, which therefore should be abominable to you.

4 * These are the beasts e, which ye shall eat, the ox, the sheep, and the goat, e Of which see on Levit. 11. The small differences between some of their names here and there are not proper for this work. The learned Reader may find them cleared in my Latin Synopſis. For others, they may well enough want the knowledge of them, both because these are the smaller matters of the Law, and because this distinction of clean and unclean beasts is now out of date.

6 And every beast that parteth the hoof, and cleaveth the cleft into two claws, and cheweth the cud amongſt the beasts f that ye shall eat.

7 Nevertheleſs, these ye shall not eat, of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the cloven hoof, as the camel, and the hare, and the coney: for they chew the cud, but divide not the hoof, therefore they are unclean unto you,

8 And the swine, because it divideth the hoof, yet cheweth not the cud, it is unclean unto you: ye shall not eat of their * flesh, nor touch their dead carcase.

9 * These ye shall eat, of all that are in the waters: all that hath fins and scales shall ye eat.

10 And whatsoever hath not fins and scales, ye may not eat: it is unclean unto you.

11 Of all clean birds ye shall eat.

12 But these are they of which ye shall not eat: the eagle, and the ossifrage, and the osprey,

13 And the glede, and the kite, and the vulture after his kind,

14 And every raven after his kind,

15 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckow, and the hawk after his kind,

16 The little owl, and the great owl, and the swan,

17 And the pelican, and the gier-eagle, and the cormorant,

18 And the ſtork, and the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the * bat.

19 And every creeping thing that flyeth is unclean unto you: they shall not be eaten.

20 But of all clean fowls ye may eat.

21 Ye shall not eat of any thing that dieth of it self: thou shalt give it unto the ſtranger that is in thy gates, that he may eat it: or thou mayeſt ſell it unto an alien: for thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God. ‖ * Thou shalt not ſeeth a kid in his mothers milk.

f Not to the proſelyte, for ſuch were obliged by this Law, Lev. 17. 15. but to ſuch as were ſtrangers in Religion as well as in Nation.

22 * Thou shalt truly tithe all the encreaſe of thy ſeed g, that the field bringeth forth year by year.

g This is to be underſtood of the ſecond tithes, which ſeem to be the ſame with the tithes of the third year, mentioned here below, ver. 28. and Deut. 26. 12. on which ſee above, on chap. 12. ver. 17. And to confirm this opinion, (though I would not lay too great a ſtreſs upon criticiſmes) yet I cannot but obſerve that this tithing is ſpoken of only as the peoples act here, and Deut. 26. 12. and the Levites are not at all mentioned in either place as receivers or takers of them, but only as partakers of them together with the owners, and therefore they are ſo ſeverely charged here upon their conſciences, thou ſhalt truly tithe all thine encreaſe, becauſe the execution of this was left wholly to themſelves, whereas the firſt tithes were received by the Levites, who therefore are ſaid to take or receive thoſe tithes, Numb. 18. 26. Neh. 10. 38. Heb. 7. 5.

23 And thou shalt eat before the LORD h thy God, in the place which he ſhall chuſe to place his Name there, the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine oil, and * the firſtlings of thy herds, and of thy flocks, that thou mayeſt learn to fear the LORD thy God always.

h See on Deut. 12. 6, 17.

24 And if the way be too long for thee, ſo that thou art not able to carry it, or if the place be too far from thee, which the LORD thy God ſhall chuſe to ſet his Name there, when the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee:

25 Then ſhalt thou turn it into money, and bind up the money in thine hand i, and ſhalt go unto the place which the LORD thy God ſhall chuſe.

i (i. e.) In a bag to be taken into thy hand and carried with thee.

26 And thou ſhalt beſtow that money for whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after, for oxen, or for ſheep, or for wine, or for ſtrong drink, or for whatſoever thy ſoul † deſireth: and thou ſhalt eat there before the LORD thy God, and thou ſhalt rejoyce, thou and thine houſhold:

27 And * the Levite that is within thy gates, thou ſhalt not forſake him k: for * he hath no part nor inheritance with thee.

k Thou ſhalt give him a ſhare in ſuch tithes or in the product of them.

28 At the end of three years l thou ſhalt bring forth all the tithe of thine increaſe m the ſame year n, and ſhalt lay it up within thy gates.

l (i. e.) In the third year, as it is expreſſed, Deut. 26. 12. So, in the end of three years, or of ſeven years, is the ſame with in the third or ſeventh year, as appears by comparing Deut. 31. 10. Jer. 9. 16, 17. 2 King. 18. 9, 10. and 17. 6. m I joyn with thoſe Expoſitors who make this the ſame tithe with the former, ver. 22. as being called by the ſame title without any diſtinction between them, ſave only as to the place of eating them. See above on ver. 23. and Deut. 12. 17. n This is added to ſhew that he ſpeaks of the third year, and not of the fourth year, as ſome might conjecture from the phraſe, at the end of three years.

29 And the Levite (becauſe he hath no part nor inheritance with thee) and the ſtranger, and the father-leſs, and the widow, which are within thy gates, ſhall come, and ſhall eat, and be ſatisfied, that * the LORD thy God may bleſs thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doeſt.

CHAP. XV.

The ſeventh Year a Year of Releaſe, 1. to their Brethren only, 2. God promiſeth to bleſs them in the Land of Canaan, 4——6 And commandeth them to lend freely to the poor, 14——18. The Firſtlings to be ſanctified and eaten before the Lord, 19——23.

1 AT the end of * every ſeven years a thou ſhalt make a releaſe.

a (i. e.) In the laſt year of the ſeven, as is moſt evident from ver. 9. Exod. 21. 2. Jer. 34. 14. So the like phraſe is oft uſed, as Deut. 14. 28. Joſ. 3. 2. Jer. 25. 12. Luk. 2. 21. Act. 2. 1. And this year of releaſe, as it is called below, ver 9. is the ſame with the Sabbatical year, Exod. 23. 11. Levit. 25. 4.

2 And this is the manner of the releaſe. Every † creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour, ſhall releaſe it b: he ſhall not exact it of his neighbour, or of his brother c, becauſe it is called the LORD's releaſe d.

b Not abſolutely and finally forgive it, but forbear it for that year, as may appear, 1. becauſe the word doth not ſignifie a total diſmiſſion or acquitting, but an intermiſſion for a time, as Exod. 23. 11. He ſhall not exact it, as it here follows, i. e. force it from him by courſe of Law or otherwiſe, to wit, that year, which is eaſily underſtood out of the whole context. 2. Becauſe the perſon releaſing is called a creditor, and his communicating to him what he deſires and needs is called lending here and ver. 8. whereas it were giving, and the perſon giving it were no creditor, but a donor, if it were to be wholly forgiven to him. 3. Becauſe the reaſon of this Law is temporary and peculiar to that year, wherein there being no ſowing, nor reaping, they were not in a capacity to pay their Debts. 4. Becauſe it ſeems unjuſt and unreaſonable, and contrary to other Scriptures, which require men to pay what they borrow, as Pſal. 37. 21. Yet I deny not that in caſe of poverty the debt was to be forgiven; but that was not by vertue of this law, but of other commands of God. c This is added to explain and limit the word neighbour, which is more general, unto a brother, to wit, in Nation and Religion; to an Iſraelite, who is oppoſed to a foreigner, ver. 3. Heb. and a brother, for; that it a brother, the particle and being oft ſo uſed, as Gen. 13. 15. &c. d Or, a releaſe to or for the Lord, in obedience to his command, for his honour, and as an acknowledgment of his right in your eſtates, and of his kindneſs in giving and continuing them to you. If you are unwilling to releaſe this for your brother's ſake, yet do it for God's ſake, your Lord and the chief creditor.

3 Of a forreigner e thou mayeſt exact it again: but that which is thine f with thy brother, thine hand ſhall releaſe.

e Or ſtranger, yea though a proſelyte. For 1. they are oft called by this name, as Gen. 17. 12. Ruth. 2. 10. 2. Though proſelytes were admitted to the Church-privileges of the Iſraelites, yet they were not admitted to all their civil immunities or privileges. See 1 Chron. 22. 2. and 2 Chron. 2. 17. 3. Such were not then freed from their perſonal debt, to wit, of their ſervice, Levit. 25. 44. Deut. 15. 12. Jer. 34. 14. therefore not from their real debt. f To wit, by right though lent to him.

4 ‖ Save when there ſhall be no poor among you g: for the LORD ſhall greatly bleſs thee h in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, to poſſeſs it.

g So the words are an exception to the foregoing clauſe, which they reſtrain to the poor, and imply that if his brother was rich, he might exact his debt of him in that year. And indeed this Law ſeems to be chiefly, if not wholly, deſigned and given in favour to the poor and to the borrower, as is manifeſt from ver. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. But the words are and may be rendred thus, as in the margent of our Bibles, To the end that there be no poor among you. And ſo they contain a reaſon of this Law, to wit, that none be impoveriſhed and ruined by a rigid and unſeaſonable exaction of Debts. They may alſo be tranſlated thus, Nevertheleſs or a truth, or aſſuredly (in the particle chi is oft uſed) there ſhall be no poor among you, and the ſame may be this, Though I impoſe this Law upon you, which may ſeem hard and grievous, yet the truth is, ſuppoſing your performance of the conditions of God's Covenant, you ſhall not have any great occaſion to exerciſe your charity and kindneſs in this matter, for God will greatly bleſs you, &c. ſo as you ſhall be in a capacity of lending, and few or none of you will have need to borrow, and thereby to expoſe his brethren to the inconvenience and burden of this Law. Thus the connexion is plain and eaſie, both with the foregoing and following words. Object. It is ſaid, the poor ſhould never ceaſe, ver. 11. Anſw. That alſo is true, and affirmed by God, becauſe he foreſaw they would not perform their duty, and therefore would bereave themſelves of the promiſed bleſſing. h And therefore this will be no great inconvenience nor burden to thee.

5 Only if thou carefully hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to obſerve to do all theſe commandments which I command thee this day.

6 For the LORD thy God bleſſeth thee, as he promiſed thee, and * thou ſhalt lend unto many nations i, but thou ſhalt not borrow; and thou ſhalt reign over many nations, but they ſhall not reign over thee.

i Thou ſhalt be rich and able to lend not only to thy poor brother, but even to ſtrangers of other Nations, yea to many of them.

7 If there be among you a poor man, of one of thy brethren, within any of thy gates, in thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou ſhalt not harden thy heart, nor ſhut thine hand from thy poor brother:

8 * But thou ſhalt open thine hand wide unto him k, and ſhalt ſurely lend him ſufficient for his need, in that which he wanteth.

k (i. e.) Deal bountifully and liberally with him, giving him as it were by handfuls.

9 Beware that there be not a † thought in thy † wick- ed heart l, ſaying, The ſeventh year, the year of releaſe is at hand, and thine eye be evil m againſt thy poor brother, and thou giveſt him nought, and he cry unto the LORD againſt thee, and it be ſin n unto thee.

l Suppreſs the firſt riſings and inward motions of ſuch uncharitableneſs. m (i. e.) Envious, unmerciful, unkind, as this phraſe is uſed, Prov. 23. 6. Matth. 20. 15. as a good eye notes the contrary diſpoſition, Prov. 22. 9. n (i. e.) It be charged upon thee as a ſin, and as a great ſin, as the word ſin ſometimes ſignifies, as Prov. 24. 9. John 15. 24. Jam. 4. 17.

10 Thou ſhalt ſurely give him, and thine heart ſhall not be grieved when thou giveſt unto him o: becauſe that for this thing the LORD thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all thy works, and in all that thou puttеſt thine hand unto p.

o (i. e.) Thou ſhalt give; not only with an open hand, but with a willing and chearful mind and heart, Rom. 12. 8. 2 Cor. 9. 7. without which thy very Charity is uncharitable and not accepted by God, who requires the heart in all his ſervices. p (i. e.) In all thy works, as before, for the hand is the great inſtrument of action.

11 For * the poor ſhall never ceaſe out of the land q: therefore I command thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy in the land.

q God by his providence will ſo order it, partly for the puniſhment of your diſobedience, and partly for the tryal and exerciſe of your obedience to me and charity to your brother, both which are beſt diſcovered by your performance of coſtly duties.

12 And * if thy brother, an Hebrew man, or an Hebrew woman be ſold unto thee r, and ſerve thee ſix years s, then in the ſeventh year thou ſhalt let him go free from thee.

r See on Exod. 22. 3. s To be computed, either, 1. From the year of releaſe; as they gather from hence that perſonal and real debts were both releaſed together. But that ſeems to be ſuppoſed rather than proved; nay there is a manifeſt difference between them, for the releaſe of real debts is expreſly mentioned and required in the year of releaſe, but ſo is not the releaſe of the perſonal debt of ſervitude, either here or elſewhere. Or rather, 2. From the beginning of this ſervitude, which is every where limited unto the ſpace of ſix years, as here and below, ver 18. and Exod. 21. 2. Jer. 34. 14. And it ſeems a ſtrange and forced expoſition, to take theſe ſix years, for ſo much of the ſix years as remains until the year of releaſe, which poſſibly might not be one quarter of a year, whereas an hired ſervant ſerves for a far longer time, and this is ſaid to be worth a double hired ſervant, in regard of the longer time of his ſervice, ver. 18. Add to this, that it is mentioned as the peculiar privilege of the year of Jubilee, that ſuch ſervants were then freed though their ſix years of ſervice were not expired.

13 And when thou ſendeſt him out free from thee, thou ſhalt not let him go away empty.

14 Thou ſhalt furniſh him liberally out of thy flock, and out of thy floor, and out of thy wine-preſs, of that wherewith the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee, thou ſhalt give unto him.

15 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bondman in the land of Egypt, and the LORD thy God redeemed thee t: therefore I command thee this thing to day.

t And brought thee out with triumph and with riches, which becauſe they would not, God did, give to thee as a juſt recompence for thy ſervice, and therefore thou ſhalt follow his example, and ſend out thy ſervant furniſhed with all convenient proviſions.

16 And it ſhall be if he ſay unto thee, I will not go away from thee (becauſe he loveth thee, and thine houſe, becauſe he is well with thee) u, u Becauſe he is ſenſible that he fares well with thee. Or, becauſe it is good, i. e. acceptable in his eyes, or pleaſing to him, to be with thee.

17 * Then thou ſhalt take an awl, and thruſt it through his ear unto the door, and he ſhall be thy ſervant for ever x: and alſo unto thy maid-ſervant thou ſhalt do likewiſe y.

x (i. e.) All the time of his life, or, at leaſt, till the year of Juble. See on Exod. 21. 6. y (i. e.) Either diſmiſs her honourably, and with plenty of proviſions; or engage her to perpetual ſervitude in the ſame manner and by the ſame Rites. Whence it appears, that this caſe differs from that, Exod. 21. 7. and that the maid-ſervant there was taken in upon other and better terms than this here.

18 It ſhall not ſeem hard unto thee, when thou ſendeſt him away free from thee: for he hath been worth a double * hired ſervant to thee z, in ſerving thee ſix years: and the LORD thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all that thou doeſt.

z Or, he deſerves double wages to an hired ſervant, becauſe he ſerved thee upon better terms, both without wages, which hired ſervants require, and for a longer time, even for 6 years, as it here follows, whereas ſervants were ordinarily hired but from year to year.

Levit. 25. 53. or at most but for 3 years, as they gather from this place and Isa. 16. 14.

*Exod. 34. 19. Lev. 27. 26. Num. 3. 13.

19 * All the firstling males that come of thy herd, and of thy flock, thou shalt sanctifie unto the LORD thy God: thou shalt do no work with the firstling a of thy bullock, nor shear the firstling of thy sheep.

a This is meant, either, 1. Of the male firstlings; which, they say, is forbidden here, because some did plow with the firstlings of their oxen, and shear the firstlings of their sheep, before they were offered. But this seems absurd and incredible, because they were to be offered upon the eighth day, Exod. 22. 30. when they were very unfit for such uses. Or, rather 2. The second firstlings, of which see on Deut. 12. 17.

20 Thou b shalt eat it c before the LORD thy God year by year d, in the place which the LORD shall chuse, thou and thy houshold.

b Either, 1. Thou, O Priest. Or rather, 2. Thou, O Israelite. For it is evident that the same person who was forbidden to work with these, verse 19. is here commanded to eat them, &c. c Together with the Levites, as it is to be understood from Deut. 12. 18. & 14. 27, 29. where that is expressed in like cases. d To wit, in the solemn feasts which returned upon them every year. See Deut. 16. 11, 14.

*Lev. 22. 20. ch. 17. 1. 21 * And if there be any blemish therein, as if it be lame, or blind, or have any ill blemish, thou shalt not sacrifice it unto the LORD thy God.

*ch. 12. 15. 22 Thou shalt eat it within thy gates: the * unclean and the clean person shall eat it alike, as the ro-buck, and as the hart.

*ch. 12. 16, 23. 23 * Only thou shalt not eat the blood thereof: thou shalt pour it upon the ground as water.

CHAP. XVI.

Their Feast of the Passover to be kept, 1——7 and to eat unleavened bread, 8. The seven Weeks and their Feasts, 9——12. The Feast of the Tabernacle to be observed by them, and their Family, seven days, 13——15. All the Males to appear before the Lord three times a year, and at these three Feasts, 16, 17. Judges and Officers are appointed, 18——20. and are prohibited to set up Idolatry, 21, 22.

*Exod. 12. 1. &c. *Ex. 13. 4. *Ex. 12. 29. 42. OBserve the * month of Abib, and keep the passover unto the LORD thy God: for * in the month of Abib the LORD thy God brought thee forth out of Egypt by * night a.

a Object. They came out of Egypt by day, and in the morning, as appears from Exod. 12. 22. and 13. 3. Numb. 33. 3. Answ. They are said to be brought out by night, because in the night Pharaoh was forced to give them leave to depart, and accordingly they made preparation for their departure, and in the morning they perfected the work.

2 Thou shalt therefore sacrifice the passover b unto the *ch. 12. 5. LORD thy God, of the flock, and the herd, in the * place which the LORD shall chuse to place his Name there.

b (i. e.) Either 1. properly and strictly so called, which was the Paschal Lamb, and so the sheep and Oxen, which here follow, are mentioned only as additional sacrifices, which were to be offered in the seven days of the Paschal solemnity, Numb. 28. 18, 19, &c. Or 2. largely, to wit, for the Passover-offerings, to wit, which were offered after the Lamb in the seven days, and so this very word is used, 2 Chron. 35. 8, 9. And this signification seems necessary here, partly because it is here said to consist of the flock and of the herd, or, of Sheep and Oxen, and partly because it follows, v. 3. Thou shalt eat no leavened bread with it, seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, i. e. with the Passeover, which could not be done with the Passeover strictly so called, which was to be wholly spent in one day. Or 3. The Feast of the Passeover, and so the place may be rendred, Thou shalt therefore observe or keep the Feast of the Passover (as those same Hebrew words are taken, Numb. 9. 5. Jos. 5. 10. 2 Chron. 35. 1, 17, 18, 19.) unto the Lord thy God, with Sheep, and with Oxen, as is prescribed, Numb. 28. 18, &c.

*Ex. 12. 15. 3 * Thou shalt eat no leavened bread with it c: seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, even the bread of affliction d (for thou camest forth out of the land of Egypt in haste) that thou mayest remember the day when thou camest forth out of the land of Egypt, all the days of thy life.

c To wit, with the Passeover, in the sense delivered: Or, in it, i. e. during the time of the Feast of the Passeover d (i. e.) Bread which is not usual nor pleasant, but unsavoury and unwholesome, to put thee in mind both of thy miseries endured in Egypt, and of thy hasty coming out of it, which allowed thee no time to leaven or to prepare thy Bread.

*Exod. 34. 25. †Heb. leaven. *Exod. 12. 10. 4 * And there shall be no † leavened bread seen with thee in all thy coasts seven days, * neither shall there any thing of the flesh which thou sacrificest the first day at even e remain all night until the morning.

e (i. e.) Of the Passeover properly so called, and by these words plainly described; which circumlocution may seem to insinuate that the word Passeover, v. 1. was improperly used, and therefore he chose rather to describe it, then to name it, lest the ambiguity of the word should occasion some mistake.

† Heb. canst not. ch. 12. 17. ‖Or, kill. 5 Thou † mayest not ‖ sacrifice the passover within any of thy gates f which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

f (i. e.) Of thy cities, as that word is oft used, as Gen. 22. 17 and 24. 60. Deut. 17. 2. Ruth. 4. 10.

6 But at the place which the LORD thy God shall chuse to place his name in, there thou shalt sacrifice the passover g, at even, at the going down of the sun, at the season b that thou camest forth out of Egypt.

g To wit, in the Court of the Tabernacle or Temple. This he prescribed, partly that this great work might be done with more solemnity and care in such manner as God required; partly, because it was not only a Sacrament, but also a sacrifice, as appears because it is so called, Exod. 12. 27. and 23. 18. and 34. 25. Numb. 9. 7. and because here was the sprinkling of blood, which is the essential part and character of a sacrifice; and partly to design the place where Christ, the true Passeover or Lamb of God, was to be slain. h Understand this with some latitude, as such phrases are commonly taken, about that season, when you had received command from me to go out of Egypt, and were preparing your selves for the journey.

7 And thou shalt roast i, and eat it in the place which the LORD thy God shall chuse, and thou shalt turn in the morning k and go unto thy tents l.

i So that word is used also, 2 Chron. 35. 13. k Either 1. The morning after the seventh day, as appears, partly by the following verse, which is added to explain and limit this ambiguous word; partly by the express command of God that the people should come to Jerusalem to keep this Feast, which by Gods appointment lasted for seven days; partly from the examples of the people staying there the whole time of the feast, 2 Chron. 30. 21. and 35. 17. and partly from the nature and business of this feast, wherein there being so many extraordinary sacrifices to be offered, and feasts made by the people upon the sacrifices, and two days of solemn assemblies, it is not probable, that they would absent themselves from these solemn services, for the performance whereof they came purposely to Jerusalem. Or 2. The morning after the first day, and so they were permitted to go then, and possibly some that lived near Jerusalem might go and return again to the last day of the solemn assembly. But the former seems more probable. l (i. e.) Thy dwellings, which he calls Tents, as respecting their present state, and withal to put them in mind afterwards when they were settled in better habitations, that there was a time when they dwelt in Tents.

8 Six days m thou shalt eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day shall be a † solemn assembly to the LORD thy God, thou shalt do no work there. †Heb. in.

m To wit, besides the first day, on which the Passeover was killed: or rather besides the seventh and the last day, which is here mentioned apart, not as if leavened bread might be eaten then, for the contrary was evident from many places, but because there was something more to be done, to wit a solemn assembly to be kept. So in all there were seven days, as it is said, Exod. 12. 15. Lev. 23. 6. Numb. 28. 17.

9 * Seven weeks n thou shalt number unto thee: begin to number the seven weeks from such time as thou beginnest to put the sickle to the corn o. *Deut. 16. 9. Lev. 23. 15.

*Chap. 4. 19. 3 And hath gone and served other gods, and worshipped them, either the * sun or the moon, or any of the host of heaven, e, which I have not commanded f:

e Those glorious creatures, which are to be admired as the wonderful works of God, but not to be set up in God's stead, nor worshiped as Gods; see Job 31. 26. By condemning the most specious and reasonable of all Idolaters, he intimates, how absurd a thing it is to worship stocks and stones, the works of mens hands. f i. e. I have forbidden, to wit, Exod. 20. Such negative expressions are oft emphatical and imply the contrary, as Prov. 10. 2. and 17. 22. and 24. 23.

4 And it be told thee g, and thou hast heard of it, and enquired diligently ‖, and behold, it be true, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought in Israel:

g By any person, thou shalt not sleight so much as a rumour or flying report of so gross a crime. ‖ By sending messengers, examining witnesses, &c.

5 Then shalt thou bring forth that man, or that woman (which have committed that wicked thing) unto thy gates, even that man, or that woman, * and shalt stone them with stones, till they die.

*Lev. 24. 14. *Numb. 35. 30. Chap. 19. 15. 6 * At the mouth h of two witnesses, or three witnesses i, shall he that is worthy of death, be put to death: but at the mouth of one witness, he shall not be put to death. Matth. 18. 16. Joh. 8. 17. 2 Cor. 13. 1. 1 Tim. 5. 19.

h (i. e.) Upon the Testimony delivered upon oath before the Magistrates. i To wit, credible and competent witnesses. The Jews rejected the Testimonies of Mad-men, Children, Women, Servants, familiar Friends or Enemies, persons of dissolute lives and evil fame. Heb. 10. 28.

7 * The hand of the witness shall be first upon him k, to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people l: so thou * shalt put the evil away from among you. *Deut. 13. 9. chap. 13. 5.

k Either laid upon his head to design the person, or threwed out to throw the first stone at him. God thus ordered it, partly for the caution of witnesses, that, if they had through malice or wrath accused him falsely, they might now be afraid to imbrue their hands in innocent blood; partly for the security and satisfaction of the people in the execution of this punishment. (Who being all highly and particularly obliged to God, are bound to express their zeal for his honour and service, and their detestation of all persons and things so highly dishonourable and abominable to him.

*Jer. 52. 27. 2 Chro. 19. 10. †Heb. If a matter be hidden from thee. chap. 21. 2 Sam. 13. 32. 8 † If there arise a matter too hard for thee m in judgment n, between blood and blood n between plea and plea o, and between stroke and stroke p, being matters of controversie q, within thy gates: then shalt thou arise, and get thee up into the place which the LORD thy God shall chuse r:

m He speaks to the inferiour Magistrates, who were erected in several Cities, as appears by the opposition of these to them at Jerusalem. If, saith he, thou hast not skill or confidence to determine so weighty and difficult a cause. n (i. e.) in capital causes in matter of bloodshed, whether it be willful or casual murder, whether punishable or pardonable by those laws, Exod. 21. 13, 20, 21, 28, and 22. 2. Numb. 35. 11, 16, 19. Deut. 19. 4, 10. o In civil causes, or suits between plaintiffs and defendants about words or estates. p (i. e.) Either first in Ceremonial causes, between plague and plague, between the true leprosie, which is oft times called the plague, and the seeming and counterfeit leprosie; which was oft times hard to determine. And under this as the most eminent of the kind, may seem to be contained all ceremonial uncleannesses. But this seems not probable. 1. Because the final determination of the matter of leprosie is manifestly left to any particular Priest, Levit. 13. and 14. 2. because the person suspected of leprosie was not to be brought to Jerusalem, to be tryed there, but was to be shut up in his own city and house, Levit. 13. 4, 5. and the Judges at Jerusalem neither could nor would determine his case without once seeing the person. 3. Because the case of leprosie was not hard or difficult, as those causes are said to be, but plain and evident, and so particularly and punctually described, that the Priest needed only eyes to decide it. Or rather 2. In Criminal Causes, concerning blows, or wounds inflicted by one man upon another, and to be required of him by the sentence of the Magistrate according to that law, Exod. 21. 23, 24, 25. wherein there might be many cases of great difficulty and doubt, about which see the Annotations there. q (i. e.) Such things or matters of blood and pleas and strokes being doubtful, and the Magistrates divided in their opinions about it, for if it was a clear case, this was not to be done. Some make this an additional clause to comprehend these and all other things, thus as if he had said, and in general, any words or matters of strifes or contentions. r To wit, to set up his Worship and Tabernacle, or Temple there; because there was the abode, both of their Sanhedrim, or chief Council, which was constituted of Priests and civil Magistrates, who were most able to determine all controversies, and of the High-Priests, who were to consult God by Urim, Numb. 27. 21. in great matters, which could not be decided otherwise.

9 And thou shalt come unto the priests the Levites s, and unto the judge t that shall be in those dayes, and enquire, and they shall shew thee the sentence of judgment u.

s (i. e.) Unto the great council, which it is here denominated from, because it consisted chiefly of the Priests and Levites, as being the best Expositors of the Laws of God, by which all those Controversies mentioned v. 8. were to be decided. And the High-Priest was commonly one of that number, and may seem to be understood here under the Priests whereof he was the chief. t This Judge here is, either 1. The supream civil Magistrate, who was made by God the keeper of both tables, and was by his Office to take care of the right administration both of Justice and of Religion, who was to determine causes and suits by his own skill and authority in civil matters, and by the Priests direction in spiritual or sacred causes. But this seems obnorious to some difficulties, because this Judge was obliged to dwell in the place of Gods Worship, which the civil Magistrate was not, and oft times did not. 2. This Judge was one whose Office it was to expound and teach others the law of God, as it here follows, v. 11. therefore not the civil Magistrate. Or 2. The High-Priest who was obliged to live in this place, to whom it belonged to determine some at least of those controversies mentioned v. 8. and to teach and expound the Law of God. And he may be distinctly named, though he be one of the Priests, partly because of his eminency and superiority over the rest of them, as after all Davids enemies Saul is particularly mentioned, Psal. 18 title. and partly to shew that amongst the Priests, he especially was to be consulted in such cases. But this also seems liable to objections. 1. That he seems to be included under the general expression of the Priests and Levites. 2. That the High-Priest is never in all the Scripture called simply the Judge; but generally called the Priest, or the High-Priest, or chief-Priest, or the like; and it is most probable if Moses had meant him here, he would have expressed him by some of his usual Names and Titles, and not by a strange Title which was not likely to be understood.

3. That divers controverſies between blood and blood, plea and plea, ſtroke and ſtroke, were not to be determined by the High-Prieſt, but by other perſons, as appears, by Exod. 18. 22. Deut. 1. 16. 17. Or 3. The Sanhedrim or Supreme Councel, which as was ſaid before, conſiſted partly of Prieſts, and partly of wiſe and learned perſons of other tribes, as is confeſſed by all the Jewiſh, and moſt other writers. And ſo this is added by way of explication, partly to ſhew that the Prieſts and Levites here mentioned, as the perſons to whom all hard controverſies are to be referred, are not all the Prieſts and Levites which ſhould reſide in Jeruſalem, but only ſuch of them as were or ſhould be Members of that great Councel by whom, together with their fellow-Members of other Tribes theſe cauſes were to be decided; partly to intimate, that that great Councel, which had the chief and final determination of all the aboveſaid controverſies, was a mixed aſſembly conſiſting of wiſe and good men, ſome Eccleſiaſtical, and ſome Secular; as it was moſt meet it ſhould be, becauſe many of the cauſes which were brought unto them were mixed cauſes. As for the Conjunctive particle, and, that may be taken either disjunctively for or, as it is Exod. 21. 15. 17. compared with Matt. 15. 4. and Numb. 30. 5, 6. compared with Matt. 12. 37. and Lev. 6. 5, 6. 2. Sam. 2. 19, 21. or exegetically, for, that is, or, to wit, as Judg. 7. 24. 1 Sam. 17. 40. and 28. 3. 2 Chron. 35. 14. and ſo the ſence may be, the Prieſts, the Levites, or the Judge, as it is, v. 12. or, the Prieſts, the Levites, that is, the Judge, or the Judges appointed for this work. And though the word Judge be in the ſingular number, and may ſeem to denote one perſon, yet it is onley an Enallage, or change of the number, the ſingular for the plural, Judges, which is moſt frequent, as Gen. 3. 2, 7. and 49. 6. 1 Sam. 31. 1. 1 King. 10. 22. and 2 King. 11. 10. compared with 2 Chron. 9. 21. and 23. 9 and in the Hebrew, 1 Chron. 4. 42. where divers Officers are called one Head. And ſo it is moſt probably here. 1. Becauſe the following words which belong to this, run altogether in the plural number, they, ther, they, &c. here and v. 10. 11. 2. Becauſe here is the ſame Enallage in the other branch, the ſame perſon or perſons being called the Prieſts here, and the Prieſt, v. 12. 3. Becauſe for the Judge, here is put the Judges, Deut. 19. 17. where we have the ſame phraſe uſed upon the ſame or a like occaſion, the Men between whom the controverſie is ſhall ſtand before the Lord, before the Prieſts and the Judges, which ſhall be in thoſe days. Nor is it ſtrange, but very fit and reaſonable, that ſo many perſons being all united in one body, and to give judgment or ſentence by the conſent of all, or the greateſt part ſhould be here called by the name of one Judge, as indeed they were; and for that reaſon the Prieſts are ſpoken of in the plural number, becauſe they were many, as alſo the other members of that Aſſembly were, and the Judge in the ſingular number, becauſe they all conſtituted but one Judge. u Heb. The Word, or matter of Judgment; i. e. the true ſtate and right of the cauſe, and what judgment or ſentence ought to be given in it.

10 And thou ſhalt x do according to the ſentence, which they of that place (which the LORD ſhall chooſe) ſhall ſhew thee, and thou ſhalt obſerve to do y according to all that they inform thee:

x (i. e.) Thou ſhalt paſs ſentence: for he ſpeaks to the inferiour Magiſtrates; as was before noted, who were to give ſentence, and came hither to be adviſed about it. y It is very obſervable that this place doth not ſpeak of all controverſies of faith; as if they were to believe every thing which they ſhould teach, but only of ſome particular matters of practice and ſtrife between man and man, to which it is plainly limited, v. 8. And they are not here commanded to believe, but only to do, which is thrice repeated.

z Theſe words are a manifeſt limitation of the foregoing aſſertion, that they were to do according to all that the Judge or Judges informed him. And they ſeem to limit and regulate. 1. The judges in their ſentence, that they ſhall not, upon pretence of this Supreme Authority put into their hands, preſume to teach or direct otherwiſe than the Law preſcribes: 2. The People in their obedience: that they ſhall not ſimply obey them in all things, but ſo far forth as their ſentence is according to the Law and Word of God, but not when their commands are evidently contrary to Gods Law, for then, ſay even Popiſh Commentators on this place, they muſt obey God rather than Man. And this cannot be denied by any man of ſenſe, upon ſuppoſition that this place ſpeaks of, and this power given to the Prieſt or Judge reacheth to, all controverſies or queſtions of faith and manners, as the Papiſts would extend it: For put caſe theſe Prieſts or Judges ſhould give a ſentence directly contrary to the expreſs words of Gods Law, Thou ſhalt worſhip a graven Image, as Aaron did in the caſe of the calf; thou ſhalt prophane the Sabbath, thou ſhalt diſhonour thy Father and Mother, thou ſhalt Murder, Steal, commit Adultery, &c. I ask, were the People in this caſe bound to do as the Judge determined, or not? If any ſay they were, ſuch a bold and wicked aſſertion muſt needs ſtrike all ſober Chriſtians with horrour; and if they ſay they were not, then this muſt needs be taken for a limitation. But if this place ſpeak onely of particular ſuits between man and man, as is apparent from the notes on v. 8. And in all ſuch caſes although the Judge be hereby confined and tied to his rule in giving the ſentence, yet it ſeems but fit and reaſonable that people ſhould be bound ſimply to acquieſce in the ſentence of their laſt and higheſt Judge, or elſe there would have been no end of ſtrife.

12 And * the man that will do preſumptuouſly a, and will not hearken unto the Prieſt (that ſtandeth to Miniſter there before the LORD thy GOD) or unto the judge, even that man ſhall die, and thou ſhalt put away the evil b from Iſrael.

* Hoſ. 4. 4. † Heb. not to hearken.

a (i. e.) That will proudly and obſtinately oppoſe the ſentence given againſt him. This is oppoſite to ignorance and errour, Exod. 21. 13, 14. b either 1. The Evil thing, that ſcandal, that pernicious example. Or, 2. That evil, refractory, pernicious perſon, whoſe practice herein tends to the diſſolution of all Government, and the ruine of the Common-wealth of Iſrael.

13 And all the people ſhall hear, and fear, and do no more preſumptuouſly.

14 When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy GOD giveth thee, and ſhalt poſſeſs it, and ſhalt dwell therein, and ſhalt ſay, I will ſet a King over me c, like as all the nations that are about me:

c He only foreſees and foretells what they would do, but doth not ſeem to approve of it, becauſe when they did this thing for this very reaſon here alledged, he declares his utter diſlike of it, 1 Sam. 8. 7.

15 Thou ſhalt in any wiſe ſet d him king over thee, whom the LORD thy God ſhall chuſe e. One * from among thy brethren f ſhalt thou ſet king over thee; thou may'eſt not ſet a ſtranger over thee g, which is not thy brother.

God reſerved to himſelf the nomination both of the Family, and of the Perſon. See 1 Sam. 9. 15, & 10. 24. and 16. 12. 1 Chron. 28. 4, 5. f Of the ſame nation and religion; partly becauſe ſuch a perſon was moſt likely to maintain true religion, and to rule with righteouſneſs, gentleneſs, and kindneſs to his ſubjects; and partly that he might be a fit type of Chriſt their ſupream King, who was to be one of their brethren. g To wit, by thy own choice and conſent; but if God by his providence and for their Sins ſhould ſet a ſtranger over them, they might ſubmit to him, as appears from Jer. 28. 17. Ezek. 17. 12. Mat. 22. 17.

16 But he ſhall not multiply horſes to himſelf g, nor cauſe the people to return to Egypt h, to the end that he ſhould multiply horſes: foraſmuch as the LORD hath ſaid i unto you, * Ye ſhall henceforth no more return that way k.

Much commerce with Egypt, as it here follows, which was famous for horſes, as appears from Exod. 14, 23. 1 King. 10. 26, 28. 2 Chron. 1. 16. and 9. 28. Iſa. 31. 1, 3. Ezek. 17. 5. h Either for habitation; or for trade. To other manifold Sins and violations of his duty to his people, either by neglect and contempt of his buſineſs through effeminacy and ſloath, or by oppreſſing his people, and perverting Juſtice to comply with the vaſt and exorbitant deſires of his Wives. n Leſt this ſhould lift up his heart in confidence and pride, which God abhorrs, and beget in him a contempt of his people; and leſt it ſhould encline or engage, or enable him to burden his people with immoderate exactions. They are not ſimply forbidden to be rich, if God made them ſo either by the voluntary gifts of their ſubjects, or by the ſpoils of their enemies, which was the caſe of David and Solomon, and Jehoſhaphat, &c. but they are forbidden either inordinately to deſire, or irregularly to procure great riches by grinding the faces of their poor people, or by other wicked arts and courſes, as the manner of their neighbouring Kings was.

1 THE prieſts, the Levites, and all the tribe of Levi, * ſhall have no part nor inheritance with Iſrael: they ſhall eat the offerings of the LORD made by fire a, and his inheritance b.

* Numb. 18. 20. Deut. 10. 9. † Cor. 9. 13.

a By which phraſe we here manifeſtly ſee that he means not burnt-offerings, which were wholly conſumed by fire, and no part of them eaten by the Prieſts; but other Sacrifices, whereof part was offered to the Lord by fire, and part was allotted to the Prieſts for their food. b (i. e.) The Lords portion or inheritance, which God had reſerved to himſelf, as Tithes and firſt Fruits, and other oblations diſtinct from thoſe which were made by fire, and ſo theſe two branches make up the whole of that which belonged to God, and was by him given to the Levites.

2 Therefore ſhall they have no inheritance among their brethren: the LORD c is their inheritance, as he hath ſaid unto them.

c (i. e.) The Lords part and right, as was now ſaid.

3 And this ſhall be the prieſts due from the people, from them that offer a ſacrifice d, whether it be ox or ſheep, and they ſhall give unto the prieſt the ſhoulder, and the two cheeks, and the maw e.

d To wit, a Sacrifice of Thankſgiving, or a Peace-Offering, as appears from Levit. 7. 31, 33. which is oft times called ſimply a Sacrifice, as Exod. 18. 12. Levit. 17. 5, 8. Numb. 15. 3. Deut. 12. 27. e Sq. How doth this agree with other Texts, in which the ſhoulder and the breaſt, and thoſe parts only are the Prieſts due, not the cheeks and maw? Anſw. 1. Who ſhall tie Gods hands: what if he now makes an addition, and enlargeth the Prieſts commons? Nothing more uſual than for one Scripture to ſupply what is lacking in another, and for a latter Law of God to add a former. 2. The Breaſt may be here omitted, becauſe it is comprehended under the Shoulder, to which it is commonly joined, and with which it was waved before the Lord. 3. The Hebrew word here rendred Maw or Stomach, which was reckoned among dainties by the Ancients, is not to my remembrance uſed elſewhere, and therefore it may have another ſignification, and ſome render it the breaſt, others take it for the uppermoſt part of the ſtomach, which lies under the breaſt.

4 The * firſt fruit alſo of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thy oil, and the firſt of the fleece of thy ſheep ſhalt thou give him.

* Numb. 18. 12, 24. Exod. 22. 29. 23. 19. Deut. 26. 2. Neh. 10. 35, 37.

5 For * the LORD thy God hath choſen him out of all thy tribes, to ſtand to miniſter in the Name of the LORD f, him, and his ſons for ever.

* Numb. 3. 6.

f (i. e.) Either by Authority and Commiſſion from him, or for his Honour, Worſhip or Service.

6 And if a Levite come from any of thy gates out of all Iſrael, where he ſojourned, and come with all the deſire of his mind unto the place which the LORD ſhall chuſe g;

g Either for any private occaſions, or to ſojourn there for a ſeaſon, or rather with full purpoſe to fix his abode, and to ſpend his whole time and ſtrength in the ſervice of God, as appears by the whole ſtate and ſtrength in the ſervice of God, as appears by the ſale of his patrimony mentioned, v. 8. It ſeems probable that the ſale of his patrimony mentioned, v. 8. It ſeems probable that the ſeveral Prieſts were to come from their Cities to the Temple by ſeveral Prieſts were to come from their Cities to the Temple by turns, before David's time, and it is certain they did ſo after it. But if any of them were not contented with this ſeldom attendance upon God in his Tabernacle, or Temple, and deſired more intirely and conſtantly to devote himſelf to Gods ſervice there, he was permitted ſo to do, becauſe this was an eminent act of piety joyned with ſelf-denial to part with thoſe great conveniencies which he could and did enjoy in the City of his poſſeſſion, and to oblige himſelf to more conſtant and laborious work about the Sacrifices, &c.

7 Then he ſhall miniſter in the Name of the LORD his God, as all his brethren the Levites do, which ſtand there before the LORD.

8 They ſhall have like portions h to eat, beſide † that which cometh of the ſale of his patrimony i.

h To wit, with their Brethren who were in actual miniſtration: as they ſhare with them in the work, ſo ſhall they alſo in the incouragements. i Though he have an eſtate whereby he may ſubſiſt raiſed by the ſale of his Houſe in his City, and his Cattel, and other moveables, yet you ſhall not upon this ground either deny or diminiſh their part of your maintenance. The reaſon of this Law was, partly, becauſe he that waited on the Altar, ought to live by the Altar: and partly becauſe it was fit he ſhould keep his money, wherewith he might redeem what he ſold, if afterwards he ſaw occaſion for it. Heb. Beſides his ſales by the fathers, i. e. Of that which came to him by his Fathers, or, according to his Fathers, or, his Fathers houſe; and theſe words may be joyned not wi h the word immediately foregoing, but with the former part of the verſe, and order, Beſides that which cometh by the ſale of their goods; they ſhall have like portions to eat to what their Brethren have, each of them eating according to his Fathers houſe, i. e. A Gerſhonite ſhall eat with his Brethren the Gerſhonites who are then miniſtring, and a Merarite with the Merarites, &c. and ſo there ſhall be no diſturbance nor change in the appointed courſes by their acceſſion to the number.

9 When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou ſhalt not learn to do after the abominations of thoſe nations.

10 There ſhall not be found among you any one that maketh his ſon, or his daughter * to paſs through the fire k, or that * uſeth divination l, or an obſerver of times m, or an inchanter n, or a witch o, t The people of the land which thou art going to poſſeſs mentioned above, ver. 9.

13 Thou ſhalt be ‖ perfect with the LORD u thy God.

u Sincerely and wholly his, ſeeking him and cleaving to him and to his word alone, and therefore abhorring all commerce and converſations with Devils or their agents, ſuch as were now mentioned.

14 For theſe nations which thou ſhalt ‖ poſſeſs, hearkened unto obſervers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, the LORD thy God hath not ſuffered thee ſo to do x.

x Hath not ſuffered thee to follow thy own vain mind and theſe ſuperſtitious and Diabolical practices, as he hath ſuffered other nations to do, Act. 14. 16. but hath inſtructed thee better by his word and ſpirit, and thereby kept thee from ſuch courſes, and will more fully inſtruct thee by a great Prophet, &c. Or, hath not given to thee, to wit, ſuch perſons to conſult with, but hath given thee prophets to inſtruct thee, and will in due time give thee an eminent prophet as it here follows.

15 * The LORD thy God will raiſe up y unto thee a prophet z from the midſt of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me, unto him ye ſhall hearken.

* Joh. 1. 45. Act 3. 22. & 7. 37.

y (i. e.) Will produce and ſend into the world in due time. z Thoſe words may be underſtood ſecundarily concerning the ſucceſſion of Prophets which God would raiſe for the inſtruction of his Church, both becauſe this is alledged as an argument why they need not conſult with diviners, &c. becauſe they ſhould have Prophets at hand whenſoever it was needful, to adviſe them, and becauſe this Prophet is oppoſed to the falſe prophet, and a general rule is hereupon given for the diſcovery of all ſucceeding Prophets whether they be true or falſe, ver. 20, 21, 22. but they are chiefly to be underſtood of Chriſt, as the following words ſhew which do not truly and fully agree to any other; particularly where he is ſaid to be like unto Moſes, which is ſimply denied concerning all other Prophets, Deut. 34. 10. and therefore it is not probable that it ſhould be ſimply affirmed concerning all true Prophets ſucceeding him. But Chriſt was truly, and in all commendable parts like him, in being both a Prophet and a King and a Prieſt and Mediatour, as Moſes was, in the excellency of his Miniſtry and work, in the glory of his miracles, in his familiar and intimate converſe with God, &c. And this place is expounded of Chriſt alone by God himſelf in the New Teſtament, Act. 3. 22. and 7. 37. See alſo Joh. 1. 45. and 6. 14.

16 According to all that thou deſiredſt of the LORD thy God in Horeb, in the day of the aſſembly a, ſaying, * Let me not hear again the voice of the LORD my God, neither let me ſee this great fire any more, that I die not.

* Exod. 20. 19. Heb. 12. 19.

a To wit, of that great and general congregation of all the people together.

17 And the LORD ſaid unto me, * They have well ſpoken that which they have ſpoken.

* chap. 5. 28.

18 * I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and * will put my words in his mouth b, and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him c.

* Joh. 1. 45. Ac. 3. 22. & 7. 37. * Isa. 51. 16.

b Will instruct him what to say, reveal my self and my Will to him. c He will faithfully execute the office and trust I commit to him.

19 And it shall come to pass, that whosoever will not hearken unto my words which he shall speak in my Name, I will require it of him d.

d (i.e.) I will punish him severely for it, as this phrase is taken, Gen. 9. 5. and 42. 22. The sad effect of this threatning the Jews have felt for above 1600 years together.

* chap. 13. 5. Jer. 14. 14. Zech. 13. 3.

20 But * the prophet which shall presume to speak a word in my Name, which I have not commanded to speak, or that shall speak in the name of other gods, even that prophet shall die.

21 And if thou say in thine heart, How shall we know the word which the LORD hath not spoken?

* Jer. 28. 9.

22 * When a prophet speaketh in the Name of the LORD, if the thing e follow not, nor come to pass, that is the thing which the LORD hath not spoken f, but the prophet hath spoken it presumptuously g: thou shall not be afraid of him h:

e Which he gives as a sign of the truth of his prophecy; He means the prediction of some strange and wonderful event, as appears by comparing this with Deut. 13. 1, 2. f The falshood of his prediction shews him to be a false prophet, though the truth and accomplishment of his prediction had not proved him to be a true Prophet, as is evident from Deut. 13. 2, 3. g Impudently ascribing his own vain and lying fancies to the God of truth. h (i.e.) Of his predictions or threatnings, so as to be scared from doing thy duty in bringing him to deserved punishment.

CHAP. XIX.

The rehearsal of the cities of refuge, for him that killeth his neighbour ignorantly, 1—10. but he that hateth and killeth his neighbour, tho' fled into one of those cities, must die, 11—13. No removing of old Land-marks, 14. The number of witnesses, 15. The punishment of false witnesses, 16—21.

* chap. 12. 29.

1 WHen the LORD thy God * hath cut off the nations, whose land the LORD thy God giveth thee, and thou † succeedest them, and dwellest in their cities, and in their houses:

† Heb. inherite, or possesse.

2 * Thou shalt separate three cities for thee in the midst of thy land a, which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it.

* Exod. 21. 13. Num. 35. 10. 11. Josh. 20. 2.

a To wit, beyond Jordan, as there were three already appointed on this side Jordan, Numb. 35. 14. He saith, in the midst of the land, either for, in the land, as in the midst of the city, Jer. 52. 25. is the same with that, in the city, 2 King. 25. 19. or to design the places, that they should be situated in the midst of the several parts of their land, to which they might conveniently and speedily flee from all the parts of the land.

3 Thou shalt prepare thee a way b, and divide the coasts of thy land (which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit) into three parts c, that every slayer may flee thither.

b Distinguish it by evident marks, and make it plain and convenient, to prevent mistakes and delays. c Not into more, because it was fit that these places should, as far as it was possible, be at some considerable distance from the friends of the slain person, lest the sight of the manslayer might have provoked their passion and occasioned his ruine.

4 And this is the case of the slayer which shall flee thither, that he may live, whoso killeth his neighbour ignorantly, whom he hated not † in time past.

† Heb. from yesterday the third day.

5 As when a man goeth into the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and his hand fetcheth a stroke with the ax to cut down the tree: and the † head slippeth from the † helve, and lighteth upon his neighbour that he die, he shall flee unto one of those cities, and live:

† Heb. wood. † Heb. findeth. † Heb. smite him in soul. † Heb. from yesterday third day.

6 Lest the avenger of blood pursue the slayer d, while his heart is hot, and overtake him, because the way is long, and † slay him e; whereas he was not worthy of death, inasmuch as he hated him not † in time past.

d This verse is to be joyned with ver. 3. as is evident, the 4th and 5th verses, coming in as a parenthesis, which is usual, in Scripture and other authors. e Which is supposed, but not allowed, as appears from the following words. But the avenger of blood is not to be punished with death for killing the manslayer in case he found him without the borders of the city of refuge after he had been received there, Numb. 35. 26, 27. because then he was guilty of a new crime, to wit, a contempt of Gods ordinance, and a gross neglect of the duty of self-preservation, and therefore deserved death from God, who might permit it to be inflicted by the avenger of blood.

7 Wherefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt separate three cities for thee.

* chap. 12. 20.

8 And if the LORD thy God * enlarge thy coast f (as he hath sworn unto thy fathers) and give thee all the land which he promised to give unto thy fathers:

f As far as Euphrates. See Gen. 15. 18. Exod. 23. 31. Deut. 1. 7.

9 (If thou shalt keep all these commandments to do them, which I command thee this day, to love the LORD thy God, and to walk ever in his ways) * then * Josh. 20. 7. shalt thou add three cities moe for thee, beside these three:

10 That innocent blood be not shed in thy land, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and so blood be upon thee.

11 But if any man hate his neighbour, and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him † mortally, that he die, and fleeth into one of these cities: † Heb. in soul.

12 Then the elders of his city g shall send, and fetch him thence h, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, that he may die.

g Either of the slain person, who were most likely to prosecute the murderer: or, of the murderer, because God would oblige even his own fellow citizens to prosecute him to death, that it might appear how hateful murder and the murderer is to God and ought to be to all men. h Demand him of the Elders of the city of refuge, who upon the hearing of the cause and the evidence of the murder were obliged to deliver the offender to justice.

13 Thine eye shall not pity him, but thou shalt put away the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, that it may go well with thee.

14 * Thou shalt not remove thy neighbours † land, which mark i, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit, in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. * chap. 27. 17. † Heb. bound.

i By which the several portions of lands distributed to several families were distinguished one from another. See Job 24. 2. Prov. 22. 28. Hos. 5. 10.

15 * One witness shall not rise up k against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses shall the matter be established. * Num. 35. 30. chap. 17. 6. Mat. 18. 16.

k Or, not stand, or, not be established, accepted, owned as sufficient: it is the same word which in the end of the verse is rendred be established. Joh. 8. 17. 2 Cor. 13. 1. Heb. in.

16 If a false witness l rise up against any man to testifie against him ‖ that which is wrong:

l A single witness, though he speak truth, is not to be accepted for the condemnation of another man, but if he be convicted of false witness, this is sufficient for his own condemnation. ‖ Or, falling away.

17 Then both the men between whom the controversie is, shall stand before the LORD, before the priests, and the judges m, which shall be in those days:

m See on Deut. 17. 9, 12. and observe that the controversies both here and there referred to and to be determined by the Priests and Judges, are only between man and man, and not doctrines of faith and manners, as the Papists for their own advantage pretend.

18 And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsly against his brother:

19 * Then shall ye do unto him, as he had thought * Prov. to have done unto his brother: * so shalt thou put the evil away from among you. 19. 5, 9. chap. 13. 5. & 17. 7.

20 And those which remain n shall hear and fear, and shall henceforth commit no more any such evil among you.

n (i.e.) The rest of the people. See Deut. 13. 11. and 17. 13.

21 And thine eye shall not pity, but * life shall go for life, eye for eye o, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot. * Exod. 21. 23. Lev. 24. 20. Mat. 5. 38.

o What punishment he intended or the law allotted to the accused, if he had been convicted, the same shall the false accuser bear. Of this law see on Exod. 21. 24. Lev. 24. 20.

CHAP. XX.

The priests exhortation to encourage the people to fight their enemies, 1—4. The Officers Proclamation, who are to be dismissed from the war, 5—9. A proclamation of peace to be made to besieged cities, 10. and to deal with 'em as they accept or refuse it, 11—18. What trees were to be cut down for the siege, and what not, 19, 20.

1 WHen thou goest out to battel a against thine enemies, and seest * horses, and chariots, and a people more than thou, be not afraid of them: for the LORD thy God is with thee, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt. * Psal. 20. 7. Isa. 31. 1.

a Upon a just and necessary cause, as upon great provocation, or for thy own defence.

2 And it shall be when ye are come nigh unto the battel, that the priest b shall approach, and speak unto the people c, b An eminent Priest appointed for this work, and to blow with the holy trumpets, Numb. 10. 9. and 31. 6. c Either successively to one regiment of the army after another, or to some by himself, to others by his brethren or deputies, which accompanied him for that end.

3 And shall say unto them, Hear, O Israel, ye approach this day unto battel against your enemies: let not your heart † faint d, fear not, and do not † tremble, neither be ye terrified because of them. † Heb. be soft or tender. † Heb. make haste.

d Heb. be soft or tender. Softness or tenderness of heart towards God is commended, 2 King. 22. 19. but towards enemies it. is condemned, here and ver. 8. Levit. 26. 36. 2 Chron. 13. 7. Isa. 7. 4.

4 For the LORD your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you against your enemies, to save you.

5 And the officers shall speak unto the people, saying, What man is there that hath built a new house, and hath not dedicated it? let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battel, and another man dedicate it g.

g Which was done by feasting and thanksgiving to God. See the title of Psal. 30. and Hebrew. 22. 27. Heb. hath initiated it; i.e. entred upon it, taken possession of it, dwelt in it. † Lest his heart be set upon it, and thereby he be negligent or timorous in the battel to the scandal and prejudice of others. ‖ And so he should lose and another get the fruit of his labours, which might seem unjust or hard. And God provides even for mens infirmities. But this and the following exceptions are to be understood only of a War allowed by God, not in a War commanded by God, nor in the approaching War with the Canaanites, from which even the Bridegroom was not exempted, as the Jewish writers note.

6 And what man is he that hath planted a vineyard h, and hath not yet † eaten of it? let him also go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battel, and another man eat of it. † Heb. made it common. See Levit. 19. 23, 24.

h This and the former dispensation were generally convenient, but more necessary in the beginning of their settlement in Canaan, for the encouragement of those who should build houses or plant vineyards, which was chargeable to them, and beneficial to the commonwealth, i Heb. made it common, to wit, for the use of himself and family and friends, which it was not till the fifth year, Levit. 19. 23, &c. Jer. 31. 5.

7 * And what man is there that hath betrothed k a wife, and hath not taken her? let him go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battel, and another man take her. * chap. 24. 5.

k Which was done by a solemn and mutual promise, but not by an actual contract. See Gen. 19. 14. Deut. 22. 23.

8 And the officers shall speak further unto the people: and they shall say, * What man is there that is fearful and faint-hearted? let him go and return unto his house, lest his brethrens heart † faint as well as his heart. * Judg. 7. 3. † Heb. melt.

l Or rather, as the Hebrew hath it, they shall set or place the captains of the armies in the head or front of the people under their charge, that they may conduct and manage them, and by their example incourage their souldiers But it is not likely they had their captains to make or chuse when they were just going to battel.

10 When thou comest nigh unto a city to fight against it, then * proclaim peace unto it m. * 1 Sam. 20. 18.

m This seems to be understood not of the cities of the Canaanites, as is manifest from ver. 16, 17, 18. who were under an absolute sentence of utter destruction, Exod. 23. 32, 33. Deut. 7. 1, 2. whence they are blamed that made any league or peace with them, Judg. 2. 2. but of the cities either of other nations who injure or disturbed them, or commenced war against them, or aided their enemies, or oppressed their friends and allies; or of the Hebrews themselves, if they were guilty or abettors of Idolatry or Apostacy from God, or of sedition or rebellion against authority, or of giving protection and defence to capital offenders. See Gen. 14. Judg. 20. 2 Sam. 20. &c.

11 And it shall be, if it make thee answer of peace, and open unto thee, then it shall be, that all the people that is found therein, shall be tributaries unto thee, and they shall serve thee n.

n By their purses, and by their labours too, as appears from 1 King. 9. 15. 2 Chron. 8. 7.

12 And if it will make no peace with thee, but will make war against thee, then thou shalt besiege it.

13 And when the LORD thy God hath delivered it into thine hand, thou shalt smite every male thereof with the edge of the sword o.

o A just punishment of their obstinate refusal of peace offered.

14 But the women, and the little ones p, and * the cattel, and all that is in the city, even all the spoil thereof, shalt thou † take unto thy self, and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which the LORD thy God hath given thee. * Josh. 8. 2. † Heb. spoil.

p Excused by their sex or age, as not involved in the guilt, nor being likely to revenge their quarrel.

15 Thus shalt thou do unto all the cities which are very far off from thee, which are not of the cities of these nations.

16 But * of the cities of these people which the LORD thy God doth give thee for an inheritance, thou shalt save alive nothing that breatheth q: * Num. 33. 52. chap. 7. 1, 2.

q Heb. no soul, i. e. no man, as that word is oft used. Compare Jos. 10. 40. with 11. 14. For the beasts, some few excepted as being under a special curse, were given them for a prey.

17 But thou shalt utterly destroy them, namely, the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee:

18 That they teach you not to do after all their abominations which they have done unto their gods: so should ye sin against the LORD your God.

19 When thou shalt besiege a city a long time in making war against it, to take it, thou shalt not destroy the trees thereof † by forcing an ax against them, for thou mayest eat of them, and thou shalt not cut them down († for the tree of the field is mans life ‖) † to employ them in the siege. † Or, for O man, the tree of the field is to be employed in the siege. † Heb. ‖ Heb. to go from before thee.

r To wit, the fruit trees, as appears from the following words. Which is to be understood of a general destruction of them, not of the cutting down of some few of them, as the conveniency of the siege might require. s (i. e.) The sustenance or support of his life, as life is taken Deut. 24. 6. But this place may be otherwise translated, as it is in the Margeint of our English Bibles: For, O man, (the Hebrew letter He being here the note of a vocative case) as it is Esai. 9. 7.) the tree (or, trees, the singular number for the plural, as is common) of the field is (or ought, as the Hebrew Lamed is used Kibh. 9. 1. Psal. 62. 10.) to be employed in the siege, or, as it is in the Hebrew, to go before thy face, i.e. to make fences for thy security, in the siege. The trees of the field, I here understand not its general signification of all trees including fruit-bearing trees, as that phrase is commonly used, but in its more special and distinct signification, for unfruitful trees, as it is taken Isa. 55. 12. or such as grow only in open fields, such as are elsewhere called the trees of the wood, 1 Chron. 16. 33. Isa. 7. 2. or the trees of the forest, Cant. 2. 3. Isa. 10. 19. which are opposed to the trees of the gardens, Gen. 3. 3. 8. Eccl. 2. 5. Ezek. 31. 9. as the flower of the field, Psal. 103. 15. Isa. 40. 6. and the lilies of the field, Mat. 6. 28. are opposed to those that grow in Gardens, and are preserved and cultivated by the gardners art and care. And so it is a very proper argument to dissuade from the destroying of fruit-trees, because the wild and unfruitful trees were sufficient for the use of the siege. And this fence fitly agrees with the following words, where the concession or grant which here is delivered in more ambiguous terms of the tree of the field is repeated and explained concerning the trees which thou knowest that they be not trees for meat.

20 Only the trees which thou knowest that they be not trees for meat, thou shalt destroy, and cut them down, and thou shalt build bulwarks against the city that maketh war with thee, until † it be subdued. † Heb. it come down.

CHAP. XXI.

How to expiate an uncertain murder, 1—9. The usage of a Captive taken to Wife, 10—14. The first-born, though the son of the hated, is not to be disherited, 15—17. The punishment of a stubborn son, viz. Death, 18—21. The cursed death of them that are hanged, 22, 23.

1 IF one be found slain in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it, lying in the field a, and it be not known who hath slain him:

a Or, in the city, or any place: only the field is named, as the place where such murders are most commonly committed, and most easily concealed.

2 Then thy elders and thy judges b shall come forth, and they shall measure c unto the cities which are round about him that is slain.

b Those of thy Elders who are Judges: for the latter word explains and restrains the former, the Judges or Rulers of all the neighbouring cities, who were all concerned in this enquiry. c Unless it be evident and confessed which city is nearest, for then measuring was superfluous.

3 And it shall be that the city which is next unto the slain man, even the elders of that city shall take an heifer which hath not been wrought with, and which hath not drawn in the yoke d.

d A fit vicegerent and representative of the murderer, in whose stead it was killed, who by this act hath shewn himself to be a son of Belial, who would not bear the yoke of Gods law. A type also of Christ, who was obliged to no work, and under no yoke, but what he had voluntarily taken upon himself.

4 And the elders of that city shall bring down the heifer unto a rough valley, which is neither eared nor sowen e, and shall strike off the heifers neck f there in the valley.

e Partly to represent the hard and unprofitable and untutoured heart of the murderer; and partly that such a desert and horrid place might beget an horrour of murder and of the murderer. f To shew what they would and should have done to the murderer if they had found him.

5 And the priests the sons of Levi shall come near g (for * them the LORD thy God hath chosen to minister unto him, and to bless in the Name of the LORD) and * by their † word shall every controversie h, and every stroke be tried. * chap. 10. 8. * chap. 17. 8, 9. † Heb. mouth.

g Both to direct them in all the circumstances of action and to see that the law was observed, and to bless them in Gods name, by praying for them, and absolving or pronouncing them guiltless in in this matter. b Not absolutely all manner of controversies that could possibly arise, as if their word were to determine whether there were a God or providence or no, whether God should be worshipped, and his commands observed or no, whether Moses was a true Prophet or an impostour, whether Apostate and Idolatrous Israelites should be punished or no; which is apparently absurd and ridiculous; but every such controversie as might arise about the matter here spoken of; nothing being more usual than to understand universal expressions in a limited sense; and indeed this is limited and explained by the following words, and every stroke, the particle and being put expositively; of which instances have been formerly given, i. e. every controversie which shall arise about any stroke, whether such a mortal stroke as is here spoken of, a murder, which may well be called a stroke, as to smite is oft used for to kill, as Gen. 4. 15. Levit. 24. 17. &c. or any other stroke or wound given by one man to another.

6 And all the elders of that city that are next unto the See Pf. 9. 12. slain man, * shall wash their hands i over the heifer that is beheaded in the valley, i In testimony of their innocency. See on Mat. 27. 24.

7 And they shall answer k, and say, Our hands have not shed this blood l, neither have our eyes seen it m.

k To wit, to the Priests who shall examine them and determine this controversie. l This about which the present enquiry is made: or this which is here present: for it is thought the Corps of the slain man was brought into the same place where the heifer was slain. m Nor have we seen or understood how or by whom this was done.

8 Be merciful, O LORD, unto thy people Israel
Judg. 9. 4. whom thou hast redeemed, and * lay not innocent blood
* Heb. in the midst. † unto thy people of Israels charge: and the blood shall be forgiven them n.

n (i.e.) Not imputed to them nor punished in them: for God is sometimes said to forgive, when he doth not punish, as Psal. 78. 38. Besides though there was no mortal guilt in this people, yet there was a ceremonial uncleanness in the land, which was to be expiated and forgiven.

9 So shalt thou put away the guilt of innocent blood from among you, when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the LORD.

10 When thou goest forth to war against thine enemies o, and the LORD thy God hath delivered them into thine hand, and thou hast taken them captive;

o Of other nations, but not of the Canaanites, for they might not spare their women, and much less marry them, Exod. 34. 16. Deut. 7. 3.

11 And seest among the captives a beautiful woman, and hast a desire unto her p, that thou wouldest have her to thy wife:

p Or, hast cleaved to her, to wit, in love: or hast taken delight in her. Which may be a modest expression for lying with her, and seems probable, because it is said v. 14. that he had humbled her, to wit, by military insolence when he took her captive, not after he had married her, for then he would have expressed it thus, because thou hast married her, which had been more emphatical than to say, because thou hast humbled her. And here seem to be two cases supposed, and direction given what to do in both of them, 1. that he did desire to marry her, of which he speaks ver. 11, 12, 13. 2. that he did not desire this, or not delight in her, of which he speaks, ver. 14.

12 Then thou shalt bring her home to thine house,
Or, suffer to grow. † Heb. make or rest. and she shall shave her head, and ‖ † pare her nails q.

q Either 1. to take off his affections from her by rendring her uncomely and deformed, but then the last words must not be rendred, shall pare her nails, but shall nourish them or suffer them to grow, as the Chaldee, Arabick and divers of the learned Jews and other Interpreters render it. Or 2. to express her sorrow for the loss of her father and mother, as it follows ver. 13. it being the antient custom of mourners in most nations to shave themselves, and in some to pare their nails, in others to suffer them to grow. Or rather 3. in token of her renouncing her heathenish Idolatry and superstition, and of her becoming a new woman, and embracing the true religion. Which her captive condition and subjection to his will would make her inclinable to do in profession.

13 And she shall put the raiment of her captivity r from off her, and shall remain in thine house, and bewail her father and mother s a full month: and after that thou shalt go in unto her, and be her husband, and she shall be thy wife t.

r (i.e.) Either 1. those goodly raiments in which she was when she was taken captive, in stead of which she now must put on a servile habit, as this is generally understood, or rather 2. those servile and sordid raiments which were put upon her when she was taken captive, as the manner was to do with captives, as the phrase it self seems to intimate, as prison-garments, Jer. 52. 33. are such garments as prisoners use to wear; and garments of praise are praiseworthy or glorious garments, and it seems harsh to call those garments of captivity, which are made for and generally worn by free persons only, and which are usually taken away from persons when they come into captivity; Add, that this doth not seem to be any part or token of her sorrow, but rather a mending of her condition, and exchanging her servile habit for a better and more decent one, which might be, though this were a mourning habit. s Either their death, or, which was in effect the same, her final separation from them. Withall this signified her alienation from them or from their superstitious and Idolatrous courses, and her translation of her love from all other persons to her husband and to the true religion. Compare Psal. 45. 11. t Supposing what might very rationally be supposed of one in her circumstances, and what the signified by the foregoing rites, that she should submit to her husbands Religion, in which case the marriage might be tolerable. Or this was a permission and indulgence given to them for the hardness of their hearts, as in the case of Divorce, Deut. 24. 1. Mat. 19. 8.

14 And it shall be, if thou have no delight in her u, Gal. 3. 13. † Heb. the curse of God. then thou shalt let her go whether she will; but thou shalt not sell her at all for money, thou shalt not make merchandise of her x, because thou hast humbled her y.

u Either 1. after thou hast married her, and so this is a permission of a Divorce, which being indulged towards an Israelitish woman, was not likely to be denied towards a stranger. Or rather 2. before thy marriage; for it is not probable, that God having given him competent time for the trial of his affections to her before he was permitted to marry her, would suffer him upon so slight an occasion within a day or two after to solemn a contract, to send her away: nor is there a word spoken here of any Divorce. x (i. e.) Make gain of her, either by using her by thy own servile works, or by prostituting her to the lusts or to the service of others. y (i. e.) Lain with her as this phrase is oft used, as Gen. 34. 2. Deut. 22. 24, 29. Judg. 19. 24. Ezek. 22. 10, 11.

15 If a man have two wives z, one beloved, and
1 Chron. 11. 21. another hated a, and they have born him children, both the beloved, and the hated: and if the first-born son be hers that was hated:

z Either 1. both together: which practice, though tolerated, is not hereby made lawful, but only provision is made for the children in that case. Or 2. one after another. a Comparatively, i. e. less loved, as Gen. 29. 31. Mat. 6. 24. Luk. 14. 26.

16 Then it shall be, when he * maketh his sons to

b It is not lawful, because contrary to the rights and law of nature. c Or, before the face of the son, i. e. in his life time, as this phrase is understood, Gen. 11. 28. and 16. 12. and 25. 18. And when this phrase is rendred before another it signifies only in the presence of another, but never notes the preference of one person to another, which the Hebrews express in another manner. And this may be added to intimate, that if the eldest son were dead and had left a child, the father was free to give the right of his first-born unto his second son rather than to the child of the eldest. Or this phrase may be an aggravation of the fact, whereby his father did in a manner spit in his face, and fasten a reproach upon him in his very sight and presence.

17 But he shall acknowledge d the son of the hated Heb. found him. for the first born, by giving him a double portion e of all † that he hath: for he is the * beginning of his strength f; † Heb. that is the right of the first-born g his.

d (i.e.) Make it appear that he owns him. e For the phrase see 2 King. 2. 9. Zach. 13. 8. and for the thing see Gen. 25. 31. 1 Chron. 5. 1. f (i. e.) The first evidence of his manly strength and ability for procreation. * Gen. 49. 3.

18 If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, which will not obey the voice of his father, or the voice of his mother, and that when they have chastened him, will not hearken unto them:

19 Then shall his father and his mother g lay hold of him, and bring him out unto the elders of his city b, and unto the gate of his place, g The consent of both is required to prevent the abuse of this Law to cruelty. And it cannot reasonably be supposed that both would agree without manifest necessity and the sons abominable and incorrigible wickedness, in which case it seems a fit and righteous law, because the crime of Rebellion against his own Parents was so high in it self, and did so fully signifie what a pernicious Member, and son of Belial he would be in the Commonwealth of Israel, who had dissolved all his Natural Obligations. Yet the Jews say this Law was never put in practice, and therefore it might be made for terrour and prevention, and to render the authority of Parents more sacred and powerful. h Which was a sufficient caution to preserve Children from the malice of any hard-hearted Parents, because these Elders were first to examine the cause with all exactness, and then to pronounce the sentence.

20 And they shall say unto the elders of his city, This Prov. 23. 20. our son i is stubborn and rebellious i, he will not obey our voice: he is a glutton, and a drunkard k:

i Adds incorrigibleness to all his wickedness. k Under which two offences others of a like or worse nature are comprehended by a Synechdoche.

21 And all the men of his city shall stone him l with Lev. 20. 27. stones that he die: so shalt thou put evil away from among you, and all Israel shall hear, and fear.

l Which was the punishment appointed for blasphemers and Idolaters; which if it seem severe, it is to be considered that Parents are in Gods stead, and entrusted in good measure with his authority over their Children, and that Families are the matter and foundation of the Church and Commonwealth, and they who are naughty Members and Rebellious children in them, do commonly prove the bane and plague of these; and therefore no wonder if they are nipped in the bud.

22 And if a man have committed a sin worthy of Gal. 3. 13. † Heb. the curse of God. death, and he be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree m:

m Which was done after the Malefactor was put to death some other way, this publick shame being added to his former punishment. See Jos. 7. 25. and 8. 29. and 10. 26. 2 Sam. 4. 12. and 21. 9.

23 His body shall not remain all night upon the tree,
Gal. 3. 13. † Heb. the curse of God. but thou shalt in any wise bury him that day (for * he that is hanged, † † accursed of God n) that thy land be not defiled o, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

n (i.e.) He is in a singular manner cursed and punished by Gods appointment with a most shameful kind of punishment, as this was held among the Jews and all Nations; and therefore this punishment may suffice for him, and there shall not be added to it that of lying unburied, which was another great calamity, Jer. 16. 4. And this curse is here appropriated to those that are hanged, partly because this punishment was inflicted only upon the most notorious and publick Offenders, and such as brought the curse of God upon the community, as Numb. 25. 4. 2 Sam. 21. 6. and principally to foreshignifie that Christ should undergo this execrable punishment, and be made a curse for us, Gal. 3. 13. which though it was yet to come in respect to time, yet was present unto God, and in his eye in this time. And for this is delivered with respect unto Christ, as many other passages of Scripture manifestly are. o To wit, morally, either by inhumanity towards the dead: or rather by suffering the monument or memorial of the many great wickedness, and of Gods curse, to remain publick and visible a longer time than God would have it, whereas it should be put out of sight, and buried in oblivion.

Exod. 23. 4 THou * shalt not see thy brothers a ox, or his sheep go astray, and hide thy self from them b, thou shalt in any case bring them again unto thy brother.

a So called by communion not of Religion, but of nature, as having one Father, even God, Mal. 2. 10. as appears, 1. Because the same Law is given about their Enemies ox, &c. Exod. 23. 4. 2. Because else the obligation of this Law had been uncertain, seeing men could not ordinarily tell whether the straying Ox or Sheep belonged to a Jew or to a stranger. 3. Because this was a duty of common justice and charity, which the Law of Nature taught even Heathens, and it is absurd to think that the Law of God delivered to the Jews should have less charity in it than the law of nature given to the Gentiles. b (i.e.) Dissemble or pretend that thou dost not see them; or neglect or pass them by as if thou hadst not seen them.

2 And if thy brother be not nigh unto thee c, or if found not him. thou know him not d, then thou shalt bring it unto thine own house e, and it shall be with thee until thy brother seek after it, and thou shalt restore it to him again f.

c Which may make the duty more troublesome or chargeable. d Which implies, that if they did know the owner, they should restore it to him. e To be used like thine own Cattle. f The owner, as it may be presumed, paying the charges.

3 In like manner shalt thou do with an Ass, and so shalt thou do with his raiment, and with all lost things of thy brothers, which he hath lost, and thou hast found, shalt thou do likewise; thou mayest not hide thy self g.

g (i.e.) Dissemble that thou hast found it. Or, hide it, i. e. conceal the thing lost.

4 Thou shalt not see thy brothers ass, or his ox fall down by the way, and hide thy self from them: thou shalt surely help him h to lift them up again.

h (i.e.) Thy Brother, the owner. Compare Exod. 23. 5.

5 The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a womans garment i: for all that do so, are abomination unto the LORD thy God.

i To wit, ordinarily or unnecessarily, for in some cases this may be lawful, as to make an escape for ones life. Now this is forbidden, partly for decency sake, that men might not confound, nor seem to confound those Sexes which God hath distinguished, that all appearance of evil might be avoided, such change of garments carrying a manifest umbrage or sign of softness and effeminacy in the man, of arrogance and impudency in the woman, of lightness and petulancy in both; and partly to cut off all suspicions and occasions of evil, which this practice opens a wide door unto.

6 If a birds nest chance to be before thee in the way, in any tree, or on the ground, whether they be young ones, or eggs, and the dam sitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, thou shalt not take the dam with the young.

7 But thou shalt in any wise let the dam go k, and take the young to thee, that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days.

k Partly for the Birds sake, which suffered enough by the loss of its young; for God would not have a cruelty exercised towards the brute Creatures, and partly for their sake to restrain their greediness and covetousness that they should not monopolize all to themselves, but might leave the hopes of a future fall to others.

8 When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt † Heb. a battlement. make a † † battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thine house, if any man fall from thence.

† † (i.e.) A fence or breast-work, because the roofs of their houses were made flat or plain, that men might walk and recreate themselves upon them, Jos. 2. 6. Neh. 8. 16. Psal. 129. 6. Isa. 15. 3. and 22. 1. Jer. 19. 13. and 32. 29. and 48. 38. Zeph. 1. 5. Acts 10. 9. a Or, the guilt of blood, by a mans fall from the top of thy house, through thy neglect of this necessary provision.

9 Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with divers
Lev. 19. 19. seeds a: lest the fruit of thy seed b which thou hast sown, and the fruit of thy vineyard be defiled.
† Heb. fulness of thy seed.

a Either 1. With divers kinds of seed mixed and sowed together between the rows of Vines in the Vineyard; which was forbidden to be done in the Field, Levit. 19. 19. and here in the Vineyard. Or 2. With any kind of seed differing from that of th: Vine, which would produce either Herbs, or Corn, or Fruit-bearing Trees, whose Fruit might be mingled with the Fruit of the Vines. Now this and the two following precepts, though in themselves small and trivial, are given, according to that time and state of the Church, for documents or instructions in greater matters, and particularly to commend to them simplicity and sincerity in all their carriages towards God and Men, and to forbid all mixture of their Inventions with Gods Institutions in Doctrine or Worship. b Heb. The fulness of thy seed, i. e. that seed which it is ripe and full. See Exod. 22. 29. Numb. 18. 27. c Either 1. Naturally corrupted or marred, whilest one seed draws away the fat and nutriment of the Earth from the other, and so both are stored and spoiled. Or rather 2. Legally and Morally, as being prohibited by Gods Law, and thereby made unclean; as on the contrary, things are sanctified by Gods word, allowing and approving them, 1 Tim. 4. 5. Heb. be sanctified, or, be as a sanctified thing, by an Ellipsis of the particle as, i. e. unlawful for the owners use, as things sanctified were. Or, sanctifying is put for polluting, by a figure called Euphemismus, which is frequent in Scripture, as when blessing is put for cursing, as Job 2. 9. and in other Authors, as when they use sacer for execrable.

10 Thou shalt not plow with an ox and an ass toge-

q Either 1. Because the one was a clean beast, the other unclean; whereby God would teach men to avoid polluting themselves by the touch of unclean persons or things, 2 Cor. 6. 14. Or 2. Because of their unequal strength, whereby the weaker, the ass, would be oppressed and over-wrought. Or 3. For any Moral reasons, of which see on v. 9. and Levit. 19. 19.

x (i. e.) The linnen cloth or sheet, as is expressed v. 17. which in the first congress was infected with blood, as is natural and usual. But because this is not now constant, the enemies of Scripture take occasion to quarrel with this Law, as unreasonable and unjust, and such as might oppress the innocent, and hence take occasion to reject the Holy Scriptures. It were much more reasonable for these men either to expound this place metaphorically of producing those proofs and testimonies of her virginity which should be as satisfactory as if that cloth were produced, as some of the Jews understand it, or modestly to acknowledge their own Ignorance in this, as they are forced to do in many other things, and not imprudently to conclude it is insoluble, because they cannot resolve it. But there is no need of such general answers, many things may be particularly said for the vindication of this law. 1. That it was necessary for that people, because of their hard-heartedness towards their Wives, and their levity and desire of change of Wives. 2. That either this tryal, or at least the proof of her Virginity, was to be taken presently after the day of marriage, and that proof was to be admitted afterwards upon occasion. 3. That this Law was seldom or never put in execution, as the Jews note, and seems to be made for terrour and caution to Husbands and Wives, as many other Laws have been in like cases. 4. That that God who gave this Law, did by his Providence govern all Affairs, and rule the Tongues and Hearts of Men, and therefore fore would doubtless take care so to order matters that the innocent should not suffer by this means, which he could prevent many ways. 5. That there is a great difference in times and Nations. Who knows not what there are many things now, by our Moderns thought indifferent to be done, which in the Ancient Physicians were thought and esteemed to be true and certain in their times and Countreys, and still many Nations of Heathens and other things do generally tolerate in those which Scripturally and supreme parts of the World, which are many times detestful in our Northern and colder Climates? 6. That this very way of trial of Virginity hath been used not only by the Jews, but also by the Arabians and Egyptians, as is affirmed by divers learned Writers, though whom yet it was most doubtful and dangerous than among the Jews, who might presume, to themselves that God would guide the execution of his own Law to a just and good issue. 7. That this sign if it were uncertain in persons of ripe years, yet it may be reasonably thought certain and constant in Virgins of young and tender age, and that the Jews did ordinarily marry their Daughters when they were about 12 or 13 years old, as is confessed, is making haste to roll away that reproach which they thought to be in an unmarried state.

16 And the damsels father shall say unto the elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife, and he hateth her:

17 And lo, he hath given occasions of speech against her, saying I found not thy daughter a maid: and yet these are the tokens of my daughters virginity: and they shall spread the cloth before the elders of the city.

18 And the elders of that city shall take that man, and chastise him a.

a Either 1. By the following mulct. Or, 2. By stripes, as it expressed, Deut. 25. 2, 3. Which is not strange, considering how precious a thing ones good Name is, of which he endeavoured to deprive his Wife.

19 And they shall amerce him in an hundred shekels of silver, and give them unto the father of the damsel b, because he hath brought up an evil name upon a virgin of Israel: and she shall be his wife, he may not put her away all his days c.

b Because this was a reproach to his family, and to himself, because such a miscarriage of his daughters would have been ascribed to his evil education. c Which seems to have been his design in this false accusation, and therefore that liberty of a divorce which is permitted to others, Deut. 24. 1. shall be denied to him.

20 But if this thing be true, and the tokens of virginity be not found for the damsel:

21 Then they shall bring out the damsel to the door of her fathers house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones that she die a, because she hath wrought folly in Israel, to play the whore in her fathers house: so * shalt thou put evil away from among you.

* Chap. 13. 5.

a 99. Why should she die when her crime was only Fornication, which was not punished in a woman with death, Exod. 22, 16, 17? Answ. Because there was not only Fornication in this case, as Exod. Answ. 22. but this was accompanied with deep dissimulation and injury to her Husband in the false profession of Virginity, and it might be presumed that the committed this folly after she was betrothed to him, and therefore so obstinately denied it, as knowing the danger of it in that case; Or God ordered it thus for the honour and custody of the matrimonial bed from all defilement, that he, who being defiled before she was married or betrothed, and therefore not punishable by death, yet if she should presume to carry her defilement into the married estate with a pretence of Virginity, she should then be put to death.

22 * If a man be found lying with a woman married b to an husband, then they shall both of them die: both the man that lay with the woman, and the woman: so shalt thou put away evil from Israel.

* Lev. 20. 10.

b If he be convicted of this fault, though not taken in the very act.

23 If a damsel that is a virgin be betrothed unto an husband c, and a man find her in the city, and lie with her:

c For by this betrothing she had actually engaged her self to another man, and was in some sort his Wife, and therefore is sometimes so called, as Gen. 29. 21. Mat. 1. 20.

24 Then ye shall bring them both out unto the gate of that city, and ye shall stone them with stones, that they die: the damsel because she cried not d, being in the city: and the man because he hath humbled his neighbors wife: so thou shalt put away evil from among you.

d And therefore is justly presumed to have consented to it.

25 But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man ‖ force her e, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die

e Which was to be examined and determined by the consideration of all the circumstances.

26 But unto the damsel thou shalt do nothing; there is in the damsel no sin worthy of death: for as when a man riseth against his neighbour and slayeth him, even so is this matter f.

f Not an act of choice, but of force and constraint.

27 For he found her in the field, and the betrothed damsel cried g, and there was none to save her.

g Which is in that case to be presumed; charity obliging us to believe the best till the contrary be manifest.

28 * If a man b find a damsel that is a virgin, which is not betrothed, and lay hold on her i, and lie with her, and they be found;

* Exod. 22. 16.

b (i. e.) An unmarried man, as appears, 1. From his obligation to marry the person he abused, which it is not probable would have been imposed upon him, had he been married. 2. Because if the man had been married, this had been adultery, and so had been punished with death, for which sores some kind of force or artifice whereby the was overpowred; whereas Exod. 22. 16. she was enticed, which implies consent, and therefore the man doth here receive a greater punishment, because he used hostile violence to watch her, which was no greater sin.

29 b Then the man that lay with her shall give unto the damsels father fifty shekels of silver k, and she shall be his wife l, because he hath humbled her: he may not put her away all his days m.

k Besides the dowry, as Exod. 22. 16. which is here omitted, because that was common and customary, and because it might easily be supplyed out of Exod. 22. 16. it being sufficient here to mention what was peculiar to this case. l To wit, if her Father consent to it, which is to be supposed out of Exod. 22. 16. it being not likely that the Father should lose his paternal right of disposing his Child when he was at some lost forced, rather than when she was intic'd. m Which others were suffered to do, Deut. 24. 1. and he who inticed the maid, Exod. 22. 16. was not prohibited to do.

30 * A man shall not take n his fathers wife o, nor discover his fathers skirt p.

* Lev. 18. 8.

n To wife. So this respects the state; and the next branch speaks of the act only. o His Mother in law. See Levit. 18. 8. and 20. 11. 2 Cor. 5. 1. p (i. e.) The skirt of the mothers Garment, i. e. the nakedness, which is here called his fathers skirt, because his Father and Mother were one flesh, or because his Father alone had the right to uncover it. The phrase is taken from the ancient custom or ceremony of the Bridegrooms spreading the skirt of his Garment over the bride, to signifie his right to her, and authority over her, and his obligation to the marriage duty. See Ruth. 3. 9. Ezek. 16. 8.

CHAP. XXIII.

Who are to be excluded from the congregation, 1—6. An Edomite and Egyptian not to be abhorred, and why. 7. 8. No uncleanness to be in the camp, 9—14. No Bastard, 17. No abominable sacrifice must be offered, 18. No usury, but to Strangers, 19, 20. Vows must be kept, 21—23. The liberty that was lawful in their neighbours field or vineyard, 24, 25.

1 HE that is wounded in the stones a, or hath his privy members cut off, shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD b.

a Heb. bruised by compression or attrition or contusion, to wit, of the stones, which was the course the Gentiles took with Infants to make them Eunuchs. And these Eunuchs and Bastards, v. 2. seem to be not only those of other Nations, as some understand it, without any foundation for such restriction, but also of the Israelites, the reason of this law being the same in all, to wit, that God would bring into disgrace those heathenish practices of making Eunuchs, and getting Bastards, which doubtless he would especially do among his own people. b Which phrase cannot be understood, so that they might not come into the Church, or Holy Assemblies to worship God, to pray, or hear, &c. because Proselytes of any Nation being admitted to common Church-privileges, no less than the Jews, (as is evident from Exod. 12. 48. Levit. 22. 18. Numb. 9. 14. and 15. 15.) it were absurd to think that any of the Israelites, for such a natural or involuntary defect, should be shut out from all Gods ordinances; nor so that they were to be put out of the muster-roll of Gods people, or to lose the Privileges common to all Israelites, to wit, the benefit of the year of release or Jubile; which it is not probable the Israelites were to forfeit meerly for this unculpable imperfection; but either, 1. That they should not be incorporated into the Body of Israel by marriage; for so this phrase may seem to have been understood by the whole Congregation of Israel, Nehem. 13. 1, 2, 3, 23, 24, 25. Although at that time the Government was in part in the hands of such persons as are here mentioned, v. 3. or of their children, seeing it is apparent from Ezra 10. that many Priests and Levites and other Officers and Rulers of Israel were married to strange Women, whose issue are by this Law excluded from all share in the Government, and for that, among other reasons, Nehemiah separated them from Israel by vertue of the Law here following. Or 2. That they should not be admitted to Honours and Offices either in the Church or Commonwealth of Israel, and so the congregation of the Lord doth not here signifie, as commonly it doth, the body of the people, but the society of the Elders or Rulers of the people, who, as they represent the whole Congregation, and act in their name, and for their service and good, so they are sometimes called by the name of the Congregation, as Num. 35. 12, 24, 25. Jos. 20. 6, 9. 1 King. 8. 5. compared with v. 1, 2, 3. and 1 Chron. 13. 1, 2, 4. and 29. 1, 10, 20. compared with 1 Chron. 28. 1. and 29. 6. and the congregation of God, as it is in the Hebrew of Psal. 82. 1. Howsoever, seeing they are oft called the congregation, they may very well be called in a special manner the congregation of the Lord, because they were appointed by God, and act in his name and stead, and for his work and service, and did also oft assemble near the Tabernacle where God was eminently present. Add to this, that the Hebrew word, Kahal, generally signifies a Congregation or Company of men met together, and therefore this cannot so conveniently be meant of all the body of the people, which could never meet in one place, but of the chief Rulers, which frequently did so. Nor is it strange that Eunuchs are excluded from government, partly because such persons are commonly observed to want that courage which is necessary for a Governour, Esther. 18. 21. and partly because as such persons ordinarily were despicable, so the Office and Authority in their hands was likely to be exposed to the same contempt.

2 A bastard c shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD: even to his tenth generation d shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD.

c So the word is commonly rendred, and so it notes a person base-born, or born in Fornication or Adultery, or by incestuous or any prohibited mixtures of man and woman. Obj. 1. This Law seems harsh, and too severe for the innocent Bastard. Answ. 1. It was only an exclusion from Government, which was a tolerable burden. 2. It was a necessary caution to prevent and brand the sin of uncleanness, to which the Jews were more than ordinarily prone. Obj. 2. Pharez and Zepheke were both Bastards, yet advanced to great Honour and Authority. Answ. God gives laws to us, and not to himself; and therefore he might, when he saw fit, confer what favour or power he pleased upon any such person, as he did to these. But some add, that the Hebrew word mamzer signifies not every Bastard, but a Bastard born of any strange woman, as the word may seem to intimate; and as such persons generally seem to have been, because of that special provision, that there should be no whore of the daughters of Israel, as it is here below, v. 17. d Or, his tenth generation, as it is in the Hebrew, and so in the following verses.

Neh. 13. 3 * An Ammonite, or Moabite e shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to their tenth generation shall they not enter into the congregation of the LORD for ever f.

e This may be understood either 1. Of the Males only, or the children of both fathers, as Interpreters commonly take it. Or rather 2. Of Females also, or of all that were born either of such Fathers or Mothers, as may be gathered from Ezra 10. and Nehem. 13. where the Children of strange Wives were seperated from Israel no less than the Children of strange Fathers. And it is an allowed maxim, that the birth followeth the belly. And whereas the Children of Rahab and Ruth are produced to the contrary, it may be said as it was before, that these were extraordinary instances, and that God when he pleased might exempt any particular person of them from this curse, though the Israelites might not do so. For it seems to note the immutability and perpetuity of this Law, that it should be inviolably observed in all succeeding ages, and not dispensed with for any merit in the persons, or any pretence whatsoever. But why then should this clause be added only here, seeing the foregoing Laws are as inviolable as this? It seems therefore to extend the duration of this exclusion of them from the Congregation of the Lord beyond what was said at first, and to be added by way of aggravation, even to their tenth generation shall they not enter, yea, even for ever; i. e. they shall never enter, as it is expressed, without any mention of the tenth generation, Neh. 13. 1. that they shall not come into the Congregation of God for ever.

g As the manner of those times was to wait and provide for strangers and travellers, Gen. 18. 18. and 18. 2, 3, and 19. 2. Exod. 18. 19, 20, 21. which was the more necessary, because in those times and countries there were no such publick houses of entertainment as now there are among us. These shall these unmerciful to strangers and pilgrims, and afflicted persons, which was aggravated both by their relation to the Israelites, as being the children of Lot, and by the special kindness of God, and of the Israelites themselves, in not fighting against them, as they had just occasion to do, and as they did by others; Deut. 2. 9, 19. How doth this agree with Deut. 2. 28, 29. where the Moabites which dwelt in Ar are said to have sold them meat and drink? Ans. It is one thing voluntarily to meet them, and kindly to relieve them with bread and water, which they are here charged to have done, and a quite different thing to sell them bread and water when they are upon their very borders, and their own interest forced them to do so. 2. It may well be that it was only their Merchants that dwelt in Ar and so, as it is said Deut. 2. 29. and that all the rest of the people remained in the fields to do it, and therefore the sin being so general and universal, no wonder if the punishment be so too. 3. That the following words there and Numb. 21. 21. are to be parenthetical, and the fifteenth member of the verse belongs to the Moabites, who did not sell them meat and drink, &c. and the latter part to the Moabites, who, as they were the Kindred, but not with the Brotherhood of the Ammonites, had a greater obligation to hire them to curse Israel.

5 Nevertheless the LORD thy God would not hearken unto Balaam; but the LORD thy God turned the curse into a blessing unto thee h because the LORD thy God loved thee.

h (viz.) Forced Balaam to bless thee, who was bent and inclined to curse thee, if possibly he could.

6 Thou shalt not seek their peace † nor their † prosperity all thy days for ever.

i (i. e.) Make no Contracts either by Marriages or Leagues, or commerce with them, but rather shall constantly keep a jealous eye over them, as enemies who will watch every opportunity to enthrall or disturb thee. This counsel was now the more necessary, because a great part of the Israelites lived beyond Jordan in the borders of those people, and therefore God sets up this wall of partition between them, as well knowing the mischief of bad neighbours, and Israel's proneness to receive infection from them. But particular Israelites is not hereby forbidden to perform any Office of humanity to them, but the Body of the Nation are forbidden all friendly and familiar commerce with them.

7 Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite k, for he is thy brother l: thou shalt not abhor an Egyptian, because thou wast a stranger in his land m.

k The children of Edom, only the Amalekites are excepted by God's particular order, and upon special reason, Deut. 25. 17, 18, 19. l By Esau, Jacob's Brother. m And didst receive habitation, protection and provision from them a long time, which kindness thou must not forget for their following persecution. It is ordinary with great men and others, that one injury or offence blots out the remembrance of twenty courtesies; but God doth not deal so with us, nor will he have us to deal so with others, but commands us to overlook and forget injuries, and to remember kindnesses.

8 The children that are begotten of them, shall enter into the congregation of the LORD in their third generation n.

n Supposing their Grand-father, or great Grand-father turned Proselyte, and the children continue in that faith received by such ancestors.

9 When the host goeth forth against thine enemies then keep thee from every wicked thing o.

o Then especially take heed, because that is a time and state of confusion and licentiousness; when, as one said, the Laws of God and Man cannot be heard for the noise of Arms; and because the success of thy Arms and Enterprizes depends upon God's blessing, which wicked men have no reason to expect; and because thou dost then carry thy life in thy hand, and therefore hast need to be well prepared for Death and Judgment.

p Of which see, Levit. 25. 4, 16, 17. or by uncleanness of any like kind, one kind being here, as oft, put for all. q 99. Why doth this uncleanness oblige a man to go out of the Camp, when it did not oblige him to such a removal, Levit. 15. 2. Answ. 1. It is not unreasonable if they were obliged to greater strictness and purity when they were undertaking so difficult and dangerous a work. 2. There is a manifest reason of the difference, because in their houses they had private Chambers, where they could in such cases keep themselves from converse with others, whereas in the Camp their conveniencies were so small, and their occasions of action so many, that it was very hard for his fellow-Soldiers that continued with him in the same Tent, or part of the Camp, to avoid the touching of him, which yet was infectious, Levit. 15. 7, 23.

11 But it shall be, when evening † cometh on, he shall † Heb. turneth himself with water: and when the sun is down, he shall come into the camp again.

r Thou shalt have a place also without the camp, whither thou shalt go forth abroad r.

r To wit, to ease thy self, as it follows, v. 13.

13 And thou shalt have a paddle ‖ upon thy weapon: and it shall be when thou † wilt ease thy self abroad, thou † Heb. he shall. shalt dig therewith, and shall turn back, and cover that which cometh from thee s.

s The nature of which may be known from the use, which here follows. t Partly to prevent the annoyance of our selves or others; partly to preserve and exercise Modesty and natural Honesty; and principally that by such outward rites they might be inured to the greater reverence of the Divine Majesty, and the greater caution to avoid all real and moral uncleanness, especially now when it was more necessary so to do.

14 For the LORD thy God walketh in the midst of thy camp u, to deliver thee, and to give up thine enemies before thee: therefore shall thy camp be holy: that he see no † unclean thing in thee, and turn away from thee. † Heb. nakedness of any thing.

u Either because the Ark was commonly present with them, or at least some of the holy Instruments, which were pledges of God's presence; or, because God had promised to go forth with them, which they engaged in a just and necessary war.

15 Thou shalt not deliver unto his master the ‖ servant which is escaped from his master unto thee x. ‖ 1 Sam. 30. 15.

x It is not to be understood universally, as if all servants that flee from their masters, though without any sufficient cause or any fear of injury, might be detained from them by any person to whom they fled for refuge; for this is apparently contrary to all the Laws of Religion and Justice, and Charity, and would open a door to infinite disorders and mischiefs; but it is to be understood, 1. Of the Servants of Strangers, because it follows, v. 16. he shall dwell with thee, even among you, which shows that he had lived with and belonged to another people. 2. Of such as belonged to the Canaanites, or other neighbouring Nations, because if he had lived in remote Countries, it is not probable that he would flee to the land of his Master, or that his Master would follow him so far to recover him. And for the Canaanites this reference was most fit, in which both they and theirs were all forfeited to God and to Israel, and whatsoever they enjoyed was by special indulgence. And for the other Neighbours it may seem just also, partly, because those of them were within the larger limits of the land belonging to Israel by God's grant or deed of gift, Gen. 15. 18. Jos. 1. 4. partly because by their publick carriages they had given Israel a right to much more of their's, than a few Servants that might pullidly run away from their Masters; and especially because both Masters and Servants of these and other Nations are unquestionably at the disposal of the Lord their Maker and Sovereign Ruler. 3. Or such as upon enquiry appear to have been unjustly oppressed by their Masters, as is implied by that phrase of his, making an escape, which supposeth a deliverance from danger or vexation. Now it is not strange nor unjust, if the great God, who hateth all Tyranny, and stiles himself the refuge of the oppressed, doth interpose his authority and help to rescue such persons from their cruel Masters, who otherwise would be too strong for them. 4. Of such as came to them out of a desire to embrace the true Religion, which possibly his Master perceiving, endeavoured by force to restrain him from, as it may be probably thought from his chusing and liking to live among the Israelites, expressed v. 16. Now if this great and supreme Master, to whom all other Masters are but Servants, and they and theirs are absolutely in his power, shall receive and protect one that gives up himself to his Service against the Will of the under-Master, who in this case rebels against his Sovereign Lord, what shadow is there of injustice in the case?

16 He shall dwell with you, even among you in that place which he shall chuse, in one of thy gates where it † liketh him best: thou shalt not oppress him e.

e Taking advantage from his low and afflicted condition to be unreasonable or injurious to him.

17 There shall be no ‖ whore f of the daughters of Israel g, nor a Sodomite h of the sons of Israel.

f No common prostitute, such as were tolerated and encouraged by the Gentiles, and used even in their religious worship. g Not that such practices were allowed to the strangers among them, as is evident from many Scriptures and Reasons, but that it was in a peculiar manner, and upon special reasons, forbidden to them, as being much more odious in them than in strangers. Though the words may be rendred among the daughters, and so in the following clause, among the sons, for the Hebrew Mem is sometimes used in that sense, as Numb. 32. 22. Psal. 31. 12. and so it notes that none of that sort should be permitted among them, whether Jews or Strangers. h Or buggerer, who defileth or suffereth himself to be defiled with mankind. See Gen. 19. 5. Levit. 18. 22. 1 King. 14. 24. and 22. 47. Rom. 1. 27.

18 Thou shalt not bring the hire of a whore g, or the price of a dog i into the house of the LORD thy God for any vow i: for even both these k are abomination unto the LORD thy God.

g This is opposed to the practice of the Gentiles, who allowed both such persons and their oblations they made out of their wicked and infamous gains; and some of them kept lewd Women, who prostituted themselves in the Temples, and to the honour of their false Gods, and offered part of their profit to them. See Mich. 1. 7. Baruch 6. 43. Herod. in the end of his first book, and Strabo in his eighth book. h Either I. Properly; the dog being a vile and contemptible creature in those Eastern parts, 1 Sam. 17. 43. and 24. 15. and 2 Sam. 3. 8. Eccles. 9. 4. and unclean by God's defignation, which yet should have been redeemed by virtue of that Law, Num. 18. 15. had it not been for this prohibition. And this may be here prohibited, either 1. That by this one instance, put for all others of the like kind, they might be taught not to offer to God what cost them nothing, or was worth nothing: or 2. to bring contempt upon the Creature, which divers of the Gentiles offered up to their Gods, and the Egyptians worshipped as Gods. Or, 3. That by comparing Whores and Dogs together, and equalling the prices of them, he might expose Whores to the highest disgrace and infamy. Or, II. Metaphorically, as that word is oft used in Scripture, as 1 Sam. 24. 14. Psal. 22. 16, 20. Isa. 56. 10, 11. Mat. 7. 6. Phil. 3. 2. and particularly it is used for unclean or filthy persons, 2 Pet. 2. 22. Revel. 22. 15. as Horace also calls Whores Bitches. Which name doth most properly agree to them in respect of that impudence and shamelessness, and insatiableness, for which both of them are branded. And this sense may seem most proper in this place, because it agrees with all the other expressions, and as the hire of a whore answers to the whore, v. 17. so the price of a dog may seem to answer to the Sodomite, v. 17. and so all concern the same thing, whereas the price of a dog, properly so called, may seem to be quite incongruous and foreign to the place. It is true which is objected, that Law-givers use to deliver their Laws in proper and not in metaphorical terms, to prevent mistake and ambiguity: But there seems to be no great danger of mistake here, where the Metaphor is so clearly explained and determined by so many words joyned with it. i And much less in other sacrifices, which being of an higher Nature, and prescribed by God, must needs receive more exactness than those which depended much upon a mans will and choice, as vows and free-will-offerings did. k (i. e.) The Whore and the Dog, and therefore the price of either of them cannot be acceptable. And this may seem to favour the latter opinion, that the Dog is here taken metaphorically rather than properly, because there is no mention in the Law (save in this place which is in question) of any abominableness of a dog unto God, more than of an ass, or any other unclean creature; but how abominable Sodomites are to God is sufficiently evident from other Scriptures, and from undeniable Reasons.

19 * Thou shalt not lend upon usury l to thy brother, usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of any thing that is lent upon usury.

* Ex. 22. 25. Lev. 25. 36. Psal. 15. 5.

l (i. e.) So as to receive thy principal mony or thing lent with such encrease or improvement of it, as was usual and allowed among the Gentiles. But whether all usury be unlawful to Christians is too great a question to be determined in a work of this nature. See Exod. 22. 25. Deut. 15. 3. Psal. 15. 5. Nehem. 5. 2. Luke 6. 34.

20 Unto a stranger m thou mayest lend upon usury; but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury: that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all that thou settest thine hand to, in the land whither thou goest to possess it.

m (i. e.) To a person of any other Nation, for so that word is generally used, and therefore they who restrain it to the cursed Canaanitish Nations seem to do so without any solid or sufficient grounds. And though the word brother is oftimes used in a general sense for every man, yet I think I may affirm that wheresoever the words brother and stranger are opposed in the Jewish Law, the brother signifies the Israelite only, and the stranger signifies any person of what Nation or Religion soever, whether proselyted to the Jewish Religion or not, and so it seems to be meant here. And the reason why usury is permitted to a stranger, not to an Israelite, may seem to be this, because the Israelites generally employed themselves in the management of land and Cattle, and therefore could not make any advantage of borrowed money to ballance the use they should pay for it, and consequently it may be presumed that they would not borrow money upon use but for want and poverty, and in that case, and principally for that reason, usury seems to be forbidden to them, as may be thought from Levit. 25. 35, 36. But the strangers made use of their money in way of Trade and Traffick with the Israelites, which was more gainful, and could much better bear the burden of usury, and reap advantage from money so borrowed, and these strangers here spoken of are supposed to be competently rich, and not poor, as may plainly appear by comparing this place with Levit. 25. 35, 36. where they are no less forbidden to take usury of a stranger than of a brother, in case of poverty.

21 * When thou shalt vow a vow unto the LORD thy God, thou shalt not slack to pay it n: for the LORD thy God will surely require it of thee; and it would be sin in thee o.

* Eccl. 5. 4.

n To wit, if the matter of it be lawful and in thy own power. See Numb. 30. 2. Not slack or delay, because delays may make thee both unable to pay it, and unwilling too, the sense of ones obligation growing every day weaker than other, &c. o (i. e.) It would be laid to thy charge as a sin, and bring judgment upon thee.

22 But if thou shalt forbear to vow, it shall be no sin in thee.

23 That which is gone out of thy lips, thou shalt keep and perform; even a free-will-offering p, according as thou hast vowed unto the LORD thy God, which thou hast promised with thy mouth.

p Which though thou didst freely make, yet being made, thou art no longer free, but obliged to perform it.

24 When thou comest into thy neighbours vineyard, then thou mayest eat grapes thy fill, at thine own pleasure q: but thou shalt not put any in thy vessel.

q Which was allowed in those parts, because of the great plenty and fruitfulness of Vines there.

25 When thou comest into the standing corn of thy neighbours, * then thou mayest pluck the ears with thine hand: but thou shalt not move a sickle unto thy neighbours standing corn.

* Matt. 12. 1. Mar. 2. 23. Luke 6. 1.

CHAP. XXIV.

Of the Woman that was dismissed by her Husband with a Bill of Divorcement, 1. The Liberty of the new married Man, 5. Pawns and Pledges, 6. Man-stealers, 7. Leprosie, 8. And again of Pawns or Pledges, 10. Of Day-wages, 14. Not to be punished for another's Offence, 16. Of Justice and Love towards Widows, Fatherless, and Strangers, 17.

1 WHen * a man hath taken a wife, and married her, and it come to pass that she find no favour in his eyes a, because he hath found some uncleanness b in her: then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and send her out of his house c.

* Matt. 5. 31. and 19. 7. Mar. 10. 4.

a (i. e.) He dislike and loath her. It is a figure called Meiosis, whereby more is understood than is expressed, as Prov. 10. 1. and 17. 21. and 24. 23. b Heb. nakedness, or shamefulness, or filthiness of a thing, i. e. some filthy or hateful thing, some loathsome difformity of body or quality of mind not observed before Marriage. Or, some light and unchast carriage, as this or the like phrase commonly signifies, but not amounting to adultery, which was not punished with divorce, but with death. c Which is not a command to divorce them, as some of the Jews understood it, nor an allowance and approbation, as plainly appears, not only from the New Testament, Matth. 5. 32. and 19. 8, 9. but also from the Old Testament, Gen. 2. 24. Mal. 2. 16. but merely a permission or toleration of that practice for prevention of greater mischiefs and cruelties of that hard hearted people towards their Wives, and this only for a season, even until the time of reformation, as it is called Heb. 9. 10. i. e. till the coming of the Messiah, when things were to return to their first institution and purest condition. The Husband is not here commanded to put her away, but if he do put her away, he is commanded to write and give her a bill of divorcement before he send her out of his house. And though it be true, as our Saviour observes, that Moses did suffer their Wives to be divorced, to wit, without punishing them, which also is here implyed, yet it must be acknowledged, that if we consult the Hebrew words, those three first verses may seem to be only a supposition, and the words rendred, then let him write her, in the Hebrew run thus; and hath written her; and so it follows, ver. 2. And she be departed out of his house, and be gone and become another mans wife, then follows ver. 3. which even according to our translation carries on the supposition. And if the latter husband hate her, &c. Then follows the position or prohibition, Ver. 4.

2 And when she is departed out of his house she may go and be another mans wife d.

d For although he could not lawfully put her away without sin, yet the being put away, and forsaken by her husband, might marry another without sin, as is determined in the same or a like case, 1 Cor. 7. 15.

3 And if the latter husband hate her, and write her a bill of divorcement, and giveth it in her hand, and sendeth her out of his house: or if the later husband die, which took her to be his wife:

Jer. 3. 1.

4 * Her former Husband, which sent her away, may not take her again e to be his wife after that she is defiled f: for that is abomination before the LORD: and thou shalt not cause the land to sin g, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

Or, pollution Gr.

e This is the Punishment of his levity and injustice in putting her away without sufficient cause, which by this offer he now acknowledgeth. f Not simply and absolutely, as if her second Marriage were a sin, but respectively, or as to her first Husband, to whom she is as a defiled or unclean Woman, that is, forbidden; for things forbidden are accounted and called unclean, Judg. 13. 7. because they may no more be touched or used than an unclean thing. g (i. e.) That thou shalt not suffer such abominable lightness and lewdness to be practised, lest the people be polluted, and the land defiled and accursed by that means.

5 * When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, † neither shall he be charged with any business h: but he shall be free at home one year i, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken.

Deut. 20. 7. Heb. not any thing shall pass upon him.

h (i. e.) Any publick Office or Employment, which may cause an absence from or neglect of his Wife. i That their affections newly engaged may be firmly settled, so as there may be no occasion for the divorces last mentioned.

6 No man shall take the nether or the upper millstone i to pledge: for he taketh a man's † life k to pledge.

Heb. soul.

i Used in their hand-mills, of which see Exod. 11. 5. Numb. 11. 28. Jer. 25. 10. Under this one kind, he understands all other things necessary to get a livelihood, the taking away whereof is against the Laws both of Charity and Prudence, seeing by those things alone he can be enabled both to subsist and to pay his debts. k (i. e.) His livelihood, or the necessary supports of his life.

7 If a man be found stealing any of his brethren l of the children of Israel, and maketh merchandise of him, or selleth him, then that thief shall die, and thou shalt put evil away from among you.

l See on Exod. 21. 16.

Lev. 13. 14.

8 Take heed in * the plague of leprosie, that thou observe diligently, and do according to all that the priests the Levites shall teach you: as I commanded them m, so ye shall observe to do.

m By which words he plainly intimates, that they were not only to have an eye to the Levites Instructions, but also and especially unto the Word and command of God, and that if the Levites sentence were manifestly contrary to the Command of God, it were not to be obeyed. As now if a Levite or Priest should, for fear, or favour, or gain, pronounce a person to be clean, who were really and manifestly unclean, and had the unquestionable marks, of leprosie upon him, I suppose no man in his wits will question, but every man that saw and knew this were bound to avoid the touching of him, and that if he did touch him he should be defiled by it.

Num. 12. 9. Remember what the LORD thy God did * unto Miriam n by the way after that we were come forth out of Egypt.

n Whom God smote with leprosie for her contempt of Moses, and therefore thou mayst expect the same or like punishment, if thou dost despise the counsel and direction of the Levites, which I have set over thee, and commanded thee to observe in this and the like matters.

Heb. lend unto Heb. any thing, &c.

10 When thou dost † lend thy brother any thing, thou shalt not go into his house to fetch his pledge o.

o To prevent both the poor man's Reproach by having his wants exposed to view, and the Creditor's Insolence and greediness which might be occasioned by the sight of something which he desired, and the Debtor could not spare.

11 Thou shalt stand abroad, and the man to whom thou dost lend shall bring out the pledge p abroad unto thee.

p He shall chuse what Pledge he please, provided only it be sufficient for the purpose.

12 And if the man be poor, thou shalt not sleep with his pledge q:

q But restore it before night, which intimates that he should take no such thing for pledge, without which a man cannot sleep, since it were an idle thing to fetch it and carry it every day. See on Exod. 22. 26, 27.

Ex. 22. 26 Job 31. 20.

13 * In any case thou shalt deliver him the pledge again when the sun goeth down, that he may sleep in his own raiment, and * bless thee r: and it shall be righteousness unto thee before the LORD thy God s.

r Instrumentally, as Ministers are said to convert and save sinners, to wit, bring down the blessing of God upon thee by his prayers: for though his prayers, if he be not a good man, shall not avail for his own behalf, yet they shall avail for thy benefit. s (i. e.) Esteemed and accepted by God as a Work of Righteousness, or Holiness, or Goodness and Mercy, which oft is called righteousness, as Psal. 112. 9. Prov. 10. 2. Dan. 4. 27.

Lev. 19. 13. Jer. 22. 13. Heb. he filleth his soul unto it.

14 Thou shalt not oppress an hired servant t that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy strangers that are in thy land within thy gates:

t Either by laying too grievous Burdens of Work upon him, or by with-holding his Wages from him, as it follows.

15 At his day u * thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it u, for he is poor, and † setteth his heart upon it x, lest he cry against thee unto the LORD, and it be sin unto thee.

Deut. 15. 2. Heb. lifteth up his soul to it, which notes his great desire and hope of it, and his dependance upon it. See Psal. 24. 4. Jer. 22. 27.

u At the time appointed, weekly or daily. x To wit, after the day upon which it is due) and desired or demanded by him; for Justice must not be denied or delayed. y Heb. lifteth up his soul to it, which notes his great desire and hope of it, and his dependance upon it. See Psal. 24. 4. Jer. 22. 27.

16 * The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, neither shall the children be put to death for the fathers z: every man shall be put to death for his own sin a.

2 Kin. 14. 6. 2 Chr. 25. 4. Jer. 31. 29, 30. Ezek. 18. 20.

z Understand it thus, if the one be free from the guilt of the others sin, and except in those cases where the sovereign Lord of Life and Death, before whom none is innocent, hath commanded it, as Deut. 13. Jos. 7. 24. For this Law is given to men, not to God, and though God do visit the fathers sins upon the children, Exod. 20. yet he will not suffer men to do so. a Understand only, and not for any other man's sin.

17 Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the stranger, nor of the fatherless b, * nor take a widows raiment c to pledge.

Ex. 22. 21. Deut. 22. 22. Jer. 22. 3. Ezek. 22. 29. Ex. 22. 26

b Nor of the widow, which is to be supplied out of the last member; nor indeed of any other person, but he particularly mentions these, partly because men are most apt to wrong such helpless persons, and partly because God is pleased especially to charge himself, and so to charge others, with the care of those who have no other refuge. See Isa. 1. 23. Jer. 5. 28. c To wit, such an one as she hath daily and necessary use of, as being poor, as may appear by comparing this with ver. 12, 13. and with other places. But this concerns not rich persons, nor superfluous raiment.

18 But thou shalt remember d that thou wast a bondman in Egypt, and the LORD thy God redeemed thee thence: therefore I command thee to do this thing e.

d To wit, affectionately and practically, and by the compassionate sense of others miseries, thou shalt make it evident that thou hast not forgotten thy own distresses and deliverances. e I having thereby authority to command thee, and thou having obligations on that account, both to obey me, and to pity others in the same calamities which thou hast felt.

19 * When thou cuttest down thine harvest in thy field, and hast forgot a sheaf in the field, thou shalt not go again to fetch it: it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow: that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all the work of thine hands.

* Lev. 19. 9. & 23. 22.

20 When thou beatest thine olive tree f, † thou shalt not go over the boughs again: it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow.

Heb. thou shalt not bough it after thee.

f With staves, as they used to do to fetch down the olives.

21 When thou gatherest the grapes of thy vineyard, thou shalt not glean it † afterward: it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow.

Heb: after thee.

22 And thou shalt remember that thou wast a bondman in the land of Egypt: therefore I command thee to do this thing.

CHAP. XXV.

Judges must do justly, 1, 2. Stripes not to exceed forty, 3. The threshing Ox not to be muzzled, 4. The Duty of raising Seed unto a Brother, 5. 10. The punishment of an immodest Woman, 11, 12. A just weight and measure, 13—16. The memory of Amalek is to be blotted out, 17—19.

1 IF there be a controversie between men a, and they come unto judgment, that the judges may judge them, then they shall justify b the righteous, and condemn c the wicked.

a About criminal matters, as it follows. b (i. e.) Acquit him from guilt and false accusations, and free him from punishment. c Declare him guilty, and pass Sentence of Condemnation to suitable Punishments upon him.

2 And it shall be, if the wicked man be † worthy to be beaten d, that the judge shall cause him to lie down, and to be beaten before his face e, according to his fault, by a certain number.

Heb. smiting. 1 Sam. 26. 16.

d Which the Jews say was the case of all those crimes which the law commands to be punished, without expressing the kind or degree of the punishment. e That the punishment may be duely inflicted, without excess or defect, which otherwise might easily happen through the Executioner's Passion or partiality.

3 * Forty stripes he may give him, and not exceed f: lest if he should exceed, and beat him above these, with many stripes, then thy brother g should seem vile unto thee h.

* 2 Cor. 11. 24.

f It seems not superstition, but prudent caution, when the Jews would not exceed 39 stripes, 2 Cor. 11. 24. lest through mistake or forgetfulness or eagerness they should go beyond their bounds, which they were commanded to keep, but they were not obliged to go to the utmost extent of them. g Who though faulty and chastised, yet still is thy brother by nation, and probably by religion too. h (i. e.) Should be made contemptible to his brethren, either by this cruel usage of him, as if he were a slave or brute beast; or by the deformity or infirmity of body which excessive beating might produce.

4 * Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he † treadeth out the corn i.

* 1 Cor. 9. 9. 1 Tim. 5. 18. Heb. thresheth.

i As the Gentiles used to do, having divers devices to keep them from eating when they trod out the corn, which they did in those parts and times by oxen, Hos. 10. 11. either immediately by their hoofs, Isa. 28. 28. Mich. 4. 13. or by drawing Carts or other Instruments over the corn, Isa. 25. 10. and 28. 27. and 41. 15. Amos 1. 3. Hereby God taught them humanity and kindness; even to their beasts that served them, Prov. 12. 10. and much more to their servants or other men who laboured for them, and especially to their Ministers, 1 Cor. 9. 9.

Mat. 22. 4. Mar. 12. 19. Luk. 20. 28. Or, next kinsman.

5 * If brethren k dwell together l, and one of them m die, and have no child n, the wife of the dead shall not marry without, unto a stranger o: her ‖ husbands brother shall go in unto her p, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an husbands brother unto her.

k Strictly so called, as is evident from ver. 7. Gen. 38. 8. Ruth 1. 15. Matt. 22. 24, 25. l Either 1. strictly, in the same house or family: which is not probable, because the married brother may be presumed to have left his fathers house and set up a family of his own. Or, 2. more largely, in the same Town or City, or, at least, Countrey. This is added for a Relief of their Consciences, that if the next brother had removed his Habitation into remote parts, or were carried thither into Captivity, which God foresaw would be their case, then the Wife of the dead had her liberty to marry to the next kinsman that lived in the same place with her. m Either 1. the first and eldest of them, as it was practised, Gen. 38. 6. &c and expounded, Matt. 22. 25. one being oft put for the first, as Gen. 1. 5. and 2. 11. Hag. 1. 1. Mark 16. 2. And the chief care was about the first-born, who were invested with singular Privileges, and were Types of Christ. Or 2. any of them, for the words are general, and so the practice may seem to have been, Ruth 3. and the reason of the Law may seem to be in a great measure the same, which was to keep up the distinction as of Tribes and Families, that so the Messias might be discovered by the Family from which he was appointed to proceed, so also of Inheritances, which were divided among all the Brethren, the first-born having only a double Portion. n Heb. no son. But son is oft put for any child, Male or Female, both in Scripture and other Authors; and therefore the Hebrew no son is rendred no child here, as it is in effect, Mat. 22. 24. Mark 12. 19. Luke 20. 28. And indeed this Caution was not necessary, when there was a daughter, whose child might be adopted into the Name and Family of its Grandfather. o (i.e.) To one of another Family, as that word is oft used. p Except he was married himself, as may appear by other Scriptures, and by the reason of the thing, and, as some add, from the Phrase of dwelling together, to wit, in their Fathers Family.

6 And it shall be that the first-born which she beareth, shall succeed in the name of his brother q which is dead, that his name be not put out of Israel r.

q Shall be called and reputed his son. See Ruth 4. 17 r That a Family be not lost. So this was a provision that the number of their Families might not be diminished.

‖ Or, next kinsman's wife. Ruth 4. 7.

7 And if the man like not to take his ‖ brothers wife, then let his brothers wife go up to the gate, unto the elders, and say, * My husbands brother refuseth to raise up unto his brother a name s in Israel: he will not perform the duty of my husbands brother.

s To revive his Brother's Name and memory.

8 Then the elders of his city shall call him, and speak unto him t; and if he stand to it u, and say, I like not to take her:

t To convince him of the duty, and perswade him to it. u If he obstinately refuse it.

9 Then shall his brother's wife come unto him in the presence of the elders, and loose his Shoe from off his foot x, and spit in his face y, and shall answer, and say, So shall it be done unto that man, that will not build up z his brothers house.

x Partly, as a sign of his resignation of all his Right to the Woman, and to her husband's Inheritance; for as the Shoe was a sign of ones Power and Right, Psal. 60. 8. and 108. 9. so the parting with the Shoe was a token of the Alienation of such Right, and that he would not and henceforth might not enter upon his brothers land; and partly as a note of Infamy, to signifie that by this unnatural and disingenuous action he was unworthy to be amongst Free-men, and fit to be reduced to the condition of the meanest Servants or Captives, who used to go barefoot, Isa. 20. 2, 4. y As a return of his contempt upon himself. See Numb. 12. 14. Isa. 50. 6. Mat. 26. 67. and 27. 30. This was not done, Ruth 4. either because he was not a Brother, but a remoter Kinsman, and so deserved less shame; or because Ruth did not prosecute him to the utmost, but freely consented to this exchange. z A Phrase oft used for the Procreation of Children and the encrease of a Family. See Gen. 16. 2. Exod. 1. 21. 1 Kings 11. 38. 1 Chron. 17. 25.

10 And his name shall a be called in Israel, The house of him that hath his shoe loosed.

a (i. e.) His person, names being oft put for persons, and his posterity also. So it was a lasting blot.

11 When men strive together one with another, and the wife of the one draweth near for to deliver her husband out of the hand of him that smiteth him, and putteth forth her hand, and taketh him by the secrets:

12 Then thou shalt cut off her hand b; thine eye shall not pity her c.

b Partly because of the great mischief she did to him, both to his Person and Posterity, and partly to deter all Women from all immodest and impudent carriages, and to secure that modesty, which which is indeed the guardian of all the Virtues, as immodesty is an inlet to all Vices, as the sad experience of this degenerate age shews; and therefore it is not strange that it is so severely restrained and punished. c Which thou wilt be very apt to do, because of the infirmity of her Sex and the urgency of the occasion, this being done for the necessary preservation of her Husband.

13 * Thou shalt not have in thy bag † divers weights, a great and a small d. Lev. 35. 36. Ezek. 45. 10. † Heb. stone and stone. 1 Heb. an Epha and an Epha.

d The great, either to buy with, or openly to make shew of; the small, for their private use in selling.

14 Thou shalt not have in thine house † divers measures, a great and a small.

15 But thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have: that thy days may be lengthned in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

16 For * all that do such things, and all that do unrighteously, are an abomination unto the LORD thy God. Pro. 11. 1.

17 * Remember what Amalek did unto thee by the way, when ye were come forth out of Egypt e. Ex. 17. 8. Chap. 25. 17.

e Which circumstance greatly aggravates their sin, that they should do thus to a people, who had been long exercised with sore afflictions, to whom pity and help was due by the Laws of Nature and Humanity, and for whose Rescue God had in so glorious a manner appeared, which they could not be ignorant of. So this was barbarousness to Israel, and setting the great Jehovah at defiance.

18 How he met thee by the way, and smote the hindmost of thee f, even all that were feeble behind thee, when thou wast faint and weary: and he feared not God.

f Which God permitted, both for the punishment of Israels sins, and to harden and prepare them for the difficulties of their Expedition.

19 Therefore it shall be, * when the LORD thy God hath given thee rest from all thine enemies round about, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it g, that thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek g from under heaven, thou shalt not forget it. Ex. 17. 14.

g Which was in great measure done afterward. See 1 Sam. 15. and 27. 8. and 30. 1, 17. 1 Chron. 4. 43. Esth. 9. 12, 13.

CHAP. XXVI.

The Confession, Thanksgiving, and Rejoycing before the Lord, of him who offereth first-fruits, 1—11. As also of the three years Tythes, 12, 16. The Covenant between God and his People ratified, 17—19.

1 AND it shall be when thou art come in unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and possessest it, and dwellest therein.

2 * That thou shalt take a of the first of all the fruit of the earth b, which thou shalt bring of thy land that the LORD thy God giveth thee, and thou shalt put it in a basket, and shalt go unto the place which the LORD thy God shall chuse to place his Name there. Exod. 23. 19. Chap. 18. 4.

a This seems to be required of each particular Master of a Family, either upon his first Settlement, or once every year at one of their three feasts, when they were obliged to go up to Jerusalem, as here they are. b Either of their Corn. or of the Fruit of Trees.

3 And thou shalt go unto the priest c that shall be in those days, and say unto him, I profess this day unto the LORD thy God, that I am come unto the countrey which the LORD sware unto our fathers for to give us.

c (i.e.) To any of the Priests, who shall be appointed in God's stead to receive these oblations and acknowledgments.

4 And the priest shall take the basket out of thine hand, and set it down before the altar of the LORD thy God.

5 And thou shalt speak, and say before the LORD thy God, A Syrian d ready to perish e was my father, and * he went down into Egypt, and sojourned there with a few, and became there a nation, great, mighty, and populous. Gen. 46. 6.

d So Jacob was, partly by his original, as being born of Syrian Parents, as were Abraham and Rebecca, both of Chaldea or Mesopotamia, which was a part of Syria largely so called, as is confessed by Strabo, b. 16. and by Pliny, b. 5. c. 12. partly by his education and conversation, for which reason Christ is called a Nazarite, and a Capernaite; and partly by his relations, his wives being such, and his children too by their Mothers. e Either through want and poverty; see Gen. 28. 11, 20. and 32. 10. or through the rage of his brother Esau, and the treachery and cruelty of his father in law Laban.

6 And * the Egyptians evil intreated us, and afflicted us, and laid upon us hard bondage. Exod. 1. 11.

7 And * when we cried unto the LORD God of our fathers, the LORD heard our voice, and looked on our affliction, and our labour, and our oppression. Exod. 2. 23. Psal. 106. 44.

8 And * the LORD brought us forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with an out-stretched arm, and with great terribleness, and with signs, and with wonders. Psal. 136. 11, 12.

9 And he hath brought us into this place, and hath given us this land, even a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 And now, behold, I have brought the first-fruits of the land, which thou, O LORD, hast given me: and thou shalt set e it f before the LORD thy God, and worship before the LORD thy God.

e To wit, mediately, by the Priest who was to set it there, v. 4. f (i.e.) the basket of first-fruits, v. 2.

11 And thou shalt rejoyce g in every good thing which the LORD thy God hath given unto thee, and unto thine house, thou, and the Levite, and the stranger that is among you.

g (i.e.) Either 1. thou shalt hereby be enabled to rejoyce and take comfort in all thy enjoyments, when thou hast sanctified them by giving God his portion. Or 2. thou shalt feast, (which is oft expressed by rejoycing) with the Levite and strangers upon the oblations which at these solemn times were offered. Which exposition is confirmed by comparing Deut. 16. 10, 11, 14, 15.

12 When thou hast made an end of tithing all the tithes h of thine increase, the third year, which is * the year of tithing i, and hast given it unto the Levite, the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled: Or tithe. Chap. 14. 28.

h Of which see on Deut. 14. 28. i Heb. the year of that tithe, so called, either 1. because these tithes were gathered only in that year. Or rather, 2. because then only they were so bestowed or used; and whereas these second tithes for two years together were eaten only by the owners and Levites, and that in Jerusalem, in the third year they were eaten also by the strangers, fatherless, and widows, and that in their own dwellings. The seventy joyn these words with the following, and for Shemath, the year, read Shemith, the second, and take You for redundant, as sometimes it is, and read the place thus, The second tithe thou shalt give to the Levite, &c.

13 Then thou shalt say before the LORD thy God k, I have brought away l the hallowed things m out of mine house, and also have given them unto the Levite, and unto the stranger, to the fatherless, and to the widow, according to all thy commandments which thou hast commanded me: I have not transgressed thy commandments, neither have I forgotten them.

k (i. e.) Either before the Tabernacle or Temple: or rather, in thy private and domestick Addresses to God; for this is to be said presently upon the distribution of these tithes, which was not done at Jerusalem, but in their own private gates or dwellings; except we will suppose that after he had given away these tithes at home he should go up to Jerusalem meerly to make this acknowledgment, which seems improbable. And this is to be spoken before the Lord, i. e. solemnly, seriously, and in a religious manner, with due respect to God's presence and will and glory, which is a sufficient ground for that Phrase. l Or, separated, or removed, to wit, from my own proper and private Treats. m (i.e.) The tithes which have been sanctified and set apart for these uses.

14 I have not eaten thereof in my mourning n, neither have I taken away ought thereof for any unclean use o, nor given ought thereof for the dead p: but I have hearkened to the voice of the LORD my God, and have done according to all that thou hast commanded me.

n (i. e.) Either 1. in my funeral solemnities for the dead. But this falls in with the last branch. Or 2. in my distress or poverty, or upon pretence of my own want, in which case men are tempted and inclined to fall upon sacred or forbidden things. Or 3. in sorrow, or grieving that I was to give away so much of my profits to the poor, but I have chearfully eaten and feasted with them, as I was obliged to do. For though it be taken for granted by some learned Expositors, from Deut. 14. 28, 29. that the owner was not to eat any part of the third years tithe, but to give it all away to the stranger and fatherless, &c. the contrary seems to me more probable from that very place, where it is said, thou shalt lay it up within thy gates, and then it follows, that the Levite, stranger, &c. shall come, to wit, to thy gates, and shall eat, to wit, there, as is expressed v. 12. that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled; which implies, that these tithes, or some part of them, were eaten in the owners gates or dwelling, with holy rejoycing and feasting, wherein it is most probable the owner had his share, though it be not there expressed, because it was evident in it self from the foregoing passage, Deut. 14. 23. &c. where the owner is allowed and commanded to eat those tithes together with the Levites. And howsoever some think the third years tithes, v. 28. were not the same with those v. 23. yet it cannot with any colour of reason be thought that those tithes which were to be eaten, not only by the Levites, but also by the strangers, v. 29. were more sacred than those that were to be eaten by none but the Levites and the owners, v. 23. 27. or that the owner might eat of the one, and not of the other. o (i.e.) For any common use; the words common and unclean being oft indifferently used one for the other, or for any other use than that which thou hast appointed, which would have been a pollution of them. p (i.e.) For any funeral pomp or service or feast; for the Jews used to send in provisions to feast with the nearest relations of the Party deceased, of which see Jer. 16. 7. Ezek. 24. 17. Hos. 9. 4. and in that case both the guests and food were legally polluted, Numb. 19. 11, 14. and therefore the use of these tithes in such cases had been a double fault, both the defiling of sacred food, and the imploying of those provisions upon sorrowful occasions, which by God's express command were to be eaten with rejoycing, Deut. 14. 26. and 26. 11.

Isa. 63. 15. Zech. 2. 13. 15 * Look down q from thy holy habitation, from heaven, and bless thy people Israel, and the land which thou hast given us, as thou swearest unto our fathers, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

q After that solemn profession of their obedience to God's commands, they are taught to pray for God's blessing upon their land; whereby they are instructed how vain and ineffectual the prayers of unrighteous or disobedient persons are.

16 This day the LORD thy God hath commanded thee to do these statutes and judgments: thou shalt therefore keep and do them with all thine heart, and with all thy soul.

17 Thou hast avouched r the LORD this day s to be thy God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and to hearken unto his voice.

r Or declared, or, professed, or, owned. s (i.e.) At this time, in this wilderness, where thou hast accepted and ratified God's covenant.

18 And * the LORD hath avouched thee t this day to be his peculiar people, as he hath promised thee, and that thou shouldest keep all his commandments. Chap. 7. 6 and 14. 2.

t Hath owned thee for such before all the world by eminent and glorious communications and manifestations of his power and grace and favour in and for thee, by a solemn entring into covenant with thee, and giving peculiar laws, promises, and privileges to thee above all mankind. u Which is here mentioned as an act of God's, because though this be Man's duty, yet it is the work of God's grace that he will vouchsafe to give us such commands, that he doth require and will accept of our obedience to them, and that we have any power or will to obey them, Ezek. 36. 26, 27.

19 And to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praise, and in name, and in honour, and that thou mayest be an holy people unto the LORD thy God, as he hath spoken.

CHAP. XXVII.

A Command to set up stones for a Remembrance, and to write the Law upon them: They must build the Altar of the Lord with whole stones, 1—8 To pronounce the Blessing on Gerizzim, and the Curse on Ebal, 9—26.

1 AND Moses with the elders of Israel commanded the people, saying, Keep all the commandments which I command you this day.

2 And it shall be on that day a * when ye shall pass over Jordan, unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, that * thou shalt set thee up great stones, and plaister them with plaister b. Jos. 4. 1. Jos. 8. 32.

a (i. e.) About that time, for it was not done till some days after their passing over. Day is oft put for time, as hath been noted before. b For conveniency of writing upon them.

3 And thou shalt write upon them all the words of this law c when thou art passed over that thou mayest go in into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey, as the LORD God of thy Fathers hath promised thee.

c Either 1. all the words of this book of Deuteronomy. But that seems too large for this place. Or 2. the blessings and curses here following. But they are mentioned as a different thing. Or 3. the law properly so called, i. e. the sum and substance of the precepts or laws of Moses, especially such as were moral and general, as may be guessed from the following part of the chapter, where the curses pronounced against all that confirm not all the words of this law to do them are particularly applied unto the transgressours of moral laws only, v. 15, 16, &c. And especially the Decalogue, which oft goes under that name. Compare Jos. 8. 32. &c.

4 Therefore it shall be when ye are gone over Jordan, that ye shall set up these stones, which I command you this day, in mount Ebal ‖ and thou shalt plaister them with plaister.

‖ The mount of cursing. Here the law is written, to signifie that a curse was due to the violatours of it, and that no man could expect justification or healing from the works of the law, by the sentence whereof all men are justly accursed, as being all guilty of the transgression of it in one kind and degree or other. Here the sacrifices are to be offered, to shew that there is no way to be delivered from this curse, but by the blood of Christ, which all these sacrifices did typifie, and by Christ's being made a curse for us, Gal. 3. 13.

5 And there thou shalt build an altar unto the LORD thy God, an altar of stones: * thou shalt not lift up any iron tool upon them. Ex. 20. 25. Josh. 8. 31.

6 Thou shalt build the altar of the LORD thy God of whole stones d: and thou shalt offer burnt-offerings thereon unto the LORD thy God.

d (i. e.) Rough, not hewed nor polished.

7 And thou shalt offer peace-offerings, and shalt eat there, and rejoyce before the LORD thy God.

8 And thou shalt write upon the stones all the words of this law very plainly e.

e So as to be easily read by all.

9 And Moses, and the Priests the Levites, spake to all Israel, saying, Take heed, and hearken, O Israel; this day thou art become the people of the LORD f thy God.

f By thy solemn renewing of thy Covenant with him.

10 Thou shalt therefore obey the voice of the LORD thy God, and do his commandments, and his statutes which I command thee this day.

11 And Moses charged the people the same day, saying,

12 These

12 These shall stand upon mount Gerizzim g, to bless the people h, when ye are come over Jordan; Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Joseph, and Benjamin i.

g Obj. In Jos. 8. 33. they stood over against Mount Gerizzim. Ans. 1. Both are true: they who stood upon the one mount, stood over against the other. 2. These words may be rendred beside or near to (as the Hebrew al oft signifies) Mount Gerizzim, which might be over against it. h Whence it appears that the Blessings also were pronounced as well as the Curses, though they be not here mentioned. See Jos. 8. 33. i All these were the children of the free-women, Leah and Rachel, to shew both the Dignity of the Blessings above the Curses, and that the Blessings belong only to those as are Evangelically such, as this is expounded and applied, Gal. 4. 22, &c. even to those that receive the Spirit of Adoption and Liberty. Joseph is here put for both his Sons and Tribes Manasseh and Ephraim, which are here reckoned as one tribe, because Levi is here numbred; but when Levi is omitted, as it is where the division of the Land is made, there Manasseh and Ephraim pass for two tribes.

13 And these shall stand upon mount Ebal † to curse k: Reuben, Gad and Asher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali l:

(ch 11.29. Heb. for cursing.)

k He saith, to bless the people, ver. 12. but here only to curse, not expressing whom, either because he was loath to mention the people as Objects of the Curse; or because he presumed and hoped that though some particular persons might deserve the Curse, yet the generality of the people would keep out of the reach of it: or to intimate, that though the Blessing was peculiar to the people of Israel, yet the Curse was indefinite and common to all Nations, as may appear from the particular sins here numbred, which are such as made the Gentiles guilty and abominable to God, as is elsewhere affirmed. See Lev. 18. 28. l Four of these are the children of the Bondwomen, to shew that the Curse belongs to those of servile and disingenuous spirits and carriages to God. With these are joyned Reuben, who by his shameful sin fell from his Dignity, Gen. 49. 4. and Zabulon, as the youngest of Leah's Children, who was necessary to be joyned with those, that the numbers might be equal.

14 And the Levites m shall speak, and say unto all the men of Israel with a loud voice n:

m (i.e.) Some of the Levites, to wit, the Priests, which bare the Ark, as it is expressed Jos. 8. 33. for the body of the Levites stood upon Mount Gerizim, v. 12. But these stood in the Valley between Gerizim and Ebal, looking towards the one or the other Mountain as they pronounced either the Blessings or the Curses, as may be gathered from Jos. 8. 33. n So as they might be heard by a great number of the people, by whom the rest were informed and directed by some Signal when they should answer.

15 * Cursed be the man that maketh any graven or molten image o, an abomination unto the LORD, the work of the hands of the craftsmen, and p putteth it in a secret place q: and all the people shall answer and say, * Amen r.

o Under this particular he understands all the gross Violations of the first Table, as under the following Branches he comprehends all other Sins against the second Table, as is manifest from hence, that there are other Sins, not here mentioned, which are as sinful as these, and will as certainly expose a man to the Curse as any of the rest. p Or, although, as that Particle sometimes signifies. q He takes special notice of such, partly to shew the folly of those men who think to hide their Sins by this means; and partly to deter men from such Practices, which men could not see nor punish, by making them their own Condemners and Executioners. r (i.e.) So let it be: I wish this Curse may befal me if I be guilty of this Crime. See Numb. 5. 22. Jer. 11. 5.

16 * Cursed be he that setteth light s by his father or his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*Ex.20.12. & 21. 17.)

s Or, despiseth in his heart: or reproacheth or curseth, to wit, secretly, as before: for if the fact was notorious, it was punished with death, Levit. 20. 9.

17 * Cursed be he that removeth his neighbours landmark t: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*ch.19.14.)

t To wit, designedly, to defraud his Neighbour, or enlarge his own portion.

18 * Cursed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of the way u: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*Lev.19.14)

u That misleadeth simple souls, giving them pernicious Counsel, either for this life, or for the next.

19 * Cursed be he that perverteth the judgment of the stranger, fatherless, and widow: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(* Ex. 22. 21, 22. chap.10.18 Le. 18.8.)

20 Cursed be he that lieth with his fathers wife; because he uncovereth his fathers skirt x: and all the people shall say, Amen.

x See Deut. 22. 20.

21 * Cursed be he that lieth with any manner of beast: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*Le.18.23.)

22 * Cursed be he that lieth with his sister, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*Le.18.9.)

23 * Cursed be he that lieth with his mother in law: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*Le.18.17. & 20. 14. *Ex.20.13.)

24 * Cursed be he that smiteth y his neighbour secretly: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(&21.21,14. Le. 24.17. *Nu.35.31. *Ex 23.8. *ch. 19.17. & 16. 19. Ec.22.22.)

y (i.e.) Killeth, as that word is oft used.

25 * Cursed be he that taketh reward to slay an innocent person: and all the people shall say, Amen.

26 * Cursed be he that confirmeth not z all the words of this law to do them: and all the people shall say, Amen.

(*Jer.11. 3. Gal.3. 10.)

z (i.e.) Performeth not: for he that transgresseth doth in some sort destroy and make void the Law of God, as to the main end for which it was given, even to the Regulation of his life and actions, and as far as lies in him disanuls the authority and force of God's Law.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The Blessings of Obedience, 1——14. Curses for Disobedience, 15——38.

1 AND it shall come to pass, * If thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe, and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day, that the LORD thy God will set thee on high a above all nations of the earth.

(*Lev.25.)

a (i.e.) Advance and honour thee with divers Priviledges and Blessings, as it here follows.

2 And all these blessings shall come on thee, and overtake thee b, if thou shalt hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God.

b Those blessings which others greedily follow after, and oftimes never overtake, they shall follow after thee, and shall be thrown into thy lap by my special kindness.

3 Blessed shalt thou be in the city, and blessed shalt thou be in the field.

4 Blessed shall be * the fruit of thy † body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattel, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep.

5 Blessed shall be thy basket, and thy ‖ store c.

c (i.e.) It shall always be well replenished, and the Provision thou hast there shall be preserved for, and in due time brought forth to thy use and service. See Deut. 26. 2, 10.

(Or, dough-tray. Heb. thy kneading-store.)

6 * Blessed shalt thou be when thou comest in d, and blessed shalt thou be when thou goest out d.

d (i.e.) In all thy affairs and administrations, which are oft expressed by this Phrase, as Numb. 27. 17. Deut. 31. 2. 2 Sam. 3. 25. 2 Chron. 1. 10. Act. 1. 21. and 9. 28.

7 The LORD shall cause thine enemies that rise up against thee, to be smitten before thy face: they shall come out against thee one way, and flee before thee seven ways e.

e (i.e.) Many ways, as is usual when an Army is totally overthrown and dissipated.

8 The LORD shall command f the blessing upon thee in thy ‖ store-houses, and in all that thou settest thine hand unto, and he shall bless thee in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

f (i.e.) Shall by his sovereign and powerful Providence give it, even when it seems furthest from thee, and not likely to come to thee without a Word of Command from God himself.

9 * The LORD shall establish thee an holy people unto himself g, as he hath sworn unto thee: if thou shalt keep the commandments of the LORD thy God, and walk in his ways.

(* Deut. 29. 13. g (i.e.) Shall confirm and establish his Covenant with thee, by which he separated thee to himself as an holy and Peculiar people, and shall publickly own thee for such, as it follows, ver. 10.

10 And all the people of the earth shall see that thou art called by the Name of the LORD h, * and they shall be afraid of thee.

h (i.e.) That you are in deed and truth his People and Children: 26. 18. See Deut. 14. 1. and 26. 18. For to be called oft-times signifies to be, as Isa. 47. 1, 5. and 56. 7. Mat. 5. 9, 19. and 21. 13.

11 And * the LORD shall make thee plenteous ‖ in goods, in the fruit of thy † body, and in the fruit of thy cattel, and in the fruit of thy ground i, in the land which the LORD sware unto thy fathers, to give thee.

i The same things which were said before are repeated, to shew that God would repeat and multiply his blessings upon them.

12 The LORD shall open unto thee his good treasure k, the heaven to give the rain unto thy land in his season, and to bless all the work of thine hand: and * thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow.

k To wit, the Heaven or the Air, as it here follows, which is God's Storehouse, where he treasures up Rain or Wind or other things for Man's use. See Job. 38. 22. Psal. 33. 7.

13 And the LORD shall make thee the head l, and not the tail, and thou shalt be above only, and thou shalt not be beneath: if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the LORD thy God, which I command thee this day, to observe and to do them:

l The chief of all People in Power, or at least in Dignity and Priviledges; so that even they that are not under thine Authority shall reverence thy Greatness and Excellency. So it was in David's and Solomon's time, and so it should have been much oftner and much more, if they had performed the Conditions here required. For the Phrase see Isa. 9. 13, 14. and 19. 15.

14 And thou shalt not go aside from any of the words which I command thee this day, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.

15 But

15 But it shall come to pass, * if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe to do all his commandments, and his statutes, which I command thee this day, that all these curses shall come upon thee, and overtake thee m.

(* Lev. 26. 14. Deut. 30. 15. Mic. 6. 8.)

m So as thou shalt not be able to escape them, as thou shalt vainly hope and endeavour to do.

16 Cursed shalt thou be in the city, and cursed shalt thou be in the field.

17 Cursed shall be thy basket and thy store.

18 Cursed shall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy land, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep.

19 Cursed shalt thou be when thou comest in, and cursed shalt thou be when thou goest out.

20 The LORD shall send upon thee cursing, vexation n, and rebuke o, in all that thou settest thine hand unto for to do, until thou be destroyed, and until thou perish quickly, because of the wickedness of thy doings, whereby thou hast forsaken me.

(Heb. him.)

n Or, disturbance. This seems chiefly to concern the mind, and its torment arising from the disappointment of hopes and the presages of its approaching miseries. o To wit, from God, not so much in words as by his actions, by cross providences, by sharp and sore afflictions, which are oft called rebukes, as 2 King. 19. 3. Psal. 18. 15. and 39. 11. and 80. 17. Isa. 51. 20. and 66. 15. Ezek. 5. 15. and 25. 17.

21 The LORD shall make the pestilence cleave unto thee, untill he have consumed thee from off the land whither thou goest to possess it.

(Heb. to.)

22 * The LORD shall smite thee with a consumption, and with a feaver, and with an inflammation, and with an extream burning, and with the ‖ sword, and with blasting, and with mildew p: and they shall pursue thee until thou perish.

(* Lev. 26. 16. ‖ Or, drought.)

p Two plagues or evil affections of corn. See 1 King. 8. 37. 2 Chr. 6. 28. Amos 4. 9. Hag. 2. 17.

23 And the heaven that is over thy head shall be brass, and the earth that is under thee shall be iron.

(Heb. iron.)

q (i.e.) Like brass, hard and dry, and that up from giving rain. See Levit. 26. 19.

(Job 6. 15. Jer. 14. 3. Joel 1. 17.)

r Hard and chapt and barren.

24 The LORD shall make the rain of thy land powder and dust s: from heaven shall it come down upon thee, until thou be destroyed.

(Or, In stead of rain shall God &c. Jer. 14. 4.)

s Either 1. thy rain shall be as impossible to thy ground and God as if it were only as much dust. Or 2. In stead of rain shall come nothing but dust from heaven, which being raised and carried up by the wind is great abundance, both great and small upon the earth as it were in clouds or showers.

25 * The LORD shall cause thee to be smitten before thine enemies: thou shalt go out one way against them, and flee seven ways before them, and † shalt be removed into all the Kingdoms of the earth.

(* Lev. 26. 17. Jer. 15. 4. 24. 9. † Heb. for a removing, or to be tossed like a football from place to place, and from people to people.)

26 And thy carcase shall be meat unto all fowls of the air, and unto the beasts of the earth, and no man shall fray them away.

27 The LORD will smite thee with the botch of Egypt, and with the Emerods, and with the scab, and with the itch, whereof thou canst not be healed.

(Exod. 9. 9. 10. 15. Lev. 21. 20. 22. 22.)

28 The LORD shall smite thee with madness, and blindness t, and astonishment of heart.

(Zech. 12. 4. Rev. 6. 15.)

t To wit, of mind, so that they cannot know what to do.

29 And thou shalt grope † at noon days, as the blind gropeth in darkness, and thou shalt not prosper in thy ways: and thou shalt be † only oppressed and crushed alway, and spoiled evermore, and no man shall save thee.

(Job 5. 14. Isa. 59. 10. † Heb. in the noon day. † Heb. only.)

30 Thou shalt betroth a wife, and another man shall lie with her: thou shalt build an house, and thou shalt not dwell therein: thou shalt plant a vineyard, and shalt not gather the grapes thereof.

(Jer. 12. 13. Amos 5. 11. Zeph. 1. 13.)

31 Thine ox shall be slain before thine eyes, and thou shalt not eat thereof: thine ass shall be violently taken away from before thy face, and shall not be restored to thee: thy sheep shall be given unto thine enemies, and thou shalt have none to rescue them.

(Job 20. 19. Jer. 32. 5. Ezek. 4. 13. Amos 5. 11. Hos. 8. 10. Zech. 11. 5. Rev. 18. 11. Heb. there is no return to thee, &c.)

32 Thy sons and thy daughters shall be given unto another people, and thine eyes shall look, and fail with longing for them all the day long: and there shall be no might d in thine hand.

d By those who have conquered them, and taken them captives, who shall give or sell them to other persons, as the manner was.

e Or, be confounded, partly with grief and plentiful tears shed for them; and partly with earnest desire, and vain and long expectation of their return. See Psal. 119. 82. d (i.e.) No power to rescue them, nor money to ransom them.

33 The fruit of thy land and all thy labours shall a nation which thou knowest not e eat up: and thou shalt be only oppressed and crushed alway f.

e Which shall come from a far country, which thou didst not at all expect or fear, and therefore will be the more dreadful when they come; a nation whose language thou understandest not, and therefore canst not plead with them for mercy, nor expect any favour from them. f Not sometimes conquered, and sometimes conquering, as the course of War commonly is, but in all times, and in all thy actions and attempts, foiled and worsted.

34 So that thou shalt be mad for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see.

(Dan. 4. 19.)

35 The LORD shall smite thee in the knees, and in the legs, with a sore botch that cannot be healed, from the sole of thy foot unto the top of thy head.

(2 Kin. 17. 7. 2 Chro. 21. 18. Job 2. 7.)

36 The LORD shall bring thee, and * thy king g which thou shalt set over thee, unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known, and * there shalt thou serve other gods h, wood and stone.

(* 2 Kin. 17. 4. & 24. 12. & 25. 7. Jer. 52. 11.)

g The calamity shall be both universal, which even thy King shall not be able to avoid, much less the subjects, who have far less advantage and opportunity for escape; and irrecoverable, because he who should protect or rescue them is lost with them. See Lam. 4. 20. h Either being corrupted by their examples and counsels, or compelled to it by their tyranny. So what formerly was their choice and delight now becomes their plague and misery. And this doubtless was the condition of many Israelites under the Assyrian and Babylonish captivities, as we may gather from Jer. 44. 17, 18, 19. and other places, tho' many of them kept themselves free from this infection.

37 And thou shalt become * an astonishment, a proverb, and a by-word, among all nations whither the LORD shall lead thee.

i All other nations shall wonder to see such calamities befall such a people, and when they would express any dreadful affliction in a proverbial way, they shall make use of thy example: They shall also sport themselves in thy miseries, and say, these are the people of the Lord, the only Saints upon earth, &c.

38 Thou shalt carry much seed out into the field, and shalt gather but little in: for the locust shall consume it.

39 Thou shalt plant vineyards, and dress them, but shalt neither drink of the wine, nor gather the grapes: for the worms shall eat them.

40 Thou shalt have olive-trees throughout all thy coasts, but thou shalt not anoint thy self with the oil: for thine olive shall cast his fruit.

41 Thou shalt beget sons and daughters, but † thou shalt not enjoy them: for they shall go into captivity.

(* Lam. 1. 5.)

45 Moreover, all these curses shall come upon thee, and shall pursue thee, and overtake thee, till thou be destroyed; because thou hearkenedst not unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep his commandments and his statutes which he commanded thee.

46 And they shall be upon thee for a sign and for a wonder, and upon thy seed for ever.

48 Therefore shalt thou serve thine enemies, which the LORD shall send against thee, in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things: and he shall put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have destroyed thee.

49 The LORD shall bring a nation against him from far, from the end of the earth, as † swift as the eagle flieth; a nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand;

(Jer. 5. 15. & 6. 22. Luk. 19. 43. Hos. 8. 1. † Heb. as the Eagle flies; (i.e.) not only for swiftness, as is usually understood in our translation, for which the Babylonian is altered and compared red to an Eagle, Jer. 4. 13. Ezek. 17. 3. Dan. 7. 4. but also fiercely and greedily, as the Eagle to its prey; also strongly and irresistibly. Possibly this may be understood of the Romans, who did come from far, from the end of the earth, more truly and literally than the Chaldeans, whose Country was not far from Judea, and this may allude to the Eagle, which was in their Ensigns.

59 Then the LORD will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy seed, even great plagues, and of long continuance, and sore sicknesses, and of long continuance.

60 Moreover, he will bring upon thee all the diseases of Egypt, which thou wast afraid of, and they shall cleave unto thee.

63 And it shall come to pass, that as the LORD rejoyced over you to do you good, and multiply you, so the LORD will rejoyce over you to destroy you, and to bring you to nought; and ye shall be plucked from off the land whither thou goest to possess it.

Pro. 1. 26. Isa. 1. 24.

x For his indignation against you will be so great, that he will be pleased in his wrath to take vengeance on you: so that he will not delight in the death of a Sinner in his own person, but will delight in the glorifying of his Justice upon them, in seeing the exercise of all his attributes most needful for, else he were not perfectly happy. y Which was no ordinary land, but a most pleasant land, a land of promise, a token of God's favour, and a pledge of their eternal inheritance, which was a great aggravation of their loss of it.

64 And the LORD † shall scatter thee among all people, from the one end of the earth, even to the other end of the earth; and there thou shalt serve other gods, which † Heb. cause to scatter.

65 And * among these nations shalt thou find no ease, neither shall the sole of thy foot have rest z, but the LORD shall give thee there a trembling heart, and failing of eyes, and sorrow of mind.

* Lev. 26. 36.

z Ye shall have no settlement in the land whither you are banished, but there you shall be tossed about from place to place, and sold from person to person, or Cain-like, wander about like a vagabond.

66 And thy life shall hang in doubt before thee a, and thou shalt fear day and night: and shalt have none assurance of thy life.

a Either because thou art in the hands of thy enemies that have power, and want not will, to destroy thee: or because of the terrors of thy own mind, and the guilt of thy conscience making thee to fear, even where no great cause to fear it.

67 * In the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were even: and at even thou shalt say, Would God it were morning: for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou shalt fear, and for the sight of thine eyes, which thou shalt see.

* Job 7. 4.

68 And the LORD * shall bring thee into Egypt again b with ships c by the way d whereof I spake unto thee, Thou shalt see it no more again: and there ye shall be sold unto your enemies for bond-men, and bond-women, and no man shall buy you e.

b Whence he hath now so gloriously delivered thee, as repenting of all his kindness to thee, and resolved to undo what he hath done for thee. And the remembrance of what they endured in Egypt could not but make the thoughts of returning thither again very terrible to them. c Which was literally fulfilled under Titus, when multitudes of them were carried thither for sale, and died there for Slaves; as Josephus shews. And this expression seems to mind them of that time when they were driven by the Red Sea without ships, God miraculously drying up the Sea before them, &c. which now they would have occasion sadly to remember. † Or, by the way the Hebrew hath a double signifying it, as it doth Gen. 17. 2. Levit. 16. 23. Psal. 10. 6. and 91. 12. Isa. 9. 1. And the way seems not to intimate here the usual way from Canaan to Egypt, which was wholly by land, but to point to the end of this way of journey, over the land of Egypt, for so this, and not so (the ordinary way between Canaan and Egypt, is) the words here following, *whereof I spake unto thee, never to see it, (i. e. Christ) to more again. And so that way is put for the land in a place parallel to this, where the very same words are used, Deut. 17. 16. to which this place palpably alludes. d Either because the number of you carried back will be so few, that you will scarce find out the way with you, or because that shall be the ordinary road you shall take in your flight. And this was the condition of the Jews at the destruction of Jerusalem, and Adrian put them with much ado to it, to find out the way to Jerusalem when he would have them to build it. e Which was literally fulfilled under Titus, when they were sold for slaves, and so many of them, that they were sold for a very low rate, as Josephus tells us.

CHAP. XXIX.

THese are the words of the covenant, which the LORD commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab, † beside the covenant a which he made with them in Horeb.

a These are the terms or conditions upon which God here (about) to renew the covenant with you. Vide Ch. 5. 2. The ratifying and confirming of the Covenant, (The Covenant was but one, in substance, but of various administrations, and renewings of it.)

2 And Moses called unto all Israel, and said unto them, Ye have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt unto Pharaoh, and unto all his servants, and unto all his land;

3 The great temptations which your eyes have seen, the signs, and those great miracles:

4 Yet the LORD hath not given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day.

5 And I have led you forty years in the wilderness, your clothes are not waxen old upon you, and thy shoe is not waxen old upon thy foot d.

d So far, that it was necessary for you to throw them away, and to get new ones. See on Deut. 8. 4.

The words may be readred, to add thirst to drunkenneſs, the particle eth, which is a note of the Accusative Case, being joined with thirst, and not with drunkenneſs, and so the senſe may be this, that when he hath multiplied his sins, and made himself as it were drunk with them, yet he is not satisfied therewith, but still wheres his Appetite, and provokes his thirst after more, as Drunkards commonly will use means and temptations to make themselves thirst after more drink, that they may drink more abundantly. Or thus, to add the moiſt or moiſtening to the thirſty, (i. e.) in stead of refraining and mortifying, as he ought to do, fully and greedily to satisfie his idolatrous or wicked inclinations, and resolved to give up himself to all the desires of his own heart. 25 Then men shall say, Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD God of their fathers, which he made with them, when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt.

26 For they went and served other gods, and worshipped them; gods whom they knew not, and ‖ whom he had not † given unto them i.

‖ Or, who had not † Heb. given unto them any portion.

i (i. e.) Whom God had not given or divided to them, as their portion, or for their worship, but hath divided them unto all Nations, as it is said, Deut. 4. 19. not for their worship, but for their use and service. So he speaks here of the Sun and Moon and Stars, which were the principal Gods worshipped by the neighbouring Nations. Or, to whom none hath given this, i. e. that they should be worshipped, or, to whom no worship belongs. So this is an argument against Idolatry. Or, who had not given unto them, to wit, any thing: It is an Ellipsis of the Accusative, which is very frequent: gods known to them by no benefits received from them, as they had from their God, whom therefore it was the greater folly and ingratitude to forsake.

27 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against this land, to bring upon it all the curses that are written in this book.

28 And the LORD rooted them out of their land in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation, and cast them into another land, as it is this day.

29 The secret things belong unto the LORD our God k: but those things which are revealed, belong unto us, and to our children l for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

k Having now mentioned the dreadful and amazing Judgments of God upon the whole land and people of Israel, and foreseeing by the Spirit of prophecy the utter extirpation and destruction which would come upon them for their wickedness, he breaks out into this pathetical exclamation, either to bridle their curiosity, who hearing this, would be apt to enquire into the time and manner of so great an event; or to quiet his own mind, and satisfie the scruples of others, who perceiving God to deal so severely with his own people, when in the mean time he suffered those Nations which were guilty of grosser Atheism and Idolatry, and Impiety than the generality of the Jewish people were, to live and prosper in the world, might thence take occasion to deny or reproach his providence or question the equity of his proceedings. To this he answers, that the ways and judgments of God, though never unjust, are oft times secret and hidden from us, and unsearchable by our shallow capacities, and are matter for our admiration, not for our enquiry. l But the things which are revealed by God and his word, these are the proper object of our enquiries and studies, that thereby we may come to the knowledge of our duty, by the practice whereof we may be kept from such terrible punishments and calamities as these now mentioned.

CHAP. XXX.

A Promise of Gracious Deliverance to the Jews upon their Repentance, in future times, 1—10. The Law of God manifest and just, 11——14. Life and Death set before them, 15——20.

1 * AND it shall come to pass, when all these things are come upon thee, the blessing a and the curse b, which I have set before thee c, and thou shalt call them to mind d among the nations whither the LORD thy God hath driven thee.

*Lev. 26. 40.

a When thou art obedient. b When thou becomest rebellious and Apostatical. c Heb. placed before thy face, i. e propounded to thy consideration and choice. d Or, bring them back to thy heart, (i. e.) deeply affect thy heart with the sense of these things, to wit, of the blessings offered and given to them by Gods mercy, and the curses brought upon themselves by their sins.

2 And shalt return unto the LORD thy God, and shall obey his voice, according to all that I command thee this day, thou and thy children, with all thine heart, and with all thy soul:

*Psal. 126. 1. *Psal. 147. 2. 3 * That then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity e, and have compassion upon thee, and will return, and * gather thee f from all the nations whither the LORD thy GOD hath scatered thee.

e (i. e.) Bring back thy captives, as captivity is taken, Psal. 14. 7. Eph 4. 8. f (i. e.) Thy children, either spiritually such, as it is explained Joh. 11. 51, 52. or literally such, as it is promised Rom. 11.

4 * If any of thine be driven out unto the utmost parts of heaven, from thence will the LORD thy God gather thee, and from thence will he fetch thee. *Neh. 1. 9. *Jer. 32. 37.

5 And the LORD thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it, and he will do thee good, and multiply thee above thy fathers.

Ezek. 11. 19. & 39. 26. 6 And * the LORD thy God will circumcise thine heart f, and the heart of thy seed, to love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live.

f Or, For the Lord will circumcise thine heart, i. e. will by his Word and Spirit change and purge thy heart from all thine Idolatry and Superstition and Wickedness, and encline thy heart to love him, as it here follows. See Deut. 10. 16. And so this is produced to shew why and how those great things should be accomplished, God would first convert and sanctifie them, the fruit whereof should be this, that they should return and obey Gods commandments, and v. 8. and then should prosper in all things, v. 9. The Hebrew Vau is oft rendred for, and notes the reason of a thing, as 1 King. 1. 21. and 18. 3, 4 Isai. 1. 3. and 5. 12. Isa. 16. 2. and 64. 5. And this promise principally respects the times of the Gospel, and the Grace which was to be then imparted to all Gods Israel by Christ, by whom alone this circumcision is obtained. Col. 2. 11. Add so having fully described to them the Law of God, the rule of their obedience here, and in foregoing chapeers, and considering their great instability in the performance of their obedience to it he now reasonably adds a glorious Gospel promise, and directs their faith to the Messias by whom alone they could expect or receive the establishment of their hearts in the ways of God against Apostacy.

7 And the LORD thy God will put all these curses upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, which persecuted thee.

8 And thou shalt return, and obey the voice of the LORD, and do all his commandments which I command thee this day.

*chap. 28. 11. 9 * And the LORD thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy body, in the fruit of thy cattel, and in the fruit of thy land for good g, for the LORD will again rejoyce over thee for good h; as he rejoyced over thy fathers.

g Whereas thou didst formerly receive and enjoy these mercies for thy hurt, through thy own wicked and foolish heart, when thou wast full and fat, forgetting God, and kicking against him, Deut. 31. 20. and 32. 15. now thou shalt have them for thy good, thy heart shall be so changed by the grace of the Gospel that thou shalt not now abuse them, but imploy them to the more chearful and faithful service of God the giver of them. h (i. t.) To do thee good; as he did rejoyce to destroy thee, Deut. 28 63.

10 If thou shalt hearken i unto the voice of the LORD thy God to keep his commandments and his statutes which are written in this book of the law, and if thou turn unto the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul.

i This caution and condition is added to warn them that they should not receive the Grace of God in vain, and to teach them that the Grace of God doth not discharge mans obligation to his duty, nor excuse him for the neglect of it, and that Conversion and Sanctification, though it be Gods work, yet it is mans duty.

11 For this commandment which I command thee this day k, it * is not hidden from thee l, neither is it far off m. *chap. 6. 6. Ith. 45. 19 k He seems to speak of the law, or of that great command of loving and obeying God, mentioned here v. 2, 6, 10, 16. which is the sum of the law, of which yet he doth not here speak simply, or as it is in its self, but as it is mollified and accompanied with the Grace of the Gospel, whereby God circumciseth mens hearts to do this, as is expressed, v. 6. The meaning is, that although the practice of Gods law strictly and severely be now far from us, and above our strength, yet, considering the advantage of Gospel Grace, whereby God enables us in some measure to our duty, and accepts of our sincere endeavours in stead of perfection, and imputes Christs perfect righteousness unto us that believe, now it is neat and easie to us. And so this place well agrees with Rom. 10. 6, &c. where St. Paul expounds or applies this place to the righteousness of faith; by which alone the Law is such as it is here described. l Heb. Is not too wonderful for thee, as Deut. 17. 8. Prov. 30. 18. Jer. 32. 17. (i. e.) not too hard for thee to know and do. the Will of God, which is but darkly manifested to other nations: Act. 17. 27. is clearly and fully revealed unto thee: thou canst not pretend ignorance or invincible difficulty. m i. e. Out of thy reach.

12 * It is not in heaven n that thou shouldest say, Who shall go up for us to heaven, and bring it unto us that we may hear it, and do it? *Rom. 10. 6, &c.

n (i. e.) Shut up there, but it hath been thence delivered and published in thy hearing.

13 Neither is it beyond the sea o, that thou shouldest say, Who shall go over the sea for us, and bring it unto us that we may hear it, and do it?

o The knowledge of this commandment is not to be fetched from far distant places, to which divers of the wise Heathens travelled for their wisdom, but it was brought to thy very doors and ears, and declared to thee in this Wilderness.

14 But the word is very nigh unto thee, in the mouth p, and in thy heart q that thou mayest do it.

p Thou knowest it so well, that it is the matter of thy common discourse; thou professest thy knowledge and belief of it: or, in the mouths of thy Priests and Levites, who are daily preaching of it, and instructing thee in it. q (i. e.) In thy mind, (as the heart is very commonly taken,) to understand and believe it.

15 * See, I have set before thee this day, life and good r and death and evil. *chap. 11. 26. 27.

r (i. e.) A good or an happy life. A figure called, Hendiaduo, Or, life, and all the blessings of life, as good is oft used, as Job. 7. 7. Psal. 4. 9. and 128. 5. Eccles. 2. 24. and 4. 8. and 6. 3.

16 In that I command thee this day, to love the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his judgments, that thou mayest live and multiply; and the LORD thy God shall bless thee in the land, whither thou goest to possess it.

17 But if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not hear, but shalt be drawn away s, and worship other gods, and serve them:

s Either by thy own evil mind, or by the examples or perswasions of others.

18 I denounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish, and that ye shall not prolong your days upon the land whither thou passest over Jordan to go to possess it.

19 * I call heaven and earth to record this day against you t, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore chuse life, that both thou and thy seed may live. *chap. 4. 26. 31. 28. Isa. 1. 2.

t Compare Deut. 4. 26. Jos. 24. 27. Psal. 50. 4. Isa. 1. 2.

20 That thou mayest love the LORD thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him: (for he is thy life u, and the length of thy dayes) that thou mayest dwell in the land which the LORD sware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob to give them.

u (i. e.) The cause or author of thy life, as life is used Joh. 14. 6. and 17. 3.

CHAP. XXXI.

Moses shall die in the Peoples sight. Encouraging them, and Joshua, and Joshua 1—8. He delivereth the Law unto the Priests to read it every seventh year. 9—13. God foretelleth Joshua his death. 14, 15. Moses and him the future disobedience and misery of the People, enjoyneth Moses a song to testifie against the People. 16—23. Moses chargeth the Levites to lay up the Book of the Law beside the Ark of the Covenant. 24—27. Assembleth all the People to hear his song. 28.—30.

1 AND Moses went and spake a these words unto all Israel.

a (i. e.) Proceeded or continued to speak in usual Hebrew phrase. Or, went to the place where he had assembled the People that he might speak to them.

2 And he said unto them, * I am an hundred and twenty years old this day; I can no more go out and come in b: also the LORD hath said unto me, * Thou shalt not go over this Jordan. *chap. 34. 7. *Num. 20. 12. chap. 3. 27.

b (i. e.) Perform the Office of a Leader or Governour, either because I now find a decay of my mind and body: which seems not well to agree with Deut. 34. 7. or because I foresee the time of my death approaches.

3 The LORD thy God he will go over before thee, and he will destroy these nations from before thee, and thou shalt possess them: and Joshua, he shall go over before thee, * as the LORD hath said. *Num 27. 21.

4 And the LORD shall do unto them, * as he did to Sihon, and to Og, kings of the Amorite, and unto the land of them c whom he destroyed. *Num. 21. 24. 33.

c Which he gave to you to possess.

5 And * the LORD shall give them up before your face d, that ye may do unto them according unto all the commandments which I have commanded you. *chap. 7. 2.

d (i. e.) Into your power. See no Deut. 1. 8.

6 Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them: for the LORD thy God he it is that doth go with thee, * he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. *Josh. 1. 5. Heb. 13. 5.

7 And Moses called unto Joshua, and said unto him in the sight of all Israel, be strong, and of a good courage; for thou must go with this people unto the land which the LORD hath sworn unto their fathers to give them, and thou shalt cause them to inherit it.

8 And the LORD he it is that doth go before thee, he will be with thee, he will not fail thee, neither forsake thee: * fear not, neither be dismayed. *Josh. 1. 9.

9 And Moses wrote this law e, and delivered it unto the priests, the sons of Levi f, which bare the ark g of the covenant of the LORD, and unto all the elders of Israel h.

e Largely so called, the whole Law or Doctrine delivered unto Moses contained in these five books. f That they might keep it carefully and religiously, and bring it forth upon occasion, and read it, and instruct the people out of it. g To wit, sometimes in great solemnities, as Jos. 3. 13, 17. and 6. 12. 1 King. 8. 3. though the Levites also might bear it, as appears from Numb. 3. and 4. and 10. 2 Chron. 15. 2. h Who were Assistants to the Priests, and overseers to take care that the Law should be kept, and read, and observed.

10 And Moses commanded them, saying, At the end of every seven years, in the solemnity of the * year of release i, in the feast of tabernacles, *Chap. 15. 1.

i When they were freed from debts and troubles, and cares of wordly matters, and thereby fitter to attend upon God and his service.

11 When all Israel is come to appear before the LORD thy God in the place which he shall chuse, * thou shalt read k this law before all Israel in their hearing. *Josh. 8. 34. 35.

k They self in part, for the Jews tell us that the King was in person to read some part of it, or at least, thou shalt cause it to be read by the Priests or Levites, for he could not read it himself in the hearing of all Israel, but this was to be done by several persons, and to the people met in several companies. See Nehem. 8. 1, &c.

12 Gather the people together l, men, and women m, and children n and thy stranger o, that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learn p, and fear the LORD your God, and observe to do all the words of this Law.

l Not into one place, where all could not hear, but into divers Assemblies or Synagogues. m Who hereby are required to go to Jerusalem at this solemnity, as they were permitted to do in other solemnities, when the Males only were enjoyned to go, Exod. 23. 17. n To wit, such of them as could understand, as appears from Neh. 8. 2, 3. (i. e.) The Proselytes, though others also were admitted. p That they may then certainly and constantly do so, though they had also other opportunities to do so, as upon the Sabbath-days. Act. 15. 21. and other solemn feasts, yea even in their private houses.

13 And that their children which have not known any thing, may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as ye live in the land, whither ye go over Jordan to possess it.

14 And the LORD said unto Moses, Behold, thy dayes approach that thou must die: call Joshua and present your selves in the tabernacle q of the congregation, that * I may give him a charge r. And Moses and Joshua went, and presented themselves in the Tabernacle of the congregation. *Num. 27. 19.

q Either properly so called, for though the Priests only might ordinarily enter there, yet others might go in, upon a call and command from God, which here they had: or in the court of the Tabernacle, for the door of which God stood in the cloudy pillar, v. 15. the Court coming here under the name of the Tabernacle as elsewhere it comes under the name of the Temple. r Immediately from my self for his greater encouragement, and to gain him more authority with the People.

15 And * the LORD appeared in the tabernacle, in a pillar of a cloud: and the pillar of the cloud, stood over the door of the tabernacle. *Exod. 33. 9.

16 And the LORD said unto Moses, Behold, thou † shalt † sleep s with thy fathers, and this people will rise down up, and go a whoring t after the gods of the strangers of the land u, whither they go to be amongst them, and will forsake me, and break my covenant which I have made with them. † Heb. lie

t The death of men, both good and bad, is oft called a sleep, because they shall certainly awake out of it by resurrection. See Psal. 76. 5. Dan. 12. 2. 1 Thes. 4. 13, &c. 2 Pet. 3. 4. s God certainly foresees all things to come, yea, even those which depend upon the wills of men, or contingencies of the things, as this unquestionably did. u (i. e.) Of the Canaanites, who now are possessours, but shortly will be turned out of their possessions, and become as strangers in their own land. This aggravates their folly to worship such Gods as could neither preserve their friends, nor annoy their enemies.

17 Then my anger shall be kindled against them in that day, and I will forsake them, and I will * hide my face x from them, and they shall be devoured, and many evils and troubles shall † befall them; so that they will † say in that day, Are not these evils come upon us, because our God y is not amongst us? *Psal. 104. 29. Heb. find them.

x (i. e.) Withdraw my favour and help.

18 And I will surely hide my face in that day, for all the evils which they shall have wrought, in that they are turned unto other gods.

19 Now therefore write ye this song z for you, and teach it the children of Israel; put it in their mouths z, that this song may be a witness for me a against the children of Israel.

z Which is contained Deut. 32. and is put into a song that it may be better learned, and more fixed in their minds and memories. z Cause them to learn it, and sing it one to another, to oblige them to more circumspection and watchfulness. a Of my kindness in giving them so many blessings, of my patience in bearing so long with them, of my clemency in giving them such fair and plain warnings, and my justice in punishing such an unthankful perverse and incorrigible people.

20 For when I shall have brought them into the land which I sware unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey, and they shall have eaten and filled themselves, and waxen fat; * then will they turn unto their gods, and serve them, and provoke me, and break my covenant. *chap. 6. 10, &c. and 8. 16 and 32. 15.

21 And it shall come to pass, when many evils and troubles are befallen them, that this song shall testifie † against them as a witness: for it shall not be forgotten b out of the mouths of their seed: for I know their imagination, which they † go about even now c, before I have brought them into the land which I sware. † Heb. bea fore.

b This seems not to be a precept that they should remember it, but a prediction, that God would give them sad occasion to remember it, by bringing upon them the dreadful calamities mentioned in it. c Either their inward Inclinations to Idolatry, which they do not check, as they ought, but rather entertain with delight, and those of them do not only cherish it in their hearts, but as far as they can and dare, secretly practise it, as may be gathered from Amos 5. 25. Act. 7. 43. or their secret purposes to allow themselves therein, when they are settled in their land, which were clearly known to God, though it may be not fully evident to themselves.

22 Moses therefore wrote this song the same day, and taught it the children of Israel.

23 And he gave Joshua the son of Nun a charge and said, * Be strong and of a good courage: for thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the land which I sware unto them d: and I will be with thee. *Josh. 1. 6.

d This wickedness of theirs which I now foresee and foretel shall not hinder me from bringing them into Canaan.

24 And it came to pass, when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book, until they were finished;

25 That Moses commanded the Levites e which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, saying, e (i. e.) The Priests, ver. 9. who also were Levites.

26 Take this book of the law, and put it in the side f of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee g:

f (i.e.) In the outside, in a little chest fixed to it: for nothing but the Tables of stone were contained in the Ark, 1 King. 8. 9. Here it was kept for greater security and reverence. g (i.e. Against thy people, to whom he turns his speech that they might be more affected with it.

27 For I know thy rebellion, and thy stiff neck; behold, while I am yet alive with you this day, ye have been rebellious against the LORD, and how much more after my death?

28 Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may speak these words in their ears, and call heaven and earth to record against them.

29 For I know that after my death ye will utterly corrupt your selves, and turn aside from the way which I have commanded you: and evil will befall you in the latter days, because ye will do evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger through the work of your hands.

30 And Moses spake in the ears of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song until they were ended.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Divine Song, in which God's Power, mercy to his people, and vengeance on his enemies is exalted, their ingratitude is rebuked, 1—18. God's wrath and future judgments, 19—26. Yet, the Idolatrous Nations to be destroyed; and they at last to be enlarged, 27—43. He exhorts them to set their hearts on these words for their good, 44—47. God sendeth him up to Mount Nebo, there to see the promised Land and dye, 48—52.

1 GIve * ear, O ye heavens a, and I will speak: and hear, O earth a, the words of my mouth.

* chap. 4. 36. & 30. 19. Psal. 50. 4. Isa. 1. 2. Jer. 2. 12. & 6. 19.

a Either 1. Angels and men. Or 2. You liseless and senseless creatures, heaven and earth, which he calls upon partly to accuse the stupidity of Israel, that were more dull of hearing than these: and partly as witnesses of the truth of his sayings and the justice of Gods proceedings against them.

2 * My doctrine shall drop as the rain b, my speech shall distil as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass.

* Isa. 55. 10, 11. 1 Cor. 3. 6, 7, 8.

b Look what effects rain and dew have upon herbs and grass which they make fresh and fragrant and growing, the same effect I may justly expect and hope that my discourse will have upon your hearts, i. e. to make them soft and pliable and fruitful. Or this may be a prayer, Let my doctrine drop, &c. O that it might do so, that my discourse might not be lost upon you, but be profitable to you; the future tense of the indicative mood being put for the imperative mood, as is usual.

3 Because I will publish the Name of the LORD c, ascribe ye greatness unto our God d.

c (i.e.) His glorious excellencies and righteous and worthy actions, by which he hath made himself known as a man is known by his name, and by which it will appear both that there is no blame to be laid upon him whatsoever befalls you, and that it is gross madness to forsake such a God for dumb Idols and meer vanities. d As I am about to publish the great power and Majesty and glory of God, so do you also own and acknowledge it, as you have reason to do; or do you attend to the words which God hath commanded me to speak to you in his Name with that diligence, reverence and godly fear which the prefence of so great and glorious a Majesty calls for.

4 He is the rock e, his work is perfect f: for all his ways are judgment g: a God of truth h, and without iniquity, just and right u he.

e Or, a rock, as for the stability and everlastingness of his nature, and invincibleness of his power, so also for his fixedness and immutability in his counsels and promises and ways; so that if there shall be a sad change in your affairs from an high and prosperous, to a calamitous and deplorable, condition, as there will be, remember that this proceeds from your selves and from the change of your ways and carriages towards God, and not from God, in whom there is no variableness nor shadow of change, Jam. 1. 17. f All his works and actions are unblameable, as being perfect wise and righteous, as it follows. g All his administrations in the world and particularly all his dealings with you are managed with judgment and justice. h Constant to his promises: you cannot accuse him of any levity or unfaithfulness towards you to this day.

5 † They i have corrupted themselves k, ‖ their spot is not the spot of his children: l they are a perverse and crooked generation m.

† Heb. he hath corrupted to himself. ‖ Or, that they are not his children that is their blot.

i (i.e.) The Israelites, as the following words manifest. k This phrase sometimes in Scripture notes sin, and sometimes destruction And so the sense may be either, 1. Their wickedness is not from God but from themselves, and their own choice; they have wilfully and industriously depraved themselves, and sold themselves to sin. Or rather 2. Their destruction is not from God, who is just and true, &c. as was now said, but wholly and solely from themselves, and from their own wickedness, as it here follows. l (i.e.) Their blemishes or sins are not committed through ignorance or frailty or surprizal, as good men sometimes sin, but they proceed from design and deliberation, are accompanied with malice and wilfulness and contempt, and followed with obstinacy, impenitency and incorrigibleness. So that they carry themselves not like my children and people as they seem to be and profess to be, but like mine enemies. m Not only some few of them but the whole body or generation of them are perverse, (i.e.) froward and untractable, and crooked, (i.e.) irregular and disorderly, not agreeing with the streight and righteous nature of God and of his law. Compare Isa. 42. 16.

6 Do ye thus requite the LORD, O foolish people and unwise? is not he thy father that hath bought thee? Hath he not made thee n and established thee? p.

n That hath redeemed and rescued thee from Egyptian bondage. o (i.e.) Advanced thee, as that word is used, 2 Sam. 22. 6. Esth. 6. 6. & Psal. 95. 6. & 149. 2. Isa. 43. 7. Made thee, not only in a general and common way by Creation or production, but in a peculiar manner by adoption or making thee his peculiar people and children. p (i.e.) Renewed and confirmed his grace and favour to thee, and not taken it away from thee, which thou hast oft provoked him to do.

7 Remember the days † of old q; consider the years † Heb. of † of many generations: ask thy father, and he will shew generation. thee, thy elders, and they will tell thee.

q (i.e.) The history and events of ancient days or former ages, and thou wilt find that I had a respect unto thee not only in Abrahams time, but long before it. Compare Jer. 2. 20.

8 When the most High * divided to the Nations their inheritance r, when he † separated the sons of Adam s, he set the bounds of the † people according to the number of the children of Israel t.

* Gen. 10. 5. † Heb. severed. † Heb. peoples.

r When God by his providence did allot the several parts of the world to several people, which was done Gen. 10. and 11. See Deut. 2. 5. 9. Amos 9. 7. Act. 17. 26, 27. s (i.e.) Divided them in their languages and habitations according to their families. t (i.e.) He disposed of the several lands and limits of the people so as he did reserve a convenient and sufficient place for the great numbers of the people of Israel, whom he designed to make as numerous as the stars of heaven. And therefore he so guided the hearts of several people that the posterity of Canaan, which was accursed of God, Gen. 9. 25, 26, 27. and devoted to ruine, should be seared in that country which God intended for the children of Israel, that so when their iniquities were ripe and Gods time came, they might be rooted out, and the Israelites might come in their stead.

9 For the * LORDS portion is his people u: Jacob is the † lot of his inheritance.

* Exod. 15. 16. † Heb. cord.

u It is no wonder God had so great a regard to this people, for he chose them out of all mankind to be his peculiar portion and treasure.

10 He found him x * in a desert land y, and in the waste howling wilderness z: he ‖ led him about a, he instructed him, he * kept him as the apple of his eye b.

* chap. 8. 15. Jer. 2. 6. ‖ Or, encompassed him about. * Psal. 17. 8. Zech. 2. 8.

x Not by chance, but as it were looking out and seeking for him, he met with him there. He did indeed manifest himself to him in Egypt, but it was in the wilderness at Sinai where he found God, and God found him in an eminent manner, and revealed his mind and will to him, and entred into covenant with him, and imparted himself and his grace and blessing to him, that being the place appointed in Egypt for God and Israel to meet together, Exod. 3. 12. By this word he also signifies both their lost condition in themselves, and that their recovery was not from themselves, but only from God who sought and found them out by his grace. y In a place destitute of all the necessaries and comforts of life, which also was a type of that desolate and comfortless condition in which all men are before the grace of God finds them out. See Cant. 3. 6. and 8. 5. Ezek. 16. 4. Hos. 9. 10. and 13. 9. z Where instead of the voices of men is nothing heard but the howlings and yellings and screitches of ravenous birds and beasts. See Isa. 43. 20. Micah. 1. 8. a He conducted them from place to place by his cloudy pillar and providence. See Exod. 13. 18, &c. Or, he compassed him about, by his provident care over him, watching over him and preserving him on every side. Compare Psal. 32. 7. b As men use to keep the apple of their eye, i. e. with singular care and diligence, this being as a most tender so a most useful part. Compare Psal. 17. 8. Prov. 7. 2. Zech. 2. 8.

* Exod. 19. 4 chap. 32. 11. Isa. 31. 5.

c (i.e.) Her young ones in the nest, by a common Metonymy; which she by her cry and motion provoketh to flie by her example. d As preparing her self to flie. e Or, as on her wings, i. e. gently and tenderly and safely too, as if she carried them not in her claws for fear of hurting them; but upon her wings. So it is only an Ellipsis of the particle as, which is frequent, as hath been shewed. Though some say, the Eagle doth usually carry her young ones upon her wings.

12 So the LORD alone did lead him f, and there was no strange God with him g.

* Isa. 43. 12.

f (i.e.) When they were thus up in Egypt as in their nest whence they durst not venture to fly nor stir, he taught and incouraged and enabled them to fly out and free themselves from their bondage, and brought them into a state of liberty and safety; he dealt tenderly with them, bearing with their infirmities, keeping them from all harms. g To wit, to assist him at that work or to deliver them. The more unworthy they in giving to Idols a share in that worship and service which they owe to God only.

13 He made him ride on the high places of the earth h, that he might eat the increase of the fields, and he made him to suck * honey out of the rock i, and oil out of the flinty rock k.

* Psal. 81. 16.

h (i.e.) To conquer their strongest holds, which oft-times are in the mountains, and their cities fenced with walls of greatest height and strength, Deut. 1. 28. and 2. 36. and 3. 29. Isa. 58. 14. To ride upon in Scripture phrase is to subdue or conquer, as Psal. 45. 4. and 66. 12. Rev. 6. 2. and 19. 11, 14. i This being a land flowing with honey, Exod. 38. 17. where the bees made honey even in woods, as 1 Sam. 14. or in the holes of rocks, or in the trees that grew upon or among rocks. k The olive trees grow and fructifie most in rocky or hilly places.

l For though the fat wherewith the inward parts were covered was not to be eaten by them but offered to God, Lev. 3. 9, 10. yet that fat which was fast joined to and mixed with the flesh they might eat, as the Jewish Doctors note. m A place famous for excellent cattel, Numb. 32. 4, and 33. n (i.e.) With the finest of the grains or kernels of wheat; compared to kidneys for their shape and plumpness and largeness. Compare Psal. 81. 17. and 147. o Wine not mixed with water, but pure as it comes from the grape, which was of a red or bloody colour. See Psal. 75. 8. Isa. 27. 2.

15 But * Jesurun p waxed fat and kicked q: * thou art waxen fat, thou art grown thick, thou art covered with fatness r: then he forsook God which made him, and lightly esteemed the Rock of his salvation.

* Isa. 44. 2. * Neh. 9. 25. Jer. 2. 7. and 5. 7. Hos. 13. 6. with fatness

p (i.e.) Israel, as is agreed by Christian and Jewish Interpreters; whom he calls right or upright or righteous, (as the word signifies) not that they were so indeed, but partly by way of instruction to mind them what they professed and promised and ought to be; and partly by way of exprobration, to shew them how unlike they were to the people of God which they pretended to be, and what a shame it was to them to degenerate so much from their name and profession. q As well fed and wanton cattel used to do: he grew insolent and rebellious against God and against his word and spirit. ‖ Which is here rightly understood and supplied, by comparing this place with Job 15. 27. Psal. 17. 10.

16 They provoked him to jealousie s with strange gods, with abominations provoked they him to anger.

s (i.e.) To anger and fury, for jealousie is the rage of a man, Prov. 6. 34. And withall it implies the ground of his anger, to wit, their falseness to God whom they had owned and accepted as their husband, and their spiritual whoredom with other Gods.

17 * They sacrificed unto devils t, ‖ not to God u: to gods whom they knew not x, to new gods, that came newly up y, whom your fathers feared not z.

* Lev. 17. 7. Psal. 106. 37. 1 Cor. 10. 20. Rev. 9. 20. ‖ Or, which † Heb. were no gods.

t (i.e.) Unto Idols, which the Devils brought into the World in opposition to God, in and by which the Devils oft-times manifested themselves unto men, and gave them answers, and received their worship. Compare 1 Cor. 10. 20. The Gentiles pretended to worship God in those Idols, and the Devils which inspired them deluded the nations with false pretences that they were a sort of lower Gods. Moses therefore takes off this mask, and shews the enemies of mankind, and therefore that it was the height of madness to honour or worship them. u This he saith, either because though at first they joined God and Idols together in worship, yet at last they quite forsook God and adhered to Idols only: or because God utterly rejected those sacrifices which they offered to him together with Idols, and took them for no sacrifices. See 1 Cor. 10. 21. x Or, who never knew them, i. e. never shewed any kindness to them, or did them any good: for so words of knowledge are oft used, as Psal. 1. 6. Hos. 13. 5. y Not simply or absolutely, for some of these Gods had been worshipped for many generations and had a fair pretence of long antiquity, but comparatively to the true God, who is the antient of days, Dan. 7. 9. and who was worshipped from the beginning of the world. To this original and first antiquity Moses recalls them; as also our Saviour doth recall the Jews to the first institution, Mat. 19. 8. And therefore we may safely follow both their patterns in despising all pretences of antiquity which are contrary to Gods first institutions contained (as all confess) in the holy Scriptures. z (i.e.) Served not, worshipped not, but justly despised and abhorred them.

18 Of the * Rock a that begat thee b thou art unmindful, and hast forgotten God that formed thee.

* Isa. 44. 8.

a (i.e.) Of God, one of whose titles this is, above ver. 4. Isa. 44. 8. or of Christ, who is called the rock, 1 Cor. 10. 4. whom the Israelites are said to have tempted, there ver. 9. b (i.e.) Who hath adopted you to be his people, and hath shewed as much care and kindness to you, as if he had begotten you.

19 And when the LORD saw it, he ‖ abhorred them, because of the provoking of his sons, and of his daughters c.

c Because of their sins whereby they provoked him to anger. Or, by reason of his great and just anger against them he abhorred or reprobated or cast off his sons and his daughters, for such they were by calling and profession, but not in truth and reality, ver. 5.

* Isa. 30. 9.

d I will see and observe what will be the issue of all this, what will become of them at last: but this God doth not see only by way of speculation but practically, i. e. considers with himself what he shall do with them, and how he shall punish them, and sees what he will or purposes to do. A speech after the manner of men. Or I will see is put for, I will make them and others to see, what the fruit of such actions shall be. Hebrew verbs in Cal do oft-times take the signification of Hiphil. e Perfidious, that have broken their covenant so solemnly made with me.

21 They have moved me to jealousie with that which is not god, they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: and * I will move them to jealousie with those which are not a people f, I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation g.

* Hos. 1. 10. Rom. 10. 19.

f (i.e.) With the Gentile or Heathenish nations, who are none of my people, who scarce deserve the name of a people, as being without yoke, without the knowledge and fear of God which is the foundation of all true policy and government, and without righteous and needfull laws; and many of them are destitute of all government and laws and order, barbarous and rude and savage and brutish in their manners. And yet these people I will prefer before you, and take in your stead, receive them, and reject you; which, when it came to pass how desperately it provoked the Jews to jealousie, may be gathered from Mat. 21. 43. Act. 28. 28. 1, 2, 3. and 22. 21, 22, 23. 1 Thes. 2. 15, 16. & tho the Gentiles were both in the opinion of the Jews, and in truth and reality, notwithstanding all their pretences to wisdom, Rom. 1. 22. there being nothing more foolish or brutish than the worship of Idols. See Jer. 10. 8. 1 Cor. 12. 2.

22 For * a fire is kindled h in mine anger, and ‖ shall burn unto the lowest hell i, and ‖ shall consume the earth with her increase, and set on fire the foundations of the mountains.

* Jer. 15. 14. Lam. 4. 11. ‖ Or, hath burned. ‖ Or, burning.

h (i.e.) Great and grievous judgments shall be inflicted, which oft come under the name of fire, &c. See Deut. 4. 24. Ezek. 30. 8. Amos 2. 2, 5. i Or, unto hell or the grave beneath. The sense is, it shall not only burn up all the corn and fruits and buildings which appear above ground, but it shall reach to the inwards and depths of the earth and burn up the very roots and hope of future increase.

23 I will * heap mischiefs upon them, I will † spend mine arrows k upon them.

* Isa. 26. 14. † Heb. finish. * Psal. 7. 13.

k (i.e.) Even empty my quiver, and send upon them all my plagues, which, like arrows shot by a skilful and strong hand, shall speedily reach and certainly hit and mortally wound them. Compare Zech. 9. 14.

Ezek. 5. 16.

24 They shall be burnt with hunger l, and devoured with † burning heat m, and with bitter destruction: I will also send * the teeth of beasts upon them, with the poyson of serpents of the dust n.

† Heb. burning ardor. Hab. 3. 5. * Lev. 26. 22.

l With famine, which burneth and parcheth the inward parts, and makes the face black as a coal, Lam. 4. 8. m From fevers or carbuncles, or other inflaming distempers. n Who feed upon the dust, Gen. 3. 14. and lurk in it that they may surprize unwary passengers, Gen. 49. 17.

25 * The sword without, and terror † within shall destroy, both the young man and the virgin, the sucking also, with the man of gray hairs.

* Lam. 1. 20. Ezek. 7. 15. † Heb. from the chambers.

26 I said, I would scatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to cease from among men:

27 Were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy o, lest their adversaries should behave themselves strangly p, and lest they should say, ‖ Our hand is high, and the LORD hath done all this.

‖ Or, our high hand, and not this

o (i.e.) Their rage against me, as it is expressed Isa. 37. 28, 29. their insolent and furious reproaches against my name, as if I hath done were unnatural and cruel to my people or unable to deliver them. all this. Compare Exod. 32. 12. Numb. 14. 13. Deut. 9. 28. Jos. 7. 9. The fear hereof is ascribed to God after the manner of men. p (i.e.) Insolently and arrogantly above what they used to do. Or, make themselves strangers, i. e. either really not acknowledge or pretend they did not know that which I had publickly declared and they either did or easily might have known, to wit, that this judgment was inflicted upon them by my hand for their sins. LORD q Either 1. the enemies last mentioned, who are foolish people, and therefore make so false and foolish a judgment upon things. Or rather 2. the Israelites themselves, of whom he speaks both in the foregoing ver. 26. and in the whole foregoing chapter, and in the next v. 29. and afterwards. r That have not wisdom to direct themselves, nor discretion to desire and receive counsel from others, but rashly and madly go on in those courses which will certainly ruine them.

28 For they q are a nation void of counsel r, neither is there any understanding in them.

29 * O that they were wise, that they understood this, * that they would consider their latter end s.

* Psal. 81. 8. * Lam. 1.

s What their end will be, and that although God spare them long, 5. yet at last judgment will certainly overtake them.

30 How should * one chase a thousand t, and two put ten thousand to flight, except their Rock u * had sold them x, and the LORD had shut them up?

* Josh. 23. 2 Chro. 14. 11. 24. 24.

t Whence should this miraculous change come, that whereas God had promised that five Israelites should chase an hundred of their enemies, Lev. 26. 8. now on the contrary one enemy should chase a thousand Israelites. u (i.e.) Their God, as before ver. 4. 18. who was their only refuge and defence. x To wit, for bondage, had quitted his right and relation to them, and given them up into their enemies hands. y As it were in the net which their enemies had laid for them. Isa. 50. 1. and 52. 3.

31 For their rock is not as our Rock, even our enemies themselves being judges z.

z Who by their dear bought experience have been forced to acknowledge that our God was far stronger than they and their false Gods together. See Exod. 14. 25. Numb. 23. 1 Sam. 4. 8. ‖ Or, is worse than thy wine of Sodom and of the fields of Gomorrah: their grapes are grapes of gall, their clusters are bitter c.

32 For a their vine ‖ is of the vine of Sodom b, and Sodom, &c.

a Or, But; for these words seem to contain an answer to that question, ver. 30. how should, &c. To this he answers, g. Negatively it was not from impotency in God, for if he had not forsaken and delivered them up, they could not have been so easily chased. 2. Positively, But, saith he, the true reason was this, their vine, &c. b The People of Israel, which I planted and brought up as a choice vine, are now degenerated and become like the vine of Sodom, their principles and practices are all corrupt and abominable. Compare Isa. 1. 10. c Their fruits or actions are most loathsom to me, malicious and mischievous to others, and at last will be pernicious to themselves.

33 Their wine is the poison of dragons d, and the cruel venom of asps e.

d For although some write that the Dragons of Greece have no poison in them, yet that the African and Arabian Dragons, of which Moses here writes, have poison in them, is confessed by ancient heathen authors. e Whose poison kills certainly and speedily, as Aristotle and others write.

Jer. 2. 22. Hos. 13. 12. 34 Is not this f * laid up in store with me, and sealed up among my treasures?

f (i. e.) All their wickedness mentioned before. My long sufferings towards them may make them and others think that I have forgotten their sins, but I remember them punctually, they are sealed up as in a bag, Job 14. 17. and as men seal up their treasures, that nothing be lost; and I shall bring them to their remembrance also.

Rom. 12. 19. Heb. 10. 30. 2 Pet. 2. 3. 35 To me belongeth * vengeance g and recompence; their feet shall slide h in due time i: for * the day of their calamity is at hand k, and the things that shall come upon them, make haste.

g It is my office to punish sin and therefore as I know their sins so I will assuredly punish them. h They who now think they stand fast and unmoveable, they shall fall into utter destruction. i Though not so soon as some may expect it, yet in that time when it shall be most proper and seasonable, when they have filled up the measure of their sins. This due time may be the same with that fulness of time, Gal. 4. 4. when Christ came into the world, whom this people by wicked hands crucified and slew, Act. 2. 23. for which wrath came upon them to the uttermost, 1 Thes. 2. 15, 16. k Heb. is near. So the Scripture oft speaks of those things which are at many hundred years distance, to meet with objections arising in mens minds from the delays of them, and to signifie, that though they may be afar off as to our measures of time and expectation of the things, yet in Gods account they are near, they are as near as may be, as soon as ever the fit and the full time is come, they come instantly, they are nearer than sinners would have them; when the measure of their sins is once full, the judgment shall not be deferred.

Psal. 106. 45. Jer. 31. 20. 36 For l the LORD shall judge his people m, and * repent himself for his servants n, when he seeth that their † power is gone, and there is none shut up, or left o.

l Or, Nevertheless, or, But yet, as the partiele, chi, is sometimes used, as Job 5. 7. Isa. 9. 1. and 49. 25. Having now spoken of the dreadful calamity which would come upon his people, he now turns his discourse into a more comfortable strain, according to the usual method of the Prophets, and here begins to shew that after God had humbled and sorely chastised his People, yet at last he would have mercy upon them and turn their captivity, as it here follows. m (i. e.) Shall plead their cause, shall protect and deliver them, as that phrase is oft used. See Psal. 7. 8. and 10 18. Isa. 1. 17. and 11. 4. Jer. 5. 28. and 22 16. n (i. e.) Repent of the evils he hath brought upon them, will change his course and carriage towards them. o None shut up, either in their strong cities or castles or other hiding places, or in the enemies hands or prisons, whence there might be some hope or possibility of redemption; and none left, as the poor and contemptible people are neglected and usually left by the Conquerours in the conquered land, as 2 King. 25. 12. but all seem to be cut off, and the people quite destroyed. So this phrase is used 1 King. 14. 10. and 21. 21. and 2 King. 9. 8. and 14. 26.

Judg. 10. 14. 37 And he shall say p, * where are their gods, their rock in whom they trusted?

p The Lord, before he deliver his people, will first convince them of their former folly in forsaking him and following Idols: he will find an occasion from that miserable and hopeless condition into which their Idols have brought them to upbraid them with it.

38 Which did eat the fat of their sacrifices, and drank the wine of their drink-offerings q? let them rise up, and help you r, and be † your protection.

q (i. e.) To whom you offered sacrifices and oblations after the manner of the Gentiles. See Exod. 34. 13. Psal. 106. 28. 1 Cor. 10. 20. r If they can do it. Compare Judg. 10. 14. Jer. 2. 28.

Psal. 102. 27. chap. 4. 35. 1 Sam. 2. 6. Job 5. 18. Hos. 6. 1. 39 See now s, that * I even I am he t, and * there is no god with me; * I kill, and I make alive: I wound and I heal: neither is there any that can deliver you out of my hand.

s Learn now by your own sad experience what vain and impotent things Idols are, and what a silly thing it was in you to put your trust in them, as they did ver. 37. t (i. e.) The only true and omnipotent and irresistable God, as it here follows.

40 For I lift up my hand to heaven u, and say, I live for ever x.

u (i. e.) I solemnly swear, that I will do what here follows, that as I will deliver my people, so I will fully avenge my self upon all mine enemies, whom I have used as rods to scourge my people. x (i. e.) As sure as I live. Compare Jer. 4. 2. Heb. 6. 13. Rev. 10. 5, 6.

41 If * I whet my glittering sword y, and mine hand take hold on judgment z, I will render vengeance to mine enemies, and will reward them that hate me.

Isa. 34. 5. 66. 16. Ezek. 21. 14, 15.

y If once I begin to prepare for war and for the execution of my sentence. z (i. e.) Of the instruments of judgment, of the weapons of war. A metaphor from warriors, that take their weapons into their hand, when they intend to fight.

42 I will make mine arrows drunk with blood (and my sword shall devour flesh) and that with the blood of the slain, and of the captives a, from the beginning of * revenges upon the enemy b

a Whom my sword hath sorely wounded, though not utterly killed. b (i. e.) When once I begin to revenge my self and my people upon mine and their enemies, I will go on and make a full end. Or, with the head, or with the blood of the head, i. e. of the chief or chiefs, of the revenges of the enemy, i. e. of the revengeful or malicious enemy of God and of his people. The noun Substantive is oft put for the Adjective, as Gen. 17. 5. a multitude of nations, is put for many nations, Rom. 4. 17. and Gen. 45. 22. changes of raiment, i. e. changeable raiment; and Psal. 99. 4. the King's strength, i. e. the strong and mighty king. And so here, the revenges of the enemy, i. e. the revengeful enemy. And by the head may be here understood either the Devil, or the heads and rulers of those Empires which were enemies to Gods people. Or, of the head shall be the revenges upon the enemies i. e. I will take vengeance upon all mine enemies, yea upon the head or heads of them.

43 ‖ * Rejoyce, O ye nations, with his people c, for he will avenge the blood of his servants, and will render vengeance to his adversaries, and will be merciful unto his land, and to his people.

c This translation is justified by St. Paul, Rom. 15. 10 the particle with, being oft understood, as Levi. 26. 42 He calls upon the nations to rejoyce and bless God for his favours and especially for the last wonderful deliverance which shall be given to the Jews when they shall be converted unto the Gospel in the last days, which they have all reason to do not only from that duty of sympathy which they owe to all people, and especially to Gods ancient people, whereby they are to rejoyce with them that rejoyce, but because of that singular advantage and happiness which all nations will have at that time and upon that occasion. Or, rejoyce, O ye Gentiles, his people i. e. O you Gentiles, who once were not Gods people, but now are his people, do you rejoyce for Gods mercies to the Jews his ancient people, bless God for their conversion and salvation.

44 And Moses came and spake all the words of this song in the ears of the people, he, and ‖ Hoshea d the son of Nun.

d Or Joshua: who is here joyned with Moses in this action, because though Moses only spake the words, yet Joshua consented to them, and, it may be, afterwards repeated them; this being not a song to be sung once for all, but a standing monument which was written and kept for future use, Deut. 31. 22, &c. and to be repeated again and again upon solemn occasions, which Joshua and other succeeding Magistrates were to take care of.

45 And Moses made an end of speaking all these words to all Israel

46 And he said unto them * Set your hearts unto all the words which I testifie among you this day, which ye shall command your children to observe to do, all the words of this law

47 For it is not a vain thing for you e, because it is your life, and through this thing you shall prolong your days, in the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it.

e It is not an unprofitable or contempnible work I advise you to, but well worthy of your most serious care, oft to remember and diligently to consider it.

48 * And the LORD spake unto Moses that self-same day, saying,

49 Get thee up into this mountain Abarim, unto mount Nebo f which is in the land of Moab, that is over against Jericho, and behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel for a possession:

f Nebo was a ridge or top of the mountains of Abarim. See on Numb. 27. 12. Deut. 3. 27.

50 And die in the mount whither thou goest up, and be gathered unto thy people, as * Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people.

51 Because * ye trespassed against me among the children of Israel, at the waters of ‖ Meribah-kadesh in the wilderness of Zin: because ye sanctified me not in the midst of the children of Israel.

52 Yet thou shalt see the land before thee, but thou shalt not go thither unto the land which I give the children of Israel.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Majesty of God, 1——5. Blessings prophesied of the 12 Tribes, 6——25. The Excellency of Israel, 26——29.

AND this is the blessing, wherewith Moses the man of God blessed a the children of Israel b before his death.

a He is said to bless them ministerially, partly by praying to God with faith for his blessing upon them; partly by foretelling the blessings which God would confer upon them: for the Prophets are are oft said to do what they foretel should be done, as Gen. 49. 7. Jer. 1. 10. Ezek. 43. 3. Hos. 8. 5. And Moses calls himself here the man of God, i. e. the servant or prophet or minister of God, as this phrase signifies, 1 Sam. 9. 6, 7. 1 Tim. 6. 11. to acquaint them that the following prophecies were not his own inventions, but divine inspirations. b (i. e.) The several Tribes: only Simeon is omitted, either 1. in detestation of their parent Simeon his bloody and wicked carriage, for which Jacob also gives that Tribe a curse rather than a blessing, in Gen. 49. But as for Levi, who is joyned with him in that censure and curse, Gen. 49. 5, 6, 7. he is here separated from him and exempted from that curse and blessed with an eminent blessing for a singular and valuable reason expressed here v. 8, 9. whereas Simeons Tribe had been so far from expiating their fathers crime that they added new ones, their Prince being guilty of another notorious crime, Numb. 25. 6, 14. and his Tribe too much concurring with him in such actions, as interpreters gather from the great diminution of the numbers of that Tribe, which were 59300 in Num. 1. 23. and but 22200 in Num. 26. 14. which was near 40 years after. Or 2. because that Tribe had no distinct Inheritance, but was to have his portion in the Tribe of Judah, as he had Jos. 19. 1. and therefore he must needs partake with them in their blessings.

2 And he said, The LORD came c from Sinai d, and rose up e from Seir f unto them: he shined forth from mount Paran g, and he came with † ten thousands of Saints h: from his right hand i went † a fiery law k for them.

c To wit, to the Israelites, i. e. manifested graciously and gloriously among them. d (i. e.) Beginning at Sinai, where the first and most glorious appearance of God was, and so going on with them to Seir and Paran. Or, to Sinai, the particle, mem, oft signifying, to, as is evident by comparing Isa. 59. 20. with Rom. 11. 26. 1 King. 8, 30. with 2 Chron. 6. 21. and 2 Sam. 6. 2. with 1 Chron. 13. 6. See also Gen. 2. 8. and 11. 2. and 13. 11. 1 Sam. 14. 15. Or, in Sinai, mem being put for beth, in, as Exod. 25. 18. Deut. 15. 1. Job 19. 26. Psal. 68. 29. and 72. 16. e He appeared or shewed himself, as the Sun doth when it riseth. f i. e. From the mountain or land of Edom, which is called Seir, Gen. 32. 3. and 36. 8. Deut. 2. 4. to which place the Israelites came Numb. 20. 14, &c. and from thence God led them on towards the land of promise, and then gloriously appeared for them in subduing Sihon and Og before them and giving their countries unto them. Which glorious work of Gods is particularly celebrated Judg. 5. 4. But because the land of Seir or Edom is sometimes taken more largely, and so reacheth even to the Red-sea, as appears from 1 King. 9. 26. and therefore mount Sinai was near to it, and because Paran, which here follows, was also near Sinai, as being the next station into which they came from the wilderness of Sinai, Num. 10. 12. all this verse may belong to Gods appearance in mount Sinai, where that glorious light which shone upon mount Sinai directly did in all probability scatter its beams into adjacent parts, such as Seir and Paran were, and so this is only a Poetical and Prophetical variation of the phrase and expression of the same thing in divers words, and God coming or rising or shining from or to or in Sinai and Seir and Paran note one and the same illustrious action of God appearing there with ten thousands of his Saints or holy Angels, and there giving a fiery law to them, as it here follows. And this interpretation may receive some strength from Hab. 3. 3. where this glorious march of God before his people is remembred, only Teman, which signifies the South is put for Seir, which is here, possibly to signify, that that Seir which is here mentioned was to be understood of the Southern part of the country of Seir or Edom, which was that part adjoyning to the Red-sea. Others refer this of Seir to the Brazen Serpent, that eminent type of Christ, which was erected in this place. g A place where God eminently manifested his presence and goodness both in giving the people flesh which they desired, and in appointing the 70 Elders and pouring forth his Spirit upon them, Num. 11. Though the Exposition mentioned in the foregoing branch may seem more probable. h (i. e.) With a great company of holy Angels, Psal. 68. 17. Dan. 7. 10. which attended upon him in this great and glorious work of giving the law, as may be gathered from Act. 7. 53. Gal. 3. 19. Heb 2. 2. and 12. 22. i Which both wrote the law and gave it to men. An Allusion to men who ordinarily write and give gifts with their right, and not with their left, hand. k The law is called fiery, partly because it is of a fiery nature, purging and searching and inflaming, for which reasons Gods word is compared to fire, Jer. 23. 29. partly to signify that fiery wrath and curse which it inflicteth upon sinners for the violation of it, 2 Cor. 3. 7, 9. and principally because it was delivered out of the midst of the fire, Exod. 19. 16. 18. Deut. 4. 11. and 5. 22, 23.

3 Yea, he loved the people l: all his saints m are in thy hand n, and they sat down at thy feet o; every one shall receive of thy words p.

l (i. e.) The Tribes of Israel, which are called people, Gen. 48. 19. Judges 5. 14. Act. 4. 27. The sense is, This law, though delivered with Fire and Smoak and Thunder, which might seem to portend nothing but hatred and terrour, yet in truth it was given to Israel in great love, as being the great mean of their temporal and eternal Salvation. And although God shews a general and common kindness to all men, yet he loved this people in a singular and peculiar manner. m All Gods Saints or holy ones, (i. e.) his People, as they are now called, the people of Israel who are all called holy, Exod. 19. 6. Num. 16. 3. Deut. 7. 6. Dan. 7. 25. and 8. 24. and 12. 7. because they all professed to be so, and were obliged to be so, and many of them were such. Though some appropriate this to the true Saints in Israel, n Or, were in thy hand, i. e. under Gods care to protect and direct and govern them, as that phrase signifies, Numb. 4. 28, 33. Job. 10. 28, 29. These words are spoken to God, and for the change of persons, his and thy, that is most frequent in the Hebrew tongue. See Dan. 9. 4. This clause may further note Gods kindness to Israel in upholding and preserving them when the fiery law was delivered. which was done with so much dread and terrour, that not only the People trembled and were ready to fink under it, Exod. 20. 18. 19. but even Moses himself did exceedingly fear and quake, Heb. 12. 21. But in this fright God sustained both Moses and the people, as or by his hand, whereby he in a manner hid and covered them that no harm might come to them by this terrible apparition. o Like Scholars to receive instructions and counsels from thee. He alludes either 1. To the manner of Disciples among the Jews who used to sit at their Masters feet, Luk. 10. 39. Acts 22. 3. See also Gen. 49. 10. 2 King. 4. 38. But it is doubtful whether this custom was so ancient as Moses. Or, 2. To the place where the people waited when the Law was delivered, which was at the foot of the mount. p The people, easily understood from the foregoing words, did or will receive or submit to thy instructions and commands. This may respect either 1. The peoples promise when they heard the Law, that they would hear and do all that was commanded, Deut. 5. 27. Or 2. The peoples duty to do so. 3. The peoples Priviledge that they were admitted to receive so great a Priviledge as the words and Law of God were.

4 Moses commanded us a law q, even the inheritance of the congregation of Jacob r.

q Moses speaks this of himself in the third person, which is very usual in the Hebrew language. r The Law is called their Inheritance, partly because the obligation of it was hereditary, passing from Parents to their children, and partly because this was the best part of all their inheritance and possessions, the greatest of all those gifts and favours which God bestowed upon them.

5 And he was * king s in Jesurun t, when the heads of the people, and the tribes of Israel were gathered together u.

See Gen. 36. 31.

s Moses was their King not in Title, but in reality, being under God, their supream and uncontroulable Governour, and Lawgiver. Though the word oft signifies only a Prince or chief Ruler, as Judg. 19. 1. Jer. 19. 3. and 40. 25. t i. e. In Israel, so called Deut. 32. 15. u When the Princes and People met together for the management of publick Affairs, Moses was owned by them as their King and Lawgiver, and he directed and ruled them as their superiour. This he saith to shew that the people approved and consented to the Authority and Law of Moses.

6 Let Reuben live, and not die, and let not his men be few x.

x Though Reuben deserve to be cut off or greatly diminished and obscured; according to Jacobs prediction, Gen. 49. 4. Yet God will spare them and give them a name and portion among the Tribes of Israel, and bless them with increase of their numbers.

7 And this is the blessing of Judah: and he said, Hear, LORD, the voice of Judah y, and bring him unto his people z: let his hands be sufficient for him a, and be thou an help to him from his enemies b.

y i. e. God will hear his prayer for the accomplishment of those great things promised to that Tribe, Gen. 49. 8, 9, 10, 11. This implies the delays and difficulties Judah would meet with herein, which would drive him to his prayers, and that those prayers should be crowned with success. z Either 1. When he shall go forth to Battle against God's and his enemies and shall fall fiercely upon them, as was foretold, Gen. 49. 8, 9. bring him back with honour and Victory and safety to his people, i. e. either to the rest of his Tribe who were left at home when their brethren went to battle: or to his brethren the other Tribes of Israel. Or 2. When that Tribe shall go into captivity, let them not always be kept in captivity, as the ten Tribes are like to be, but do thou bring him again to his people. Or 3. As thou hast promised the gathering of the people to him, even to the Shiloh, who was to come out of his loyns, Gen. 49. 10. so do thou bring him, i. e. the Messias who may be understood out of that parallel prophesie, and who may be here called Judah, because he was come from him; as he is for that reason called Davids in divers places; to his people, i. e. to that people which thou hast given to him. Or 4. Bring him in, to wit, as a Prince and Governour, as thou hast promised Gen. 49. to his people, i. e. to thy people of Israel, now to be reckoned as his people, because of their subjection to him. Or rather 5. Bring him in to his people, to that people which thou hast promised and given to him, i. e. to that portion of Land which thou hast alloted to him, settle him in his possession: the people or inhabitants being here put for the Land inhabited by them, as the Israelites are told they should possess the Nations or people of Canaan, Deut. 11. 23. and 12. 2. i. e. their Land as it is explained, Deut. 17. 14. and 30. 18. for the people they were not to possess but to dispossess and to root out. a This Tribe shall be so numerous and potent and valiant that it shall suffice to defend it self without any aid either from forreign Nations or from other Tribes: as appeared when this Tribe alone was able to grapple with nine or ten of the other Tribes. b Thou wilt preserve this Tribe in a special manner, so as his enemies shall not be able to ruine it, as they will do other Tribes, and that for the sake of Messias who shall spring out of it.

8 And of Levi he said, * Let thy Thummim and thy Urim be with thy holy one c, * whom thou didst prove d at Massah e, and with whom thou didst strive f at the waters of Meribah;

Exod. 28. 30. Num. 20. 13.

c The Thummim and the Urim, which are thine, O Lord by special institution and consecration, by which he understands the Ephod in which they were put, Exod. 28. 30. by a synecdoche, and the High Priesthood, to which they were appropriated, by a Metonymie; and with al the gifts and graces signified by the Urim and Thummim, and necessary for the discharge of that high-office, shall be with thy holy one, i. e. with that Levite, that Priest, which thou hast consecrated to thy self, and which is holy in a more peculiar manner than all the people were, i. e. The Priest-hood shall be confined to and continued in Aarons Family. d This seems added by way of anticipation, although thou didst try him, and rebuke him, and shut him out of Canaan for his miscarriage about fetching water out of the rock, yet thou didst not therefore take away the Priesthood from him. e Not at that Massah mentioned Exod. 17. which is also called Meribah where neither Moses nor Aaron are reproved, nor is Aaron so much as named, but at that other Meribah, Numb. 20. where this is repressed, which as it is called by one of the names of that place, Exod. 17. to wit, Meribah, Numb. 20. so it may be here called by its other name, Massah; and well may the same names be given to those two places, because the occasion of them was in a great measure one and the same. Though this place may be otherwise rendred, whom thou didst try in trying or with trial, i. e. whom thou didst exactly and throughly try, such repetitions being very frequent and elegant in the Hebrew language. And it may be observed, that in the Hebrew text here are two several prepositions, though the English translation render them both by at, here, both, in'or with, and in the next branch, al, at or near or concerning the waters of Meribah; which may seem to intimate that the former is not the name of the place as the latter is: why else should they not have been expressed by the same preposition? f Or, contend, i. e. whom thou didst reprove and chastise, as that phrase signifies, Isa. 49. 25. Jer. 2. 9.

9 Who said to his father, and unto his mother, I have not seen him g, neither did he acknowledge his brethren, nor knew his own children: * for they have observed thy word, and kept thy covenant h.

* Mal. 2. 5.

g (i. e.) I have no respect unto them, for so knowledge is oft used, as Job 9. 21. Prov. 12. 10, 11. 1 Thess. 5. 12. The sense is, who followed God and his command fully, and executed the judgment enjoyned by God without any respect of persons, Exod. 32. 26, 27. This seems better than to refer it, either to their not mourning for their next kindred, for that was allowed to all but the high Priest in case of the Death of Father or Mother, and that was only a ceremonial rite and no matter of great commendation; or to their impartiality in executing the judgments committed to them, Deuteronomy 17. 9. of which they had as yet given no considerable proof. h (i. e.) When the rest broke their covenant with God by that foul sin of Idolatry with the calf, that Tribe kept themselves more pure from that infection, and adhered to God and his Worship and Service, as appears from Exod. 32. 26, 28. Compare Mal. 2. 6, 7.

† Heb. at thy nose.

10 || They i shall teach Jacob thy judgments, and Israel thy law: || they shall put incense † before thee k, and whole burnt-sacrifice upon thine altar.

i (i. e.) The Priests and Levites. k (i. e.) Upon thine Altar of incense which stood before the Ark, the place of Gods special presence.

11 Bless, LORD, his substance l, and accept the work of his hands m; smite through the loins of them that rise against him n, and of them that hate him, that they rise not again.

l (i. e.) His outward estate, as Deut. 8. 18. because he hath no inheritance of his own and therefore wholly depends upon thy blessing. Or, His Host or Army, as the word is used Ezek. 37. 10. The Priests that attended upon Gods service in the Tabernacle or Temple are oft compared to an host or army in regard of their exquisite order and courses and constant watches there. See Numb. 4. 3. m (i. e.) All his holy administrations which he fitly calls the works of his hands, either more largely, the hand, one great instrument of action being put for all the rest; Or because a great part of the service of the Levites and Priests was done by the labour of their hand and body, whereas the service of Evangelical Ministers is more spiritual and heavenly. n He prays thus earnestly for them, partly because he foresaw they who were to teach and admonish, and reprove, and chastise others who would have many enemies, Jer. 15. 10. Amos 5. 10. and partly because they were, under God, the great preservers and upholders of Religion, and their Enemies were the Enemies of Religion it self, as is evident from the history of the Old Testament.

12 And of Benjamin he said, The beloved of the LORD o shall dwell in safety by him p, and the LORD q shall cover him all the day long r, and he shall dwell between his shoulders s.

o (i. e.) This beloved Tribe, so called partly in allusion to their Father Benjamin who was the beloved of his Father Jacob: and partly because of the love and kindness of God towards this Tribe which appeared both in this, that they dwelt in the fattest and best part of the Land, as Josephus affirms, and especially in the following priviledge. p (i. r.) Shall have his lot nigh unto Gods Temple, which was both a singular comfort and safeguard to him. q Who may well be understood here because he was expressed in the former member. r Shall protect that Tribe continually while they cleave to him. s The Lord shall dwell, i. e. his Temple shall be placed, between his shoulders, i. e. in his portion, or between his borders, or sides as the word Shoulder is oft used, as Exod. 28. 7. Numb. 34. 11. Jos. 15. 8, 10. Ezek. 47. 1, 2. And this was truly the situation of the Temple, on both sides whereof was Benjamins portion, and though mount Sion was in the Tribe of Judah, yet mount Moriah, on which the Temple was built, was in the Tribe of Benjamin.

Gen. 49. 25.

13 And of Joseph he said, * Blessed of the LORD be his land t, for the precious things of heaven u, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath x:

t His portion shall be excellent and endowed with choice blessings from God, as it here follows. u (i. r.) The precious fruits of the Earth brought forth by the influences of Heaven, the warmth of the Sun, and the Rain which God will send from Heaven. x The springs of water bubbling out of the Earth.

14 And for the precious fruits brought forth by the sun y, and for the precious things † put forth by the ‡ moon z, y Which opens and warms the Earth, cherisheth and improveth and in due time ripeneth the seeds and fruits of the Earth. z Which by its moisture refreshes and promotes them. Heb. Of the moons, or months, i. e. which it bringeth forth in the several Months or Seasons of the year.

15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the lasting hills a.

a (i. e.) The excellent fruits, as Grapes, Olives, Figs, &c. which delight in Mountains, growing upon, or the precious Minerals contained in, their mountains and hills called ancient and lasting, i. e. such as have been from the beginning of the world, and likely to continue to the end of it, in opposition to those hills or mounts which have been cast up by the wit of man.

16 And for the precious things of the earth b, and fulness thereof c, and for the good will of him that dwelt in the bush d: let the blessing come upon the head of Joseph e, and upon the top of the head of him that * was separated from his brethren.

* Ge. 49. 26.

b And in general for all the choice fruits which the Land produceth in all the parts of it, whether Hills or Valleys. c (i. e.) The Plants and Cattle and all Creatures that grow, increase, and flourish in it. d For all other effects of the good will and kindness of God who not long since did for a time dwell or appear in the bush to me in order to the relief of his people, Exod. 3. 2. e (i. e.) Of Josephs posterity.

17 His glory is like the firstling of his bullock f, and his horns are like the horns of || unicorns g, with them he || Or, it shall push the people b together, to the ends of the earth i; wild bul. and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are Heb. the thousands of Manasseh k.

f In whose countenance there is a kind of awful Majesty and comely generosity, as Tully, Aelian, &c. observe. This seems to note the Kingdom which Ephraim should obtain in Jeroboam and his Successors. g His strength and power shall be very great. h (i. e.) All that shall oppose him, and particularly the Canaanites. i (i. e.) Of the land of Canaan. k Though Manasseh be now more numerous, yet Ephraim shall shortly outstrip him, as was foretold Gen. 48. 29.

18 And of Zebulun he said, Rejoyce l Zebulun, in thy going out m, and Issachar n in thy tents o.

l Thou shalt prosper and have cause of rejoycing. m Either 1. To war, as this phrase is oft used, as Gen. 14. 18. which was in part verified, Judg. 5. 18. Or 2. To Sea, in way of Traffick, because their portion lay near the Sea. Or both may be joined, and in both respects his course is opposite to that of Issachar, who was a lover of peace and pasturage. See Gen. 49. 14, 15. n Who is here joined with Zebulun, both because they were brethren by Father and Mother too, and because their possessions lay near together. o (i. e.) Thou shalt give thy self to the management of Land and Cattle, living quietly in thy own possessions, disliking the troubles of war and of merchandise. So the phrase is used, Gen. 25. 27. Jos. 22. 4. Judg. 5. 24. and 7. 8.

19 They p shall call the people q unto the mountain r, there they shall offer sacrifices of righteousness s: for they shall suck of the abundance of the sea t, and of treasures hid in the sand u.

p Either 1. Zebulun and Issachar. Or rather 2. Zebulun only, as the following matter shews, and it was Zebulun that Moses takes more special notice of ver. 18. bringing in Issachar only by the by, in conjunction with him, or in opposition to him. And so having dispatched Issachar in two words, he returns to Zebulun, a more active Tribe. q (i. e.) The Gentiles, either those of Galilee, which was called Galilee of the Gentiles, who were their Neighbours; or people of other nations, with whom they had commerce, which they endeavoured to improve in perswading them to the true God and his Worship and Service. r (i. e.) To the Temple, which Moses knew was to be seated upon a mountain. s (i. e.) Such as God requires and Righteousness obligeth them to offer. Their trafficking abroad with Heathen nations shall not make them forget or neglect their duty at home, nor shall their distance from the place of sacrifice hinder them from coming to it to discharge that duty. t They shall grow rich by the traffick of the sea, and their riches shall not make them the worse as they do others, but they shall consecrate themselves and their riches to the service of God. * Such precious things as either 1. Are contained in the sand of the sea and Rivers, in which sometimes there is mixed a considerable quantity of Gold and Silver. Or 2. Such as grow in the Sea, or are fetched from the sandy bottom of it, as pearls, coral, ambergrease, &c. Or 3. Such as being cast into the Sea by shipwrack are cast upon the shore by the workings of the Sea, and thence taken either by merchants, or by the people that live upon the Sea-Coast.

20 And of Gad he said, Blessed be he that * enlargeth Gad x: he dwelleth as a lion y, and teareth the arm with the crown of the head z.

* See Josh. 8. &c. 2 Chron. 22. 1, &c.

x By praising God for enlarging Gad he supposeth the ground of these praises, that God would enlarge Gad, i. e. either 1. enlarge his Territories: which seems needless, because they had a very large portion now when Moses uttered these words. Or 2. bring him out of his straits and troubles, which he was likely to be oft engaged in, because he was encompassed with potent Enemies. And in this sense the phrase is used Ps. 4. 2. compare Ps. 31. 8. and 118. 5. One instance of the fulfilling hereof we have Judg. 11. y (i. e.) Safe and secure from his Enemies, and terrible to them when they rouse and molest him. See 1 Chron. 5. 18, &c. and 12. 8. z (i. e.) Utterly destroys his Enemies, both the head, the seat of the crown, their dignity and principality, and the Arm, the subject of strength and instrument of action; both chief Princes, and their instruments and subjects.

21 And * he provided the first part a for himself, because there in a portion of the law-giver b was to be † seated, and he came with the heads of the people d, he executed the justice of the LORD, and his judgments with Israel e.

* Num. 32. 17. † Heb. cieled.

a The first-fruits of the Land of promise, the country of Sihon, which was first conquered, which he is said to provide for himself, because he desired and so obtain'd it of Moses, Numb. 32. b (i. e.) Of Moses whose portion this is called, either because this part of the Land beyond Jordan was the only part of the Land which Moses was permitted to enter upon: or because it was given to him by Moses, whereas the portions beyond Jordan were given to the several Tribes by Joshua according to the direction of the lot. c Heb. hid or protected: for their Wives and Children were secured in their Cities, whilest many of their men went over to the War in Canaan. d (i. e.) He went, or he will go (the preter tense being put for the future after the manner of the Prophets) to wit, to the war in Canaan, with the Princes, or Captains, or Rulers of the people of Israel, i. e. under their command and conduct, as indeed they did; or with the first of the people; or, in the front of the people, as the Syriack renders it; for this tribe and their brethren whose lot fell beyond Jordan, were to march and did march into Canaan before their brethren, as it is expressed, Jos. 1. 14. And the Hebrew word rosh oft signifies the beginning or first of a thing, (i. e.) He did or will execute the just judgment of God against the Canaanites, as the rest of the Israelites did; he will joyn in the war against them, as he promised to do Numb. 32. 27, &c. and actually did, Jos. 1. 14.

22 And of Dan he said, Dan is a lions whelp f: he shall leap from Bashan g.

f (i. e.) Courageous and generous and strong and successful against his Enemies. g Or, which leapeth from Bashan: for this clause seems not to belong to the Tribe of Dan, which was at a great distance from Bashan, even at the other end of the Land, and therefore this seems too great a leap for him, and if he did leap so far he should rather be said to take his leap from his own lot in the South of Canaan, and thence to leap not from Bashan, but to Bashan, to fall upon his Enemies there: but it rather is a continuation of the Metaphor, and belongs to the Lion, which is said to leap from Bashan, because there were many and fierce Lions in those parts, see Judg. 14. 5. whence they used to come forth to prey, and their manner was to leap upon the prey.

23 And of Naptali he said, O Naptali satisfied with favour g, and full with the blessing of the LORD h: possess thou the west and the south i.

g Either 1. With Gods favour, as it follows: Or 2. With mens favour or good-will, his carriage being peaceable, courteous and obliging, as is intimated, Gen. 49. 21. according to the common Translation; see the notes there. h (i. e.) Seated in a pleasant and fertile and happy soil; such as Galilee, (in which their share lay) eminently was, as Josephus and others report. i Or, the Sea and the South. This is not to be understood of the places, that his lot should fall there, for he was rather in the East and North of the Land; but of the pleasures and commodities of the West or of the Sea, which were conveyed to him from his neighbour Zebulun; and of the south, i. e. from the southern tribes and parts of Canaan, which were brought to him down the River Jordan, and both sorts of commodities were given him in exchange for the fruits of his rich soil which he had in great abundance.

24 And of Asher he said, Let Asher be blessed with children k; let him be acceptable to his brethren l, and let him dip his foot in oil m.

k He shall have numerous and those strong and healthful and comely Children. Or, shall be blessed or praised of or above the sons, i. e. the other Sons of Israel, or his brethren, as it here follows, i. e. His portion shall fall in an excellent part, where he may have the benefits both of his own fat soil, and of the Sea, by his neighbours, Tyrus and Sidon. l By his sweet disposition and winning carriage and communication of his excellent commodities to his brethren he shall gain their affections. m He shall have such plenty of Oil that he may not only wash his face but his feet also in it. Or, the fatness and fertility of his Countrey may be expressed by Oil, as Job 29. 6. And so it agrees with Jacobs blessing of him, Gen. 49. 20.

25 || Thy shoes shall be iron and brass n: and as thy days, so shall thy strength be o.

n This may note; either 1. Their great strength by which they should be able to tread down and crush their enemies, as Christs feet for this very reason are said to be of brass, Revel. 1. 15. Or 2. The mines of Iron and Copper, which were in their portion, whence Sidon their neighbour was famous among the heathens for its plenty of brass, and Sarepta is thought to have its name from the brass and iron, which were melted there in great quantity. Compare Deut. 8. 9. Or 3. The strength of its situation, and so some antients and moderns render the words, thy habitation or thy enclosure shall be iron and brass, i. e. fortified as it were with walls and gates of iron and brass, being defended by the Sea on one side, by their brethren on other sides, as also by mountains and rivers. o (i. e.) Thy strength shall not be diminished with thine age, but thou shalt have the vigour of youth even in thine old age: thy Tribe shall grow stronger and stronger.

26 There is none like unto the God of Jesurun, who rideth upon the heaven p in thy help, and in his excellency q on the skie.

p (i. e.) Upon the clouds to succour thee from thence, by sending thunder and lightning upon thine enemies. See Psal. 18. 7, &c. and 68. 34, &c. q Or, in his magnificence, i. e. magnificently, gloriously and with great Majesty as well as power.

27 The eternal God is thy refuge r, and underneath s are the everlasting arms: and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee, and shall say, Destroy them t.

r Or, thy dwelling-place. Compare Psal. 91. 1. s (i. e.) Under thy arms to hold thee up, as my hands were once held up by Aaron and Hur. He will support and defend thee. Or the meaning is, Though he dwelleth on high, yet he comes down to the earth by-neath to assist and deliver thee. t (i. e.) Shall give thee not only command and commission, but also power to destroy them: for Gods saying is doing, his word comes with power.

28 * Israel then shall dwell in safety alone u; the fountain of Jacob x shall be upon a land of corn and wine; also his heavens y shall drop down dew.

* Jer. 23. 6.

u Either 1. Though they be alone, and have no confederates to defend them, but have all the world against them, yet my single protection shall be sufficient for them. Or 2. Distinct and separated from all other nations, with whom I will not have them to mingle themselves. See Numb. 23. 9. Exra 9. 1, 2. x (i. e.) The posterity of Jacob, which flowed from him as waters from a Fountain, in great abundance. Compare Psal. 68. 26. Isa. 48. 1. The fountain is here put for the River or Streams which flow from it, as Psal. 104. 10. as the Root is put for the Branch. 2 Chron. 22. 10. Isa. 11. 10. Revel. 5. 5. and as Jacob or Israel who is the fountain, is oft put for the children of Israel. Or the eye (for so the Hebrew word oft signifies) of Jacob, i. e. of the people of Israel, and so the sense is, They who now only hear of the Land of promise shall shortly see it, which I am not suffered to do, and shall enjoy it, which is oft signified by seeing, as Psal. 4. 6. and 27. 13. and 34. 13. Eccles. 2. 1. & 3. 13. y (i. e.) Those Heavens or that Air which hangs over his Land.

29 Happy art thou, O Israel; who is like unto thee, O people, saved by the Lord, the shield of thy help, and who is the sword of thy excellency, and thine enemies || shall be found liars unto thee ||, and thou shalt tread upon their high places †.

z The giver and preserver of all that excellency, that glory, safety and happiness, which thou hast above all other people, which thou doest not obtain either by or for thy own wisdom or strength or goodness. Or, Thy most excellent sword, i. e. Thy strength and the author of all thy pait or approaching Victories. || (i. e.) Shall be deceived as to all their vain hopes and confidences of destroying thee or saving themselves, whether grounded upon their own numbers and valour and strong holds, or upon old Prophesies and predictions of success, or upon their idols. Or, shall lie unto thee, i. e. shall submit themselves to thee, though it be done but feignedly and by constraint, as this phrase is used, Psal. 18. 44. & 66. 3. & 81. 15. Possibly this may design the lies and frauds which the Gibeonites would use to deceive them, Jos. 9. 4. † i. e. Thou shalt subdue their greatest princes, and their strongest holds, Deut. 32. 13. and their Idols, Temples, and Worship.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Moses from Mount Nebo vieweth the Land, 1—4. He dieth there, 5. His Burial, 6. His age, 7. Thirty days mourning for him, 8. Joshua succeedeth him, 9. The praises of Moses, 10—12.

1 AND Moses went up a from the plains of Moab, unto the mountain of Nebo b to the top of || Pisgah, that is over against Jericho: and the LORD shewed him * all the land of Gilead c unto Dan d.

* chap. 3. 27.

a In compliance with Gods will that he should then and there resign up his soul to God. b Of which see Num. 27. 12. and 32. 38. & Deut. 32. 49. c Whereof Moses had as yet seen and enjoyed but a small part. Of this Land see Gen. 31. 21. Numb. 32. 1, 19. &c. d To that City which after Moses his death was called Dan, Jos. 19. 47. Judg. 18. 29. So that here is an anticipation. But it seems most probable, and is commonly believed, that this chapter was not written by Moses but by Eleazar or Joshua or Esra, or some other man of God directed herein by the Holy Ghost; this being no more impeachment to the divine authority of this chapter, that the penman is unknown, which also is the lot of some other Books of Scripture, than it is to the authority of the Acts of the King or Parliament, that they are Written or Printed by some unknown person.

2 And all Naphtali e, and the land of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah, unto the utmost sea f, e (i. e.) The land of Naphtali, which together with Dan, was in the North of Canaan, as Ephraim and Manasseh were in the midland parts, and Judah on the South, and the Sea on the west. So these parts lying in the several quarters are put for all the rest. He stood in the East and saw also Gilead, which was in the Eastern part of the land, and thence he saw the North and South and West. f (i. e.) The midland Sea, which was the utmost bound of the land of promise on the west.

3 And the south g, and the plain of the valley of Jericho h, the city of palm-trees i, unto Zoar.

g (i. e.) The South quarter of the land of Judah, which is towards the salt sea, which is described Num. 34. 3, 4, 5. Jos. 15. 1, 2, 3, 4. as the western quarter of Judah was described in the words next foregoing. h Or, in which lies Jericho: which was in the Tribe of Benjamin. i (i. e.) Jericho, so called both here and Judg. 1. 16. and 3. 13. 2 Chron. 28. 15. from the multitude of Palm-trees which were in those parts, as Josephus and Strabo write. From whence and the balm there growing it was called Jericho, which signifies, odoriferous or sweet smelling.

4 And the LORD said unto him, * This is the land which I sware unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, saying, I will give it unto thy seed: I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes k, but thou shalt not go over thither.

* Gen. 12. 7. and 13. 15.

k To wit, by a miraculous power strengthning thy sight or making a clear representation of all these parts to thy view.

5 So Moses the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab l, according to the word of the LORD.

l (i. e.) in the land which Israel took from the Amorites, which antiently was the land of Moab.

6 And he m buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over-against Beth-Peor: but no man knoweth of his sepulchre n unto this day.

m (i. e.) The Lord, last mentioned, buried him either immediately, or by the ministery of Angels, whereof Michael was the Chief or Prince, Jude ver. 9. n (i. e.) Of the particular place of the Valley where he was buried: which God hid from the Israelites, to prevent their Superstition and Idolatry, to which he knew their great proneness. And for this very reason the Devil endeavoured to have it known and contended with Michael about it, Jude ver. 9. And seeing God would not endure the worship of the Relicks or Tomb of so eminent a person as Moses was, it is ridiculous to think God would permit this Honour to be given to any of the succeeding Saints who were so far inferior to him.

7 And Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his † natural force † abated o.

o By a miraculous work of God in mercy to his Church and People.

8 And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days p: so the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended.

p Which was the usual time of mourning for persons of high place and eminency. See Gen. 50. 3, 10. Num. 20. 29. For others seven days sufficed.

9 And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom q: for Moses had laid his hands upon him r, and the children of Israel hearkned unto him, and did as the LORD commanded Moses.

q And other gifts and graces too, as appears from the History, but Wisdom is mentioned as being most necessary for the Government to which he was now called. r Which God had appointed as a sign to Moses and Joshua and the Israelites that this was the person whom he had appointed and qualified for his great work. See Numb. 27. 18, &c. Compare Gen. 48. 10. Numb. 8. 10.

10 And there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses s, whom the LORD knew face to face t:

s In the priviledges here following. t (i. e.) Whom God did so freely and familiarly and frequently converse with. See on Exod. 33. 11. Numb. 12. 8. Deut. 5. 4.

11 In all the signs u, and the wonders which the LORD sent him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to all his land.

u This is to be joyned either 1. with the words immediately foregoing, as an eminent instance wherein God did know or acknowledge and own or converse so familiarly with Moses, namely in the working of all his signs and wonders in Egypt, where God spake to him so oft, and sometimes even in Pharaoh's presence, and answered his requests, so particularly and punctually whether he called for vengeance or for deliverance. Or 2. With the more remote words, there was none like unto Moses in regard of all the signs, &c. the words, whom the Lord knew face to face, coming in by way of parenthesis.

12 And in all that mighty hand, and in all the great terrour which Moses shewed in the sight of all Israel.

JOSHUA.

The ARGUMENT.

IT is not material to know who was the Pen-man of this Book, whether Joshua, as seems most probable from Chap. 24. 26. or some other holy Prophet. It is sufficient, that this Book was a part of the Holy Scriptures or Oracles of God committed to, and carefully kept by the Jews, and by them faithfully delivered to us; as appears by the concurring Testimony of Christ and his Apostles, who owned and approved of the same Holy Scriptures which the Church of the Jews did. But this is certain, that divers Passages in this Book, were put into it after Joshua's death, as Josh. 10. 13: compared with 2 Sam. 1. 18. and Josh. 19. 47. compared with Judg. 18. 1. and Josh. 24. 29, 30. And such like Insertions have been observed in the five Books of Moses.

CHAP. I.

God commands Joshua to lead the people unto the Land of Canaan, 1—3. It's Borders, 4. God promises to assist him, 5, 6. Commanding him to observe the Law, 7—9. He prepares the people to pass over Jordan, 10, 11. Reminds the Reubenites, Gadites, and half tribe of Manasseh of their promise to Moses, 12. 15. Which they are ready to do; and all promise to obey, 16—18.

1 NOW after the death of Moses a, the servant of the LORD b, it came to pass, that the LORD spake c unto Joshua the son of Nun, Moses * minister d, saying, a Either immediately after it, or when the days of mourning for Moses were expired. Joshua was appointed and declared Moses his Successor in the Government before this time; and therefore doubtless entred upon the Government instantly after his death; and here he receives confirmation from God therein. b This title is given to Moses here and v. 2. as also Deut. 34. 5. and is oft repeated not without cause, partly to reflect Honour upon him, partly to give Authority to his Laws and Writings, in publishing whereof he only acted as Gods Servant, in his name and stead: and partly that the Israelites might not think of Moses above what was meet, remembring that he was not the Lord himself, but only the Lords Servant; and therefore not to be worshipped, nor yet to be too pertinaciously followed in all his Institutions, when the Lord himself should come and abolish part of the Mosaical Dispensation; it being but reasonable that he who was only a Servant in Gods house, should give place to him who was the Son, and Heir, and Lord of it, as Christ was. See Heb. 3. 3, 5, 6. c Either in a Dream or Vision, or by Urim, Numb. 27. 21. d (i. e.) Who had waited upon Moses in his great Employments, and thereby been privy to his Managery of the Government, and so fitted and prepared for it.

* Deut. 1. 38.

2 Moses my servant is dead: now therefore arise, go over this Jordan e, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give f to them, even to the children of Israel.

e This which is now near thee, which is the only obstacle in thy way to Canaan. f (i. e.) Am now about to give the actual Possession of it, as I formerly gave a right to it by promise.

3 * Every place g that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses.

* Deut. 11. 24. Ch. 14. 9.

g To wit, within the following bounds.

4 * From the wilderness, and this Lebanon h, even unto the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites i, and unto the greater sea k, toward the going down of the sun, shall be your coast l.

* Exod. 23. 31. Numb. 34. 3.

h This emphatically, as being the most eminent Mountain in Syria, and the Northern border of the Land: or this which is within thy view; as if the Lord appeared to him in the form of a man, and pointed to it. i (i. e.) Of the Canaanites, who elsewhere are all called Amorites; as Gen. 15. 16. and here Hittites by a Synecdoche: the Hittites being the most considerable and formidable of all, as may appear from Numb. 13. 33. and 14. 1. 2 King. 7. 6. and many of them being of the race of the Giants, dwelling about Hebron: See Gen. 25. 9, 10. and 26. 34. and 27. 46. k The Midland Sea, great in it self, and especially compared with those lesser Collections of waters, which the Jews called Seas. 1 Obj. The Israelites never possessed all this Land. Ans. 1. That was from their own sloth and cowardize, and disobedience to God, and breach of those Conditions upon which this Promise was suspended: See Judg. 2. 20. 2. This land was not all to be possessed by them at once, but by degrees, as their numbers and necessities increased; but Canaan being fully sufficient for them, and many of the Israelites being from time to time either cut off, or carried captive for their sins, there was never any need of enlarging their Possessions. 3. Though their Possessions extended not to Euphrates, yet their Dominion did, and all those Lands were tributary to them in David's and Solomon's time.

5 There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, * so I will be with thee; * I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee m.

* Heb. in 13. 5. Deut. 31. 6, 8.

m To 6, 18.

m To assist him against all his enemies, and in all the difficulties of governing this stiff-necked people, which Joshua might justly fear no less than the Canaanites. n I will not leave thee destitute neither of inward support, or of outward assistance.

* Deut. 31. 23. Or, thou shalt cause this people to inherit the land, &c.

6 * Be strong, and of a good courage o: for † unto this people shalt thou divide for an Inheritance, the land p which I sware unto their fathers to give them.

o Joshua, though a person of great Courage and Resolution, whereof he had given sufficient Proof, yet needs these Exhortations, partly because his work was great, and difficult, and long, and in a great measure new; partly because he had a very mean opinion of himself, especially if compared with Moses; and remembring how perverse and ungovernable that people were, even under Moses, he might very well suspect the burden of ruling them would be too heavy for his shoulders. p Which supposeth the full Conquest of the land. That Honour and Assistance which I denied to Moses, I will give to thee.

7 Only be thou strong, and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the Law * which Moses my servant commanded thee q: * turn not from it to the right hand or to the left r, that thou mayest † prosper s whithersoever thou goest t.

* Deut. 31. 7. * Deut. 5. 32. and 28. 14. † Or, do wisely.

q Remember, that though thou art the Captain and Commander of my people, yet thou art my Subject, and obliged to observe all my commands. r (i. e.) In any kind, or upon any pretence. s Which plainly shews, That Gods assistance promised to him and to the Israelites, was conditional, and might justly be withdrawn upon their breach of the Conditions. t Or, That thou mayest do wisely. Whereby he instructs him in the true Art of Government; and that his greatest Wisdom will lie in the observation of all Gods Commands, and not in that pretended reason of State which other Princes govern all their Affairs by. t (i. e.) Whatsoever thou doest. Mens actions are oft compared to ways, or journeys, or steps by which they come to the end they aim at.

8 * This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth u, but * thou shalt † meditate therein day and night x, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein y: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt † have good success.

* Deut. 17. 18, 19. * Ps. 1. 2. † Or, discourse of it. See Psal. 77. 12 † Or, do wisely.

u (i. e.) Thou shalt constantly read it, and upon occasion discourse of it, and the sentence which shall come out of thy mouth, shall in all things be given according to this Rule. x (i. e.) Diligently study, and frequently and upon all occasions consider what is Gods Will and thy Duty. The greatness of thy place and employments shall not hinder thee from this Work, because this is the only Rule of all thy private Actions, and publick Administrations. y Whereby he teacheth him, that it is his Duty to see with his own eyes, and to understand the Mind and Law of God himself, and not blindly to follow what any other should advise him to.

* Deut. 31. 7, 8.

9 * Have not I commanded thee z? Be strong, and of a good courage, be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the LORD thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.

z I whom thou art obliged to obey: I who can carry thee through every thing I put thee upon: I of whose Faithfulness and Almightiness thou hast had large experience?

10 Then Joshua commanded the Officers of the people, saying,

11 Pass through the host, and command the people, saying, Prepare you victuals a: for within three days b ye shall pass over this Jordan, to go in to possess the land which the LORD your God giveth you to possess it.

a For although Manna was given them to supply their want of ordinary Provisions in the Wilderness; yet they were allowed, when they had opportunity, to purchase other Provisions, and did so, Deut. 2. 6, 28. And now having been some time in the land of the Amorites, and together with Manna used themselves to other food which that Country plentifully supplied them with; they are warned to furnish themselves therewith for their approaching march. b Qu. How can this be, when the Spies, who were not yet sent away, continued three days hid in the Mountains, Josh. 2. 22. and the people passed not over till three days after the Spies returned? Josh. 3. 2. Ans. These words, though placed here, seem not to have been delivered by Joshua till after the return of the Spies; such Transpositions being so frequent in Scripture, that Interpreters have formed this general Rule, That there is no certain Order, no former nor latter in the Histories of the Scripture. And hence it comes, that these three days mentioned here below, after the History of the Spies, are again repeated, Josh. 3. 2. Besides, the Septuagint render the words, Yet three days; and the Chaldee, In the end of three days; others, After three days, as it is, Josh. 3. 2. Or, these three days may be the same with those, Josh. 2. 22. and the matter may be conceived thus, Joshua gives the people notice of their Passage over Jordan within three days, here, and at the same time sends away the Spies, who return ere those three days be ended. For the three days, Josh. 2. 22. may be understood of one whole day, and part of two other days, as it is in that famous instance, Matth. 27. 63, of which see more on that place, and on Matth. 12. 40. The Spies came to Jericho in the Evening of the first day, and intended to lie there, Josh. 2. 8. but being disturbed and affrighted by the search made after them, they go away that night into the Mountains, and there abide the time mentioned. Joshua having delivered this message from God to the Israelites, and sent away the Spies, removes from Shittim to Jordan, Josh. 3. 1. being sufficiently assured of his safe passage over Jordan, whatsoever became of the Spies; and after those three days mentioned here were past, Josh. 3. 2. he sends the Officers to the people with a second message about the manner of their actual passing over.

12 And to the Reubenite, and to the Gadite, and to half the tribe of Manasseh, spake Joshua, saying, 13 Remember * the words which Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you c, saying, The LORD your God hath given you rest d, and hath given you this land.

* Numb. 32. 23. Deut. 3. 18.

c His charge to you, and your promise to him, which they were obliged to keep; and Joshua was to see that they did so. d (i. e.) A place of rest, as that word signifies; See on Gen. 49. 15.

14 Your wives, your little ones, and your cattel shall remain in the land which Moses gave you on this side Jordan: but ye shall pass e before your brethren f † armed g, all the mighty men of valour h, and help them:

e To wit, over Jordan. f Either, 1. in their presence. Or, 2. In the front of all of them; which was but reasonable; partly, because they had the advantage of their brethren, having actually received their Portion, which their Brethren had only in hope, and therefore were obliged to more service, the rather to prevent the envy of the other Tribes; partly because they were freed from those Impediments which the rest were exposed to, their Wives, and Children, and Estates being safely lodged; and partly to prevent their retreat and withdrawing themselves from the present service, which they otherwise should have had opportunity and temptation to do, because of the nearness of their Habitations. g For by this time they were well furnished with Arms, which they had either from the Egyptians, or Amalekites, or Amorites, from whom they had taken them; or by purchase from those people by whose borders they passed. Or, in military order: See on Exod. 13. 18. h All such were obliged to go over if occasion required it, but Joshua took only some of them, partly because they were sufficient for his purpose, and partly because some were fit to be left, both to secure their own Wives, Children, and Possessions, and to prevent their enemies on that side from giving them disturbance or hindrance in their enterprize upon Canaan.

15 Until the LORD have given your brethren rest, as he hath given you, and they also have possessed the land which the LORD your God giveth them: then ye shall return unto the land of your possession, and enjoy it, which Moses the LORD's Servant gave you on this side Jordan, toward the sun-rising.

16 And they answered h Joshua, saying, All that thou commandest us, we will do, and whithersoever thou sendest us, we will go.

h (i. e.) The Reubenites, &c. mentioned v. 12. to whom Joshua's Discourse is confined v. 13, 14, 15. No doubt the other Tribes expressed the same thing; but this is only recorded concerning these, because that might seem most doubtful, and the obedience of the rest was unquestionable.

17 According as we hearkned unto Moses in all things, so will we hearken unto thee i: only the LORD thy God be with thee, as he was with Moses k.

i The same obedience which we owed, and those of us who are now alive generally performed to Moses, we promise unto thee. k This is not a limitation of their obedience, as if they would not obey him any further or longer than he was prosperous or successful; but an additional Prayer for him. As we have hereby promised thee our obedience, so our Prayer shall be, That God would bless and prosper thee, as he did Moses.

18 Whosoever he be that doth rebel against thy commandment, and will not hearken unto thy words in all that thou commandest him l, he shall be put to death: only be strong, and of a good courage.

l Not repugnant to Gods commands; for none can be so foolish to think, that if he had commanded the people to blaspheme God, or worship Idols, the people were obliged to obey him therein.

CHAP. II.

Joshua sends two Spies to Jericho; they are sought after; Rahab hides them; deceives the Messengers, 1—7. She acknowledges that God had given them the Land; her Reasons, 8—11. The Covenant between her and them, 12—21. Their Return and Relation, 22—24.

1 AND Joshua the son of Nun sent a out of Shittim b two men c, to spy d † secretly e, saying, Go view the land, even Jericho f: and they went *, and came into an harlots g house, named * Rahab, and * † lodged h there.

† Heb. secretly. * Heb. 11. 31.

a Or, had sent, as that Tense is oft used: See on Josh. 1. 11. b Called also Abel-shittim, Numb. 33. 49. c Not twelve, as Moses did, partly because the people of Canaan were now more alarm'd than in Moses his time, and more suspicious of all strangers; and partly because those were to view the whole land, these but a small parcel of it. d (i. e.) To learn the state of the land and people, and what way and method they should proceed in. It is evident enough, That Joshua did not this out of distrust, as the people did, Deut. 1. and it is most probable, he had Gods Command and Direction in it for the encouragement of himself and his Army in their present Enterprize. e With reference not to his Enemies, which being the constant and necessary practice of all Spies, was needless to be mentioned; but to the Israelites, without their knowledge or desire. And this seems added by way of opposition unto the like Action, Deut. 1. where it was done with the peoples privity, and upon their motion; and therefore an Account was given not only to Moses, but also to the Congregation; whereas here it was given to Joshua only, v. 23. which was a good Caution to prevent the Inconveniency which possibly might have arisen, if their Report had been doubtful or discouraging. f (i.e.) The land about Jericho, together with the City. Heb. The land and Jericho, i. e. especially Jericho. So and is used, 2 Sam. 2. 30. 1 King. 11. 1. Psal. 18. 1. * They obeyed Joshua's Command, even with the hazard of their own lives, considering that they were under the protection of divine Providence, which could very easily many ways secure them; or being willing to sacrifice their lives in their Countreys service. g So the Hebrew word is used, Judg. 11. 1. and 16 1. 1 King. 3. 16. Ezek. 23. 44. and so it is rendred by two Apostles, Heb. 11. 31. Jam. 2. 25. such she either now was, or formerly had been; and such a parsons house they might come to with less observation than to an Hostess, as some render it, or to a publick Victualling-House. And such a course of life was very common among the Gentiles, who esteemed Fornication to be either no sin, or a very small and trivial one. h Or, lay down; as the same word is rendred, v. 8. intended and composed themselves to rest; but they were disturbed and hindred from their Intentions upon the following Discovery.

2 And it was told the King of Jericho, saying, Behold, there came in men hither to night i, of the children of Israel, to search out the Country.

i This evening, by comparing this with v. 5.

3 And the King of Jericho sent unto Rahab, saying, Bring forth the men that are come to thee, which are entred into thine house: for they be come to search out all the country.

4 And the woman took the two men, and hid them k, and said thus, There came men unto me, but I wist not whence they were l:

k Or, But the Woman had taken—— and had hid them, to wit, before the Messengers came from the King; as soon as she understood from her Neighbours or common Rumor, that there was a suspicion of the matter, and guessed that search would be made. And this is justly mentioned as a great and generous act of Faith, Heb. 11. 31. for she did apparently venture her life upon a stedfast perswasion of the Truth of Gods Word and Promise given to the Israelites. l Her Answer contained in these and the following words, was palpably false, and therefore unquestionably sinful; howsoever, her intention was good therein: See Rom. 3. 8. But it is very probable, she being an Heathen, might think, what some Christians have thought and said, That an officious Lie is not unlawful. Or at worst, this was her Infirmity, which was graciously pardoned by God, and her Faith was amply rewarded.

5 And it came to pass about the time of shutting of the gate m, when it was dark, that the men went out: whither the men went, I wot not: pursue after them quickly, for ye shall overtake them.

m Either of her house, or rather of the City which was shut at a certain time.

* See 2 Sam. 17. 19.

6 But * she had brought them up to the roof n of the house, and hid them with the stalks of flax, which she had laid in order upon the roof o.

n Which was plain after the manner: See Deut. 22. 8. Mat. 10. 27. Act. 10. 9. Mark 2. 4. o That they may be dried by the heat of the Sun.

7 And the men pursued after them the way to Jordan unto the foords p: and assoon as they which pursued after them were gone out, they shut the gate q.

p Or passages, i. e. The usual places where people used to pass over Jordan, whether by Boats or Bridges; or rather, because of the shallowness of the River, which a little after this, swelled higher, as the History will tell us; and as it is very usual for Rivers to do. q Of the City, partly for their security against their approaching Enemies; and partly to prevent the escape of the Spies, if peradventure Rahab was mistaken, and they yet lurked in the City.

8 And before they were laid down r, she came up unto them upon the roof, r To rest or sleep, as they intended, being now, after the departure of the Searchers, come from their hiding-place to their resting place.

9 And she said unto the men s, I know that the LORD hath given you the land, and that * your terror t is fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land † faint because of you.

* Gen. 35. 5. † Heb. melt.

s Qu. How could they understand one the other? Ans. 1. The Hebrew and the Canaan or Phœnician Languages have a very great resemblance, and are thought to be but differing Dialects of one and the same Tongue, as the learned prove by a multitude of words which are common to both of them. Or, 2. some of the Hebrews had either out of curiosity, or by Joshua's order and direction, learnt that Language for this or other such like Occasions. t (i.e.) The dread of you: See Exod. 23. 27. and 34. 24. Deut. 11. 25. and 28. 7.

* Exod. 14. 21. Chap. 4. 23. * Numb. 21. 24, 34. * Exod. 15. 14. † Heb. rose there up any more spirit in any man. * Chap. 5. 1. * Deut. 4. 39.

10 For we have heard how the LORD * dried up the water of the Red-sea for you, when ye came out of Egypt, and what ye did unto the two Kings of the Amorites, that were on the other side Jordan, * Sihon and Og whom ye utterly destroyed.

11 And assoon as we had heard these things, * our hearts did melt u, neither † did there remain any more courage in any man, because of you: for * the LORD your God, he is God in heaven above, and in the earth beneath x.

u (i.e.) Was dissolved, lost all consistency and courage. This Phrase is oft used, as Deut. 1. 28. and 20. 8. Josh. 5. 1. and 7. 5. x He can do whatsoever he pleaseth in Heaven and Earth; where as our Gods are included in Heaven, and can do nothing to us upon Earth.

12 Now therefore, I pray you, swear unto me by the LORD y, since I have shewed you kindness, that ye will also shew kindness unto * my fathers house z, and * See 1 Tim. 5. 4. give me a true token a:

y By your God who is the only true God; so she shews her Conversion to God, and owns his Worship, one eminent Act whereof is swearing by his Name. z My near Kindred, which she particularly names, v. 13. Husband and Children it seems she had none. And for her self, it was needless to speak, it being a plain and undeniable Duty to save their Preserver. a Either an assurance that you will preserve me and mine from the common Ruine: or a Token which I may produce as a Witness of this agreement, and a mean of my security.

13 And that ye will save alive my father, and my mother, and my brethren, and my sisters, and all that they have b, and deliver our lives from death.

b (i.e.) Their Children, as appears from Josh. 6. 23.

14 And the men answered her, Our life † for yours c, † Heb. instead of if ye utter not this our business d. And it shall be when the LORD hath given us the land, that * we will deal you to us. * Judg. 1. 24. kindly and truly with thee.

c We pawn and will venture our lives for the security of yours. Or, may we perish, if you be not preserved. d (i.e.) This Agreement of ours, and the way and condition of it, left others under this pretence, secure themselves. By which they shew both their Piety and Prudence in managing their Oath with so much Circumspection and Caution, that neither their own Consciences might be ensnared, nor the publick Justice obstructed.

15 Then she let them down by a cord through the window: for her house was upon the Town-wall e, and she dwelt upon the wall f.

e Which gave her the opportunity of dismissing them when the gates were shut. f Her particular dwelling was there: which may possibly be added, because the other part of her House was reserved for the entertainment of Strangers.

16 And she said unto them, Get ye to the mountain g, lest the Pursuers meet you: and hide your selves there three days h, until the Pursuers be returned, and afterward may ye go your way.

g (i.e.) To some of the Mountains wherewith Jericho was encompassed, in which also there were many Caves where they might lurk. h Not three whole days, but one whole day, and parts of two days: See on Josh. 1. 11.

17 And the men said i unto her, We will be blameless k of this thine oath, which thou hast made us swear:

i Or, had said; namely, before she let them down; it being very improbable, either that she would dismiss them before the Condition was expressed and agreed; or that she would discourse with them, or they with her, about such secret and weighty things after they were let down, when others might over-hear them; or that she should begin her discourse in her Chamber, and not finish it till they were gone out of her House. Obj. They spoke this after they were let down; for it follows, v. 18. this thread--which thou didst let us down by. Ans. Those words may be thus rendred, which thou dost let us down by; i. e. art about to doit: it being frequent for the Preter Tense to be used of a thing about to be done, by an Enallage of Tenses, as Josh. 10. 15. k (i.e.) Free from guilt or reproach if it be violated, namely, if the following Condition be not observed.

18 Behold, when we come into the land l, thou shalt bind this line of scarlet threed in the window m, which thou didst let us down by: and thou shalt † bring thy Father, and thy Mother, and thy Brethren, and all thy Fathers Houshold home unto thee. † Heb. gather.

l (i.e.) Over Jordan, and near the City. m That it may be easily discerned by our Soldiers.

19 And it shall be, that whosoever shall go out of the doors of thy house into the street, his blood shall be upon his head n, and we will be guiltless: and whosoever shall be with thee in the house, his blood shall be upon our head o, if any hand be upon him p.

n The blame of his death shall rest wholly upon himself, as being occasioned by his own neglect or contempt of the means of safety. o We are willing to bear the sin, and shame, and punishment of it. p To wit, so as to kill him, as this Phrase is used, Esth. 6. 2. Job 1. 12.

20 And if thou utter this our business, then we will be quit of thine oath, which thou hast made us to swear.

21 And she said, According unto your words, so be it. And she sent them away, and they departed: and she bound the scarlet line in the window q.

q Forthwith, partly that the Spies might see it hung out before their departure, and so the better know it at some distance; partly lest some accident might occasion a mistake or neglect about it; and partly for her own comfort, it being pleasant and encouraging to her to have in her eye the pledge of her deliverance.

22 And they went, and came unto the mountain, and abode there three days r, until the Pursuers were returned. And the Pursuers sought them throughout all the way s, but found them not.

r Supporting themselves there with the Provisions which after the manner of those times and places they carried with them, which Rahab furnished them with. s i. e. In the Road to Jordan, and the places near it, but not in the Mountains.

23 So the two men returned, and descended from the mountain, and passed over t, and came to Joshua the son of Nun, and told him u all things that befel them.

t To wit, Jordan unto Joshua. u Him alone, not the people, as they did, Numb. 13.

24 And they said unto Joshua, Truly the LORD hath delivered into our hand all the land: for even all the Inhabitants of the country do † faint because of us. † Heb. melt.

CHAP. III.

Joshua comes with the Israelites to Jordan, 1. The officers instruct the people and priests for the passage, 2—6. God encourages Joshua, and he encourages the people, giving them for a sign, the dividing the waters of Jordan, till the Ark and people should pass over, 7—13. The people pass over; the priests standing all the time in the midst of Jordan, 14—17.

1 AND Joshua rose early in the morning a, and they removed from Shittim, and came to Jordan, he, and all the children of Israel, and lodged there b before they passed over.

a Not after the return of the Spies, as may seem at first view; but after the three days, as it follows, v. 2. b That night, that they might go over in the day time, partly that the Miracle might be more evident and unquestionable; and partly to strike the greater terror into their Enemies.

2 And it came to pass after three days c, that the officers went through the host d; c Either, 1. at the end of the three days mentioned, Josh. 1. 11. or upon the last of them, as this Phrase is used. See on Deut. 15. 1. Or, 2. after those days were expired: See on Josh. 1. 11. d The second time to give them more particular Directions, as they had given them a general notice, Josh. 1. 10, 11.

3 And they commanded the people e, saying, When ye see the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, and the priests the Levites f bearing it, then ye shall remove from your place, and go after it g.

e In Joshua's name, and by his Authority. f Who were not only Levites, but Priests also. For although the Levites were to carry the Ark, Numb. 4. yet the Priests might perform that Office, and did the Ark, Numb. 4. yet the Priests might perform that Office, and did so upon some solemn occasions, as here, and Josh. 6. 6. ch. 3. 3 so upon some solemn occasions, as here, and Josh. 6. 6. ch. 3. 3 g Towards Jordan, to go over it in such manner as I am about to describe. Till this time the Ark went in the middle of the cloudy Pillar, probably being now vanished; now it goes in the Front.

4 Yet there shall be a space between you and it, about two thousand cubits h by measure: come not near unto it, that ye may know the way by which ye must go k: for ye have not passed this way † heretofore. † Heb. yesterday and the third day.

h Which make a thousand yards, and at which distance from it the Israelites seem to have been encamped in the Wilderness. And because they generally went from their Tents to the Ark to worship God, especially on the Sabbath-days; hence it hath been conceived, that a Sabbath-days journey reached only to 2000 Cubits. But that may be doubted; for those who encamped nearest the Ark, were at that distance from it, and came so far; but the most were further from it, and their Sabbath-days journey was considerably longer. i Partly from the reverent respect they should bear to the Ark; and partly for the following reason. k That the Ark marching so far before you into the River, and standing still there till you pass over, may give you the greater assurance of your safe passage.

5 And Joshua said l unto the people, * Sanctifie your selves m: for to morrow the LORD will do wonders among you. * Exod. 19. 14, 15. Lev. 20. 7. Num. 11. 18. ch. 7. 13. 1 Sam. 16 5. Joel 2. 16.

l Or rather, had said, to wit, the day before their passage; for it follows, to morrow. m Both in Soul and Body, that you may be meet to receive such a favour, and with more Attention and Reverence and Memories: See on Exod. 19. 10. Lev. 20. 7.

6 And Joshua spake unto the priests, saying, Take up n the ark of the covenant, and pass over before the people o. And they took up the ark of the covenant, and went before the people.

n To wit, upon your shoulders; for so they were to carry it, Numb. 7. 9. o Not in the middle of them, as you used to do.

7 And the LORD said unto Joshua, This day will I begin to magnifie thee in the sight of all Israel p, that * they may know that * as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee. * ch. 1. 5.

p i. e. To gain thee Authority and Reputation among them, as the person whom I have set in Moses his stead, and by whom I will conduct them to the Possession of the promised Land.

8 And thou shalt command the priests that bear the Ark of the Covenant, saying, When ye are come to the brink q of the water of Jordan, ye shall stand still in Jordan r.

q Heb. to the extremity, so far as the River then spread it self, which was now more than ordinary, v. 15. r Within the waters of Jordan, in the first entrance into the River; where they stood for a season, till the River was divided, and then they went into the midst of it, as it is implied, v. 17. and there abode till all the people were passed over; as it follows in the History.

9 And Joshua said unto the children of Israel, Come hither s, and hear the words of the LORD your God t.

s To the Ark or Tabernacle, the place of publick Assemblies. t Who is now about to give a proof that he is both the Lord, the Omnipotent Governor of Heaven and Earth, and all Creatures; and your God, in Covenant with you, having a tender care and true affection for you.

10 And Joshua said, Hereby ye shall know u that the living God x is among you y, and that he will without fail drive out from before you the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Hivite, and the Perizzite, and the Girgashite, and the Amorite, and the Jebusite.

u To wit, by experience and sensible evidence. x Not a dull, dead, senseless and unactive God, such as the gods of the Nations are; but a God of life, and power, and activity to watch over you, and work for you. y Is present with you to strengthen and help you, as the Phrase signifies, Exod. 17. 7. Deut. 31. 17. Josh. 22. 31.

11 Behold, the ark of the covenant, of the LORD of all the earth, passeth over before you into Jordan z.

z Into part of the River.

12 Now therefore take ye twelve men a out of the Tribes of Israel, out of every Tribe a man.

a For the work described, Josh. 4. 2, 3.

13 And it shall come to pass assoon as the soles of the feet of the priests that bear the ark of the LORD b, the Lord of all the earth c, shall rest in the waters of Jordan, that the waters of Jordan shall be cut off from the waters that come down from above d: and they * shall stand upon an heap e. * Psal. 114. 3.

b That so it may appear that this is the Lords doing, and that in pursuance, and for the accomplishment of his Covenant made with Israel. c The Lord of all this terrestrial Globe made of Earth and Water, who therefore can dispose of this River and the adjoyning Land as he pleaseth. d The Waters which now are united shall be divided, and part shall flow down the Channel towards the Dead-Sea, and the other part that is nearer the Spring or Rise of the River, and flows down from it, shall stand still. e Being as it were congealed, as the Red-Sea was, Exod. 15. 8. and so kept from overflowing all the Country.

14 And it came to pass when the people removed from their tents, to pass over Jordan, and the priests bearing the * ark of the covenant before the people; * Act. 7. 45

15 And as they that bare the ark were come unto Jordan, and the feet of the priests that bare the ark were dipped in the brim of the water, (for * Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harvest) f. * 1 Chron. 12. 15.

f Which is also noted, 1 Chron. 12. 15. Eccles. 24. 36. and by Aristæus in the History of the LXX Interpreters. This is meant not of the Wheat-harvest, but of the Barley-harvest, (which was before it, Ruth 1. 22. 2 Sam. 21. 9.) as is manifest from their keeping of the Passover at their first entrance, Josh. 5. 10. which Feast was kept on the fourteenth day of their first Month, when they were to bring a Sheaf of their first-fruits, Lev. 23. 10. Deut. 16. 9, 10. which were of Barley, as Josephus affirms, and is evident from the thing it self. So that this Harvest in those hot Countries fell very early in the Spring, when Rivers use to swell most; partly because of the rains which have fallen all the Winter, add partly because of the Snows which then melt into Water and come into the Rivers; for which Reasons the same overswelling of Water which is here ascribed to Jordan, is by other Authors ascribed to Euphrates, and Tygris, and the Rhine, and Maine, &c. And this time God chose for this Work, partly that the Miracle might be more glorious in it self, more obliging to the Israelites, and more amazing and terrible to the Canaanites; and partly that the Israelites might be entertained at their first entrance with more plentiful and comfortable Provisions. Jer. 12. 5. & 49. 19.

16 That the waters which came down from above, stood and rose up upon an heap g very far from the city Adam that is beside Zaretan h; and those that came down toward the sea of the plain, even the salt sea failed, and were cut off: and the people passed over right against Jericho i.

g Which having been affirmed by Heathen Writers to have been done by Magicians, it is great impudence to disbelieve or doubt of Gods power to do it. h The City Adam being more obscure, is described by its nearness to a more known place, Zaretan, or Sarthan, which some think is the same place mentioned, 1 King. 4. 12. and 7. 46. but it rather seems to have been another place then eminent, but now unknown, as many thousands are. The meaning is, That the Waters were stopped in their course at that place, and so kept at a due distance from the Israelites whilst they passed over. i Here God carried them over, because this part was, 1. The strongest, as having in its Neighbourhood an eminent City, a potent King, and a stout and warlike people. 2. The most pleasant and fruitful, and therefore more convenient both for the Refreshment of the Israelites after their long and tedious Marches, and for their Encouragement to their present Expedition.

17 And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, stood firm k on dry ground in the midst of Jordan l, and all the Israelites passed over on dry ground, until all the people were passed clean over Jordan.

k i. e. In one and the same place and posture; their feet neither moved by any Waters flowing in upon them, nor sinking into any mire;

mire, which one might think was at the bottom of the River. And this may be opposed unto their other standing in the brink of the water when they came to it, commanded, ver. 8. which was but for a while, till the Waters were divided and gone away; and then they were to go further, even into the midst of Jordan, as is here said, where they are to stand constantly and fixedly, as this Hebrew word signifies, until all were passed over. If it be said, that what is prescribed, v. 8. is here said to be executed; and therefore the midst of Jordan here, is the same place with the brink of the water of Jordan, v. 8. It may be answered, That the manifest variation of the Phrase shews, that it is not absolutely the same thing or place which is spoken of there and here; but what is there enjoyned, is here executed with advantage; for when it is said, that they stood firm—in the midst of Jordan, it must needs be supposed, that they first came to the brink of the water, and that they stood there for a season, till the Waters were cut off and dried up, as appears from the nature of the thing; and that then they went further, even into the midst of Jordan. l Either, 1. within Jordan, as it is expressed above, v. 8. for that Phrase doth not always signifie the exact middle of a place, but any part within it, as appears from Gen. 45. 6. Exod. 8. 22. and 24. 18. Josh. 7. 13. and 10. 13. Prov. 30. 19. Or rather, 2. in the middle and deepest part of the River. For, 1. words should be taken properly, where they may without any inconveniency, which is the case here. 2. The Ark went before them to direct, and encourage and secure them in the dangers of their Passages, for which ends the middle was the fittest place. 3. In this sense the same Phrase is used, Josh. 4 v. 3, 8. For certainly those Stones which were to be Witnesses and Monuments of their Passage over Jordan, should not be taken from the brink or brim of the River, or from the shore which Jordan overflowed only at that season, but from the most inward and deepest parts of the River; and v. 16, 17, 18. where the Priests are said to ascend or come up out of Jordan, and out of the midst of Jordan unto the dry land; whereas had this been meant only of the first entrance into the River, they must have been said first to go down into Jordan, and then to go up to the land.

CHAP. IV.

God commands them to carry 12 stones for a memorial, out of Jordan: Joshua orders it: the people perform, 1—8. Twelve other stones set up for a Memorial in the midst of Jordan, 9. The people pass over: the order they observe, 10—13. God magnifies Joshua, 14. The priests with the Ark are commanded to come up out of Jordan, 15—17. The waters return, 18. The time of this passage, 19. Twelve stones set up in Gilgal; to what purpose declared, 20——24.

Deut. 27. ch. 3. 12.

1 AND it came to pass, when all the people were clean passed * over Jordan, that the LORD spake a unto * Joshua, saying, a This was commanded before, Josh. 3. 12. and is here repeated with enlargement, as being now to be put in Execution.

2 Take ye twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man b, b For the greater evidence and certainty, and the more effectual spreading of the Report of this marvellous work among all the Tribes.

3 And command ye them, saying, Take ye hence out of the midst of Jordan c, out of the place where the priests feet stood firm, twelve stones, and ye shall carry them over with you, and leave them in the lodging-place where ye shall lodge this night d.

c Of which see on Josh. 3. 17. d i. e. In Gilgal, as is expressed below, ver. 19, 20.

4 Then Joshua called the twelve men, whom he had prepared e of the children of Israel, out of every Tribe a man:

e i. e. Appointed or chosen for that work, and commanded them to be ready for it.

5 And Joshua said unto them, Pass over before the ark f of the LORD your God into the midst of Jordan, and take ye up every man of you a stone upon his shoulder, according unto the number of the Tribes of the children of Israel:

f i. e. Go back again to the place where the Ark stands.

6 That this may be a sign g among you, that when † Heb. to-morrow. your children ask their fathers † in time to come, saying, What mean ye by these stones?

g A Monument or Memorial of this days work.

7 Then ye shall answer them, That the waters of Jordan were cut off before the ark h of the covenant of the LORD, when it passed over Jordan, the waters of Jordan were cut off: and these stones shall be for a memorial unto the children of Israel for ever.

h As it were at the sight and approach of the Ark, to give it and the Israelites a safe passage.

8 And the children of Israel did so as Joshua commanded, and took up twelve stones out of the midst of Jordan, as the LORD spake unto Joshua, according to the number of the Tribes of the children of Israel, and carried them over with them unto the place where they lodged, and laid them down there.

9 And Joshua set up twelve stones in the midst of Jordan i, in the place where the feet of the priests, which bare the ark of the covenant, stood: and they are there unto this day k.

i Properly so called, as Josh. 3. 17. Quest. How could these stones be a Monument of this work, when they were not seen, but generally covered with the Waters of Jordan? Answ. These stones are not the same with those which a man could carry upon his shoulders, ver. 5. and therefore might be very much larger; and being set up in two rows one above another, they might possibly be seen, at least some times when the Water was low, and especially where the Water was commonly more shallow, as it might be ordinarily in this place, though not at this time, when Jordan overflowed all its banks. Add to this, That the Waters of Jordan are said by this Author to be very pure and clear; and therefore these stones, though they did not appear above it, might be seen in it, either by those at least by those that passed in Boats upon the River, who could easily discern them by the peculiar noise and motion of the Water occasioned by that heap of stones. And this was sufficient, especially considering that there was another more distinct and visible Monument of this Miracle set up in Gilgal. k This might be written, either 1. by Joshua who wrote this Book near 20 years after this was done: Or, 2. by some other holy man divinely inspired and approved of by the whole Jewish Church, who inserted this and some such passages both in this Book, and in the Writings of Moses.

10 For the priests which bare the ark, stood in the midst of Jordan, until every thing was finished that the LORD commanded Joshua to speak unto the people l, according to all that Moses commanded Joshua m: and the people hasted and passed over n.

l i. e. To command the people to do. m Which he did not particularly, but in the general; because he commanded Joshua to observe and do all that God had commanded him by Moses. and all that he should command him any other way. n i. e. Passed over with haste. which is noted as an Argument of their fear, or weakness of their Faith; as on the contrary, the Priests are commended that they stood firm, and fixed, and settled in their minds, as well as in the posture of their Bodies.

11 And it came to pass when all the people were clean passed over, that the ark of the LORD passed over, and the priests in the presence of the people o.

o The people looking on, and beholding this wonderful work of God with Attention and Admiration.

12 And * the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and half the Tribe of Manasseh, passed over armed before the rest of the children of Israel, as Moses spake unto them: * Numb. 32. 20, 27.

13 About forty thousand † prepared for war, passed over before the LORD p unto battel, to the plains of Jericho. † Or, as armed.

p Either, 1. before the Ark, by which they, as well as the rest, passed when they went over Jordan. Or 2. in the presence of God who diligently observed whether they would keep their Promise and Covenant made with their Brethren, or not.

14 On that day the LORD * magnified Joshua in the sight of all Israel, and they feared him, as they feared Moses, all the days of his life. * ch. 3. 7.

15 And the LORD spake unto Joshua, saying,

16 Command the Priests that bear * the ark of the testimony, that they come up q out of Jordan. * Ex. 25. 16, 22.

q For being now in the middle, and lowest, and deepest place of the River, (of which see on Josh. 3. 17.) they are most properly said to ascend or go up to the land; which word is thrice used in this and the two next following Verses.

17 Joshua therefore commanded the Priests r, saying, Come ye up out of Jordan.

r Who stayed contentedly in the River, till God by Joshua called them out.

18 And it came to pass, when the priests that bare the ark of the Covenant of the LORD, were come up out of the midst of Jordan, and the soles of the priests feet were † lift up unto the dry land, that the waters of Jordan returned unto their place s, and † flowed over all his banks, as they did before. † Heb. plucked up. † Heb. went.

s Came down from their heaps, and returned with all convenient speed into their proper Channel, according to their natural and usual course.

19 And the people came out of Jordan on the tenth day of the first month t, and encamped in Gilgal u, in the east border of Jericho.

t To wit, of Nisan, which wanted but 5 days of 40 years from the time of their coming out of Egypt, which was on the fifteenth day of this month. So punctual is God in the performing of his word, whether promised or threatned. And this day was very seasonable for the taking up of the Lambs which were to be used four days after, according to the Law, Exod. 12. 3, 6. u A place so called hereafter upon a following occasion, Josh. 5. 9. So here it is an Anticipation.

20 And those twelve stones which they took out of Jordan, did Joshua pitch in Gilgal x.

x Which most probably were placed severally and in order like so many little Pillars, which was most proper to keep up the remembrance of this miraculous Benefit vouchsafed to this people.

21 And he spake unto the children of Israel, saying, When your children shall ask their fathers † in time to come, saying, What mean these stones? † Heb. to-morrow.

22 Then

22 Then ye shall let your children know, saying, Israel came over this Jordan on dry land.

23 For the LORD your God dried up the waters of Jordan from before you, until ye were passed over, as * Exod. 14. 21. the LORD your God did to the Red-sea *, which he dried up from before us y, until we were gone over:

y (i. e.) My self and Caleb, and all of us here present; for this Benefit, though done to their Fathers, is justly and rightly said to be done to themselves, because they were then in their Parents loyns; and their very being, and all their Happiness, depended upon that Deliverance.

24 That all the people of the earth might know the hand of the LORD, that it is mighty, that ye might fear the LORD your God † for ever. † Heb. all days.

CHAP. V.

The Amorites and Canaanites hear of this and are afraid, 1. The Males born in the Wilderness are Circumcised, 2—9. The Passover is celebrated, 10. They eat of the Corn of the Land, and the Manna ceaseth, 11, 12. Christ appeareth to Joshua in form of a Man of War; he worships him; the place of his presence holy ground, 13—15.

1 AND it came to pass when all the kings of the Amorite a which were on the side of Jordan westward b, and all the kings of the Canaanite c, which were by the Sea d, * heard that the LORD had dried up the waters of Jordan e from before the children of Israel, until we were passed over, that their heart melted f, neither was there spirit in them any more, because of the children of Israel. * Numb. 13. 29. Exod. 15. 14.

a These and the Canaanites are mentioned for all the rest, as being the chief of them for number, and power, and courage.

b This is added to distinguish them from the other Amorites, Eastward from Jordan, whom Moses had subdued. c So the proper place of this Nation was on both sides of Jordan. d The mid-land Sea, all along the Coast of it, which was the chief seat of that people, though divers Colonies of them were come into, and settled in other places. e Which was their bulwark on the East-side, where the Israelites were; for it is very probable they had taken away all Bridges near those parts; and the Israelites having been so long in that Neighbouring Country, and yet not making any attempt upon them, they were grown secure; especially now, when Jordan swell'd beyond its ordinary bounds; and therefore they did not endeavour to hinder their passage. f They lost all their courage, and durst attempt nothing upon the Israelites; not without Gods special Providence, that the Israelites might quietly participate of the two great Sacraments of their Church, Circumcision and the Passover, and thereby be prepared for their high and hard work, and for the possession of the Holy and Promised Land, which would have been Defiled by an Uncircumcised People.

2 At that time g the Lord said unto Joshua, Make h thee * sharp knives † i, and circumcise again the children of Israel the second time k. * Exod. 4. 25. † Or, knives of stone.

g As soon as ever they were come to Gilgal, which was on the tenth day; and so this might be executed the next, or the eleventh day, and that in the morning: on the thirteenth day they were sore of their wounds, and on the fourteenth day they recovered, and at the Even of that day kept the Passover. h Or, prepare, or make ready, as this word is sometimes used. As it was not necessary for those who had such Knives already to make others for that use; so it is not probable that such were commanded to do so, but only to make them sharp and fit for that work. i Called in Hebrew, Knives of Flints, not as if they were all necessarily to be made of Flints, but because such were commonly used, especially in those parts where there was but little Iron; and because such Knives were oft used in this work, as the Jewish Doctors note, and in such like works, as the Heathen writers relate. Thus we call that an Ink-horn, which is made of Silver, because those Utensils are commonly made of Horn. k He calleth this a second Circumcision, not as if these same persons had been Circumcised once before, either by Joshua, or by any other, for the contrary is affirmed below, v. 7. but with respect unto the body of the People, whereof one part had been Circumcised before, and the other at this time, which is called a second time, in relation to some former time wherein they were Circumcised, either, 1. in Egypt, when many of the people, who possibly for fear or favour of the Egyptians, had neglected this Duty, were by the command of Moses (who had been awakened by the remembrance of his own neglect and danger therenpon) Circumcised; which during the Ten Plagues, and the grievous confusion and consternation of the Egyptians, they might easily find opportunity to do. Or 2. at Sinai, when they received the Passover, Numb. 9. 5. which no uncircumcised person might do, Exod. 12. 48. and therefore it may not seem improbable, that all the Children born in that first year after their coming out of Egypt, and all they who peradventure might come out of Egypt in their uncircumcision, were now Circumcised. Obj. 1. All that came out of Egypt were Circumcised, v. 5. Ans. 1. This may be true, but he doth not say when and where they were Circumcised; nor doth he deny that this was done to some of them, either in time of the Plagues in Egypt, or at Sinai. 2. All is very oft used of the greatest part, as is confessed. Obj. 2. All the people that were born in the Wilderness were not Circumcised, v. 5. Ans. 1. Understand this also of the greatest part. 2. This is limited to them that were born by the way, as it is said there, and emphatically repeated, v. 7. i. e. in their Journeys and Travellings; which insinuates the reason why they were not Circumcised, because they were always uncertain of their stay in any place; and were constantly to be in a readiness for a removal when God took up the Cloud: But this reason ceased at Sinai, where they knew they were to abide for a considerable time; and seeing they took that opportunity for the celebration of the Passover, it is likely they would improve it also to the Circumcision of their Children or others, which they ought to prize highly, and to embrace all occasions offered for it; which though the people might, it is not likely that Moses would neglect. Obj. 3. They are said to have remained uncircumcised Forty whole Years in the Wilderness, v. 6. Ans. i. e. for almost forty years; as the same Phrase is used, Numb. 14. 33, 34. and 32. 13. when there was above one year of that number past and gone. Or 3. in Abraham, and so the sense may be, The first Circumcision conferred upon Abraham, and continued in his Posterity, hath been for many years neglected or omitted; and so that great and solemn pledge of my Covenant with you, is in a manner wholly lost, and therefore it is but fit and necessary to have this long interrupted practice of Circumcision revived, and to have Abrahams Posterity circumcised a second time for the renewing of the Covenant between them and me again.

3 And Joshua made him sharp knives, and circumcised * the children of Israel m at the * hill of the foreskins. * Or, Gibeah haaraloth.

l (i. e.) He caused this to be done; and, because it was to be done speedily, the Passover approaching, it was necessary to use many hands in it, either Priests and Levites, or other Circumcised persons, who, at least in those circumstances, were permitted to do it. m (i. e.) Such of them as were uncircumcised. And, though it be not mentioned, it is more than probable, that the Israelites beyond Jordan were Circumcised at the same time.

4 And this is the cause why Joshua did circumcise: All the people that came out of Egypt n, that were males, even all the men of war died in the wilderness by the way, after they came out of Egypt.

n This is to be restrained to such as were then above 20 years old, and such as were guilty of that rebellion, Numb. 14. as it is expressed below, v. 6.

5 Now all the people that came out, were circumcised: but all the people that were born in the wilderness by the way as they came forth out of Egypt, them they * had not circumcised.

n Either their Parents, or the Rulers of Israel, whose omission hereof was not through neglect; for then God, who had ordered the neglecter of Circumcision to be cut off, Gen. 17. 14. would not have left so gross a fault unpunished: but by Divine Permission and Indulgence; partly because they were now in a Journey, in which case the Passover also might be neglected, Numb. 9. 10, 13: and in that Journey the Passover was but once observed; and partly, because there was not so great a necessity of this note of Circumcision to distinguish them from other Nations, whilest they dwelt alone and unmixed in the Wilderness, as there was afterwards.

6 For the Children of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness, till all the people o that were men of war, which came out of Egypt, were consumed, because they obeyed not the voice of the LORD, unto whom the LORD sware * that he would not shew them p the land which the LORD sware unto their fathers, that he would give us a land that floweth with milk and honey. * Numb. 14. 23.

o The Hebrew word commonly signifies the Gentiles; so he calls them, to note that they were unworthy of the name and privileges of Israelites. p (i. e.) Not give them so much as a sight of it; which he granted to Moses, much less the possession and enjoyment of it. Or shewing is put for giving, as it is Psal. 4. 6. and 60. 3. Eccles. 2. 24.

7 And their children whom he raised up in their stead, them Joshua circumcised q, for they were uncircumcised: because they had not circumcised them by the way.

q Which God would have now done, 1. as a Testimony of Gods reconciliation to the people, of which circumcision was a sign, and that God would not further impute their Parents Rebellions to them. 2. Because the great impediment of Circumcision was now removed, to wit, their continued Travels, and frequent and uncertain removal. 3. To prepare them for the approaching Passover. 4. To distinguish them from the Canaanites, into whose land they were now come. 5. To ratify the Covenant between God and them, whereof Circumcision was a Sign and Seal, to assure them that God would now make good his Covenant, in giving them this Land; and to oblige them to perform all the Duties and Services to which that Covenant bound them, of which Circumcision was the beginning and foundation, all which they were expressly enjoyned to do, as soon as ever they came into Canaan, Exod. 12. 25. Levit. 23. 10. Numb. 15. 2.

8 And it came to pass * when they had done circumcising all the people, that they abode in their places in the camp, till they * were whole r. * Heb. When all the people were.

r Free from that pain and sore which Circumcision caused, had made Gen. 34. 25. It was indeed an act of great Faith, to expose themselves to so much pain and danger too, in this place where they be Circumc. were hemmed in by Jordan and their Enemies; but they had many cised. considerations to support their Faith, and suppress their fears; the * Heb. fresh experience of Gods power and readiness to work Miracles for lived. their preservation; the great consternation of all their Enemies, which they might observe and rationally presume; the considerable number of the people who were above 40 years old, and therefore circumcised before this time, their great General being one of this number; the time it would require for their Enemies to bring together a force sufficient to oppose them.

9 And the LORD said unto Joshua, This day have I rolled away the reproach of Egypt f from off you: wherefore the name of the place is called * Gilgal, unto this day.

That is rolling.

f (i. e.) Uncircumcision, which was both in Truth, and in the opinion of the Jews, a matter of great reproach, Gen. 34. 14. 1 Sam. 14. 6. and 17. 26. And although this was a reproach common to most Nations of the World, yet it is particularly called the reproach of Egypt, either, 1. because the other neighbouring Nations, being the children of Abraham by the Concubines, are supposed to have been Circumcised, which the Egyptians at this time were not, as may be gathered from Exod. 2. 6. where they knew the Child to be an Hebrew by this mark. Or 2. because they came out of Egypt, and were esteemed to be a sort of Egyptians, Numb. 22. 5. which they justly thought a great reproach; but by their Circumcision they were now distinguished from them, and manifested to be another kind of people. Or 3. Because many of them lay under this reproach in Egypt, having wickedly neglected this Duty there for worldly reasons; and others of them continued in the same shameful condition for many years in the Wilderness.

10 And the children of Israel incamped in Gilgal, and kept the Passover, on the fourteenth * day of the month at even, in the plains of Jericho.

* Exod. 12. 6.

t Which was their third Passover: the first was in Egypt, Exod. 12. the second at Mount Sinai, Numb. 9. the third here; for in their Wilderness-Travels, these and all other Sacrifices were neglected, Amos 5. 25.

11 And they did eat of the old corn u of the land, on the morrow after the Passover x; unleavened cakes, and parched corn y, in the self-same day z.

u The Corn of the last year, which the Inhabitants of those parts had left in their Barns, being doubtless fled for fear of the Israelites into their strong Cities, or other remoter and safer parts. x (i. e.) On the sixteenth day; for the Passover was killed between the two Evenings of the fourteenth day, and was eaten in that evening or night, which, according to the Jewish computation, whereby they begin their days at the evening, was a part of the fifteenth day, all which was the feast of the Passover; and so the morrow of the sixteenth day, was the morrow after the Passover, when they were obliged to offer unto God the fifth sheaf, and then were allowed to eat of the rest. y Of that years Corn, which was most proper and customary for that use. z Having an eager desire to enjoy the Fruits of the Land.

12 And the * Manna ceased a on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land, b neither had the children of Israel Manna any more, but they did eat of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

* Exod. 16. 35.

a Which God now withheld, 1. To shew that Manna was not an ordinary production of Nature, as by the long and constant enjoyment of it, they might be prone to think; but an extraordinary and special gift of God to supply their necessity. 2. Because God would not be prodigal of his favours, nor expose them to contempt by giving them superfluously, or by working Miracles where ordinary means were sufficient. b (i. e.) On the seventeenth day.

13 And it came to pass when Joshua was by Jericho c, that he lift up his eyes, and looked, and behold, there stood * a man d over against him with his sword drawn e in his hand: and Joshua went unto him, and said unto him, Art thou for us, or for our Adversaries?

* Exod. 23. 23. Zech. 1. 8.

c Heb. In Jericho, i. e. in the Country or Territory adjoining to Jericho; whither he went to view those parts, and discern the fittest places for his attempt upon Jericho, as Generals usually do. d One in the appearance of man. e In readiness to fight, not, as Josiah thought, against him, but for him and his people.

14 And he said, Nay f, but as † Captain of the host of the LORD g am I now come. And Joshua fell on his face to the earth, and did worship, and said unto him, What saith my Lord unto his servant h?

† Or, Prince.

f I am neither Israelite, nor Canaanite. g Either, 1. of all Creatures in Heaven and Earth, which are Gods Hosts. Or, 2. of the Angels, who are called the Host of Heaven, 1 King. 22. 19. 2 Chron. 18. 18. Luke 2. 13. Or, 3. of the host or people of Israel, which are called the Lords Host, Exod. 12. 41. The sense is, I am the chief Captain of this people, and will conduct and assist thee and them in this great undertaking. Now this person is none other than Michael the Prince, Dan. 10. 21. and 12. 1. not a created Angel but the Son of God, who went along with the Israelites in this Expedition, 1 Cor. 10. 4. not surely as an underling, but as their Chief and Captain. And this appears, 1. by his acceptance of Adoration here, which a created Angel durst not admit of, Rev. 22. 8, 9. 2. Because the place was made holy by his presence, v. 15. which was Gods Prerogative, Exod. 3. 5. 3. Because he is called the Lord, Heb. Jehovah, Josh. 6. 2. h I acknowledge thee for my Lord and Captain, and therefore wait for thy Commands, which I am ready to obey.

15 And the Captain of the LORD's host said unto Joshua, * Loose thy shoe from off thy foot i, for the place whereon thou standest is holy k: and Joshua did so.

* Exod. 3. 5. Act. 7. 33.

i In token of reverence and subjection: See on Exod. 3. 5. k Consecrated by my presence; which when it was withdrawn, it was no more holy than any other place, the reason of its holiness being removed.

CHAP. VI.

Jericho is shut up by the Israelites, 1. The People and 7 Priests with the Ark, go round it 7 days, 2—14. On the 7th day they go round 7 times; the Priests blow the Trumpets; the People shout; the City Accursed; nothing to be taken, but all consecrated; the Walls fall down; Men, Women, and Cattel destroyed, 15—21. Rahab and her kindred are saved, 22—25. Joshua curseth the Man who should rebuild Jericho, 26.

1 NOW Jericho † was straitly shut up a, because † Heb. of the children of Israel, none went out, did fast none came in. no man went out, nor in.

a Not only by night, as before, Josh. 2. 5. but constantly and diligently.

2 And the LORD said unto Joshua, See, I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valour b.

b Who are in it, resolved and ready to defend it with their utmost strength.

3 And ye shall compass the City, all ye men of war, and go round about the City once c: thus shalt thou do six days d.

c At convenient distance, out of the reach of their Arrows. d Every day once. This and the following course might seem ridiculous and absurd, and is therefore prescribed and used by God, that they might learn to take new measures of things, and to expect success not from their own valour, or skill, or probable means, but meerly from Gods appointment and blessing; and in general, not to judge of any of Gods Institutions by meer carnal reason, to which divers of their Ceremonies would seem no less foolish than this action; and that they might have a full Demonstration of the All-sufficiency of that God who can do what he pleaseth, even by the most contemptible means.

4 And seven priests shall bear before the ark seven trumpers of rams horns e: and the seventh day ye shall compass the City seven times, and the Priests shall blow with the trumpets.

e Or, of the Jubiles; i. e. such Trumpets wherewith they were to sound in the years of Jubile, Lev. 25. 9. Either this, or one of the other six was certainly a Sabbath-day; and it is not material which was it, for the Command of the Lord of the Sabbath was sufficient to legitimate any Action.

5 And it shall come to pass, that when they make a long blast f with the rams horns, and when ye hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with a great shout: and the wall of the City g shall fall down † flat, h and the people shall ascend up every man straight † Heb. under it. before him.

f As is usual in the close of musical sounds. g Not all of it; which was not only unnecessary, but inconvenient, and might have given the people better opportunity of escaping, but only a considerable part of it where the Israelites might fitly enter: for Rahabs house was not overthrown, v. 22. h Heb. under it, i. e. below the place they stood in: Or, in its place: it was not battered down with Engines, which would have made part of it fall out of its place; but it fell out without any force, and of its own accord, and therefore in the place it did formerly stand in.

6 And Joshua the son of Nun called the priests, and said unto them, Take up the ark of the covenant, and let seven priests bear seven trumpets of rams horns before the ark of the LORD.

7 And he said unto the people, Pass on, and compass the city, and let him that is armed i pass on before the ark of the LORD.

i God would have them armed both for the defence of themselves and the Ark, in case the Enemies should make a sally upon them, and for the Execution of the Lords vengeance upon that City.

8 And it came to pass when Joshua had spoken unto the people, that the seven priests bearing the seven trumpets of rams horns passed on before the LORD, and blew with the trumpets: and the ark of the covenant of the LORD followed them.

9 And the armed men went before the Priests that blew with the trumpets: and the † rereward came k after the ark, the priests l going on, and blowing with the Trumpets. † Heb. gatherer.

k Which being opposed to the armed men, may seem to note the unarmed people, who were desirous to be Spectators of this wonderful work. l Which is rightly supplied here from v. 4.

10 And Joshua commanded the people, saying, Ye shall not shout m, nor † make any noise with your voice, neither shall any word proceed out of your mouth, until the day I bid you shout, then shall ye shout. † Heb. cause to hear.

m Because shouting before the time appointed, would be ineffectual, and so might give them some Discouragement, and their Enemies matter of insulting.

11 So the Ark of the LORD compassed the city, going about it once: and they came into the camp, and lodged in the camp.

12 And Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the LORD.

13 And

13 And seven priests bearing seven trumpets of rams horns before the ark of the LORD, went on continually, and blew with the trumpets: and the armed men went before them, but the rereward came after the ark of the LORD, the priests going on, and blowing with the Trumpets.

14 And the second day they compassed the City once, and returned into the camp: so they did six days.

15 And it came to pass on the seventh day, that they rose early about the dawning of the day, and compassed the city after the same manner, seven times: only on that day they compassed the city seven times.

16 And it came to pass at the seventh time, when the priests blew with the trumpets, Joshua said unto the people, Shout n, for the LORD hath given you the city.

n To testifie your faith in Gods promise, and thankfulness for this glorious mercy, and to encourage your selves and Brethren, and to strike a terrour into your Enemies.

17 And the City shall be † accursed o, even it, and all that are therein, to the LORD p: only Rahab the harlot shall live, she, and all that are with her in the house, because * she hid the messengers that we sent. † Or, devoted. * Chap. 2. 4.

o (i. e.) Devoted to utter Destruction, Levit. 27. 28, 29. Deut. 13. 15. This he spake by instinct or direction from God, as is evident from 1 King. 16. 34. p Partly because the first-fruits were appropriated to God; partly left the soldiers being gratified with the spoil of this rich City, should grow sensual and sluggish in their work; and partly to strike the greater terrour into the rest of their Enemies.

18 And ye † in any wise keep your selves from the accursed thing, lest ye make your selves accursed, when ye take of the accursed thing, and make the camp of Israel a curse q, and trouble it. † Heb. keep your selves.

q By provoking God to punish them for your sin, in which they may be one way or other involved; or at least upon the occasion of your sin; for to speak properly, God will not (the case of Adoni-bezek only excepted) punish one man for the sin of another, as he hath oft declared; but the whole Camp having sins of their own, God might take what occasion he saw fit to inflict this Punishment.

19 But all the silver, and gold, and vessels of brass and iron r, are † consecrated unto the LORD s: they shall come into the treasury of the LORD. † Heb. holiness.

r Except that of which Images were made, which were to be utterly destroyed, Exod. 32. 20. Deut. 7. 25. s Being first made to pass through the fire, Numb. 31. 22, 23. † To be employed wholly for the Service and use of the Tabernacle, nor to be applied to the use of any private person or Priest.

20 So the people shouted when the Priests blew with the Trumpets: and it came to pass when the people heard the sound of the Trumpet, and the people shouted with a great shout, that * the wall fell down † flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight † Heb. under it. before him, and they took the City. * Heb. it.

21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the City, both man and woman, young and old t, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword.

t Being commanded to do so by the Sovereign Lord of every mans life; and being informed by God before that the Canaanites were abominably wicked, and deserved the severest Punishments. As for the Infants; they were guilty of Original sin, and otherwise at the disposal of their Creator, as the clay is in the hands of the Potter; but if they had been wholly innocent, it was a great favour to them to take them away in infancy, rather than reserve them to those dreadful Calamities which those who survived them, were liable to.

22 But Joshua had said unto the two men that had spied out the country, Go into the harlots house x, and bring out thence the woman, and all that she hath, * as ye sware unto her. * Chap. 2. 14. Heb. 11. 31.

x Which together with the wall upon which it leaned, was left standing, either by a special favour of God to her, or for the reason alledged upon v. 5.

23 And the young men that were spies, went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father, and her mother, and her brethren, and all that she had: and they brought out all her † kindred, and left them without the camp of Israel. † Heb. families.

y Till they were cleansed from the impurities of their Gentile state, and instructed in the Jewish Religion, and solemnly admitted into that Church in the usual way, to which Rahabs good Counsel and Example had doubtless very much prepared them; and this stupendious work of God confirmed their purposes.

24 And they burnt the city with fire, and all that was therein: only the silver, and the gold, and the vessels of brass, and of iron, they put into the treasury of the house of the LORD.

25 And Joshua saved Rahab the harlot alive z, and her fathers household, and all that she had: and she dwelleth in Israel even unto this day, because she hid the messengers which Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

z For that general command of rooting out the Canaanites seems to have had some exception, in case any of them had sincerely and seasonably cast off their Idolatry and Wickedness, and submitted themselves to the Israelites, as we shall see hereafter.

26 ¶ And Joshua adjured them a at that time, saying, * Cursed be the man before the LORD b, that riseth up and buildeth c this city Jericho, he shall lay the foundation thereof in his first-born, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it d. * 1 King. 16. 34.

a Or, made them to swear; caused the people, or some in the name of all, to swear for the present and succeeding Generations, and to confirm their Oath by a Curse. b (i. e.) from Gods presence, and by his sentence, as they are said to cast lots before the Lord, Josh. 18. 8, 10. i. e. expecting the Decision from God. He insinuates, that he doth not utter this in a Passion, or upon a particular dislike of that place, but by divine Inspiration, as appears from 1 King. 16. 34. God would have the Ruines of this City remain as a standing Monument of Gods Justice against this wicked and idolatrous People, and of his Almighty Power in destroying so great and strong a City by such contemptible means. c (i. e.) That shall attempt or endeavour to build it. So this Curse is restrained to the Builder, but no way belongs to those who should inhabit it after it was built, as is evident from 2 King. 4. 38. Luke 10. 1. 5. d (i. e.) He shall lose all his Children in the work, the first at the beginning, others in the progress of it by degrees, and the youngest in the close of it, when the Gates use to be set up. This was fulfilled, 1 King. 16. 34.

27 So the Lord was with Joshua, and his fame was noised throughout all the country.

CHAP. VII.

Achan takes of the accursed and devoted thing: God is angry with Israel, 1. Joshua sends 3000 men against Ai: they flie and 36 are slain, 2—5. Joshua complains to God: who discovers the cause, and chideth him, 6—15. Achan is found guilty: Joshua's Advice and his Confession, 16—21. He and his are stoned and burnt: The place named the valley of Achor, 22—26.

1 BUT the children of Israel a committed a trespass in the accursed thing b: for * Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, c the son of Zerah d of the tribe of Judah, took of the accursed thing: and the anger of the LORD was kindled against the children of Israel e. * Chap. 22. 20. 1 Chron. 2. 7.

a (i. e.) One of them, by a very usual Synecdoche or Enallage as Gen. 8. 4. and 19. 29. and Mat. 26. 8. where that is inferred to the Disciples, which belonged to Judas only. John 12. 4. b (i. e.) In taking some of the forbidden and accursed goods. c Called, also Zimri, 1 Chron. 2. 6. d Or, Zarah, who was Judah's immediate Son, Gen. 38. 30. who went with Judah into Egypt and so for the filling up the 216 years that are supposed to come between that and this time, we must allow Achan to be now an Old-man, and his three Ancestors to have begotten each his Son at about 60. years of Age; which at that time was not incredible nor unusual. e Why did God punish the whole Society for this one mans sin? Ans. All of them were punished for their own sins, whereof each had a sufficient proportion; but God took this occasion to inflict the punishment upon the Society, partly because divers of them might be guilty of this sin, either by coveting what he actually did, or by concealing of his fault, which it is probable could not be unknown to others; or by not sorrowing for it, and endeavouring to purge themselves from it: partly to make fin the more hateful; as being the cause of such dreadful and publick Judgments: and partly to oblige all the members of every Society to be both more circumspect in the ordering of their own actions; and more diligent to watch over one another, and to prevent the miscarriages of their Brethren, which is a great benefit and blessing to them, and to the whole Society, and worthy to be purchased by a sharp affliction upon the Society.

2 And Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai f, which is beside g Beth-aven h, on the east side of Bethel, and spake unto them, saying, Go up and view the country. And the men went up and viewed Ai.

f Called Hai, Gen. 12. 8. and Aiath, Nehem. 11. 31. They were not to go into the City of Ai, but into the Country bordering and belonging to it, and there to understand the state and quality of the place and people. g So the Hebrew min is used, Gen. 24. 11. and 35. 4. Jonah. 9. 6. and 48. 13. and 19. 11. h A City or Town distinct from, but nigh unto Bethel, though Bethel was afterwards by allusion called Bethaven, Hos. 4. 15. and 10. 5. Compare Jos. 18. 12. i Compare Gen. 12. 8. Jos. 8. 9, 12.

3 And they returned to Joshua, and said unto him, Let not all the people go up; but let † about two or three thousand men go up k, and smite Ai, and make not all the people to labour thither, for they are but few. † Heb. about two thousand men, or about three thousand men.

k Which was done by the Wise contrivance of Divine Providence, that their Sin might be punished, and they awakened and reformed with as little hazard, and mischief, and reproach, as might be: For if the Defeat of these caused so great a consternation in Joshua, it is easie to guess what dread, and confusion, and despair, it would have caused in the People, if a great Host had been defeated.

4 So there went up thither of the people, about three thousand men, and they fled l before the men of Ai.

l Not having their usual Courage to strike a stroke, which was a plain Evidence that God had forsaken them; and an useful instruction, to shew them what weak and inconsiderable Creatures they were when God left them; and that it was God, not their own valour, that gave the Canaanites and their Land into their hands.

5 And the men of Ai smote of them about thirty and six men m: for they chased them from before the gate, even unto Shebarim, and smote them in the † going down n: wherefore the heart of the people melted, and became as water o.

m A dear Victory to them, whereby Israel was awakened, and reformed, and reconciled to their God and Shield, and they hardned to their own ruine. n By which it seems it was a down-hill way to Jericho, which was nearer Jordan. o Soft and weak, and full of fluctuation and trembling.

6 ¶ And Joshua rent his Clothes p, and fell to the earth upon his face q, before the Ark of the LORD, until the even-tide r, he, and the Elders of Israel, and put dust upon their heads s.

p In Testimony of great Sorrow, as Gen. 37. 34. and 44. 13. for the loss feit, the consequent mischief feared, and the sin which he suspected. q In deep humiliation and fervent supplication. r Continuing the whole day in Fasting and Prayer. s As was usual in case of grief and astonishment, 1 Sam. 4. 12. 2 Sam. 1. 2. and 13. 19. Jos. 3. 6. Mich. 1. 10.

7 And Joshua said, Alas, O LORD GOD; wherefore hast thou at all brought this people over Jordan t, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorite to destroy us? would to God we had been content, and dwelt on the other side Jordan.

t This and the following Clause, though well intended, and offered to God only by way of Expostulation and Arguiment, yet do favour of Humane Infirmity, and fall short of that reverence, and modesty, and submission, which he owed to God; and are mentioned as instances that the Holy men of God were subject to like passions and infirmities with other men.

8 O LORD, what shall I say u, when Israel x turneth their † backs before their Enemies?

u In answer to the reproaches cast by our insulting Enemies upon us, and upon thy name. x Gods own people, which he hath singled out of all Nations for his own peculiar.

9 For the Canaanite, and all the inhabitants of the land shall hear of it, and shall environ us round, and cut off our name from the earth: and what wilt thou do unto thy great Name y?

y Which will upon this occasion be Blasphemed and charged with inconstancy, unkindness, and unfaithfulness to thine own people, and with inability to resist them, or to do thy people that good thou didst intend them. Compare Exod. 32. 12. Numb. 14. 13. Deut. 33. 27. Jud 2. 17.

10 ¶ And the Lord said unto Joshua, Get thee up; wherefore † liest thou thus upon thy face z?

z This business is not to be done by unactive Supplication, but by vigorous endeavours for reformation.

11 Israel a hath sinned, and they have also transgressed my covenant b which I commanded them: for they have even taken of the accursed thing c, and have also stollen d, and dissembled e also, and they have put it even amongst their own stuff f.

a Some or one of them, as before on v. 1. b (i. e.) Broken the conditions of my Covenant which I have commanded them, and they have promised to perform, viz. Obedience to all my Commands, Exod. 19. 8. and 24. 7. whereof this was one, not to meddle with the accursed thing. c Which I charged them not to meddle with. d (i. e.) Taken my portion which I had reserved, Jos. 6. 19. e Covered the fact with deep dissimulation, and a real, if not verbal profession of their innocency. Possibly Achan might be suspected, and being accused, had denied it, or was resolved to deny it. f Converted it to their own use, and added obstinacy and resolvedness to the crime; thus he leads this Sin with divers aggravations.

12 Therefore the children of Israel could not stand before their enemies, but turned their backs before their enemies, because they were accursed g, neither will I be with you any more, except ye destroy the accursed person from among you.

g As I warned and threatened them, Jos. 6. 18. they have put themselves out of my Protection and Blessing, and therefore are liable to the same destruction which belongs to this accursed People.

13 Up, sanctifie the people, and say, Sanctifie your selves h against to morrow: for thus saith the LORD God of Israel, There is an accursed thing in the midst of thee, O Israel: thou canst not stand before thine enemies, until ye take away the accursed thing from among you.

h Purifie your selves from that defilement which you have all in some sort contracted by this accursed fact, and prepare your selves to appear before the Lord, as it is most probable they were required to do; as imploring and expecting the Sentence of God for the Discovery and Punishment of the Sin, and that the guilty person might hereby be awakened and terrified, and brought to a free and Testionable confession of his fault. And it is a marvellous thing that Achan did not on this occasion acknowledge his Crime; but this is to be imputed to the heart-hardening power of Sin, which makes men grow worse and worse; partly to his Pride, being loath to take to himself the shame of such a mischievous and infamous action; partly to his self-flattering and vain conceit, whereby he might think many others were guilty as well as he, and some of them might be taken, and he escape; and partly to the just judgment of God, whereby he blinds and hardens Sinners to their own ruine. See a like instance, Mat. 26. 21, 22, 25.

14 In the morning therefore ye shall be brought according to your tribes: and it shall be that the tribe which the LORD taketh by shall come according to the families thereof: and the family which the LORD shall take, shall come by households: and the households which the LORD shall take, shall come man by man.

i Which shall be discovered or declared guilty by the Lot, which is disposed by the Lord, Prov. 16. 33. and which was to be cast in the Lords Presence before the Ark. Of such use of Lots, see 1 Sam. 14. 41, 42. Jon. 1. 7. Act. 1. 26.

15 And it shall be, that he that is taken with the accursed thing, shall be burnt with fire k, he and all that he hath l: because he hath transgressed the covenant of the LORD, and because he hath wrought † folly m in Israel n.

k As persons and things accursed were to be. See Numb. 15. 30, 35. Deut. 13. 16. l His Children and Goods, as is noted, v. 24. according to the Law, Deut. 13. 16. m So Sin is oft called in Scripture, as Gen. 34. 7. Judg. 20. 6. &c. in opposition to the idle opinion of sinners, who commonly esteem it to be their wisdom and interest. n (i. e.) Among the Church and people of God who hid such excellent Laws to direct them, and such an All-sufficient and gracious God to provide for them, without any such indirect and unworthy practices.

16 ¶ So Joshua rose up early in the morning, and brought Israel by their tribes, and the tribe of Judah was taken.

17 And he brought the family o of Judah, and he took the family of the Zarhites: and he brought the family of the Zarhites, man by man p, and Zabdi was taken.

o Either, 1. the Tribe or people, as the word Family sometimes signifies, as Judg. 13. 2. Zech. 12. 13. Amos 3. 1. Act. 3. 25. compared with Revel. 1. 7. Or, 2. the Families, as v. 14. the singular Number for the plural, the chief of each of their five Families, Numb. 26. 20, 21. p Not every individual person, as is evident from v. 18. but every Head of the several Houses, or lesser Families of that greater Family of the Zarhites, of which see 1 Chron. 2. 6.

18 And he q brought his houshold, man by man, and Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah was taken.

q Either Joshua, or Zabdi by Joshua's appointment.

19 And Joshua said unto Achan, My son r give, I pray thee, glory to the LORD God of Israel s, and † make confession unto him, and tell me now what thou hast done; hide it not from me.

r So he calls him, to shew, that this severe Inquisition and Sentence did not proceed from any hatred to his person, which he loved as a Father doth his Son, and as a Prince ought to do each of his Subjects. s As thou hast highly dishonoured him, now take the shame and blame to thy self, and ascribe unto God the Glory of his Omniscience in knowing thy sin, of his Justice in punishing it in thee, and others for thy sake; of his Omnipotency, which was obstructed by thee; and of his Kindness and Faithfulness to his people, which was eclipsed by thy Wickedness; all which will now be evident by thy sin confessed and punished.

20 And Achan answered Joshua, and said, Indeed, I have sinned t against the LORD u God of Israel x, and thus and thus have I done.

t He seems to make a sincere and ingenuous Confession, and loads his sin with all just Aggravations. u Against his express Command, and just Rights, and glorious Attributes. x The true God, who hath chosen me and all Israel to be the people of his peculiar love and care.

21 When I saw y among the spoil a goodly Babylonish garment z, and two hundred shekels a of silver, and a † wedge of gold, of fifty shekels weight; then I † coveted them, and took them, and behold, they are hid in the earth in the midst of my tent, and the silver under it b.

y He accurately describes the progress of his sin, which began at his eye, which he permitted to gaze and fix upon them, which inflamed his desire, and made him covet them; and that desire put him upon Action, and made him take them; and having taken, resolve to keep them; and to that end hide them in his Tent. z Which were composed with great art with divers Colours, and of great price, as appears both from Scripture, Ezek. 23. 15. and from divers Heathen Authors. [See my Latin Synopsis] a To wit, in Weight, not in Coin; for as yet they received and payed Money by weight. b (i. e.) Under the Babylonish Garment; covered with it, or wrapt up in it.

22 So Joshua sent messengers c, and they ran d unto the tent, and behold, it e was hid in his tent, and the silver under it.

c That the truth of his Confession might be evident and unquestionable, which some, peradventure might think was forced from him. d Partly longing to free themselves and all the people from the Curse under which they lay: and partly that none of Achans Relations or others might get thither before them, and take away those things. e (i. e.) The parcel of things mentioned, v. 21. and 24.

23 And they took them out of the midst of the tent, and brought them unto Joshua, and unto all the children of Israel, and † laid them out before the LORD f.

f Where Joshua and the Elders continued yet in their Assembly waiting for the issue of this business.

24 And Joshua, and all Israel with him, took Achan the son of Zereh, and the silver, and the garment, and the wedge of gold, and his sons, and his daughters g, and his oxen, and his asses, and his sheep h, and his tent, and all that he had: and they brought them unto the valley of Achor.

g But this seems hard and unjust, and therefore forbidden by God himself, Deut 24. 16. Ans. 1. That Law was given to men, not to God, who certainly hath a more absolute Right and Sovereignty over men, than one man hath over another. 2. Their Death was a Debt they owed to nature and to their own sins, which Debt God may require when he pleaseth; and he could not take it in more honourable and excellent Circumstances than these, That the death of a very few in the beginning of a new Empire, and of their settlement in the land, might be useful to prevent the death of many thousands who took warning by this dreadful Example, whom, if the fear of God did not, yet the love of their own, and of their dear Childrens lives would restrain from such dangerous and pernicious practices. 3. It is very probable they were conscious of the fact, as the Jewish Doctors affirm. If it be pretended that some of them were Infants; the Text doth not say so, but only calls them Sons and Daughters. And considering that Achan was an old man, as is most probable, because he was the fifth person from Judah, (of which see on v. 1.) it seems most likely, that the Children were grown up, and so capable of knowing, and concealing, or discovering this Fact. Nor doth it follow, that they were not guilty, because it is not said so; for it is apparent, that many Circumstances are omitted in divers historical Relations in Scripture, which sometimes are supplied in other places. h Which, though not capable of sin, nor of punishment properly so called, yet as they were made for mans use, so they are rightly destroyed for mans good; and being daily killed for our bodily food, it cannot seem strange to kill them for the Instruction of our minds, that hereby we might learn the detestable and contagious nature of sin, which involves innocent Creatures in its Plagues; and how much more Punishments are referred for man, who having a Law given to him, and that excellent gift of Reason and Will to restrain him from the Transgressions of it, his guilt must needs be unspeakably greater, and therefore his sufferings more severe and terrible. Further, by this enumeration it appears, that he had no colour of necessity to induce him to this Fact, but was wholly inexcusable.

25 And Joshua said, Why hast thou troubled us? the LORD shall trouble thee this day. And all Israel stoned him with stones i, and burned them with fire, after they had stoned them with stones k.

i And burned him with fire; which is easily understood both out of the following words, and from Gods Command to do so, v. 15. which doubtless was here executed. k Qu. How could both these Deaths be inflicted upon them? Ans. It seems they were stoned to death, which was the Punishment of such Offenders, Lev. 24. 14. Numb. 15. 35. and not burned to death; and therefore the stoning only of Achan is mentioned here, and not his burning: and God would have their dead Carkasses burned to shew his utmost Detestation of such persons as break forth into sins of such a publick Scandal and Mischief. And for the burning of Achan commanded v. 15. it seems not likely to be meant of his burning alive, because that burning is common to him, and all that he hath, as is there expressed; but of the burning of his dead Carcass, and other lifeless things, as the manner was with accursed things, Deut. 13. 16.

26 And they raised over him a great heap of stones l unto this day: so the LORD turned from the fierceness of his anger: wherefore the name of that place was called, * the valley of † Achor m unto this day.

* Isa. 65. 10. † That is, trouble.

l As a Monument of the sin and Judgment here mentioned, that others might be instructed and warned by the Example; and as a Brand of Infamy, as Josh. 8. 29. 2 Sam. 18. 17. m Or, the valley of trouble, from the double trouble expressed v. 25.

CHAP. VIII.

God puts new courage into Joshua: commands him to go and besiege Ai, promising he should take it, 1, 2. The Stratagem whereby it is taken, 3. It is burnt, 5—22. The King is taken prisoner: The inhabitants are put to the sword: The cattel and goods spoiled: The King is hanged, 23—29. Joshua builds an Altar, 30. Offers thereon, 31. Writes the Law on Stones, 32. It and it's Blessings and Curses are read before the people, 33—35.

* Deut. 1. 21. & 7. 18. AND the LORD said unto Joshua, * Fear not, neither be thou dismayed: take all the people of war with thee a, and arise, and go up to Ai: see, I have given into thine hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land.

a Partly, to strengthen them against those fears which their late Defeat had wrought in them; and partly that all of them might be partakers of this first spoil, and thereby be encouraged to proceed in their work. The weak multitude were not to go, because they might have hindred them in the following Straitagem; and it was but fit that the Military Men who run the greatest hazards, should have the Precedency and Priviledge in the spoils.

2 And thou shalt do to Ai b and her King, as thou didst unto * Jericho and her King c: * only the spoil thereof, and the cattel thereof, shall ye take for a prey unto your selves: lay thee an ambush for the city behind it.

* Chap. 6. 21. * Deut. 20. 14.

b (i. e.) The City and people of Ai. c (i. c.) Overcome and destroy them. This was enjoyned partly to chastise their past Insolence, and the Triumphs and Blasphemies which doubtless their success produced: and partly to revive the dread and terrour which had been impressed upon the Canaanites by Jericho's ruine, and had been much abated by the late success of Ai; and to fix confidence and expectation of further and greater success much raised.

3 So Joshua arose, and all the people of war, to go up against Ai c: And Joshua chose out thirty thousand mighty men of valour, and sent them away by night.

c (i. e.) To consider and conclude about this Expedition of going against Ai; not as if all the people of war did actually go up, which was both unnecessary and burdensom, and might hinder their following design: but it seems to be resolved by Joshua and and all the Council of War, That the 30000 here following should be selected for the Enterprize. Either, 1. the 30000 now mentioned; Or, 2. part of them; to wit, such as were to lie in wait, as seems most probable both from the next verse, which limits it to those who were to lie in wait, and from v. 9. where what is here mentioned only by anticipation, is actually put in execution; and it is said of them that were sent forth, that they went to lie in ambush, and did so; and these were only 5000 men, as is expressed, v. 12. And the only inconvenience of this Exposition is, That the Pronoun Relative them, is put without, or before its Antecedent, which is left to be gathered out of the following words, which is not unusual in the Hebrew Tongue, as plainly appears from Exod. 14. 19. Numb. 18, 9. and 24. 17. Psal. 87. 1. and 105. 19. and 114. 2. Prov. 7. 8. and 14. 26.

4 And he commanded them d, saying, Behold, ye shall lie in wait against the city, even behind the city: go not very far from the city, but be ye all ready:

d The same party last spoken of v. 3. even the 5000 mentioned v. 12. This historical Narration seems obscure and intricate, and at first view to make three parties, one of 30000, v. 3. one of 5000, v. 12. which may seem to be two several Ambushes; and a third of all the people, v. 5. 11. But if it be more narrowly and considerately observed, it will appear, that there are only two parties ingaged in the taking of Ai, and but one Ambush, as plainly appears by comparing v. 9. (which manifestly speaks of that party which is mentioned v. 3.) with v. 12. which speaks only of 5000, which is justly supposed to be a part of those 30000 named v. 3. and that part which was to lie in ambush; unless we will suppose that there were two Ambushes, one of 30000, and the other of 5000, both lying in wait in the same quarter, even between Bethel and Ai, on the west side of Ai, the only place where the Ambush lay, as is said both v. 9. and 12, 13. which seems absurd and incredible. And besides, in the execution of this Command, there is mention but of one Ambush v. 12, 13, 14, 19. and they are said to consist only of 5000, v. 12. and they only take and burn the City, v. 19. so that the other supposed Ambush of 30000 is perfectly vanished and lost, and did nothing in this work; which also is very improbable. And therefore, that 30000 v. 3 are the same who are called the people, and the people of war that were with Joshua, v. 5, 11. which is pitched on the North-side of Ai, v. 11. 13. as the Ambush did on the west-side; but for any other side of the City, or a third party placed elsewhere about Ai, we read not one word; and therefore it may well be presumed there were no more imployed to take it.

5 And I, and all the people that are e with me, will approach unto the city: and it shall come to pass, when they come out against us, as at the first, that we f will flee before them.

e Or, that shall be: for at present he sent them away, v 9. but the next morning followed them, and joyned himself with them, v. 10, 11. f I and the 25000 with me.

6 (For they will come out after us) till we † have drawn them from the city; for they will say, They flee before us, as at the first: therefore we will flee before them.

7 Then ye shall rise up from the ambush f, and seize upon the city: for the LORD your God will deliver it into your hand.

f To wit, upon the signal given, of which v. 18.

8 And it shall be when ye have taken the city, that ye shall set the city on fire g: according to the commandment of the LORD shall ye do. See, I have commanded you.

g To wit, part of it, as a sign to their Brethren of their success; for the whole City was not burnt now, but afterwards; as is said v. 28.

9 Joshua therefore sent them h forth, and they went to lie in ambush, and abode between Bethel and Ai, on the west-side of Ai: but Joshua lodged that night among the people i.

h The same party designed by the Pronoun them, v. 3. of which see the Notes there. i Heb. that people, to wit, the people of war, as they are called, v. 11. to wit, the main body of that host consisting of 30000.

10 And Joshua rose up early in the morning, and numbred the people k, and went up; he, and the elders of Israel l, before the people to Ai.

k Heb. that people, not all the people of Israel; which was needless, and required more time than could now be spared; but the rest of that host of 30000, whereof 5000 were sent away; and now the remainder are numbred, partly to see whether some of them had not withdrawn themselves, taking the advantage of the night, and of the design of laying an Ambush; and partly partly that it might be evident, that this work was done without any loss of men, and thereby they might be encouraged to trust in God, and to proceed vigorously and resolutely in their work.

l Either, 1. the military Elders, the chief Commanders of his Army. But they seem to be included in the 30000. v. 3. which are supposed to be furnished and led by their several Commanders; and such persons are scarce ever called the Elders of Israel. Or rather, 2. the chief Magistrates and Rulers of Israel under Joshua, who are commonly so called; and these, I suppose, went with Joshua, and with the Army, to take care that the Cattel and the Spoil of the City, which was given by God to all Israel for a prey, v. 2, 27. might be justly and equally divided between those that went to battel, and the rest of the people, according to the Example and Prescript, Numb. 31. 27. and that they who were present and assistant in the taking of that City, might not ingross the whole to themselves, as is usual for Soldiers in those cases to do.

11 And all the people, even the people of war that were with him m, went up, and drew nigh, and came before the city, and pitched on the north-side of Ai: now there was a valley between them and Ai.

m To wit, the 30000 mentioned, v. 3. or the most of them.

12 And he took n about five thousand men, and set them to lie in ambush between Bethel, and Ai, on the west-side † of the city.

† Or, of Ai.

n Or rather, but he had taken, to wit, out of the said number of 30000, for this is added by way of Recapitulation and further Explication of what is said in general, v. 9.

13 And when they had set the people, even all the host that was on the north-side of the city, and † their liers in wait on the west of the city, Joshua went o that night into the midst of the valley p.

o To wit, accompanied with a small part of the host now mentioned, i. e. Very early in the morning, when it was yet dark, as is said in a like case, Joh. 20. 1. whence it is here called Night, though it was early in the morning, as is said, v. 10. for it seems most probable, that all was done in one Nights space, and in this manner; Joshua sends away the Ambush by night, v. 3. and lodgeth that night with 25000 men, v. 9. not far from the city. But not able nor willing to sleep all night, he rises very early, v. 10. and numbers his men, which by the help of the several Officers was quickly done, and so immediately leads them towards Ai; and while it was yet duskish or night, he goes into the midst of the valley, v. 13. and when the day dawns he is discovered by the King and people of Ai, who thereupon rose up early to fight with them, v. 14. Though others conceive this was the second night, and so the Ambush had lain hid a night and a day together. But then there might be danger of their being discovered, although that danger may seem to be the less, because Ai might be shut up, that none might go out nor come in, but by Order, and upon Necessity, because of the nearness of their Enemies, as Jericho formerly was for the same reason, Josh. 6. 1. p Which was near the City, thereby to allure them forth.

14 And it came to pass when the king of Ai saw it, that they hasted, and rose up early, and the men of the city went out against Israel to battel, he, and all his people q, at a time appointed r, before the plain s, but he wist not that there were liers in ambush against him t, behind the city.

q To wit, all his men of war, for the rest were left in Ai, v. 16.
r At a certain hour agreed upon between the King and People of Ai, and of Bethel too, who were their Confederates in this Enterprize, as it may seem from v. 16. Possibly they might appoint the same hour of the day on which they had fought against Israel with such good success, looking upon it as a lucky hour. s (i.e.) Towards or in sight of that plain or valley in which the Israelites were, that so they might put themselves in Battel-array. t The former success having made him more careless and secure, as is usual in such Cases; God also blinding his mind, and infatuating him, as he useth to do with those which he intends to destroy.

15 And Joshua and all Israel made as if they were beaten before them u, and fled by the way of the wilderness x.

u (i.e.) Fled from them, as it were for fear of a second blow: and peradventure some of them might be wounded, though none were killed; and might make that the pretence of their fleeing away. x Which lay between Ai and Jericho, whither they now seemed to flee.

16 And all the people y that were in Ai, were called together to pursue after them, and they pursued after Joshua, and were drawn away from the city.

y To wit, all that were able to bear Arms, for old men and Children were unfit for the pursuit or fight; and that they were yet left, may seem from v. 24, 25.

17 And there was not a man z left in Ai, or Bethel a, that went not out after Israel: and they left the city open, and pursued after Israel.

z To wit, fit for war. a Which, being a neighbouring City, and incouraged by the former success, had sent some Forces to assist them; and now, upon notice sent to them of the slight of their common Enemies, or upon some other signal given, which might easily be done, having been appointed before-hand, as is usual in such Cases, all their men of War join with those of Ai in the pursuit.

18 And the LORD said unto Joshua, Stretch out the spear b, that is in thy hand toward Ai, for I will give it into thine hand. And Joshua stretched out the spear that he had in his hand toward the city.

b Or, thy banner: or there might be some banner in the end of his Spear. This was prescribed and practised, either 1. for a sign to his Host present with him, to stop their flight, and make head against the pursuers: Or 2. for a signal to the liers in wait, as may seem from v. 19. who, though they were at some distance, might know this from persons whom they had set in some high and convenient places to observe Joshua's motion, and to give notice from one to another, and that speedily, as is common in such cases, until it came to the whole ambush: Or 3. as a mystical token of Gods presence and assistance with them, and of their Victory; or as a mean by Gods appointment contributing to their good success, as the like posture of Moses lifting up his hand was, Exod. 17. 11, 12. which may be the reason why he continued this posture till the Enemies were all destroyed, v. 26. whereas if it had been a signal only, it was sufficient to do it for a little while. I know no reason why all these ends might not be joined together.

19 And the ambush arose quickly out of their place, and they ran assoon as he had stretched out his hand: and they entred into the city, and took it, and hasted, and set the city c on fire.

c (i.e.) Not all of it, as appears both from v. 28. and because then they had lost that Prey which God had allowed them; but some part of it, enough to raise a smoke, and give notice to their Brethren of their success.

20 And when the men of Ai looked behind them, they saw, and behold, the smoak of the city ascended up to heaven, and they had no * power d to flee this way, or that way, and the people that fled to the wilderness, turned back upon the pursuers.

* Heb. Hand.

d Or, place, for so the Hebrew word is oft used, as Numb. 2. 17. Neh. 7. 4. Job 37. 7. Psal. 104. 25. Isa. 22. 18. and 56. 5.

21 And when Joshua and all Israel e saw that the ambush had taken the city, and that the smoak of the city ascended, then they turned again, and slew the men of Ai.

e (i.e.) All the Israelites there present, or all those who seemed to flee away before.

22 And the other f issued out of the city against them, so they were in the midst of Israel, some on this side, and some on that side, and they smote them so that they * let none of them remain or escape g.

* Deu. 7. 2.

f They who lay in Ambush. g So their late success was a real mischief to them, as being the occasion of their total ruine.

23 And the king of Ai they took alive h, and brought him to Joshua.

h Reserving him to a peculiar and more ignominious punishment, for the terror of the other Kings, who were the chief causes of all that opposition and disturbance which Israel met with in gaining the Possession of the Promised Land.

24 And it came to pass when Israel had made an end of slaying all the inhabitants of Ai, in the field, in the wilderness wherein they chased them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the sword, until they were consumed, that all the Israelites returned unto Ai, and smote it i with the edge of the sword.

i (i.e.) The inhabitants of it, the men who through age or infirmity were unfit for War, and the women, v. 25.

25 And so it was, that all that fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thousand, even all the men of Ai k.

k Not strictly, but largely so called, who were now in Ai, either as constant and settled Inhabitants, or as Sojourners and such as came to them for their help, such as being confederate with them, are esteemed as one with them; for it is evident that the men of Bethel are included in this number, v. 17. the Israelites who took this number, being unable to distinguish who belonged to the one City, and who to the other.

26 For Joshua drew not his hand back, wherewith he stretched out the spear l, until he had utterly destroyed all the inhabitants of Ai.

l Either 1. he ceased not to Fight with that Hand. Or 2. He kept his Hand and Spear in the same posture, both stretched out and lifted up, as a Sign both to encourage them, and to direct them to go on in the work. See on v. 18.

27 * Only the cattel, and the spoil of that city, Israel took for a prey unto themselves, according unto the word of the LORD, which he * commanded Joshua.

* Numb. 31. 22, 26. * Vers. 2.

28 And Joshua burnt Ai, and made it an heap for ever m, even a desolation unto this day.

m Or, for a long time, as that word oft signifies, as Gen. 6. 3. Isa. 42. 14. For that it was after some Ages rebuilt, may seem from Nehem. 11. 31. unless that were another City built near the former, there being some little difference in the name also.

29 And the king of Ai he hanged on a tree n, until even-tide: and assoon as the sun was down, Joshua commanded, that they should take his carcase down from the tree o, and cast it at the entring of the gate of the city p, and * raise thereon a great heap of stones, that remaineth unto this day. * Chap. 7. 26.

n He dealt more severely with the Kings of Canaan than with the people, partly because the abominable wickedness of of that people was not restrained and punished (as it should have been) but countenanced and encouraged by their evil examples and administrations; and partly because they were the principal Authors of the destruction of their own people, by engaging them in an obstinate opposition against the Israelites. o According to Gods command in that case, Deut. 21. 22. p Which place he chose either as most commodious, now especially when all the city with in the gate was already turned into an heap of Stones and Rubbish; or because this was the usual place of Judgment; and therefore proper to bear the monument of Gods just sentence against him, not without reflection upon that Injustice which he had been guilty of in that place.

30 Then q Joshuah built an altar r unto the LORD God of Israel into mount Ebal s.

q To wit, after the taking of Ai. For they were obliged to do this, when they were brought over Jordan into the Land of Canaan, Deut. 11. 29. and 27. 2, 3. which is not to be understood strictly, as if it were to be done the same moment or day; for it is manifest they were first to be Circumcised, and to eat the Passover, which they did, and which was the work of some days; but as soon as they had opportunity to do it, which was now when these two great Frontier Cities were taken and destroyed, and thereby the Coast cleared, and the bordering people under great consternation and confusion, that all the Israelites might securely march thither. And indeed this work was fit to be done as soon as might be, that thereby they might renew their covenant with, and profess their subjection to that God by whose help alone they could expect Success in their great and difficult enterprise. r To wit, for the Offering of Sacrifices, as appears from the following verse, and from Deut. 27. 5, 6, 7. s Why not on mount Gerizim also? Ans. because Gods Altar was to be but in one place, Deut. 12. 13, 14, and this place was appointed to be Mount Ebal, Deut. 27. 4, 5. which also seems most proper for it, that in that place whence the Curses of the Law were denounced against Sinners, there might also be the tokens and means of Grace, and Peace, and Reconciliation with God, for the removing of the Curses, and the procuring of Gods Blessing unto Sinners.

31 As Moses the servant of the LORD commanded the children of Israel, as it is written in the * book of the law of Moses, an altar of whole stones, over which no man hath lift up any iron; and they offered thereon burnt-offerings unto the LORD, and sacrificed peace-offerings.

* Exod. 20. 25. Deut. 27. 5.

32 And he wrote there upon the stones t a copy of the law of Moses u, which he wrote in the presence of the children of Israel.

t Not upon the Stones of the Altar, which were to be rough and unpolished, v. 13: but upon other Stones, smooth and plaistered, as is manifest from Deut. 27. 2. u Not certainly the whole five Books of Moses, for what Stones and time would have sufficed for this! nor the Blessings and the Curses here following, which never are nor can without great impropriety be called the Law of Moses, seeing they presuppose the Law, and the Observation or Transgression thereof, to which they belong, only as rewards of the one, and punishments of the other: but the most weighty and substantial parts of the Law, as may be gathered from the Laws which are mentioned, and to the violaters whereof the Curses are applied, Deut. 27, 15, &c. and especially the Law of the Ten Commandments.

33 And all Israel x, and their elders, and officers, and their judges stood on this side the ark, and on that side y before the priests and Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, as well the stranger, as he that was born among them: half of them over against mount Gerizim z, and half of them over against mount Ebal * as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded before, that they should bless a the people of Israel.

* Deut. 11. 29. and 27. 12.

x (i.e.) The whole congregation, old and young, male and female, as it follows, v. 35. y (i.e.) Some on one side of it, and some on the other. z These two places were in the Tribe of Ephraim, not far from Shechem, as appears both from Scripture, Deut. 11. 29, 30. and 27. 12. Judg. 9. 7. and from other Authors who lived in those parts, as Josephus and the Jewish Doctors. a Or Curse, which is easily understood out of the following verse, and from Deut. 27. 13, &c.

34 And afterward b he read c all the words of the law, the blessings and cursings d, according to all that is written in the book of the law e.

b After the Altar was built, and the Stones plaistered and writ upon. c (i.e.) He commanded the Priests or Levites to read, Deut. 27. 14. d Which words come in not by way of Explication, as if the words of the law were nothing else besides the Blessings and Curses; but by way of addition, to note that these were read over and above the words of the Law. e He saith not, according to all that was written upon those Stones, but in the Book of the Law, which shews the mistake of them that think the same things were both read and written upon these Stones.

35 There was not a word of all that Moses commanded, which Joshua read not f before all the congregation of Israel, * with the women and the little ones, and the strangers that * were conversant among them g.

* Deut. 31. 12. * Heb. walked.

f Therefore he read not the Blessings and Curses only, as some think, but the whole Law, as the manner was when all Israel, Men and Women, were Assembled together, as we read Deut. 31. 10, 11, 12. g (i.e.) Who were Proselytes, for no others can be supposed to be with them at this time.

CHAP. IX.

The Kings of Canaan hear of Joshua's exploits; consult together, and conclude to fight against Israel, 1——e. the Gibeonites feigning themselves to be of a far country, obtain a League, 3——15. The Craft is discovered; the Promise which was confirmed with an oath remains firm, 16——20. But for a punishment they are condemned to perpetual slavery, 21——27.

1 AND it came to pass when all the kings which were on this side Jordan, in the hill, and in the valley, and in all the coast of the great sea over against Lebanon, the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite and the Jebusite heard thereof:

2 That they gathered themselves together a to fight with Joshua, and with Israel with one * accord.

* Heb. Mouth.

a Not actually, as the following History shews; but they entred into a league or confederation to do this.

3 And b when the inhabitants of Gideon c heard what Joshua had done unto Jericho, and to Ai, b Or, But; for he shews that these took another and a wiser course. c A great and royal city of the Hivites, Jos. 10. 2. and 11. 19.

4 They did work wilily, and went and made as if they had been ambassadours d, and took old sacks upon their asses, and wine-bottles, old and rent, and bound up, d Sent from a far country, as they say, v. 6.

5 And old shooes and clouted upon their feet, and old garments upon them; and all the bread of their provision was dry and mouldy:

6 And they went to Joshua, unto the camp at Gilgal e, and said unto him, and to the men of Israel f, We be come from a far country: now therefore g make ye a league with us e The place of their Head-quarters. f To wit, those who used to meet in Counsel with Joshua, to whom it belonged to make Leagues, as it here follows, even the Princes of the Congregation; not the common people, as appears both from v. 15, 18, 19, 21. and from common usage of all Ambassadors, who generally deliver their message to, and treat with Princes, not people. And the Hebrew word iscb, here used, sometimes notes men of eminency and dignity. g Because we are not of this people, whom, as we are informed, you are obliged utterly to destroy; that which appeared sufficiently, by the Israelites practice in destroying the Amorites beyond Jordan, and the people of Jericho and Ai, without any allowance for Sex or Age; and by common rumour, and the report of the Israelites and other persons who dwelt among them, or had converse with them, as Rahab and all her kindred; and by the nature of the thing, because they were to possess that whole Land, and were not to mix themselves with the people of it.

7 And the men of Israel said unto the Hivite g, Peradventure ye dwell among us h, and how shall we make a league with you?

g i. e. The Gibeonites who were Hivites, Jos. 11. 19. h i. e. In this Land, and so are of that people with whom we are forbidden to make any League or Covenant, Exod. 23. 32, 33, 34. Deut. 7. 2. and 20. 15, 16.

8 And they said unto Joshua, We are thy servants i. And Joshua said unto them, Who are ye? and from whence come ye k?

i We desire a League with you upon your own terms; we are ready to accept of any conditions. k For this free and general confession of theirs gave Joshua just cause to suspect that they were of the cursed Canaanites.

9 And they said unto him, From a very far country thy servants are come, because of the Name of the LORD l thy God: for we have heard the fame of him, and all that he did in Egypt m.

l Being moved thereunto by the report of his great and glorious nature and works; so they gave them hopes that they would embrace their Religion. m They cunningly mention those things only which were done some time since, and say nothing of the dividing of Jordan, nor of the destruction of Jericho and Ai, as if they lived so far off that the fame of those things had not yet reached them.

10 And * all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites, that were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heshbon, and to Og, king of Balhan, which was at Ashtaroth.

* Num. 21. 24, 33.

11 Wherefore our Elders and all the inhabitants of our country, spake to us, saying, Take Victuals * with you for the journey, and go to meet them, and say unto them, We are your servants, therefore now make ye a league with us.

* Heb. in your hand.

12 This our bread we took hot for our provision out of our houses, on the day we came forth to go unto you: but now behold, it is dry, and it is mouldy.

* Or, they receive it like men by reason of their victuals.

13 And these bottles of wine which we filled, were new, and behold, they be rent: and these our garments and our shooes are become old, by reason of the very long journey.

14 And * the men n took of their victuals o, and asked not counsel at the mouth of the LORD p.

* Num. 27. 21.

n i. e. The Princes as before v. 7. o Not from their want or any desire they could have to such unpleasant and unwholesome food; nor in a Ceremony usual in making Leagues, for that was not now done, but in the next verse: but that they might examine the truth of what they said. p As they ought to have done upon all such weighty weighty and doubtful occasions. So they are accused of rashness and neglect of their Duty. For though it is probable, if God had been consulted, he would have consented to the sparing of the Gibeonites; yet it should have been done with more caution, and an obligation left upon them to embrace the true Religion which here was omitted.

15 And Joshua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live q: and the princes of the congregation sware unto them.

q (i. e.) That they would not destroy them. Some question whether this League was lawful and obliging, because it is contrary to a positive and precedent Law of God, by which they were enjoyned to make no peace with them, but utterly to destroy them, Exod. 23. 32. and 34. 12. &c. But this law seems to admit of some exception and favourable interpretation, and that taken from the reason and soul of that Law; which was this, that the Israelites might not be tainted with their Idolatry and other Abominations by cohabitation with them; and therefore when that reason ceased, (i. e.) if they were willing to relinquish their Possessions and Idolatry, and other wickedness, and to embrace the true Religion, they might be spared. And tho this Law was delivered in general terms, because God foresaw that the Israelites would be most prone to err on that hand, by sparing those whom they should destroy; yet that it was to be understood with an exception of Penitents, and true Converts, might easily be gathered both from the example of Rahab, and from the Tenor of Divine Threatnings, which though absolutely delivered, allow of this exception; as appears from Jer. 18. 7, 8. Jonah 3. 4. and from the great kindness and favour which God hath manifested unto all true Penitents, in delivering them from evils threatned to them, and inflicted upon others; which kindness of God we also are obliged to imitate by virtue of that natural and moral Law of God implanted in us, and revealed to us, to which such positive Commands as this of killing the Canaanites must give place. And that this League was lawful and obliging, may seem probable, 1. Because Joshua and all the Princes upon the review concluded it so to be, and spared them accordingly, v. 19, 20, 22, 23. 2. Because God punished the violation of it long after, 2 Sam. 21. 1. 3 Because God is said to have hardened the hearts of all other Cities, not to seek Peace with Israel, that so he might utterly destroy them, Jos. 11. 19, 20. which seems to imply that their utter Destruction did not necessarily come upon them by vertue of any absolute and peremptory Command of God to destroy them, but by their own obstinate hardness, whereby they neglected and refused to make peace with the Israelites. Obj. This League was grounded upon a Deceit and Errour of the Persons, which also they had entred a caution against, v. 7. Ans. Their suppoition that they were Canaanites, was indeed a part of the foregoing Discourse, v. 7. and the Israelites rested satisfied with their Answer, and believed they were not, and so entered into the League; but that League was absolute, not suspended upon that or any other condition; and the error was not about the persons, but about the country and People to which they belonged, which was not material to this Contract, no more than it is to a Contract of Marriage, that the one person believed the other to be of another Country or Family than indeed they were.

16 ¶ And it came to pass at the end of three days r, after they had made a league with them, that they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

r (i. e.) At the last of them, or upon the third day, as it is said, v. 17. so this phrase is elsewhere used, as Deut. 14. 28. and 31. 10. Or it may be properly understood, that after three days they heard this, and on the day after they heard this, they came to their Cities, as is said, v. 17.

17 And the children of Israel journeyed, and came unto their cities on the third day: now their cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth and Kirjath-jearim s.

s Which Cities were subject to Gibeon, which was the Royal City, Jos. 10. 2.

18 And the children of Israel smote them not, because the princes of the congregation had sworn unto them by the LORD God of Israel: and all the congregation murmured against the Princes t.

t Partly from that proneness which is in people to censure the actions of their Rulers; partly because they might think the Princes by their rashness had brought them into a snare, that they could neither Kill them for fear of the Oath, nor Spare them for fear of Gods Command to the contrary; and partly from their desire of the possession and spoil of these Cities, of which they thought themselves hereby deprived.

19 But all the Princes said unto all the congregation, We have sworn unto them by the LORD u God of Israel: now therefore we may not touch them x.

u They plead not the lawfulness, or the prudence of the action; but only the Obligation of an Oath; of which, though it was procured by Fraud, they perceived the people sufficiently sensible. x (i. e.) Not hurt them, as that word is oft used, as Gen. 26. 11. Psal. 105. 15. and 144. 5. or not smite them, as is said v. 18.

20 This y we will do to them: we will even let them live, lest wrath be upon us, because of the breach of the Oath which we sware unto them.

y Which follows, v. 21.

21 And the princes said unto them, Let them live (but let them be hewers of wood, and drawers of water unto all the congregation z) as the princes had * promised them a. *Ver. 15.

z i. e. Let them be publick Servants, and employed in the meanest Offices and Drudgeries (such as this was, this one kind being put for all the rest, as it is Deut. 29. 11.) for the use and benefit of the Congregation; to do this partly for the Sacrifices and Services of the House of God, as it is expressed v. 23. which otherwise the Israelites themselves must have done; partly for the Service of the Camp or Body of the people; and sometimes upon occasion, even to particular Israelites: whence they are made Bond-men, which is mentioned as a thing distinct from their service in the House of God, v. 23. And so they are in effect stripped of all their Possessions, whereby the main ground of the Peoples Quarrel was taken away. a Or, because or seeing that (as the Hebrew word sometimes signifies) the Princes (i. e. we our selves, they speak of themselves in the third person, which is very frequent in the Hebrew Language) had promised it to them, to wit, that they should live; and confirmed their promise by an Oath. So the Princes speaking here to the People, alledge the Promise or Oath of the Princes, when they met among themselves, and apart from the People. And this change of persons may possibly arise from hence, because some of the Princes who were present in the Assembly of the Princes, might now be absent upon some occasion. And this clause relates not to the next words, which are fitly enclosed within a Parenthesis, but to the foregoing clause, let them live, because the Princes have promised them their Lives.

22 And Joshua called for them, and he spake unto them, saying, Wherefore have ye beguiled us, saying, We are very far from you: when ye dwell among us?

23 Now therefore ye are cursed b, and there shall † none of you be freed from being bondmen c, and hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the house of my God d. † Heb. & there shall be cut off from you.

b You shall not escape the Curse of God which by Divine Sentence belongs to all the Canaanites, who are a People devoted by God to ruine; but only change the quality of it, you shall feel that Curse of Bondage and Servitude, which is proper to your race by vertue of that ancient decree, Gen. 9 25. you shall live indeed, but in a poor, vile and miserable condition. c The Slavery which is upon you shall be entailed to your posterity. d This only Service they mention here, because it was their principal and most durable servitude, being first in the Tabernacle, and then in the Temple, whence they were called Nethinims, 1 Chron. 9. 2. Ezra 2. 43. whereas their servitude to the whole congregation would in a great measure cease when the Israelites were dispersed to their several habitations.

24 And they answered Joshua and said, Because it was certainly told thy servants, how that the LORD thy God * commanded his servant Moses, to give you all the land, and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you, therefore we were fore afraid of our lives, because of you, and have done this thing. * Deut. 1, 8.

25 And now behold, we are in thine hand e: as it seemeth good and right unto thee to do unto us, do f.

e i. e. In thy power to use as as thou wilt. f We refer our selves to thee and thy own Piety, and Probity, and Faithfulness to thy Word and Oath; If thou wilk destroy thy humble Suppliants, we submit.

26 And so did he unto them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Israel, that they slew them not.

g So as was said, v. 23. and so as here follows.

27 And Joshua made them that day hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the congregation, and for the altar of the LORD h, even unto this day, in the place which he should chuse.

h By which it appears, that they were not only to do this Service in Gods House, but upon all other occasions, as the Congregation needed or required their help.

CHAP. X.

Five of the Kings of Canaan afraid of Joshua, are angry with the Gibeonites and wage war against them, they send to Joshua for Succours 1——6. He Rescues them, 7——10. God casts down Hail-stones upon the Enemy, 11. Joshua Prays to God and commands the Sun to stand still, which it does for the space of a day, 13——15. The five Kings hide themselves in Caves where Joshua causeth them to be shut up, afterwards to be brought forth, scornfully used and hanged, and thrown into a Cave by Makkeda, 16——27. This place taken, the King, City, and all therein are burnt; Joshua doth the same to Libnah and Lachish, 28——32. To Gezer, Eglon, Hebron, Debir, and all the Land, 33——42. Joshua returns to Gilgal, 43.

NOW it came to pass, when Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem had heard how Joshua had taken Ai, and had utterly destroyed it (* as he had done to Jericho and her king, so he had done to * Ai, and her king) and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel, and were among them a. * Chap. 6. * Chap. 8. 3.

a i. e. Were conversant with them, had yielded themselves to their disposal, submitted themselves to their Laws, had mingled interests with them.

2 That they b feared greatly, because Gibeon was a great city, as one of the † royal cities c, and because it was greater than Ai, and all the men thereof were mighty. † Heb. Cities of the Kings.

b i. e. He and his people, the King being spoken of v. 1. as a Kingdom. c He and his people, the King being spoken of v. 1. as a Kingdom. publick person representing all his people. Or, He and the following Kings, v. 3. But this fear is mentioned, v. 2. as the cause why he sent to those Kings. c Either 1. really a Royal City, the Hebrew particle Caph oft signifying the truth of a thing, as Hof. 4. 4. and 5. 10. and oft elsewhere. Or, 2. equal to one of the Royal Cities, though it had no king, but seems to be governed Aristocratically by their Elders, Jos. 9. 11.

3 Wherefore Adoni-zedec king of Jerusalem sent d, unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Piram king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhia king of Lachish, and unto Debir king of Eglon, saying, d Either because he was Superior to them in Power or Dignity, or because he was nearest the danger, and most forward in the work.

4 Come up unto me, and help me, that we may smite Gibeon: for it hath made peace with Joshua, and with the children of Israel.

5 Therefore the five kings of the Amorites e, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon gathered themselves together and went up, they, and all their hosts, and encamped before Gibeon, and made war against it.

e This name being here taken largely or generally for any of the Canaanites, as is frequent; for to speak strictly, the Citizens of Hebron here mentioned, v. 3. were Hittites; thus the Gibeonites, who were Hivvites, Jos. 11. 19. are called Amorites, 2 Sam. 21. 2. It is reasonably supposed, that the Amorites being numerous and victorious beyond Jordan, did pour forth Colonies or Forces into the land of Canaan, and there subdued divers places, and so communicated their name to all the rest.

6 ¶ And the men of Gibeon sent f unto Joshua to the camp to Gilgal, saying, Slack not thy hand g from thy servants h, come up to us quickly, and save us, and help us: for all the kings of the Amorites, that dwell in the mountains i, are gathered together against us.

f Or, had sent, when their Enemies were drawn towards them, which they could easily learn. g Do not neglect or delay to help us. h Whom thou art obliged to protect both in Duty as thou art our Master and Ruler; and by thy own Interest, we being part of thy Possessions; and in ingenuity, because we have given our selves to thee, and put our selves under thy Protection. i In the mountainous Country.

7 So Joshua ascended k from Gilgal, he, and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valour.

k Having, no doubt, asked advice of God first, which is implied by the Answer God gives to him, v. 8. l Or, even, or that is, as this particle is oft used, hath been noted before. So it seems put here by way of Explication and Restriction; having said all the people of war, he now adds, even all the mighty men, &c. i. e. an Army of the most valiant men picked out from the rest; for it is not probable, either that he would take so many hundred thousands with him, which would have hindred one another, or that he would leave the Camp without an Army to defend it.

8 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, Fear them not: for I have delivered them into thine hand; there shall not a man of them stand before thee.

9 Joshua therefore came unto them suddenly m, and went up from Gilgal all night n.

m Though assured by God of the Victory, yet he useth all prudent means, and surprizeth them. n It is not said, that he went from Gilgal to Gibeon in a nights space; but only that he travelled all night: unto which you may add part either of the foregoing, or of the following day.

10 And the LORD * † discomfited them before Israel, and slew them o with a great slaughter at Gibeon p, and chased them along the way that goeth up to Bethoron, and smote them to Azekah, and unto Makkedah. * Isa. 28. 21. † Or, terrified. So Gr.

o Or, he slew them; either God, or Israel; for Gods work is described v. 11. p Heb. in Gibeon, not in the City, but in the Territory belonging to it; as Joshua is said to be in Jericho, Josh. 5. 13.

11 And it came to pass as they fled from before Israel, and were in the going down to Bethoron, that the LORD cast down great stones q from heaven upon them unto Azekiah, and they died: They were more which died with hailstones, than they whom the children of Israel slew with the sword.

q i.e. Hailstones of extraordinary greatness and hardness, cast down with that certainty, as to hit the Canaanites, and not their Pursuers the Israelites; and with that force as to kill them. Josephus affirms, That Thunder and Lightning were mixed with the Hail, which may seem probable from Heb. 3. 11.

12 ¶ Then spake Joshua to the LORD † in the day when the LORD delivered up the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel r, * Sun † stand thou still upon Gibeon s, and thou moon in the valley u of Ajalon x. † Heb. in the day that the LORD delivered up. * Isa. 28. 21. Hab. 3. 11. Heb. be silent.

r To wit, in way of Petition for this Miracle: being moved to beg it out of zeal to destroy Gods Enemies, and directed to it by the motion of Gods Spirit, and receiving a gracious Answer, and being filled with holy Confidence of the success, he speaks the following words before the people, that they might be Witnesses of it. s (i. e.) In the presence and audience of Israel; being sometimes put for hearing, as Gen. 23. 1. compare with Act. 7. 12. Although these words may seem rather to be joyned with the following, thus, in the sight of Israel, stand still, O Sun, &c. which sense the Hebrew accents favour. t i. e. Over and above, or against Gibeon (i. e.) In that place and posture in which now it stands towards and looks upon Gibeon. Let it not go down lower; and by degrees, out of the sight of Gibeon. It may seem that the Sun was declining, and Joshua perceiving that his work was great and long, and his time but short, begs of God the lengthning out of the day, and that the Sun and moon might stop their course, and keep the place in which they now were. u Or, upon the valley; as before, upon Gibeon; the Preposition being the same there and here. x Either, 1. that Ajalon which was in the Tribe of Ephraim, Judg. 12. 12. Northward from Gibeon. Or rather, 2. that Ajalon which was in the Tribe of Dan, Josh. 19. 42. Judg. 1. 35. Westward from Gibeon. For, 1. this was nearer Gibeon than the other. 2. This was most agreeable to the course of the Sun and Moon, which is from East to West. 3. This way the battle went from Gibeon Westward to Ajalon, and so further Westward even to Lachish, v. 31. And he mentions two places, Gibeon and Ajalon, not as if the Sun stood over the one and the Moon over the other, which is absurd and ridiculous to affirm, especially these places being so near the one to the other; but partly to vary the phrase, as is common in Poetical Passages; partly because he was in his March in the Pursuit of his Enemies, to pass from Gibeon to Ajalon; and he begs that he may have the help and benefit of longer light to pursue them; and to that end that the Sun might stand still, and the Moon also; not that he needed the Moon's light when he had the Sun's; but because it was fit, either that both Sun and Moon should go, or that both should stand still to prevent Disorder and Confusion in the heavenly Bodies.

13 And the Sun stood still y, and the moon stayed, until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies z. Is not this written in the book of † Jasher? a † Or, the upright. So the Sun stood still b in the midst of heaven c, and hasted not to go down about a whole day d.

y Heb. whi silent; i. e. still, as this Phrase is commonly used, as 1 Sam. 14. 9. Psal. 4. 4. Jonah. 1. 12. the cessation of the Tongue's motion being put synecdochically for the cessation of any other Motion or Action. z i. e. Till they had utterly destroyed them, as is mentioned in the following Chapter. a Either of a man so called, or of the righteous or upright, wherein possibly the memorable Actions of worthy men were recorded, and this amongst the rest. And this Book was written and published before Joshua wrote his, and so is fitly alledged here But this, as well as some few other Historical Books, is lost, not being a Canonical Book, and therefore not preserved by the Jews with the same care as they were. b Here is no mention of the Moon, because the Suns standing was the only thing which Joshua desired and needed; and the Moons standing he desired only by accident to prevent irregularity in the motions of those celestial Lights. Some take this to be but a Poetical Phrase and Relation of the Victory, that Joshua did so many and such great things in that day, as if the Sun and Moon had stood still and given him longer time for it. But the frequent repetition, and magnificent Declaration of this wonder, manifestly confutes that fancy. That the Sun and Moon did really stand still, is affirmed Hab. 3. 11. and Sirach 46. 5, 6. And if it seem strange to any one, that so wonderful a Work observed by the whole World that there was, should not be mentioned in any Heathen Writers; he must needs be satisfied, if he considers, that it is confessed by the generality of Writers, Heathens and others, that there is no certain History or Monument of Heathen Authors of any thing done before the Trojan War, which was a thousand years after Joshua's time; and that all time before that, is called by the learned Heathens, the uncertain, unknown, or obscure time. c Not Mathematically, in the very Meridian or middle part of the Hemisphere; but morally, and with some Latitude, when it had begun a little to decline, the consideration whereof seems to have given Joshua occasion for his desire. d i. e. For the space of a whole day. Understand an artificial day between Sun-rising and Sun-setting; for that was the day which Joshua needed and desired, a day to give him light for his work.

14 And there was no day like that e, before it, or after it, that the LORD hearkned unto the voice of a man f: for the LORD fought for Israel g.

e To wit, In those parts of the World in which he here speaks, and about which the Competition is here made: vain therefore is that Objection, that the days are longer near the Northern and Southern Poles, where they are constantly longer at certain seasons, and that by the order of nature; whereas the length of this day was purely contingent, and granted by God in Answer to Joshua's Prayer, as is here added. Obj. In Hezekiah's time, and at his Prayer there was a day which may seem to have been longer; for the Sun went back two Degrees in ten hours, and then returned again ten Degrees in ten hours, and so it was 20 hours longer than a common day, and so longer than this. Ans. It is not certain, whether that each Degree designed an hour, and not rather half an hour, or a quarter, as others think; or that the Sun returned these ten Degrees as slowly as he went down before or after. Besides, it was now near Summer Solstice, when the day was longest, and about 14 hours; and that being doubled, the Artificial day was 28 hours: and because there is not the least evidence that Hezekiah's day was longer, but rather of the contrary; it is much more reasonable to believe this Scripture-allertion, than to deny or question upon meer Suppositions or idle Conjectures. f To wit, in such a manner as alter the Course of nature, and of the heavenly Bodies, that a man might have more time to pursue and destroy his Enemies. g This is added as the reason why God was so ready to answer Joshua's Petition herein, because he was engaged and resolved to fight for Israel, and that in a more than ordinary manner.

15 ¶ And Joshua returned h, and all Israel with him, unto the camp to Gilgal.

h Not immediately, or upon the same day, but after he had dispatched the matter which here follows; as appears by v. 43. where the very same words are repeated to shew, that that was the meaning of these. And they are put here to close the general discourse of the fight which began v. 10. and ends here; which being done, he particularly describes some remarkable Passages, and chiefly that of the same words.

16 But

16 But these five kings i fled, and hid themselves in a cave k at Makkedah.

i Named above, v. 3. k At a place of most secrecy or security; but there is no escaping the eye or hand of God, who here brought them into a net of their own making. l Heb. in Makkedah, not in the city, for that was not yet taken; but in the Territory of it; as in Gilgal, v. 10.

17 And it was told Joshua, saying, The five kings are found hid in a cave at Makkedah.

18 And Joshua said, Roll great stones upon the mouth of the cave, and set men by it, for to keep them.

19 And stay ye not m, but pursue after your enemies, and † smite the hindmost of them n; suffer them not to enter into their cities o; for the LORD your God hath delivered them into your hand p.

m Lose not your opportunity by your sloth or negligence. n Their rereward, all whom you can overtake. o Whereby they will recover their strength, and renew the War. p Your work will be easie, God hath already done the work to your hands.

20 And it came to pass when Joshua and the children of Israel q had made an end of slaying them with a very great slaughter, till they were consumed, that the rest which remained of them, entred into fenced cities.

q I. e. Joshua by the Children of Israel, i. e. a Party of them by the Command, Direction and Encouragement of Joshua; for Joshua himself went not with them, but abode in the Siege before Makkedah, v. 21.

21 And all the people returned to the camp r to Joshua at Makkedah in peace: s none moved his tongue against any of the children of Israel.

*Exod. 11. 7.

r The body of the Army which were encamped there with Joshua to besiege that place. s Not so much as a Dog, as it is expressed Exod. 11. 7. Nor only their men of war could not find their hands, but they were ill to confounded, that they could not move their tongues in way of Insultation and Reproach, as doubtless they did when the Israelites were repulsed and smitten at Ai; but now they were silenced as well as conquered; they durst no more provoke nor injure the Israelites.

22 Then said Joshua, Open the mouth of the cave, and bring out those five kings unto me out of the cave.

23 And they did so, and brought forth those five kings unto him out of the cave, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon.

24 And it came to pass when they brought out those kings unto Joshua, that Joshua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the captains of the men of war which went with him, Come near, put your feet upon the necks of these kings. And they came near, and put their feet upon the necks of them.

25 And Joshua said unto them, Fear not, nor be dismayed, be strong, and of good courage: for thus shall the LORD do to all your enemies against whom ye fight.

t This he did not from Pride and Contempt of their Dignity in it self, but partly as a punishment of their impious Rebellion against their Sovereign Lord; partly in pursuance of that Curse of Servitude due to all this people, Gen. 9. 25. partly, as a token to assure his Captains, that God would subdue the proudest of them all under their feet; and partly to oblige and teach his people severely to execute the Judgment of God upon them, and not to spare any of them, either out of a foolish Pity, or out of respect to their Dignity, as Saul afterwards spared Agag to his own ruine.

26 And afterward Joshua smote them, and slew them, and hanged them u on five trees: and they were hanging upon the trees * until the evening.

* Chap. 8. 29.

u After they were dead as a brand of Infamy, and for the Terror and Instruction of others.

27 And it came to pass at the time of the going down of the sun, that Joshua commanded, and they x took them down off the trees, and cast them into the cave wherein they had been hid, and laid great stones in the cave's mouth y, which remain until this very day.

*Deut. 21. 23. chap. 8. 29.

x That neither wild beasts could come at them to devour them, nor any of their people to give them honourable Burial.

28 ¶ And that day z Joshua took Makkedah, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof he utterly destroyed; them, and all the souls that were therein, he let none remain: and he did to the king of Makkedah, * as he did unto the king of Jericho a.

* Chap. 6. 21.

y On which the Sun stood still, or on which the five Kings were hanged. Nor is it strange that so much work was done, and places so far distant, taken in one day, when the day was so long, and the Canaanites struck with such a terror. z Who was hanged, or otherwise killed, as appears from Josh. 6. 2.

29 Then Joshua passed down from Makkedah, and all Israel b with him, unto Libnah c, and fought against Libnah.

a To wit, who were with him in this Expedition. b A City of Judah, Josh. 15. 42.

30 And the LORD delivered it also, and the king thereof, into the hand of Israel, and he smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls c that were therein; he let none remain in it, but did unto the king thereof, as he did unto the king of Jericho.

c i. e. The human Souls; for all the Cattel they had for a prey.

31 ¶ And Joshua passed from Libnah, and all Israel with him, unto Lachish, and encamped against it, and fought against it.

32 And the LORD delivered Lachish into the hand of Israel, which took it on the second day d, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein, according to allthe that had done to Libnah.

d Either the day after his first laying of the Siege; or, after the taking of Makkedah and Libnah.

33 ¶ Then Horam king of Gezer e came up to help Lachish, and Joshua smote him and his people, until he had left him none remaining.

e Either that in Ephraim, of which Josh. 16. 3. Judg. 1. 29. But that seems too remote from the other places; or rather, that in Judah, which was near Lachish, 1 Chron. 14. 16. whose King therefore was more capable, and more obliged to help them for his own sake.

34 ¶ And from Lachish Joshua passed unto Eglon f, and all Israel with him, and they encamped against it, and fought against it:

f A City of Judah, Josh. 15. 39.

35 And they took it on that day g, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein, he utterly destroyed that day, according to all he had done to Lachish.

g On which they first attempted it.

36 And Joshua went up from Eglon, and all Israel with him unto Hebron h, and they fought against it.

h Which though they took and killed all its inhabitants, yet they did not keep it, and therefore when Joshua and his Army had forsaken it, and were returned to Gilgal, it seems the Giants and other Canaanites being burnt out, or driven away from their former seats, planted and fortified themselves there; which made it necessary for Caleb to take it a second time, as is recorded Josh. 15. 14. Judg. 1. 10. On this is the same Story, and the same Conquest of Hebron which is here generally related, and afterwards repeated, and more particularly described, Josh. 15. 13, 14.

37 And they took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof i, and all the cities thereof k, and all the souls that were therein; he left none remaining, according to all he had done to Eglon: but it destroyed it utterly, and all the souls that were therein.

this not.

i Either him mentioned before, vi. 23. whose death is here recounted in this account of the general Destruction of all the Inhabitants of it: that place not his Heir or Successor. k Which were subject to its Jurisdiction; this king, it seems, a Royal City as was, v. 2. and having Cities under it as that had, Josh. 15. 17.

Or, recounted.

38 And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to Debir l, and fought against it.

l Here said to return thither, not as if he had been there before, but because having gone as far Westward and Southward, as he thought fit, even as far as Gaza, v. 41. he now returned towards Gilgal, which lay Northward and Eastward from him, and in his return fell upon Debir, for so Josh. 15. 15.

39 And he took it, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof, and they smote them with the edge of the sword, and utterly destroyed all the souls that were therein, he left none remaining: as he had done to Hebron, so he did to Debir, and to the king thereof, as he had done also to Libnah, and to her king.

40 ¶ So Joshua smote all the country of the hills, and of the south, and of the vale, and of the springs, and all their kings: he left none remaining, but utterly destroyed * all that breathed m, as the LORD God of Israel * commanded.

Heb. any breath. Deut. 20. 16.

m i. e. All mankind, by a Synecdoche; for they reserved the Cattel for their own uses. n This is added for the Vindication of the Israelites, whom God would not have to suffer in their Reputation for executing his Commands, and therefore he acquits them of that implacable hatred and heinous cruelty, which they might be thought guilty of, and ascribes it to himself and his own just Indignation against this most wicked people.

41 And Joshua smote them from Kadesh-barnea o, even unto Gaza p, and all the country of * Goshen q, even unto Gibeon.

Or, Land of Rakkah.

o Which lay in the South of Canaan, Numb. 34. 4. Deut. 1. 19. Josh. 15. 3. p Which was in the South-west of Canaan. So he here signifies, that Joshua did in this expedition subdue all those parts which lay South and West from Gilgal. q Not that Goshen in Egypt, but another in Judah, Josh. 15. 16. and 15. 51.

42 And all these kings and their land did Joshua take at one time, because the LORD God of Israel fought for Israel.

43 And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, unto the camp to Gilgal.

CHAP. XI.

The other Kings and Cities of Canaan gather themselves together to fight against Israel, 1—5. God encourages Joshua, promising him Victory, 6. The Canaanites destroyed, their Cities taken and burnt: Hazor: The Enakims; 7—20. those in Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod excepted, 21—23.

1 AND it came to pass when Jabin king of Hazor a had heard those things b, that he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron c, and to the king of Achshaph d, a The chief City of all those parts, v. 10. b This was a remarkable instance of the Wisdom and Goodness of Divine Providence, which so governed the minds and hearts of the Canaanites, that they were not at all united under one King, but divided amongst many petty Kings; and next, that these did not all unanimously join their Counsels and Forces together to oppose the Israelites at their first entrance, which their own Wisdom and Interest obliged them to do, but quietly suffered the destruction of their Brethren, thereby preparing the way for their own. c Called Shimronmeron, Josh. 12. 20. d A place in the Tribe of Asser, the furthest part of the land toward the North and West.

2 And to the kings that were on the north of the mountains e, and of the plains, south of Cinneroth f, and in the vale, and in the borders of Dor g, on the west, e Heb. on the North, (which may be the general designation of all the particular places following, that they were in the Northern parts of Canaan, as those mentioned Josh. 10. were in the Southern parts) in the mountain, either in or near the famous mountain of Lebanon, called the Mountain by way of eminency; or in the mountainous Country. f Heb. in the plain lying Southward from Ginnereth, or the Lake of Genesareth; See Deut. 3. 17. Luke 5. 1. g A place upon the coast of the Midland-sea.

3 And to the Canaanite on the east, and on the west h, and to the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Jebusite in the mountains, and to the Hivite under Hermon i, in the land of Mizpeh k.

h The Canaanites properly so called, lived part of them on the East near Jordan, and part on the West near the Sea, and both are here united. i That dwelt under Mount Hermon in the North of Canaan, whereby they are differenced from those Hivites who lived in Gibeon, of which before. k That Mizpeh which was in the Northern part of Gilgal, of which Gen. 31. 49. Judg. 11. 29. But there were other Cities called by that name, which signifying a Watching-place, might be easily applied to several places of good prospect. Besides this, there is one Mizpeh of Judah, Josh. 15. 38. another of Benjamin, Josh. 18. 26. a third in Moab, 1 Sam. 22. 3.

4 And they went out, they, and all their hosts with them, much people, even as the sand that is upon the sea shore in multitude, with horses and chariots very many.

† Heb. assembled by appointment.

5 And when all these kings were † met together, they came and pitched together at the waters of Merom l, to fight against Israel.

l A lake made by the River Jordan in the Northern part of it, which was in the Territory of the King of Schimron, or Schimronmeron, and near Hazor, Tabini royal City, and almost in the middle of those confederate Kings.

6 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, Be not afraid because of them: for to morrow about this time will I deliver them up all slain before Israel: thou shalt hough their horses m, and burn their chariots with fire.

m (i. e.) Cut their Hamstrings that they may be unfit for War. For God forbad them to have, or keep many Horses, Deut. 17. 16. now especially, that they might not trust to their Horses, as men are apt to do, nor distrust God for want of so necessary an help in Battel; nor ascribe the Conquest of the land to their own strength, but wholly to God, by whose power alone a company of raw and unexperienced Footmen were able to subdue so potent a people, which besides their great Numbers, and Giants, and walled Cities, had the advantage of many thousands of Horse and Chariots.

7 So Joshua came, and all the people of war with him, against them by the waters of Merom suddenly n, and they fell upon them.

n When they least expected them, intending there to refresh, and prepare, and order themselves for the offensive War which they designed.

8 And the LORD delivered them into the hand of Israel, who smote them, and chased them unto † great Zidon o, and unto † Misrephoth-maim p, and unto the valley of Mizpeh q eastward, and they smote them, until they left them none remaining.

Or, Zidon the great.

Heb. boilings of waters.

o A great and famous City in the Northwest part of Canaan, and upon the Sea. p A place not far from Zidon, supposed to be so called from the Salt or Glass which they made there. q Under Mount Hermon, as appears by comparing this with v. 3. and 17. where it seems to be called the valley of Lebanon. This lay on the East, as Sidon did on the West; and so it seems they fled several ways, and the Israelites also divided themselves into two Bodies, one pursuing East, and the other West.

9 And Joshua did unto them, as the LORD bade him: he houghed their horses, and burnt their chariots with fire.

10 ¶ And Joshua at that time turned back, and took Hazor, and smote the king thereof r with the sword: for Hazor before time was the head of all those kingdoms s.

r Either in the former Battel, though it be mentioned here: or rather, in his Royal City, to which he fled out of the Battel. s Not of all Canaan, but of all those who were confederate with him in this Expedition.

11 And they smote all the souls that were therein with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying them: there was not * any t left to breathe, and he burnt Hazor with fire.

* Heb. any breath.

t (i. e.) No Humane Person.

12 And all the cities of those kings, and all the kings of them did Joshua take, and smote them with the edge of the sword, and he utterly destroyed them, * as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded.

* Numb. 33. 52. Deut. 7. 2. and 20.

13 But as for the cities that stood still † in their strength u, Israel burned none of them, save Hazor only x, that did Joshua burn y.

† Heb. on their heap.

u Heb. with (for so this Preposition is oft used, as Exod. 35. 12. Levit. 2. 2. Ezek. 16. 37. &c.) their Fence or Fences, Walls or Bulwarks, i. e. which were not utterly ruined together with their Walls in the taking of them. x Which though taken by the Israelites, was not so much destroyed as other places were. y Because this City began the War, and being the chief and Royal City, might renew the War if the Canaanites should ever seize upon it.

14 And all the spoil of these cities, and the cattel, the children of Israel took for a prey unto themselves: but every man they smote with the edge of the sword, until they had destroyed them, neither left they any to breathe.

15 ¶ * As the LORD commanded Moses his servant, so * did Moses command Joshua, and so did Joshua, † he left nothing undone of all that the LORD commanded Moses.

* Exod. 34. 11. * Deut. 7. 2. † Heb. he removed nothing.

16 So Joshua took all that land z, the hill a, and all the south country b, and all the land of Goshen c, and the vale d, and the plain e, and the mountain of Israel f and the vale of the same g:

z Of Canaan, whose parts here follow. a Or, the Mountain, i. e. the Mountainous Country, to wit, of Judea, as may seem, 1. Because in the following enumeration he begins in the South parts, where there was an eminent Mountain, Numbi 13. 17. 2. Because a considerable part of Judea was called the Hills or the Mountainous Country, Luke 1. 39, 65. which is not likely to be omitted in the particular description of the Land; the rather because Hebron, one of the places taken by Joshua, chap. 10. 36, 37. was in the mountain of Judah, Jos. 20. 7. 3. Because this is here distinguished from the Mountain of Israel, and therefore most likely to be the Mountain of Judah, especially if you compare this with v. 21. where having mentioned the Mountain in general, from which Joshua cut off the Anakims, he comes to particularize, and names only two, all the Mountain of Judah, and all the Mountain of Israel. b (i. e.) Not only the Mountainous part, but all the Country of Judea, which lay in the Southern part of Canaan, and oft comes under the name of the South, as Numb. 13. 29. and 21. 1. Jos. 10. 40. and 12. 8. c, d, e. Of which see Jos. 10. 41. f The low Countries. g The Fields or Champion grounds. f Either some one particular and eminent Mountain, possibly the Hill of 1. Some one particular and eminent Mountain, possibly the Hill of Samaria, mentioned 1 Kings 16. 24. or rather 2. The Mountains or Mountainous Country of Israel. See the second note on this verse.

g (i. e.) Of Israel.

17 Even from the mount Halak, that goeth up to * h, and Seir i, unto Baal-Gad i, in the valley of Lebanon under mount Hermon: and all their kings he took, and smote them, and slew them.

* Or, the mountain of smoth

h (i. e.) To the country of Seir or Edom; to wit, that part of it which was South from Judea, not that which was Eastward from it, as appears from hence, that here, as also Jos. 12. 7. is mention of the two extream bounds of the Land conquered by Joshua; whereof the other which follows being in the North, this must needs be in the South of the Land. i A part of Mount Lebanon.

18 Joshua made war a long time k with all those kings.

k For divers years together, as is evident by the following History, and by comparing Deut. 2. 14. with Jos. 14. 7, &c. And this is here expressed, lest it should be thought that as all these Wars are here recorded in a short Narration, so they were dispatched in a short time. And God would have the Land to be Conquered gradually, for many weighty reasons; 1. Lest the sudden extirpation of those Nations should have made a great part of the Land Desert, and thereby have enerfaed the Numbers of Wild Beasts, Deut. 7. 22. 2. Lest being done suddenly and easily, it should soon be forgotten and despised, as the nature of man is apt to do in those cases. 3. That by long exercise the Israelites might grow skilful in the Art of War, which was very useful and needful for them in that Land. 4. For the trial and exercise of their Patience and Courage, and Trust in God. 5. To oblige them to the greater care to please and obey God, whom they yet needed for their help against their Enemies.

19 There was not a city that made peace with the children of Israel, save * the Hivites the inhabitants of Gibeon; all other they took in battel.

l To wit, all that were taken by Joshua, were taken by the Sword, and therefore it is no wonder that the War was long, when the enemy was so obstinate.

20 For it was of the LORD to harden their hearts m, that they should come against Israel in Battel, that he might destroy them utterly, and that they might have no favour: but that he might destroy them, * as the LORD commanded Moses.

* chap. 9. 3.

* Deut. 20.16,17.

m It was the design of Gods Providence not to soften their hearts to a compliance with the Israelites, but to give them up to their own Animosity, Pride, Confidence and Stubbornness; that so both their abominable and incorrigible wickedness might be severely punished, and that the Israelites might not be mixed with them, but be intire among themselves in the possession of the Land. Compare Deut. 2. 30. and for the Phrase Exod. 7. 13. and 9. 12. and 14. 17.

21 And at that time * came Joshua, and cut off the Anakims from the mountain o, from Hebron, from Debir p, from Anab q, and from all the mountain of Judah, and from all the mountain of Israel r: Joshua destroyed them utterly with their cities s.

* i. e. In that War, for it cannot be meant of any particular and short time, because the work here related was done in divers times and years. n A race of Giants, of which see Numb. 13. 33.

o Or, Mountains, the Singular Number for the Plural; These Barbarous and Monstrous persons either chose to live in the Dens or Caves, which were frequent in the Mountains of those parts; or else they were driven thither by the Arms and Succes of the Israelites. p Either, 1. From the Territories belonging to these Cities, as we have oft seen in this History, Cities mentioned for the Country subject to them; for the Cities were taken before by Joshua, chap. 10. 36, 37, 38. or 2. From the Cities themselves; and so either the Cities were re-taken by the Giants, which it is not probable that God would permit in Joshua's time; or he speaks here of that time when he took those places mentioned here, and chap. 10. which History he here in part repeats and enlargeth with this memorable circumstance, That, together with the rest, he destroyed also the Giants which were in those places. q A place in the Tribe of Judah, Jos. 15. 50. r It doth not follow from hence, which some conclude, that this Book was written by some other person long after Joshua's Death, even after the division of the Israelites into two Kingdoms, of Israel and Judah; but only that this was one of those clauses which were added or altered, and suited to the stile of the present times by Ezra, or some other Prophet; though that be not necessary: for since it was evident to Joshua, from Gen. 49. 10, &c. That the Tribe of Judah was to be the chief of all the Tribes, and some dawnings of its Eminency appeared in that time, in their having the first Lot in the Land of Canaan, Jos. 15. 1. and the largest inheritance, Jos. 19. 9. It is no wonder that it is mentioned apart, and distinguished from the rest of the Tribes of Israel, though that also be one of them; even as the Daughters of Pharaoh is distinguished from the strange Women, the Daughters of Pharaoh is distinguished from the strange Women, the Daughters of Pharaoh is distinguished from the strange Women, 1 King. 11. 1. and Saul from all Davids Enemies, Psal. 18. title. and Peter from the Disciples, Mark 16. 7. though they were each of the same nature and quality with the rest. s Or, How could Joshua utterly destroy these, when Caleb and Othoniel destroyed some of them after Joshua's Death? Jos. 14. 12. Judg. 1. 10, 11, 12. Ans. This might be, either 1. Because these places being in part destroyed and neglected by the Israelites, might be re-possessed by the Giants, either in Joshua's time, or after his Death, and by them kept till Caleb dispossessed and destroyed them. Or rather 2. Because this work, though done by the particular valour and industry of Caleb, is ascribed to Joshua as the General of the Army, according to the manner of all Historians; and therefore it is here attributed to Joshua, though afterwards, that Caleb might not lose his deserved Honour, the History is more particularly described, and Caleb owned as the great Instrument in the atchievement of it, Jos. 14. and Judg. 1.

22 There was none of the Anakims left in the land of the children of Israel: only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod t they remained.

t Three Cities of the Philistines, to which they retired, and where we find some of them afterwards, 1 Sam. 17. 4. and 2 Sam. 21. 16. Which may be one reason why the Israelites durst not make an attempt upon these places, though they were a part of their Possession.

23 So Joshua took the whole land u, according to all that the LORD said unto Moses, and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel, * according to their divisions by their tribes: and the land rested from war x.

* Numb. 26. 53.

u Synecdochically, i. e. the greatest and the best part of it, for some parts and places are expressly excepted in the following History. x From actual War, so far that they could now quietly survey, and distribute, and possess the Land.

CHAP. XII.

A Catalogue of the Kings, and their possessions, out of which they were driven by the Israelites: first in the time of Moses on the other side Jordan, 1—6. and afterwards by Joshua on this side of Jordan, 7—23. in all one and thirty Kings, 24.

1 NOW these are the kings of the Land, which the children of Israel smote, and possessed their land on the other side Jordan, toward the rising of the Sun: from the river Arnon, unto mount Hermon, and all the plain on the east a.

a On the East of Jordan, called the Plain, Deut. 1. 1. and the Plains of Moab, Deut. 34. 1.

2 * Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, and ruled from Aroer, which is upon the bank of the river of Arnon, and from the middle of the river b, and from half Gilead c, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon:

* Numb. 21. 24. Deut. 3. 6.

b It is not unusual even amongst us, for a River to be divided between two Lords, and for their Territories or Jurisdictions to meet in the middle of the River: And besides, here is a very particular reason for this expression, because the city Ar, which was no part of Sihons Dominions, but belonged to the Moabites, Deut. 2. 9, 18. was in the middle of the River Arnon, Deut. 2. 36. and 3. 16. and therefore the middle of the River is most fitly and properly here mentioned, as the bound of Sihons Dominion on that side. c Heb. and the half Gilead, i. e. half of the Country of Gilead; the particle from is not in the Original, and this doth not seem to denote the term or bound from which his Dominion begun, as our Version implies, for so indeed it was not, but the place or Country, in and over which his Dominion was, which, as is here said, began at Arnon, and took in half Gilead, and ended at Jabbok, beyond which was the other half of Gilead, which belonged to Og, as is expresly said, v. 5. where the words being wholly the same that are here, it is most reasonable to understand and translate them in the same manner.

3 And * from the plain unto the sea of Cinneroth on the east d, and unto the sea of the plain e, even the salt sea on the east, the way to Beth-jeshimoth: and from the south f under † * Ashdothpisgah.

* Deut. 3. 17.

† Or, Springs.

d Which words describe the situation not of the sea of Cinneroth, which was part of the Western border of Sihons Dominion, but of the Plain, which is here said to lye eastward from the sea, springs of Cinneroth, and also eastward from the Salt Sea, as it here follows. Pisgah, a hill. And this was indeed the situation of the Plains of Moab, which are here spoken of, to wit, that they lay between the two * Seas, that of Cinneroth and the Salt Sea, and eastward to them both. e The Salt-Sea is so called because it was a famous Plain, pleasant and fruitful, before it was turned into a Salt Sea. f Or, in, or towards the South.

* Deut. 3. 17. and 4. 49.

4 ¶ And the coast of Og king of Bashan which was of the † remnant of the giants, that * dwelt at Ashtaroth, and at Edrei g, g To wit, successively, sometimes at the one, sometimes at the other City; both being his Royal Mansions.

† Deut. 3. 11.

Chap. 13. 12.

5 And reigned in mount Hermon, and in Salcah, and in all Bashan, unto the border of the Geshurite h, and the Maacathite, and half Gilead, the border of Sihon king of Heshbon,

* Deut. 1. 4.

h Of which see Deut. 3. 13. Jos. 13. 13. 2 Sam. 13. 37. and 15. 8.

6 * Them did Moses the servant of the LORD, and the children of Israel smite, and * Moses the servant of the LORD gave it for a possession unto the Reubenite, and Gadite, and the half tribe of Manasseh.

* Num. 21. 24. 35. * Num. 32. 29. Deut. 3. 12.

7 And these are the kings of the country, which Joshua and the children of Israel smote on this side Jordan, on the west, from Baal-gad in the valley of Lebanon, even unto * the mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir, which Joshua gave unto the tribes of Israel for a possession according to their divisions.

Chap. 13. 8. * Chap. 11. 17.

8 In the mountain, and in the vale, and in the plain, and in the springs, and in the wilderness i, and in the south country; the Hittite, the Amorite, and the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite.

i This word here and elsewhere in Scripture notes not a Land wholly desart and uninhabited, but one thin of Inhabitants, as 1 King. 2. 34. and 9. 18. Mat. 3. 1, 3.

9 ¶ * The king of Jericho, one: * the king of Ai which is beside Beth-el k, one:

* Chap. 7. 2. * Chap. 8. 29.

k This is added to distinguish it from Ai of the Ammonites, of which Jer. 49. 3.

21 The king of Taanach, one: the king of Megiddo, one:

22 The king of Kedesh, one: the king of Jokneam of Carmel, one:

23 The king of Dor l, in the coast of Dor, one: the king of * the nations of Gilgal m, one:

Gen. 14. 1.

l Of which, Jos. 11. 2. m Not of that Gilgal where Joshua first lodged after his passage over Jordan; where it doth not appear, that there was either King or City; but of another city of the same Name, (as was frequent in those parts) probably in Galilee towards the Sea, whither divers people might possibly resort for Trade and Merchandise, over whom this was King, as formerly Tidal seems to have been, Gen. 14. 1.

24 The king of Tirzah, one: all the kings thirty and one n.

n Each being confined to a narrow compass, and being King only of one City, or small Province belonging to it, which was by the wise and singular Providence of God, that they might be more easily and successfully conquered by the Israelites one after another, as they were.

CHAP. XIII.

God makes known to Joshua the bounds of the Land not yet conquered, 1—6. Commands it to be divided among the nine Tribes and an half, 7. The Inheritances of the two Tribes and an half on the other side Jordan, 8, 13. The Land and his Sacrifices the Inheritance of Levi, 14. The Portion of the Reubenites, 15——23. Of the Gadites, 24——28. Of the half Tribe of Manasseh, 29——32.

NOW Joshua * was old, and stricken in years, and the LORD said unto him, Thou art old a, and stricken in years, and there remaineth yet very much land † to be possessed b.

a Therefore delay not to do the work which I have appointed and commanded thee to do. b To be conquered, and so possessed by the people.

Judg. 3. 3.

2 * This is the land that yet remaineth c: all the borders of the Philistines, and all Geshuri d.

c Unconquered by thee, and to be conquered by the Israelites, if they behave themselves aright. d A People in the North-east of Canaan, of which see Deut. 3. 14. as the Philistines are on the South-west.

Zech. 9. 5. Deut. 2. 23. Jer. 25. 20.

3 From Sihor e, which is before Egypt, even unto the borders of Ekron northward, which is counted to the Canaanite f: five lords of the Philistines; the * Gazathites, and the Ashdothites, the Eshkalonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites, also the * Avites g.

* Or, Azzathites. * Or, Avims.

e A River, of which see Isa. 23. 3. and Jer. 2. 18. f (i. e.) Which, though now possessed by the Philistines, who drove out the Canaanites the old inhabitants of it, Deut. 2. 23. Amos 9. 7. yet is a part of the Land of Canaan, and therefore belongs to the Israelites. g Or, the Avims, as they are called, Deut. 2. 23. who though they were expelled out of their antient Seat, and most of them destroyed by the Caphtorims or Philistines, as is there said, yet many of them probably escaped, and planted themselves in some other place not very far from the former.

4 From the south, all the land of the Canaanites h, and † Mearah i, that is beside the Sidonians, unto Aphek k, to the border of the Amorite l:

Or, the cave.

h (i. e.) From these Southern parts of the Sea-coast, now possessed by the Philistines, all the more Northern parts of the Sea-Coast being yet inhabited by the Canaanites, almost as far as Sidon, as it here follows. For there is no mention made of any Conquests of Joshua upon the Sea-Coast: The Canaanites, properly so called, are said to dwell by the sea, Numb. 13. 29. and these are here spoken of, though some of them dwelt in other parts of the Land. i A strong place; it matters not whether it was a City, or an impregnable Cave, which some Writers mention to be in those parts. k Not That of Judah, of which Jos. 15. 53. but another in the Tribe of Asher, of which Jos. 12. 18. Judg. 1. 31. l The Amorites were a strong and very numerous people, and we find them dispersed in several parts, some within Jordan, and some without it, some in the South and others in the North, of whom he speaks here.

Chap. 11. 8.

6 All the inhabitants of the hill-countrey from Lebanon * unto Misrephoth-maim, and all the Sidonians, them will I drive out from before the children of Israel n: only divide thou it by lot unto the Israelites for an inheritance o, as I have commanded thee.

n Presently after thy Death, if the Israelites do not hinder it by their unbelief or wickedness. o Though they be now unconquered, yet divide them, partly as a pledge to assure them of my help in conquering them after thy death, partly to lay an obligation upon the Israelites to proceed in Conquering-work, and to bear witness against them in case they did not; and partly as a wall of partition between them and the Canaanites, to prevent all Agreements, Contracts and Confederacies with them, to which God saw they began to encline.

7 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance unto the nine tribes, and the half tribe of Manasseh.

8 With whom p the Reubenites, and the Gadites have received their inheritance, * which Moses gave them beyond Jordan eastward, even as Moses the servant of the LORD gave them q.

* Num. 32. 33. Deut. 3. 12. 13. chap. 22. 4.

p Heb. With him, i. e. with the half tribe of Manasseh, not that half which is expressed v. 7. as is evident from the thing; but the other half, which is sufficiently and necessarily understood, the relative being here put for the antecedent, understood, as it is, Num. 7. 89. Ps. 114. 2. Isa. 8. 21. Jonah 1. 3. q Which Moses gave them by my Command, and therefore do not thou disturb them in their Possessions; but proceed to divide the other Possessions to the rest.

9 From Aroer that is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midst of the river r, and all the plain of Medeba unto Dibon s.

r Of which see the notes on Deut. 3. 16. and on Jos. 12. 2. Either this is the same City now mentioned, even Aroer, which is said to have been a double City, as the very name seems to import, whereof one part was on the bank of the River, and the other in the middle of it, whence we read of the cities of Aroer, Isa. 17. 2. or it is another City, possibly Ar, as it is elsewhere named. s Two Cities antiently belonging to the Moabites, and taken from them by the Amorites, Numb. 21. 30. and from them by the Israelites; and after the Israelites were gone into Captivity, recovered by the first Possessors the Moabites, as may seem from Isa. 15. 2.

10 And all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heshbon, unto the border of the children of Ammon:

11 And Gilead, and the border of the Geshurites, and Maacathites t, and all mount Hermon, and all Bashan. unto Salcah:

t Whose Land God had given to the Israelites without Jordan, though they had not yet used the gift of God, not taken Possession of it, as is noted, v. 13.

12 All the kingdoms of Og in Bashan, which reigned in Ashtaroth, and in Endrei, who remained of * the remnant of the giants: for these u did Moses smite, and cast them out.

* Deut. 3. 11. chap. 12. 4.

u Not all now mentioned, as appears from v. 13. but Sihon and Og, and their people, and the generality of them, which he had now named, some of them being excepted.

13 Nevertheless, the children of Israel expelled not the Geshurites, nor the Maacathites: but the Geshurites and the Maacathites dwell among the Israelites unto this day x.

x This seems added by way of anticipation and reflection upon the present Israelites; implying, that although Moses did and might permit them to remain, both because the Land which he had conquered was more than enough for the Israelitish Possessors; and because being intent upon their passage over Jordan into the Land of Canaan, he would not delay them, by searching their Enemies out of all their corners; yet they were in fault, in not going on and perfecting the work which was begun by Moses, and carried on so far by Joshua.

14 Only unto the tribe of Levi he y gave none inheritance z: the sacrifices of the LORD God of Israel made by fire a are their inheritance, * as he said unto them.

* ver. 33.

y i. e. Moses. as is expressed v. 33. z To wit, in the Land beyond Jordan, where yet a considerable part of the Levites were to have their settled abode. This is mentioned as the reason both why Moses gave all that land to the Reubenites and Gadites and Manassites; and why Joshua should divide the land only into nine parts and an half, as was said, v. 7. because Levi was otherwise provided for. a Which by a Synecdoche are here put for all those Sacrifices and Oblations, including First fruits and Tithes, which were assigned to the Levites; and this passage is so oft repeated and urged, to prevent those Calumnies and Injuries which God foresaw the Levites were likely to meet with from the Malice, Envy and Covetousness of their Brethren; and to oblige all the other Tribes to a chearful and conscionable giving to the Levites their Dues, to which they had as good a Right and Title as they had to their several Possessions.

15 And Moses gave unto the tribe of the children of Reuben inheritance according to their families b.

b Dividing the Inheritance into as many parts as they had Families; But this is only spoken of the greater Families; for the lesser Divisions or Distributions to the several small Families, was done by inferior Officers, according to the Rules which Moses gave them.

16 And their coast was from Aroer that is on the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midst of the river c, and all the plain by Medeba:

c Of which see Deut. 3. 16. and Jos. 12. 2.

17 Heshbon d, and all her cities that are in the plain: Dibon, and * Bamoth-baal e, and Beth-baal-meon f, d This City, and Dibon and Ataroth were upon the borders of Reuben and Gad, and therefore sometimes are ascribed to Reuben of Baal, & as here, and Numb. 32. 37. sometimes to Gad, as Numb. 32. 34. f House of Baal-meon, Jos. 21. 39. Possibly it and the rest were joyntly inhabited by both Tribes, as Jerusalem was by Jews and Benjamites. e Of which, Numb. 21. 28. f Called Beth-meon, Jer. 48. 23. and Baal-meon, Ezek. 25. 9. part of the Name being cut off, as is usual with the Hebrews.

* Or, the high places of Baal.

18 And Jahazah, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath, 19 And Kirjathaim, and Sibmah, and Zarethshahar, in the mount of the valley g.

g In the Mountain bordering upon that Valley, which then was famous among the Israelites; whether that where Moses was buried, which was near to the place here following, Bethpeor, Deut. 34. 1. 6. or some other. And this clause is thought to belong to all the Cities now mentioned.

*Deut. 3. 17. †Or, Springs of Pisgah, or the hill. *Num. 31. 18.

20 And Beth-peor, and * † Ashdoth-Pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth:
21 And all the cities of the plain h, and all the kingdom of Sihon i king of the Amorite, which reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses smote * with the princes of Midian k, Evi, and Rekem, and Zior, and Hur, and Reba, which were dukes of Sihon l, dwelling in the countrey m.

h. Opposed to the foregoing Cities of the Mountain of the Valley.
i A Synecdochical expression, for a great part of it; in which sense we read of all Judea, and all the Region round about Jordan, Mat. 3. 5. and all Galilee, Mat. 4. 23: and many others. Or, which all were the Kingdoms of Sihon, i. e. belonged to his Kingdom. The Hebrew conjunction and is oft put for the relative particle which, as Judg. 2. 21. Prov. 19. 1. Eccles. 6. 12. k Not in the same time or Battel, as appears by comparing Numb. 21. 23, 24. with Numb. 31. 8. but in the same manner. And they are here mentioned, partly because they were slain not long after, and upon the same occasion, even their enmity against Israel; and partly because of their relation and subjection to Sihon, as it here follows. l Gr. How could they be so, when they were Kings of Midian? Numb. 31. 8. Answ. There were divers petty Kings in those parts, which were subject to greater Kings; and such these were, but are here called Dukes or Princes of Sihon, because they were Subject and Tributaries to him, and therefore did one way or other assist Sihon in this War, though they were not killed at this time. It is probable, that when Sihon destroyed those Moabites which dwelt in these parts, he frighted the rest of them, and with them their Neighbours and Confederates, the Midianites, into some kind of Homage or Tribute, which they were willing to pay to him. m Heb. inhabiting that Land, namely Midian, last mentioned; whereby he signifies, that though they were subject to Sihon, yet they did not dwell in his Land, but in another.

*Num. 22. 25. †Or, diviner.

22 * Balaam also the son of Beor the † soothsayer n, did the children of Israel slay with the sword, among them that were slain by them.
n So he was in truth, though a Prophet (2 Pet. 2. 16.) in Title and Profession. See Numb. 24. 25.

23 And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan, and the border thereof: this was the inheritance of the children of Reuben after their families, the cities and villages thereof.

o (i. e.) Those Cities or Places which bordered upon Jordan. Compare Numb. 34. 6.

24 And Moses gave inheritance unto the Tribe of Gad, even unto the children of Gad, according to their families.

25 And their coast was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead p, and half the land of the children of Ammon q, unto Aroer r, that is before Rabbah s.

p (i. e.) All the Cities of note and eminency; all Cities properly so called, which it seems lay in that part of Gilead; and so this may well agree with v. 31. where half the Countrey of Gilead is said to be given to the Manassites; but there is no mention of any Cities there. q Not of that which now was theirs, for that they were forbidden to meddle with, Deut. 2. 9. but of that which was anciently theirs, but taken from them by the Amorites, Numb. 21. 26. from whom the Israelites took it. Judg. 11. 13. r The border between them and Moab. s The chief city of the Ammonites, 2 Sam. 11. 1. and 12. 26, 27.

26 And from Heshbon t unto Ramath-mizpeh u, and Betonim: and from Mahanaim x, unto the border of Debir.

t Either exclusively or inclusively. See before on v. 17. u Called Ramoth-Gilead, or Ramoth in Gilead, Jos. 20. 8. and elsewhere. x Exclusively; for Mahanaim was in the portion of Manasseh, beyond Jabbok, which was the border of God and Manasseh.

27 And in the valley, Beth-aram, and Beth-nimrah, and Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon y king of Heshbon, Jordan and his border, even unto the edge of the sea of Cinnereth, on the other side Jordan eastward.

y The Northern part of his Kingdom.

28 This is the inheritance of the children of Gad, after their families, the cities and their villages.

29 And Moses gave inheritance unto the half tribe of Manasseh z: and this was the possession of the half tribe of the children of Manasseh by their families.

z Not that they desired it, as Reuben and Gad did, Numb. 32. 1. but partly as a recompence to Machir the Manassite, for his valiant acts against Og; and partly for the better Security and Defence of the other two Tribes, by so considerable an accession to them, which also was without any inconvenience to them, because the Country was too large for the two Tribes of Reuben and Gad.

30 And their coast was from Mahanaim, all Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the Towns of Jair a, which are in Bashan, threescore cities.

a Who, though of the Tribe of Judah, by the Father, 1 Chr. 2. 21, 22. yet is called the Son of Manasseh, Numb. 32. 41. because he married a Daughter of Manasseh, and wholly allociated himself with those valiant Manassites; and with their help took Sixty Cities or great Towns, Deut. 3. 4, 14. which thence were called the Towns of Jair.

31 And half Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, were pertaining unto the children of Machir the son of Manasseh, even to the one half of the * children of Machir b, by their families. *Num. 32. 39.

b Whom before he called the children of Manasseh, he now calls the children of Machir, because Machir was the most eminent, and as it may seem, the only surviving Son of Manasseh, Numb. 26. 29. 1 Chron. 7. 14, 15, 16. For the other half of Machir's, or Manasseh's Children, see Jos. 17. 1. &c.

32 These are the countreys which Moses did distribute for inheritance in the Plains of Moab, on the other side Jordan by Jericho eastward.

33 * But unto the tribe of Levi Moses gave not any inheritance: the LORD God of Israel was their inheritance, * as he said unto them. *Ch. 18. 7. *Num. 18. 20.

CHAP. XIV.

The Land and its Inheritances to be divided by Lot, 1——5. Caleb, having on his Return from spying the Land encouraged the People, takes then promised him the Land of Hebron; which he now claims of Joshua, 6——12. Who grants his Request, 13——15.

1 AND these a are the countreys which the children of Israel inherited in the land of Canaan, * which Eleazer the Priest b, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes c of the children of Israel distributed for inheritance to them. *Num. 34. 17.

a Mentioned, Chap. 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19. b See on Josh. 8. 33. and 9. 15, 18. and 19. 51. He best understood the Laws of God by which this Division was to be regulated; and he was to consult God upon any difficult Occurrence. c Twelve persons, each the head of his Tribe, which were appointed and named by God, Numb. 34. 19. and if any of them were now dead, no doubt Joshua and Eleazer, by God's Direction, put others in their stead.

2 * By Lot was their inheritance d, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses, for the nine tribes, and for the half tribe. *Num. 26. 55, 56. ch. 18. 6. 10. 54.

d This course God ordained, partly to prevent Discontents, Enmities, Animosities and Quarrels among the Tribes, about the quality of their several Portions; and partly to demonstrate the Truth and Wisdom of his Providence, by which alone those Parts fell to each of them, which Jacob long since, and Moses lately, foretold; so that as a learned Man saith, He must be more stupid than Stupidity, and more impudent than Impudence it self, that doth not acknowledge and confess a Divine Hand and Providence in this matter. The Lot did only determine the several Parts or Provinces to the several Tribes, but did not precisely fix all the Bounds of it, but these might be either enlarged or diminished according to the greater or smaller number of the Tribes, Numb. 26. 53, 56. and 33. 54. and that by the direction of those persons mentioned v. 1. and Josh. 17. 14——18.

3 For Moses had given the inheritance of two tribes, and a half tribe, on the other side Jordan: but unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.
4 For the children of Joseph were two tribes e, Manasseh and Ephraim: therefore they gave no part unto the Levites in the land, save cities to dwell in with their suburbs, for their cattel, and for their substance.

e i. e. Had the double Portion, or the Portion of two Tribes, 1 Chron. 5. 1, 2. and therefore though Levi was excluded, there remained nine Tribes and a half, as was said v. 2. to be provided for in Canaan.

5 * As the LORD commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did, and they divided the land f. *Num. 26. 54. Ch. 18. 2.

f They, i. e. the persons named, ver. 5. who represented and acted in the name of the Children of Israel, divided it, either now, or presently after; which is here spoken by Anticipation.

6 ¶ Then g the children of Judah came h unto Joshua in Gilgal i: and Caleb the son of Jephunneh k the Kenezite l, said unto him, Thou knowest the thing that the LORD said unto Moses m the man of God n concerning me and thee in Kadesh-barnea.

g Either 1. at that time when Joshua and the rest were consulting about the division of the Land, though they did not yet actually and fully divide it. Or, 2. when Joshua, and himself, and the Israelites, were proceeding in their Conquests, and were going against Hebron, Josh. 10. 36. which Expedition there mentioned in a general manner, may be particularly described in this Chapter, and Josh. 15. 13, 14. But the former seems more probable, because this was done when Joshua was in Gilgal, and not when he was pursuing his Enemies. h Not so much to intercede for Caleb, which was not needful with Joshua, especially in a thing already promised by God, but only to justifie and countenance him in his desire. i Where the division of the Land was designed and begun, though it was not executed and finished at Shiloh, Josh. 18. 1. &c. k So he is called here, and 1 Chron. 4. 15. to difference him from Caleb the Son of Hezron, 1 Chron. 2. 18. l Of the Posterity of Kenaz, of whom see Judg. 1. 13. 1 Chron. 4. 13. 15. m In general, the gracious and comfortable promise he made us of possessing this Land; and in particular, for my part, that which is expressed here, v. 9. n Whose words therefore thou art obliged to make good.

7 Forty years old was I o, when Moses the servant of the LORD sent me from Kadesh-barnea to espy out the land, and I brought him word again, as it was in mine heart p.

o See on Josh. 11. 18. p I spake my opinion sincerely, without flattery and fear, when the other Spies were biassed by their own fears, and the dread of the people, to speak otherwise than in their Consciences they believed; as appears from Numb. 13. 30, 31, 32. and 14. 36.

8 Nevertheless * my brethren that went up with me, made the heart of the people melt: but I wholly † followed the LORD my God q. *Num. 13. 31. †Num. 14. 24.

q Which self-commendation is justifiable, because it was necessary, as being the ground and foundation of his Petition.

9 And Moses sware on that day, saying, Surely the land whereon thy feet have trodden shall be thine inheritance r, and thy childrens for ever, because thou hast wholly followed the LORD my God.

r See Numb. 14. 24. Deut. 1. 36.

10 And now behold, the LORD hath kept me alive, as * he said, these forty and five years s even since the LORD spake this word unto Moses, while the children of Israel † wandred in the wilderness: and now, lo, I am this day fourscore and five years old. *Num. 14. 30. Heb. called. †Heb. walked.

s Whereof 38 years were spent in the Wilderness, and seven since they came into Canaan.

Ec. 46. 9. 11 As yet I am as strong this day, as I was in the day that Moses sent me: as my strength was then, even so is my strength now, for war t, both to go out, and to come in u.

t Not only for Counsel, but for Action; for marching and fighting. And therefore this gift will not be cast away upon an unprofitable and unserviceable person. u To perform all the Duties belonging to my place.

12 Now therefore give me this mountain x, whereof the LORD spake in that day; (for thou heardest y in that day, how the * Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced) if so be the LORD will be with me z, then I shall be able to drive them out a as the LORD said. *Num. 13. 33.

x i. e. This mountainous Countrey, in which was Hebron, Josh. 11. 21. and 20. 7. and Debir, and Anab. He names the Countrey rather than the Cities, either 1. because the Giants here following were already driven out of their Cities, but yet abode in their Caves or Holds in the mountains, whence they much molested the Israelites. Or 2. because the Cities were given to the Levites, Jos. 21. 11. 13. y i. e. Didst understand, both by the Reports of others, and by thy own observation, as I also did. Hearing, the sense by which we get knowledg, is oft put for knowing or understanding, as Gen. 11. 7. & 42. 23. 2 King. 18. 26. z A modest, and humble, and pious expression, signifying both the absolute necessity of Gods help, and his godly fear, lest God for his sins should deny his Assistance to him, as he might justly do; for although he was well assured in general, that God would crown his people with success in this War, yet he might doubt of his particular success in this or that Enterprize. a Out of their Fastnesses where they yet remain. Caleb desires this difficult work as a Testimony of his own Faith, and as a Motive to quicken and encourage his Brethren to the like attempts.

13 And Joshua blessed him b, and gave unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh, Hebron for an inheritance.

b Either 1 prayed to God to bless and help him according to his own desire. Or, 2. acknowledged his praise-worthy Carriage in the matter of the Spies, and the reasonableness of his Request. Or, 3. consented to his desire, and, as it follows, gave it to him; as God's Blessing is oft put for his actual conferring of favours upon Men.

*Chap. 21. 11. 14 * Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh, the Kenezite unto this day: because that he wholly followed the LORD God of Israel.

*Chap. 23. 15 And * the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba, which Arba was a great man c among the Anakims: and the land had rest from war d.

c In stature, and strength, and dignity, and authority, as being the Progenitor of Anak, the father of those famous Giants called Anakims, Jos. 14. 15. d Which gave them opportunity for the distribution of the Land.

CHAP. XV.

The Borders of the Lot of Judah, 1——12. Among them Kirjath-Arba Caleb's Inheritance: He drives thence the three sons of Anak; promises to give his daughter in marriage to him who should smite Kirjath-Sepher; which Othniel does, and obtains her: She requests of her Father some Land for a Dowry; which he grants, 13——19. The Cities of Judah, 20——62. The Jebusites could not be conquered by them, 63.

THIS then was the lot a of the tribe of the children of Judah b by their Families, * even to the border of Edom c; the * wilderness of Zin southward was the uttermost part of the south-coast. *Num. 33. 36.

a For the general understanding of this business, it must be known 1. That this work of casting Lots was transacted with great seriousness and solemnity, in God's presence, with Prayer and Appeal to him for the decision of the matter. 2. That although an exact Survey of this Land was not taken till Josh. 18. 4, 5. yet there was, and must needs be a general description of it, and a division thereof into nine parts and a half; which, as far as they could guess, were equal either in Quantity or in Quality. 3. That the Lot did not at this time so peremptorily and unchangeably determine each Tribe, that their portion could neither be encreased nor diminished; as is manifest, because after Judah's Lot was fixed, Simeon's Lot was taken out of it, Josh. 19. 9. though after the Land was more distinctly known and surveyed, Joshua 18. it is likely the Bounds were more certain and fixed. 4. That the Lot determined only in general what part or quarter of the Land belonged to each Tribe, but left the particulars to be determined by Joshua and Eleazar, &c. For the manner of this Lottery, it is probably conceived, that there were two Urns or Pots, into one of which were put the Names of all the Tribes, each in a distinct Paper, and into the other the Names of each Portion described; then Eleazar, or some other Person, drew out first the Name of one of the Tribes out of one Pot, and then the Name of one Portion out of the other Pot, and that Portion was appropriated to that Tribe; and so in the rest. And with respect to these Pots, in the bottom of which the Papers lay, these Lots are oft said to come up, or come forth. b Whose Lot came out first by God's disposition, as a note of his Preeminency above his Brethren. c Which lay South-east from Judah's Portion.

2 And their south-border was from the shore of the salt-sea, from the † bay d that looketh southward. †Heb. tongue.

d Heb. the Tongue: By which he understands either a Creek or Arm of that Sea; or a Promontory, which by learned Authors is sometimes called a Tongue; it is not material to know which of these it was.

3 And it went out to the south-side e to † Maaleh-acrabbim, and passed along to Zin, and ascended up on the south-side unto Kadesh-barnea: and passed along to Hezron, and went up to Adar, and fetched a compass to Karkaa. †Or, the ascent of Acrabbim.

e Concerning this description of the Southern-Coast of Judah see Numb. 34. 3, 4, 5.

4 From thence it passed toward Azmon, and went out unto the River of Egypt, and the goings out of that coast were at the sea: this shall be your south-coast,

5 And the east-border was the salt sea, even unto the end of Jordan: and their border in the north quarter was from the bay of the sea, at the uttermost part of Jordan.

f i. e. The place where Jordan runs into the Salt-sea.

6 And the border went up to Beth-hogla, and passed along by the North of Beth-arabah g, and the border went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben h.

g Or, on the North, or Northward to Beth-arabah. Which place is attributed to Judah here, ver. 61. and to Benjamin, Josh. 18. 22. because it was a Frontier Town in the borders of Judah and Benjamin, and therefore promiscuously belonging to both; which also was the Case of some other Places: And this Cohabitation was convenient to maintain brotherly Love and Union between the several Tribes, especially in the borders, where differences oft arise. h A place so called, not from Bohan's dwelling there, (for the Reubenites had no Portion on this side Jordan) but from some notable Exploit which he did there, though it be not recorded in Scripture.

7 And the border went up toward Debir i from the valley of Achor, and so northward, looking toward Gilgal k, that is before the going up to Adummim, which is on the south side of the river l: and the border passed towards the waters of En-shemesh, and the goings out thereof were * at Enrogel. *1 Kin. 1. 9.

i A differing place from that Debir, ver. 15. which was near Hebron, and remote from Judah's border; as also from that Debir, Josh. 13. 26. which was beyond Jordan. k Either that Gilgal nigh Jordan, Josh. 4. 19. or another place of that name. l Or, Brook, or valley.

8 And the border went up m by the valley of the son of Hinnom n, unto the south side of the * Jebusite o, the same is Jerusalem p: and the border went up to the top of the mountain, that lieth before the valley of Hinnom, westward, which is at the end of the valley of the giants, northward.

m Properly, for the Line went from Jordan and the salt Sea, yet the higher grounds nigh Jerusalem; and therefore the Line is said to go down, Josh. 18. 16. because there it takes a contrary course, and goes downwards to Jordan and the Sea. n A very pleasant place, but afterward made infamous, 2 King. 23. 10. o (i. e.) Of the City of the Jebusites, which was anciently called Jebusi, Josh. 18. last, Judg. 19. 10. p It may seem hence, and from Deut. 33. 12. Josh. 18. last, Judg. 1. 21. that Jerusalem properly, or at least principally, belonged to Benjamin; and yet it is ascribed to Judah also here, verse 63. and elsewhere, either because a part of the City was allotted to Judah; or because the Benjamites needed or desired the Help and Conjunction of this powerful Tribe of Judah, for the getting and keeping of this most important place.

And

And when the Benjamites had in vain attempted to drive out the Jebusites, this work was at last done by the Tribe of Judah, who therefore had an interest in it by the Right of War; as Ziglag which belonged to the Tribe of Simeon, being gotten from the Philistines by David, was adjoyned by him to his Tribe of Judah, 1 Sam. 27. 6.

9 And the border was drawn from the top of the hill, unto the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, and went out to the cities of mount Ephron q, and the border was drawn to Baalah, which is Kirjath-jearim r.

q (i. e.) belonging to, or bordering upon Mount Ephron. r Called Kiriath-baal, v. 60. and Josh. 18. 14.

10 And the border compassed from Baalah westward unto mount Seir s, and passed along unto the side of mount Jearim, (which is Chesalon) on the north side, and went down to Beth-shemesh t, and passed on to Timnah.

s Not that of Edom, but another so called from some resemblance it had with that in quality. t There were divers Cities of this Name; this in Judah here, and Josh. 21. 16. 2 Kings, 14. 11. another in Issachar, and a third in Naphtali, Josh. 19. 22, 38.

11 And the border went out unto the side of Ekron northward, and the border was drawn to Shicron, and passed along to mount Baalah, and went out unto Jabneel: and the goings out of the border were at the sea.

12 And the west border was to the great sea, and the coast thereof: this is the coast of the children of Judah round about, according to their families.

13 ¶ And unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh he u gave a part among the children of Judah, according to *Ch. 14. 15. the commandment of the LORD to Joshua, even * † Or, Kirjath-arba. † the city of Arba x the father of Anak, which city is Hebron.

u i. e. Joshua, as appears by comparing this with Josh. 14. 6. 12. 13. x Or, Kiriath-arba. Not the City which was the Levites, but the Territory of it, Josh. 21. 13.

*Judges 1. 10. 14 And Caleb drove thence y * the three sons of Anak, Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai z, the children of Anak.

y (i. e.) From the said Territory, from their Caves and Forts in it; compare Josh. 14. 12. This and the following work was done either in Joshua's life-time, as may seem from Josh. 11. 21. or after his death, as is related Judg. 1. 10. These Giants having either recovered their Cities, or defended themselves in the mountains. z Either the same who are mentioned, Numb. 13. 33. and so they were long-liv'd men, such as many were in those times and places: or their Sons, called by their Fathers names, which is very usual.

15 And he went up thence to the inhabitants of Debir a, and the name of Debir before was Kirjath-sepher b.

a The same mentioned above, v. 7. b This clause seems to be added to distinguish this from the other Debir subdued by Joshua, Josh. 10. 38, 39.

16 ¶ And Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife c.

c Which is to be understood with some Conditions, as, if he were one who could marry her by God's Law; for every promise contrary to that, is void; and if he were willing; for though Parents had a great Power over their Children, they could not force them to marry any person against their own Wills. He might otherwise be an unfit and unworthy person; but this was no ordinary motion propounded to the imitation of others, but a divine impulse, that Othniel's valour might be more manifest, and so the way prepared for his future Government of the People, Judg. 3. 9.

*Judg. 1. 13 and 3. 9. 17 And * Othniel the son of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb d took it: and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

d Obj. This Marriage was unlawful. Answ. No, for it was not Othniel, but Kenaz, who was Caleb's Brother; and besides, the word Brother is commonly used for any Kinsman; And that Caleb was not properly Othniel's Brother, sufficiently appears, because Caleb is constantly called the Son of Jephunneh; and Othniel, the Son of Kenaz here, and 1 Chron. 4. 13.

18 And it came to pass as she came unto him e, that she moved him to ask f of her father a field; and she lighted off her ass g, and Caleb said unto her, What wouldest thou?

e Or, as she went, to wit, from her Father's house to her Husband's, as the manner was: See on Matth. 1. 18. f She persuaded her Husband, either, 1. That he would ask: or rather, 2. That he would suffer her to ask, as she did. g That she might address her self to her Father in an humble posture, and as a Suppliant, which he understood by her gesture.

19 Who answered, Give me a blessing h: for thou hast given me a south land i, give me also springs of water k. And he gave her the upper springs, and the nether springs l.

h (i.e.) A gift, as that word signifies, Gen. 33. 11. i (i. e.) A dry land, which was much exposed to the South-wind, which in those parts was very hot and drying, as coming from the Desarts of Arabia. k (i. e.) A Field, as she desired, v. 18. wherein are Springs of Water, which in that Countrey were of great Price; for it is not probable, that he would give her the Springs, and give to another the grounds in which the Springs were; who could thereby at their pleasure deprive her of the use and benefit of her Springs: So she begs a well moistened Field, which also might give some relief to that which was dry and barren. l (i. e.) Springs both in the higher and in the lower grounds; or two Fields, one in high, another in low grounds; or rather, one above, and the other below that South and dry ground which she complained of, that by this means it might be watered on both sides.

20 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah, according to their families.

21 And the uttermost cities m of the tribe of the children of Judah toward the coast of Edom, southward, were Kabzeel n, and Eder, and Jagur;

m Those which were on the borders of the Land, not the midland cities. It is apparent, that all the Cities belonging to this Tribe, are not mentioned in this Catalogue. n Called Jekabzeel, Neh. 11. 25.

22 And Kinah, and Dimonah, and Adadah,

23 And Kedesh, and Hazor, and Ithnan.

24 Ziph, and Telem, and Bealoth,

25 And Hazor, Haddattah o, and Kerioth, and Hezron, which is Hazor p, o Possibly it should be read as one word, Hazor-haddattah, as there is Hazar-gaddah, v. 27. and Hasar-shual, v. 28. such compounded proper names being usual; and this may seem the more probable, because if Hazor and Haddattah were two different Cities, the Conjunction and would have been put between them, as it is generally in the rest. p Or, which also is called Hazor; but to distinguish it from the other Hazor, v. 23. this was called also Hezron.

26 Aman, and Shema q, and Moladah, q Called also Sebe, Jos. 19. 2.

27 And Hazar-gaddah, and Heshmon, and Beth-palet.

28 And Hazar-shual, and Beersheba, and Biz-jothjah,

29 Baalah, and Iim, and Azem,

30 And Eltolad, and Chesil, and Hormah,

31 And Ziklag, and Madmannah, and Sansannah,

32 And Lebaoth, and Shilhim, and Ain, and Rimmon: all the cities are twenty and nine r, with their villages.

r Obj. Here are 37 or 38 Cities named before; how then are they only reckoned 29? Answ. There were only 29 of them, which either, 1. properly belonged to Judah; the rest fall to Simeon's Lot; or 2. Were Cities properly so called, (i. e.) walled Cities, or such as had Villages under them, as it here follows, the rest being great, but unwalled Towns, or such as had no Villages under them.

33 And in the vale, Eshtaol, and Zoreah, and Ashnah, 34 And Zanoah, and Engannim, Tappuah, and Enam.

35 Jarmuth, and Adullam, Socoh, and Azekah,

36 And Sharaim, and Adithaim, and Gederah, * and * Or, Gederothaim; fourteen cities s with their villages.

s Obj. There are 15 numbred. Answ. Either one of them was no city strictly called; or, Gederah, and Gederothaim is put for Gederah, or Gederothaim, so called; possibly because the City was double, as there want not instances of one City divided into two parts, called the old and the new City. So the conjunction and is put for the disjunctive or, whereof examples have been given before.

37 Zenan, and Hadashah, and Migdal-gad,

38 And Dilean, and Mizpeh, and Joktheel,

39 Lachish, and Bozkath, and Eglon,

40 And Cabbon, and Lahmas, and Kithlish,

41 And Gederoth, Beth-dagon, and Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities with their villages.

42 Libnah t, and Ether, and Ashan, t Heb. Libnah. See Josh. 10. 29.

43 And Jiphta, and Ashnah, and Nezib,

44 And Keilah, and Achzib, and Maresha: nine cities with their villages.

45 Ekron u with her † towns x, and her villages y. † Heb. Daughters.

u Here and in the following Verses are contained all the Cities of the Philistines, among which are Gath and Ashdon, which peradventure are here omitted, because they were not at this time places of such power and eminency, as afterwards they were, but were the Daughters of some of these following Cities, though afterwards the Daughter might overtop the Mother, as is usual. x Heb. Her Daughters, i. e. lesser Cities, or great Towns, subject to Ekron's Jurisdiction. y i. e. Lesser Towns or Hamlets.

46 From Ekron even unto the sea, all that lay † near Ashdod with their villages.

† Heb. the side of.

47 Ashdod with her † towns and her villages; Gaza † Heb. Daughters. with her * towns and her villages, unto the river of Egypt, and the great sea, and the border thereof z.

z i.e. The Sea-coast and all other cities, towns and villages upon it.

48 ¶ And in the mountains a, Shamir, and Jattir, and Socoh, a i.e. In the higher grounds called mountains or hills, in comparison of the Sea-coast.

49 And

49 And Dannah, and Kirjath-sannah, which is Debir b.

b Which also is called Kiriath-sepher, above v. 15. So this City had three Names.

50 And Anab, and Eshtemoh, and Anim, 51 And Goshen c, and Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages.

c See Jos. 10. 41.

52 Arab, and Dumah, and Eshean,

53 And * Janum, and Beth-tappuah, and Aphekah,

54 And Humtah, and * Kirjath-arba, (which is Hebron) and Zior: nine cities with their villages.

* Or, Janim. * Chap. 14. 15.

55 Maon d, Carmel e, and Ziph f, and Juttah, d Of which see 1 Sam. 23. 25. and 25. 2. e Nabals Country, 1 Sam. 25. f Which gave its name to the Neighbouring Mountain, 1 Sam. 26. 1.

56 And Jezreel, and Jokdeam, and Zanoah,

57 Cain, Gibeah, and Timnah: ten cities with their villages.

58 Halhul, Bethzur, and Gedor,

59 And Maarath, and Beth-anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages.

60 Kirjath-baal (which is Kirjath-jearim) and Rabbah: two cities with their villages.

61 ¶ In the wilderness g, Beth-arabah, Meddin, and Secacah, g So the Hebrews call places either uninhabited by men, or having but few Inhabitants.

62 And Nibshan, and the city of salt h, and Engedi: six cities with their villages.

h So called either from the Salt Sea, which was near it; or from the Salt which was made in it, or about it.

63 As for the Jebusites the Inhabitants of Jerusalem i, the children of Judah could not drive them out k: but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Judah at Jerusalem l unto this day d.

i For though Jerusalem was in part taken by Joshua before this; yet the upper and stronger part of it, called Zion, was still kept by the Jebusites, even until Davids time; and it seems from thence they descended to the lower Town called Jerusalem, and took it; so that the Israelites were forced to win it a second time; yea, and a third time also: for afterwards it was possessed by the Jebusites, Judg. 19. 11. 2 Sam. 5. 6, 7. k Namely, because of their unbelief, as Christ could do no mighty work——because of the peoples unbelief, Mark 6. 5, 6. Mat. 13. 58. and because of their Sloth, and Cowardice, and Wickedness, whereby they forfeited Gods help, and then they must needs be impotent; but this inability was wilful, and brought upon them by themselves. l The same things which are here said of the children of Judah, are said of the Benjamites, Judg. 1. 21. Hence ariseth a question, To which of the Tribes Jerusalem belonged? whether to Benjamin, as is gathered from Gen. 49. 27. Deut. 33. 12. Jer. 6. 1: or to Judah, as is implied here, and Psal. 78. 68, 69. Some think, that being in the Borders of both, it was common to both, and promiscuously inhabited by both; and it is certain, that after the Captivity it was possessed by both, Neh. 11. 4. But for the present, though it did belong to Benjamin, yet the Children of Judah being possibly very active in the first taking of it by Joshua, as they certainly were after his Death, Judg. 1. 8. they might thereby get some right share with the Benjamites in the Possession of it. It seems most probable, that part of it, and indeed the greatest part, and main body of it, stood in the Tribe of Benjamin; and hence this is mentioned in the List of their Cities, and not in Judah's List; and part of it stood in Judah's share, even Mount Moriah, on which the Temple was built; and Mount Sion, when it was taken from the Jebusites. m When this Book was written, whether in Joshua's Life and Old Age, which continued many years after the taking of Jerusalem; or after his Death, when this Clause was added here and elsewhere in this Book by some other man of God, which must needs be done before David's time, when the Jebusites were quite expelled, and their Fort taken.

CHAP. XVI.

The general Borders of the sons of Joseph, 1—4. The Borders of Ephraim, 5—9. Some of the Canaanites not expell'd, but made tributary, 10.

1 AND the lot of the children of Joseph a * fell from Jordan by Jericho, unto the † water of Jericho b on the east, to the wilderness that goeth up from Jericho throughout mount Beth-el; a (i. c.) Of Ephraim, and the half Tribe of Manasseh, which are here put together in one; not because they had but one Lot, for Ephraim had one here, v. 5. and Manasseh another, Jos. 17. 1. but because in these first Verses he speaks of them in common, and of the South border, which seems to be the same, either wholly or in a great part: and then he comes to the particular description of their several portions. It is here further remarkable, that God so disposed of these Lots, that they came forth in decent and due order; Judah's first, to whom the Sovereignty was promised; and then Joseph's, who succeeded Reuben in the other Priviledge of the Birth-right, the double-portion, 1 Chron. 5. 1, 2. b Of which see 2 King. 2. 19, 20, 21, 22. c The Wilderness of Beth-aven, as appears by comparing Jos. 18. 12. which speaks of the very same border which was on the South of Ephraim, and on the North of Benjamin.

† Heb. Went forth.

2 And goeth out from Beth-el to * Luz d, and passeth along unto the borders of Archi, to Ataroth,

* Judg. 1. 26.

d Or, from Bethel-luzah, as the LXX. here join the words; for Bethel was anciently called Luz, Gen 28. 19. and 35. 3. Though some think this was another Luz, spoken of Judg. 1. 26. Others make Bethel and Luz two neighbouring Towns, which afterwards being more built and inhabited, became one, as oft hath happened.

3 And goeth down westward to the coast of Japhleti, unto the coast of Beth-horon the nether e, and to Gezer: and the goings out thereof are at the sea.

e Of the two Beth-horons, see Jos. 10. 10, 11.

4 So the children of Joseph, Manasseh f, and Ephraim, took their inheritance g.

f (i. e.) Half Manasseh, by a Synecdoche. g (i. e.) Their several Portions which here follow. Some think that they had but one Lot between them, and therefore they are now said to take their inheritance, to wit, by dividing it between them according to the direction of Joshua and Eleazar, &c. For that Phrase being used of them, and not, to my remembrance, of any other Tribes, may seem to have some peculiar signification, which doth not agree to the other Tribes. But there being mention of a peculiar Lot taken out for Manasseh, Josh. 17. 1. shews that their several inheritances fell to them, as the rest did to the other Tribes, even by several Lots: and it is said of them, that they took their inheritance, which also Judah had done before them, because the Tribes of Judah and Joseph did take their Inheritances before the rest; and it was fit they should do so, for the security of the main Camp, and the body of the people which were at Gilgal. See Jos. 18. 5.

5 ¶ And the border of the children of Ephraim, according to their families, was thus: even the border of their inheritance on the east-side h, was from Ataroth-addar unto Beth-horon the upper.

g (i. e.) The North-east side. It is no wonder, if some of these Descriptions are dark and doubtful to us at this distance of time and place; there having been so many alterations made in places, and so many circumstances, being now altogether undiscoverable. But this is evident to every man of common sense, that this and all the descriptions here mentioned, were then certain and evident to the Israelites, because these were the foundation of their present practice, and of all the possessions which then they took, and peaceably possessed in succeeding Ages.

6 And the border went out toward the sea i, to Mickmethah on the north-side, and the border went about eastward unto Taanath-shiloh, and passed by it on the east to Janohah:

i The Mid-land sea, towards the West.

7 And it went down from Janohah to Ataroth, and to Naarath, and came to Jericho k, and went out at Jordan.

k Not to the City of Jericho, which belonged to Benjamin's Lot, Jos. 18. 21. but to its Territory.

8 The border went up from Tappuah westward unto the river Kanah; and the goings out thereof were at the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.

9 And the * separate cities l for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasseh, all the cities with their villages.

* Chap. 17. 9.

l (i. e.) Besides those Cities which were within Ephraim's bounds, he had some other Cities, to which all their Territories were annexed out of Manasseh's Portion, because his Tribe was all here, and was larger than Manasseh's.

10 And they * drave out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer m: but the Canaanites dwell among the Ephramites unto this day, and serve under tribute n.

* Judg. 1. 29.

m Nor were they driven out till Solomon's time, 1 King. 9. 16.

n As Jos. 17. 13. 1 King. 9. 16.

CHAP. XVII.

The Inheritance of Manasseh: and its Borders, 1—11. They could not drive out the Canaanites, but made them tributary, 12, 13. The Children of Joseph complain, that their Borders are too narrow: Joshua promises them the subduing of the Canaanites, 14—18.

1 THERE was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh, (for he was the * first born of Joseph a) to wit, for † Machir b, the first-born c of Manasseh, the father of Gilead d: because he was a man of war e, therefore he had Gilead and Bashan f.

* Gen. 48. 51. and 46. 20. † Gen. 50. 23. Num. 32. 39, 40.

a The sense is, though Ephraim was to be more potent and numerous, yet Manasseh was the First-born, and had the priviledge of the First-born, which was transferred to Joseph, to wit, a double portion; and therefore though this were but half the Tribe of Manasseh, yet they are not made Inmates to Ephraim, but have a distinct Lot of their own, as their Brethren, or other half Tribe had beyond Jordan. b The only Son of Manasseh, who therefore is here, and Judg. 5. 14. put for the whole Tribe. c So even onely Sons are sometimes called, as Mat. 1. 25. See Exod. 4. 22. d Or, and the Father, or who was also the Father of Gilead; not of the Land of Gilead, but of the man Gilead, who was Machir's Son, Numb. 26. 29. e He, i. e. Machir, had given great proof of his Valour in his Generation, (though the particular History be not mentioned) and his Posterity were no degenerate Sons, but had his valiant Blood still running in their Veins. f (i. e.) Part of those Countreys; for part of them was also given to the Reubenites, and part to the Gadites, as appears from Jos. 13. 30, 31. This may be added as a reason, either 1. Why he got those places from the Amorites: or 2. Why they were allotted to him or his Posterity, because this was a Frontier Country, and the Out-works to the Land of Canaan, and therefore required such valiant persons to defend it.

2 There

2 There was also a lot g for * the rest of the children of Manasseh b by their families: for the children of Abiezer, and for the children of Helek, and for the children of Asriel, and for the children of Shechem, and for the children of Hepher, and for the children of Shemida: these were the male children i of Manasseh the Son of Joseph by their families. * Numb. 26. 29.

g Or, a Portion, or distinct Inheritance. h To wit, those of them which had not received their Possessions beyond Jordan, Numb. 26. 30, &c. i This expression is used to bring in what follows, concerning his Female Children.

3 But * Zelophehad the son of Hephir, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons but daughters k: and these are the names of his daughters, Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. * Numb. 26, 33. and 27. 1. and 36. 2.

k Of whom see on Numb. 26. 33. and 27. 1.

4 And they came near before Eleazar the priest, and before Joshua the son of Nun, and before the princes, saying, The LORD commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our brethren: therefore according to the commandment of the LORD he l gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

l (i. e.) Eleazar, or Joshua, with the consent of the Princes appointed for that work.

5 And there fell ten portions m to Manasseh, beside the land of Gilead, and Bashan, which were on the other side Jordan:

m Either 1. Six portions for the six Sons, whereof one was Hepher; and because he had no Sons, his part was subdivided into five equal parts, for each of the Daughters: Or 2. Ten Portions, five equal parts, for each of the Daughters; for as for Hepher, five for the Sons, and five for the Daughters; for as for Hepher, both he and his Son Zelophehad was dead, and that without Sons, and therefore he had no Portion; but his Daughters had several Portions allotted to them.

6 Because the daughters of Manasseh had an inheritance among his sons n: and the rest of Manasseh's sons had the land of Gilead.

n (i. e.) No less than the Sons, so their Sex was no bar to their Inheritance.

7 ¶ And the coast of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethah, that lieth before Shechem, and the border went along on the right hand, unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8 Now Manasseh had the land of Tappuah: but the city of Tappuah on the border of Manasseh belonged to the children of Ephraim.

9 And the coast descended unto the ‖ river Kanah southward of the river: * these cities of Ephraim o are among the cities of Manasseh p; the coast of Manasseh also was on the north-side of the river, and the outgoings of it were at the sea. ‖ Or, Brook of Reeds. * Chap. 16. 9.

o Tappuah, and the cities upon the Coast descending to the River, &c. last mentioned. p (i. e.) Are intermixed with their Cities, which was not strange nor unfit, these two being linked together by a nearer Alliance than the rest.

10 Southward it was Ephraims, and northward it was Manasseh's, and the sea is his border q, and they met together in Asher r on the north, and in Issachar on the east.

q Either 1. Manasseh's, whose portion is here described, and whose Name was last mentioned. Or 2. Ephraim's and Manasseh's both expressed in the foregoing words, and implied in the following, they. r (i. e.) Upon the Tribe of Asher; for though Zabulon came between Asher and them for the greatest part of their Land; yet it seems there were some Necks or Parcels of Land, both of Ephraim's and of Manasseh's, which jutted out farther than the rest, and touched the borders of Asher. And it is certain there were many such incursions of the Land of one Tribe upon some parcels of another, although they were otherwise considerably distant one from the other. See Jos. 19. 34. And you must not judge of these things by the present Maps, which many times are according to the Opinions of late Authors, which many times are false; and they are to be judged by the Scripture, and not the Scripture by them: But, that part of Manasseh did reach to Asher, appears from hence, that Dor, a City of Manasseh, v. 11. was, as Josephus witnesseth, near Carmel, which belonged to Asher, Jos. 19. 26.

11 And Manasseh had in Issachar, and in Asher s, Beth shean and her towns, and Ibleam and her towns, and the inhabitants of Dor u and her towns, and the inhabitants of Endor and her towns, and the inhabitants of Taanach and her towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns, even three Countreys x.

s Either 1. Bordering upon them, as in Asher is taken v. 10. and as Aarons Rod is said to be in the Ark, i. e. close by it, Heb. 9. 4. or 2. Properly in them, as Ephraim had some Cities in the Tribe of Manasseh, Jos. 16. 9. and as it was not unusual, when the place allotted to any Tribe was too narrow for it, and the next too large, to give away part from the larger to the less portion; nay sometimes one whole Tribe was taken into another; as Simeon was into Judah's Portion, when it was found too large for Judah, Jos. 19. 9.

t Not the places only, but the people; whom, contrary to Gods Command, they spared and used for Servants, whom therefore they are said to have or possess. x This may be referred either to some, to wit, the three last places, or to all the places named in this verse, which are here said, either to have three Countreys or Tracts of Land belonging to them, or to be in three several Countreys or Portions, as they seem to have been, some in Issachar, and some in Asher, and yet both belonging to Manasseh. Or, the words may be rendred, the third part of that Countrey; for the Hebrew word is of the Singular Number, and the Article seems emphatical; and so the meaning may be, That the Cities and Towns here mentioned are a third part of that Countrey, i. e. of that part of Issachar and Asher Portion, in which those places lay.

12 Yet * the children of Manasseh could not y drive out the inhabitants of those cities, but the Canaanites would dwell z in that land. * Judg. 1. 27.

y See on Jos. 15. 63. z Were resolved to Fight, rather than be turned out of their ancient habitations.

13 Yet it came to pass when the children of Israel were waxen strong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute: but did not utterly drive them out a.

a Which they were obliged to, now they were strong and numerous enough to possess those places.

14 And the children of Joseph b spake unto Joshua c, saying, Why hast thou given me but one lot, and one portion d to inherit, seeing I am a great e people, forasmuch as the LORD hath blessed me hitherto?

b (i. e.) Of Ephraim and Manasseh, as is manifest, partly from v. 17. where it is so explained; and partly, because they mention it as an unreasonable thing, that they being two, should have but one Lot. c (i. e.) Expostulated with him, when they went and saw that Portion which was allotted to them, and found it much short of their expectation. d Either 1. Because they really had but one Lot, which was afterwards divided by the Arbitrators between them. Or 2. Because the Land severally allotted to them, was no more than was little enough for one of them. e Or, numerous, for so the Hebrew word oft signifies.

15 And Joshua answered them, If thou be a great people f, then get thee up to the wood-country g, and cut down h for thy self there in the land of the Perizzites i, and of the ‖ giants k, if mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee l. ‖ Or, Rephaim.

f He retorts their own Argument; Seeing thou art a great and numerous People, turn thy Complaints into Actions and valiant Exploits, and enlarge thy Borders by thy own hand, to which thou maist confidently expect Gods assistance. g To the Mountain, as it is called v. 17. where among some Towns there is much Woodland, which thou maist without much difficulty possess, and so get the more room. h Either the Wood, v. 18. for thy own advantage and use; partly in building more Cities and Towns; and partly for preparing the Land for the use of Pasture and Tillage. i Supposed to be a savage and brutish kind of People, that lived in Woods and Mountains. k Who lived in Caves and Mountains, now especially when they were driven out of their Cities. l Or, now especially when thou hast driven out of their Cities. Mount Ephraim was a particular and eminent portion of the Land, belonging to the Tribe of Ephraim, as appears from Josh. 19. 50. and 20. 7 and 21. 21. Judg. 4. 5. And this seems to be here mentioned Synecdochically, for all the Portion allotted to Ephraim and Manasseh, as appears from their complaint, which was not, that this part, but that their whole Portion was too strait for them.

16 And the children of Joseph said, The hill is not enough for us m: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the land of the valley n, have * charets of iron o, both they who are of Beth-shean, and her towns, and they who are of the valley of Jezreel p. * Judg. 1. 19.

m If we should Invade and Conquer it, and cut down both Wood and Men, yet it would not be sufficient for us. Heb. The Wood and Men, yet it would not be sufficient for us. Heb. The Hill will not be found, i. e. obtained by us; those fierce and strong people the Perizzites and the Giants will easily defend themselves, and frustrate our attempts, having the advantage of the Woods and Mountains. n (i. e.) And if thou sayest, as we know thou wilt reply, That if the Hill either cannot be Conquered, or be not sufficient for us, we may go down and take more Land out of the pleasant and fruitful Valleys, we shall meet with no less difficulty there than in the Mountains. Or thus, in going to the Hills to which thou directest us, we must pass through Valleys, where we shall be way-laid by powerful and armed Enemies. o Not all made of Iron, but armed with Iron, not only for Defence, but for Offence also, having as it were Sithes and Swords fastned to them, to cut down all that stood in their way. p Which was either in the Tribe of Issachar, or upon the Borders of it, Jos. 19. 18.

17 And Joshua spake unto the house of Joseph, even to Ephraim, and to Manasseh, saying, Thou art a great people, and hast great power: thou shalt not have one lot only q.

q Thou needest and deservest more than that Lot, of which thou art actually possessed, and thou hast Power to get more; which if thou endeavourest to do, God will bless thee, and give thee more.

18 But the mountain shall be thine: for it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it down: and the outgoings of it r shall be thine: for thou shalt drive out the Canaanites, nites, though they have iron chariots, and though they be strong.

r Either 1. The Productions or Fruits of that Land, when it is cleared from the Wood, and purged: or rather, 2. The Valleys and Fields belonging or adjoining to it, for there the Canaanites were, v. 16.

CHAP. XVIII.

The Tabernacle is set up in Shiloh, 1. The remainder of the Land described and divided into seven parts, for the seven Tribes which as yet had no Inheritance. 2——9. Joshua casts the Lot at Shiloh: 10. The first comes out for Benjamin, 10. Whose Borders and Cities are described, 11——28.

AND the whole congregation of the children of Israel assembled together at Shiloh, and set up the tabernacle of the congregation there a; and b the land was subdued before them.

a By God's appointment, as is manifest from Deut. 12. 5, &c. Jer. 7. 12. Hither it was removed from Gilgal, partly for the honour and convenience of Joshua, that he being of the Tribe of Ephraim, and seating himself there, might have the opportunity of consulting with God as oft as he desired and needed; and partly for the convenience of all the Tribes, that being in the heart and center of them, they might more easily resort to it from all places. Here the Tabernacle continued for above 300 Years, even till Samuels days; 1 Sam. 4. 3. b Or, for, because those words contain a reason of the former action: the Particle and is oft used for for, as hath been shewed.

2 And there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes, which had not yet received their inheritance.

3 And Joshua said unto the children of Israel, How long are ye slack to go to possess the land c which the LORD God of your fathers hath given you?

c This slackness is supposed to arise, partly from their dissatisfaction in the portions already allotted, Judah's being too large, as it appeared; and Joseph's too narrow, as they complained; partly from an opinion of the impossibility of making any regular and equal distribution of the Parts, till the whole were better known, and more exactly surveyed, which accordingly is here done; and partly, because being weary of War, and having sufficient plenty of all things in their present condition, they grew slothful and secure, and were unwilling to run into new Hazards and Wars, as they perceived by Joshua's answer to the Tribe of Joseph, Jos. 17. 15, &c. they were likely to do when they entred upon their several Possessions.

4 Give out from among you three men d of each tribe e: and I will send them, and they shall rise, and go thorow the land f, and describe it according to the inheritance of them, and they shall come again to me.

d Three, not One, for more exact observation both of the measure and quality of the several Portions, and for greater assurance and evidence of their care and faithfulness in giving in their Account. e Either One of each of these Tribes, who were yet unprovided for; or rather Two of all the Tribes, even of them who had already received their Portions; which was highly expedient, that in case it should appear that there was not a sufficiency for each of these Tribes who wanted their Portions, their Brethren might be more ready either to assist them in procuring more Land, or to part with some of their own Portion to them. f Which they might now safely do, because the Terror of the late War was yet upon the Canaanites, who were loath to rouse so near and potent an Enemy.

5 And they shall divide it into seven parts f: Judah shall abide in their coast on the south g, and the house of Joseph shall abide in their coast on the north h.

f Which were of equal extent or worth: for no Tribe was so great, but one of these parts in its full extent would abundantly suffice them; and there was no reason why the Portions should be greater or less according as the Tribes at present were more or fewer in number, because of the various changes which happened therein successively; it being usual for one Tribe to be more numerous than another in one Age, which was fewer in the next. And if the several Tribes had increased more, and not diminished their Numbers by their Sins, they might have sent forth Colonies, and taken any part of the Land, even as far as Euphrates, all which the Lord of the whole Earth had given them a Right to, which when they pleased they might take Possession of. g They shall not be disturbed in their Possession, but shall keep it, except some part of it shall be adjudged to another Tribe. h In respect of Judah, not of the whole Land; for divers other Tribes were more Northern than they.

6 Ye shall therefore describe the land into seven parts, and bring the description hither to me: that I may cast lots for you here before the LORD i your God.

i i. e. Before the Ark or Tabernacle, that God may be Witness, and Judge, and Author of the Division, that each may be contented with his Lot, and that your several Possessions may be secured to you as things Sacred, and not to be alienated.

7 But the Levites have no part among you k, for the priesthood of the LORD is their inheritance: and Gad and Reuben, and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave them.

8 ¶ And the men rose, and went away: and Joshua charged them that went to describe the land, saying, Go and walk through the land, and describe it, and come again to me, that I may here cast lots for you before the LORD in Shiloh.

k Therefore it shall be divided only into seven parts, as I have said.

9 And the men went and passed through the land, and described it by cities l, into seven parts in a book, and came again to Joshua to the host at Shiloh.

l Or, according to the Cities, to which the several Parts or Territories belonged.

10 ¶ And Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh, before the LORD: and there Joshua divided the land unto the children of Israel, according to their divisions.

11 ¶ And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came up according to their families: and the coast of their lot came forth between the children of Judah, and the children of Joseph m.

m Wherein we see the wisdom of Divine Providence, this being the only place in which that Prophecy, Deut. 33. 12. could have been accomplished.

12 And their border on the north-side was from Jordan, and the border went up to the side of Jericho, on the North-side, and went up through the mountains westward, and the goings out thereof were at the wilderness of Beth-aven n.

n A place distinct from, but near unto Bethel, as may be gathered from Jos. 16. 1.

13 And the border went over from thence toward * Luz, to the side of Luz, (* which is Beth-el) southward, and the border descended to Ataroth-adar, near the hill that lieth on the south-side of the nether Beth-horon. * Gen. 28. 19.

14 And the border was drawn thence, and compassed the corner of the sea southward: from the hill that lieth before Beth-horon southward: and the goings out thereof were at Kirjath-baal (which is Kirjath-jearim o) a city of the children of Judah: this was the west quarter.

o The Israelites changed the name, to blot out the remembrance of Baal. Compare Jos. 15. 9. Numb. 32. 38.

15 And the south quarter p, was from the end of Kirjath-jearim, and the border went out on the west, and went out to the well of waters of Nephtoah.

p The same with the North-quarter of Judah. See Jos. 15. 5, 6, 11.

16 And the border came down to the end of the mountain q, that lieth before the valley of the son of Hinnom r, and which is in the valley of the giants on the north s, and descended to the valley of Hinnom * to the side of Jebusi t on the south, and descended to * Enroge's, * ch. 15. 8. * ch. 15. 7.

q i. e. The place where the Mountain ends, and the Valley begins. r i. e. In the prospect of that Valley; or, that reacheth to that Valley on the South. s Which extends to this other Valley on the North-side of it. t To that part where the Jebusites lived, which was in and near Jerusalem.

17 And was drawn from the north, and went forth to En shemesh, and went forth toward Geliloth u, which is over against the going up of Adummim, and descended to * the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben, * ch. 15. 6.

u Called also Gilgal, as appears from Jos. 15. 7. Judg. 3. 19. but differing from that Gilgal by Jordan.

18 And passed along toward the side over against ‖ Arabah x northward, and went down unto Arabah. ‖ Or, the plain.

x Called Beth-arabah. Jos. 15. 6.

19 And the border passed along to the side of Beth-hoglah northward: and the outgoings of the border were at the north † bay of the salt sea y, at the south end of Jordan: this was the south coast. † Heb. tongue.

20 And Jordan was the border of it on the east-side: This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, by the coasts thereof round about, according to their families.

y Where an Arm of that Sea runs into the Land, which is opposed to the South-bay that was in the South-border of the Tribe of Judah, Jos. 15. 2. z Where it enters into the Salt Sea, which is here opposed to the North-end of it, or the Spring head, which was in the North.

21 Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, according to their families, were Jericho a, and Beth-hoglah, and the valley of Keziz b, a For tho' the City was destroyed, the Territory remained, and some Houses probably were built and inhabited there, though it was not made a City with Walls and Gates, which was the only thing forbidden, Jos. 6. 26. b Or, Emek-keziz, the proper name of a City or great Town.

22 And † Beth-arabah, and Zemaraim c, and Bethel. † Gr. Bethabara. 1 Joh. 1. 28.

23 And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,

24 And Chephar-haammonai, and Ophni, and Gaba: twelve cities with their villages.

25 Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth, c Which either gave name to, or took name from that Mountain, 2 Chron. 13. 4.

26 And Mizpeh d, and Chephirah, and Mozah,

27 And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah, d Near Ramah, in the same Mountain where Silo was. There were divers other Cities of that name.

28 And Zelah, Eleph, and Jebusi (which is Jerusalem e) Gibeath, and Kir-jath: fourteen cities f with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to their families.

e So it seems this City did properly and primarily belong to Benjamin, altho' the Tribe of Judah had also an Interest in it, either because some part of it was allotted to them, or because the Benjamites gave them a share in it, for the Assistance which either they had received, or did expect from that Potent Tribe, for the getting or defending of that very important place. See more on Jos. 15. 63.

f It is more than probable that all the Cities belonging to this Tribe are not here named, because Anathoth and Almon are omitted here, but expressed Jos. 21. 18.

CHAP. XIX.

The second Lot falls to Simeon: his Borders among the Tribe of Judah; whose Inheritance was too great for them, 1—9. The third Lot falls to Zebulun, 10—16. The fourth to Issachar, 17—23. The fifth to Asher, 24—31. The sixth to Naphtali, 32—46. The seventh to Dan, 47, 48. The Children of Israel give an Inheritance to Joshua, 49, 50. The division of the Land finished, 51.

AND the second lot came forth to Simeon, even for the Tribe of the Children of Simeon, according to their families: and their inheritance was within the inheritance of the children of Judah a.

a This was so order'd by God's Providence, partly to fulfil that threatning that he would divide and scatter this Tribe in Israel, Gen. 49. 7. which was hereby done in part, because they had no distinct part of their own, but were as Inmates to Judah; partly, because now upon the more exact survey of the Land, it appeared to Joshua and Eleazar, and all the Princes and People, even to the Tribe of Judah themselves, that the Part given to Judah did far exceed the Proportion which either they needed and could occupy, or which the other Tribes could expect; and partly, because this was the least of the Tribes, as is evident from Numb. 26. 14. and therefore fitteſt to be put within another Tribe.

2 And they had in their inheritance Beersheba, and b Sheba, and Moladah, b Or, or, i.e. otherwise called: for that Beersheba and Sheba were one and the same City, is manifest both from v. 6. where all the Cities are reckoned to be but Thirteen: and from 1 Chron. 4. 28. where Simons Cities are enumerated, and Sheba omitted as superfluous.

3 And Hazar-shual, and Balah c, and Azem, c Called also Bilhah, 1 Chron. 4. 29. and Baalah, Jos. 15. 29. For let this be observed once for all, that the names of Persons or Places are frequently changed through length of Time, or difference of Dialects, or study of brevity and easiness in Pronunciation, or new Accidents, or other Causes. Thus Eltolad and Bethul, v. 4. are called Tolad and Bethuel, 1 Chron. 4. 29, 30. and for Bath-lebaoth, v. 6. is Beth-birei, 1 Chron. 4. 31.

4 And Eltolad, and Bethul, and Hormah,

5 And Ziklag, and Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-susah,

6 And Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhen: thirteen cities d, and their villages.

d Or, Towns, a. some of them are called, 1 Chron. 4. 32. Nor are all Simeons Cities here numbred, for Elam is added, 1 Chron. 4. 32. unless that were built afterward.

7 Ain, Remmon, and Ether, and Ashan: four cities and their villages.

8 And all the villages that were round about these cities, to Baalathbeer, Ramath of the south: This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families.

9 Out of the portion of the children of Judah was the inheritance of the children of Simeon: for the part of the children of Judah was too much for them: therefore the children of Simeon had their inheritance within the inheritance of them.

10 ¶ And the third lot came up for the children of Zebulun e, according to their families, and the border of their inheritance was unto Sarid.

e Who is here put before Issachar his elder Brother, as he is also Gen. 49. 13, 14. Deut. 33. 18.

11 And their border went up toward the Sea f, and Maralah, and reached to Dabbasheth, and reached to the river that is before Jokneam g.

f i.e. The Midland Sea, as on the other side it reached to the Sea of Galilee, and so those Prophecies concerning him, Gen. 49. 3. Deut. 33. 18. were abundantly fulfilled. g Supposed to be Kishon, Judg. 4. 7. or Belus, or Pagit.

12 And turned from Sarid eastward, toward the sunrising, unto the border of Chisloth-tabor, and then goeth out to Daberath h, and goeth up to Japhia, h A City in Issachar, as appears from Jos. 21. 28.

13 And from thence passeth on along on the east to Gittah-hephir, to Ittah-kazin, and goeth out to Remmon ‖ Methoar to Neah.

‖ Or, which is drawn.

14 And the border compasseth it on the north-side to Hannathon: and the out-goings thereof are in the valley of Jiphthah-el.

15 And Kattath, and Nahallal, and Shimron, and Idalah, and Beth-lehem i: twelve cities k with their villages.

i Not that where Christ was born, which was in Judah, thence called Bethlehem Judah, Matt. but another. k There are more numbred here, but the rest either were not Cities properly so called, having Villages under their jurisdiction; or were not within this Tribe, but only bordering upon it, and belonging to other Tribes, which is evident of some of them, and may well be presumed of others.

16 This is the inheritance of the children of Zebulun, according to their families, these cities with their villages.

17 ¶ And the fourth lot came out to Issachar, for the children of Issachar, according to their families.

18 And their border was toward Jezreel l, and Chesulloth, and Shunem m.

l The Royal City, 1 King. 21. 1. This Tribe, because it lay between Benjamin on the South, and Zebulun on the North, is not here described by its borders, which were the same with theirs; but by some of its Cities. m The Birth-place of Abishag, 1 King. 1. 3.

19 And Haphraim, and Shion, and Anaharath,

20 And Rabbith, and Kishion, and Abez,

21 And Remeth, and En-gannim n, and En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez.

n A different place from that Enganim in the Tribe of Judah, Jos. 15. 34.

22 And the coast reacheth to Tabor, and Shahazimah, and Beth-shemesh, and the out-goings of their border were at Jordan: Sixteen cities with their villages.

23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar, according to their families, the cities and their villages.

24 ¶ And the fifth lot came out of the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families.

25 And their border o was Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achshaph, o On the North-west-side.

26 And Alammelech, and Amad, and Misheal, and reacheth to Carmel westward p, and to Shihor-libnath; p Or, Carmel by the sea, to distinguish it from that Carmel in the Tribe of Judah, 1 Sam. 25. 2. This was a place of eminent fruitfulness, Isa. 33. 9. and 35. 2. and 37. 24. agreeable to the Prophecy concerning Asher, Gen. 49. 20. Deut. 33. 24.

27 And turneth toward the sun-rising, to Beth-dagon, and reacheth to Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphthah-el toward the northside of Bethemek, and Neiel, and goeth out to Cabul q on the left hand r, q Either 1. That Country called Cabul, wherein were 20 Cities, of which 1 King. 9. 13. But this is not probable, because that was not within, nor belonging to any particular Tribe; for then Solomon could not have alienated it from them, and given it unto Hiram, whereas this did belong to Asher; or 2. A certain City so called. r. i. e. On the North, which, when men look towards the East, as is usual, is on their left hand.

28 And Hebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah s, even unto great Zidon t.

s To wit, Kanah the greater, in the upper Galilee; not Kanah the less, which was in the lower Galilee. t Called great for its Antiquity, and Riches, and Glory. This City either was not given to the Israelites, but is only mentioned as their border; or at least was never possessed by them; not without a singular Providence of God, that they might not by the opportunity of so good a Port, be ingaged in much Commerce with other Nations; from which, together with Wealth, that great corrupter of Mankind, they might contract their Errors and Vices.

29 And then the coast turneth s to Ramah, and to the strong city † Tyre t, and the coast turneth to Hosah; † Heb. Tzor. and the outgoings thereof are at the sea, from the coast to * Achzib. * Gen. 25. Judg. 31. Mic. 1.

s From the North Southward. t Exclusively, for this City was no part of the Land given them.

30 Umma also, and Aphek, and Rehob: twenty and two cities x with their villages.

x Here are more named, but some of them were not within this Tribe, but only bordering places.

31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asher, according to their families, these cities with their villages.

32 ¶ The sixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali: even for the children of Naphtali, according to their families.

33 And their coast y was from Heleph, from Allon to Zaanannim, and Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel unto Lakum: and the out-goings z thereof were at Jordan.

y Their Northern Border drawn from West to East, as appears, because when this Coast is described and brought to its end, the Coast is said to turn from the East Westward, v. 34. z i.e. The end of that Coast.

34 And then the coast turneth westward a to Aznoth-tabor, and goeth out from thence to Hukkok, and reacheth to Zebulun on the south side, and reacheth to Asher on the west-side, and to Judah upon Jordan b toward the sun rising.

a This is unquestionably the Southern Border described from East to West. b Qu. How can this be, when there were divers Tribes between this and Judah, all which reached to Jordan? Ans. He doth not say of Judah, as he doth of Zebulun and Asher, that it reacheth to it; but as it seems, purposely leaves out that word which he had used in both the former branches, lest it should be understood of a Local Reaching to it, or being Contiguous with it, which was not true; and that he might signifie, that he meant this Clause in another sense; to wit, that it did in some sort go or reach to, or converse with Judah by Jordan. And so this may be here added, to shew the accomplishment of that famous and obscure Prophecy, That Naphtali, though he should be planted in the utmost border of the Land, on the North-east, yet he should possess the riches of the West and South, Deut. 33. 23. i.e. of those Tribes which were at great distance from him Westward and Southward; and this he should do by way of Commerce with them by their famous River Jordan, which he did not only touch in a small part, as some of the other Tribes did, but lay all along it for a good space together, even from the very Fountain unto the Sea of Genesareth. Some think that this is verified by that Royalty of this River, which they suppose God gave to the Tribe of Judah, which extended as far as Naphtali.

35 And the fenced cities are Ziddim, Zer, and Hammath c, Rakkath and Cinnereth d, c Or, Hamath, of which see Numb. 34. 8. 1 King. 8. 65. 2 King. 23. 33. d Whence the Lake of Cinnereth or Genesareth received its Name.

36 And Adamah, and Ramah, and Hazor,

37 And Kedesh, and Edrei, and En-hazor,

38 And Iron, and Migdal-el, Horem, and Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh: nineteen cities e with their villages.

e See on v. 15, 22, 30.

39 This is the Inheritance of the Tribe of the children of Naphtali, according to their families; the cities and their villages.

40 ¶ And the seventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families.

41 And the coast of their inheritance f was Zorah, and Eshtaol, and Ir-shemesh.

f Which is here described onely by its Cities, not by its Borders, which are in part the same with Judah's, and their Inheritance is in good part taken out of Judah's too large portion; as appears from divers of the Cities here mentioned, which are also reckoned as in Judah's Portion.

42 And Shaalabbin, and Ajalon, and Jethlah,

43 And Elon, and Thimnathah, and Ekron,

44 And Eltekeh, and Gibbethon, and Baalath,

45 And Jehud, and Bene-berak, and Gath-rimmon,

46 And Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border ‖ before ‖ Japho.

‖ Or, over against. ‖ Or, Joppa. Acts 9. 36.

47 And the coast of the children of Dan went out too little for them g, therefore the children of Dan went up to fight against Leshem h, and took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and possessed it, and dwelt therein, and called Leshem † Dan, after the name of Dan their father. † Judg. 18. 29.

g Heb. Went out from them, to wit, out of their hands or Possession; for so this Hebrew Word is used concerning those Lands, which in the year of the Jubilee are said to go out, Levit. 25. 28, 30, 31. 33. i.e. out of the hands of the present Possessor, to the first and ancient Owner. And so peradventure this may signifie that many of the Danites were forced by their powerful Neighbors the Philistins to relinquish their Coast, and their allotted Habitations: which put them upon the following course. h This was done after Joshuah's death, as appears from Judg. 18. and seems to be here inserted, partly that all the chief places where the Danites (dwelt) tho' far distant, might be mentioned together; and partly, to give an account of this strange accident, why they removed from their appointed Portion to so remote a place; which may be this, That being much molested and terrified by their bad Neighbors, they thought fit to go to some place remote from them, which also they were in a manner constrained to do, because otherwise they must have taken some part of the Portions of other Tribes, whereas now going to the very utmost Northern Point of the Land, they took that which did not belong to, or at least, was not in the possession of any other Tribe. See more on Judg. 18.

48 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families; these cities with their villages.

49 ¶ When they had made an end of dividing the land for inheritance by their coasts, the children of Israel gave i an inheritance to Joshua the son of Nun among them.

i i.e. They are said to give it, because the whole Land was given to Joshua, and Eleazar and the Princes, as joint Trustees, acting in the name, and for the good of the People: so that even Joshua could take nothing without their gift.

50 According to the word of the LORD k, they gave him the city which he asked, even * Timnath-serah l in mount Ephraim, and he built m the city, and dwelt therein. * chap. 24. 30.

k As God promised, or commanded; either, first, formerly, as may be gathered from Jos. 14. 6. Where we read, That the Lord said something unto Moses concerning me Caleb, and thee Joshua; not only what is said to Caleb be there expressed, the other not being to his purpose there: for Joshua having shewed the same courage and faithfulness which Caleb did, did doubtless receive equal encouragement and comfort from God at that time. Or, Secondly, now at this time by Eleazar. l Called Timnath-heres, Judg. 2. 9. m i. e. Repaired and enlarged it, in which sense Nebuchadnezzar is said to have built Babylon, Dan. 4. 30.

51 * These are the inheritances which Eleazar the * Numb. 34. 17.

priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, divided for an inheritance by lot, in Shiloh before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: so they made an end of dividing the country.

CHAP. XX.

God commands six Cities of Refuge for those, who unawares should slay man, 1—4. The right use of them, 5, 6. The Israelites appoint hereunto three Cities on this, and three on the other side of Jordan. 7—9.

THE LORD also spake unto Joshua, saying,

2 Speak to the children of Israel, saying, * Appoint out a for you cities of refuge, whereof I spake unto you by the hand of Moses. * Exod. 21. 13. Num. 35. 56, 11. Deut. 19. 14.

a The Possessions being now divided among you, do you reserve some of them for the use which I have commanded.

3 That the slayer that killeth any person unawares, and unwittingly b, may flee thither: and they shall be your refuge from the avenger of blood c.

b Heb. Through Ignorance, or Error, or Mistake, and without Knowledge. The same thing twice repeated to cut off all the claims and expectations that wilful Murderers might have of Protection here; and God having declared, That such should be taken even from his Altar, that they might be killed, Exod. 21. 14. and accordingly Joab was by Solomon's Order killed even at the Altar, 1 King. 2. 28, 29, 30, 31, 34. it is the more strange and impudent, that any Christians should make their Sanctuaries give Protection to such persons whom God hath so expressly excepted from it, which the Papists do; and their Doctors are not ashamed to defend it upon frivolous reasons. c The Kinsman, who had right or power to demand, or take vengeance of the slaughter.

4 And when he that doth flee unto one of those cities, shall stand at the entring of the gate d of that city, and shall declare his cause e in the ears of the elders of that city; they shall take him into the city f unto them, and give him a place g that he may dwell among them.

d Where the Judges used to sit. e Or, his matters or business, what he hath done, and why, and how, he shall give them a true relation of the Fact, and all its circumstances. f Understand, if they are satisfied in the relation he makes, concerning the Fact, otherwise it had been a vain thing to examine his Cause. g Which they might well allow him, because God gave them the City with a reservation for such persons.

5 And if the avenger of blood pursue after him, then they shall not deliver the slayer up into his hand: because he smote his neighbour unwittingly, and hated him not before time.

6 And he shall dwell in that city, until he stand h before the congregation i for judgment and * until the death of the high priest k that shall be in those days: then shall the slayer return and come unto his own city, and unto his own house, unto the city from whence he fled. * Numb. 35. 12, 25.

h Which was the posture of the Accused and Accusers, Exod. 18. 13. Isa. 50. 8. Zech. 3. 1. i Or, Company, or Assembly; to wit, the Council appointed to judge of these matters, not the Council of the City of Refuge, for they had examined him before, v. 4. but of the City to which he belonged, or in or nigh which the Fact was committed, as appears from Numb. 35. 25. k Of which see on Numb. 35. 25.

7 ¶ And they † appointed Kedesh in Galilee in mount Naphtali, and Shechem in mount Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba (which is Hebron) in the mountain of Judah l. † Heb. Sanctified.

l Concerning these Cities note, 1. That they were all upon Mountains, that they might be seen at a great distance, and so direct those who fled thither. 2. That they were seated at convenient distance one from another, for the benefit of the several Tribes; distance one from another, for the benefit of the several Tribes; for Kedesh was in the North, Hebron in the South, and Shechem between them. 3. That they all belonged to the Levites; partly that these Causes might be more impartially examined, and justly determined by them who are presumed best able to understand the Law of God, and most obliged and likely to follow it in their Judgment, and not to be biassed by any affection or corrupt interest, and partly, that their just reputation with the people, and their good Counsels, might lay some restraint upon revengeful persons, who might be inclined or tempted to follow the Man-slayer thither, and endeavour to kill him there.

8 And on the other side Jordan by Jericho eastward, they assigned m * Bezer in the wilderness upon the plain, out of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead, out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan, out of the tribe of Manasseh. * Deut. 4. 43. 1 Chron. 6. 78.

m Or, gave, or had assigned or given; for they were given by Moses, Deut. 4. 41, &c. or, they confirmed Moses his Grant, and applied them to that use to which Moses designed and separated them.

9 These were the cities appointed for all the children of Israel, and for the stranger n that sojourneth among them, that whosoever killeth any person at unawares, might flee thither, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he stood before the congregation.

n Not only Proselytes, but others also; because this was a matter of common right, that a distinction might be made between cases of common right, that a distinction might be made between cases of meer Casualty, and wilful Murderers.

CHAP. XXI.

Cities given out of the other Tribes by lot to the Levites, 1—8. Particularly to the Priests, the children of Aaron, 9—19. To the Levites; to the Kohathites, 20——26. The Gershonites, 27——33. and Merarites, 34——40. in all 48 cities; with their suburbs, 41. The Israelites quietly enjoy the promised Land, 41——45.

1 THen a came near the heads of the fathers of the Levites b unto Eleazar the priest, and unto Joshua the son of Nun, and unto the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel.

a When the whole Land was distributed unto the several Tribes, but not actually possessed by them; which was the proper season for them to put in their claim. b The Fathers of the Levites were Kohath, Gershom, and Merari, and the heads of these were the chief persons now alive of these several Families.

Chap. 8. 1. Numb. 3. 2.

2 And they spake unto them * at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, saying, † The LORD commanded by the hand of Moses, to give us cities to dwell in, with the suburbs thereof for our cattel.

3 And the children of Israel gave unto the Levites c out of their inheritance d, at the commandment of the LORD, these cities and their suburbs e.

c It seems most probable, that they gave to the Levites promiscuously such Cities as God commanded, and that the Lot appropriated them to their several Houses or Families. d (i.e.) Out of their several Possessions; partly, that the burden and loss might be equally divided; and principally, that the Levites being dispersed among the several Tribes, according to Jacobs Prediction, Gen. 49. 7. might more easily, and frequently, and effectually Teach the Israelites God's Law and Judgments, which they were engaged to do, Deut. 33. 10. and that the People might upon all occasions resort to them, and require the meaning of the Law at their mouths, Mal. 2. 7. e Not only the use, but the absolute Dominion of them, as is manifest both from v. 11. 12. where a distinction is made between the City and Suburbs of Hebron, and the Fields and Villages thereof, and the former are given to the Levites, the latter to Caleb; and from the return of these Cities in the Jubilee, unto the Levites as to their proper owners, Levit. 25. 33, 34.

4 And the lot came out for the families of the Kohathites, and the children of Aaron the priest, which were of the Levites, had * by lot out of the tribe of Judah, and out of the tribe of Simeon, and out of the tribe of Benjamin f, thirteen cities g.

* See Ch. 24. 33.

f Which three tribes were nearest to the Temple, where their business lay. g For though the Priests were now few enough for one City, yet respect was to be had to their succeeding numbers; this division being made for all future Generations. And seeing the Levites might sell their Houses until the Jubilee, Levit. 25. 33. much more might they Let them; and therefore it is probable their Cities were not very long uninhabited, many being inclined to dwell with them by vertue of relations contracted with them, or dependance upon, or expectation from them; or out of respect to the Service of God, and the good of their Souls.

5 And the rest of the children of Kohath h had by lot, out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim; and out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the half tribe of Manasseh i, ten cities k.

h Who were of Aarons Family, or Priests, but Levites only. i Which Tribes are nearest to the three former, and so the Kohathites are placed next to their Brethren the Aaronites. k Fewer than they gave out of the three former Tribes, because their inheritance was less than the former. See Numb. 35. 8.

6 And the children of Gershom had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the half tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.

7 The children of Merari by their families, had out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

8 And the children of Israel gave by lot unto the Levites these cities with their Suburbs k, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

k Of which, see on Numb. 35. 2.

9 ¶ And they gave out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon l, these cities which are here † mentioned by name.

† Heb. called.

l These are mentioned together, because the Cities of Simeon lay within Judah's Portion.

10 Which the children of Aaron being of the families m of the Kohathites, who were of the children of Levi, had; (for theirs was the First lot.)

m (i.e.) Of the family, the Plural Number for the Singular, which is not unusual.

11 And they gave them ‖ the city of Arbah, the father of Anak, (which city is Hebron) in the hill country of Judah, with the suburbs thereof round about it.

‖ Or, Kiriatharba. Gen. 23. 2.

12 But † the fields n of the city, and the villages thereof gave they to Caleb the son of Jephunneh, for his possession.

† Chap. 14. 14.

1 Chron. 6. 56.

n (i.e.) All beyond the 2000 Cubits expressed, Numb. 35. 5. This is here mentioned, not as his peculiar case, but as one eminent instance, to shew, that it was so in all the rest of the Cities here named; that the Fields and Villages thereof still belonged to the several tribes from whom the Cities and their Suburbs were taken; and to make the rest of the Israelites more contentedly and chearfully resign so great a part of their Possessions to the Levites, because even Caleb did so, though his Possession had been long before promised, and now actually given to him by Gods special command, as a mark of honour and compensation for his long and faithful Service.

13 ¶ Thus they * gave to the children of Aaron the priest, Hebron with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer, and Libnah with her suburbs,

* 1 Chron. 6. 57.

14 ¶ And Jattir with her suburbs, and Eshtemoa with her suburbs,

15 And * Holon o with her suburbs, and Debir with her suburbs,

* 1 Chr. 6. 58. Hilen.

o Called Hilen, 1 Chron. 6. 58. as Juttah here is called, Ashan, 1 Chron. 6. 59. and Kibzaim called Jokmeam, 1 Chron. 6. 68. and so some others, the names of the places being changed by length of time, and upon special occasions, as was frequent among the Jews. Though their Doctors add, that some of these places here mentioned being now in the Canaanites Possession, and not speedily recovered from them, there were others put in their stead.

16 And * Ain with her suburbs, and Juttah with her suburbs, and Bethshemesh with her suburbs, nine cities out of those two tribes.

* 1 Chron. 6. 59. Ashan.

p Ain here, and Gibeon, v. 17. and some others here named are not named, 1 Chron. 6. either because they were destroyed in some of those Hostile Invasions and Wars wherewith their Land was grievously harassed and wasted before that time; or they appear there under other Names, as was said.

17 And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with her suburbs, Geba with her suburbs, 18 Anathoth with her suburbs, and * Almon with her suburbs: four cities.

* 1 Chron. 6. 60. Alemeth.

19 All the cities of the children of Aaron the priest, were thirteen cities with their suburbs.

20 ¶ And the families of the children of Kohath, the Levites, which remained of the children of Kohath q, even they had the cities of their lot out of the tribe of Ephraim.

q Over and above those of them who were Priests.

21 For they gave them Schechem with her suburbs, in mount Ephraim, to be a city of refuge for the slayer, and Gezer with her suburbs, 22 And Kibzaim with her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs, four cities.

23 And out of the tribe of Dan, Eltekeh with her suburbs, Gibbethon with her suburbs,

25 And out of the half tribe of Manasseh r, Tanach with her suburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her suburbs: two cities.

r To wit, that half which dwelt in Canaan, by comparing this with v. 27.

26 All the cities were ten with their suburbs, for the families of the children of Kohath that remained.

27 ¶ And unto the children of Gershon of the families of Levites, out of the other half tribe of Manasseh, they gave Golan in Bashan with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer: and Beesthterah with her suburbs: two cities.

28 And out of the tribe of Issachar, Kishon with her suburbs, Dabareh with her suburbs, 29 Jarmuth with her suburbs, En-gannim with her suburbs, four cities.

30 And out of the tribe of Asher, Mishal with her suburbs, Abdon with her suburbs, 31 Helkath with her suburbs, and Rehob with her suburbs: four cities.

32 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer, and Hammoth-dor with her suburbs, and Kartan with her suburbs: three cities.

33 All the cities of the Gershonites, according to their families, were thirteen cities with their suburbs.

34 ¶ And unto the families of the children of Merari, the rest of the Levites, out of the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with her suburbs, and Kartah with her suburbs, 35 Dimnah with her suburbs, Nahalal with her suburbs: four cities.

36 And out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer s with her suburbs, and Jahazah with her suburbs;

s A City of Refuge, as it is called Jos. 20. 8. and therefore needless to be here repeated.

37 Kedemoth with her suburbs, and Mephaath with her suburbs: four cities.

38 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer, and Mahanaim with her suburbs, 39 Heshbon with her suburbs, Jazer with her suburbs, four cities in all.

40 So

40 So all the cities for the children of Merari by their families, which were remaining of the families of the Levites, were by their lot, twelve cities.

41 All the cities of the Levites, within the possession of the children of Israel were forty and eight cities t, with their suburbs.

t Qu. Why hath this Tribe, which was the least of all, more Cities than any of them? Answ. First, It doth not appear that they had more: for though all the cities of the Levites be expressed, it is not so with the other Tribes, but divers of their cities are omitted, as is evident. Secondly, The Levites were confined to their Cities and Suburbs; the rest had large Territories belonging to their Cities, which also they were in a capacity of improving, which the Levites were not; so that one of their Cities might be more considerable than divers of the Levites. Thirdly, God was pleased to deal liberally with his Ministers, partly to put honour upon those whom he foresaw many would be prone to despise; and partly, that being free from all outward distractions, they might more entirely and fervently devote themselves to the service of God, and the instruction of Souls.

42 These cities were every one with their suburbs round about them: thus were all these cities.

43 ¶ And the LORD gave unto Israel all the land u which he sware to give unto their fathers; and they possessed it, and dwelt therein.

u He gave them the right to All, and the actual Possession of the greatest part of it, and power to Possess the rest as soon as it was needful and convenient for them, which was by degrees, when their numbers were increased, &c. Exod. 23. 29, 30. and the absolute dominion of all the people remaining in it.

44 And the LORD gave them rest round about, according to all that he sware unto their fathers, and there stood not a man of all their enemies before them x: the LORD delivered all their enemies into their hand.

x To wit, all the days of Joshua, by comparing Jos. 1. 5. for afterwards it was otherwise with them.

† Chap. 23. 14, 15. 45 † There failed not ought of any good thing, which the LORD had spoken unto the house of Israel: all came to pass.

CHAP. XXII.

The two tribes and half are sent home with a blessing; strict charge to fear the Lord; and great booty, 1—9. they build an Altar of Testimony at the brink of Jordan, 10. the Israelites are offended; and assemble to wage war against them, 11. 12. they first send Phinehas and ten Princes Ambassadors to reprove them, 13—20. they clear themselves; their brethren rest satisfied, 21—34.

THen Joshua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh,

2 And said unto them, Ye have kept * all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you

* Num. 32. 20. Deut. 3. 18.

3 Ye have not left your brethren these many days a unto this day, but have kept the charge of the commandment of the LORD your God.

a (i.e.) For divers years together, so long as the War lasted. See Jos. 11. 18. and 14. 10.

4 And now the LORD your God hath given rest unto your brethren, as he promised them: therefore now return ye, and get ye unto your tents b, and unto the land of your possession, † which Moses the servant of the LORD gave you on the other side Jordan.

† Numb. 32. 33. Chap. 13. 8.

b (i.e.) To your settled habitations, as appears from v. 8. which are oft called Tents, as Judg. 19. 9. 2 Sam. 18. 17. Hos. 9. 6. Mal. 2. 12.

5 But take diligent heed c to do the commandment, and the law d which Moses the servant of the LORD charged you, * to love the LORD your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to serve him with all your heart, and with all your soul e.

* Deut. 10. 12.

c Watch over your selves and all your actions. d Two words expressing the same thing, the Law of Commandments delivered by Moses. e With the whole strength of your Minds, and Wills, and Affections.

6 So Joshua blessed them, and sent them away: and they went unto their tents.

7 ¶ Now to the one half of the Tribe of Manasseh Moses had given possession in Bashan: but unto the other half thereof gave Joshua among their brethren on this side Jordan westward. And when Joshua sent them away also unto their tents, then he blessed them:

8 And he spake unto them, saying, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattel, with silver, and with gold, and with brass, and with iron, and with very much raiment: divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren f.

f (i.e.) With them who stayed beyond Jordan for the defence of their land, and Wives, and Children, who therefore were to have a share, though not an equal share with these. See Numb. 31. 27. But for them, 1 Sam. 30. 24. their share was equal, because their danger was equal.

9 ¶ And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh returned, and departed from the children of Israel out of Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go into the country of Gilead to the land of their possession, whereof they were possessed, according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

10 ¶ And when they came unto the borders of Jordan, that are in the land of Canaan, the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, built there g an altar by Jordan, a great altar to see to.

g Or, then, as this Particle is elsewhere used; and so Learned Interpreters understand it, Psal. 14 5. and 36. 12. Eccles. 3. 17. Hos. 2. 15. And in the Latin Tongue Adverbs of Place are sometimes put for Adverbs of Time: So I take it here. First, Because this best answers to the when in the beginning of the Verse. Secondly, This seems to me to clear a great difficulty as to the place where the Altar was built, which though according to our Translation it seems and is generally thought by Interpreters to have been in the Land of Canaan; yet if things be more narrowly examined, it may be thought to have been on the other side Jordan in Gilead; and that both, First, from v. 11. where it is said to have been built over against, or, in the sight of the land of Canaan, therefore not in it. And Secondly, From the reason they give of the building of this Altar, for fear left the Israelites within Jordan, and in Canaan, should say unto their Children dwelling beyond Jordan, The Lord hath made Jordan a border between us and you, &c. Which jealousie would have been much confirmed by building the Altar in Canaan, but would be satisfied and confuted by having on the other side of Jordan, and in their own Land, a pattern of that Altar at which God was served in the Land of Canaan, as a Witness that they owned the same God, and the same way of Worship with their Brethren that lived in Canaan. But whether the Hebrew Particle be rendred then or there, it is not to be taken too strictly; if then, the meaning is not, that they did this as soon as ever they came to the borders of Jordan, that are in the land of Canaan; but about that time when they came to them, that they thought and designed it, and as soon as ever they were got over Jordan, which was in a very little time, they effected and perfected it: if it be rendred there, it is not to be limited to the very same spot of ground mentioned before, as if it was built at that border of Jordan that was in the Land of Canaan; but to be a little more largely understood; to be built at one or other of the borders of Jordan; or in general, by Jordan: which is here purposely added, for the Explication of the Word there, and to prevent the restraint of it to the border of Jordan, within Canaan.

11 ¶ And the children of Israel heard say, Behold the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, have built an Altar over against the land of Canaan, in the borders of Jordan, at the passage of the children of Israel h.

h Where they passed over Jordan, either at their first entrance into Canaan, or afterwards, and usually.

12 And when the children of Israel i heard of it, the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered themselves together at Shiloh, to go up to war against them k.

i Nor in their own persons, but by their Elders, who used to transact all Affairs of this kind in the name and stead of all the People. k As Apostates from God, according to Gods command in that case, Deut. 13. 13, &c.

13 And the children of Israel sent unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh into the land of Gilead, * Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest.

* Exod. 6. 25.

14 And with him ten Princes, of each † chief house a prince, throughout all the tribes of Israel, and each one was an head of the house of their fathers among the thousands of Israel.

† Numb. 25. 4. † Heb. house of the father.

15 ¶ And they came unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh, unto the land of Gilead, and they spake with them, saying,

16 Thus saith the whole congregation of the Lord l, What trespass is this m, that ye have committed against the God of Israel, to turn away this day n from following the LORD, in that ye have builded you an altar, that ye might rebel o this day against the LORD?

l Who do and are resolved to cleave unto that God from whom you have revolted, and who speak this to you in the name of the Lord. m How heinous a crime is this! n (i.e.) So soon after God hath obliged you by such wonderful favours, and when God is now conducting you home to reap the fruits of all your pains and hazards. o With a design to revolt from, and rebel against God, and against his express command of worshipping him at one only Altar, Exod. 20. 24. Levit. 17. 8, 9. Deut. 12. 5, 11, 13.

17 Is the iniquity † of Peor p too little for us, from which we are not cleansed until this day q (although there was a plague in the congregation of the LORD)

† Numb. 25. 4.

p (i.e.) Of our worshipping of Baal-Peor, Numb. 25. q For though God had pardoned it, as to the National Punishment of it, Numb. 25. 11. Yet they were not yet thorowly purged from it; partly because the shame and blot of that filthy and odious practice was not yet wiped of: and partly, because some of that corrupt leaven still remained among them, and though smothered for a time, yet was ready to break forth upon all occasions. See Jos. 24. 23. And God also took notice of these Idolatrous inclinations in particular persons, and found out ways to punish them one time or other.

18 But that ye must turn away this day from following the LORD? and it will be, seeing ye rebel to day against the LORD, that to morrow r he will be wroth with the whole congregation of Israel s.

r (i.e.) Suddenly, as that word is oft used, as Matt. 6. 30. 1 Cor. 15. 32. s With you for doing so, and with us for suffering, or not punishing it.

19 Now

19 Notwithstanding, if the land of your possession be unclean t, then pass ye over unto the land of the possession of the LORD, wherein the LORD's tabernacle dwelleth, and take possession among us u: but rebel not against the LORD, nor rebel against us w, in building you an altar, beside the altar of the LORD our God.

t If you apprehend it to be so for want of the Tabernacle and Altar there; as the following words imply: if you now repent of your former choice in preferring the worldly commodities of that Country before the advantage of Gods presence and favour, and more frequent opportunities of his Service. u We will readily resign part of our possessions to you for the prevention of this sin and mischief, wherein they shew great zeal for Gods honour, and great pity and charity to their Brethren. w For all the tribes were united in one Body Politick, and made one Commonwealth, and one Church; and each Tribe was subject to the Laws and Commands of the whole Society, and of the Chief Ruler or Rulers thereof; so its disobedience to their just commands was properly Rebellion against them.

Chap. 1. 5. 20 † Did not Achan the son of Zerah x commit a trespass in the accursed thing, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Israel, and that man perished not alone y in his iniquity z?

x (i.e.) One of his Posterity, Jos. 7. 17, 18. y But brought destruction upon his whole Family, and part of our Forces sent against Ai. z Or, for his sin; of which see Jos. 7. 24.

21 Then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, answered and said unto the heads of the thousands of Israel a, a Either First properly, each was a Governor of a thousand: for there were among them divers Rulers, some of Tens, some of Hundreds, and some of Thousands; or rather, Secondly, improperly, and indefinitely, i. e. of the People of Israel, which consist of so many Thousands more than you, whose Authority therefore you owe a reverence to. For by comparing v. 14. these seem to be greater Persons than those that were Rulers of thousands.

22 The LORD God of gods b, the Lord God of gods, he knoweth c, and Israel he shall know †, if it be d in rebellion, or if in transgression against the LORD (save us not this day e).

b That Jehovah, whom we no less than you acknowledge and adore as the God of gods, infinitely superiour to all that are called Gods. The multiplying of his Titles, and the repetition of these words, shew their zeal and earnestness in this matter, and their abhorrency of the very thoughts of it. c To him we appeal who knoweth all things, and the truth of what we are now saying. † Not only our present words, but our future and constant course shall satisfie all Israel of our perseverance in the true Religion. d If this have been done by us with such design, or in such a manner. e Thou, O Lord, to whom we have appealed, and without whom we cannot be saved or preserved, save us not from any of our Enemies, nor from the Sword of our Brethren. It is a sudden Apostrophe to God, usual in such vehement speeches.

23 That we have built us an altar to turn from following the LORD; or if to offer thereon burnt-offering, or meat-offering, or if to offer peace-offerings thereon, let the LORD himself require it f.

f (i. e.) Call us to an account and punish us for it; as that Phrase is oft used, as Deut. 18. 19. 1 Sam. 20. 16. Job 10. 6. Psal. 10. 13.

† Heb. to morrow. 24 And if we have not rather done it for fear of this thing, saying, † In time to come your children might speak unto our children, saying, What have ye to do with the LORD g God of Israel?

g You have no relation to him, nor interest in him, or his Worship.

25 For the LORD hath made Jordan a border between us and you h; ye children of Reuben, and Children of Gad, ye have no part in the LORD i: so shall your children make our children cease from fearing the LORD.

h To shut you out of the Land of Promise, and consequently from the Covenant made between God and our fathers. i Nothing to do with him; no right to serve him or expect favour from him. See the like Phrase. 2 Sam. 20. 1. Ezra 4. 8. Job. 13. 3.

26 Therefore we said, Let us now prepare to build an altar, not for burnt-offering, nor for sacrifice:

* Gen. 31. 48. Chap. 24. 27. ver. 34. 27 But that it may be * a witness between us and you, and our generations after us, that we might do the service of the LORD before him k with our burnt-offerings, and with our sacrifices, and with our peace-offerings, that your children may not say to our children in time to come, Ye have no part in the LORD.

k That we and ours may have and hold our Priviledge of serving and worshipping God, not upon this Altar, but in the place of Gods presence, in your Tabernacle, and upon your Altar.

28 Therefore said we, That it shall be, when they should so say to us, or to our generations in time to come, that we may say again, Behold the pattern l of the Altar of the LORD, which our fathers made, not for burnt-offerings, nor for sacrifices, but it is a witness between us and you m.

l An exact representation and resemblance. m That we both serve one God, and approve and make use of one and the same Altar.

29 God forbid that we should rebel against the LORD, and turn this day from following the LORD, to build an altar for burnt-offerings, for meat-offerings, or for sacrifices, besides the altar of the LORD our God that n before his tabernacle.

30 And when Phinehas the priest, and the princes of the congregation, and heads of the thousands of Israel which were with him, heard the words that the Children of Reuben, and the children of Gad and the children of Manasseh spake, † it pleased them n. † Heb. it was good in their eyes.

n They were fully satisfied with this answer.

31 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest said unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of Manasseh, This day we perceive that the LORD is among us o, because ye have not committed this trespass against the LORD: † now ye have delivered the children of Israel out of the hand of the LORD p. † Heb. then.

o By his gracious presence, and preventing goodness, in keeping you from so great an offence, and all of us from those dismal calamities that would have followed upon it. p (i. e.) From the Wrath and dreadful Judgments of God, by avoiding that Sin which would have involved both you and us in a most Bloody War; you have delivered us from the evils we feared. He that prevents an unexpected or approaching Disease or Mischief, doth as truly deliver a man from it, as he that cures or removes it after it hath been inflicted.

32 ¶ And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, and the princes, returned from the children of Reuben, and from the children of Gad, out of the land of Gilead, unto the land of Canaan, to the children of Israel, and brought them word again.

33 And the thing pleased the children of Israel, and the children of Israel blessed God, and did not intend to go up against them in battel, to destroy the land p wherein the children of Reuben and Gad dwelt.

p As they were by the Law of God obliged to do, if they had been guilty and persisted therein; as afterwards they did the Tribe of Benjamin for the same reason.

34 And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad called the altar ‖ Ed; for it shall be a witness between us, that the LORD is God. ‖ That is, a Witness. So chap. 24. 27.

CHAP. XXIII.

Joshua being old, assembles the people: declares the wonders God had wrought for them: and would work in expelling the Canaanites, 1—5. Exhorts them to be couragious: to observe the Law: and beware of Idolatry, 6—8. which he enforces by former Benefits: and promises, 9—11. By threatnings, 12——16.

1 AND it came to pass, a long time a after that the LORD had given rest unto Israel from all their enemies round about, that Joshua waxed old, and † stricken in age. † Heb. come into days.

a About 14 years after it.

2 And Joshua called b for all Israel c, and for d their elders, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers, and said unto them, I am old and stricken in age.

b Either to his own City, or rather to Shiloh, the usual place of such Assemblies, where his words being uttered before the Lord, were likely to have the more effect upon them. c Not all the people in their own persons, who could not either come thither, or hear him there; but in their Representatives, by their Elders, Heads, Judges and Officers, which are here added for the restriction and explication of that general expression. d Or, even for, &c.

3 And ye have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto all these Nations, because of you e: for the * LORD your God is he that hath fought for you. * Exod. 14. 14

e For your sake and good, that you might gain by their losses.

4 Behold, I have divided unto you by lot these nations that remain f, to be an inheritance for your tribes g, from Jordan with all the Nations that I have cut off h, even unto the great sea † westward i. † Heb. at f Not yet Conquered. g You shall certainly subdue them, and these shall inherit their Land, as you have done the rest, if you be not wanting to your selves. h (i. e.) With the Land of those Nations; the People put for their Land, as we have seen before; and as sometimes on the contrary, the Land is put for the People. i Where the Philistines, your most formidable Adversaries yet survive; but them also and their Land I have given to you, and you shall undoubtedly destroy them, if you will proceed vigorously in your work. set. 5. 32. and 28. 14.

5 And the LORD your God, he shall expel them from before you, and drive them from out of your sight, and ye shall possess their land, as the LORD your God hath promised unto you.

6 Be ye therefore very couragious k, to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, * that ye turn not aside therefrom, to the right hand or to the left l. * Deut.

k For it will require great Courage and Resolution to execute all the Commands of Moses, and particularly, that of expelling and destroying the residue of the Canaanites. l (i. e.) In one kind or other, by adding to the Law, or diminishing from it, as Moses speaks.

7 That

7 That ye come not among these nations m, these that remain amongst you, neither * make mention of the name of their gods n, nor cause to swear by them o, neither serve them, nor bow your selves unto them p. * Psal. 16. 4. Jer. 5. 7. Zeph. 1. 5.

m (i. e.) Avoid all familiar converse and contracts, but especially Marriages with them, as it is explained, v. 12. and as the Hebrew Verb intimates; being oft used of coming or going in to a Woman. n To wit, unnecessarily and familiarly, lest the mention of them breed discourse about them, and so by degrees bring a man to the approbation and worship of them. Compare Exod. 23. 13. Deut. 12. 3. Psal. 16. 4. Eph. 5. 3. o Not require nor compel the Gentiles to swear by them, as they used to do; especially in Leagues and Contracts, which therefore the Israelites are here implicitely forbidden to make with them. p Neither give them any inward reverence, or outward adoration. Here is an observable gradation, whereby he shews what notable Progress Sin usually makes, and what need there is to look to the beginnings of it, forasmuch as by civil and common conversation with their persons was likely to bring them, and indeed did actually bring them, by insensible steps, to the Worship of their gods. So it is no wonder, if some things not simply and in themselves evil, be forbidden by God, as here the naming of their gods is, because they are occasions and introductions to evil.

8 ¶ But * cleave unto the LORD q your God, as ye have done unto this day r. * Or, for if you will have cleave, &c.

q By firm Affiance, constant Obedience, intire Affection, faithful Service and Worship of him alone. r To wit, since you came into Canaan; since which time the body of the people (for of them he speaks, not of every particular person) had behaved themselves much better than they did in the Wilderness, and had not been guilty of any gross and general Apostacy from God, or Rebellion against him. * Deut. 11. 22.

9 ‖ For the LORD hath driven out from before you, great nations and strong; but as for you, no man s hath been able to stand before you unto this day. ‖ Or, then the LORD will drive.

s To wit, whom you have invaded; otherwise some of those people did yet remain unconquered.

10 * One man of you shall chase a thousand: for the LORD your God, he it is that fighteth for you t, * as he hath promised you. * Lev. 26. 8. Deut. 32. 30. * Exod. 14. 14 and 23. 27.

t Impute not this therefore to your own valour, as you will be apt to do, but to Gods gracious and powerful assistance.

11 Take good heed therefore unto your † selves u, that ye love the LORD your God. † Heb. Souls.

u Now it requires more watchfulness and diligence than it did in the Wilderness, because your Temptations are now more and stronger; partly, from the examples and insinuations of your bad Neighbours, the remainders of this wicked people; and partly from your own Peace and Prosperity; and the Pride, Security, Forgetfulness of God, and Luxury, which usually attend upon that condition, as God had warned them, Deut. 6, 10, 11, 12.

12 Else, if ye do in any wise go back x, and cleave unto the remnant of these nations, even these that remain among you, and shall make marriages with them, and go in unto them y, and they to you;

x From God, and from his Worship and Service. y The Phrase notes the Matrimonial act.

13 Know for a certainty, that the LORD your God will no more drive out any of these nations from before you; * but they shall be snares and traps unto you z, and scourges in your sides, and thorns in your eyes a; until ye perish from off this good land b which the LORD your God hath given you. * Exod. 23. 33. Numb. 33. 55. Deut. 7. 16.

z By your indulgence to them, and converse with them, you will be inticed and drawn by degrees into their Errors, and Impieties, and brutish Lusts. a When they have inveagled, and seduced, and thereby weakned you, then they will molest and vex you, no less than a severe Scourge doth a mans Sides which are lashed by it, or than a small Thorn doth the Eye when it is got within it. b They shall so Persecute you, and Fight against you with such Success, that you shall be forced to quit your own Land, and wander you know not whither; which must needs be very Terrible to them to think of, when they compared this present Ease, and Plenty and Safety, with the Pains, and Weariness, and Hazards, and Wants of their former Wandrings.

14 And behold, this day I am going the way of all the earth c, and ye know in all your hearts, and in all your souls d, that * not one thing hath failed e of all the good things which the LORD your God spake concerning you; all are come to pass unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof. * Chap. 21. 45.

c (i. e.) Of all flesh, or of all men; the way which all men go; I am about to Die, as all men must, Heb. 9. 27. The same Phrase is 1 King. 2 2. d (i. e.) You know assuredly; your own experience puts it out of all question. e Qu. How is this true, when so great a part of the Promised Land and People yet remain unconquered? Ans. God promised them to destroy all their Enemies, and to give them the whole Land, not at once, but by degrees, by little and little, as is expressed, Deut. 7. 22. and as was most convenient for them.

* Lev. 26. 16. Deut. 28. 15, 16, &c. 15 Therefore it shall come to pass, that as all good things are come upon you, which the LORD your God promised you; so shall the LORD bring upon you * all evil things f, until he have destroyed you from off this good land, which the LORD your God hath given you.

f The accomplishment of Gods Promises is a Pledge or Assurance, that he will also fulfil his Threatnings; both of them depending upon the same ground, the faithfulness of God.

16 When ye have transgressed the covenant of the LORD your God, which he commanded you, and have gone and served other gods, and bowed your selves to them; then shall the anger of the LORD be kindled against you, and ye shall perish quickly from off the good land which he hath given you.

CHAP. XXIV.

Joshua assembles all the tribes of Shechem, 1. A brief History of Gods Benefits from Terah; exhorts them faithfully to serve the true God, 2—13. Reneweth a Covenant between them and God; promising for himself and his House; the people four several times promising for themselves, 14—25. He writes this in the Book of the Law; and sets up a Stone for a witness, 26—28. His age, death, and burial, 29—31. The burying of Josephs Bones, 32. The death and burial of Eleazar, 33.

1 AND Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel a to Shechem b, and called for the elders of Israel, and for the heads, and for the judges, and for their officers, and they presented themselves before God c.

a To wit, by their Representatives, as Jos. 23. 2. b Either 1. To Shiloh, where the Ark and Tabernacle was; because they are here said to present themselves before God; and because the Stone set up here is said to be set up in or by the sanctuary of the Lord; of both which I shall speak in their proper places. And they say Shiloh is here called Shechem, because it was in the Territory of Shechem; but that may be doubted, seeing Shiloh was Ten Miles distant from Shechem, as S. Jerom affirms. And had he meant Shiloh, why should he not express it in its own and proper name, by which it is called in all other places, rather than by another name no where else given to it? Or rather, 2. To the City of Shechem, a place convenient for the present purpose, not only because it was a Levitical City, and a City of Refuge, and a place near to Joshua's City, but especially for the two main ends for which he summoned them thither. 1. For the solemn Burial of the Bones of Joseph, as is implied here v. 32. and of the rest of the Patriarchs, as is noted Acts 7. 15, 16. for which this place was designed. 2. For the solemn renewing of their Covenant with God; which in this place was first made between God and Abraham, Gen. 12. 6, 7. and afterwards was there renewed by the Israelites at their first entrance into the Land of Canaan, between the two mountains of Ebal and Gerizim, Jos. 8. 30, &c. which were very near Shechem, as appears from Judg. 9. 6, 7. and therefore this place was most proper, both to remind them of their former obligations to God, and to engage them to a farther ratification of them. c Either 1. Before the Ark or Tabernacle, as that Phrase is commonly used; which might be either in Shiloh, where they were fixed; or in Shechem, whither the Ark was brought upon this great occasion, as it was sometimes removed upon such occasions, as 1 Sam. 4. 3. 2 Sam. 15. 24. Or 2. In that Publick, and Venerable, and Sacred Assembly met together for Religious Exercises; for in such God is present, Exod. 20. 24. Psal. 82. 1. Mat. 18. 20. Or 3. As in Gods Presence, to hear what Joshua was to speak to them in Gods Name, and to receive Gods Commands from his mouth. Thus Isaac is said to Bless Jacob before the Lord, i. e. in his Name and Presence, Gen. 27. 7. and Jeptha is said to utter all his words before the Lord in Mizpeh, i. e. as in Gods Presence, calling him in to be Witness of them.

2 And Joshua said unto all the people d, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, * your fathers dwelt on the † other side of the flood e † in old time, even Tera the father of Abraham, and the father of Nachor: and they † served other gods. * Gen. 11. 26, 31. and 12. 1. † Heb. Meolam.

d (i. e.) That people which were present, to wit, to the Elders, &c. by whom it was to be imparted to all the rest, and to as many of the people as came thither. e Or, the River, to wit, Euphrates, as all agree, so called by way of Eminency. f (i. e.) Both Abraham and Nahor were no less Idolaters than the rest of Mankind. This is said to prevent their vain boasting in their worthy Ancestors, and to assure them that whatsoever good was in, or had been done by their Progenitors, was wholly from Gods free Grace, and not for their own merit or righteousness, as the Jews were very apt to conceit. from ever-lasting.

3 And I took g your father Abraham from the other side of the flood, and led him throughout all the land of Canaan h, and multiplied his seed i, and * gave him † Isaac k. * Gen. 21. 2.

g I apprehended him by my grace, and snatched him out of that Idolatrous and Wicked place, and took him into Acquaintance and Covenant with my self, which was the highest Honour and Happiness he was capable of. h (i. e.) I brought him after his Fathers Death into Canaan, Gen. 12. 1. and I conducted and preserved him in safety in all his Travels through the several parts of Canaan. i (i. e.) Gave him a numerous Posterity, not only by Hagar and Keturah, but even by Sarah and by Isaac, as it follows. k By my special Power and Grace to be the Heir of my Covenant, and all my Promises, and the Seed in or by which all Nations were to be Blessed, Gen. 12. 1. and 21. 2.

4 And I gave unto Isaac, * Jacob and Esau, and I † gave unto * Esau mount Seir to possess it l: * but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt m. * Gen. 25. 24, 26. † Gen. 36. 8

l That he might leave Canaan intire to his Brother Jacob and his Posterity, Gen. 36. 7, 8. m Where they long lived in grievous Bondage; which God having delivered us from, I shall now pass it over. * Gen. 46. 1, 6.

5 * I sent Moses also and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt according to that which I did n amongst them: and afterwards I brought you out.

n (i. e.) In such manner, and with such Plagues as I inflicted, and are recorded.

6 And I * brought your fathers out of Egypt, and ye came unto the sea, and the Egyptians purfued after your fathers with charets and horsemen unto * the Red-sea.

7 And when they cried unto the LORD, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them, and your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt o; and ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

o He speaketh this to the Elders, v. 1. who were so, not only by Power and Dignity, but many of them by Age; and there being now not sixty years past since those Egyptian Plagues, it is very probable that a considerable number of those here present, had seen those things in Egypt, and being not twenty years old, were exempted from that dreadful Sentence of Destruction, passed upon all who were then of more years standing, Numb. 14.

8 And I brought you into the land of the Amorite, which dwelt on the other side Jordan: * and they fought with you, and I gave them into your hand, that ye might possess their land, and I destroyed them from before you.

9 Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and warred against Israel p, and * sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you.

p Qu. How is this true, when Balak did never fight against Israel, Judg. 11. 25? Ans. One Prince may commence a War against another, though he never come to a Battel, nor strike one stroke; So Balak warred, though not by open force, yet by Crafty Counsel and Warlike Stratagems, by Magical Arts, by Wicked Devices, by making bare betwixt them and God their Confederate; or by Warlike preparations, in case Balaams Charms had succeeded, as may be gathered from Numb. 22. 11. or at least by design or intention; things being oft said to be done both in Scripture and other Authors, which were only designed or intended, as here v. 11. Gen. 37. 21. Ex. 8. 24. 13. Mat. 5. 28. Joh. 10. 32, 33. And the old Lawyers note, That he is rightly called a Thief or an Adulterer, &c. who wanted nothing but occasion to be so.

10 But I would not hearken unto Balaam q, therefore he blessed you still: so I delivered you out of his hand r.

q Who hereby appears to have desired of God leave to Curse Israel; and therefore it is not strange, that God who permitted him simply to go, was highly angry with him for going with to wicked an intent, Numb. 22. 20, 22, 32. r (i. e.) From Balak malicious Design against you.

11 And * ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jericho: and * the men of Jericho fought against you s, the Amorite, and the Perizzite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Girgashite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite t, and I delivered them into your hand.

s Made opposition against you by shutting their Gates, by endeavouring to cut off your Spies, &c. they Warred against you, if not by an Offensive, yet by a Defensive War. t To wit, successively; for in these few words he seems to comprise all their Wars, which being so fresh in their Memory, he thought it needless particularly to mention.

12 And * I sent the hornet u before you, which drave them out from before you, even the two kings of the Amorites: but * not with thy sword, nor with thy bow x.

u Either figuratively, i. e. Terrors and Plagues, or other destroying Judgments. Or 2. Properly so called. See on Exod. 23. 28. And this being done before Joshua's entrance into Canaan, it is not strange if it be not mentioned in this Book or Record of Joshua's actions. x For though thou didst fight with them, and prevail against them in Battel, yet this was not because thou hadst more force or courage than they; but because by my Hornet which I sent like an Harbinger before thee, I had both broken their spirits, and greatly diminished their numbers, and particularly cut off those Giants or others who were like to give thee most trouble and difficulty; whence it comes to pass that we read of so few Giants in that Land which was called the Land of Giants, Deut. 3. 13.

13 And I have given you a land for which ye did not labour, and * cities which ye built not y, and ye dwell in them: of the vineyards and oliveyards which ye planted not, do ye eat.

y See on Jos. 10. 12, 13.

14 ¶ Now therefore fear the LORD, and serve him in sincerity and in truth z, and put away the gods a which your fathers b served on the other side of the flood, and * in Egypt c; and serve ye the LORD.

z Either these two expressions note the same thing; or sincerity is opposed to the mixture of false gods with the true, as it here follows; or of a false and corrupt worship of God, with that which God appointed; and Truth is opposed to dissimulation and falseness, and inflability of heart. a Whereby it appears, That although Tyhus had doubtless prevented and purged out all publick and manifest Idolatry, yet there were some of them who practised it in their private houses and retirements. See below v. 23. Amos 5. 25, 26. Acts 7. 42, 43. b Terah, and Nahor; and Abraham, as v. 2. and others of your Ancestors. c See Ezek. 23. 3, 8, 19, 21, 27. Under these particulars, no doubt he comprehends all other false gods, which were served by the Nations amongst whom they were, as appears from v. 15. but only mentions these, as the Idols which they were in more danger of worshipping than those in Canaan; partly because those of Canaan had been now lately and palpably disgraced by their inability to preserve their Worshippers from total ruine; and partly, because the other Idols came recommended unto them by the venerable name of Antiquity, and the custom of their forefathers. See Jer. 44. 17. Ezek. 20. 18.

15 And if it seem evil d unto you to serve the LORD, * choose ye this day whom ye will serve e, whether the gods which your fathers served, that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorite, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD f. Job. 6. 67.

d Unjust, unreasonable or inconvenient. e Not that he leaves them to their liberty, whether they would serve God or Idols; for Joshua had no such power or liberty himself, nor could give it to any other; and both he and they were obliged by the Law of Moses, to give their Worship to God only, and to forbear all Idolatry in themselves, and severely to punish it in others; but it is a Rhetorical and powerful insinuation, whereby he both implies, That the Worship of God is so highly reasonable, so necessary and beneficial; and the service of Idols is so absurd, and vain, and pernicious, that if it were left free to all men to make their choice, every man in his right Wits must needs chuse the Service of God, before that of Idols; and provokes them to bind themselves faster to God by their own choice. See such manner of speeches in Ruth 1. 8, 15. 1 King. 18. 21. f But know this, if you should all be so base and brutish, as to prefer senseless and impotent Idols before the True and Living God, it is my firm purpose, That I will, and my Children and Servants (as far as I can influence them) shall be constant and faithful to the Lord.

16 And the people answered and said, God forbid that we should forsake the LORD, to serve other gods.

17 For the LORD our God he is that brought us up, and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, and which did those great signs in our sight, and preserved us in all the way wherein we went, and among all the people through whom we passed.

18 And the LORD drave out from before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore will we also serve the LORD, for he is our God.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the LORD g: for he is an holy God: he is a jealous God h; he * will not forgive your transgressions i, nor your sins. Exod. 23. 21.

g He speaks not of an absolute impossibility, (for then both his resolution to serve God himself, and his exhortation to them to do so, had been vain and ridiculous) but of a moral impossibility, or a very great difficulty, which he alledgeth not to discourage them from Gods Service, which is his great design to engage them in; but only to make them more considerate and cautious in obliging themselves; and more circumspect and resolved in answering their obligations. The meaning is, Gods Service is not, as you seem to fancy, a slight and easie thing, as soon done as said; but it is a work of great difficulty, and requires great care, and courage and resolution; and when I consider the infinite purity of God, that he will not be mocked or abused; and withall your great and often manifested pronenels to Superstition and Idolatry, even during the Life of Moses, and in some of you, whilst I live, and whilst the obligations which God hath laid upon you in this land, are fresh in remembrance; I cannot but fear that after my Decease you will think the Service of God too hard and burdensom for you, and therefore will cast it off, and revolt from him, if you do not double your Watch, and carefully avoid all occasions of Idolatry, which I fear you will not do, but I do hereby exhort you to do. h He will not endure a corrival, or partner in his Worship; you cannot serve him and Idols together, as you will be inclined and tempted to do. i If you who own your selves for his People and Servants, shall wickedly and wilfully transgress his Laws by Idolatry or other Crimes he will not let this go unpunished in you, as he doth in other Nations; Therefore consider what you do when you take the Lord for your God; weigh your advantages and inconveniencies together; for as if you be sincere and faithful in Gods service, you will have admirable benefits by it; so if you be false to your Professions, and forsake him whom you have so solemnly avouched to be your God, he will deal more severely with you, than with any people in the World.

20 If ye forsake the LORD, and serve strange gods, * then he will turn k, and do you hurt, and consume you after that he hath done you good l. Chap. 23. 15.

k (i. e.) He will alter his course and the manner of his dealing with you, and will be as severe as ever he was kind and gracious. l He will repent of all his former kindness, and his goodness abused will be turned into fury.

21 And the people said unto Joshua, Nay, but we will serve the LORD m.

m To wit, him only, and not strange gods, as was supposed by Joshua, v. 20.

22 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye are witnesses against your selves n, that ye have chosen the LORD, to serve him. And they said, We are witnesses.

n This

n This Solemn Profession will be a swift Witness against you, if hereafter you Apostatize from God.

23 Now therefore put away, said he, the strange gods which are among you o, and encline your heart unto the LORD God of Israel.

o Those Idols which you either brought out of Egypt, or have taken in Canaan, which I have too much reason to believe that some of you contrary to God's Command do keep, whether for the preciousness of the matter, or rather for some secret inclination to Superstition and Idolatry, as the following words imply. See v. 14.

24 And the people said unto Joshua, The LORD our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.

25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute, and an ordinance p in Shechem.

p Either, 1. He set, or propounded, or declared unto them the Statute and Ordinance, i. e. the sum of the Statutes and Ordinances of God which their Covenant obliged them to. Or, 2. He set or established it, to wit, that Covenant with them, i. e. the People, for a Statute or an Ordinance, to bind themselves and their Posterity unto God for ever as a Statute and Ordinance of God doth.

26 And Joshua wrote these words q in the book of the law of God r, and * took a great stone, and set it up there s, under * an oak that was by the sanctuary of the LORD t. See Judg. 9. 6. Gen. 35. 4.

q i. e. This Covenant or Agreement of the people with the Lord. r i. e. In that Volume which was kept in the Ark, Deut. 31. 9, 26. whence it was taken and put into this Book of Joshua: This he did partly for the perpetual remembrance of this great and solemn Action, partly to lay the greater obligation upon the people to be true to their engagement; and partly as a Witness for God, and against the people, if afterwards he severely punished them for their defection from God, to whom they had so solemnly and freely obliged themselves. s As a witness and monument of this great transaction, according to the custom of those ancient times, as Gen. 28. 18. and 31. 45. and 35. 14. Exod. 24. 4. Deut. 27. 2. Jos. 4. 3. and 8. 32. Possibly this agreement was written upon this Stone, as was then usual. t i. e. Near to the place where the Ark and Tabernacle then were; for tho' they were forbidden to plant a Grove of Trees near unto the Altar, Deut. 16. 21. as the Gentiles did, yet they might for a time set up an Altar, or the Ark, near a great Tree which had been planted there before.

27 And Joshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us; for it hath heard all the words of the LORD which he spake unto us: it shall be there for a witness unto you, lest ye deny your God.

u It shall be as sure a Witness against you, as if it had heard. This is a common Figure, called Prosopopeia, whereby the Souls, or hearing is oft ascribed to the Heavens and the Earth, and other Shiteless creatures, as Deut. 32. 1. Isai. 1. 2. Jer. 2. 12.

28 So * Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance. Judg. 2. 6.

29 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD died, being an hundred and ten years old.

30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in * Timnath-serah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill of Gaash. Chap. 19. 50. Judg. 2. 9.

31 And * Israel served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that † over lived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the LORD, that he had done for Israel. Judg. 2. 7. †Heb. prolonged their days

32 ¶ And * the bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem x, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem, for an hundred || pieces of silver, and it became the inheritance of the children of Israel. after Joshua. * Gen. 50. 25. Exod. 13. 19. *Gen. 33.

x Not in the city of Shechem, but in a Field near, and belonging to it, as appears from the following words, and from Gen. 33. 18. and from the ancient custom of the Israelites to have their Burying Lamps. places without Cities, in Fields or Gardens. ||Or,

33 And Eleazar the son of Aaron died, and they buried him in a hill that pertained to Phinehas his son, which was given him y in mount Ephraim.

y By special favour, and for his better conveniency in attending upon the Ark, which then was, and for a long time was to be in Shiloh, which was near to this place; whereas the Cities which were given to the Priests, were in Judah, Benjamin and Simeon, which were remote from Shiloh, tho' near to the place where the Ark was to have its settled abode, to wit, to Jerusalem.

The ARGUMENT.

THE Author of this Book is not certainly known; whether it was Samuel, or Ezra, or some other Prophet: nor is it material to know. 1. It matters not who was the King's Secretary, or with what Pen it was written, if it be once known that it was the King who made the Order or Decree: 2. It is sufficient, that unto the Jews were committed the Oracles of God, Rom. 3. 2. i. e. the Holy Scriptures of the Old Testament, one part of which this was, by confession of all; and that the Jews did not falsify their trust therein, but kept those Holy Books themselves, and delivered them to the World entire, without addition or diminution; for neither Christ nor his Apostles, who severely rebuke them for their mistakes and misunderstandings of some passages of Scripture, ever charge them with any perfidiousness about the Canon or Books of the Scripture. This Book is called the Book of Judges, because it treats of the Judges, or of the state of the Commonwealth of Israel under all the Judges, except Eli and Samuel, who being the last of the Judges, and the occasions or instruments of the change of this Government, are omitted in this Book. The Judges were a sort of Magistrates inferior to Kings, and could neither make new Laws, nor impose any Tributes, but were the supreme Executors of Gods Laws and Commands, and the Generals of their Armies.

CHAP. I.

The Tribe of Judah by God's Command begin to make War against the Canaanites, 1——4. Adonibezek justly requited, 5——7. They take Jerusalem, 8. And Hebron. Enak's Sons slain, 9, 10. Othniel Sudah Debir, and so obtained Caleb's Daughter to Wife; 11——15. The Kenites dwell in Judah, 16. Simeon subdueth Zephath, 17. And Judah divers Cities of the Philistines, 18——20. The Jebusites dwell with Benjamin, 21. They of the House of Joseph subdue Bethel, 22——26. Manasseh, Ephraim, Zebulun, Asher, Naphtali, Dan, drive out not the Canaanites; for which they are vexed by them, and are left to dwell among another, 27——36.

NOW after the death of Joshua a, it came to pass, that the children of Israel asked the LORD b, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites first c, to fight against them?

a Not long after it, because Othniel, the first Judge, lived in Joshua's time. b Being assembled together at Shiloh, they enquired of the High priest by the Urim and Thummim. See Numb. 27. 21. Judg. 20. 18. 1 Sam. 23. 9. c Being sensible that the Canaanites are troublesom to them, and expected great advantage against them by their heedless condition, and finding their People to encreast and multiply exceedingly, and consequently the necessity of enlarging their Quarters, they renew the War. They do not enquire who shall be the Captain General to all the Tribes; but (as appears by the answer) What Tribe shall first undertake the Expedition, that by their success the other Tribes may be encouraged to make the like attempt upon the Canaanites in their several Lots.

2 And the LORD said, Judah d shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

d Not a person so called, but the Tribe of Judah, as is manifest from v. 3, 4, 8, 9. which is chosen for the first enterprise, because they were both most populous, and so most needing enlargement; and withal most Valiant, and therefore most likely to succeed: So God chuseth fit means for the work which he designs; and because the Canaanites were numerous and strong in those parts, and therefore were in time to be suppressed, before they grew too strong for them.

3 And Judah said unto Simeon his brother e, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites f, and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. So Simeon went with him.

e As nearest to him both by relation, being his Brother by both Parents, which few of them were; and by habitation, as appears from Jos. 19. 1, 2. f Specially so called, because they are distinguished from the Perizzite, v. 4.

4 And Judah went up, and the LORD delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand, and they slew of them in Bezek g ten thousand men.

g Not in the City, for that was not yet taken, v. 5. but in the Territory of it, or near to it; as in Hor is taken, Numb. 33. 37. And in Jericho, Jos. 5. 13.

5 And they found Adoni-bezek h in Bezek i; and they fought against him k, and they slew the Canaanites, and the Perizzites.

h The Lord or King of Bezek; as his Name signifies i. Whither he fled, when he had lost the Field. i i. e. Against the City wherein he had Encamped himself, and the rest of his Army.

6 But Adoni-bezek fled, and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs, and his great toes l. †Heb. The thumbs of their hands,

7 That he might be disenabled to fight with his Hands, or to run away upon his Feet. And this they did, either by the secret instinct and direction of God, or upon notice of his former Tyranny and Cruelty expressed upon others, in this manner, as it follows: either way it was a just requital. and for gleaning

7 And Adoni-bezek said, Threescore and ten kings m, having † their thumbs * and their great toes cut off, || gathered their meat under my table: as I have done, so God hath requited me o: and they brought him p to Jerusalem q, and there he died.

m Which is not strange in those times and places: for there might be either, First, Kings successively, and so there might be divers of those Kings in one place, and so in others: Or Secondly, Contemporary Kings. For it is well known, that anciently each Ruler of a City, or great Town, was called a King, and had Kingly Power in that place; and many such Kings we meet with in Canaan: and it is probable, Sable, that some years before, Kings were more numerous there, till the greater devoured many of the less. ᵍ That so their hands might be unable to manage weapons of War. ʰ An Act of Barbarous Inhumanity thus to insult over the miserable, joined with abominable Luxury. ⁱ He acknowledgeth the Providence and vindictive Justice of God, which also Pharaoh did, and others too, without any true sense of Piety. ᵏ They carried him in Triumph as a monument of God's righteous Vengeance. ˡ It being the Metropolis of the nation.

8 (Now the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it ʳ, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.)

ᵍ To wit, in Joshua's time; which tho' done before, may be here repeated, to shew why they brought Adoni-bezek to Jerusalem, because that City was in their hands, having been taken before, as may be gathered from Jos. 15. 63. And the taking of this City may be ascribed to the children of Judah, rather than to Joshua, because the City was not taken by Joshua, and the whole Body of the Army in that time when so many Kings were destroyed, Jos. 10. and 12. (for there is mention made of the destroying of the King of Jerusalem, Jos. 10. 23. and 12. 10. But not a word of the taking of Jerusalem, as there is of the taking of Makkedah, and Libnah, and other Cities belonging to the Kings there mentioned, Jos. 10. 28, &c.) but by the Children of Judah after they had received their Lot, when at the desire, and with the consent of the Benjamites, in whose Lot Jerusalem fell, Jos. 18. 28. they assaulted and took it, and thereby, as it seems, acquired the right of Copartnership with the Benjamites in the possession of that City: Tho some think Jerusalem was twice taken, once in Joshua's Life-time; and being afterwards recovered by the Canaanites, was now retaken by the Children of Judah.

Josh. 10. 6. and 11. 1. and 15. 3.

9 ¶ And afterward the children of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites, that dwelt in the mountain, and in the south, and in the ‖ valley.

Or, low country. Josh. 15. 3.

10 And Judah went against the Canaanites ʳ that dwelt in Hebron, (now the name of Hebron before was * Kirjath-arba) and they slew Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.

ʳ Under the Conduct of Caleb, as it is recorded, Jos. 15. 14, &c. for that relation, and this here following, are doubtless one and the same Expedition and War, as appears by all the circumstances; and it is mentioned either there by anticipation, or here by repetition. Of this and the following Verses, see the Notes there.

11 And from thence he went against the inhabitants of Debir, (and the name of Debir before was Kirjath-sepher.)

12 And Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

Chap. 3. 9.

13 And Othniel the son of Kenaz, *Calebs younger brother, took it: and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to pass when she came to him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field: and she lighted from off her ass, and Caleb said unto her, What will thou?

15 And she said unto him, Give me a blessing, for thou hast given me a south land, give me also springs of water. And Caleb gave her the upper springs, and the nether springs.

16 ¶ And the children of the Kenite, Moses father in law ˢ, went up out of the city of palm-trees ᵗ, with the children of Judah, into the wilderness of Judah, which lieth in the south of Arad ᵘ, and they ˣ went and dwelt among the people ʸ.

See Judg. 4. 11. 17. and 5. 24. 1 Sam. 15. 6. 1 Chron. 2. 55. ᵗ i. e. From Jericho so called, Deut. 34. 3. not the City, which was utterly destroyed; but the Territory belonging to it, where it seems they were seated as in a most pleasant, and fruitful, and safe place, according to the promise made by Moses to their Father, Numb. 10. 31, 32. and whence they might remove, either to avoid the Society or Molestation of the Neighboring Canaanites; or out of love to the children of Judah, whom they went to; or to avoid temptations to Luxury, and exercise themselves in self-denial, and contempt of the present evil World, and the Lusts thereof; as may be thought from Jer. 35. 6, &c. Or for some other cause unknown to us at this distance. ᵘ In the Southern part of the Land of Canaan, where Arad was, Numb. 21. 1. i. e. Some of them, for others of them dwelt in the contrary quarter, in the most Northern part of the Land. ʸ Heb. that people, to wit, those children of Judah that lived there.

Some other place called by the same Name upon the like occasion, which was frequent among the Hebrews. This seems more probable, 1. Because this was but one City; that, divers Cities, Numb. 21. 2, 3. 2. Because that seems to have been done in Moses his time, tho' Interpreters generally think otherwise; of which see my Notes there.

18 Also Judah took Gaza with the coast thereof, and Askelon with the coast thereof, and Ekron with the coast thereof a.

a The principal Cities of the Philistines. Qu. How could this be, when among the people left to try Israel, are the five Lords of the Philistines, Judg. 3. 3? Ans. It is only said that they took the Cities, and probably contented themselves with making them Tributary; but it is not said that they slew the people, as they ought to have done; and as it is said of the other Cities here, v. 8, 17, 25. And the people being thus spared, did by God's Just Judgment, recover their strength, and expel the Jews out of their Cities, as we find afterwards: It is further observable, that Ekron here taken, was one of Dan's Cities, Jos. 19. 43. and it was attempted and taken here by Judah and Simeon, partly out of love to their Brother Dan, and partly to secure their new conquests, and other adjoining territories, from such potent neighbors.

19 And the LORD was with Judah, and ʸ he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain, but could not b drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had chariots of iron.

ʸ Or, he possessed the mountain. b Because of their unbelief, whereby they doubted and distrusted God's power to destroy those who had Chariots of Iron, and so gave way to their own fear and sloth, whereby God was provoked to withdraw his helping hand from them, and so they were really made impotent, as they were unwilling. a Either, First, a Created Angel. Or, Secondly, a Prophet or man of God, for such are sometimes called Angels, which signifies only Messengers of God; and then the following words are spoken by him in the Name of God, as may easily be understood. Or, Thirdly, Christ the Angel of the Covenant, who is oft called the Angel of the Lord, as we have formerly seen, to whom the conduct of Israel out of Egypt, and thorough the Wilderness, and into Canaan, here spoken of, is frequently ascribed, as Exod. 14. 19. & 23. 20. & 33. 14. Jos. 5. 13, 14. Judg. 6. 12. & 13. 3. Who alone of all the Angels could speak the following words in his own Name and Person; whereas created Angels and Prophets do universally usher in their Divine Messages with, Thus saith the Lord, or some equivalent Expression. And this Angel having assumed the outward shape of a Man, it is not strange that he imitates the local motion of a Man, and comes as it were from Gilgal to the place where now they were: by which motion he signified, that he was the person that brought them to Gilgal, the first place where they rested in Canaan, and there renewed Covenant with them, and protested them there so long, and from thence went out with them to Battel, and gave them success. b A place so called here by Anticipation, for the reason expressed here, v. 5. 2 And * ye shall make no league with the inhabitants of this land, * you shall throw down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice: Why have ye done this d?

d i. e. Disobeyed these express Commands of mine?

3 Wherefore I also said e, I will not drive them out from before you: but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a * snare unto you.

* Exod. 23. 33. & 34. 12.

e With my self, I have now taken up this peremptory resolution. f See on Numb. 33. 55. Jos. 23. 13.

4 And it came to pass, when the angel of the LORD spake these words unto all the children of Israel, that the people lift up their voice, and wept g:

g Some of them from a true sense of their sins; but most of them from a just apprehension of their danger and approaching misery from the Canaanites growing Power, and God's forsaking of them; as the following History makes most probable.

5 And they called the name of that place ‖ Bochim: and they sacrificed h there unto the LORD.

‖ That is weepers.

h For the expiation of their sins, by which they had provoked God to this resolution; and for the regaining of God's favour.

6 ¶ And when * Joshua had let the people go i, the children of Israel went every man unto his inheritance to possess the land.

* Josh. 24. 28.

i When he had distributed their Inheritances, and dismissed them severally to take Possession of them. This was done before this time, whilst Joshua lived; but is now repeated in order to the discovery of the time, and cause, or occasion of the Peoples defection from God, and of God's desertion of them.

7 And the people served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that † out-lived Joshua, who had seen all the great works of the LORD that he did for Israel.

† Heb. prolonged days after Joshua.

8 And * Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD died, being an hundred and ten years old.

* Josh. 24. 29.

9 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-heres k, in the mount of Ephraim, on the north-side of the hill Gaash.

k Called Timnath-Sera, Jos. 19. 50. and 24. 30.

10 And also all that generation were gathered unto their fathers: and there arose another generation after them, which knew not l the LORD, nor yet the works which he had done for Israel.

l Which had no experimental, nor serious and affectionate knowledge of God, nor of his works.

11 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD m, and served Baalim n.

m Which notes the heinousness and the impudence of their sins, above other peoples sins; because God's presence was with them, and his eye upon them in a peculiar manner, and he did narrowly observe all their actions, which also they were not ignorant of, and therefore were guilty of more contempt of God than other People. n i. e. False Gods. He useth the Plural Number, because the Gods of the Canaanites, and adjoining Nations, which Israel Worshipped, were divers, and most of them called by the name of Baal.

12 And they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods, of the gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed themselves unto them, and provoked the LORD to anger.

13 And they forsook the LORD, and served Baal and Ashtaroth n.

n i. e. The Sun and the Moon, whom many Heathens Worshipped tho' under divers names; and so they ran into that Error which God had so expresly warned them against, Deut. 4. 19.

14 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he delivered them into the hand of spoilers, that spoiled them, and † sold them o into the hand of their enemies round about, so that they could not any longer stand before their Enemies.

† Psal. 44. 12. Isa. 50. 1.

o i. e. Delivered them up, as the seller doth his Commodities, unto the buyer. Thus the same Phrase is used, Judg. 3. 8. and 4. 9. comp. with v. 14. Psal. 44. 13.

15 Whithersoever they went out ᵖ, the hand of the LORD was against them for evil; as the LORD had said, and † as the LORD had sworn unto them: and they were greatly distressed.

† Lev. 26. Deut. 28.

ᵖ i. e. Whatsoever expedition or business they undertook; which is usually signified by going out, and coming in.

16 Nevertheless, the LORD raised up q judges ʳ, which † delivered them out of the hand of those that spoiled them.

† Heb. saved.

17 And yet they would not hearken unto their Judges ˢ, but they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed themselves unto them: they turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, obeying the commandments of the LORD: but they did not so.

ˢ Who admonished them of their sin and folly, and of the danger and misery which would certainly befall them.

18 And when the LORD raised them up judges, then the LORD was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge: (for it repented the LORD ᵗ, because of their groanings, by reason of them that vexed them, and oppressed them:)

ᵗ i. e. The Lord changed his course and dealings with them, a penitent Man use to do; removed his Judgments, and returned to them in mercy, Gen. 6. 6.

20 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he said, Because that this people hath transgressed my Covenant, which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkned unto my voice:

21 * I also will not henceforth drive out any from before them of the nations which Joshua left when he died:

* Josh. 23. 13.

22 That through them I may prove Israel ‖, whether they will keep the way of the LORD, to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not.

‖ Either, First, that I may try, and see whether Israel will be true and faithful to me, or whether they will suffer themselves to be corrupted by the evil counsels and examples of their bad neighbours, whom I will leave among them for their Tryal and Exercise. Or, Secondly, That by them I may afflict and punish Israel; for afflictions are commonly and justly called trials. But the former sense suits better with the following words.

23 Therefore the LORD ‖ left those nations, without driving them out hastily †, neither delivered he them into the hand of Joshua.

‖ Or, suffered.

† Or, speedily, when the Israelites desired it, and needed it.

CHAP. III.

The Nations left to prove Israel mentioned, 1——4. The Israelites marrying their Daughters, and serving their Gods, they are delivered up to the K. of Mesopotamia: are Rescued by Othniel, 5——11. Continuing to do Evil, they are again punished and oppress'd by the K. of the Moabites: are Rescued by Ehud: Ten thousand Moabites are slain, 12——30. They are afterwards delivered from the Philistines by Samgar, 31.

NOW these are the nations which the LORD left to prove Israel by them, (even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan a:

a i. e. Such who had no experience of those Wars, nor of God's extraordinary Power and Providence manifested in them.

2 Only that the generations of the children of Israel might know to teach them war b, at the least such as before knew nothing thereof.)

b That by the Neighbourhood of such Warlike and Potent Enemies, they might be purged from Sloth and Security, and obliged to inure themselves to Martial Exercises, and to stand continually upon their guard, and consequently to keep close to that God whose Assistance they had so great and constant need of.

Josh. 13. 3. 3 Namely, ‖ five LORDS of the Philistines c, and all the Canaanites d and the Zidonians e, and the Hivites that dwelt in Mount Lebanon, from Mount Baal-hermon f, unto the entring in of Hamath.

c Whereof three had been in some sort subdued, Judg. 1.18. But afterwards refused themselves, and recovered their former freedom. See on Judg. 1.18. d Properly so called, who were very numerous, and dispersed through several parts of the Land, whence they gave denomination to all the rest of the People. e The people living near Zidon, and subject to its jurisdiction. f Which was the Eastern part of mount Lebanon: See Deut. 3. 8, 9.

4 And they were to prove Israel by them, to know g whether they would hearken unto the commandments of the LORD, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

g i. e. That they and others might know by experience.

5 ¶ And the children of Israel dwelt among the Canaanites, Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Hivites, and Jebusites

6 And they * took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons, and served their gods h.

h Were drawn to Idolatry by the perswasions and examples of their Yoke-fellows, through the just judgment of God, punishing their sinful Marriages by giving them up to Idolatry.

7 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and forgat the LORD their God, and served Baalim and the groves i.

i i. e. In the Groves, in which the Heathens usually Worshipped their Baalims or Idols. Or, the Groves are here put Metonymically for the Idols of the Groves, which are distinguished here from their Baalim, which seem to have been Worshipped in other places, as the Prophets of Baal are distinguished from the Prophets of the Groves, 1 King. 18. 19.

Hab. 3. 7. † Heb. Aram-naharaim. 8 ¶ Therefore the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of * Chushan-rishathaim king of † Mesopotamia: and the children of Israel served Chushan-rishathaim k eight years.

k i. e. Were made subject and tributary to him.

† Heb. Saviour. * ch. 1. 13 9 And when the children of Israel cried l unto the LORD, the LORD raised up a † deliverer to the children of Israel, even * Othniel the son of Kenaz, Calebs younger brother m.

l i. e. Prayed fervently for deliverance. m Of which see on Judg. 1. 13.

* See Num. 27. 18. † Heb. was. † Heb. Aram. 10 And * the spirit of the LORD † came upon him n, and he judged Israel o, and went out to war, and the LORD delivered Chushan-rishathaim king of † Mesopotamia into his hand; and his hand prevailed against Chushan-rishathaim.

n With extraordinary Influences, indowing him with singular wisdom, and courage, and resolution; and stirring him up to this great undertaking. Compare Judg. 6. 34. and 11. 29. o i. e. Pleaded and avenged the cause of Israel against their oppressors; as that Phrase is oft used, as Deut. 32. 36. Psal. 10. 18. and 43. 1.

11 And the land had rest forty years p, and Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

p Either First, it rested about Forty Years, or the greatest part of Forty Years: it being most frequent in Scripture to use Numbers in such a Latitude. Thus the Israelites are said to bear their iniquities forty years in the wilderness, Numb. 14 33. when there wanted near two years of that number; and to dwell in Egypt 430 years, when there wanted many years of that number. Thus Joseph's kindred sent for, and called by him into Egypt, are numbered Seventy five Souls, Act. 7. 14. although they were but Seventy, as is affirmed, Gen. 46. 27. Exod. 1. 5. So here the land is said to rest forty years, although they were in servitude Eight of those Years, v. 8. And in like manner the land is said to have rest eighty years, though Eighteen of them they served the King of Moab, v 18. And so in some other instances. Nor is it strange and unusual either in Scripture, or in other Authors, for things to be denominated from the greater part, as here it was; especially, when they did enjoy some degrees of rest and peace even in their times of slavery, which here they did. Or, Secondly, it rested; i. e. began to rest, or recovered its interrupted rest, in the fortieth year, either after Joshuah's Death, or after that first and famous Rest procured for them by Joshua, as is noted, Heb. 4. 9. when he destroyed and subdued the Canaanites, and gave them quiet possession of the Land; and the land had rest from war, as is said, Jos. 11. 23. and 14. 15. So there is this difference between the years of Servitude and Oppression, and those of Rest, that in the former he tells us how long it lasted; in the latter, when it began; by which, compared with the other years, it was easie also to know how long the Rest lasted. To strengthen this Interpretation, two things must be noted: 1. That resting is here put for beginning to Rest, as to beget is put for beginning to beget, Gen 5. 32. and 11. 26. and to Reign, for to begin to Reign, 2 Sam. 2. 10. and to build, 1 King. 6. 15, 36. for to begin to build, 2 Chron 3. 1. 2. That forty years is put for the fortieth year: the Cardinal Number for the Ordinal, which is common both in the holy Scripture, as Gen. 1. 5. and 2. 11. Exod. 12. 2. Hag. 1. 1. Mark 16. 1. and in other Authors.

12 ¶ And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD, and the LORD strengthned * Eglon p the King of Moab against Israel, because they had done evil in the sight of the LORD. * Judg. 12.9.

p By giving him Courage, and Power, and Success against them.

13 And he gathered unto him the Children of Ammon, and Amalek, and went and smote Israel, and possessed the city of Palm trees q.

q i. e. Jericho, as may be gathered from Deut. 34. 3. Judg. 1. 16. 2 Chron. 28. 15. Not the City which was Demolished, but the Territory belonging to it. Here he fixed his Camp, partly for the admirable Fertility of that Soil; and partly, because of its nearness to the passage over Jordan, which was most commodious both for the conjunction of his own Forces which lay on both sides of Jordan; and to prevent the conjunction of the Israelites in Canaan with their Brethren beyond Jordan; and to secure his Retreat into his own Country, which therefore the Israelites prevented, v. 28.

14 So the children of Israel served Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.

15 But when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, the LORD raised them up a † deliverer, Ehud † His Saviour. the son of Gera ‖, a Benjamite r, a man † left handed s, and by him the children of Israel sent a present unto Eglon the king of Moab. ‖ Or, son of Jemini.

r Heb. the son of Jemini, who was of the Tribe of Benjamin, † His left hand was restrained. 2 Sam. 16. 11. and 19. 17. 1 King. 2. 8. This Tribe was next to him, and doubtless most afflicted by him; and hence God raiseth right a Deliverer. s Which is here noted, partly, as a mark of his Courage, and Strength, and Activity: See Judg. 20. 16. and principally, as a considerable circumstance in the following Story, whereby he might more advantagiously and unsuspectedly give the deadly blow.

16 But Ehud made him a dagger (which had two edges) of a cubit length t, and he did gird it under his raiment, upon his right thigh u.

t Long enough for his design, and not too long for carriage and concealment. u Which was most convenient both for the use of his left hand, and for the avoiding of suspicion.

17 And he brought the present x unto Eglon king of Moab: and Eglon was a very fat man y.

x Which was to be paid to him as a part of his Tribute. y And therefore more unweildy and unable to ward off Ehud's blow.

18 And when he had made an end to offer the present, he sent away the people that bare the present z.

z He accompanied them part of the way, and then dismissed them, and returned to Eglon alone, that so he might have more easie access to him, and privacy with him; and that he might the better make his escape.

19 But he himself turned again a from the ‖ quarries ‖ Or, graven images that were by Gilgal, and said, I have a secret errand unto thee, O king: who said, Keep silence c. And all that stood by him went out from him. c Or, Let all go out.

a As if he had forgot and neglected some important business. b Either, First, Whence they hewed stones: Or, Secondly, The Twelve Stones which Joshua set up there; by the sight whereof he was animated to his Work. Or, Thirdly, The Idols, as the Word also signifies, which that Heathen King might place there, either in spight and contempt to the Israelites who had that place in great Veneration: or, that he might ascribe his Conquest of the Land to his Idols, as the Israelites did to the true God, by setting up this Monument in the entrance or beginning of it. c Till my Servants be gone: whom he would not have acquainted with a business which he supposed to be of great and close importance.

20 And Ehud came unto him, and he was sitting in † a summer parlour d, which he had for himself alone e: and Ehud said, I have a message f from God g, unto thee. And he arose out of his seat h. † Heb. a parlour of cooling.

d They had divers Houses and Chambers, some for Winter, others for Summer. See Jer. 36. 22. Amos 3. 15. e Into which he used to retire himself from company: which is mentioned as the reason why his Servants waited so long ere they went in to him, v. 25. f To be delivered not in Words, but by Actions: Heb. a Word, or Thing, or Business. So that there is no need to charge Ehud with a Lye, as some do. g This he saith to Amuse him, by raising his expectation and wonder, to divert him from any apprehension of his Danger, and to oblige him to rise out of his Seat, which he knew he would do from the common practice of the Heathens in their intercourses with God. And he designedly useth the name Elohim, which was common to the true God, and false ones; and not Jehovah, which was peculiar to the true God; because Ehud not knowing whether the Message came not from his own false god, he would more certainly rise, and thereby give Ehud more advantage for his blow; whereas he would possibly shew his Contempt of the God of Israel by sitting still to hear his Message. h In token of humble subjection and reverence to God. See Numb. 23. 18. 2 King. 23. 3. which condemns those Christians that behave themselves irreverently in the Presence and Service of the true God. † Heb. flame, Gr. Ecstasie. ‖ 2 Sam. 12. 9. † Heb. he caused him to draw out.

21 And Ehud put forth his left hand, and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly. So Gr. Or, it came out at the fundament.

22 And the haft went in after the † blade: and the fat closed upon the blade, † so that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly, and ‖ the dirt came out i. ‖ i. e. excrements.

i (i.e.) His Excrements came forth, not at the Wound, which closed up, but at the Fundament, as is usual when Persons die either a natural or violent Death.

23 Then Ehud went forth k through the porch, and shut the doors of the parlour upon him l, and locked them m.

k With a composed Countenance and Gate, without any fear; being well assured, that God who by his extraordinary Call had put him upon that enterprise, would by his special Providence preserve him, and carry him through it. l Either upon the King, or upon or after himself. m Either by pulling it close after him, as we do when Doors have Spring-locks; or by taking the Key with him for more caution; and this he did, that they supposing the King to be retired, might wait till he was gone.

24 When he was gone out, his servants came, and when they saw, that behold the doors of the Parlour were locked, they said, Surely he ‖ covereth his feet n in his Summer-chamber. Or doth ease nature.

n This Phrase is used only here, and 1 Sam. 24. 3. It is commonly understood in both places, of easing Nature; because the Men not then wearing Breeches as we do, but long Coats, they did in that act cover their Feet, as Women do: But a late judicious Interpreter expounds it, of composing himself to take a little Sleep or Rest, as was very usual to do in the day-time in those hot Countreys, 2 Sam. 4. 5. and 11. 12. And when they did so in cool places, such as this Summer-parlour unquestionably was, they used to cover their feet, as appears from Ruth 3. 7. And this may seem to be the more probable, both because the Summer-Parlour was more proper for this use than for the former; and because this was a more likely reason of their long waiting at his Door, lest they should disturb his Repose. And this sense best agrees with Saul's case in the Cave, when being asleep David could more securely cut off the lap of his Garment, 1 Sam. 24. 3. where see my Annotations.

25 And they tarried till they were ashamed o: and behold he opened not the doors of the Parlour, therefore they took a key p, and opened them: and behold, their lord was fallen down dead on the earth.

o Or, confounded, not knowing what to say or think; lest they should either disturb him, or be guilty of neglect towards him. p Another Key, it being usual in Princes Courts to have divers keys for the same door.

26 And Ehud escaped while they tarried: and passed beyond the quarries, and escaped unto Seirath.

27 And it came to pass when he was come, that he blew a trumpet in the Mountain of Ephraim; and the children of Israel q went down with him from the mount, and he before them.

q Whom doubtless he had prepared, and by his Emissaries gathered together in considerable numbers.

28 And he said unto them, Follow after me, for the LORD hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand. And they went down after him, and took the foords of Jordan r, toward Moab, and suffered not a man to pass over r Where they passed over Jordan, that neither the Moabites that were got into Canaan, might escape, nor any more Moabites come over Jordan to their succour.

29 And they slew of Moab at that time about ten thousand men, all † lusty, and all men of valour, and there escaped not one man. † Heb. fat.

30 So Moab was subdued that day under the hand of Israel, and the land had rest four score years s.

s How these are to be understood, see on v 11. instead of eighty, some Copies read eight years.

31 ¶ And after him was Shamgar the son of Anath, which slew of the Philistines six hundred men with an ox-goad t, and he also † delivered Israel. † Heb. saved.

t As Samson did a thousand with the Jaw-bone of an Ass; both being miraculous actions, and not at all incredible to him that believes a God, who could easily give strength both to the persons and to their weapons to effect this.

CHAP. IV.

K. Jabin oppresses Israel: his Captain General was Sisera, 1——3. The Prophetess Deborah from the Lord commands Barak to go out against him: promiseth Victory: she her self accompanieth with him, 4——14. Sisera's Host is beaten: he flees: Jael hides him in her Tent; and while he sleeps she kills him, 15——23. K. Jabin is destroyed.

AND the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the LORD, when Ehud was dead.

2 And the LORD sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan a, that reigned in Hazor b, the captain of whose host was * Sisera, which dwelt in Harosheth of the Gentiles c. * 1 Sam. 12. 9.

a i. e. Of the Land where the most of the Canaanites, strictly so called, now dwelt, which seems to be in the Northern part of Canaan. This seems to be of the Posterity of that Jabin, whom Joshua slew, Jos. 11. 1. who warched all opportunities to recover his ancient Possessions, and to revenge his own and Fathers Quarrel upon the Israelites. b Either 1. In the City of Hazor, which though taken and burnt by Joshua, Chap. 11. 11. yet might be retaken and rebuilt by the Canaanites: Or 2. In the Territory or Kingdom of Hazor, which might now be restored to its former largeness and power, Jos. 11. 10. the names of Cities being oft put for their Territories, as Zorah, a City, Josh. 15. 33. is put for the Fields belonging to it, Judg. 13. 2. in which Samson's Parents lived, Judg. 13. 25. and 16. 31 and 18. 2. c So called, because it was much frequented and inhabited by the Gentiles, either by the Canaanites, who being beaten out of their former Possessions, feated themselves in those Northern parts; or by other Nations coming there for Traffick, or upon other occasions, as Strabo notes of those parts; whence Galilee, where this was, is called Galilee of the Gentiles.

3 And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD: for he had nine hundred chariots of Iron, and twenty years he mightily oppressed d the children of Israel.

d More than the former Tyrants; partly from his malice and hatred against the Israelites; and principally from God's just Judgment, the growing punishment being most suitable to their aggravated wickedness.

4 ¶ And Deborah † a prophetess e, the wife of Lapidoth f, she judged Israel g at that time. † Heb. a woman, a Prophetess.

e As there were Men-Propheis, so there were also Women-Propheteses, as Miriam, Exod. 15. 20. Huldah, 2 King. 22. 14. and divers others; but the word Prophets or Propheteses is very ambiguous in both Testaments; sometimes being used of persons extraordinarily inspired by God, and endowed with a power of working Miracles, and foretelling things to come; and sometimes of Persons endowed with special, though not miraculous gifts or graces, for the better understanding of, and discoursing about the Word and Mind of God, for praising of God, or the like; of which see 1 Chron. 25. 1. 1 Cor. 11. 5. and 14. 1, 3, 4, &c. And of this sort were the Sons of the Prophets, or such who were bred in the Schools of the Prophets, who are oft called Prophets, as 1 Sam. 10. 5, 10. 11, 12. See also 1 King. 18. 4. and 19. 10. And because we read nothing of Deborah's miraculous actions, peradventure she was only a Woman of eminent Holiness and Prudence, and Knowledge of the holy Scriptures, by which she was singularly qualified for the Judging of the People according to the Laws of God. If it be alledged, that she foresaw and foretold the following Victory; so did all the Sons of the Prophets foresee and foretel Elijah's translation, 2 King. 2. 3, 5. which yet were not extraordinary Prophets. f Or, a Woman of Lapidoth; and so Lapidoth is not the name of a man, but of the place of her Birth or Abode. g (i.e.) Determined Causes and Controversies arising among the Israelites, as is implied, v. 5. And this Jabin might suffer to be done, especially by a Woman; and the frequent discharge of this part of the Judges Office, whereby she gained great Power and Authority with the People, did notably (though not observed by the Tyrant) prepare the way for her sliding into the other part of her Office, which was to defend and rescue the people from their Enemies.

5 And she dwelt under the palm-tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Beth-el in mount Ephraim: and the children of Israel came up to her for judgment h.

h To have their Suits and Causes determined by her Sentence.

6 And she sent and called i * Barak the son of Abinoam out of Kedesh Naphtali k, and said unto him, Hath not the LORD God of Israel commanded l, saying, Go, and draw m toward mount Tabor n, and take with thee ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali, and of the children of Zebulun o. † Heb. he.

i By virtue of that power which God had given her, and the people owned in her. k So called, to distinguish it from other places of that name, one in Judah, Jos 15, 23. and another in Issachar, 1 Chron. 6. 72. l (i.e.) Assuredly God hath commanded thee; this is not the fancy of a weak Woman, which peradventure thou mayst despise; but the Command of the great God by my Mouth: Which Command of God, and the following assurance of Success, she might either gather from the general rules of Scripture, and the common course of God's gracious Providence, which was always ready to succour them when they cryed to God; or receive by instinct or direction from God. m Or, go; for so this word is oft used, as Gen. 37. 28. Judg. 20. 37. Job. 21. 33. Heb. draw, to wit, thy self, or thy feet. n A place most fit for his purpose, as being in the borders of divers Tribes, and having a large Plain at the top of it, where he might conveniently marshal and discipline his Army. o These the names, partly because they were nearest and best known to Barak, and therefore soonest brought together; partly, because they were nearest to the Enemy, and therefore must speedily be assembled, or else they were likely to be hindred in their Design, whilst the other Tribes, being at more distance, had better opportunity of gathering Forces for their succour; and partly, because these had most smarted under this Oppressor, who was in the heart of their Countrey, and therefore were most forward in the present Service; but these are not named exclusively, as appears by the concurrence of some other Tribes, as is related, Judg. 5.

7 And I will draw unto thee p to the * river Kishon, the captain of Jabins army, with his chariots, and his multitude, and I will deliver him into thine hand. * Psal. 83. 9, 10.

p By my secret and powerful Providence, ordering and over-ruling his inclinations that way.

8 And Barak said unto her, If thou wilt go with me, then I will go: but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go q.

q His offer to go with her, shews the truth of his Faith, for which he is praised, Heb. 11. 32. but his refusal to go without her, shews the weakness of his Faith, that he could not trust God's bare word, as he ought to have done, without the Pledge of the Presence of his Propheteſs, whom he thought God would preserve and deliver, and himself for her sake.

9 And she said, I will surely go with thee: notwithstanding the journey r that thou takest shall not be for thine thine honour: for the LORD shall sell Sisera into the hand of a woman s. And Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kedesh.

r Heb. the way, (i. e.) the course or practice; as, the way is taken, Numb. 22. 32. s Either 1. Jael, or rather 2. Deborah, who being, as it were, the Judge and chief Commandresse of the Army, the Honour of the Victory would be ascribed to her: But for Jael, her Fact would have been the same, though Barak had gone into the Field without Deborah.

10 ¶ And Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh, and he went up with ten thousand men at his feet t: and Deborah went up with him.

t (i. e.) Who followed him or his Foot-steps; possibly he intimates that they were all Foot-men, the Israelites neither now having, nor otherwise allowed to have a multitude of Horses; and so this is emphatically added, to signify by what contemptible means God overthrew Sisera's great Host, wherein there were Ten thousand Horse, as Josephus reports.

11 Now Heber u the Kenite x, which was of the children of Hobab y the father in law of Moses, had severed himself from the Kenites z, and pitched his tent a unto the plain of Zaanaim, which is by Kedesh.

u The Husband of Jael, v. 17. x Of whom see Numb. 24. 21, 22. Judg. 1. 16. y Called also Jethro. See Numb. 10. 29. z From the rest of his Brethren, who lived in the Wilderness of Judah, Judg. 1. 16. which removal is here mentioned, lest any should wonder to find the Kenites in this place. a (i. e.) His dwelling, which probably was in Tents, as Shepherds used.

12 And they shewed b Sisera that Barak the son of Abinoam was gone up to mount Tabor.

b They (i. e.) his people dwelling there, or his Spies; or, he was told, this being an impersonal Speech.

† Heb. gathered by cry or proclamation. 13 And Sisera † gathered together all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people that were with him, from Harosheth of the Gentiles, unto the river of Kishon.

14 And Deborah said unto Barak, Up c, for this is the day in which the LORD hath delivered Sisera into thine hand: Is not the LORD gone out before thee d? So Barak went down from mount Tabor e, and ten thousand men after him.

c Heb. arise, delay not, fall to thy work. d To wit, as General of thine Army, to fight for thee; see Judg. 5. 20. and 2 Sam. 5. 24. e He doth not make use of the advantage which he had of the Hill, where he might have been out of the reach of his Iron Chariots, Jos. 17. 16. but boldly marcheth down into the Valley, to give Sisera the opportunity of using all his Horses and Chariots, that so the Victory might be more glorious and wonderful.

† Psal. 83. 9, 10. 15 And * the LORD discomfited f Sisera and all his chariots, and all his host with the edge of the sword g, before Barak; so that Sisera lighted down off his chariot, and fled away on his feet h.

f With great Terror and Noise, as the word signifies, Exod. 14. 24. Jos. 10. 10. 1 Sam. 10. most probably with Thunder and Lightning, and Hail-stones, or other such Instruments of Destruction poured upon them from Heaven, as is sufficiently implied, Judg. 5. 20. g (i. e.) By the Sword of Barak and his Army, whose Ministry God used; but so, that they had little else to do, but to kill those whom God by more powerful Arms had put to flight. h That he might flee away more secretly and securely in the quality of a common Soldier, whereas his Chariot would have exposed him to more observation and hazard.

16 But Barak pursued after the chariots, and after the host unto Harosheth of the Gentiles, and all the host of Sisera fell upon the edge of the sword, and there was not † Heb. remained to me. † a man left i.

i To wit, in the Field; for there were some who fled away, as Sisera did.

17 Howbeit Sisera fled away on his feet to the tent of Jael k the wife of Heber the Kenite. for there was peace l between Jabin the king of Hazor, and the house of Heber the Kenite.

k For Women had their Tents apart from their Husbands, Gen. 24. 67. and 31. 33. And here he thought to lurk more securely than in her Husband's Tent. l Not a League or Covenant of Friendship, which they were forbidden to make with that cursed People, but only a Cessation of Hostilities, which he afforded them because they were a peaceable People, abhorring War, and wholly minding Pasturage, and were not Israelites, with whom his principal Quarrel was; and especially by God's over-ruling disposal of his heart to favour them who were careful to keep themselves uncorrupted with Israel's Sins, and therefore are preserved from their Plagues.

18 ¶ And Jael went out to meet Sisera, and said unto him, Turn in my lord, turn in to me, fear not m. And when he had turned in unto her, into the tent, she covered him with a || mantle.

|| Or, rug, or blanket.

m This was a promise of Security, and therefore she cannot be excused from Dissimulation and Treachery in the manner, though the substance of her act was lawful and worthy.

19 And he said unto her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water to drink, for I am thirsty. And she opened * a bottle of milk, and gave him drink n, and covered Gen. 15. 25. him o.

n Either because she had not water in her Tent, and pretended fear of Discovery, or some inconvenience if she went out to fetch it; or, as a signification of greater respect; or as a likely mean to cast him into a Sleep, which she desired and designed; to which end, possibly she might mix something with it to cause Sleep, which she could not so conveniently have done with water. o Upon pretence of hiding him, but really to dispose him to sleep.

20 Again he said unto her, Stand in the door of the tent, and it shall be when any man doth come, and enquire of thee, and say, Is there any man here? that thou shalt say, No.

p He speaks imperiously to her; but it is observable, that she gives him no promise to do so, nor makes him any Answer; possibly because though she knew her design upon him was warrantable, yet she had proceeded too far in using Dissimulation therein.

21 Then Jael, Hebers wife, took a nail of the tent q, and † took an hammer in her hand, and went softly unto him, and smote the nail into his temples r, and fastned it into the ground: (for he was fast asleep, and weary) so he died. † Heb. it.

q Wherewith they used to fasten the Tent, which consequently was long and sharp, being headed with Iron; These Weapons she chuseth, either, 1. Because she had no better Weapons at hand, this being only the Womans Tent, where Arms use not to be kept, and these people being wholly given to Peace, and negligent of War; Or Sisera having disarmed them before this time. Or, 2. Because she had more skill in the handling these, than other Weapons, being probably accustomed to fasten the Tents herewith. Or, 3. Because this was very proper for his present posture, and which she knew would be effectual. r Which is the softest part of the Skull, and soonest pierced. This might seem a very bold attempt; but it must be considered, that she was encouraged to it, partly by observing that the Heavens and all the Elements conspired against him, as against one devoted to Destruction; partly, by the fair opportunity which God's Providence put into her hands; and principally, by the secret instinct of God inciting her to it, and assuring her of success in it. Qu. What shall we judge of this fact of Jael's? It is a difficult question, and necessary to be determined, because on the one hand there seems to be gross perfidiousness, and an horrid violation of all the Laws of Hospitality and Friendship, and of the Peace which was established between Sisera and her; and on the other side, this fact of hers is applauded and commended in Deborah's Song, Judg. 5. 24, &c. And some who make it their business to pick quarrels with the Holy Scriptures, from hence take occasion to question and reject their Divine Authority, for this very passage, because it commends an act so contrary to all Humanity, and so great a breach of Faith: And whereas all the pretence of their Infidelity is taken from the following Song, and not from this History, wherein the Fact is barely related, without any reflection upon it; there are many Answers given to that Argument, as, 1. That there was no League of Friendship between Jael and Sisera, but only a Cessation of Acts of Hostility; of which see the Notes on v. 17. 2. That Deborah doth not commend Jaels words, v. 18. Turn in my Lord, fear not; in which the great strength of this Objection lies; but only her action, and that Artifice, that he asked water, and she gave him milk; which if impartially examined, will be found to differ but little from that of warlike Stratagems, wherein a man lays a Snare for his Enemy, and deceives him with pretences of doing something which he never intends. And Sisera, though for the time he pretended to be a Friend, yet was in truth a bitter and implacable Enemy unto God and all his people, and consequently to Jael her self. But these and other Answers may be omitted, and this one consideration following may abundantly suffice to stop the mouths of these men: It cannot be denied, that every word, or passage, or discourse which is recorded in Scripture, is not Divinely inspired, because some of them were uttered by the Devil, and others by Holy Men of God, but mistaken, (the Prophets themselves not always speaking by Inspiration) such as the Discourse of Nathan to David, 2 Sam. 7. 3. which God presently contradicted, v. 4, 5, &c. and several Discourses of Job's three Friends, which were so far from being Divinely inspired, that they were in a great degree unsound, as God himself tells them, Job 42. 7. Ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my Servant Job hath; this being so, the worst that any malicious mind can infer from this place is, That this Song, though indited by a good man or woman, was not Divinely inspired, but only composed by a person piously minded, and transported with Joy for the Deliverance of God's People, but subject to mistake; who therefore, out of zeal to commend the happy Instrument of so great a Deliverance, might easily overlook the indirectness of the means by which it was accomplished, and commend that which should have been disliked. And if they further object, that it was composed by a Prophetess, Deborah, and therefore must be Divinely inspired; it may be replied, 1. That it is not certain what kind of Prophetess Deborah was, whether extraordinary and infallible, or ordinary, and so liable to mistakes; for there were Prophets of both kinds, as hath been proved above on ver. 4. 2. That every expression of a true and extraordinary Prophet was not Divinely inspired; as is evident from Nathan's mistake above-mentioned, and from Samuel's mistake concerning Eliab, whom he thought to be the Lords Anointed, 1 Sam. 16. 6.

22 And behold, as Barak pursued Sisera, Jael came out to meet him, and said unto him, Come, and I will shew thee the man whom thou seekest. And when he came into her tent, behold Sisera lay dead, and the nail was in his temples.

23 So God subdued on that day Jabin the king of Canaan, before the children of Israel.

24 And

24 And the hand of the children of Israel † prospered, and prevailed against Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had destroyed Jabin king of Canaan. † Heb. went and strong. Ps. 44. 2, 3. Isa. 49. 23.

CHAP. V.

Deborah exhorts to Praise: She begins: mentions the former Wonders and Mercies of God to his people, 1——5. From the Misery of present times glorieth in their present State, 6——8. Excites the Governours, &c. to praise the Lord, 10——13. Commends the Chief of the Tribes who went forth willingly to this Battle, and checks the upbraiding who tarried at home, 14——18. Describes the Victory in all its Circumstances, 19——22. Curseth Meroz for not coming to their assistance, 23. Extols Jael and her Act, 24——27. Derideth Sisera's Court Ladies, 28——30. Prays for like Judgment on their Enemies, and Prosperity to God's People, 31.

1 Then sang Deborah a and Barak the son of Abinoam on that day, saying, a The Composer of this Song, as may be gathered from ver. 7.

2 Praise ye the LORD † for the avenging of Israel c, when the people d willingly offered themselves e.

† Or, for taking Vengeance, &c. b Give him the Praise who hath done the Work. c Or, for to wit, upon his and their Enemies, by Israel, or for Israel, for Israel's benefit, or for the injuries and violences offered by them to Israel. d Chiefly Zebulun and Naphtali, before, vers. 18. and 4, 6, and others hereafter mentioned. e When with Deborah nor Barak had any power to compel them.

3 Hear, O ye kings, give ear, O ye princes f: I, even I will sing unto the LORD, I will sing praise to the LORD God of Israel g.

f You especially that live near to Israel, and have evil minds and designs against Israel, know this for your instruction, and caution, and terror too, if you shall presume to molest them. g Who, as you see by this plain Instance, is both able and resolved to defend them from all their Enemies.

Deut. 33. Ps. 68. 8. Isa. 64. 1. Hab. 3. 10. 4 LORD, * when thou wentest out of Seir, when thou marchedst out of the field of Edom h, * the earth trembled, and the heavens dropped; the clouds also dropped water k.

h Seir and Edom are the same place; and these two expressions note the same thing, even God's marching in the head of his People, from Seir or Edom, towards the Land of Canaan. Whilst the Israelites were encompassing Mount Seir, there were none of the following effects; but when once they had done that, and got them on their backs, then they marched directly forward towards the Land of Canaan. The Prophetess being to praise God for the present Mercy, takes her rise higher, and begins her Song with the Commemoration of the former and ancient Deliverances attended by God to his people, the rather because of the great resemblance this had with them, in the extraordinariness and miraculous manner of them. i Either, 1. The Inhabitants of the Earth or Land; or 2. The Earth, properly taken, as the following passages are; God prepared the way for his People, and struck a great terror into their Enemies, by Earthquakes, as well as by other terrible Signs. k (i. e.) Those dismal and dreadful Showers of Rain, Storms and Tempests, Thunder and Lightning, and other tokens of thy displeasure upon thine Enemies: as may appear by comparing this with other parallel Texts.

Ps. 97. 5. Hab. 3. 6. 5 * The mountains † melted l from before the LORD, even * that Sinai m, from before the LORD God of Israel.

l Or, flowed, with Floods of Water poured out of the Clouds upon them, and flung them flowing down in a mighty Stream upon the lower grounds, and carrying down some part of the Mountain with it, as is usual in excessive Showers. So the Hebrew into the opinion of sceptics, and a more solemn Appearance of God for his People, as was, 1 Sam. 7. 10. and several Scriptures before cited. m Or, this Sinai, or, at Sinai; it being usual in Scripture Rhetorick, and in low Words. The Sense is, No wonder that the Mountains at the Anger and Commission rushed and trembled when they did but the People towards them, for even Sinai it self could not bear the Presence, but melted before them. Or, as these Words may import a more particular sense of my text; In these days of the Particle ת, which I have thought to be frequent.

Ch. 4. 18. Heb. Walkers of paths. Heb. walked ways. 6 In the days of Shamgar n the son of Anath, in the days of † Jael o, the high ways were unoccupied, and the † travellers walked through || by-ways p.

n An inferiour Champion indeed, who was, it may be thought, put on an employment of no great Strength and Valour, Judg. 3. 30. o Jael, though an illustrious Woman, and of great Authority and Influence upon the People, did assist nothing else the Deliverance of God's People, till God raised me up, &c. p Partly because of the Commotions, who besides the publick Burdens and Tributes which they had upon them, wrought all oppressions of doing them Mischief, by exacting their Goldiers snatching for Travellers in common Roads, as is usual with such Men in times of War; and partly, because of the Robbers even of their own People, who having cast off the Yoke and Worship of God, and chose Judges or Kings or Rulers in Israel to restrain or punish them, and being like enemy of them ordered to great ease, through the Oppression of the Canaanites, or in our Language, if in those times of publick Disorder and misery, many of the Israelites themselves did break forth into acts of Injustice and Violence, even against their own Brethren, whom they could meet with in open and more private places, which made Travellers shun the by-paths.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceased q, they ceased in Israel, until that I Deborah arose, that I arose a * mother in Israel. * Heb. a mother.

q The people forsook all their unfortified Towns, as not being able to protect them from Military Insolence. r. (i. e.) To be to them as a Mother, to instruct, and rule, and protect them, which carries a Mother owned to her Children, as far as she is able.

8 They chose † new gods r; then was war in the gates s: * was there a shield or spear seen among forty † Or, Judges. thousand in Israel? 1 Sam. 13. 19, 22.

s They did not only submit to Idolatry when they were forced to it by Tyrants, but they freely chose it. t New to them, and unknown to their Fathers, and new in comparison of the true and everlasting God of Israel, being but up-starts, and of yesterday. u (i. e.) In their Walled Cities, which have Gates and Bars; Gates are oft put for Cities, as Gen. 22. 17. Deut. 17. 2. Obad v. 11. Thus their strongest Holds fell into the hands of their Enemies. x (i. e.) There was not; the meaning is not, that all the Israelites had no Arms, for here is mention made only of Shields or Spears, so they might have Swords, and Bows and Arrows, to offend their enemies; but, either that they had but few Arms among them, being many Thousands of them disarmed by the Canaanites; or that they generally neglected the use of Arms, as being utterly discipated, and without all hope of recovering their lost Liberty, and being necessitated to other employments for Subsistence.

9 My heart is toward the governours of Israel y that offered themselves willingly among the people: Bless ye the LORD z.

y I greatly honour and love those, who being the chief of the people in Wealth and Dignity, did not withdraw themselves from the Work, as such usually do; but did expose themselves to the same hazards, and joyned with their meaner Brethren in this noble but dangerous Attempt; and by their Examples and Countenance engaged others in it. z Who inclined their Hearts to this Undertaking, and gave them Success in it. As she gives Instruments their due, so she is careful the Sovereign Cause, and Lord of all, lose not his Glory.

10 ‖ Speak a ye that ride on white asses b, ye that sit ‖ Or, meditate. in judgment, and ye that walk by the way c.

a Celebrate the Praises of our Mighty God, whose hand hath done this. b (i. e.) Magistrates and Nobles, who used to do so, Judg. 10. 4. and 12. 14. Horses being in a manner forbidden there, Deut. 17. 16. c (i. e.) You that now can safely travel about your business in those High-ways, which before you durst neither ride nor walk in: So great and mean persons are joyntly excited to Praise God.

11 They that are delivered from the noise of archers d in the places of drawing water e, there shall they rehearse the † righteous acts of the LORD f, even the † Heb. righteousnesses of the LORD. righteous acts towards the inhabitants of his villages g in Israel: then shall the people of the LORD go down to the gates h.

d Either 1. From the noise or sound, and consequently the force of those Arrows which are shot at them; but she names the noise, because this Epithete is frequently given to Bows and Arrows in Poetical Writings: Or, 2. From the Triumphant Noise and Shout of Archers, rejoycing when they meet with their Prey. e At those Pits or Springs of Water, which were scarce and precious in those dry Countreys, to which the Peoples Necessities forced them oft to resort, and high unto which the Archers did usually run in Woods or, Thickets, or Hedges, that from thence they might shoot at them, and kill and spoil them. f When they come to those places with freedom and safety, which before they could not, they shall with thankfulness rehearse this Righteous, and Faithful, and Gracious Work of God, in rescuing his People, and punishing his Enemies. g Whom he mentions, because as their Danger was greater. v. 7. so was their Deliverance, and their Obligations to praise God. h To wit, of their Cities, which were the chief places to which both City and Countrey resorted for publick Business and matters of Justice, from which they had been debarred by their Oppressors; but now they had free access and passage, either in or out of the Gates, as their occasions required; and they who had been driven from their Cities, now celebrated by them in Peace and Triumph; for the Citizens Deliverance is celebrated here, as the Countrey-mens is in the foregoing words.

12 Awake, awake i Deborah: awake, awake, utter a Song: arise Barak, and lead thy captivity captive k, thou son of Abinoam.

i Stir up thy self and all that is within thee, to Admire and Praise the Lord. k How could this be done, when there was none left to make head against them? Judg. 4. 16. Answ. 1. None were left to make head against them. 2. None is oft put for few, and those few might be taken after the Battle, and carried Captive, and led in Triumph, and effectually this.

13 Then he made him that remaineth have dominion over the nobles among the people l: the LORD made me or, have Dominion over the mighty.

l Then God did not only preserve the poor and despised Remnant of his People, from the Fury of the Oppressor before this War, and from the Destruction which Sisera designed and provided for them before they left this War; but still gave them the Victory, and thereby the Dominion over the Princes and Noblemen of Canaan, who were combined against them. m Though but a weak Woman.

14 Out of Ephraim n was there a root of them a against Amalek o, after thee Benjamin p, among thy peo-

n Now she relates the carriage and miscarriage of the several Tribes in this Expedition; and she begins with Ephraim. o Either First, of the Ephraimites: Or Secondly, of them that came forth to this Expedition. By root she seems to mean a branch, as that word is sometimes used, as Isa. 11. 10. and 53. 2. By which also she may note the fewness of those that came out of Ephraim, that fruitful bough consisting of many branches, Gen. 49. 22. yielding but one Branch or an handful of men to this service. p The constant and sworn Enemy of the Israelites, who were confederate with their last Oppressors the Moabites, Judg. 3. 13. and in all probability took their advantage now against the Israelites in the Southern or middle parts of Canaan, whilest their main Force was drawn Northward against Jabin and Sisera. Against these therefore Ephraim sent forth a Party, and so did Benjamin, as it here follows; and these hindred their conjunction with Jabin's Forces, and gave their Brethren the advantage of fighting with Sisera alone. q Benjamin followed Ephraim's Example. Or, After thee, O Benjamin: and thus the Pre-eminence is here given to Benjamin in two respects; First, that he was first in this Expedition, as indeed he lay nearer the Amalekites, and by his Example encouraged the Ephraimites. Secondly, That the whole Tribe of Benjamin, though now but small, came forth to this War, when the numerous Tribe of Ephraim sent only an handful to it. r Either First, among the People of Benjamin, with whom those few Ephraimites united themselves in this Expedition. Or, Secondly, among the People or Tribes of Israel; to wit, those who engaged themselves in this War. s (i.e.) Out of the Tribe of Manasseh, which are elsewhere called by the name of Machir, as Jos. 13. 31. to wit, out of the half Tribe which was within Jordan; for of the other he speaks, v. 17. t Either Civil Governours, the Princes and great Persons, who were as ready to hazard themselves, and their ample Estates, as the meanest: Or Military Officers, valiant and expert Commanders, such as some of Machir's Posterity are noted to have been. u (i.e.) Even the Scribes, who gave themselves to Study and Writing, whereby they were exempted from Military Service, did voluntarily enter into this Service. Or, they that drew, to wit, the people after them, as that Verb is used, Judg. 4. 6. With the pen of the scribe or writer. i.e. who did not only go themselves, but by their Letters invited and engaged others to go with them to the Battle.

c Why wast thou so unworthy and cowardly, so void of all Zeal for God, and Compassion towards thy Brethren, and Care for the Recovery of thy own Liberties and Privileges, that thou wouldest not engage thy self in so just, so necessary, and so noble a Cause, but didst prefer the care of thy Sheep, and thy own present Ease and Safety, before this generous Undertaking? Reuben thought Neutrality their wisest course; being very rich in Cattel, Numb. 32. 1. They were loth to run the hazard of so great a Loss, by taking up Arms against so potent an Enemy as Jabin was: and the bleatings of their Sheep were so loud in their ears, that they could not hear the Call of Deborah and Barak to this Expedition.

d Gilead is sometimes taken more largely, for all the Land of the Israelites beyond Jordan, as Numb. 32. 1. 26, 29. So it is not here taken; because Gilead is here distinguished from Reuben and his Land: sometimes it is taken more strictly for that part of the Land beyond Jordan which fell to the half-tribe of Manasseh, as Numb. 32. 39, 40. Deut. 3. 15. Jos. 17. 1. And sometimes both for that part of Manasseh's, and for Gad's Portion, as Jos. 13. 24, 25, 29, 31. And so it seems to be understood here: and the Land Gilead is here put for the People or Inhabitants of it. Gad and Manasseh. e In their own Portions, and did not come over Jordan to the help of the Lord, and of his People, as they ought to have done. f Dan, whose Coast was near the Sea, was wholly intent upon his Merchandise and Shipping, as the great Instrument both of his Riches and safety; and therefore made little joyst in this Land-Expedition. g Where their Lot lay. h Either, First, in the creeks of the Sea, whether in design to save themselves by Ships in case of danger, as Dan also intended; or upon pretence of repairing the Breaches made by the Sea into their Country. Or, Secondly, in their broken and craggy Rocks and Caves therein, in which they thought to secure themselves.

19 The kings l came and fought: then fought the kings of Canaan in Taanach, by the waters of Megiddo l: they took no gain of money m.

l Either confederate with him, or subject to him: for it is known, That there were divers petty Kings in those parts; which also oftimes were subject to one greater and more potent king; and particularly, this Hazor, where this Jabin now Reigned, Judg. 4. 2. was heretofore the head of divers petty Kingdoms, Jos. 11. 10. Taanach and Megiddo were two eminent Cities, belonging indeed to Manasseh, Jos. 17. 11. but seated in the Tribe of Issachar, Jos. 17. 11. not far from Mount Tabor, Jos. 17. 10. Judg. 12. 27. nor from the River Kishon. m Either, First, from Sisera. They fought without Pay, whether from meer hatred of the Israelites, and a desire to be revenged upon them: or from a full hope and confidence of Paying themselves abundantly out of Israel's Spoils. Or, Secondly, From the Israelites; so the sense is, They fell, lost all their hopes of Money, and rich Spoils and Booty, which they assured themselves of, instead of gaining a Prey, they lost Themselves.

20 They ‖ fought from heaven n; the ‖ stars o in their † courses p fought against Sisera.

To which this place above all others may be thus severely cursed, either because it was near the place of the Fight, and therefore had the greatest opportunity and obligation to engage with, and to assist their Brethren; and their denying them help, was a great discouragement to all their Brethren, whose hearts no doubt were greatly assisted, and might have utterly fainted at this time, if such a Coward, and such a cruel Example, or fire-brand of their great Army, as the cowardice of their Cowardish and Treachery, which may easily be imagined, though it be not here expressed. y She signifies, that this Curse proceeded not from her passion or ill will towards that place, nor from her own private opinion or affection; but from Divine Inspiration, and therefore is the fruit of the Song should be taken for the effect of the strong and Expressions of a pious and devout Soul, but liable to mistake, yet this Branch of it was immediately dictated to her by the Lord, by the Ministry of an Angel: otherwise the brother would not durst have uttered so bitter a Curse against

Or, Secondly, Of the Lord himself, who though he did not need, yet did require and expect their help and concurrence: and he expresseth it thus, to shew the sinfulness and unreasonableness of their cowardly desertion of this Cause, because it was the Cause of God, and they had the Call of God to it, whom they knew to be able easily to crush that Enemy whom they dreaded, and who had promised to do it.

The Midianites oppress Israel, 1,—6. A Prophet raised rebukes them, 7,—10. An Angel calls Gideon to Israel's deliverance, 11,—16. Confirms him by a miracle, 17,—21. *He builds an altar: calls it Jehovah Shulom; and offereth there. AND the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD: and the LORD delivered them into the hand * of Midian a seven years.

* Heb. 3. 7.

a For although the generality of the Midianites had been cut off by Moses about 200 years ago, yet many of them doubtless fled into the neighbouring Countries, whence afterwards they returned into their own Land, and in that time might easily grow to be a very great Number; especially, when God furthered their increase, that they might be a fit scourge for his People Israel when they transgressed.

† Heb. was strong.

2 And the hand of Midian † prevailed against Israel, and because of the Midianites the children of Israel made them the dens which are in the mountains, and caves b, and strong holds.

b In which they might secure their Persons and Provisions from the hands of the Midianites.

3 And so it was when Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east c, even they came up against them.

c i.e. The Arabians, who are commonly called the children of the east, as Gen. 29. 1. Judg. 8 10, 11. Job 1. 3. Ezek. 25. 4. Not all the Arabians, for in that were many, and divers People; but in the Eastern part of Arabia.

4 And they encamped against them, and destroyed the increase of the earth, till thou come unto Gaza d, and left no sustenance for Israel, neither ‖ sheep, nor ox, nor ass.

‖ Or, goats

d i.e. From the East, on which side they entred, to the West, where Gaza was near the Sea: so they destroyed the whole Land.

e i.e. So many that it was not easie to number them. It is an Hyperbole.

6 And Israel was greatly impoverished because of the Midianites, and the children of Israel cried unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And it came to pass when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, because of the Midianites,

8 That the LORD sent † a prophet unto the children of Israel, which said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth from the house of bondage:

l i.e. Will assist thee against thine and mine Enemies. m To whom I have given Strength and Courage for this end.

13 And Gideon said unto him, Oh my lord, if the LORD be with us, why then is all this befaln us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told us of, saying, Did not the LORD bring us up from Egypt? but now the LORD hath forsaken us, and delivered us into the hand of the Midianites.

14 And the LORD looked upon him n, and said, * Go in this thy might o: and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites: have not I sent thee p?

16 And the LORD said unto him, Surely I will be with thee, and thou shalt smite the Midianites as one man t.

t As easily, as if they were all but one Man; or, thou shalt destroy them to a Man, as he did, Judges 8.

17 And he said unto him, If now I have found grace in thy sight, then shew me a sign, that thou talkest with me u.

u That it is thou, to wit, an Angel or Messenger sent from God, that appears to me, and discourseth with me; and not a Phancy or Delusion; that thou art in truth what thou seemest and pretendest to be, 12. 18 Depart not hence, I pray thee, until I come unto thee, and bring forth my ‖ present x, and set it before thee. And he said, I will tarry until thou come again.

‖ Or, meat offering.

x Not a Sacrifice, because neither was Gideon a Priest, nor was this the place of Sacrifice, nor was any Altar here, nor was there any such Sacrifice as here follows, appointed by God; but a repast, or some food for the Angel, which he thought to be a man, as appears by v. 22. Compare Judg. 13. 15. and Gen. 18. 5. y That thou must eat and refresh thy self.

† Heb. a kid of the goats.

19 ¶ And Gideon went in, and made ready † a kid, and unleavened cakes of an Ephah of flour z: the flesh he put in a basket, and he put the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the oak, and presented it.

z To wit, out of the choicest part of a whole Ephah; as also he brought to him the best part of a Kid dressed; for a whole Ephah, and a whole Kid had been very superfluous, and improper to provide for, and set before one Man.

20 And the angel of God said unto him, Take the flesh, and the unleavened cakes, and lay them upon this rock, and pour out the broth. And he did so.

21 ¶ Then the angel of the LORD put forth the end of the staff that was in his hand, and touched the flesh, and the unleavened cakes, and there rose up fire out of the rock, and consumed the flesh, and the unleavened cakes a; then the angel of the LORD departed out of his sight.

* Levit. 9. 24.

a By which, he shewed himself to be no Man that needed such Provitions, but a true Angel of God, or the Son of God; and by this instance of his Omnipotency, gave him assurance, that he both could, and would consume the Midianites.

22 And when Gideon perceived that he was an angel of the LORD, Gideon said, Alas b, O LORD God: * for because c I have seen an angel of the LORD face to face.

* Exod. 33. 2. Chap. 13. 22.

b I am an undone Man: I must die, and that speedily; for that he feared, v. 23. according to the common opinion in that case; of which see Gen. 16. 13. and 32. 30. Exod. 33. 20. Deut. 5. 25, 26. c Or, for therefore, &c. i.e. Therefore God hath shewed me this sight as a pretage of my death.

23 And the LORD said unto him d, Peace be unto thee; fear not, thou shalt not die.

d By inward suggestion, rather than in a visible Apparition. e Thou shalt receive no hurt by this Vision, as thou feareſt; but only peace, i.e. all the blessings needful for thy own happiness, and for the prefent work; for this is a very comprehenfive Phrase among the Hebrews.

24 Then Gideon built an altar there f unto the LORD, and called it ‖ Jehovah-shalom g: unto this day it is yet in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

‖ That is, the Lord send peace.

f To wit, on the top of the Rock, as is evident from v. 20. and especially from v. 26. where that which is here expressed only in general, and by anticipation, is more particularly described, according to the usage of the Scripture. g i.e. The Lords peace; the sign or witness of God's speaking Peace to me, and to his People: or the place where he spake Peace to me, when I expected nothing but Destruction.

25 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the LORD said unto him, Take thy fathers young bullock, ‖ even the second bullock h, of seven years old, and throw down the altar of Baal that thy father hath i, and * cut down the grove that is by it k:

‖ Or, and.

* Exod. 34. 13. Deut. 7. 5.

h Thus there was but one Bullock, which was young, to wit, comparatively, but not simply, for it was seven years old; and of such this Hebrew word is used, Job 21. 10. For these Creatures are fruitful above seven years. Or thus, thy Fathers young Bullock, and the second Bullock: for there were two Bullocks. But because there is but one of them mentioned both in the next verse, and in the execution of this Command, v. 28. it is probable it was but one; and the Hebrew Particle, vau, and, is put exegetically for even, or, to wit, as is very usual. And this he calls his Fathers young Bullock, both because his Father was the owner of it, and because his Father kept and fed it for a Sacrifice to Baal. But because it is likely his Father kept divers of these Cattel of differing Ages and Statures for that use, either at his own, or at the Peoples charge; therefore he adds by way of limitation, that he should not take the eldest and the greatest, but the second; to wit, in Age, or Stature, or Goodliness, or in the order of Sacrifice, that which was to have been sacrificed to Baal in the second place. And this he singled out because of its age; for being seven years old, it began with the Midianitish Calamity, and being now to be sacrificed, did fitly signifie, that the Period of that Misery was now come. i Which thy Father built in his own Ground, though for the common use of the whole City, v. 28, 29, 30. k Planted by the Altar for Idolatrous or impure Uses, as the manner of Idolaters was. See Judg. 3. 7. This Action might seem injurious to his Fathers Rights and Authority; but God's Command was sufficient warrant, and Gideon was now called to be the Supreme Magistrate, whereby he was made his Father's Superiour, and was impowered, and authorized, and enjoyned to root out all Idolatry and Superstition, and the Instruments thereof.

26 And build an altar unto the LORD thy God, upon the top of this † rock l, ‖ in the ordered place m, and take the second bullock, and offer a burnt-sacrifice n with the wood of the grove which thou shalt cut down.

† Heb. strong place. ‖ Or, in an orderly manner.

l Of which v. 20, 21. Heb. of this strong hold: for in that Calamitous time the Israelites retreated to such Rocks, and hid and fortified themselves in them. m i.e. In a plain and smooth part of the Rock, where an Altar may be conveniently built. Or, in order, i.e. in such manner as I have appointed; for God had given Rules about the building of Altars. n Gideon was no Priest, nor was this the appointed place of Sacrifice; but God can dispense with his own Institutions, though we may not; and his Call gave Gideon sufficient Authority.

27 Then Gideon took ten men of his servants o, and did as the LORD had said unto him: and so it was, because he feared p his fathers houshold, and the men of the city, that he could not do it by day, that he did it by night.

o Whom doubtless he had acquainted with his design, and the assurance of success in it, whereby they were easily induced to assist him, if not sincerely, yet for the expectation of advantage to themselves by it. p Not so much, lest he should suffer for it, for he knew very well the doing it by night with so many hands could not hinder the discovery, and consequently the punishment of it; but lest he should be prevented from doing it.

28 ¶ And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was cast down, and the grove was cut down that was by it, and the second bullock was offered upon the altar that was built q.

q Not upon Baal's Altar, for which it was designed; but upon an Altar erected in contempt of Baal.

29 And they said one to another, Who hath done this thing? And when they enquired, and asked, they said, Gideon the son of Joash hath done this thing r.

30 Then the men of the city said unto Joash, Bring out thy son, that he may die: because he hath cast down the altar of Baal, and because he hath cut down the grove that was by it.

r Which they might easily conjecture, partly by his known aversion from the worship of Baal, and partly because no other Person durst presume to do such a thing; but they might more certainly learn it from some of the Persons imployed in it, who through fear or favour might inform them.

31 And Joash said unto all that stood against him, Will ye plead for Baal s? will ye save him? he that will plead for him, let him be put to death t, whilest it is yet morning u: if he be a god, let him plead for himself x, because one hath cast down his altar.

s Why are you so zealous in pleading for that Baal, for the worship whereof you suffer such grievous Calamities at this day, and from whom you have no help? It is plain, that Joash had been a worshipper of Baal: either therefore he was now convinced by Gideon's Information and Action, or he makes use of this Pretence to preserve his Son, being indeed indifferent in matters of Religion; and therefore as he did worship Baal to comply with his Neighbours, so now he deserts him, to rescue his Son. t He that shall further plead for such a god as this, deserves to die for his folly and impiety. It is not probable, that this was all which he said for his Son's defence; or that he would neglect to mention the Call his Son had from God to it, the Apparition of an Angel, the Promise of Deliverance: but it is usual in Scripture to give only some short hints of those Things which were more largely discoursed. u i.e. Instantly, without delay; for it was now Morning-time, as appears from v. 28, &c. x As the God of Israel hath often done when any Indignity or Injury hath been done to him. But Baal hath now shewed, that he is neither able to help you, nor himself; and therefore is not worthy to be served any longer. This couragious and resolute Answer was necessary to stop the torrent of the Peoples Fury; and it was drawn from him, partly by the Sense of his Son's extreme Danger; and partly by the Confidence he had, that God would plead his Son's Cause, and use him for the Rescue of his People.

32 Therefore on that day he called him y Jerub-baal, saying, Let Baal plead against him, because he hath thrown down his altar.

y i.e. Joash called Gideon so, Judg. 7. 1. in remembrance of this noble Exploit, and to put a brand upon Baal.

33 ¶ Then all the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east were gathered together and went over, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel z.

z Not that Jezreel in Judah, of which Jos. 15. 56. but another in the Borders of Manasseh and Issachar, Jos. 17. 16. and 19. 18. which was not far distant from Ophrah, where Gideon dwelt, and now was.

34 But the spirit of the LORD † came upon Gideon a, and he * blew a trumpet, and Abiezer b † was gathered after him.

† Heb. clothed. * Numb. 10. 3. Chap. 3. 27. † Heb. he called after him.

a Inspiring him with extraordinary Wisdom, and Courage, and Zeal to vindicate God's Honour, and his Country's Liberty. Compare 1 Chron. 12. 18. and 24. 20. b i.e. The Abiezrites, his Kindred, and their Servants, and others; who finding no harm coming to him for the destroying of Baal, but rather a blessing from God, in giving him Strength and Courage for so great and dangerous an Attempt, changed their Minds, and followed him as the Person by whose hands God would deliver them.

35 And he sent Messengers throughout all Manasseh c, who also was gathered after him; and he sent Messengers unto Asher, and unto Zebulun, and unto Naphtali d, and they came up to meet them.

c On both sides of Jordan. d Because these Tribes were neareſt to him, and so could sooneſt joyn with him; and were neareſt the Enemy also, v. 33. and therefore were most sensible of the Calamity, mity, and would in all reason be most forward to rescue themselves from it.

36 ¶ And Gideon said unto God e, If thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said, e In way of humble Supplication, partly for the strengthning of his own Faith, and partly for the greater encouragement of his Souldiers in this great and strange Attempt.

37 Behold, I will put a fleece of wool in the floor: and if the dew be on the fleece only, and it be dry upon all the earth beside f; then shall I know that thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said.

f i.e. Upon all that spot of ground which adjoyneth to, and encompasseth the Fleece.

38 And it was so: for he rose up early on the morrow, and thrust the fleece together, and wringed the dew out of the fleece, a bowl full of Water.

* Gen. 18. 32.

39 And Gideon said unto God, * Let not thine anger be hot against me, and I will speak but this once: Let me prove, I pray thee, but this once with the fleece. Let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew g.

g Which was more difficult and preternatural than the former instance, because if there be any moisture, such bodies as fleeces of Wool are most likely to drink it up.

40 And God did so that night: for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

CHAP. VII.

Gideon with two and thirty thousand Men encamps against the Midianites: they, by God's Command and Token are lessened to 300. 1—8. He is encouraged by a Dream, and its Interpretation, 9——15. divideth his Army into 3 Companies: who all with one accord blow the Trumpets: and break the Pitchers, wherein the Lamps were, in pieces, 16——20. The Midianites are terrified, fly and destroy one another, 21, 22. The next adjoyning Israelites pursue them to stop their Passage over Jordan. Two Princes of the Midianites are taken by the Ephraimites, 23—25.

THen Jerubbaal (who is Gideon) and all the People that were with him, rose up early, and pitched beside the well of Harod: so that the host of the Midianites were on the north-side of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

2 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me b to give the Midianites into their hand, lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me.

b i.e. For my purpose; which is, so to deliver Israel, that it may appear to be my own miraculous act, that so I may have all the Glory of it, and they may be more strongly obliged to love and serve me.

3 Now therefore go to, proclaim in the ears of the People, saying, * Whosoever is fearful and afraid, let him return and depart early from mount Gilead c: and there returned of the People twenty and two thousand d, and there remained ten thousand.

* Deut. 20. 8.

c Not that famous Mount Gilead which was beyond Jordan; for it is apparent that both the Camps of the Israelites and of the Midianites were on this side Jordan: but another Mount Gilead in the Tribe of Manasseh; which might be so called, either for some resemblance it had with the other Mount Gilead, or in remembrance of their Father Gilead; or, that this might be a memorial of their near relation to their Brethren, notwithstanding their being divided one from another by Jordan; or, for some other reason now unknown at this distance of Time and Place. Or, the words may be rendred towards Mount Gilead; for the Hebrew Particle min, or mem, is sometimes rendred towards, of which see Gen. 11. 2. and 13. 11. Deut. 32. 2. 2 Sam. 6. 2. And so it may be understood of the famous Mount Gilead, beyond Jordan, which he may mention here, either, 1. Because many of his Soldiers were of that half Tribe of Manasseh which dwelt there, and so it was most proper for them to return thither; Or, 2. Because that was their safest course, to get furtheſt from the danger which they feared; Or, 3. Because though he would remove them from danger, yet he would not have them dispersed, but kept together in a Body about Mount Gilead; knowing that they who had not Courage enough to fight their Enemies, might have Valour enough to pursue them, when they were beaten by others; and suspecting, That the Midianites, if beaten, would probably flee that way. d Who finding their whole Army to be very small, in comparison of their Enemies, who were a Hundred Thirty Five Thousand, Judg. 8. 10. and they, no doubt well Armed and Disciplined, and encouraged by long Success; whereas the Israelites were dis-spirited with long Servitude, and many of them unfurnished with Arms and Provisions; lost the Courage which in the beginning they seemed to have.

4 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The People are yet too many: bring them down unto the water e, and I will try them for thee f there, and it shall be, that of whom I say unto thee, This shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee: and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This shall not go with thee, the same shall not go up.

e Either that which ran from the Well of Harod, mentioned v. 1. or some other Brook. f Because thy Proclamation hath not sufficiently tried them; for many who are fearful indeed, will put on the face, and desire the opinion of being Valiant Persons; I will take another course.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water: and the LORD said unto Gideon, Every one that lappeth of the water with his tongue as a dog lappeth, him shalt thou set by himself; likewise every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink g.

g It is true, there may be natural reasons given, why some did only Lap of the Water, when others bowed down to drink; from the Temperance, or Fortitude, or Patience, or Strength, or Diligence of the one; and the Intemperance or Cowardice, or Impatience, or Weakneſs, or Slothfulneſs of the others; but these seem to be meer conjectures: The true reason and design of this course, seems to be only this, That God would reduce them to a very small number, which was likely to be done by this means; for the Season of the Year being hot, and the generality of the Soldiers weary, and thirsty, and faint, they would most probably bow down upon their Knees, that they might more fully refresh themselves by a liberal draught, as indeed they did; and it could be expected that there would be but few, who either could or would deny themselves in this matter; especially, when God concurred in the work, and so disposed of the Minds and Bodies of them, that all, except Three Hundred, should lie down to drink.

6 And the number of them that lapped, putting their hand to their mouth h, were three hundred Men: but all the rest of the People bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

h Taking up a little water in the Palm of their Hands to put into their mouths.

7 And the LORD said unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped, will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other people go every man unto his place i.

i i.e. To his own home, as Numb. 24. 11.

8 So the people took victuals in their hand, and their trumpets k: and he sent all the rest of Israel, every man unto his tent, and retained those three hundred men: and the host of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

k i.e. The Trumpets belonging to the whole Army, even to those who were gone away, which he retained for the use here following. See v. 16.

9 ¶ And it came to pass the same night l that the LORD said unto him m, Arise, get thee down unto the host, for I have delivered it into thine hand.

l After he had dismissed all but the Three Hundred. m In a Dream or Vision of the Night.

10 But if thou fear to go down n, go thou with Phurah thy servant down to the host.

n To wit, without some farther assurance of thy Success, I will condescend so far to thee, as to give thee another Sign.

11 And thou shalt hear what they say, and afterward shall thine hands be strengthned o to go down unto the host. Then went he down with Phurah his servant unto the out-side ‖ of the armed men that were in the host.

‖ Or, of ranks by five.

o Thou wilt be encouraged to proceed, notwithstanding the smallneſs of thy number, which may deterr thee.

12 And the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and * all the children of the east, lay along in the Valley like grasshoppers for multitude, and their Camels were without number, as the sand by the sea-side for multitude.

* Chap. 6. 5. 33. and 8. 10.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his fellow, and said, Behold, I dreamed a dream, and lo, a cake of barley bread p tumbled into the host of Midian, and came unto a tent, and smote it that it fell, and overturned it, that the tent lay all along.

p A weak and contemptible thing; and in it self as unable to overthrow a Tent, as to remove a Mountain; but being thrown by a Divine hand, bore down all before it; which fitly resembled Gideon's case, which was mean and despicable, as himself saith, Judg. 6. 15. yet he was Mighty, through God, to destroy the Midianites.

14 And his fellow answered and said, This is nothing else save the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel q: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian and all his host.

q As there are many examples of significant Dreams, given by God to Heathens, as Gen. 41. Dan. 2. and 4. so some of them had the gift of interpreting Dreams; which they sometimes did by Study and Art, and sometimes by Divine direction as in this case.

15 And it was so, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream r, and † the interpretation thereof, that he worshipped s, and returned into the host of Israel, and said, Arise, for the LORD hath delivered into your hand the host of Midian.

† Heb. the breaking thereof.

r Which he understood, though spoken in the Midianitish Language; either, because it was near akin to the Hebrew, being only a differing Dialect of it; or, because the Israelites had now been accustomed to the Midianites Company and Discourse for seven years. s He praised God for this miraculous Work and special encouragement, whereby he was confirmed in his enterprise.

16 And he divided the three hundred men into three companies t, and he put * a trumpet in every mans hand with empty pitchers, and ‖ lamps u within the pitchers x.

* Heb. trumpets in the hand of all of them. ‖ Or, fire-brands, or torches.

t To make a shew of a vast Army encompassing them. u Or, Torches made of such materials as would quickly take Fire, and keep it for some time. x Partly to preserve the Flame from the violence of Wind and Weather; and partly to conceal it, and surprise their Enemy with sudden and unexpected Flashes of Light.

17 And he said unto them, Look on me, and do likewise y; and behold, when I come to the outside of the camp, it shall be, that as I do, so shall ye do.

y For though 100 of his men were placed on other sides of the Camp; yet they were so disposed, that some person or persons, fee as Watch-men, might see what was done, and give notice to the rest to follow the Example.

18 When I blow with a trumpet, I, and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets also on every side of all the camp, and say, The sword * of the LORD, and of Gideon z.

* Heb. for the LORD and Gideon.

z He mentions his own Name, together with Gods, not out of vain ostentation or arrogance, as if he would equal himself with God; for he mentions God in the first and chief place, and himself only as his Minister; but from prudent Policy, because his Name was grown formidable to them, and so was likely to further his Design, and their Flight, as it did.

19 ¶ So Gideon, and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outside of the camp, in the beginning of the middle watch a, and they had but newly set the watch, and they blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

a i. e. Of the second Watch; for though afterwards the night was divided into four Watches by the Romans, Mat. 14. 25. yet in more ancient times, and in the Eastern parts, it was divided into three: He chose the dark and dead of the night, to increase their Terror by the Trumpets, whose sound would then be loudest and best heard, and the Lamps, whose light would then shine most brightly, and seem biggest, to surprise them at disadvantage, and to conceal the smallness of their numbers.

20 And the three companies blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers, and held their lamps in their left hands b, and their trumpets in their right hands to blow withal, and they cried, The sword of the LORD, and of Gideon.

b That they might be thought to be a mighty Host, having as many Troops or Companies, as there were Trumpets and Lights.

21 And they stood every man in his place c, round about the camp; and all the host ran, and cried and fled.

c As if they had only been Torch-bearers to the several Companies.

22 And the three hundred blew the trumpets, and * the LORD set every mans sword against his fellow d, even throughout all the host: and the host fled to Beth-shittah ‖ in Zererath, and to the † border of Abel-meholah e, unto Tabbath.

* Isa. 9. 4. ‖ Or, towards. † Heb. lip.

d They slew one another, either because they suspected Treachery, and so fell upon those they first met with; which they might more easily do, because they consisted of several Nations, as may be gathered from Judg. 6. 3. and Josephus affirms; or because the darkness of the night made them unable to distinguish Friends from Foes; or, because the suddenness of the thing struck them with Horror and Amazement; or, because God infatuated them, as he hath done many others. Compare 1 Sam. 14. 20. 2 Chron. 20. 23.

e Of which see 1 Kings 4. 12. and 19. 16.

23 And the men of Israel gathered themselves together out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, and pursued after the Midianites.

24 ¶ And Gideon sent messengers throughout all mount Ephraim, saying, Come down against the Midianites, and take before them the waters unto Beth-barah f, and Jordan g. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and took the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan.

f i. e. The Passes over those Waters to which they are like to come. g The Foords of Jordan, which River they must pass over into their own Country.

* Psal. 83. 11. Isa. 10. 26. 25 And they took * two princes of the Midianites, Oreb and Zeeb: and they slew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and Zeeb they slew at the wine-press of Zeeb, and pursued Midian, and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other side Jordan h.

h For Gideon in the pursuit had passed over Jordan, as we read, Judg. 8. 4. which though mentioned after this, may seem to have been done before it, such transpositions being frequent in Sacred Story. Or, on this side Jordan, for the Hebrew word is indifferent to both sides, see Gen. 36. 10. And so this is opposed to what follows of his passing over Jordan, Judg. 8. 4. And then there is no anticipation here.

CHAP. VIII.

The Ephraimites are displeased with Gideon: He satisfies them, 1—3. He pursueth two Kings of the Midianites beyond Jordan: Where Succoth and Penuel refuse to relieve Gideon's Army: The King being taken by Him: In his Return he punisheth those of Succoth and Penuel, 4. 17. He revengeth his Brethrens Death on the two Kings, 18——21. He refuseth Government, 22, 23. Demandeth a present of the Spoil, and thereof makes an Ephod: Places it in Ophrah: It is a cause of Idolatry, 24——27. Gideon's Children, Wives, Death, and Burial, 30—32. Israel revolts to Idolatry: Is ungrateful to Gideon's Family, 33——35.

AND the men of Ephraim said unto him, * Why hast thou served us thus, that thou calledst us not a when thou wentest to fight with the Midianites? and they did chide with him † sharply.

* Heb. What is this thing that thou hast done unto us. † Heb. strongly.

a Why hast thou neglected and despised us, in not calling us in to thy help, as thou didst other Tribes? These were a proud People, strong, Isa. 11. 13. puffed up with a conceit of their Number and Strength, and the preference which Jacob by Divine direction gave them above Manasseh, Gen. 48. 19, 20. of which Tribe Gideon was, who by this act had seemed to advance his own Tribe, and to depress theirs.

2 And he said unto them, What have I done now in comparison of you b? is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim c better than the vintage of Abi-ezer d?

b What was done, was done by God's immediate hand, making them one to kill another; what I have done in cutting off some of the Fugitive common Soldiers, is not to be compared with your Exploit in destroying their Princes; I began the War, but you have finished. c What you have gleaned or done after me. d i. e. Of the Abiezrites, to whom he modestly communicateth the honour of the Victory, and doth not arrogate it to himself, as Generals commonly do.

3 God hath delivered into your hand the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb: and what was I able to do in comparison of you? then their † anger was abated toward him, when he had said that e.

† Heb. his rift.

e His soft and humble Answer allayed their Rage and Envy; see Prov. 15. 1. and 25. 15.

4 ¶ And Gideon came to Jordan, and passed over f, he, and the three hundred men that were with him, faint, yet pursuing them.

f Or, had passed over. When he passed over; see on Judg. 7. 25.

5 And he sent unto the men of Succoth g, Give, I pray you, loaves of bread unto the people that follow me, for they be faint, and I am pursuing after Zeba and Zalmunna, kings of Midian h.

g A place beyond Jordan, Gen. 33. 17. Jos. 13. 27. Psal. 60. 8. h Where before this time were five Kings at once, Numb. 31. 8. who either reigned separately in divers parts of the Land; or governed by common counsel and consent; as sometimes there were two or three Roman Emperors together.

6 ¶ And the princes of Succoth said, Are the hands of Zeba and Zalmunna now in thine hand i, that * we should give bread unto thine army?

* See 1 Sam. 25. 10.

i Art thou so foolish, to think with thy 300 faint and weary, Soldiers, to conquer and destroy an Host of 15000 Men?

7 And Gideon said, Therefore when the LORD hath delivered Zeba and Zalmunna into mine hand, I will † tear your flesh with the thorns of the Wilderness k, and with briers.

† Heb. thresh.

k Which grow abundantly in the neighbouring Wilderness; I will chastise or beat your naked Bodies with Thorny Rods, even unto Death: Or, I will lay you down upon Thorns, on the ground, and bring the Cart-wheel upon you, which will both tear your flesh, and bruise you to death.

8 ¶ And he went up thence to Penuel l, and spake unto them likewise: and the men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered him.

l Another City beyond Jordan; of which see Gen. 32. 30. 1 Kings 12. 25.

9 And he spake also unto the men of Penuel, saying, When I come again in peace, I will break down this tower m.

m Your confidence in which, makes you thus Proud and Presumptuous. He implies that he would afterwards destroy their Persons, as is expressed, v. 17.

10 ¶ Now Zeba and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their hosts with them, about fifteen thousand men, all that were left of all the hosts of the children of the east: for there fell ‖ an hundred and twenty thousand men that drew sword n.

‖ Or, a hundred and twenty thousand.

n i. e. Persons expert and exercised in War, besides the retainers to them, Judg. 6. 5.

11 ¶ And Gideon went up by the way of them that dwelt in tents o, on the east of Nobah and Jogbehah p, and smote the host: for the host was secure q.

o i. e. Of the Arabians, so fetching a compass, and falling upon them where they least expected it. p Of which Cities see Numb. 32. 35, 42. q Being now got safe over Jordan, and a great way from the place of Battel; and probably, supposing Gideon's Men to be so tired with their hard Service, and the great Slaughter which they had made, that they would have neither Strength nor Will to pursue them so far.

12 And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he pursued after them, and * took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and † discomfited them.

* Psal. 83. 11. † Heb. terrified.

13 ¶ And Gideon the son of Joash returned from battel before the sun was up r.

r By which it may be gathered, that he came upon them in the Night, which was most convenient for him who had so small a number with him; and most likely both to surprise and terrifie them by the remembrance of the last Nights sad work, and the expectation of another like it.

14 And caught a young man of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him: and he † described unto him the princes of Succoth s, and the elders thereof, even threescore and seventeen men.

† Heb. wrote to him.

s He told him their Names and Qualities.

15 And he came unto the men of Succoth, and said, Behold Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom ye did upbraid me, saying, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thy men that are weary?

16 And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderness, and briers, and with them he † taught the men of Succoth t.

† Heb. made to know.

t By that severe punishment, (of which v. 7.) he made the men, i. e. the Elders of Succoth, to know their Sin and Folly, though it was too late for their good, but not for the instruction and warning of others.

17 ¶ And he beat down the tower of * Penuel, and slew the men of the city.

* 1 King. 12. 25.

18 Then said he unto Zeba and Zalmunna, What manner of men u were they whom ye slew at Tabor x? And they answered, As thou art, so were they; each one † resembled the children of a king y.

† Heb. according to the form.

u i. e. For outward shape and quality. x Whither he underfood they fled for shelter, upon the approach of the Midianites; and where he learnt that some were slain, which he suspected might be they. y Not for their Garb, or outward Splendor, for the Family was but mean; but for the Majesty of their looks: By which commendation they thought to ingratiate themselves with their Conqueror.

19 And he said, They were my brethren, even the sons of my mother: as the LORD liveth, if ye had saved them alive, I would not slay you z.

z For being not Canaanites, he was not obliged to kill them; but they having killed his Brethren, and that in cool blood, he was by Law the avenger of their Blood.

20 And he said unto Jether his first-born, Up, and slay them a: but the youth drew not his sword: for he feared, because he was yet a youth.

a Partly, that he might animate him to the use of Arms for his God and Country, against their Enemies, and to the Exercise of Justice; partly, that the Death of those mischievous persons might be more shameful and painful; and partly, that he might have some share in the honour of the Victory.

21 Then Zeba and Zalmunna said, Rise thou and fall upon us: for as the man is, so is his strength b. And Gideon arose, and slew Zebah and Zalmunna, and took away the ‖ ornaments that were on their camels necks.

‖ Or, ornaments like unto the moon.

b Thou excellest him, as in Age and Stature, so in Strength; and it is more honourable, as well as easie, to die by the hands of a valiant man.

22 ¶ Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us c, both thou, and thy son, and thy sons son also d: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian e.

c Not as a Judge, for that he was already made by God; but as a King. d Let the Kingdom be Hereditary to thee, and to thy Family. e This miraculous and glorious deliverance by thy hands deserves no less from us.

23 And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you f, neither shall my son rule over you: the LORD shall rule over you g.

f To wit, as a King, which you desire. g In a special manner, as he hath hitherto done, by Judges, whom God did particularly appoint and direct, even by Urim and Thummim, and assist upon all occasions; whereas Kings had a greater Power, and only a general dependence upon God, as other Kings had. Compare 1 Sam. 8. 6, 7.

24 ¶ And Gideon said unto them, I would desire a request of you, That ye would give me every man the ear-rings of his prey, (for they had golden ear-rings, because they were Ishmaelites h.)

h Obj. They are called Midianites before. Anf. Here seems to have been a mixture of People, Judg. 6. 3. which are all called by one general name, Ishmaelites, or Arabians, who used to wear Ear-rings, Gen. 37. 4. but the greatest, and the ruling part of them were Midianites.

25 And they answered, We will willingly give them. And they spread a garment, and did cast therein, every man the ear-rings of his prey.

26 And the weight of the golden ear-rings that he requested, was a thousand and seven hundred shekels of gold, beside ornaments, and * collars, and purple raiment that was on the kings of Midian, and beside the chains that were about their camels necks.

* Or, sweet Jewels.

27 And Gideon made an ephod thereof i, and put it in his city k, even in Ophrah: and all Israel went thither a whoring after it l; which thing became a snare m unto Gideon, and to his house.

i Not of all of it; for then it would have been too heavy for use; but of part of it, the rest being probably employed about other things agreeable and appertaining to it; which elsewhere are comprehended under the name of the Ephod, as Judg. 17. 5. and 18. 14, 18. Hos. 3. 4. k Not as a Monument of the Victory, for such Monuments were neither proper nor usual; but for Religious use, for which alone the Ephod was appointed. The case seems to be this, Gideon having by God's Command erected an Altar in his own City, Ophrah, Judg. 6. 26. for an extraordinary time and occasion, thought it might be continued for ordinary use; and therefore as he intended to procure Priests, so he designed to make Priestly Garments, and especially an Ephod, which was the chief and most costly; which besides its use in sacred ministrations, was also the instrument by which the Mind of God was enquired and discovered, 1 Sam. 26. 6, 9. and 30. 7. which might seem necessary for the Judge to have at hand, that he might consult with God upon all occasions. l Committing Superstition or Idolatry with it; or going thither to enquire the Will of God; whereby they were drawn from the true Ephod, instituted by God for this end, which was to be worn by the High-Priest only. m An occasion of Sin and Ruine to him and his, as the next Chapter sheweth. Though Gideon was a good man, and did this with an honest mind, and a desire to set up Religion in his own City and Family; yet here seems to be many Sins in it; 1 Superstition and Will-worship, Worshipping God by a device of his own, which was frequently and expresly forbidden. 2. Presumption, in wearing, or causing other Priests to wear this kind of Ephod, which was peculiar to the High-Priest. 3. Transgression of a plain Command, of Worshipping God ordinarily but at one place, and one Altar, Deut. 12. 5, 13, 14. and withdrawing people from that place, to his. 4. Making a fearful Schism or Division among the People. 5. Laying a Stumbling-Block, or an occasion of Superstition or Idolatry before that people, whom he knew to be too prone to it.

28 ¶ Thus was Midian subdued before the children of Israel, so that they lifted up their head no more n: and the countrey was in quietness forty years o in the days of Gideon p.

n i. e. Recovered not their former Strength or Courage, so as to Conquer or Oppress others, as they had done. o i. e. To the fortieth year, from the beginning of the Midianitish Oppression; see on Judg. 3. 11. p i. e. As long as Gideon lived.

29 ¶ And Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and dwelt in his own house q.

q Not in his Father's House, as he did before; nor yet in a Court like a King, as the People desired; but in a middle state, as a Judge for the preservation and maintenance of their Religion and Liberties.

30 And Gideon had threescore and ten sons † of his body begotten: for he had many wives.

† Heb. going out of his thigh.

31 And his Concubine that was in Shechem r, she also bare him a son, whose name he † called Abimelech s.

† Heb. set.

r She dwelt there, and he oft came thither, either to execute Judgment, or upon other occasions. s i. e. My Father the King; to be called him, probably, to gratifie his Concubine, who desired it either out of Pride, or Design.

32 And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age t, and was buried in the sepulchre of Joash his father, in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrite.

t His long Life being Crowned with the continuance of his Honour, Tranquillity and Happiness.

33 And it came to pass, as soon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Israel turned again u, and went a whoring after Baalim x, and made Baal-berith y their god.

u Whereby we see the wicked Temper of this people, who did no longer cleave to God, than they were in a manner constrained to it, by the Presence and Authority of their Judges. x This was the general name including all their Idols, whereof one here follows. y i. e. The Lord of the Covenant, so called, either from the Covenant wherewith the Worshippers of this God bound themselves to maintain his Worship, or to defend one another therein; or rather, because he was reputed the God and Judge of all Covenants, and Promises, and Contracts, to whom it belonged to maintain them, and to punish the violaters of them; and such a God both the Grecians and the Romans had.

34 And the children of Israel remembred not the LORD their God, who had delivered them out of the hand of all their enemies on every side:

35 Neither shewed they kindness to the house of Jerubbaal, namely Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shewed unto Israel.

CHAP.

CHAP. IX.

Abimelech Gideon's son by conspiracy with the Shechemites; and the murther of his brethren, Jotham the youngest escaping, is made king, 1.—6. Jotham by a parable rebuketh them and foretelleth their ruine: He flees and dwells at Beer, 7.—21. The Shechemites conspire against Abimelech, 22. Gaal joyns himself to the Shechemites, 29. Zebul reveals it, 30.—33. Betrayeth Gaal, 34.—38. Abimelech overcometh them: And foweth the city with salt, 39.—45. Sets the tower on fire: Also the bold of the God Berith, 46.—49. He subdues Thebez: Going near to the tower to burn it: A woman casts down a piece of a millstone on his head, breaks his skull, 50.—53. He commands his armour-bearer to thrust him through, 54. Jotham's curse is fulfilled, 56, 57.

AND Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, unto his * mothers brethren, and communed with them, and with all the family of the house of his mothers father, saying,

* Chap. 8. 31.

2 Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the men of Shechem, † Whether is better for you, either that all the sons of Jerubbaal (which are threefcore and ten persons) reign over you a, or that one reign over you? Remember also, that I am your bone and your flesh b?

† What is good? whether, &c.

a He supposeth that they would take that Government which their Father modestly refused; and that the multitude of his Sons would occasion horrible Divisions, and Confusions, and Contests about the Sovereign Power; all which they might avoid, by chusing him King; and so they might enjoy the Monarchy which they had long and oft desired. b Your Kinsman, of the same Tribe and City with you; which will be no small Honour and Advantage to you.

3 And his mothers brethren c spake of him in the ears of all the men of Shechem all these words, and their hearts inclined † to follow Abimelech: for they said, He is our brother d.

† Heb. after.

c i.e. Kinsmen, as that word is oft used, as Gen. 14. 16. and 29. 12. d They were easily persuaded to believe and follow what served their own Interest.

4 And they gave him threescore and ten e pieces of silver f out of the house of Baal-berith g, wherewith Abimelech hired * vain and light persons h which followed him.

* Chap. 11. 3.

e Agreeably to the number of his Enemies, Gideon's 70 Sons. f Not Shekels, as some fansie, which were too small a Summ for this purpose; but far larger Pieces, the exact worth whereof it is neither possible nor needful for us now to know. g Out of his sacred Treasury; for even they who were very parcimonious and base in their Expences about Gods Service, were liberal in their Contributions to Idols; having since Gideon's death, built this Temple (which he would never have suffered whilst he lived) and endowed it with considerable Revenues. h Unsettled, idle and necessitous Persons, the most proper Instruments for Tyranny and Cruelty.

5 And he went unto his fathers house at Ophrah, and slew his brethren the sons of Jerubbaal i, being threescore and ten persons k, upon one stone l: notwithstanding, yet Jotham the youngest son of Jerubbaal was left, for he hid himself.

i The only Persons who were likely to hinder him in establishing his Tyranny. k Wanting one, who is here expressed; and these Synecdochical Expressions are frequent in Scripture; see Gen. 35. 26. and 42. 13. Numb. 14. 32, 33. Job. 20. 24. 1 Cor. 15. 5. l Whereby he would signifie, that this was either, 1. And act of Justice, in cutting them all off in an orderly manner, for some supposed Crime, probably, as designing Sedition and Rebellion: Or, 2. An act of Religion in avenging the Dishonour and Injury done to Baal by Gideon, Judg. 6. 27, 28. upon his Children, whom he offered up as so many Sacrifices to Baal upon this Stone, which served for an Altar; and for this reason it seems the Money was taken out of Baal's House, because it was to be laid out in his Service.

6 And all the men of Shechem gathered together, and all the house of Millo m, and went and made Abimelech king n, ‖ by the plain of the pillar o that was in Shechem.

‖ Or, by the oak of the pillar. See Josh. 24. 26.

m Of a Place or Person so called; some eminent and potent Family living in Shechem, or near to it, either the Family of Abimelech's Mother, or some other; or, and all Beth-millo; so Beth is not an House, but a part of the name of the place. n To wit, over all Israel, v. 22. which was a strange Presumption for the Inhabitants of one City to undertake; but they had many advantages and encouragements for it; as the eager, and general, and constant Inclination of the Israelites to Kingly Government; Abimelech's being the Son of Gideon, to whom, and to his Sons, they offered the Kingdom, Judg. 8. 22. And though the Father could, and did refuse it for himself; yet they might imagine, that he could not give away his Son's right conveyed to them by the Israelites, in their offer; the universal defection of the Israelites from God to Baal, whose great Patron and Champion Abimelech pretended to be; the power and prevalency of the Tribe of Ephraim, in which Shechem was, Jos. 20. 7. whose proud and imperious Spirit, manifested Judg. 8. 1. and 12. 1. would make them readily clole with a King of their own Brethren; and Abimelech's getting the start of all others, having the Crown actually put upon his Head, and an Army already raised to maintain his Tyranny.

o Or, by the Oak of the Pillar, i. e. By the Oak, where Joshua erected a Pillar as a Witness of the Covenant renewed between God and Israel, Jos. 24. 26. This Place they chose, to signifie that they still owned God, and their Covenant with him; and did not worship Baal in opposition to God, but in conjunction with him, or in subordination to him.

7 ¶ And when they told it to Jotham, he went and stood in the top of mount Gerizim p, and lift up his voice, and cried q, and said unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem r, that God may hearken unto you s.

p Which lay near Shechem, and near Mount Ebal. The Valley between these two Mountains of Gerizim and Ebal, was a famous Place, employed for a religious Use, even for the solemn reading of the Law, and its Blessings and Curses, Deut. 11. 29. and 27. 12. Jos. 8. 33. and therefore it is probable it was still used, even by the Superstitious and Idolatrous Israelites for such like occasions, who delighted to use the same Places which their religious Ancestors had consecrated and used. q So as they that stood in the Valley might hear him, though not suddenly come at him to take him. r Who are here met together upon a solemn occasion, as Josephus notes, Abimelech being absent. s When you cry unto him for Mercy; so he conjures and persuades to give him patient Audience, as they did.

8 The trees went forth on a time t to anoint a king u over them, and they said unto the olive-tree x, Reign thou over us.

t A Parabolical Discourse, usual among the Ancients, especially in the Eastern parts; wherein, under the names of Trees, Men are represented. u i.e. To make a King, which was oft done among the Israelites, and some others, with the Ceremony of Anointing. x By which he understands Gideon.

9 But the olive-tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness * wherewith by me they honour God y and ‖ man z, and ‖ go to be promoted a over the trees?

* Heb. 15.

‖ Or, of and men

y In whose Worship and Service Oil was used for divers things; as, about the Lamps, Exod. 35. 14. and Offerings, Levit. 2. 6, 7. and for the anointing of Sacred Persons and Things. z For Oil was used in the Constitution of Kings, and Priests, and Prophets, and for a Present to great Persons, and to anoint the Head and Face, &c. a Heb. to move hither and thither, to wander to and fro, to exchange my sweet Tranquillity, for uncessant Cares and Travels for the good of others, as a King ought to do.

10 And the trees said unto the fig-tree b, Come thou, and reign over us.

b This, as also the Vine, v. 12. signifies the same thing with the Olive-Tree, but here are various Expressions used, either for the decency of the Parable; or, because Gideon refused this Honour, both for himself, and for his Sons; or, to signifie that the Sons of Gideon, whom Abimelech had so cruelly slain, upon pretence of their affecting the Kingdom, were as far from such Thoughts as their Father; and therefore were unjustly and wickedly murdered.

11 But the fig-tree said unto them, Should I forsake my sweetness c, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

c For which that Fruit is particularly commended.

12 Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and reign over us.

13 And the vine said unto them, Should I leave my wine, which cheareth God d and man e, and go to be promoted over the trees?

d Wherewith God is well pleased, because it was offered to God, Numb 15. 5, 7, 10. e See Psal. 104. 15. Prov. 31. 6.

14 Then said all the trees unto the ‖ bramble f, Come thou, and reign over us.

‖ Or, the vine.

f Or, Thorn, a mean, and barren, and hurtful Tree, fitly representing Abimelech, the Son of a Concubine, and a Person of small Use, and great Cruelty.

15 And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you g, then come, and put your trust in my shadow h: and if not, * let fire * Heb. 23. come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon i.

‖ Or, Sing.

g If you deal truly and justly in making me King. h Then you may expect Protection under my Government. i Instead of Protection, you shall receive Destruction by me; especially you Cedars, i.e. Nobles, such as the House of Millo, who have been most forward in this work.

16 Now therefore, if ye have done truly and sincerely, in that ye have made Abimelech king, and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house, and have done unto him according to the deserving of his hands:

17 (For my father fought for you, and † adventured his life far k, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian:

† Heb. hit soul.

k Heb. cast away his Soul or Life far off, out of his reach or power to recover it, i.e. Exposed himself to utmost hazard for your sakes.

18 And ye are risen up against my fathers house this day, and have slain l his sons, threescore and ten persons, upon one stone, and have made Abimelech the son of his maid-servant m king over the men of Shechem n, because he is your brother.)

l Abimelech's Fact is justly charged upon them, as done by their consent, approbation and assistance. m His Concubine, whom he so calls by way of reproach, because Maid-servants were oft made Concubines, Exod. 21. 7, 8, 9, 10. n By which limitation of their Power, and his Kingdom, he reflects Contempt upon him, and chargeth them with Presumption, That having only power over their own City, they durst impose a King upon all Israel.

19 If ye then have dealt truly and sincerely with Jerubbaal, and with his house this day, then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in you.

20 But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, and the house of Millo: and let fire come out from the men of Shechem, and from the house of Millo, and devour Abimelech o.

o This is not a Prediction, but an Imprecation or Curse, as it is called, v. 57. which, being grounded upon just cause, and being the only way by which Jotham could perform the Duty of the avenger of his Brethrens Blood, which was incumbent upon him; had its effect, as others in like case had, as Jos. 6. 26. compared with 1 King. 16. 34. and 2 King. 2. 24.

21 And Jotham ran away, and fled p, and went to Beer q, and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.

p Which he might easily do, having the advantage of the Hill, and other accommodations for flight; and because the People were not forward to pursue a Man whom they knew to have such just Cause, and great Provocation to speak, and so little Power to do them any hurt. q A Place remote from Shechem, and out of Abimelech's reach: There were divers Places of that name.

22 ¶ When Abimelech had reigned three years over Israel r:

r For though the Men of Shechem were the first Authors of Abimelech's advancement, it's more than probable, that the rest of the People easily enclined to that form of Government which they so much desired; or, at least, made no resistance against it.

23 Then God sent an evil spirit ‖ between Abimelech, and the men of Shechem: and the men of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech.

‖ Or, but.

s God gave the Devil Commission to enter into, or work upon their minds and hearts; knowing, that he of himself, and by his own inclination, would fill them with mistakes, and jealousies, and dissensions, and heart-burnings, which would end in civil Wars, and mutual Ruine.

24 That the cruelty t done to the threescore and ten sons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid upon Abimelech their brother, which slew them, and upon the men of Shechem, which † aided him in the killing of his brethren.

† Heb. strengthened his hands to kill.

t i.e. The punishment of the Cruelty.

25 And the men of Shechem set liers in wait for him u in the tops of the mountains, and they robbed all that came along that way by them x: and it was told Abimelech y.

u To seize his Person. x To wit, such as favoured or served Abimelech; for to such only their Commission reached, though it may be they went beyond their Bounds, and by Military Licence robbed all Passengers promiscuously. y Who, as it is here implied, exercised Hostility towards the Men of Shechem.

26 And Gaal the son of Ebed z came with his brethren, and went over to Shechem a: and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

z It is not known who, or of what Tribe he was; but it is evident, that he was a Man very considerable for Wealth, and Strength, and Counsel, and Interest; and ill pleased with Abimelech's Power. a By his Presence and Counsel to animate and assist them against Abimelech.

27 And they went out into the fields b, and gathered their vineyards, and trod the grapes, and made ‖ merry c, and went into the house of their gods d, and did eat and drink e, and cursed Abimelech f.

‖ Or, sang.

b Which, till his coming they durst not do, for fear of Abimelech; but now took confidence to do so, in contempt of him. c Partly, from the Custom of rejoicing, and singing Songs in Vintage-time, Levit. 19. 24. Isa. 16. 10. Jer. 25. 30. and partly, for the hopes of their Redemption from Abimelech's Tyranny. d Baal-berith, v. 4. either to beg his help against Abimelech, or to give him thanks, either for the Fruits of the Earth now received, or for the Hopes of recovering their former, and lost Liberty. e To the honour of their Idols, and out of the Oblations made to them, as they used to do to the honour of Jehovah, and out of his Sacrifices. f Either by reviling and reproaching him after their manner; or, rather in a more solemn and religious manner, cursing him by their god, as Goliah did David, 1 Sam. 17. 43. Or, calling upon their god to ratifie their Curses pronounced against him.

28 And Gaal the son of Ebed said, Who is Abimelech g, and who is Shechem h that we should serve him? is not he the son of Jerubbaal i? And Zebul his officer k? serve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem l: for why should we serve him?

g What is he but a base-born Person, an ambitious, imperious, and cruel Tyrant, and one every way unfit and unworthy to govern you? h Shechem is here the name, either, 1. Of the Place or City of Shechem; and so the Hebrew Particle mi, who, is put for mah, what, as it is Judg. 13. 17. and then the sense of the place is this; Consider how obscure and unworthy a Person Abimelech is, and what a Potent and Honourable City Shechem is; and judge you whether it be fit that such a City should be subject to such a Person: Or, rather, 2. Of a Person, even of Abimelech, named in the foregoing words, and described in those which follow, the son of Jerubbaal, between which Shechem is hemmed in, and therefore cannot conveniently belong to any other. He is called Shechem for the Shechemite, by a metonymie of the Subject, whereby the Place is put for the Person contained in it, and belonging to it; as Egypt, Æthiopia, Seba, Judea, Macedonia, and Achaia, &c. are put for the People of those Countries, Job 1. 15. and 6. 19. Psal. 68. 31. and 105. 38. Isa. 43. 3. Matth. 3. 5. Rom. 15. 26. Thus mi is taken properly, and the sense is, Who is this Shechemite? For so he was by the Mother's side, born of a Woman of your City, and she but his Concubine and Servant; why should you submit to one so basely descended? i i.e. Of Gideon, a Person obscure by his own confession, Judg. 6. 15. and famous only by his boldness and fierceness against that Baal which you justly honour and reverence, whose Altar he overthrew, and whose Worship he endeavoured to abolish. k And you are so unworthy and mean-spirited, that you do not only submit to him, but suffer his very Servants to bear rule over you, and enslave you; and particularly, this ignoble and hateful Person Zebul. l If you love Bondage, call in the old Master and Lord of the Place; chuse not an Upstart, as Abimelech is; but rather take one of the old Stock, one descended from Hamor, Gen. 34. 2. who did not carry himself like a Tyrant, as Abimelech did; but like a Father of his City of Shechem. This he might speak, either, 1. Sincerely, as being himself a Canaanite and a Shechemite, and possibly come from one of those little ones whom Simeon and Levi spared when they slew all the grown Males, Gen. 34. 27. And it may be that he was one of the Royal Blood, a descendant of Hamor, who hereby sought to insinuate himself into their Minds and Government, as it follows, v. 29. Would to God this people were under my hand; which he might judge the People more likely to do, both because they were now united with the Canaanites in Religion; and because their present Distress might oblige them to put themselves under him, who seemed or pretended to be a valiant and expert Commander. Or, 2. In way of Derision, he being an Israelite; if you are so servile, serve some of the Children of Hamor; which because you rightly judge to be abhorred and dishonourable, do not now submit to a far baser Person; but cast off his Yoak, and recover your lost Liberties.

29 And would to God this people were under my hand m, then would I remove Abimelech n. And he said to Abimelech o, Increase thine army, and come out p.

m i.e. Under my Command; I wish you would unanimously submit to me, as your Captain and Governour; for he found them divided; and some of them hearkening after Abimelech, whom they had lately rejected, according to the levity of the popular Humour. n As you have driven him out of your City, I would drive him out of your Country. o He sent this Message or Challenge to him. p I desire not to surprise thee at any disadvantage; strengthen thy self as much as thou canst, and come out into the open Field, that thou and I may decide it by our Arms.

30 ¶ And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his anger was ‖ kindled q.

q It seems he had temporized and complied with the Peoples Humour and Plot against Abimelech, either in Dissimulation and Design, and by Abimelech's Connivence or Advice; or, really; but when he heard Gaal's words, and himself traduced, and struck at by them, he changed his mind, repented of his defection from Abimelech, and intended to return himself, and to bring the People again to the Obedience of their Lord and King.

31 And he sent messengers unto Abimelech † privily r, saying, Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed, and his brethren be come to Shechem; and behold, they fortifie the city against thee s.

† Heb. craftily, or, to Tormah.

r So as Gaal and his Confederates might not know it. Or, in Tormah; or, who was in Thormah; for some make it the name of the Place where Abimelech was, which is called with some variation, Arumah, v. 41. s They Besiege or Guard the City of Shechem, so as none may go out to thee, nor come in from thee.

32 Now therefore, up by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field.

33 And it shall be, that in the morning as soon as the sun is up, thou shalt rise early, and set upon the city: and behold, when he t, and the people that is with him come out against thee, then maist thou do to them † as thou shalt find occasion.

† Heb. as thine hand shall find.

t i. e. Gaal mentioned v. 33.

34 ¶ And Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him, by night, and they laid wait against Shechem in four companies.

35 And Gaal the son of Ebed went out, and stood in the entring of the gate of the city u; and Abimelech rose up, and the people that were with him, from lying in wait.

u To put his Army in order, and to conduct them against Abimelech, whom he supposed to be at a great distance.

36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul x, Behold, there come people down from the top of the mountains. And Zebul said unto him, Thou seest the shadow of the mountains, as if they were men y.

x Who concealed the anger which he had conceived, v. 30. and pretended compliance with him in this Expedition, that he might draw him forth into the Field where Abimelech might have the opportunity of of Fighting with Him, and overthrowing him. y For in the Morning, as this was, and in the Evening, the shadows are longest, and move most quickly. He intimates, that he was afraid of shadows.

37 And Gaal spake again, and said, See, there come people down by the † middle of the land z, and another company come along by the plain of ‖ Meonenim.

‖ Or, the regarders of times.

z Heb. by the navel of the Land. So he calls, either First, the middle of it, as the middle part of Greece and of Sicily are called the navel of them, by the Roman Writers, because the Navel is in the midst of Man's Body: Or, Secondly, The higher part of it, called the Mountains, v. 36. and here the navel, because it was raised above the other ground, as the Navel is above the rest of the Body.

38 Then said Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth a wherewith thou saidst, Who is Abimelech that we should serve him? is not this the people that thou hast despised? Go out, I pray now, and fight with them.

a i. e. Thy brags. Now thou betrayest thy fears, and therefore now shew thy self a man, and fight valiantly for thy self and people.

39 And Gaal went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 And Abimelech chased him, and he fled before him b, and many were overthrown and wounded c, even unto the entring of the gate.

b Being surprized by the unexpected coming of Abimelech, and possibly not fully prepared for the encounter. c Being pursued and overtaken by Abimelech.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah d; and Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren e, that they should not dwell in Shechem.

d He did not prosecute his Victory, but retreated to Arumah, partly to see the effect of this Fight, and whether the Shechemites would not of themselves return to his Government, being either perswaded by Zebul upon this occasion, or terrified by his strength and valour, or now by his clemency in proceeding no further against them: and partly, that being hereby grown more secure, he might have the greater advantage against them, which accordingly he here makes use of. e Which he was inabled to do, because the Multitude, which is generally light and unstable, and judgeth of all things by Events, were now enraged against Gaal, suspecting him guilty either of Treachery or Cowardize, or ill Conduct: and besides, they thought the expulsion of Gaal would sweeten and satisfie Abimelech, and make him give over the War against them. But though they were offended with Gaal, yet Zebul's interest was not so considerable with them, that he could prevail with them either to kill Gaal and his Brethren, or to yield themselves to Abimelech; and therefore he still complies with the People, and waits for a fairer opportunity, though in vain.

42 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the people went out into the field f, and they told Abimelech.

f Either, First, to renew the Fight, and avenge themselves for their last loss, the great God hardening their hearts to their Destruction, and the accomplishment of his Word delivered to them by Jotham. But here is not one word about the Peoples Arming, or Resisting, or Fighting, as there was before, v. 39. but only of their Slaughter, v. 43, 44. Or, Secondly, to their usual, and then proper Imployments about their Lands: for though their Vintage was past, the Seed-time was now come, and other things were to be done in the Fields. Or, Thirdly, upon some solemn occasion, not here expressed; possibly to make a solemn Procession, or perform some other Rites in the Fields, to the honour of their god Baal-berith, as the manner of the Heathen was, to make supplication to him for his help, and for better success; or only to go for that end to the house of their god Baal-berith, which is thought to have been in the Fields; as may seem from v. 27, 46. on a Mountain upon the East side of the City.

43 And he took the people, and divided them into three companies g, and laid wait in the field, and looked, and behold, the people were come forth out of the city, and he rose up against them and smote them.

g Whereof he kept one with himself, v. 44. and put the rest under other Commanders.

44 And Abimelech, and the company that was with him, rushed forward, and stood in the entring of the gate of the city b, and the two other companies ran upon all the people that were in the fields, and slew them.

b To prevent their Retreat into the City, and give the other two Companies opportunity to cut them off.

45 And Abimelech fought against the city all that day, and he took the city, and slew the people that was therein, and beat down the city, and sowed it with salt i.

i Not to make the place barren, as salt will do, for then he would have sowed the Fields, not the City; but in token of his detestation and desire of their utter and irrecoverable Destruction: for Salt is the symbole or sign of Perpetuity; Compare Numb. 18. 19. Deut. 29. 23. 2 Chron. 13. 5. Zeph. 2. 9.

46 ¶ And when all the men of the tower of Shechem k heard that, they entred into an hold of the house of the god of Berith l.

k A strong place belonging to the City of Shechem, and made for its defence or security, but without the City. It is thought, this was that Millo which was confederate with Shechem in their design against Abimelech, v. 6. which also Jotham Cursed with Shechem, v 20. and that Curse is noted to have its Effect, v. 57. And this place may be called the Tower of Shechem; either because those who possessed and defended it, were sent from Shechem: Or, because it was built and kept for the safe guard of Shechem. l Or, Baal-berith, v. 4. Hither they fled out of the Town belonging to it, fearing the same event with Shechem; and here they thought to be secure; partly by the strength of the place, as the Temples of Idols were oft-times built in the highest and strongest Places, as the Capitol at Rome, and the Temple at Jerusalem; and such this place seems to have been, because they laid their Treasure here, v. 4. Partly by the Religion of it, thinking that either their god would Protect them there, or that Abimelech would spare them there, if not out of piety to that god, yet out of thankfulness for the benefit which he received thence, v. 4.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together, into that place.

48 And Abimelech gat him up to mount Zalmon m, he, and all the people that were with him, and Abimelech took an ax in his hand, and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it, and laid it on his shoulder, and said unto the people that were with him, What ye have seen † me do, make haste, and do as I have done.

m A place so called from its shadiness, because there were many Trees there.

49 And all the people likewise cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and set the hold on fire upon them: so that all the men of the tower of Shechem died also, about a thousand men and women.

50 ¶ Then went Abimelech to Thebez n, and encamped against Thebez, and took it.

n Another Town near to Shechem; and, as it seems, within its Territory.

51 But there was a strong tower within the city, and thither fled all the men, and women o, and all they of the city, and shut it to them, and gat them up to the top of the tower p.

o All that were not slain in the taking of the Town: or they all forsook the Town, and retired to their strong hold. p Which was flat and plain, after their manner of Building.

52 And Abimelech came unto the tower, and fought against it, and went hard unto the door of the tower, to burn it with fire.

53 And a certain woman * cast a piece of a millstone q upon Abimelech's head, and all to brake his skull.

* 2 Sam. 11. 21.

q Such great stones no doubt they carried up with them, whereby they might defend themselves, or offend those who Assaulted them. Here the Justice of God is remarkable in suiting the Punishment to his Sin. He slew his Brethren upon a stone, v. 5. and he loseth his own life by a Stone.

54 Then * he called hastily unto the young man his armour-bearer, and said unto him, Draw thy sword, and slay me, that men say not of me, A woman slew him r: and his young man thrust him through, and he died.

* So 1 Sam. 31. 4.

r Which was esteemed a matter of disgrace.

55 And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his place.

56 ¶ Thus God rendred the wickedness of Abimelech which he did unto * his father s, in slaying his seventy brethren.

* Judg. 8. 35.

s In rooting out, as far as he could, the name, and memory, and remainders of his Father.

57 And all the evil of the men of Shechem did God render upon their heads: and upon them came the curse of Jotham, the son of Jerubbaal.

CHAP. X.

Tola judgeth Israel: and Jair: Whose 30 Sons had 30 Cities, 1–5: The Peoples Idolatry, 6. The Philistines and Ammonites oppress them, 7——9. They cry to God who sendeth them to their false gods: But upon their Repentance pitieth them, 10—16. The Ammonites and Israelites encamp against one another, 17, 18.

AND after Abimelech, there arose a to ‖ † defend Israel b, Tola the son of Puah, the son of Dodo, a man of Issachar, and he dwelt in Shamir in mount Ephraim c.

‖ Or, to save. † Heb. Judge.

a Not of himself, but either chosen by the People; or rather, raised by God, as the other Judges were. b Or, to save, which he did not by fighting against, and overthrowing their Enemies, but by a prudent and pious Government of them, whereby he kept them from Sedition, and Oppression, and Tyranny, as also from Idolatry; as may be gathered from v. 6. which if not restrained and purged out, would have brought certain Ruine upon them. c Which was in the very heart and midst of the Land.

2 And he judged Israel twenty and three years, and dyed, and was buried in Shamir.

3 ¶ And after him arose Jair a Gileadite d, and judged Israel twenty and two years.

d Of Gilead beyond Jordan.

4 And he had thirty sons that rode on thirty asscolts e, and they had thirty cities, which are called ‖ Havoth-jair f, unto this day, which are in the land of Gilead.

‖ Or, the villages of Jair.

e Because Horses were scarce there, and were not to be multiplied by the King himself, Deut. 17. 16. Hence their Kings and Kings children used to ride upon Mules, 2 Sam. 13. 29. and 18. 9. 1 Kings 1, 33, 38, 44. Compare Judg. 5. 10. and 12. 14. f Object. These Villages were called so before this time from another Jair: And Numb. 32. 41. Deut. 3. 14. Answ. They are not said to be now first called by that Name; but to be still so called, because the old name was revived and confirmed upon this occasion. As Sheba is said to be called Beersheba, upon an occasion mentioned Gen. 26. 33. though it was so called before upon a more ancient occasion, Gen. 21. 33. Possibly this Jair had enlarged or fortified these Towns, and so they were justly denominated from him, no less than from the former.

5 And Jair died, and was buried in Camon.

6 ¶ And * the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim, and † Ashtaroth, and the gods of Syria, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines, and forsook the LORD, and served not him g.

* Chap. 2. 11. and 3. 7. and 4. 1. and 6. 1. and 13. 1.

† Chap. 2. 13.

g He shews how they grew worse and worse, and so ripened themselves for the Ruine which afterward came upon them. Before they Worshipped God and Idols together: now they utterly forsake God, and wholly cleave to Idols.

7 And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he * sold them into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hands of the children of Ammon h.

* 1 Sam. 12. 9.

h The one on the West, the other on the East; so they were molested on both sides.

† Heb. crushed.

8 And that year they vexed and † oppressed the children of Israel eighteen years i, all the children of Israel that were on the other side Jordan, in the land of the Amorite which is in Gilead.

i Or, That year they had vexed and oppressed the children of Israel eighteen years. Or, They vexed them in that year, that was the eighteenth year; to wit, of that Vexation. This was the eighteenth year from the beginning of that Oppression. And these eighteen years are not to be reckoned from Jair's Death, because that would enlarge the time of the Judges beyond the just bounds; as may appear from 1 Kings 6. 1. Nor from Jephthah's beginning to Reign, because he Reigned but six years, and in the beginning thereof put an end to this Persecution, but from the fourth year of Jair's Reign: so that the greatest part of Jair's Reign was contemporary with this Affliction. And although this Oppression of the Ammonites and Philistines, and the cause of it, the Idolatry of the Israelites, be not mentioned till after Jair's death, because the Sacred Pen-man would deliver the whole history of this Calamity entirely and together; yet they both happened before it; and Jair's death is mentioned before that, only by a Prolepsis or Anticipation, than which, nothing is more frequent in Scripture. The case of Jair and Samson seem to be much alike. For as it is said of Samson, that he judged Israel in the days of the Tyranny of the Philistines, twenty years, Judg. 15. 20. by which it is evident, that his Judicature, and their Dominion, were Contemporary; the like is to be conceived of Jair, that he began to judge Israel, and endeavoured to reform Religion, and purge out all abuses; but being unable to effect this through the backwardness and baseness of the People, God would not inable him to deliver the People, but gave them up to this sad Oppression; so that Jair could only perform one half of his Office, which was to determine Differences amongst the Israelites, but could not deliver them from their Enemies.

9 Moreover, the children of Ammon passed over Jordan, to fight also against Judah, and against Benjamin, and against the house of Ephraim: so that Israel was sore distressed.

10 ¶ And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, saying, We have sinned against thee, both because we have forsaken our God, and also served Baalim k.

k Because not contented to add Idols to thee, we have preferred them before thee, and rejected thee to receive and worship them.

11 And the LORD said l unto the children of Israel, Did not I deliver you from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites m, from the children of Ammon n, and from the Philistines o?

l Either by himself, the Son of God appearing in a visible shape, which then was usual: or by some Prophet whom he raised and sent to this purpose: or by the High-Priest, who was consulted in the case. m Both Sihon and Og, and their people, Numb. 21. and other Kings of the Amorites within Jordan, Josh 10. 5. n Who were confederate with the Moabites, Judg. 3. 13, 14. o See Judg. 3. 31.

12 The Zidonians p also, and the Amalekites q, and Maonites r did oppress you, and ye cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand.

p For though we do not read of any oppression of Israel, particularly, by the Sidonians; yet there might be such a thing: as many things were said and done, both in the Old and New Testament, which are not Recorded there: Or, they might join their Forces with the King of Mesopotamia, Judg. 3. 8. Or with some other of their Oppressors: for it is certain, these were left among others to prove Israel, Judg. 3. 1, 2, 3. q Of whom, see Judg. 3. 12. and 6. 3. r Either First, those who lived in, or near the Wilderness of Maon, in the South of Judah, 1 Sam. 23. 25. and 25. 2. whether Edomites or others. Or, Secondly, the Mehunims, a People living near the Arabians, of whom, 2 Chron. 26. 7. For in the Hebrew, the Letters of both Names are the same, only the one is the Singular, the other the Plural Number. Or, Thirdly, The Midianites, whose Oppression he would not omit; it being usual for one and the same Person or Persons to have two Names: although the Midianites may be comprehended under the Amalekites, with whom they were joyned, Judg. 6. 3, 33. Or Fourthly, Some other People now unknown, and not expressed elsewhere in Scripture.

13 * Yet ye have forsaken me, and served other gods: wherefore I will deliver you no more s.

* Deut 23. 20. Jer. 2. 13.

s To wit, except you Repent in another manner than you yet have done; which when they performed, God suspends the execution of this Threatning. Compare Jer. 18 7.

14 Go and * cry unto the gods which ye have chosen t, let them deliver you in the time of your tribulation.

* Deut. 32. 37, 38. Jer. 2. 28.

t You have not been forced to worship those gods by your Oppressors and Tyrants; but you have freely chosen these gods before me.

15 ¶ And the children of Israel said unto the LORD, We have sinned, do thou unto us whatsoever † seemeth good unto thee u; deliver us only, we pray thee, this day.

† Heb. is good in thine eyes.

u Do not give us up into the hands of these cruel Men, but do thou chastise us with thine own hand as much as thou pleasest; to wit, if we be not more faithful and constant to thee, than we have hitherto been.

16 And they put away the † strange gods from among them x, and served the LORD: and * his soul † was grieved y for the misery of Israel.

† Heb. gods of strangers. * Ha. 63. 9. † Heb. was shortned.

x This was an evidence of the sincerity of their sorrow, that they did not only confess and bewail their Sins, but also forsake them, and loath themselves for them. y Not properly, or as to inward affection; for God being infinitely happy, is not capable of grieving: but figuratively, and as to outward expression. He acted towards them, like one that felt their Sufferings; he had pity upon them, repented of his severe Proceedings against them, and quite changed his carriage towards them, and punished their Enemies as sorely as if they had grieved and injured his own person.

17 Then the children of Ammon were † gathered together, and encamped in Gilead: and the children of Israel assembled themselves together, and encamped in Mizpeh z.

† Heb. cried together.

z That Mizpeh which was beyond Jordan in Gad or Manasseh; of which see Gen. 31. 49. Josh. 18. 26. Judg. 10. 17. and 11. 11, 29, 34. There were other Cities of that name in Scripture.

18 And the people and princes of Gilead said one to another, What man is he that will begin to fight against the children of Ammon? he shall * be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

* Chap. 11. 8.

CHAP. XI.

Jephthah dwells in the Land of Tob. 1,—3. Is called by the Elders of Gilead to command in chief against the Ammonites, 4,—6. He demands to be continued Head after the War should cease, they swear it shall be so, 7,—11. He sendeth twice Messengers to the King of the Ammonites to treat of Peace, but in vain, 12,——28. Jephthah maketh a vow against him: Maketh a vow: Smiteth the Ammonites: Performeth his Vow on his Daughter, 29,——40.

NOW * Jephthah the Gileadite a was a mighty man of valour, and he was the son of † an harlot b: and Gilead c begat Jephthah.

* Heb. 11. 32. called Jephte.

† Heb. a woman an harlot.

2 And Gileads wife bare him sons, and his wives sons grew up, and they thrust out Jephthah, and said unto him, Thou shalt not inherit in our fathers house, for thou art the son of a strange woman.

These evil-minded Persons Jephthah managed well, employing them against the Enemies of God, and of Israel, that bordered upon them; and particularly, upon Parties of the Ammonites, which made the Israelites more forward to chuse him for their Chieftain in this War. f When he made excursions and attempts upon his and their Enemies.

4 ¶ And it came to pass † in process of time, g, that the children of Ammon made war against Israel.

g Heb. after some days: or, after a year, days being oft put for a year, as hath been shewed, after that year mentioned, Judg. 10. 8. The Ammonites had vexed and oppressed them Eighteen Years, and now that the Israelites begin to make Opposition, they commence a War against them. Or, some time after Jephthah had been banish'd, and after he had taken up Arms, and given them some disturbance. Or, after the Israelites assembled together, as is said, Judg. 10. 18.

5 And it was so, that when the children of Ammon made war against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah b out of the land of Tob.

b By direction or instinct from God, who both qualified him for, and called him to the office of a Judge. See Judg. 12. 7. Heb. 11. 32. Otherwise they might not have chosen a Bastard, Deut. 32. 2. Unless we will say, that there being no other person among them fit for, and willing to this Work, necessity dispensed with this Law, as it did with other positive Laws, as those of the Sabbath and Sacrifices.

6 And they said unto Jephthah, Come and be our Captain i, that we may fight with the children of Ammon.

i They say not, our King; for the experience of Abimelech's kingship had cooled their Appetite in that particular; but our Captain.

* Gen. 26. 27.

7 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, * Did not ye hate me, and expel me out of my fathers house k? and why are ye come unto me now, when ye are in distress?

k And deprive me of all share in my Father's Goods, which, though a Bastard, was due to me. This Expulsion of him was the act of his Brethren; but he here ascribes it to the Elders of Gilead; either because some of them were among these Elders, as is very probable from the dignity of this Family; or because this act, though desired and promoted by his Brethren, was executed by the decree of the Elders, to whom the determination of all Controversies about Inheritances belonged; and therefore it was their fault that they did not protect him from the Injuries of his Brethren, as their duty was.

8 And the Elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, Therefore we turn again to thee now l, that thou mayest go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

l Being sensible that we have done thee Injury, we come now to make thee full Reparations.

9 ¶ And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again m to fight against the children of Ammon, and the LORD deliver them before me, shall I be your head n?

m If you recall me from this place where I am now settled, to the place whence I was Expelled. n Will you really make good this Promise? Jephthah was so sollicitous in this case, either from his Zeal for the publick Good, which required that he should be so; or from the Law of Self-Preservation, that he might secure himself from his Brethren; whose ill-will he had experienced, and whose injuries he could not prevent, if, after he had served their ends, he had been reduced to his private capacity; or, there might be some Tincture of Ambition in him; for which God therefore severely, though paternally, chastiseth him, as we see afterwards.

† Heb. be the hearer between us.

10 ¶ And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, The LORD † be witness between us o, if we do not so according to thy words.

o They confirm their Promise by a Solemn and Sacred Oath.

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and captain over them: and Jephthah uttered all his words p before the LORD q in Mizpeh.

p Objectively so called, i.e. All that was spoken, not only by him, but also by the Elders of Gilead, concerning him, and concerning this whole Transaction, and the conditions of it; or, all his matters, the whole business. q i.e. Before the Publick Congregation, wherewith God was usually, and then especially present; see Exod. 20. 24. Deut. 6. 25. Mat. 18. 10. Or, before the Altar, which possibly they did erect upon this special occasion, by God's permission: Or, in God's Presence, calling him to be present, as a Witness and Judge between them.

12 ¶ And Jephthah sent messengers r unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What hast thou to do with me s, that thou art come against me, to fight in my land?

r i.e. Ambassadors, to prevent Blood-shed, and make Peace; as far as in him lay; that so the Israelites might be acquitted before God and men, from all the sad consequences of this War; Herein he shewed great Prudence, and no less Piety. s What pretence, or reasonable cause hast thou for this Invasion? t He speaks this in the Name of all the People, whose the Land was.

13 And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Jephthah, * Because Israel took away my land u, when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore restore those lands again peaceably.

* Numb. 21. 13. Deut. 23. 4. Josh 24. 9.

u i.e. This Land of Gilead, which was mine, but unjustly taken from me, by Sihon and Og, the Kings of the Ammorites; and the injury perpetuated by Israel's detaining it from me. This Land, before the Conquests of Sihon and Og, belonged partly to the Ammonites, as is affirmed, Jos. 13. 25. and partly, and principally, to the Moabites, as appears from Numb. 21. 24, 26. Deut. 3. 11. And indeed, Moab and Ammon did for the most part join their Interests and their Forces, as appears from Scripture-Story; and as Balak the King of the Moabites acted for the Ammonites, so now the King of Ammon seems to act for the Moabites, either as being now his Subjects; or, as his Confederates; whence it comes to pass that Moab and Ammon are here promiscuously mentioned, as v. 15, 17, 18, 25. and Chemosh the known god of the Moabites, Numb. 21. 29. 1 Kings 11. 33. 2 Kings 23. 13. Jer. 48. 13, 46. is here called the god of the Ammonites, v. 24. though to speak strictly, Moloch or Milchom was their god, 1 Kings 11. 5, 7, 33. and 2 Kings 23. 13.

14 And Jephthah sent messengers again unto the king of the children of Ammon.

15 And said unto him, Thus saith Jephthah, * Israel took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon.

* Deut. 2.

16 But when Israel came up from Egypt, and * walked through the wilderness unto the red-sea x, and * came to Kadesh:

x Unto which they came three times; once, Exod. 13. 18. again, a little after their passage over it, Exod. 15. 22. and a third time, long after, when they came to Ezion-Gaber. Numb. 33. 35. Deut. 2. 8. which was upon the Shoar of the Red-Sea, 1 Kings 9. 26. 2 Chron. 8. 17. from whence they went to Kadesh, Numb. 20. of this time he speaks here.

17 Then * Israel sent messengers unto the king of Edom, saying, Let me, I pray thee, pass through thy land: but the king of Edom would not hearken thereto: and in like manner they sent unto the king of Moab: but he would not consent: and Israel abode in Kadesh y.

y Peaceably, and did not revenge their unkindness and inhumanity, as they could have done.

18 Then they went along through the wilderness, and * compassed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came by the east-side of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, * but came not within the border of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

* Deut. 2. 26.

z i.e. Unto the Land of Canaan, which God hath given to me.

20 But Sihon trusted not Israel to pass through his coast: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jahaz, and fought with Israel a.

a So Sihon was the aggressor or beginner of the War; and the Israelites were forced to it for their own Defence.

21 And the LORD God of Israel delivered Sihon, and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they smote them: so Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that countrey.

22 And they possessed * all the coasts b of the Amorites, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and from the wilderness c even unto Jordan.

* Deut. 2. 36.

b Or Borders; together with all the Land included within those Borders; for so that word is oft used, as Exod. 8. 2. Psal. 147. 14. Jer. 15. 13. and 17. 3. c To wit, the Desart of Arabia.

23 So now the LORD God of Israel hath dispossessed the Amorites d from before his people Israel, and shouldest thou possess it?

d God, the Soveraign Lord of all Lands, hath given us this Land; This he adds, as a further and a convincing reason; because otherwise it might have been alledged against the former Argument, that they could gain no more Right to that Land from Sihon, than Sihon himself had; and he had but an unjust Claim to it.

24 Wilt not thou possess that which Chemosh thy god giveth thee to possess e? so whomsoever the LORD our God shall drive out from before us, them will we possess.

e He speaks according to their fond and absurd Opinion: The Ammonites and Moabites got their Land by right of War, and Conquest of the old Inhabitants, whom they cast out; and this Success, though given them by the true God, for Lot's sake, Deut. 2. 9, 19. they impiously and ridiculously ascribe to their god Chemosh, whose Gift they owned to be a firm and sufficient Title.

25 * And now art thou any thing better than Balak f, the son of Zippor king of Moab? Did he ever strive against Israel, or did he ever fight against them?

* Numb. 22. 2. Deut. 23. 4. Josh 24. 9.

f Are thou wiser than he? or hast thou more right than he had? Balak, though he plotted against Israel, in defence of his own Land, which he feared they would Invade and Conquer, Numb. 22. 4. yet he never contended with them about the restitution of those Lands which Sihon took from him or his Predecessors, after the Israelites had Conquered them.

26 While Israel dwelt in Heshbon, and her † towns, and in Aroer, and her † towns, and in all the cities that be along by the coasts of Arnon, three hundred years g? why therefore did ye not recover them within that time?

† Heb. daughters. † Heb. Daughters.

g Not precisely, but about that time, either from their coming out of Egypt; or, from their first Conquest of those Lands; and thus numbers are oft expressed, see Numb. 1. 46. and 2. 32. and 11. 21. Judg. 20. 46. He urgeth Prescription, which is by all men reckoned a just Title, and it is fit it should be so for the good of the World, because otherwise the Door would be opened both to Kings, and to private Persons, for infinite Contentions and Confusions.

27 Wherefore I have not sinned against thee h; but thou doest me wrong to war against me: the LORD the judge, be judge this day i between the children of Israel, and the children of Ammon.

h I have done thee no wrong. i Let him determine this Controversie by the success of this day and War.

28 Howbeit the king of the children of Ammon hearkened not unto the words of Jephthah which he sent him.

* Chap. 3. 10.

29 ¶ Then the * Spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah k, and he passed over Gilead and Manasseh l, and passed over Mizpeh of Gilead m, and from Mizpeh of Gilead he passed over unto the children of Ammon.

k Indued him with a more than ordinary Courage and Resolution. l i.e. Bashan, which the half Tribe of Manasseh, beyond Jordan, inhabited, Jos. 20. 8. and 21. 6. m So called, to distinguish it from other Cities of that name: Having gathered what Forces he suddenly could, he came hither to the borders of the Ammonites.

30 And Jephthah vowed a vow n unto the LORD, and said, If thou shalt without fail deliver the children of Ammon into mine hand:

n Of this and the following Verse, see the Notes on ver. 39.

† He that which cometh forth, which shall come forth.

31 Then it shall be, that † whatsoever cometh forth of the doors of my house, to meet me, when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, shall surely be the LORD'S, ‖ and I will offer it up for a burnt-offering.

‖ Or, or I will offer it, &c.

32 ¶ So Jephthah passed over unto the children of Ammon, to fight against them, and the LORD delivered them into his hand.

33 And he smote them from Aroer, even till thou come to Minnith o, even twenty cities; and unto the ‖ plain of the vineyards, with a very great slaughter: thus the children of Ammon were subdued before the children of Israel.

‖ Or, Abel.

o A place not far from Rabbah, the chief City of the Ammonites.

34 ¶ And Jephthah came to Mizpeh unto his house, and behold his daughter came out to meet him, with timbrels and with dances p, and she was his only child: ‖ † beside her q he had neither son nor daughter.

‖ Or, he had not of his own either son or daughter. † Heb. of himself.

p In Consort with other Virgins, as the manner was, See Exod. 15. 20. 1 Sam. 18. 6. q Heb. of himself, i.e. Proceeding from his own body; which may imply, that he had other Children, either by Adoption, or in right of his Wife, who had them by a former Husband.

35 And it came to pass when he saw her, that he rent his clothes, and said, Alas, my daughter, thou hast brought me very low, and thou art one of them that trouble me r: for I have opened my mouth s unto the LORD, and I cannot go back t.

r Before this, I was troubled by my Brethren; and since, by the Ammonites; and now most of all, though but occasionally, by thee. s i.e. I have Vowed, which was done by Words, Numb. 30. 2, 6. t i.e. Not retract my Vow; I am indispensably obliged to perform it.

36 And she said unto him, My father, if thou hast opened thy mouth unto the LORD, do to me according to that which hath proceeded out of thy mouth u: forasmuch as the LORD hath taken vengeance for thee of thine enemies x, even of the children of Ammon.

u Do not for my sake make thy self a Transgressor; I freely give my consent to thy Vow; wherewith, and with the Success of his Arms he had now acquainted her, though it be not here expressed. x I am willing to bear my Burthen; being abundantly satisfied with the great Deliverance which God hath given to his People by thy hands.

37 And she said unto her father, Let this thing be done for me: let me alone two months, that I may † go up and down upon the mountains y, and bewail my virginity z, I, and my fellows.

† Heb. go, and go down.

y Which she chose as a solitary place, and therefore fittest both for Lamentations, and for her Preparation for her approaching Calamity. z That I shall die Childless, which was esteemed both a Curse and a Disgrace for the Israelites, Gen. 30. 23. 1 Sam. 1. 6, 7. Isa. 4. 1. Because such were excluded from that great privilege of increasing the Holy Seed, and contributing to the Birth of the Messiah, who was to be born of an Israelitish Woman.

38 And he said, Go. And he sent her away for two months, and she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains.

39 And it came to pass at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed a: and she knew no man b: and it was a ‖ custom in Israel.

a Qu. What was it which Jephthah Vowed and Performed concerning his Daughter? Ans. Many, especially of Modern Writers, conceive, that Jephthah's Daughter was not Sacrificed, but only devoted to perpetual Virginity, which then was esteemed a great Curse and Reproach: This they gather, 1. From v. 37, 38. where we read, that she bewailed not her Death, which had been the chief Cause of Lamentation, if that had been Vowed, but her Virginity: 2. From this, v. 39. where, after he had said, that he did with her according to his Vow; he adds, by way of declaration of the matter of that Vow, and she knew no Man. But for the first, there may be a fair reason given, That she could not with Honour bewail her Death, which she had so generously and chearfully accepted of; because it was attended with, and occasioned by the Publick Good, and her Father's Honour and Happiness, v. 36. and was a kind of Martyrdom; and moreover, an act of Religion, the payment of a Vow, which ought to be done chearfully; but only bewailed the circumstance of her Death, that it was in some sort accursed and opprobrious; she having had no Husband to take away her reproach, as they speak, Isa. 4. 1. and leaving no Posterity to her Father's Comfort, and the Increase of God's People: And for the second, that Clause, and she knew no man, is plainly distinguished from the Execution of his Vow, which is here mentioned before; and this is added, not as an Explication of the Vow, but as an aggravating Circumstance, that this was executed when she had not yet known any man. Besides, this Opinion seems liable to weighty Objections; 1. There is no Example in all the Scripture, of any Woman that was obliged to perpetual Virginity by any Vow of her own, much less by the Vow of her Parents; nor have Parents any such Power over their Children, either by the Law of Nature, or by the Holy Scripture. 2. The express words of the Vow, v. 31. mention nothing of her Virginity, but only, that she should surely be the Lords; i.e. Devoted to the Service of the Lord, which might be without any obligation to perpetual Virginity; for, even Samuel, who was as fully devoted to the Lord by his Parents, as she could be, 1 Sam. 1. 11. and Samson, who was Devoted not only by his Parents, but by God himself, and that in the highest degree, even to be a perpetual Nazarite, Judg. 13, 5, 7. yet were not prohibited Marriage; nor were any of the most Sacred Persons, Levites, or Priests, or High Priests, though they were the Lords in a singular manner, obliged to perpetual Virginity; and therefore if she was not Offered up for a Burnt-Offering, as the Authors of this Opinion say, but only was Consecrated to God, there was no occasion to bewail her Virginity, which, for any thing that appears, she was not tied to. 3. If this were all, here was no sufficient cause, why so wise and valiant a man as Jephthah should so bitterly and passionately lament over himself or his Daughter. And therefore it may seem most probable, that Jephthah did indeed Sacrifice his Daughter, as he had Vowed to do; which was the Opinion of Josephus the Jew, and of the Chaldee Paraphrast, and of divers of the Jewish Doctors, and almost all the Ancient Fathers, and many eminent Writers; and this best agrees with the words of the Vow, delivered v. 31. Whatsoever cometh forth of the doors of my house to meet me—shall surely be the Lords, and I will offer it for a Burnt-Offering. Nor is there one word in all the following Verses, which denies that she was thus offered; only the execution of the Vow is delivered in more ambiguous and general terms, v. 39. which in all reason, and by the Laws of good Interpretation, ought to be limited and explained by the more plain and particular description of it: It is true, those words may seem capable of another Interpretation; the conjunctive Particle, and, may be here put for the disjunctive, or, as it often is, as Exod. 21. 26, 27. Levit. 6. 3, 5. 2 Sam. 2. 19, &c. and so the meaning is, that what I first meet shall surely be the Lords, or, I will offer it up for a Burnt-Offering; to wit, if it be a Creature fit to be offered; Otherwise, say they, if a Dog or an Ass should have met him first, he should have been obliged to offer them, which was against the Law: But it is sufficiently evident, that he speaks of an Humane Person, from the very Phrase of coming forth to meet him at his return; which plainly argues a design to meet him, purposely to Congratulate his Return; this phrase of going to meet a person coming, being very oft used in Scripture, and constantly of one person meeting another, as Gen. 14. 17. and 18. 2. and 24. 17, &c. and never of any brute Creature: And although and is sometimes put for or, yet it is not to be so used without necessity, which seems not to be in this place; nor is it very proper to distinguish two Sentences in this manner, where the one is more general, and the other being more special, is comprehended within it; which is the case here; for it shall surely be the Lords, is the general; and

and its being offered up for a burnt-offering, is the particular way or manner how it was to be the Lords; as it were very improper to say, This is either a man, or it is my servant John; because the latter branch is contained in the former: and therefore in all the alledged instances where and is put for or, they are two distinct persons or things, and not one comprehended within another, as Exod. 21. 17. Father or Mother, 2 Sam. 2. 19. right hand or left. But the great Objection against this Opinion is this, That it seems a most horrid Act, directly contrary to the Law of Nature, and to plain Scripture, thus to Sacrifice his own Daughter; and that it seems altogether incredible, either that such a man as Jephthah, so eminent for Piety, and Wisdom, and Zeal, and Faith, should either make so Barbarous a Vow, or pursue it for above two Months space; and that none of the Priests of that time should inform him of the unlawfulness of executing so wicked a Vow, and of the liberty he had to redeem such a Vow, by vertue of Levit. 27. 2, 3, &c. or that Jephthah would not willingly receive information, especially where it was so agreeable to his own interest and natural affection; or, that the Priests and People would suffer him to execute his own Daughter, and not rather hinder him by force, as they afterwards did Saul, when he had sworn the Death of Jonathan. These and other such difficulties I confess there are in the case; but something may be truly and fairly said to allay the seeming Monstrousness of this fact. 1. These were times of great and general ignorance and corruption of Religion, wherein the Israelites had Apostatized from God, and learnt and followed the practices and worships of the Heathen Nations, Judg. 10. 6. whereof this was one, to offer up Humane Sacrifices to Moloch; and although they seem now to have repented and forsaken their Idols, Judg. 10. 16. yet they seem still to have retained part of the old Leaven, and this among the rest, That they might offer Humane Sacrifices, not to Moloch, as they had done, but unto the Lord. And whereas some of the Jewish Writers pretend that Phinehas was alive at this time; and tell a fine Story concerning him and Jephthah, That both flood upon their Terms, and neither would go to the other to advise about the matter; yet it is more than probable that Phinehas was dead long before this time; and whosoever was the High-Priest then, he seems to be guilty either of gross ignorance or negligence; so that a late Learned Writer conceives, that this was the reason why the Priesthood was taken from him, and from that line, and translated to the line of Ithamar, which was done in the time of the Judges, as may be gathered from 1 Sam. 2. 35, 36. Moreover Jephthah, though now a good Man, may seem to have had but a rude and barbarous Education; having been banished from his Father's House, and forced to wander and dispose himself in the utmost Borders of the Land of Gilead, beyond Jordan, at a great distance from the place of Worship and Instruction; Nor is it strange, That the Priests and People did not resist Jephthah in this Enterprise; partly, because many of them might lie under the same ignorance and mistake that Jephthah did; and partly because they knew Jephthah to be a stout, and resolute, and boisterous Man, and were afraid to oppose him in a matter wherein he he seemed to be so peremptory, and their Persons and Families were not much concerned. 2. This mistake of Jephthah's, and of the rest of that Age, was not without some plausible appearance of Warrant from the Holy Text, even from Levit. 27. 28, 29. wherein it is expressly provided, That no Devoted thing, whether Man or Beast, should be redeemed, but should surely be put to Death; 2 place, which it is not strange that a Soldier in so ignorant an Age should mistake, seeing even some Learned Divines, in this knowing Age, and Capellus, amongst the rest, have fallen into the same error, and justified Jephthah's action from that place; and though I doubt not they run into the other extream, as Men commonly do, those words being to be otherwise understood than they take them (of which see my Notes on that place) yet it must be granted that place gave Jephthah a very colourable pretext for the Action; and being pushed on by Zeal for God, and the Conscience of his Vow, he might easily be induced to it; and though this was a Sin in him, yet it was but a Sin of Ignorance; which therefore was overlooked by a gracious God, and not reproved by any Holy men of God. It is probably conceived, that the Greeks, who used to steal sacred Histories, and turn them into Fables, had from this History their relation of Iphigenia (which may be put for Jephtigenia) Sacrificed by her Father Agamemnon, which is described by many of the same circumstances wherewith this is accompanied. b To wit, carnally; she died a Virgin.

†Heb. from days to days. ‖ Or, to talk with.

40 That the daughters of Israel went † yearly c ‖ to lament the daughter of Jephthah d the Gileadite four days in a year.

c To a place appointed for their meeting to this end, possibly to the place where she was Sacrificed. d To express their Sorrow for her loss, according to the manner. Or, to Discourse of (so the Hebrew Lamed is sometimes used) the Daughter of Jephthah, to celebrate her Praises, who had so willingly yielded up her self for a Sacrifice.

CHAP. XII.

The Ephraimites wage War against Jephthah: Are smitten by the Gileadites: And being discerned by Shibboleth, are slain to the number of two and forty thousand, 1——6. Jephthah dies, 7. After him Ibzan, 8——10. Elon, 11, 12. Abdon 13——15. Were Judges over Israel.

†Heb. were called.

AND the men of Ephraim † gathered themselves together, and went northward a, and said unto Jephthah b, Wherefore passedst thou over c to fight against the children of Ammon, and didst not call us to go with thee? We will burn thine house upon thee with fire.

a Over Jordan, so Northward towards Mizpeh, where Jephthah was, Judg. 11. 34. and which was in the Northern part of the Land beyond Jordan. b Through Pride and Envy, contending with him as they did before with Gideon, Judg. 8. 1. c Not over Jordan, for there he was already; but over the Borders of the Israelites land beyond Jordan, as appears by comparing this with Judg. 11. 29. where the same Phrase is used.

2 And Jephthah said unto them, I and my people were at great strife with the children of Ammon; and when I called you d, ye delivered me not out of their hand.

d Hence it appears, that he craved their assistance, which they denied; though that be not elsewhere expressed.

3 And when I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in my hand e, and passed over against the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivered them into my hand. Wherefore then are ye come up unto me this day to fight against me f?

e i.e. I exposed my self to utmost danger; as a man that carries a brittle and precious thing in his hand, which may easily either fall to the ground, or be snatched from him. The same Phrase is used 1 Sam. 19. 5. and 28. 21. Job 13. 14. Psal. 119. 109. f Why do you thus require my kindness in running into such hazard to preserve you and yours?

4 Then Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim: and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said, Ye Gileadites are fugitives of Ephraim, among the Epraimites, and among the Manassites g.

g According to this Translation, these words are a scoffing and contemptuous expression of the Ephraimites concerning the Gileadites, whom they call Fugitives of Ephraim; the word Ephraim being here taken largely, as it is elsewhere, as Isa. 7. 2, 5. so as it comprehends the other Neighbouring Tribes, of which Ephraim was in some sort the head or chief; and especially their Brethren of Manasseh, who lived next to them, and were descended from the same Father, Joseph; by reason whereof, both these Tribes are sometimes reckoned for one, and called by the name of the Tribe of Joseph. And this large signification of Ephraim may seem probable from the following words, where, instead of Ephraim is put the Ephraimites, and the Manassites. By Gileadites here they seem principally to mean the Manassites beyond Jordan, who dwelt in Gilead, as appears from Deut. 3. 13. Josh. 17. 1, 5, 6. And although other Gileadites were joyn'd with them, yet they vent their passion against these; principally, because they envied them most; partly, because they seemed to have had a chief hand in the Victory, Judg. 11. 29. And partly, because they were more nearly related to them, and therefore more obliged to desire their Conjunction with them in the War. These they here opprobriously call fugitives, i.e. such as had deserted their Brethren of Ephraim and Manasseh, and for some worldly advantage planted themselves beyond Jordan, at a distance from their Brethren, and were alienated in Affection from them, and carried on a distinct and separate Interest of their own; as appears by their Monopolizing the glory of this Success to themselves, and excluding their Brethren from it. According to the Hebrew, the words lie, and may be rendred thus, Therefore (so chi is oft rendred) they said, Fugitives of Ephraim are ye; i.e. Ye Ephraimites are meer run-aways: for the words next foregoing are, the men of Gilead smote Ephraim. And having told you what they said, because the Pronoun they was ambiguous, he adds by way of Explication) who said it, even, the Gileadites (and they said it when they had got the advantage over them, and got between them and home, as the next verse shews) being between Ephraim and Manasseh; i.e. Having taken the passages of Jordan, as it follows, which lay between Ephraim and that part of Manasseh which was beyond Jordan. Or these latter words may be rendred thus, And the Gileadites were between Ephraim and Manasseh. So there is only an Ellipsis of two small words, which are oft defective, and to be understood in Scripture. Or thus, And the Gileadites were in the midst of the Ephraimites, and in the midst of the Manassites, to wit, those Manassites who ordinarily lived within Jordan, who possibly were confederate with the Ephraimites in this quarrel. And so the meaning is, they followed close after them, and overtook them, and fell upon the midst of them, and smote them; and they sent a party to intercept them at the passages of Jordan, as it here follows.

5 And the Gileadites took the passages of Jordan before the Ephraimites: and it was so, that when those Ephraimites which were escaped h, said, Let me go over, that the men of Gilead said unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? If he said, Nay i.

h Heb. The fugitives of Ephraim, as before; for the Hebrew words are the same. Which may make the latter Exposition of the foregoing words more probable, to wit, that it is not the Gileadites, but the Ephraimites who are these as well as here so called, because they were smitten before Jephthah, and fled from him. i To avoid the present danger.

6 Then said they unto him, Say now Shibboleth k; and he said Sibboleth l: for he could not frame to pronounce it right m. Then they took him, and slew him at the passages of Jordan: and there fell at that time n of the Ephraimites forty and two thousand.

k Which signifies a stream or river, which they desired to pass over: so it was a word proper for the occasion, and gave them no cause to suspect the Design, because they were required only to express their Desire, to go over the Shibboleth or River. l It is well known, that not only divers Nations, but divers Provinces, or Parts of the same Nation who use the same Language, differ in their dialect and manner of pronunciation, m Or rather, he did not frame or or direct himself to speak so, or to speak right; i.e. So as he was required to do it. The Hebrew Text doth not say, that he could not do it, but that he did it not, because he suspecting not the Design of it, uttered it speedily according to his manner of Expression. n Not in that Place, at the Passages of Jordan, but in that Expedition, being slain either in the Battel, or in the Pursuit, or at Jordan.

7 And Jephthah judged Israel six years: then died Jephthah the Gileadite, and was buried in one of the cities o of Gilead.

o Heb. In the cities. The Plural Number put for the Singular, as Gen. 19. 29. where Lot is said to dwell in the cities, i.e. one of the Cities: And 1 Sam. 18. 21. the twain is put for one of the twain: and Judg. 18. 14. houses for house: and Jonah 1. 5. the sides, for one of the sides.

8 ¶ And after him Ibzan of Bethlehem p judged Israel.

p Either that in Judah, of which Matth. 2. 6. Or that in Zebulun, Josh. 19. 15.

9 And he had thirty sons, and thirty daughters, whom he had sent abroad, and took q in thirty daughters from abroad for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.

q i.e. Took them home for Wives to his Sons. See Gen. 24. 67. and 31. 50. Deut. 21. 12. 2 Sam. 11. 27.

10 Then died Ibzan, and was buried at Bethlehem.

11 And after him, Elon a Zebulonite judged Israel; and he judged Israel ten years.

12 And Elon the Zebulonite died, and was buried in Ajalon, in the country of Zebulun r.

r This is added to distinguish it from other Ajalons, of which see Judg. 1. 35. 1 Chron. 6. 69. and 8. 13.

13 ¶ And after him, Abdon the son of Hillel a Pirathonite judged Israel.

a i.e. Fell into Idolatry, &c. not now after the death of Abdon the last Judge, but in the days of the former Judges. b To be computed, not from Abdon's death, but before that time, as is evident both from v. 5. where it is declared, that Israel was under the Power of the Philistines: and from Judg. 15. 20. where only twenty of these Years are said to have been in Samson's days. And it is probably conceived, that that great slaughter of the Ephraimites made by Jephthah, did greatly encourage the Philistines to rise against Israel, when one of their chief Bulwarks was so much weakned; and therefore that the Philistines began to domineer over them not long after Jephthah's death.

2 ¶ And there was a certain man of Zorah c, of the family d of the Danites, whose name was Manoah, and his wife was barren, and bare not e.

9 And God hearkned to the voice of Manoah: and the angel of God came again unto the woman as she sate in the field: but Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 And the woman made haste, and ran, and shewed her husband, and said unto him, Behold, the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me the other day.

11 And Manoah arose, and went after his wife, and came to the man, and said unto him, Art thou the man that speakest unto the woman? and he said, I am.

12 And Manoah said, Now let thy words come to pass o: † how shall we order the child p? and ‖ † how shall we do unto him?

† Heb. what shall be the manner of the, &c.

o Or, thy words shall come to pass: I firmly believe that thy Promises shall be fulfilled. p What Rules shall we observe about his Education?

‖ Or, what shall he do?

13 And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah, Of all that I said unto the woman, let her beware q.

† Heb. what shall be his work?

q Whilst the Child is in her Womb, and after the Child is born, let him observe the same Orders.

14 She may not eat of any thing that cometh of the vine, neither let her drink wine, or strong drink, neither eat any † unclean thing: all that I commanded her, let her observe.

† Heb. uncleanness.

15 ¶ And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD, I pray thee, let us detain thee until we shall have made ready a kid † for thee r.

† Heb. before thee.

r Supposing him to be a Man and a Prophet, to whom he would in this manner express his Respect, as was usual to strangers. See Gen. 18. 5. Judg. 6. 18.

16 And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah, Though thou detain me, I will not eat of thy bread s: and if thou wilt offer a burnt-offering, thou must offer it unto the LORD t: for Manoah knew not that he was an angel of the LORD.

s i.e. Neat, as bread is commonly taken in Scripture. t Not unto a Man, as now thou apprehendest me to be; but unto the Lord, as thou wilst by and by perceive me to be.

17 And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD, What is thy name, that when thy sayings come to pass, we may do thee honour u?

u Either by making honourable mention of thee, or by performing respect and service to thee, by a Present, which they usually gave to Prophets, 1 Sam. 9. 7, 8. 2 King. 14. 3.

18 And the angel of the LORD said unto him, Why * askest thou thus after my name, seeing it is ‖ secret x.

* Gen. 32. 29.

‖ Or, wonderful.

x Or, hidden from mortal Men: or, wonderful, such as thou canst not comprehend: my Nature or Essence (which is oft signified by name in Scripture) is incomprehensible. This shews, that this was the Angel of the Covenant, the Son of God.

19 So Manoah took a kid, with a meat-offering y, and offered it upon a rock z to the LORD: and the angel did wondrously, and Manoah and his wife looked on.

y Which were generally joyned with the chief Sacrifices. z The Angel's Presence and Command being sufficient Warrant for the offering offering of Sacrifice by a Person who was no Priest, and in a Place otherwise forbidden.

20 For it came to pass when the flame a went up toward heaven from off the altar b, that the angel of the LORD ascended in the flame c of the altar: and Manoah and his wife looked on it, and fell on their faces d to the ground.

a Either arising from the Fire which Manoah brought for the Offering: or produced by the Angel out of the Rock in a miraculous manner. b i.e. From that part of the Rock which served instead of an Altar, upon which the Sacrifice was laid. c To manifest his Nature and Essence to be Spiritual, because not capable of hurt by the Fire; and Celestial. d Partly in Reverence to that glorious Presence manifested in so wonderful a manner: and partly, out of a religious Horror and Fear of Death upon this occasion; as is expressed v. 22. for the prevention whereof they fell down in way of Supplication to God.

21 (But the angel of the LODD did no more appear to Manoah and to his wife): then Manoah knew that he was an angel of the LORD.

* Exod. 33. 20. Deut. 5. 20, 26. Chap. 6. 22.

22 And Manoah said unto his wife, * We shall surely die, because we have seen God.

23 But his wife said unto him, If the LORD were pleased to kill us, he would not have received a burnt-offering, and a meat-offering at our hands, neither would he have shewed us all these things, nor would as at this time e have told us such things as these.

e Or, at this time: The Particle, as, noting here, not likeness, but the truth and reality of the thing, as it doth Numb. 11. 1. Deut. 9. 10. and elsewhere. This Expression seems to have some Emphasis in it, to enhance God's Mercy to them, as being afforded them in a time of such publick and grievous Calamity; and in a time when the Word of the Lord was precious; and there was no open Vision, as it was afterwards, 1 Sam. 3. 1.

* Heb. 11. 32.

24 ¶ And the woman bare a son, and called his name * Samson: and the child grew, and the LORD blessed him f.

f i.e. Endowed him with all those Graces and Gifts of Mind and Body which were necessary for the Work he was designed for.

25 And the Spirit of the LORD began to move him at times g, in the camp of Dan h, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

g i.e. To stir him up to Heroical Designs; to shew forth its Power in him in the frame of his Mind, and in the strength of his Body, discovered to his Neighbours in extraordinary Actions; to encline his Heart to great Attempts to the help and deliverance of God's People, and to give some Essays of it to his Brethren, and to seek all Opportunities for it, as he did in the next Chapter. h A Place so called, either from the Expedition of the Danites, Judg. 18. 11, 12. which though placed after this History, was done before it: or from some other Camp which the Danites had formed there at this time, to give some check to the Incursions of the Philistines.

CHAP. XIV.

Samson desires to wife a daughter of the Philistines of Timnath: and this of the Lord for an occasion against them, 1, —4. His parents go down with him to Timnath: a young lion meets him: he kills it, 5, 7. In his return he findeth honey in the carcase, 8, 9. Keepeth a marriage feast: hath thirty companions adjoyned to him: to whom he propoundeth a riddle: with promise of a present, 10, —15. His wife exhorts from him the explication: and discovereth it, 16, —18. He slayeth thirty Philistines of Askelon: and therewith payeth his present, 19. His wife is given to another, 20.

AND Samson went down a to Timnath b, and saw a woman in Timnath, of the daughters of the Philistines.

a After he was come to mature Age. b A Place not far from the Sea; of which see Gen. 38. 12. Josh. 15. 57. and 19. 43.

2 And he came up, and told his father and his mother, and said, I have seen a woman in Timnath, of the daughters of the Philistines: now therefore get her for me to wife.

3 Then his father and his mother said unto him, Is there never a woman among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, that thou goest to take a wife of the uncircumcised Philistines c? and Samson said unto his Father, Get her for me d; for † she pleaseth me well e.

† Heb. she is right in mine eyes.

c With whom the Israelites were forbidden to Marry, Exod. 34. 12, &c. And although the Philistines were not Canaanites in their Original, Gen. 10. 14. Deut. 2. 23. yet they were so in their habitation, and concurrence with them in Wickedness, and therefore were liable to the same Censures and Judgments with them. d This action of Samson's, though against common Rules, seems to be warranted, partly by the greatness and goodness of his Design in it; and principally by the instinct and direction of God, which is mentioned in the following words, which was known to Samson, but not to his Parents. e Not so much for her Beauty, as for the Design mentioned in the next Verse.

* 1 King. 12. 15. 2 Chron. 10. 15. and 22. 7. and 25. 20.

4 But his father and his mother * knew not that it was of the LORD, that he sought an occasion against the Philistines f: for at that time the Philistines had dominion over Israel.

f Which he knew by very probable Conjecture, if not by particular Inspiration, that Marriage would give him many ways.

5 Then went Samson down, and his father and his mother g to Timnath, and came to the vineyards of Timnath b: and behold, a young lion roared † against him.

† Heb. a roaring lion.

g Who accompanied him, either because they were now acquainted with his Design; or, to order the Circumstances of that Action which they saw he was set upon: or, to watch if they could find any occasion to take him off from his Intention. h Whither he had turned aside either by a Divine Impulse, or upon some real or pretended Occasion.

6 And the spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him i, and he rent him as he would have rent a kid k, and he had nothing in his hand: but he told not his father or his mother what he had done l.

i Stirred up and increased his Courage and bodily Strength. k As soon and as safely. l Left by their means it should be publickly known; for he wisely considered, that it was not yet a fit time to awaken the Jealousies and Fears of the Philistines concerning him, as this would have done.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman, and she pleased Samson well.

8 ¶ And after a time m he returned to take her: and he turned aside to see the carcase of the lion, and behold, there was a swarm of bees n, and honey in the carcase of the lion.

m Heb. after days; i.e. Either after some days: or, rather, after a year, as that word oft signifies; as Exod. 13. 10. Levit. 25. 29. Numb. 9. 22. Judg. 17. 10. 1 Sam. 1. 3. and 27. 7. when the Flesh of the Lion, which by its strong smell is offensive to, and avoided by Bees, was wholly consumed, and nothing was left but the Bones. n Not generated of the dead Lion's Body, but elsewhere, and selling themselves there, as they have sometimes done in a Man's Skull, and in a Sepulchre, and such like Places.

9 And he took thereof in his hands o, and went on eating, and came to his father and mother p, and he gave them, and they did eat: but he told not them that he had taken the honey out of the carcase of the lion.

o Out of the Lion's Carcase. Quest. Did not Samson transgress in touching a Carcase? Answ. It was in it self a legal Pollution: but some such Pollutions were involuntary and unavoidable, as in one that hath an Issue running in his sleep; and some were necessary Duties, as in those who were to attend upon a Woman in her Month, or upon the burial of a dead Body. And such was this Pollution, being contracted by Divine Instinct and Direction, and in order to God's Honour, and therefore dispensed with by the Author of that Law, and required by him for his Service. p From whom he had turned aside for a season, v. 8. upon some pretence or other.

10 ¶ So his father went down unto the woman, and Samson made there a feast: for so used the young men to do.

11 And it came to pass when they saw him q, that they brought thirty companions to be with him r.

q Or, observed or considered him, his Stature, and Strength, and Countenance, and Carriage, which were extraordinary. r Partly in compliance with the Custom of having Bride-men; of which see Matth. 9. 15. Mark 2. 19. Joh. 3. 29. though they were not so numerous; and principally by way of Caution, and as a Guard put upon him under a pretence of Respect and Affection.

12 ¶ And Samson said unto them, I will now put forth a riddle s unto you: if ye can certainly declare it me within the seven days of the feast t, and find it out, then I will give you thirty ‖ sheets u, and thirty ‖ Or, shirts. change of garments x.

s i.e. An obscure Sentence for you to resolve and explain. t For so long Marriage-Feasts lasted. See Gen. 29. 27. u Fine Linen-Cloathes, which were used for many purposes in those Parts. See Matth. 27. 59. Mark 14. 51. x i.e. Changeable Suits of Apparel, as below, v. 19. and Gen. 45. 22.

13 But if ye cannot declare it me, then shall ye give me thirty sheets, and thirty change of garments. And they said unto him, Put forth thy riddle that we may hear it.

14 And he said unto them, Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness y. And they could not in three days expound the riddle.

y i.e. Out of that strong and devouring Creature, the Lion, came forth sweet Meat; to wit, Honey: withal it is covertly implied, that the Philistines, though now they had Strength on their side, and Dominion over Israel, whom they did devour upon all occasions, yet at last they should become Meat to the Israelites.

15 And it came to pass on the seventh day z, that they said unto Samsons wife, Entice thy husband, that he may declare unto us the riddle, lest we burn thee and thy fathers house with fire: Have ye called us † to take that we have a? is it not so?

† Heb. to possess us, or, to impoverish us.

z They had doubtless spoken to her before this time, but with some remisness, supposing that they should find it out; but now their time being nigh slipped, they press her with more vehemency, and put her under a necessity of searching it out. a i.e. To strip us of our Garments: and so your Civility will end in gross Unkindness and Injustice.

16 And Samsons wife wept before him, and said Thou doest but hate me, and loves me not: thou hast put forth a riddle unto the children of my people, and hast not told it me. And he said unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father, nor my mother b, and shall I tell it thee?

b Though I have had much more Experience of their Fidelity and Taciturnity, than of thine.

17 And she wept before him ‖ the seven days, while the feast lasted c: and it came to pass on the seventh day, that he told her, because she lay sore upon him: and she told the riddle to the children of her people.

‖ Or, the rest of the seven days, &c.

c i.e. On the residue of the seven days; to wit, after the third day. It is a familiar Synecdoche. Or, on the seventh of the days, on which the Feast was: And then the following Clause, on the seventh day, is only the Noun repeated for the Pronoun, on that day; as is most frequent, as 1 King. 8. 1. Solomon assembled——unto Solomon, i.e. unto himself.

18 And the men of the city said unto him on the seventh day before the sun went down, What is sweeter than honey, and what is stronger than a lion? And he said unto them, If ye had not plowed with my heifer d, ye had not found out my riddle.

d If you had not employed my Wife to find it out, as Men Plough up the Ground with an Heifer, thereby discovering its hidden parts; he calls her Heifer, either, because he now suspected her wantonness and too much familiarity with that Friend which she afterwards married; or, because she was joined with him in the same Yoak; or, rather, because they used such in Ploughing.

19 ¶ And the spirit of the LORD came upon him e, and he went down to Ashkelon f, and slew thirty men of them, and took their ‖ spoil, and gave change of garments g unto them which expounded the riddle, and his anger was kindled h, and he went up i to his fathers house.

e Though he had a constant habit of eminent Strength and Courage; yet that was exceedingly increased upon special occasions, by the extraordinary influences of God's Spirit. f Either to the Territory, which oft comes under the name of the City; or to the City it self, where he had both Strength and Courage enough to attempt what here follows; and upon the doing hereof they were doubtless struck with such a Terrour, that every one fought only to preserve himself, and none durst oppose or pursue him. g Together with their Sheets or Shirts, which it sufficed to imply here, being expressed above, v. 13. h For the Treachery of his Wife and Companions. i To wit, alone, or without his Wife.

20 But Samsons wife was given k to his companion, whom he had used as his friend l.

k By her Father. l i.e. To the chief of the Bride-men, to whom he had shewed most Respect and Kindness.

CHAP. XV.

Samson desireth to visit his wife: is denied her: wherefore he tieth firebrands to three hundred foxes tails, and sets the corn on fire, 1, —5. For which they burn his wife and her father, 6. Samson's revenge, 7, 8. The Philistines pitch in Judah and demand Samson: the men of Judah bind and deliver him, 9, —13. He breaketh his bonds and slayeth one thousand Philistines with the jaw-bone of an ass, 14, —17. He is a thirst: prays: obtains water out of it, 18, ——20.

BUT it came to pass within a while after, in the time of wheat harvest a, that Samson visited his wife with a kid: and he said, I will go in to my wife into the chamber b. But her father would not suffer him to go in.

a Which Circumstance is noted as the proper season for the following Exploit, b Into her proper Chamber, which Women had distinct and separate from the Mens.

2 And her father said, I verily thought that thou hadst utterly hated her c, therefore I gave her to thy companion: is not her younger sister fairer than she? † take her, I pray thee, instead of her.

† Heb. Lo her for thine.

c Because thou didst desert her in great Wrath: But this was not sufficient cause; for he should have endeavoured a reconciliation, or waited for it; and not have disposed of another Man's Wife without his consent; which is not only against the Law of God, but of Nature also.

‖ Or, Now shall I be blameless, from the Philistines, though, &c.

3 ¶ And Samson said concerning them, ‖ Now shall I be more blameless that the Philistines, though I do them a displeasure d.

d Because they have first provoked me by an irreparable Injury: But although this may look like an act of private Revenge; yet it is plain enough, that Samson acted as a Judge (for so he was) and as an Avenger of the Publick Injuries and Oppressions of his People; as plainly appears from hence, that Samson designed this very thing before he had received any personal Injury, Judg. 14. 4.

4 And Samson went and caught three hundred foxes e, and took ‖ fire-brands f, and turned tail to tail, and put a fire-brand in the midst between two tails g.

e Of which there were great numbers in Canaan, as appears from Neh. 4. 3. Psal. 63. 11. Cantic. 2. 15. Lam. 5. 18. Ezek. 13. 4. So that divers Places there have their Names from the Foxes which abounded there; as, Jos. 15. 28. and 19. 42. 1 Sam. 13. 17. Add to this, that some learned Men conceive that the Hebrew Name Schual is more general, and contains not only the Foxes, but another sort of Creature very like to them, called Thoes, whereof there were so many there, that sometimes 200 of them have been met together in one Company; as some who have lived in those Parts have left upon Record: But Infidels are much scandalized at this History, and pretend it incredible that Samson should catch so many Foxes together; so nice and delicate is the Faith of these Men in things concerning God and Scripture, that can devour things ten times more difficult and absurd, concerning the production of the World, and of Men, &c. But there is no cause of wonder here, for any Man that is tollerably wise; for it is not said that Samson caught them all, either at one time, or by his own hands; for being so eminent a Person, and the Judge of Israel, he might require assistance of as many Persons as he pleased, and all his People would readily assist him; nor can it at all perplex any Man's Reason or Faith, if it be allowed, that the God who made the World, and by his singular Providence watched over Israel, and intended them deliverance at this time, could easily dispose things so that they might be taken. He chose to do this Exploit, not by his Brethren, whom he would preserve from the Envy, and Hatred, and Mischief which that might have occasioned to them, but by brute Creatures, thereby to add scorn and contempt to their Calamity, and particularly by Foxes; partly, because they were fittest for the purpose, being Creatures very fearful of Fire; and having such Tails as the Firebrands might most conveniently be tied to; and not going directly forward, but crookedly and involvedly, whereby the Fire was likely to be dispersed in more places. f Made of such matter as would quickly take Fire, and keep it for a long time; which was easie to procure. g That the Foxes might not make too much haste, nor run into their holes, but one of them might delay and stop another in his course, and so continue longer in the places where they were to do Execution.

5 And when he had set the brands on fire, he let them go h into the standing corn of the Philistines, and burnt up both the shocks, and also the standing corn, with the vineyards and olives.

h To wit, successively at several times; and in divers places, with great care and discretion, so as they might not hinder one another, nor all run into the same Field; but being dispersed in all parts, might spread the Plague farther; and withal might be kept at a distance from the Fields and Vineyards of the Israelites. It is not worthy of our enquiry what became of these Foxes afterward, whether they were burnt by the Fire-brands, or run into Holes, or were taken and killed by the Philistines. The truth of this History is notably attested by a Custom of the Romans, which it is very probable they had from the Phœnicians, upon this occasion; for every year they had a Solemnity in April, the very time of Canaan's Wheat-Harvest, wherein Foxes were let loose with burning Torches fastned to their Back-sides, &c.

6 ¶ Then the Philistines said, Who hath done this? and they answered, Samson the son in law of the Timnite, because he had taken his wife, and given her to his companion. And the Philistines came up and burnt her i and her father with fire.

i Partly, for her Adultery, which divers Heathens punished with Death; and partly, for that mischief which she had occasioned to them; thus she brought upon her self that mischief which she studied to avoid, Judg. 14. 15. as wicked Persons oft do, Prov. 10. 24.

7 ¶ And Samson said unto them, Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you k, and after that I will cease.

k Whereby it appears, that it was not his private Injuries, but the Publick, which he did revenge.

8 And he smote them hip and thigh l with a great slaughter m; and he went down and dwelt in the top of the rock Etam n.

l Upon their Hips and Thighs, peradventure not designing to kill them, but to make them uncapable of Military employment; or, of doing hurt to the Israelites. Or, He smote them with his Leg upon their Thigh; i.e. without any other Weapon but his Leg and Foot he kicked them, and made them lame and useless for War. m Heb. with a great stroke; for so it was, even to them whom it did not kill. n Partly, because there he could better defend himself from his Enemies; and partly, because he would not involve his Brethren in the same danger with himself, but like a worthy Magistrate, would secure them even with his own greater hazard.

9 ¶ Then the Philistines went up, and pitched in Judah o, and spread themselves p in Lehi q.

o Where the Rock Etam was, see 1 Chron. 4. 32. 2 Chron. 11. 5, 6. p As coming in great Numbers with a powerful Host. q A Place so called by anticipation, v. 17.

10 And the men of Judah said, Why are ye come up against us? And they answered, To bind Samson are we come up, to do to him, as he hath done to us.

† Heb. went down.

11 Then three thousand men of Judah † went to the top of the rock Etam, and said to Samson, Knowest thou not that the Philistines are rulers over us? what what is this that thou haſt done unto us r? And he ſaid unto them, As they did unto me, ſo have I done unto them.

r Thou haſt by theſe Actions puniſhed not them, as thou intendeſt; but us, who being under their Dominion, are ſure to ſmart for it.

12 And they ſaid unto him, We are come down to bind thee, that we may deliver thee into the hand of the Philiſtines. And Samſon ſaid unto them, Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me your ſelves ſ.

ſ Not that he feared them, or could not as eaſily have conquered them, as he did the whole Hoſt of the Philiſtines; but, becauſe he would be free from all Obligation or Temptation of doing them any harm, though it were in his own juſt and neceſſary defence.

13 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, No, but we will bind thee faſt, and deliver thee into their hand: but ſurely we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him up from the rock t.

t i.e. From the Cave or Hole in the Rock, in which he had ſecured himſelf, out of which he was firſt brought up, and then carried down from the Rock to the Plain.

14 ¶ And when he came unto Lehi, the Philiſtines ſhouted againſt him u, and the ſpirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was burnt with fire, and his bands † looſed x from off his hands.

† Heb. were melted.

u For Joy and Triumph, becauſe they had now their great Enemy, as they ſuppoſed, in their hands. x Heb. were melted; i.e. were diſſolved, as things are which are melted in the Fire.

15 And he found a † new y jaw-bone of an aſs, and put forth his hand, and took it, and ſlew a thouſand men therewith.

y And therefore more tough and ſtrong.

16 And Samſon ſaid, With the jaw-bone of an aſs, † heaps upon heaps, with the jaw-bone of an aſs have I ſlain a thouſand men z.

† Heb. an heap two heaps.

z This, though it might ſeem difficult, yet is not at all impoſſible or incredible; eſpecially, ſeeing the Learned affirm of the Aſſes of Syria, that they were larger and ſtronger than ours, and ſo conſequently were their Bones. And withal, it muſt be acknowledged, that there was ſomething extraordinary and miraculous in this, as there was unqueſtionably in Samſon's Strength, and ſo all the difficulty vaniſheth.

17 And it came to paſs, when he had made an end of ſpeaking, that he caſt away the jaw-bone out of his hand, and called that place ‖ Ramath-Lehi a.

‖ That is, the lifting up of the jaw-bone, or, caſting away of the jaw-bone.

a And by contraction, Lehi v. 14. it being uſual ſo to contract Proper Names; as Salem is put for Jeruſalem, Pſal. 76. 3. Sheba for Beerſheba, Joſ. 19. 2. and many other.

18 ¶ And he was ſore athirſt b, and called on the LORD, and ſaid, Thou haſt given this great deliverance into the hand of thy ſervant: and now ſhall I die for thirſt, and fall into the hand of the uncircumciſed c?

b So as he was ready to faint and die with Thirſt; which was partly natural, from his exceſſive toil and heat; partly, ſent by God, that by the experience of his own Impotency, he might be forced to aſcribe the Victory to God only, and not to himſelf. c Wilt thou not finiſh what thou haſt begun? Wilt thou undo what thou haſt done.

19 But God clave an hollow place d that was in ‖ the Jaw e, and there came water thereout, and when he had drunk, his ſpirit came again, and he revived: wherefore he called the name thereof † En-hakkore f, which is in Lehi unto this day g.

‖ Or, Lehi.

† That is, the well of him that called, or, cried.

d i.e. By cleaving a place, made it hollow; an expreſſion like that Iſa. 47. 2. grind Meal, i.e. Grind Corn into Meal; and that, Pſal. 74. 15. thou diſſt cleave the fountain; i.e. cleave the Rock ſo as to make a Fountain in it. e In the Jaw-bone which he had uſed, which God could eaſily effect, either by cauſing the Jaw-bone to ſend forth Water, as the Rock formerly did, the Miracle being in effect the ſame, though in a differing ſubject, cauſing a Spring to break forth in Lehi; or, in that Lehi mentioned before, v. 14. for Lehi is both the name of a Place, and ſignifies a Jaw-bone. f i.e. The Fountain of him that cried for Thirſt; or, that called upon God for Deliverance; i.e. the Fountain or Well which was given in anſwer to my Prayer. g According to this Tranſlation, Lehi is the name of a Place, and not a Jaw-bone, becauſe it ſeems improbable that a Jaw-bone ſhould continue there ſo long, which every Traveller might take away, and would be forward enough to carry a Fountain with them in thoſe hot Countries; although it is not incredible that Paſſengers would generally forbear to meddle with, or remove ſo great a Monument of God's Power and Goodneſs; or, that the ſame God who made it inſtrumental to ſo great a wonder, ſhould add one Circumſtance more; to wit, fix it in the Earth, as a Teſtimony to Poſterity of the Truth of this glorious work: But theſe words may be otherwiſe rendred thus, which Fountain was in that Jaw-bone; and for the following words, unto this day; they may not be joined with the words next and immediately foregoing, as if the Fountain was there to this day; but with the former words, he called, &c. and ſo the Senſe may be this, That it was ſo called unto this day; and the Place may be thus read, he called the name thereof; or, the name thereof was called (ſuch active Verbs being frequently put paſſively and imperſonally,) The Well or Fountain of him that called or cried (which was in Lehi) unto this day.

20 And he judged Iſrael h in the days of the Philiſtines i twenty years.

h i.e. He pleaded their Cauſe, and avenged them againſt the Philiſtines. i i.e. Whilſt the Philiſtines had the Power and Dominion, from which he was not fully to deliver, but only to begin to deliver them, as it was foretold, Judg. 13. 5. From this place it is manifeſt, that in the computation of the times of the Judges, the years of Servitude or Oppreſſion are not to be ſeparated from the years of the Judges, and added to them, but are comprehended within them; which Propoſition is of great importance for clearing this difficult part of Scripture-Chronology, and for juſtifying that account of times given 1 King. 6. 1.

CHAP. XVI.

Samſon goeth in to an harlot: is bem'd in: riſeth at midnight: taketh the city-gates, poſts and barrs on his ſhoulders: and carrieth them up into a mountain, 1,—3. Is in love with Delilah: ſhe enticeth him to diſcover wherein his ſtrength lay: is thrice deceived: at laſt ſhe overcomes him, 4,—20. They put out his eyes and caſt him into priſon, 21. His hair grows again, 22. The lords of the Philiſtines and the people gather together to make ſport with him to the honour of their idols: and ſacrifice, 23,—25. Samſon getteth them to place his hands on the two pillars of the houſe: he prays to God: pulls down the houſe: and dieth: but more ſlain at his death than in his life, 26,—30. He is buried, 31.

THen went Samſon to Gaza a, and ſaw there † an harlot b, and went in unto her.

† Heb. a woman

a A chief City, to make ſome new attempt upon the Philiſtines, on whom he feared not either in their Cities or in their Camps, having had ſuch large experience of his own Strength, and of God's Aſſiſtance; poſſibly he came in thither by Night, unknown and unobſerved till afterwards. b Going into an Houſe of Publick Entertainment to refreſh himſelf, as the manner was, Joſ. 20. 1. He there ſaw this Harlot; which implies, that he did not go thither upon ſo evil a Deſign, but accidentally ſaw her there, and by giving way to luſtful Looks upon her, was enſnared by her.

2 And it was told the Gazites, ſaying, Samſon is come hither. And they compaſſed him in, and laid wait for him all night in the gate of the city, and were † quiet all night, ſaying, In the morning, when it is day, we ſhall kill him c.

c This they choſe to do, rather than to ſeize upon him in his Houſe and Bed by Night; either, becauſe they knew not certainly in what Houſe or Place he was; or, becauſe they thought that might cauſe great Terror, and Confuſion, and Miſchief among their own People; whereas in the day-time they might more fully diſcover him, and more unexpectedly ſurpriſe him, and more certainly direct their Blows, and uſe their Weapons againſt him.

3 And Samſon lay till midnight, and aroſe at midnight d, and took the doors of the gate of the city e, and the two poſts, and went away with them f, † bar and all, and put them upon his ſhoulders, and carried them up to the top of an hill that is before Hebron g.

† Heb. with the bar.

d Being either ſmitten in Conſcience for his Sin, when he firſt awaked, and thence fearing Danger, as he had juſt cauſe to do; or, being ſecretly warned by God in a Dream; or, by an inward impulſe, for the prevention of his deſigned Deſtruction. e Not the great Gates, but leſſer Doors made in them, and ſtrengthned with diſtinct Poſts and Bars. f The Watch-men not expecting him till morning, and therefore being now retired into the ſides, or upper part of the Gate-Houſe, as the manner now is, to get ſome reſt, whereby to fit themſelves for their hard Service intended in the morning; or, if ſome of them were in his way, he could eaſily and ſpeedily ſtrike them dead, and break the Door, whilſt the reſt were partly aſtoniſhed with the ſurpriſe; and partly, preparing themſelves for reſiſtance: Nor durſt they purſue him, whom they now again perceived to have ſuch prodigious Strength and Courage; and to be ſo much above the fear of them, that he did not run away with all ſpeed, but went leiſurely, having ſo great a weight on his Shoulders, wherewith they knew he could both defend himſelf and offend them. g Either, 1. To an Hill near Hebron, which was above twenty miles from Gaza; or, 2. To the top of an high Hill not far from Gaza, which looked towards Hebron, which alſo ſtood upon another high Hill, and might be ſeen from this Place, though it was at a great diſtance from it. And Samſon did this not out of vain Oſtentation, but as an Evidence of his great Strength, for the Encouragement of his People to join with him more vigorouſly for their own Deliverance, than yet they had done, or durſt do; and for the greater terror and contempt of the Philiſtines. It may ſeem ſtrange that Samſon immediately after ſo foul a Sin ſhould have the Courage in himſelf, and the Strength from God, for ſo great a work. But firſt, it is probable, that Samſon had in ſome meaſure repented of his Sin, and begged of God Pardon and Aſſiſtance, which alſo he perceived by Inſtinct, that God would afford him. 2. This ſingular Strength and Courage was not in it ſelf a Grace, but a Gift, which might have been in a graceleſs Perſon, and therefore might continue in a good Man, notwithſtanding an heinous act of Sin; and it was ſuch a Gift as did not depend upon the diſpoſition of his Mind, but upon the right ordering of his Body, by the Rule given to him, and others of that Order.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs afterward, that he loved a woman h ‖ in the valley of Sorek, whoſe name was Delilah.

‖ Or, by the brook.

h Either, Firſt, with Conjugal Love, ſo as to Marry her, as divers both Jews and Chriſtians have thought. Or, Secondly, with Luſtful Love, as an Harlot: which, though not certain, becauſe the Phraſe is here ambiguous, ſhe being neither called an Harlot, as ſhe of Gaza was, v. 1. nor yet his Wife, as ſhe of Timnath was, Judg. 14. 2, 3, 20. yet it may ſeem more probable; partly, becauſe the dreadful puniſhment now inflicted upon Samſon for this Sin, whom God ſpared for the firſt Offence, is an intimation, that this Sin was not inferior to the former; partly, becauſe the Confidence which the Philiſtine Lords had in her, and their bold and frequent Treating with her, and the whole courſe of her Carriage towards Samſon, ſhew her to be a mercenary and perfidious Harlot, and not a Wife; whoſe Affection and Intereſt would have obliged her to better things; and partly, becauſe Samſon did not carry her home to his Houſe, as Husbands uſe to do their Wives; but lodged in her Houſe: as appears from the whole Story.

5 And the Lords of the Philiſtines i came up unto her, and ſaid unto her, Entice him, and ſee wherein his great ſtrength lieth, and by what means we may prevail againſt him, that we may bind him to ‖ afflict him k; and we will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of ſilver l.

i The Lords of their five Principal Cities, who ſeem to have been united together at this time in one Ariſtocratical Government; or at leaſt were leagued together againſt him as their common Enemy. k To chaſtiſe him for his Injuries done to us. They mean to puniſh him ſeverely, as they did; but they expreſs it in mild words, leſt the horror of it might move her to pity him. l i.e. Shekels, as that Phraſe is commonly uſed, as Numb. 7. 13, 85. 2 Sam. 18. 12. 2 King. 6. 25.

6 ¶ And Delilah ſaid to Samſon, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great ſtrength lieth m, and wherewith thou mighteſt be bound, to afflict thee?

m What is the cauſe of this prodigious Strength, or wherein doth it conſiſt? She ſeems to ask meerly out of curioſity, to underſtand the ſtate of a Perſon whom ſhe ſo highly values.

7 And Samſon ſaid unto her, If they bind me with ſeven ‖ † green withs, that were never dried n, then ſhall I be weak, and be as † another man.

‖ Or, new cords. † Heb. moiſt. † Heb. as if one. † Or, freſh.

n Samſon is guilty both of the Sin of Lying, though he dreſs up the Lye in ſuch Circumſtances as might make it moſt probable; and of great Folly in encouraging her Enquiries, which he ſhould at firſt have check'd: But as he had forſaken God, ſo God had now forſaken him, and deprived him of common Prudence; otherwiſe the frequent repetition and vehement urging of this Queſtion might eaſily have raiſed Suſpicion in him.

8 Then the lords of the Philiſtines brought up to her ſeven green withs, which had not been dried, and ſhe bound him with them.

9 (Now there were men lying in wait, abiding with her in the chamber o) and ſhe ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he brake the withs as a thread of tow is broken, when it † toucheth the fire: ſo his ſtrength was not known.

o With her; i.e. in the ſame Houſe, in a Chamber; i.e. in a ſecret Chamber within her call. Nor is it ſtrange that they did not fall upon him in his ſleep; partly, becauſe they feared to awake a ſleeping Lion; and partly, becauſe they expect an opportunity for doing their work more certainly, and with leſs danger.

10 And Delilah ſaid unto Samſon, Behold, thou haſt mocked me, and told me lyes: now tell me, I pray thee, wherewith thou mighteſt be bound?

11 And he ſaid unto her, If they bind me faſt with new ropes † that never were occupied, then ſhall I be weak, and be as † another man.

† Heb. wherewith work hath not been done. † Heb. one of men, ver. 7.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. (And there were liers in wait abiding in the chamber.) And he brake them from off his arms like a thread.

13 And Delilah ſaid unto Samſon, Hitherto thou haſt mocked me, and told me lyes: tell me wherewith thou mighteſt be bound. And he ſaid unto her, If thou weaveſt the ſeven locks of my head with the web p.

p Or, thread which is woven about a Weavers Loom: or, with a Weavers beam. If my Hair, which is all divided into ſeven Locks, be faſtned about a Weavers Beam; or interwoven with Weavers Threads: Underſtand out of the foregoing Verſes; then I ſhall be weak as another Man.

14 And ſhe faſtened it with the pin q, and ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he awaked out of his ſleep, and went away with the pin of the beam, and with the web.

q Having done what Samſon directed, ſhe adds this for ſureneſs ſake, ſhe faſtned the Hair thus woven with a Pin.

15 ¶ And ſhe ſaid unto him, How canſt thou ſay, I love thee, when thine heart is not with me? thou haſt mocked me theſe three times, and haſt not told me wherein thy great ſtrength lieth?

r When thy Love conſiſts only in outward Expreſſion, not in Affection, and thou wilt not open thy Heart to me, as one true Friend doth to another.

16 And it came paſs, when ſhe preſſed him daily with her words, and urged him, ſo that his ſoul was † vexed unto death ſ,

ſ Being tormented by two contrary and violent Paſſions, deſire to gratifie her whom he ſo much doted upon, and fear of betraying himſelf to utmoſt hazard. But being deſerted by God, it is no wonder that he chuſeth the worſe part.

17 That he told her all his heart, and ſaid unto her, There hath not come a raſor upon mine head: for I have been a Nazarite unto God from my mothers womb: If I be ſhaven, then my ſtrength will go from me t, and I ſhall become weak, and be like any other man.

* Numb. 6. 3.

t Not that his Hair was in it ſelf the Seat or Cauſe of his Strength, but becauſe it was the chief Condition of that Vow or Covenant, whereby as he ſtood obliged to him, ſo God was pleaſed graciouſly to ingage himſelf to fit him for, and aſſiſt him in that great work to which he called him: but upon his violation of his Condition, God juſtly withdraws his Help, and leaves him to himſelf.

18 And when Delilah ſaw that he had told her all his heart u, ſhe ſent and called for the lords of the Philiſtines, ſaying, Come up this once, for he hath ſhewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philiſtines came up to her, and brought money in their hand.

u Which it was not hard for her to diſcover, by the change of his Countenance, and the matter of his Diſcourſe, and the whole carriage of the Buſineſs.

19 And ſhe made him ſleep x upon her knees y, and ſhe called for a man, and ſhe cauſed him to ſhave off z the ſeven locks of his head, and ſhe began to afflict him a, and his ſtrength went from him b.

x By ſome ſleepy Potion, which it is like ſhe gave him upon other Pretences, agreeable enough to his preſent and viciated Inclination. y Reſting his Head upon her Knees. z With a gentle Hand, as if ſhe her ſelf had but been ſporting with him. She did this more ſecurely; partly, becauſe ſhe had caſt him into a deep ſleep; and partly, becauſe if he had diſcovered it before it was finiſhed, ſhe would have ſaid, it was only an innocent Intention to try the ſincerity of his Affection to her, and the truth of this laſt relation, which ſhe had ſo juſt reaſon to doubt of, from his frequent diſſimulation and lyes. a i.e. To diſturb, and awaken, and affright him, as by other ways, ſo particularly by crying out in a terrible manner, The Philiſtines are upon thee, as ſhe had done before, and as it follows v. 20. b Which, as is here implied, ſhe perceived, becauſe he could not now ſhake himſelf as he did before; i.e. with equal vigour and might, as is intimated in the next Verſe: or, becauſe ſhe had bound him, though it be not here expreſſed, and found him unable to break his Bonds.

20 And ſhe ſaid, The Philiſtines be upon thee Samſon. And he awoke out of his ſleep, and ſaid c, I will go out as at other times before, and ſhake my ſelf d. And he wiſt not e that the LORD was departed from him f.

c Within himſelf; i.e. he purpoſed and attempted it. d i.e. Put forth my Strength to cruſh them, and to deliver my ſelf. e Being not yet well awake, and not diſtinctly feeling the loſs of his Hair, or not duly conſidering what would follow upon it. f In reſpect of the ſtrength and help he had formerly given him.

21 ¶ But the Philiſtines took him g, and † put out his eyes h, and brought him down to Gaza i, and bound him with fetters of braſs, and he did grind in the Priſon-houſe k.

† Heb. bored out.

g Who now durſt apprehend him, becauſe they reſted in the aſſurance which Delilah had given them, that now all was diſcovered and done. h Which was done by them out of Revenge and Policy, to diſenable him from doing them much harm, in caſe he ſhould recover his Strength; but not without God's Providence, puniſhing him in that part which had been greatly inſtrumental to his ſinful Luſts. i Becauſe this was a great and ſtrong City, where he would be kept ſafely; and upon the Sea-coaſt, at ſufficient diſtance from Samſon's People; and to repair the Honour of that Place, upon which he had faſtned ſo great a ſcorn, Judg. 16. 3. God alſo ordering things thus, that where he firſt ſinned, Judg. 16. 1. there he ſhould receive his Puniſhment. k As Captives and Slaves uſe to do: See Exod. 11. 5. Iſa. 47. 2. Matth 24. 41. He made himſelf a Slave to vile Luſts and Harlots, and now God ſuffers Men to uſe him like a Slave.

22 Howbeit, the hair of his head began to grow again l ‖ after he was ſhaven.

‖ Or, when he was ſhaven.

l This Circumſtance, though in it ſelf inconſiderable, is noted as a ſign of the recovery of God's Favour, and his former Strength, in ſome good degree, upon his bitter Repentance, and his renewing of his Vow with God, which was allowed for Nazarites to do, Numb. 6. 9, &c. and which it is here ſuppoſed he did, and by the Effects proved.

23 Then the lords of the Philiſtines gathered them together m, for to offer a great ſacrifice unto Dagon n their god, and to rejoyce: for they ſaid, Our God hath delivered Samſon our enemy into our hand.

m Either upon ſome annual or cuſtomary Solemnity: or, rather, upon this ſpecial occaſion, to praiſe Dagon for this ſingular Favour.

And they did not appoint this solemn Service as soon as Samson was taken, but some considerable time after, as appears by the growth of Samson's Hair in the mean time, because they would give sufficient time and warning for all their Friends and Allies to come thither, and for the making of all necessary Preparations for so great an Occasion. n Which is by most supposed to be an Idol, whose upper part was like a Man, and whose lower part was like a Fish; whence there is mention of Dagon's hands, but not of his Feet, in 1 Sam. 5. 4. And this Place being near Ægypt, where some of their gods were worshipped in the form of Fishes; and being near the Sea, it seems most probable, that it was one of the Sea-gods of the Heathens; and that it had in some part the resemblance of a Fish.

24 And when the people saw him, they praised their god: for they said, Our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy, and the destroyer of our country, † which slew many of us.

† Heb. and who multiplied our slain.

25 And it came to pass when their hearts were merry, that they said, Call for Samson, that he may make us sport. And they called for Samson out of the prison-house, and he made † them sport n, and they set him between the pillars.

† Heb. before them.

n Either, First, Passively, being made by them the matter of their Sport and Derision, and of many bitter Scoffs, and other Indignities or Injuries: Or, Secondly, Actively, by some ridiculous Actions, or some Proofs of more than ordinary Strength yet remaining in him, like the ruines of a great and goodly Building: whereby he lull'd them asleep in security, until by this seeming Complaisance he prepared the way for that which he design'd; otherwise his generous Soul would never have been forced to make them Sport, save in order to their Destruction.

26 And Samson said unto the lad that held him by the hand, Suffer me, that I may feel the pillars whereupon the house standeth, that I may lean upon them.

27 Now the house was full of men and women, and all the lords of the Philistines were there: and there were upon the roof o about three thousand men and women, that beheld while Samson made sport.

o Which after the manner was flat, and had Windows through which they might see what was done in the lower parts of the House.

28 And Samson called unto the LORD, and said, O LORD God, remember me, I pray thee, and strengthen me, I pray thee, only this once, O God, that I may be at once avenged of the Philistines for my two eyes p.

p This Prayer was not an act of Malice and Revenge, but of Faith and Zeal for God, who was there publickly dishonoured; and Justice, in punishing their Insolences, and vindicating the whole Common-wealth of Israel, which was his Duty, as he was Judge, to do. And this is manifest from hence, because God, who heareth not Sinners, and would never use his Omnipotency to gratifie any Mans imporent Malice, did manifest by the Effect, that he accepted and owned his Prayer as the dictate of his own Spirit. And that in this Prayer he mentions only his Personal Injury, the loss of his Eyes, and not their Indignities to God and his People, must be ascribed to that prudent Care which he had, and declared upon former occasions, of deriving the Rage and Hatred of the Philistines upon himself alone, and diverting it from the People. For which end I conceive this Prayer was made with an audible Voice, though he knew they would entertain it only with Scorn and Laughter, which also he knew would quickly be turned into Mourning.

29 And Samson took hold of the two middle pillars, upon which the house stood, and ‖ on which it was born up, of the one with his right hand, and of the other with his left q.

‖ Or, he leaned on them.

30 And Samson said, Let † me die with the Philistines r: and he bowed himself with all his might: and the house fell upon the lords, and upon all the people that were therein: so the dead which he slew at his death, were more than they which he slew in his life.

† Heb. my soul.

q Qu. How could so great a Building, containing so many thousands of People, rest upon two Pillars so near placed together? Here Infidels triumph, as if they had got an unanswerable Argument against the truth of the Scriptures. But it is a far more incredible and ridiculous thing to imagine, that the Pen-man of this Book should feign such a Circumstance as this is, if it had been false, whereby he would have utterly overthrown the Credit of the whole Book; and that he should do this before a People that could easily have confuted him; and that People should have so high a Veneration for that Book in which they knew so notorious a fallhood to be: these things, I say, are far more absurd to believe, than the truth of this Relation. But to this I shall add two Answers. First, It is no sufficient Argument to prove, that this was not true, because we do not at this day understand how it was done. There were many great Works, and excellent pieces of Art, some footsteps whereof are left in ancient Writers; but the exact way and particular manner of them, is wholly, or in a great measure unknown and lost: so that Pancirollus hath written a whole Book of such things. Particularly, the old way of Architecture is much in the dark, as is confessed by the Learned. It may be pretended, That though there might be curious Arts of Building in the Learned and Ingenious part of the World, it is not probable they were among such a rude and barbarous People as the Philistines. But this is certainly a very great mistake; for these People were either a part of, or very near Neighbours to the Phœnicians, from whom it is confessed the Arts came to the Grecians. And forasmuch as many things which were concluded by the Ancients to be impossible, are by the wit and industry of later Ages found to be possible, and certainly true; it cannot be strange if some things now seem impossible to some Men, which were then known to be practicable. And he that will venture his Faith and Salvation upon this Proposition, That such a Building as this was simply impossible, because he doth not see the possibility of it; or, which is all one, That no Man understands more than he doth; will find few admirers of his Wisdom. And to quelly and clearly prored by sundry Arguments, upon such a nicety as this, is but a more learned kind of Doting. Answ. 2. Instances are not wanting of far more large and capacious Buildings than this, that have been supported only by one Pillar. Particularly, Pliny in the 15th. Chapter of the 36th. Book of his Natural history, mentions two Theaters built by one C. Curio, who lived in Julius Cesar's time; each of which was supported only by one Pillar, or Pin, or Hinge, though very many thousands of People did sit in it together. And much more might two Pillars suffice to uphold a Building large enough to contain Three thousand Persons, which is the number mentioned, v. 17. Or, the Pillars might be made Two in the lower part meerly for Ornament-sake, which might easily be so ordered as to support a Third and Main Pillar in the Middle, which upheld the whole Fabrick. r i.e. I am contented to die, so I can but therewith contribute any thing to the Vindication of God's Glory. here trampled upon, and to the Deliverance of God's People. This is no Example nor Encouragement to those that wickedly Murder themselves: for Samson did not desire, nor procure his own death voluntarily, but only by meer force and necessity; because he did desire, and by his Office was obliged to seek the destruction of these Enemies and Blasphemers of God, and Oppressors of his People; which in these Circumstances he could not effect without his own death: and his Case was not much unlike theirs, that in the heat of Battel run upon the very mouth of the Cannon, or other evident and certain danger of Death, to execute a Design upon the Enemy; or theirs, who go in a Fire-ship to destroy the Enemies best Ships, though they are sure to perish in the Enterprize. Moreover, Samson did this by Divine Instinct and Approbation, as God's Answer to his Prayer manifests, and that he might be a Type of Christ, who by voluntarily undergoing death, destroyed the Enemies of God, and of his People.

31 Then his brethren s, and all the house of his father came down, and took him, and brought him up, and buried him t between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the burying-place of Manoah his father: and he judged Israel twenty years u.

s Either, First, Largely so called, his Kinsmen. Or, Secondly, strictly so called; Samson's Parents having had other Children after him; as it was usual with God when he gave an extraordinary and unexpected Power of procreating a Child, to continue that strength for the Generation or Conception of more Children, as in the case of Abraham, Gen. 25. 1, 2. and Anna, 1 Sam. 2. 21. t Which they adventured to do; partly, because the most barbarous Nations allowed Burial even to their Enemies, and would permit this oft-times to be done by their Friends: partly, because Samson had taken the blame of this Action wholly to himself, for which his innocent Relations could not upon any pretence be punished: and principally, because they were under such grief, and perplexity, and consternation for the common Calamity, that they had neither heart, nor leisure to revenge themselves of the Israelites, but for their own sakes were willing not to disquiet or offend them; at least, till they were in a better posture to resist them. u This was said before, Judg. 15. 20. and is here repeated, partly to confirm the Relation of it, and partly to explain it; and to shew when these Twenty Years ended, even at his death, as is here noted.

CHAP. XVII.

Micah stealeth money of his mother: then confesseth and restoreth it. She dedicates it to the Lord: maketh images: he sets them up in the house of his gods: and consecrates one of his sons for his priest: there being then no magistrates in Israel, 1,—6. a Levite traveling that way he hireth and consecrateth him to be his priest, 7,—12. It is confident that God would therefore favour and bless him, 13.

AND there was a man a of mount Ephraim, whose name was † Micah.

a The things mentioned here, and in the following Chapters, did not happen in the order in which they are put; but much sooner, even presently after the death of the Elders that over-lived Joshua, Judg. 2. 7. as appears by divers Passages; as first, because the Place called Mahaneh-Dan, or the camp of Dan, Judg. 13. 25. was so called from that which was done, Judg. 18. 12. Secondly, Because the Danites had not yet got all their Inheritance, Judg. 18. 1. which is not credible of them, above 300 Years after Joshua's death. Thirdly, because Phinehas the Son of Eleazar was Priest at this time, Judg. 20. 28. who must have been about 350 years old, if this had been done after Samson's death, which is more than improbable.

2 And he said unto his mother, The eleven hundred shekels of silver that were taken from thee, about which thou cursedst b, and spakest of also in mine ears, behold, the silver is with me, I took it c. And his mother said, Blessed be thou of the LORD d, my son.

b i.e. Didst Curse the Person who had taken them away, and that in my hearing, as it follows. c The fear of thy Curse makes me acknowledge mine Offence, and beg thy Pardon. d I willingly consent to, and beg from God the removal of the Curse, and a Blessing instead of it. Be thou free from my Curse, because thou hast so honestly restored it.

3 And when he had restored the eleven hundred shekels

shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said, I had wholly † dedicated the silver unto the LORD e, from my hand, for my son f to make a graven image, and a molten image g: now therefore I will restore it unto thee h.

e In the Hebrew it is, Jehovah, the incommunicable Name of God. Whereby it is apparent, that neither she, nor her Son, intended to forsake the True God or his Worship; as appears from his rejoycing when he had got a Priest of the Lord's appointment, of the Tribe of Levi, Judg. 17. 13. but only to worship God by an Image; which also it is apparent, that both the Israelites, Exod. 32. 1, &c. and Jeroboam afterwards, designed to do. f Either, First, for the honour and benefit of thy self, and Family; that you need not be continually going to Shiloh to Worship, but may do it as well at home by these Images. Or, Secondly, that thou maist cause these things to be made; to which end, she restored all the Money to him, as it here follows. g Many think this was but one Image, partly Graven, and partly Molten. But it seems more probable, that they were two distinct Images, because they are so plainly distinguished, Judg. 18. 17, 18. where also some other words come between them. It is true, the graven image alone is mentioned, Judg. 18. 20, 30, 31. not exclusively to the other, as appears from what is said just before; but by a common Synecdoche, whereby one is put for all; especially, where that one is esteemed the chief. h To dispose of, as I say.

4 Yet he restored the money unto his mother i, and his mother took two hundred shekels of silver k, and gave them to the founder, who made thereof l a graven image, and a molten image, and they were in the house of Micah.

i Though his Mother allowed him to keep it, yet he persisted in his resolution to restore it, that she might dispose of it as she pleased; and did actually restore it, as was said before; and now confirms the former Restitution, and therefore is twice said to restore it. k Reserving 900 Shekels, either for the Ephod and Teraphim, or for other things relating to this Worship: or for her own private use; being, it seems, cooled in her first Zeal, and willing to have as cheap a Religion as she could, as also her Son Micah was, Judg. 17. 10. l Made them, either, First, of that Matter: Or, Secondly, for that money.

5 And the man Micah had an house of gods m, and made an † ephod n and * teraphim o, and † consecrated one of his sons, who became his priest p.

† Gen. 31. 19. Hos. 3. 4. * Heb. filled the hand.

m i.e. An House or Place consecrated for the Service of God in this manner. n An eminent part of the Priestly Garments, Exod. 28. 4. which, some think, is here put for all of them. o Some sort of Images so called, of which see Gen. 31. 19. Hos. 3. 4. p Because the Levites in that corrupt Estate of the Church, neglected the Exercise of their Office, and therefore were neglected by the People, and others put into their Employment. But this kind of Priesthood was condemned, Numb. 16. 40. and 18. 2, 7.

* Chap. 18. 1. & 21. 25.

6 * In those days there was no King q in Israel, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes r.

q i.e. No Judge to Govern and Controul them. The word King being here used largely for a Supreme Magistrate; as Gen. 36. 31. Deut. 33. 5. God raised up Judges to Rule and Deliver the People, when he saw fit; and at other times for their Sins he suffered them to be without them, and such a time this was; and therefore they ran into that Idolatry, from which the Judges usually kept them; as appears by that solemn and oft-repeated passage in this Book, that after the death of such or such a Judge, the People forsook the Lord, and turned to Idols. r i.e. Not what pleased God, but what best suited his own Fancy or Lusts.

7 ¶ And there was a young man out of Bethlehem-Judah s, of the family of Judah t, who was a Levite, and he sojourned there u.

s Or, of Bethlehem-Judah; so called here, as Matth. 2. 1, 5. to difference it from Bethlehem in Zibulun, Josh. 19. 15. There he was born and bred. t i.e. Of, or belonging to the Tribe of Judah; not by Birth, for he was a Levite; nor by his Mother, for though that might be true, the Mothers-side is not regarded in Genealogies; but by his Habitation and Ministration. For the Levites, especially in times of Confusion and Irreligion, were dispersed among all the Tribes; and this Man's Lot fell into the Tribe of Judah: which seems to be here noted by way of reflection upon that Tribe, and as an evidence of the general Desection, that a Levite could not find entertainment in that great and famous Tribe, which God had put so much Honour upon, Gen. 49. 8, 9, 10, 11. and therefore was forced to wander and seek for subsistence elsewhere. u So he expresseth it, because this was not the proper, nor usual Place of his abode, this being no Levitical City.

8 And the man departed out of the city from Bethlehem-Judah, to sojourn where he could find a place x, and he came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah † as he journeyed.

† Heb. in making his way.

x For employment and a livelihood; for the Tithes and Offerings, which were their maintenance, not being brought in to the House of God, the Levites and Priests must needs be reduced to great streights.

9 And Micah said unto him, Whence comest thou? and he said unto him, I am a Levite of Bethlehem-Judah, and I go to sojourn where I may find a place.

10 And Micah said unto him, Dwell with me, and be unto me a father and a priest y, and I will give thee ten shekels of silver by the year, and ‖ † a suit of apparel, and thy victuals. So the Levite went in.

‖ Or, a double suit, &c. † Heb. an order of garments.

y For, a Father; that is, a Priest, a Spiritual Father, a Teacher or Instructor, for such are called Fathers; see 2 King. 6. 21. and 8. 9. and 13. 14. Isa. 22. 21. He pretends Reverence and Submission to him; and what is wanting in his Wages, he pays him in empty Titles.

11 And the Levite was content z to dwell with the man, and the young man was unto him as one of his sons a.

z Being constrained by necessity, and infected with the common Contagion of the Superstition and Idolatry of the Times. a i.e. Treated with the same degree of Kindness and Affection.

12 And Micah consecrated the Levite b, and the young man became his priest c, and was in the house of Micah.

b To be a Priest, for which he thought a Consecration necessary, as knowing that the Levites were no less excluded from the Priests Office than the People. c Instead of his Son, whom he had consecrated for want of a sitter, v. 6. but now seems to restrain him from the exercise of that Office, and to devolve it wholly upon the Levite, who was nearer akin to it.

13 Then said Micah, Now know I that the LORD will do me good d, seeing I have a Levite to my priest.

d I am assured God will bless me. So blind and grosly partial he was in his Judgment, to think that one right Circumstance would answer for all his substantial Errors, in making and worshipping Images against God's express Command, in worshipping God in a forbidden Place; and in that he being an Ephraimite presumed to make a Priest, &c.

CHAP. XVIII.

Those of the tribe of Dan, having not sufficient inheritance, send forth five men to spy out a place: they come to the house of Micah, and desire the Levite to ask counsel of God touching their journey, 1,—5. He encouraging them: they spy out the city Laish: and at their return instigate their brethren to set upon the city, 5,—10. 600 go forth armed: in their march they seize upon Micah's priests and idols: which he in vain demandeth again, 11,—25. They pull down Laish: build it again: inhabit it: and call it Dan, 26,—29. Consecrate their priest and set up Micah's images, 30, 31.

IN * those days there was no king in Israel a: and in those days the * tribe of the Danites b fought them an inheritance to dwell in, for unto that day all their inheritance had not fallen unto them c among the tribes of Israel.

* Chap. 17. 6. & 21. 25. * Josh. 19. 47.

a Nor long after Joshua's death, of which see on Judg. 17. 6. b i.e. A part or branch of that Tribe, consisting only of 600 Men of War, v. 16. with their Families, v. 21. or, a Family of the Danites; for the word, Schebet, which properly signifies a Tribe, is sometimes taken for a Family, as Judg. 20. 12. as elsewhere Family is put for a Tribe, as Zech. 12. 13. c The Lot had fallen to them before this time, Jos. 19. 40, &c. but not the actual possession of their Lot, because therein the Philistines and Amorites opposed them, not without success. See Jos. 19. 40. Judg. 1. 34.

2 And the children of Dan sent of their family d five men from their coasts, † men of valour, from Zorah, and from Eshtaol e, to spy out the land, and to search it, and they said unto them, Go, search the land: who when they came to mount Ephraim to the house of Micah, they lodged there f.

d Which shews that it was but one, though a large Family, which was engaged in this Expedition. e Of which see Jos. 19. 41. Judg. 13. 2, 25. f Not in the same House, but near it, as appears from the next Verse, in a neighbouring place.

3 When they were by the house of Micah, they knew the voice of the young man the Levite g: and they turned in thither, and said unto him, Who brought thee hither? and what makest thou in this place h? and what hast thou here?

g Either, 1. By his manner of pronunciation, which was differing and distinguishable in several Tribes, as appears from Judg. 12. 6. Mark 14. 70. Or 2. By the celebration of some part of his Office, which they then lodging in the neighbourhood, might be invited to. Or rather, 3. By some acquaintance which some of them formerly had with him, which they might have upon many occasions. h This being not thy usual Place, nor proper for thy Employment.

4 And he said unto them, Thus and thus dealeth Micah with me, and hath hired me, and I am his priest.

5 And they said unto him, Ask counsel, we pray thee, of God i, that we may know whether our way which we go shall be prosperous.

i To wit, by thine Ephod, or Teraphim, or Images, which they knew he had, v. 14.

6 And the priest said unto them, Go in peace: before the LORD is your way k wherein ye go.

k i.e. Your Journey or Design is under the eye of God; i.e. under his Care, and Protection, and Direction, which the eye of God being upon a person, commonly notes in Scripture, as Psal. 32. 8. and 34. 15. Compare Jer. 39. 12. and 40. 4. So the Phrase is here taken in a restrained sense, which is elsewhere taken more largely, as Prov. 5. 21. This Answer he either feigns to gratifie their Humour; or, did indeed receive from the Devil, who transformed himself into an Angel of Light, and in God's Name gave them Answers, and those not seldom very true, which God suffered for the trial of his People: See Deut. 13. 1, 2, 3. But it is observable, that his Answer was, as the Devil's Oracles usually were, ambiguous, and such, as might have been interpreted either way, as they had success or disappointment.

7 ¶ Then the five men departed, and came to Laish l, and saw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careless, after the manner of the Zidonians m, quiet, and secure, and there was no † magistrate in the land that might put them to shame in any thing n, and they were far from the Zidonians o, and had no business with any man p.

† Heb. possessor, or, heir of restraint, 1 Sam. 9. 17.

l Called also Lesham, Jos. 19. 47. m Who living in a very strong Place, and abounding in Wealth, and understanding that they were not a part of that Land which God gave to his People; and perceiving that the Israelites never attempted any thing against them, were grown secure and careless. n Or, that might rebuke or punish any thing; i.e. any crime; Heb. that might put any thing to shame, or, make any thing shameful. Putting to shame seems to be used Metonymically for inflicting Civil Punishment, because shame is generally the adjunct or effect of it. o Who otherwise could have succoured them, and would have been ready to do it. p No League or Confederacy, nor much Converse with other Cities, it being in a pleasant and plentiful Soil, between the two Rivolets of Jor and Dan, nor needing Supplies from others, and therefore minding only their own Ease and Pleasure.

8 And they came unto their brethren to Zorah, and Eshtaol, and their brethren said unto them, What say ye?

9 And they said, Arise, that we may go up against them: for we have seen the land, and behold, it is very good: and are ye still? Be not slothful to go, and to enter to possess the land.

q Heb. silent? Silence is oft put for stilness or cessation from action or motion, as Exod. 14. 14. Isa. 62. 1 Lament. 2. 18. For they do not accuse them for want of speaking, for that they did; but for wanting of doing, and putting their words and resolves into execution.

10 When ye go, ye shall come unto a people secure, and to a large land: for God hath given it into your hand r: a place where there is no want of any thing, that is in the earth.

r This they gather partly from God's Word or Promise, which they supposed they had from the Levites Mouth; and partly from his Providence, which hath so disposed them, that they will be an easie Prey to you.

11 ¶ And there went from thence of the family s of the Danites out of Zorah, and out of Eshtaol six hundred men, † appointed with weapons of war.

† Heb. girded.

s By which it again appears, That the Tribe, v. 1. is put for Family.

12 And they went up and pitched in Kirjath-jearim t in Judah: wherefore they called that place Mahaneh-dan, unto this day: behold it is behind Kirjath-jearim u.

t Called Kiriath-baal, Jos. 15. 60. a City lying in the Northern parts of Judah, in the Road to Laish; yet not in the City, but in the Fields belonging to it, as the following words evince. u i.e. Westward from it, as the Western Sea is called the hindermost Sea, Deut. 11. 24. and as on the contrary, the East is called Kedem, which signifies the fore-part.

13 And they passed thence unto mount Ephraim, and they came unto the house of Micah x.

x i.e. To the Town in which his House was, for they were not yet entred into it.

14 ¶ Then answered y the five men that went to spy out the country of Laish, and said unto their brethren, Do ye know that there is in those houses z an ephod, and teraphim, and a graven image, and a molten image? Now therefore consider what ye have to do a.

y i.e. Spake, the word answering being oft used in Scripture of the first speaker, as 1 King. 1. 28. and 13. 7. Ezra 10. 2. Isa. 14. 10. z i.e. In one of these Houses, the Plural Number for the Singular, as Judg. 12. 7. a Whether it be not expedient; either, 1. To consult them again for your own satisfaction; or, rather, 2. To take them away for your further use, as you shall have occasion; for their Action is the best Comment upon their words.

15 And they turned thitherward, and came to the house of the young man the Levite, even unto the house of Micah, and † saluted him b.

† Heb. asked him of peace.

b Heb. asked him of Peace; i.e. if he were in Peace, Peace being commonly put for Health and Prosperity.

16 And the six hundred men appointed with their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, stood by the entring of the gate.

17 And the five men that went to spy out the land went up, and came in thither c, and took the graven image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image, and the priest stood in the entring of the gate d with the six hundred men that were appointed with weapons of war.

c To wit, into the House, and that part of it, where those things were. d Whether they had drawn him forth, that they might without noise or hindrance take them away.

18 And these e went into Micahs house: and fetched the carved image, the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image; then said the priest unto them, What do ye f?

e To wit, the five mentioned, v. 17. f What do you mean to do? I hope you will not do so Impious and Injurious an Action.

19 And they said unto him, Hold thy peace, lay thy hand upon thy mouth g, and go with us, and be to us a father, and a priest h: Is it better for thee to be a priest unto the house of one man, or that thou be a priest unto a tribe, and a family i in Israel?

g i.e. Be silent, as this Phrase is used, Job 21. 5. and 29. 9. and 40. 4. Prov. 30. 32. The same thing repeated in other words. h See on Judg. 17. 10. i To wit, a tribe, that is, and being oft put for that is a family. For it is certain this was not an Expedition of the whole Tribe, which numbred 64000 Men, Numb. 26. 42. but only of one Family, which it seems were more vexed with the Philistines or Amorites, and therefore resolved to seek new Habitations at a great distance from them. And after this time we find the Body of the Danites in their old and proper Portions in Samson's time, which, though placed before this, was long after it.

20 And the priests heart was glad k, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the graven image, and went in the midst of the people l.

k Being wholly governed by his own Interest, and making all his Obligations of Justice and Gratitude give place to it. But it is not strange, if he who was before perfidious to God, should prove so to Men. l i.e. Among the People: or properly in the midst, both for the greater security of such precious things, and that Micah might not be able to come at him, either to injure or upbraid him; and, it may be, because that was the place where the Ark used to be carried.

21 So they turned and departed, and put the little ones, and the cattel, and the carriage before them m.

m For their greater security, if Micah should pursue them.

22 ¶ And when they were a good way from the house of Micah, the men that were in the houses near to Micahs house, were gathered together, and overtook the children of Dan.

23 And they cried unto the children of Dan: and they turned their faces, and said unto Micah, What ails thee, † that thou comest with such a company?

† Heb. that thou art gathered again.

24 And he said, Ye have taken away my gods which I made n, and the priest, and ye are gone away: and what have I more o? and what is this that ye say unto me, What aileth thee?

n So far was he besotted with Superstition and Idolatry, that he esteemed those gods, which were Man's work. But he could not be so stupid, as to think these were indeed the great Jehovah that made Heaven and Earth; but only a lower sort of gods, by whom, as Mediators, he offered up his worship unto the true God, as it is manifest divers of the Heathens did. o I value nothing I have in comparison of what you have taken away. Which zeal for Idolatrous trash may shame multitudes that call themselves Christians, and yet apparently value their worldly Conveniences more than all the Concerns even of the true Religion, and of their own Salvation.

25 ¶ And the children of Dan said unto him, Let not thy voice p be heard among us: lest † angry fellows q run upon thee, and thou lose thy life r, with the lives of thy houshold.

† Heb. bitter of soul.

p Thy Complaints and Reproaches. q The Soldiers, who are in themselves sharp and fierce, and will soon be enflamed by thy provoking words. r Which, notwithstanding all thy Pretences, thou dost value more than thy Images, as indeed appeared from his following practice.

26 And the children of Dan went their way: and when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned, and went back unto his house.

27 And they took the things which Micah had made, and the priest which he had, and came unto Laish, unto a people that were at quiet, and secure, and they smote them with the edge of the sword, and burnt the city with fire s.

s Not wholly, but in great measure, to strike the greater terror into the Inhabitants, and to make their Conquest of the Place more easie.

28 And there was no deliverer, because it was far from Zidon, and they had no business with any man: and it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob t, and they built a city, and dwelt therein.

t A Place near Libanus and Hamath: of which see Numb. 13. 21. Jos. 19. 28. and 21. 31. Judg. 1. 31.

29 And they called the name of the * city Dan, after the name of Dan their father u, who was born unto Israel: howbeit, the name of the city was Laish at the first.

* Jesh. 19. 47.

u That it might be manifest, that they belonged to the Tribe of Dan, though they were seated at a great distance from them, even in the most Northerly Part of the Land: whereas the Lot of their Tribe was in the Southern Part of Canaan.

30 ¶ And

30 ¶ And the children of Dan set them up the graven image x: and Jonathan the son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh, he, and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan, until the day of the captivity of the land y.

x Having succeeded in their expedition according to the prediction which, as they supposed, they had from this Image, they had a great veneration for it. y Either 1. When the Ark and the Israelites were taken captives by the Philistines, 1 Sam. 4. 10, 11. Though there is no mention of any who were then taken captives, or that the Philistines did pursue the Victory, and Conquer the Land at that time, for their Victory was quickly damped, and turned to Mourning, 1 Sam. 5. Or, 2. After that time, when the Philistines slew Saul and Jonathan, and discomfited the whole Host of Israel, and made the rest of the People flee out of their Cities, and took possession of their Cities and Land. Or, 3. When the whole Land of the ten Tribes, whereof Dan was one, was Conquered, and the People carried Captive by the Assyrian, 2 Kings 17. 6, 23. which is called by way of Eminency, the Captivity, 1 Chron. 5. 22. But against this it is objected, That it is not probable, that this Idolatry should continue so long in such a publick place and manner: or that David and Solomon would suffer it. Ans. It is not said, that the graven Image was there so long, for that is restrained to a shorter date, even to the continuance of the Ark in Shiloh, v. 31. which was removed thence, 1 Sam. 4. But only that Jonathan's Posterity were Priests to this Tribe or Family of Dan, which they might be under all the changes, even till the Assyrian Captivity, sometimes more openly and allowedly, sometimes more cunningly, sometimes more secretely, sometimes in one way of Superstition or Idolatry, and sometimes in another; and, in and after Jeroboam's time, in the Worship of the Calves, for which service, though he did make Priests of the meanest of the People, 1 Kings 12. 31. yet that was not by choice, but out of necessity, because the Priests and Levites generally forsook him, 2 Chron. 11. 13, 14. and therefore when he could engage any of the Priests or Levites in that service, he was doubtless very glad of them to gain reputation to his impious and absurd device.

31 And they set them up Micah's graven image, which he made, all the time that the house of God was in Shiloh.

CHAP. XIX.

A Levite's Concubine runs from him to her Father's House at Bethlehem: He goeth to fetch her back: Is kindly entertain'd by her Father: He departs and comes to Gibeah of Benjamin: And his Concubine with him, 1, ——14. an old man of Mount Ephraim entertains them, 15, ——21. The men of the City encompass the House: to Debauch the Levite, who through necessity delivers unto them his Concubine, whom they Abuse to Death, 22, ——28. He carrieth her Body home: Divideth it into twelve Parts: Sendeth them into all the Coasts of Israel, 29, 30.

* Chap. 17. 6. and 18. 1. and 21. 25.

AND it came to pass in those days *a, when there was no king in Israel, that there was a certain Levite sojourning on the side b of mount Ephraim, who took to him † a concubine c out of Bethlehem-Judah.

† Heb. a woman, a concubine, a, or wife of a concubine.

a Of which see on Judg. 17. 1. b Heb. in the sides, i.e. in one of the sides, as Verse 18. c Heb. a Wife, a Concubine, i.e. such a Concubine as was also his Wife, as appears from v. 3, 4, 5, 7, 9, 26, 27. and Judg. 20. 4. See of these Gen. 22. 24. and 25. 1.

2 And his concubine played the whore against him d, and went away from him e unto her fathers house to Bethlehem-Judah, and was there ‖ † four whole months f.

‖ Or, a year and four months † Days for months.

d i.e. Against her Faith given to him, or to his wrong; or, with him, i.e. in his House; or whilest she lived with him, which is opposed to her going away, which here follows. e Either for fear of his severe rebukes or punishment; or, because her heart was alienated from him. f Heb. some days, to wit, four months; or, a year (so days commonly signifie) and four months; wherein not only she sinned, but her Father by some indulgence and connivance at her Sin, and neglect of just endeavours for her reconciliation to her Husband, the ill effects whereof he speedily felt, in the loss of his Daughter in so dreadful a manner.

3 And her husband arose, and went after her to † speak friendly unto her g, and to bring her again h, having his servant with him, and a couple of asses i: and she brought him into her fathers house: and when the father of the damsel saw him, he rejoiced to meet him k.

† Heb. to her heart.

g Or, to speak to her heart, i.e. kindly and comfortably, as that phrase is taken, Gen. 50. 21. Hos. 2. 14. to offer her pardon, and reconciliation, and restitution to her former state. h To wit, to his own House. i Partly, for himself or his Wife to ride upon, as there was occasion; and partly, for carrying their Provision, as appears from v. 19. k Hoping the breachwould be made up by this means.

4 And his father in law, the damsels father, retained him, and he abode with him three days: so they did eat and drink, and lodged there.

5 ¶ And it came to pass on the fourth day, when they arose early in the morning, that he rose up to depart: and the damsels father said unto his son in law, † Comfort thy heart with a morsel of bread, and afterward go your way.

† Heb. Strengthen.

6 And they sate down and did eat and drink both of them together: for the damsels father had said unto the man, Be content, I pray thee, and tarry all night, and let thine heart † be merry.

† Heb. be good.

7 And when the man rose up to depart, his father in law urged him: therefore he lodged there again.

8 And he arose early in the morning on the fifth day to depart, and the damsels father said, Comfort thine heart, I pray thee. And they tarried † until afternoon, and they did eat both of them.

† Heb. till the day declined.

9 And when the man rose up to depart, he, and his concubine, and his servant, his father in law, the damsels father said unto him, Behold, now the day † draweth towards evening, I pray you tarry all night: behold, † the day groweth to an end l, lodge here that thine heart may be merry, and to morrow get ye early on your way, that thou mayest go † home.

† Heb. is weak. † Heb. it is the pitching time of the day. † Heb. to thy tent.

l Heb. It is the encamping time of the day, i.e. the Evening, when Armies having marched in the day, begin to pitch their Camp; or, when the Sun that makes the day, begins to encamp himself, and go toward rest; so it is a Poetical expression taken from hence, That the Sun when he sets, seems to vulgar eyes to go to rest.

10 But the man would not tarry that night, but he rose up, and departed, and came † over against Jebus (which is Jerusalem) and there were with him two asses saddled, his concubine also was with him.

† Heb. to over against Jebus.

11 And when they were by Jebus, the day was far spent, and the servant said unto his master, Come, I pray thee, and let us turn in unto this city of the Jebusites, and lodg in it.

12 And his master said unto him, We will not turn aside hither into the city of a stranger m that is not of the children of Israel: we will pass over to Gibeah.

m i.e. Of a strange Nation: which the Canaanites possess; for though the City Jerusalem had been taken by Caleb, Judg. 1. yet the strong Fort of Zion was still in their hands, 2 Sam. 5. 6, 7. whence it is likely they did much molest, and afterwards by God's permission, and for the punishment of their Sin, drive out the Israelites who dwelt there.

13 And he said unto his servant, Come, and let us draw near to one of these places to lodg all night, in Gibeah, or in Ramah n.

n Both which places lay in Benjamin's Portion, a little Northward from Jerusalem, and in the Road from Bethlehem-Judah to Gibeah.

14 And they passed on, and went their way, and the sun went down upon them when they were by Gibeah, which belongeth to Benjamin o.

o This is added to difference it from another Gibeah in Judah, Jos. 15. 57. Possibly this is that which was called Gibeah of Saul, 1 Sam. 11. 4.

15 And they turned aside thither to go in, and to lodg in Gibeah: and when he went in, he sate him down in a street of the city: for there was no man that took them into his house to lodging p.

p Though they were soft and effeminate in other respects, yet they were hard-hearted towards Strangers or indigent persons. Either there were no publick Houses to receive and entertain Travellers, as may be gathered from Gen. 28. and 42. and 43. and Jos. 9. &c. or, if there were such an one here, they might perceive it to be a very wicked House, as being in so lewd a place, and therefore might decline it, and expect that some private person would exercise Hospitality to them, as persons of any worth used to do, as Gen. 18. 1, 2, 3, 4. and 19. 1, 2. Heb. 13. 2.

16 ¶ And behold, there came an old man from his work, out of the field at even, which was also of mount Ephraim q; and he sojourned in Gibeah, but the men of the place were † Benjamites r.

† Heb. Sons of Iemini.

q Whence also the Levite was, which obliged and enclined him to shew the more kindness to his Country-man. r This was indeed one of the Cities belonging to the Priests, Jos. 21. 1 Chron. 6. Chap. 3. 15 but you consider that the Cities which were given to the Priests, and whereof they were Possessors and Owners, were not inhabited by the Priests or Levites only, especially at this time when they were but few in number, but by many other persons of differing Professions and Callings, which was necessary for their convenience.

17 And when he had lift up his eyes, he saw a wayfaring man in the street of the city: and the old man said, Whither goest thou? and whence comest thou?

18 And he said unto him, We are passing from Bethlehem-Judah, toward the side of mount Ephraim, from thence am I: and I went to Bethlehem-Judah, but I am now going to the house of the LORD s, and there is no man that † receiveth me to house.

s Which was in Shilo, Jos. 18. 1. and 22. 12. Thither he went, either because he lived there, for that was in the Tribe of Ephraim; or, rather, because he would there offer Prayers and Sacrifices unto God, for his Mercy in reconciling him and his Wife together, together, and for his Blessing upon them again, and to make atonement for his Wife.

19 Yet there is both straw and provender for our asses, and there is bread and wine also for me, and for thy handmaid, and for the young man which is with thy servants: there is no want of any thing.

20 And the old man said, Peace be with thee: howsoever let all thy wants lie upon me t, * only lodge not in the street. * Gen. 19. 2.

t It matters not whether thou wantest nothing or every thing, I will take care to supply all thy Wants.

21 So he brought him into his house, and gave provender unto the asses: and they washed their feet u, and did eat and drink.

u As they used to do to Travellers in those hot Countries, Gen. 18. 4. and 19. 2. and 24. 32, &c.

22 ¶ Now as they were making their hearts merry x, behold, the men of the city, certain * sons of Belial y, beset the house round about, and beat at the door, and spake to the master of the house, the old man, saying, Bring forth the man that came into thine house, that we may know him z. * Hos. 9. 9. and 10. 9.

x i.e. Refreshing themselves with the Provisions set before them. y Wicked and Licentious Men; see Deut. 13. 13. z An ambiguous expression; whereby they pretended only a desire to know and see what Person he had brought among them, and yet carry on their wicked design of knowing him Carnally. Compare Gen. 19. 5. where the same Phrase is used in that sense upon a like occasion. But though they name only the Man; yet it is plain from the following relation, that their Design was principally upon the Woman, and therefore under the name of the Man, they comprehend those that belong to him.

23 And * the man, the master of the house, went out unto them, and said unto them, Nay, my brethren, nay, I pray you do not so wickedly, seeing that this man is come into mine house a, do not this folly. * Gen. 19. 6.

a And therefore I am obliged to protect him by the Laws of Hospitality. Compare Gen. 19. 7, 8.

24 Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine, them I will bring out now b, and humble ye them, and do with them what seemeth good unto you: but unto this man do not † so vile a thing. † Heb. the matter of this folly.

b He offers this to avoid a greater and more unnatural Sin, which he thought they designed; but it seems they did not, their abuse being confined to the Woman, and not extended to the Man, who also was in their power, if they had lusted after him. But this offer was sinful, because he offered that which was not in his, nor in the Man's power to dispose of, even the Chastity of his Daughter, and the Man's Wife; and because no Man must do any evil, though never so small; for the prevention of any evil of Sin or Misery, or for the procuring of the greatest good, Rom. 3. 8. though his Sin was much mitigated by his Ignorance, by his honest and generous Intention of protecting a Stranger; by the force which was in some sort put upon him, and by the suddenness and violence of the Temptation.

25 But the men would not hearken to him: so the man took his concubine c, and brought her forth unto them, and they knew her, and abused her all the night, until the morning: and when the day began to spring, they let her go.

c Being willing to expose her, rather than the Daughter of his Host, who had expressed such a singular care and affection for him.

26 Then came the woman in the dawning of the day, and fell down d at the door of the mans house, where her lord e was, till it was light.

d To wit, dead, as the following words show, and as that word is oft used, as Exod. 19. 21. Psal. 82. 7. and 91. 7. Hos. 5. 5. killed, partly with grief of heart, and partly with excessive abuse of her Body, of which there have been divers instances. Thus the Sin she formerly chose, v. 2. is now her Destruction; and though her husband pardoned her, God would punish her, at least as to this life. e So he is called, either because he was her husband; for which cause Sarah called Abraham Lord, 1 Pet. 3. 6. or because she had been his maid-servant, as Concubines oftentimes were; as Gen. 30. 3, 9.

27 And her lord rose up in the morning, and opened the doors of the house, and went out to go his way: and behold, the woman his concubine was fallen down at the door of the house, and her hands were upon the threshold f.

f The posture either of one that had fallen down; or of one that was laid down to sleep, her hands or arms (for the Hebrew word signifies both) leaning upon the threshold, and being put under her head: and therefore he thought to awake her, and raise her up.

28 And he said unto her, Up, and and let us be going. But none answered g: then the man took her up upon an ass, and the man rose up, and gat him into his place.

g For she was dead, as is said, Judg. 20. 5.

29 ¶ And when he was come into his house, he took a knife, and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, together with her bones h, into twelve pieces i, and sent her into all the coasts of Israel k.

h Or, according to her bones, according to the joints of her Body, for there he made the division. This might seem to be a barbarous and inhuman act in it self; but may seem excusable, if it be considered, that the sadness of the Spectacle did highly contribute to stir up the zeal of all the Israelites to avenge his Concubines death, and to execute Justice upon such profligate Offenders; and was necessary, especially in this time of Anarchy and general Corruption, Judg. 17. 6. to awaken them out of that Lethargy, in which all the Tribes lay. i That one piece might be sent to every Tribe; whereof none to Levi, because they would meet with it in every Tribe, being dispersed among them; but one to Benjamin; for he might well presume, that they would as much abhor so villanous an Action, though done by some of their own Tribe, as any of the rest. k By several messengers, by whom also he sent a particular Relation of the Fact.

30 And it was so, that all that saw it, said, There was no such deed l done nor seen from the day that the children of Israel came up out of the land of Egypt, unto this day: consider of it, take advice, and speak your minds m.

l So wicked and abominable. m Let us meet together, and seriously consider, and every one freely speak what is to be done in this case.

CHAP. XX.

The Israelites assemble at Mizpeh: The Levite declares his wrong, 1,—8: Their decree, 9,—12. They require the Delinquents of the Benjamites to do justice on them: They are denied 13,—18. Whereupon having consulted God, they march to fight against them: Are twice foiled: And lose forty thousand men, 19,—26. Being humbled, and receiving clearer Revelation from God, they, by a stratagem, destroy the whole Tribe, 600 Men excepted (who fled away,) and burnt their Cities, 27,—48.

THEN all the children of Israel a went out b, and the congregation was gathered together as one man c, from Dan even to Beersheba d, with the land of Gilead e, unto the LORD f, in Mizpeh g.

a i.e. A great number, and especially the Rulers of all the Tribes, except Benjamin, v. 3, 12. b From their several Habitations. c i.e. With one consent. d Dan was the Northern border of the Land, near Lebanon; and Beersheba the Southern border, Gen. 21. 33. Compare 1 Kings 4. 25. e Beyond Jordan, where Reuben, Gad, and half Manasseh were. f As to the Lord's Tribunal: for God was not only present in the place where the Ark and Tabernacle was, but also in the Assemblies of the Gods, or Judges, Psal. 82. 1. and in all the places where God's name is recorded, Exod. 20. 24. and where two or three are met together in his name, Matth. 18. 20. for his service, and to seek for Counsel and Mercy from him: compare Judg. 11. 11. g A place in the borders of Judah and Benjamin, and therefore ascribed to both of them, Jos. 15. 38. and 18. 26. This they chose, as a place most fit and proper in many respects: First, as a place they used to meet in upon solemn Occasions, See Judg. 20. 1. and 21. 11. 1 Sam. 7. 5, 16. and 10. 17. Secondly, For its convenient Situation for all the the Tribes within and without Jordan. Thirdly, As being near the place where the Fact was done, that it might be more throughly examined; and not far from Shiloh, where the Tabernacle was, whither they might go or send, if need were.

2 And † the chief h of all the people, even of all the tribes of Israel, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand i foot-men k, that drew sword. † Heb. the corner.

h Heb. the corners, i.e. the Nobles and Rulers, which are oft so called, because like corner-stones, they both unite, and support, and adorn the whole Building. i Or, and four hundred thousand; It is an Ellipsis of the Particle [and], of which Examples have been given before: for the chief of the People were not so many; but the common Soldiers, and these were all Foot-men; whereas many of the Rulers rid upon Horses, or Asses, Judg. 5. 10. and 10. 4. and 12. 14. The number is here set down, to shew both their zeal and forwardness in punishing such a Villany; and the strange blindness of the Benjamites that durst oppose so great and united Body; and that the success of Battels depends not upon great numbers, seeing this great Host was twice defeated by the Benjamites, but wholly upon God's blessing. k For Horse-men they had few or none in their Armies.

3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard l that the children of Israel were gone up to Mizpeh.) Then said the children of Israel, Tell us m, how was this wickedness?

l Like Persons unconcerned and resolved, they neither went nor sent thither: partly from their own pride, and stubbornness, and self-confidence: partly because as they were left to give up any of their Brethren to Justice, so they presumed the other Tribes would never proceed to a War against them; and partly, from a Divine infatuation hardening that wicked Tribe to their own Destruction. m The Verb is of the Plural Number, because they speak to the Levite, and his Servant, and his Host, who doubtless were present upon this occasion.

4 And † the Levite n, the husband of the woman that was slain, answered and said, I came into Gibeah † Heb. the man the Levite.

beah that belongeth to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to lodge.

n To whose Relation the other two gave their consent.

5 And the men of Gibeah rose up against me, and beset the house round about upon me by night, and thought to have slain me o: and my concubine have they † forced that she is dead. † Heb. humbled.

o Except I would either submit to their unnatural Lust, which I was resolved to withstand even unto death: or deliver up my concubine to them, which I was forced to do.

6 And I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed lewdness and folly p in Israel.

p i.e. A lewd folly; most ignominious and impudent Wickedness.

7 Behold, ye are all children of Israel q, give here your advice and counsel.

q The Sons of that Holy Man, who for one filthy action left an eternal brand upon one of his own Sons: a People in Covenant with the holy God, whose Honour you are obliged to vindicate, and who hath expressly commanded you to punish all such notorious Enormities.

8 ¶ And all the people arose as one man, saying, We will not any of us go to his tent r, neither will we any of us turn into his house:

r i.e. His habitation, to wit, until we have revenged this Injury.

9 But now this shall be the thing which we will do to Gibeah, we will go up by lot against it:

10 And we will take ten men of an hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to fetch victual for the people, that they may do, when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the folly that they have wrought s in Israel t.

s That we may punish them as such a wickedness deserves. t This is added as an aggravation, that they should do that in Israel, or among God's peculiar People, which was esteemed abominable even among the Heathen.

11 So all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, † knit together as one man. † Heb. fellows.

12 ¶ And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe u of Benjamin, saying, What wickedness is this that is done among you?

u Heb. tribes: Either the Plural Number for the Singular: or rather tribe is put for family, as was noted before, as families are elsewhere put for tribes. They take a wife and a just course, in sending to all the parts and families of the tribe, to separate the Innocent from the Guilty, and to give them a fair opportunity of preventing their ruine, by doing nothing but what their Duty, Honour, and Interest obliged them to; even by delivering up those vile Malefactors, whom they could not keep without horrid guilt and shame; and bringing the Curse of God upon themselves.

13 Now therefore deliver us the men, the children of Belial which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evil x from Israel: but the children of Benjamin would not hearken y to the voice of the brethren the children of Israel.

x Both the Guilt and the Punishment, wherein all Israel will be Involved, if they do not punish it. y Partly from the pride of their Hearts, which made them scorn to submit to their Brethren, or to suffer them to meddle in their Territory; partly from a conceit of their own Valour and Military skill; and partly from God's just judgment.

14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together out of the cities, unto Gibeah, to go out to battel against the children of Israel.

15 And the children of Benjamin were numbred at that time out of the city, twenty and six thousand men that drew sword; beside the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbred seven hundred chosen men z.

z Object. This agrees not with the following numbers: for all that were slain of Benjamin were 25100 men, v. 35. and there were only 600 that survived, v. 47. which make only 25700. Ans. The other thousand men were either left in some of their cities, where they were slain, v. 48. or were cut off in the two first Battels, wherein it is unreasonable to think they had an unbloody Victory: and as for these 25100 men, they were all slain in that day, i.e. the day of the third Battel, as is affirmed v. 35.

16 Among all this people, there were seven hundred * chosen men * left-handed a, every one could sling stones at an hairs breadth, and not miss b. * Chap. 3. 15.

a Heb. shut up on their right hand, i.e. using their left hand instead of their right. d An Hyperbolical expression, signifying, that they could do this with great exactness. There are many parallel Instances in Historians, of Persons that could throw Stones, or shoot Arrows with great certainty, so as seldom or never to miss. Of which see my Latin Synopsis. And this was very considerable, and one ground of the Benjamites confidence, because in those times they had no Guns.

17 And the men of Israel c, beside Benjamin, were numbred four hundred thousand men that drew sword, all these were men of war.

c To wit, such as were here present, v. 2. for otherwise it is most probable they had a far greater number of men, being 600000 before their entrance into Canaan, Num. 1. 2.

18 ¶ And the children of Israel d arose, and went up to the house of God e, and * asked counsel of God, * Chap. 1. and said, Which of us shall go up first to the battel f? against the children of Benjamin? And the LORD said, Judah shall go up first.

d i.e. Some sent in the name of all. e To wit, to Shiloh, which was not far from Mizpeh, where they were. f This they ask to prevent Emulations and Contentions: but they do not ask whether they should go against them, or no, for that they knew they ought to do by the will of God already revealed: Nor yet do they seek to God for his help by Prayer, and Fasting, and Sacrifice, as in all reason they ought to have done; but were confident of Success, because of their great Numbers, and Righteous Cause.

19 And the children of Israel rose up in the morning, and encamped against Gibeah.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battel against Benjamin, and the men of Israel put themselves in aray to fight against them at Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came forth out of Gibeah, and destroyed down to the ground of the Israelites that day, twenty and two thousand men g.

g Quest. Why would God suffer them to have so great a loss in so good a Cause? Ans. Because they had many and great Sins reigning amongst themselves, and they should not have come to so great a Work of God as this, with polluted hands, but should have pulled the Beam out of their own Eye, before they attempted to take that out of their Brother Benjamin's Eye: which because they did not, God doth it for them, making them by this loss more clearly to see their own Sins, and their need of God's help, without which their great Numbers were insignificant; and bringing them through the Fire, that they might be purged from their Dross; it being probable that the great God who governs every stroke in Battels, did so order things, that their worst and rotten Members should be cut off, which was a great Blessing to the whole Common-wealth.

22 And the people, the men of Israel incouraged themselves h, and set their battel again in aray, in the place where they put themselves in aray the first day i.

h Heb. strengthned themselves, partly by supporting themselves with the Conscience of the Justice of their Cause, and the hopes of success: and partly, by putting themselves in better order for defending themselves, and annoying their Enemies. i Hereby shewing their freedom from that Heathenish Superstition, whereby they might have been apt to have rejected that as an unlucky place. Compare 1 Kings 20. 23, 28.

23 (And the children of Israel went up and wept k before the LODD until even, and asked counsel of the LORD, saying, Shall I go up to battel against the children of Benjamin my brother l? And the LORD said, Go up against him ∴).

k Not so much for their Sins, as for their Defeat and Loss, as appears by the Sequel. l They impute their ill Success, not to their own Sins, as they had great reason to do, but to their taking up Arms against their Brethren, the Lawfulness whereof they now begin to doubt of. But still they persist in their former neglect of seeking God's assistance in the way which he had appointed, as they themselves acknowledge presently, by doing those very things which now they sinfully neglected, v. 26. and therefore are again justly punished. ∴ God answers to their question; but as they did not desire his assistance and success, so he doth not promise it.

24 And the children of Israel came near against the children of Benjamin, the second day.

25 And Benjamin went forth against them out of Gibeah the second day, and destroyed down to the ground of the children of Israel again, eighteen thousand men, all these drew the sword.

26 ¶ Then all the children of Israel, and all the people went up, and came unto the house of God, and wept, and sat there before the LORD, and fasted m that day until even, and offered burnt-offerings n, and peace-offerings o before the LORD.

m Being now sensible of their former slightness, and not being truly humbled for their Sins, which now they discover to be the true Cause of their ill success. n To make atonement to God for their own Sins. o Partly to bless God for sparing so many of them, whereas he might justly have cut off all of them when their Brethren were slain: and partly to implore his assistance for the future, and to give him Thanks for the Victory, which now they were confident he would give them.

27 And the children of Israel enquired of the LORD p, (for the ark of the covenant of God was there q in those days.

p To wit, by Urim and Thummim, Num. 27. 21. q In Shiloh where they were now assembled.

28 And

28 And Phineas the ſon of Eleazar r the ſon of Aaron ſtood ſ before it r in thoſe days) ſaying, Shall I yet again go out to battel againſt the children of Benjamin my brother, or ſhall I ceaſe u? And the LORD ſaid, Go up, for to morrow I will deliver them into thine hand x.

r This is added to give us ſome light about the time of this Hiſtory, and to ſhew it was not done in the order in which it is here placed, after Samſon's Death, but long before. ſ i.e. Miniſtred, as the word ſtand oft ſignifies, as Deut. 10. 8. and 18. 7. Prov. 22. 29. Jer. 52. 12. compare with 2 Kings 25. 8. becauſe ſtanding is the uſual poſture of Servants. t i.e. Before the Ark: or, before him, i.e. the Lord's face, or preſence: which ſhews that he was the High-Prieſt, for none elſe might appear there. u Which, if thou requireſt, we are willing to do, notwithſtanding the provocation they have given us, and our own inclination to Revenge. x Now when they had ſought God after the due order, and truly humbled themſelves for their Sins, he gives them a full and ſatisfactory Anſwer to their Deſires.

29 And Iſrael ſet liers in wait ∴ round about Gibeah y.

∴ Though they were aſſured of the Succeſs, by a particular and abſolute promiſe, yet they do not neglect the uſe of means; as well knowing that the certainty of God's Purpoſes or Promiſes doth not excuſe, but rather require Man's diligent uſe of all fit means for the accompliſhment of them. y i.e. On ſeveral ſides of it, as may be gathered from the following Verſes.

30 And the children of Iſrael z went up againſt the children of Benjamin on the third day a, and put themſelves in array againſt Gibeah, as at other times.

z i.e. A conſiderable part of them, who were ordered to give the firſt onſet, and then to counterfeit flight, to draw the Benjamites forth of their ſtrong hold. See v. 32. a To wit, after the ſecond Battel; for the firſt day after it, they ſpent in perplexing thoughts, and goirg up to the Houſe of the Lord: the ſecond, in Faſting and Prayer there: and this third, in the Fight. Or, this is ſo called with reſpect unto the two ſeveral foregoing days of Battel, and ſo this was the third day of Battel.

31 And the children of Benjamin went out againſt the people, and were drawn away from the city b, and they began † to ſmite of the people, and kill as at other times c, in the high-ways, of which one goeth up to ‖ the houſe of God, and the other to Gibeah in the field d, about thirty men of Iſrael.

† Heb. to ſmite of the people wounded as at, &c.
‖ Or, Bethel.

b By the diſſembled Flight of the Iſraelites. c With the ſame kind, though not the ſame degree of Succeſs. d So called, to diſference it from this Gibeah, which was upon an Hill; wherefore they are conſtantly ſaid, to aſcend or go up againſt it, as v. 23, 30. See Joſ. 18. 23, 28.

32 And the children of Benjamin ſaid, They are ſmitten down before us, as at the firſt: But the children of Iſrael ſaid, Let us flee, and draw them from the city unto the high-ways.

33 And all the men of Iſrael roſe up out of their place e, and put themſelves in aray at Baal-Tamar: and the liers in wait of Iſrael came forth out of their places f, even out of the meadows of Gibeah.

e Where they had diſpoſed themſelves, that they might fall upon the Benjamites, when they were drawn forth to a ſufficient diſtance from their City, and when they were purſuing that Party mentioned, v. 30. f To execute what was agreed upon, even to take Gibeah, and burn it, as they actually did, v. 37.

34 And there came againſt Gibeah ten thouſand choſen men out of all Iſrael g, and the battel was ſore: but they knew not that evil was near them h.

g Selected out of the main Body, which was at Baal-Tamar; and theſe were to march directly to Gibeah on the one ſide, whilſt the liers in wait ſtormed it on the other ſide, and whilſt the great Body of the Army laboured to intercept theſe Benjamites, who having purſued the Iſraelites that pretended to flee, now endeavoured to retreat to Gibeah. h They were ſo puffed up with their former Succeſſes, that they were inſenſible of their danger.

35 And the LORD ſmote Benjamin before Iſrael, and the children of Iſrael deſtroyed of the Benjamites that day twenty and five thouſand, and an hundred men i: all theſe drew the ſword.

i This is the total Summ, whereof the particulars are related, v. 42, 45. and for the odd hundred not there mentioned, they were killed in other places not there expreſſed.

36 So the children of Benjamin ſaw that they were ſmitten: for the men of Iſrael gave place to the Benjamites, becauſe they truſted unto the liers in wait, which they had ſet beſide Gibeah.

37 And the liers in wait haſted, and ruſhed upon Gibeah, and the liers in wait ‖ drew themſelves along k, and ſmote all the city with the edge of the ſword.

‖ Or, made a long ſound with the trumpet.

k Or, extended themſelves; i.e. whereas before they lay cloſe and contracted into a narrow compaſs, now they ſpread themſelves, and Marched in Rank and File as Armies do. Or, marched, or went: Heb. drew their Feet. So this Verb is oft uſed, as Gen. 37 28. Exod. 12. 21. Judg. 4. 6. Job 21. 33.

38 Now there was an appointed ‖ ſign between the men of Iſrael † and the liers in wait, that they ſhould make a great † flame with ſmoke to riſe up out of the city.

‖ Or, time.
† Heb. with elevation.

39 And when the men of Iſrael retired in the battel, Benjamin began † to ſmite and kill of the men of Iſrael about thirty perſons; for they ſaid, Surely they are ſmitten down before us, as in the firſt battel.

† Heb. to ſmite the wounded.

40 But when the flame began to riſe up out of the city, with a pillar of ſmoke, the Benjamites looked behind them, and behold, the † flame of the city aſcended up to heaven.

† Heb. is whole conſumption.

41 And when the men of Iſrael turned again, the men of Benjamin were amazed l; for they ſaw that evil † was come upon them.

† Heb. touched them.

l Becauſe of their great diſappointment, and the preſent danger wherewith they were ſurrounded on every ſide.

42 Therefore they turned their backs before the men of Iſrael, unto the way of the wilderneſs, but the battel overtook them: and them which came out of the cities, they deſtroyed in the midſt of them n.

m i.e. The men of Battel or War. The abſtract for the concrete, as Poverty, 2 Kings 24. 14. Pride, Pſal. 36. 11. Deceit, Prov. 12. 25. Dreams, Jer. 25. 9. Election, Rom. 11. 7. are put for Perſons that are Poor, Proud, Deceitful, Dreamers, Elect. n So the ſence may ſeem to be this, That the Iſraelites did not only kill the Inhabitants of Gibeah, and all the Benjamites that came into the Field againſt them, 600 excepted; but in the midſt of them, or together with them, they killed alſo the reſt of the Benjamites, who, when they ſaw their Army was wholly deſtroyed, made haſte to flee out of their ſeveral Cities or Towns, that ſo they might eſcape the Sword, which was coming towards them. But the words may be rendred thus: And them who were of the other cities, to wit, of Benjamin, i.e. who abode in their own Cities, and did not go up to Gibeah, they deſtroyed in the midſt of them, i.e. in their ſeveral Cities, or, in the midſt of it, i.e. of every City: for ſo it is ſaid, v. 48. where it is ſaid, That they ſmote the men of every City. But this I ſubmit to the Learned.

43 Thus they incloſed the Benjamites round about, and chaſed them, and trode them down ‖ with eaſe o, † over againſt Gibeah towards the ſun-riſing.

‖ Or, from Manuhah, &c.
† Heb. unto the eaſt ſide.

o Without great difficulty. Now that God gave them his preſence and aſſiſtance, they eaſily did that which before they found too hard for them. Or, unto Menuchah, or, as far as Manuchah, a place ſo called. See 1 Chron. 2. 52. Jer. 51. 59.

44 And there fell of Benjamin eighteen thouſand men p; all theſe were men of valour.

p To wit, in the Field, or Battel.

45 And they turned and fled toward the wilderneſs, unto the rock of Rimmon: and they gleaned q of them in the high-ways five thouſand men; and purſued hard after them unto Gidom, and ſlew two thouſand men of them.

q i.e. They cut off the remainders in the purſuit, and ſpared none. A Metaphor from thoſe who gather Grapes or Corn ſo clearly and fully, that they leave no relicks for thoſe who come after them.

46 So that all which fell that day of Benjamin, were twenty and five thouſand r men that drew the ſword: all theſe were men of valour.

r Beſides the odd hundred expreſſed ver. 35. but here only the great number is expreſſed, the leſs being omitted, as inconſiderable; which way of numbring is frequent in Scripture, as Judg. 11. 26. 2 Sam. 5. 5. and in other Authors, and in vulgar uſe; as when they are called, the 70 Interpreters, who in truth and exactneſs were 72. Here are alſo a thouſand more omitted, becauſe here he ſpeaks only of them who fell in that third day of Battel. See 00 v. 15.

47 * But ſix hundred men turned and fled to the wilderneſs, unto the rock Rimmon, and abode in the rock s Rimmon four months.

* Ch. 21.

s In a Cave within that Rock, where they Fortified themſelves, and ſereched in Proviſion as they had opportunity; which they could eaſily do, when the heat of the Battel was over, and the Iſraelites were not ſolicitous to purſue them further.

48 And the men of Iſrael turned again upon the children of Benjamin t, and ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, as well the men u of every city, as the beaſt, and all that † came to hand: alſo they ſet on fire all the cities that * they came to.

† Heb. was found.
* Heb. were found.

t Having deſtroyed thoſe that came to Gibeah, and into the field, now they follow them home to their ſeveral habitations. u Comprehenſively taken, ſo as to include Women and Children. If this ſeem harſh and bloody, either it may be aſcribed to Military Fury; or rather, it may be juſtified; partly, from that high guilt brought upon the whole Tribe, in which it is no wonder if their Infants ſuffered, which was not unuſual in ſuch caſes, as Numb. 31. 17. 1 Sam. 15. 3. Joſ. 7. 15. partly, from that Command of God in a Parallel caſe, Deut. 13. 15. and partly from that ſolemn Oath by which which they had Anathematized or devoted to Death all that came not up to Mizpeh, Judg. 21. 5. which none of the Benjamites did; for which cauſe alſo they deſtroyed all the Men, Women, and Children of Jabeſh Gilead, Judg. 21. 10.

CHAP. XXI.

The People bewail the Deſolation of Benjamin, 1,—7. The Inhabitants of Jabeſh Gilead, for not coming up to this Battel, are all deſtroyed: Excepting 400 Damſels: Whom the Iſraelites beſtow for Wives on the remaining Benjamites, 8,—15. They adviſe the reſt to ſeize on the dancing Maidens at the feaſt in Shiloh: And to carry away as many as they had need of, 16,—21. the anſwer wherewith they ſhould paciſie their Relations, 22,—25.

NOw the men of Iſrael had ſworn a in Mizpeh, ſaying, There ſhall not any of us give his daughter unto Benjamin to wife b.

a In the beginning of this War, after the whole Tribe had eſpouſed the quarrel of the Men of Gibeah, Judg. 20. 13, 14. b They do not (as ſome ſuppoſe) here ſwear the utter extirpation of the Tribe, which fell out beyond their expectation, Judg. 21. 3, 6. but only not to give their Daughters to thoſe Men who ſhould ſurvive; juſtly eſteeming them for their barbarous Villany, to be as bad as the worſt of Heathens, with whom they were forbidden to Marry. In this Caſe the Benjamites might have married among themſelves, if any of their Men and Women were left alive.

2 And the people came to the houſe of God c, and abode there till even before God, and lift up their voices and wept ſore.

c Partly to mourn for the common loſs; and partly, to ask counſel from God about the repairing of it.

3 And ſaid, O LORD God of Iſrael, Why is this come to paſs in Iſrael, that there ſhould be to day one tribe lacking in Iſrael d?

d Why haſt thou given them up to ſuch wickedneſs, and us to ſuch rage, that the whole Tribe ſhould be in a manner loſt! Hence it appears, that they did not ſwear to root them all out, as is further manifeſt from the different matter and words of this Oath, ver. 1. which only denied them their Daughters in Marriage; and that concerning the people of other Tribes who joyned not with them in this buſineſs, which was, that they ſhould be put to death, v. 5. And their ſparing of thoſe 600 Men in the Rock Rimmon, v. 13, 14. plainly ſhews, that they were not obliged by any Oath or Vow to extirpate them.

4 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the people roſe early, and built there an altar e, and offered burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings.

e Not for a Monument of the Victory, as ſome ſay, but for Sacrifices, as the next words ſhew. Qu. What need was there of this, when the ordinary Altar was there, to which alſo they ſeem to be reſtrained, Deut. 16. 2? Anſw. They are not there reſtrained to one Altar, but to one place of Worſhip, as is expreſſed; and therefore there might be in that place more Altars than one, when the multitude of Sacrifices ſo required, which was the caſe, 1 Kings 8. 64. and probably at this time, when all the Tribes being met, they had many Sacrifices to offer, ſome in common for all, and ſome peculiar to every Tribe. Nay, other Altars might be, and oft-times were Erected in other places, by Divine Direction or Diſpenſation; as Judg. 6. 24, 26. 1 Sam. 7. 9, 17. and 11. 15. and 16. 2, 5.

5 And the children of Iſrael ſaid, Who is there among all the tribes of Iſrael, that came not up with the congregation unto the LORD? for they had made a great oath f concerning him that came not up to the LORD to Mizpeh, ſaying, He ſhall ſurely be put to death g.

f i.e. A ſolemn Oath joyned with ſome terrible Execration againſt the Offenders herein. g Becauſe by refuſing to execute the Vengeance due to ſuch Malefactors, they were juſtly preſumed guilty of the Crime, and therefore liable to the ſame Puniſhment, as was the caſe of that City that would not deliver up an Idolater dwelling among them, to Juſtice.

6 And the children of Iſrael repented them for Benjamin their brother h, and ſaid, There is one tribe cut off from Iſrael this day:

h Not for the War which was juſt, and neceſſary, and good; but for their immoderate ſeverity in the Execution of it, and for the dreadful conſequences of it.

7 How ſhall we do for wives for them that remain, ſeeing we have ſworn by the LORD that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

8 And they ſaid, What one is there of the tribes of Iſrael, that came not up to Mizpeh to the LORD? And behold, there came none to the camp from Jabeſh-gilead i to the aſſembly.

i A City in Gilead, and in the Tribe of Manaſſeh; of which ſee 1 Sam. 11. 1, 3, 9, &c. and 31. 11, &c.

9 For the people were numbred, and behold, there were none of the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead there.

10 And the congregation ſent thither twelve thouſand men of the valianteſt, and commanded them, ſaying, Go, and ſmite the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead with the edge of the ſword, with the women and the children k.

k Who in ſuch publick and ſcandalous Crimes were for the greater Terror of ſuch Tranſgreſſors, and prevention of the like Sins, oft involved in the ſame Puniſhment with the men, as Deut. 13. 15. Joſ. 7. 24, &c.

11 And this is the thing that ye ſhall do, * Ye ſhall utterly deſtroy every male, and every woman that † hath lien by man l.

* Numb. 31. 17.
† Heb. knoweth the lying with man.

l But not the Virgins, as appears from the next Verſes. It is queſtionable, whether they were not obliged to deſtroy theſe alſo by vertue of their Oath, and of God's expreſs Command concerning Devoted Perſons, ſuch as theſe certainly were, that they ſhould ſurely be put to death, Levit. 27, 29. which was alſo particularly enjoyned and practiſed in ſuch Caſes, as Deut. 13. Joſ. 7. &c. But the natural and neceſſary duty of preſerving a Tribe from total Ruine, might ſeem to render the caſe difficult and doubtful, and incline their Opinions, as well as their Affections, to the more favourable ſide. And it may be, the Lord, whom they were here conſulting with upon all their occaſions, gave them a Diſpenſation thus to do, though that be not expreſſed; which is the caſe of many other things which were done, though not Recorded; as this very Oath was omitted in its proper place, and had not been Recorded if this extraordinary occaſion had not been offered.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead, four hundred † young virgins m that had known no man by lying with any male: and they brought them unto the camp to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

m Not Married, yet marriageable: it is probable, there were other and younger Virgins; but whether they were ſlain or ſpared, Scripture determines not, and the Learned do not agree. But theſe could not ſerve the preſent and urgent occaſion, and therefore he takes notice only of theſe 400 which were of riper Age.

13 And the whole congregation ſent ſome † to ſpeak to the children of Benjamin that were in the rock Rimmon, and to call ‖ peaceably unto them.

† Heb. and ſpake and called.
‖ Or, proclaim peace

14 And Benjamin n came again at that time, and they gave them wives which they had ſaved alive of the women of Jabeſh-gilead: and yet ſo they ſufficed them not.

n The poor remainders of the Tribe of Benjamin.

15 And the people repented them for Benjamin o, becauſe that the LORD had made a breach p in the tribes of Iſrael.

o Were yet more grieved upon this unhappy diſappointment, for they ſuppoſed here would have been Wives ſufficient for them. p The Benjamites were the only Authors of the Sin, but God was the chief Author of the Puniſhment, and the Iſraelites were but his Executioners.

16 ¶ Then the elders of the congregation ſaid, How ſhall we do for wives for them that remain q? ſeeing the women are deſtroyed out of Benjamin:

q For the 200 who are yet unprovided of Wives.

17 And they ſaid, There muſt be an inheritance for them that be eſcaped out of Benjamin r, that a tribe be not deſtroyed out of Iſrael.

r The Inheritance promiſed by Jacob and Moſes, and given by Joſhua to the Tribe of Benjamin, doth all of it belong to thoſe few which remain of that Tribe, and cannot be Poſſeſſed by any other Tribe; and therefore we are obliged to procure Wives for them all, that they may make up this breach, and be capable of poſſeſſing and managing all their Land: that this Tribe, and their Inheritance may not be confounded with, or ſwallowed up by any of the reſt. Heb. the inheritance (to wit, belonging to the whole Tribe of Benjamin) is, or belongs to them that be eſcaped of Benjamin.

18 Howbeit we may not give them wives of our daughters; for the children of Iſrael have ſworn, ſaying, Curſed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin s.

s i.e. To this Generation of Benjamites who have made themſelves guilty of this foul Wickedneſs: but this Oath did not extend to their Poſterity. And ſome think it had another exception, to wit, unleſs the ſurviving Benjamites could not otherwiſe be ſupplied with Wives.

19 Then they ſaid, Behold, there is a feaſt of the LORD in Shiloh † yearly t, in a place which is on the north-ſide of Beth-el u, ‖ on the eaſt-ſide of the high-way that goeth from Beth-el to Shechem, and on the ſouth of Lebonah.

† Heb. from year to year.
‖ Or, towards the t On the three ſolemn Feaſts, in which they uſed ſome honeſt ſun-riſing and holy Recreations; among which, Dancing was one, Exod. 15. 20. ‖ Or, on. 1 Sam. 18. 6. and 2 Sam. 6. 14. and probably it was the Feaſt of Tabernacles, which they did Celebrate with more than ordinary joy, Deut. 16. 13, 14, 15. u Heb. Which is on the north of Bethel. Which doth not relate to Shiloh, which was to known a place, that it was frivolous to deſcribe it by ſuch circumſtances, even by places much leſs known than it ſelf; but to the Feaſt, which as to that part or exerciſe of the Feaſt here eſpecially concerned and mentioned, to wit, the Dancing of the Virgins, was not celebrated in Shiloh, but in a Neighbouring place more convenient for that purpoſe.

20 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying, Go, and lie in wait in the vineyards:

21 And see, and behold, if the daughters of Shiloh x come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards y, and catch ye every man his wife of the daughters of Shiloh z, and go to the land of Benjamin.

x By whom he may possibly understand not those only who were born or settled Inhabitants there, (as many conceive) but all those who were come thither upon this occasion, and for a time sojourned there: For although only the Males were obliged to go up the Three solemn Feasts; yet it is apparent, that the Women had liberty to go, and those who were most devout did usually go, and others, upon special reasons or occasions: See 1 Sam. 1. 7, 21, 22, 24. Luke 2. 22, 23, 41, 42, 43. And it may be justly presumed, especially concerning those Women that lived at no great distance from the place of Publick Worship, that they came thither in great numbers. Moreover, the daughters of Shiloh, strictly so called, are not only they that lived in that Town or City, but in the Country belonging to it, which oft comes under the name of the City to which it belongs. And these may be here particularly named, because though others might come, yet they were under great obligations to come, because of their nearness to the place. y Which were near to their Dancing-place. z Take them away by force or violence. Which they might the better do, because mixed Dances were not used by the People of God in their Solemnities, but the Women danced by themselves, and therefore were more liable to this Rape.

22 And it shall be when their fathers, or their brethren come unto us to complain, that we will say unto them, ‖ Be favourable unto them a for our sakes: because we reserved not to each man his wife in the war b: for ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye should be guilty c.

‖ Or, Grant me in them.

a Pass by their offence, if not for their sakes, whom necessity forced to this course; yet for our sakes, and indeed for your own sakes; for both you and we have done them a great injury in Prosecuting them with so much fury, as to endanger the utter extinction of the whole Tribe: and therefore this is the least we can do by way of reparation. b Either, First, in the War with Jabesh-Gilead, wherein they should have taken care to reserve a sufficient number, which they might have done, by sparing either so many of the Married Women as were necessary, who, their former Husbands being slain, might have been married to those Benjamites; or as many of the younger Virgins, who, within a little time, might have been Married to them; whom many suppose that they slew. Or, Secondly, in the War with the Benjamites, in which they acknowledge their cruelty in destroying the Women with such fury, as not to leave a competent number for the Men which were left. See Judg 20. 48. c Qu. Whether this did really discharge them from their Oath? 1. Answ. It seems to excuse those Parents of these Virgins who were not acquainted with the Plot, and did neither directly nor indirectly give their Daughters to them, but they were taken away by force, without their knowledge and consent. If it be said, those Parents might and should have retaken their Daughters from them; it may be replied, that they could not do so before they were corrupted, and the Rulers of Israel would not assist them with their Power to recover them. And it is a Maxim, That many things which ought not to be done, when once they are done, should not be undone. And for those Parents who were conscious of the Design, it is probable they kept their Daughters at home to avoid this. Secondly, Either the Oath was made with an exception of the Case of the total Extirpation of a Tribe, or it was a rash Oath to do what was out of their Power, or what they could not lawfully do; to wit, utterly to destroy a Tribe out of Israel, which therefore they here speak of with horror, v. 3, 6. and if so, as they sinned in making it, so they were not obliged to keep it; it being an acknowledged truth, That rash and sinful Oaths are better broken than kept. Thirdly, Yet they cannot be wholly excused from Sin in this matter; for as it was folly to take such an Oath as it is expressed, so the manner of freeing themselves from their own Snare, is fraudulent and injurious to the Parents, in disposing of their Children without their consent.

23 And the children of Benjamin did so, and took them wives according to their number d, of them that danced, whom they caught: and they went and returned unto their inheritance e, and repaired the cities, and dwelt in them f.

d i.e. Each Man his Wife, as is said v. 22. By which we may see, they had no very favourable opinion of Poligamy, because they did not allow it in this case, when it might seem most necessary for the reparation of a lost Tribe. e Which being very near the place, they could speedily do before the Parents could obtain redress. f Not at that instant, which could not be; but by degrees, increasing their Buildings as their number increased.

24 And the children of Israel departed thence at that time, every man to his tribe, and to his family, and they went out from thence, every man to his inheritance.

25 * In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did that which was right in his own eyes. * Chap. 17. 6. & 21. 25.

RUTH.

The ARGUMENT.

THis little Book, by whomsoever Written, which is not material to know, is annexed to the Book of Judges, and by some of the Hebrew Doctors made a part of it. It is useful, as for many other points, so especially to shew the Genealogy of David; and consequently of Christ; and the Rise of Christ from a Moabitish Woman: which was an useful document, and a great encouragement to the Gentiles to believe in Christ.

CHAP. I.

A Famine in Canaan. Elimelech removes to Moab: With Naomi his Wife, and his two Sons, who marry Orpah and Ruth there: And dye, 1,—5. Naomi returns to Judah: Her Daughters in law accompany her on her way, 6,—13. Orpah returns home to her People and God's: Ruth remains being Converted, 14,——18. They come to Bethlehem, 19,—22.

NOw it came to pass in the days when the judges † ruled a, that there was a * famine in the land b: and a certain man of Bethlehem-Judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab c, he, and his wife, and his two sons.

† Heb. judged. * 2 Kings 8. 1.

a Which is noted as the cause of the following Famine, because in much of that time they were guilty of great defection from God. But under which of the Judges this happened, Scripture being silent, it seems presumptuous to determine; nor is it necessary to know. What is said about this matter from the Genealogy mentioned, Chap 4. 18, &c. it will be most proper to consider it there. b Or, in that land; to wit, of Canaan. c A fruitful Land, beyond Jordan, Eastward.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife, Naomi, and the name of his two sons, Mahlon, and Chilion, Ephrathites d of Bethlehem-Judah e: and they came into the country of Moab, and † continued there f.

† Heb. were.

d So called, because this Bethlehem is otherwise called Ephratha or Ephratha, Gen. 35. 19. Mich. 5. 2. either from Caleb's Wife of that name, 1 Chron. 2. 19. and 4. 4. or from the fertility of the Soyl about it; which title may therefore be used here, to shew the greatness of the Famine, which affected even fertile parts. e See the Notes on Judg. 17. 7. 11. 3. f To wit, during the Famine.

Numb. 9. 21.

3 And Elimelech Naomi's husband died, and she was left, and her two sons.

4 And they took them wives of the women of Moab g: the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelt there about ten years h.

g Either these were Proselytes when they Married them, which may well be doubted, from v 15. or they sinned in marrying them, as appears from Deut. 7. 3. and 23. 3. Ezra 9. 1, 2. Nehem. 13. 23. and therefore were punished with short Life, and want of Issue, v. 5, 19, 21. h As long as the Famine lasted.

5 And Mahlon, and Chilion died also both of them, and the woman was left of her two sons, and her husband.

6 Then she arose with her daughters in law, that she might return from the country of Moab: for she had heard in the country of Moab, how that the LORD had visited his people in giving them bread i.

i i.e. Food; so she staid no longer there than necessity forced her.

7 Wherefore she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters in law with her: and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi said unto her two daughters in law, * Go, return each to her mothers house k: the LORD deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead l, and with me.

* See Jos. 2. 15. 1 Sam. 22. 2. Isa. 22. 3.

k Not that they wanted Fathers, Ruth 2. 11. but because Daughters used to converse more frequently with their Mothers, and to be most endeared to them, and to dwell in the same Apartments with them, which then were distinct from those parts of the House where the Men dwelt. l With my Sons, your Husbands, whilest they lived.

9 The LORD grant you, that ye may find rest m, each of you in the house of her husband: Then she kissed them n, and they lift up their voice and wept.

m i.e. A quiet and happy life, free from those Cares, Vexations, Incumbrances, and Troubles which Widows are in a special manner exposed unto. n As the manner there was when friends parted.

10 And they said unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 And Naomi said, Turn again my daughters: why will ye go with me? are there yet any more sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands o?

o According to the Ancient Custom, Gen. 38. and the express Law of God, Deut. 25. 5. which doubtless she had acquainted them with before, among other branches of the Jewish Religion, wherein she did instruct them.

12 Turn again my daughters, go your way p, for I am too old to have an husband: if I should say, I have hope, ‖ if I should have a husband also to night, and should also bear sons:

‖ Or, if I were with an husband.

n Qu. Why doth she dissuade them from this journey, and not rather perswade them to go with her, and to embrace the Jewish Religion? Answ. 1. Possibly she thought such dissuasion might be the best way to perswade them, as it oft happens; especially in that Sex. 2. She would not have them rashly and inconsiderately to embrace the Jewish Religion, in hopes of some advantage from it, which she justly thought they would be disappointed of; and withal, exposed to many straits and troubles, and on that occasion, revolt from the True Religion, which would be far worse than never to have embraced it. And therefore she doth justly, and wisely, and piously in representing to them the truth of the business, and the outward inconveniences which would accompany the Change of their Place, and Religion; as also our blessed Lord Christ did, Mat. 8. 20.

13 Would ye † tarry for them till they were grown? would ye stay for them from having husbands o? nay, my daughters: for † it grieveth me much for your sakes p, that * the hand of the LORD is gone out against me.

† Heb. I have much bitterness. * Job 19. 21.

o It is unreasonable for me to expect it, or for you to perform it. p That you are left without the comfort of Husbands or Children; that I must part with such dear and affectionate Daughters; and that my circumstances are such, that I cannot invite, nor encourage you to go along with me. For her condition was so mean at this time, that Ruth, when she came to her Mother's City, was forced to Glean for a living, Chap. 2. 2.

14 And they lift up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kissed her mother in law q, but Ruth clave unto her.

q i.e. Departed from her with a kiss, as the manner was, Gen. 31. 28. 1 Kings 19. 20.

15 And she said, Behold, thy sister in law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods r: * return thou after thy sister in law.

* See Jos. 2. 15. 1 Sam. 22. 2. Isa. 22. 3.

r Which she saith, partly to try Ruth's sincerity and constancy; partly, that by upbraiding Orpah with her Idolatry, she might consequently turn her from it; and partly, that she might intimate to her, that if she went with her, she must embrace the True God and Religion.

16 And Ruth said, ‖ Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee, for whither thou goest, I will go: and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God s:

‖ Or, be not against me.

s I renounce those Idols which my Sister hath returned to, and I will Worship no other God but thine, who is indeed the onely True God.

17 Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the LORD do so to me and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.

18 When she saw that she † was stedfastly minded to go with her, then she left speaking unto her.

† Heb. strengthened herself.

19 ¶ So they two went until they came to Bethlehem: and it came to pass when they were come to Bethlehem, that all the city was moved about them, and ‖ they said, Is this Naomi t?

‖ That is, the women.

t Is this she that formerly lived in so much Plenty and Honour? Oh how marvellously is her condition changed, that she is returned in this forlorn and desolate condition!

20 And she said unto them, Call me not ‖ Naomi u, call me ‖ Mara x: for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me.

‖ That is pleasant. ‖ That is bitter.

u Which signifies pleasant, or chearful, or amiable. x Which signifies bitter or sorrowful.

21 I went out full y, and the LORD hath brought me home again empty: why then call ye me Naomi, seeing the LORD hath testified against me z, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?

y With my Husband and Sons, and a plentiful Estate for our support. z i.e. Hath born witness, as it were, in Judgment, and given Sentence against me, and declared my Sin by my Punishment.

22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess her daughter in law with her, which returned out of the countrey of Moab, and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

CHAP. II.

Ruth gleaning in the fields of Boaz her deceased Husband's near Kinsman, he taketh knowledge of her, 1,—7. He sheweth her great kindness, and blesseth her, 8,——16. That which she got she brings to Naomi: and telleth her what had befallen her: She giveth God thanks, and exhorteth Ruth to continue in the field, 17,——23.

AND Naomi had a kinsman of her husbands, a mighty man of wealth, of the family of Elimeleck, and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi, Let me now go to the field and glean a ears of corn after him, in whose sight I shall find grace b. And she said unto her, Go, my daughter.

a Which was permitted to the Poor, and the Stranger, Deut. 24. 19. both which she was; nor was she ashamed to confess her Poverty, nor would she eat the bread of idleness: whereby she sheweth her self to be a prudent, and diligent, and vertuous Woman, as she is called, Ruth 3. 11. b For though it was their duty to permit this, Levit. 19. 9. and 23. 22. yet either she was ignorant thereof, or thought, that being a Stranger, it might be grudged, or denied to her; or, at least, that it became her modestly and humbly to acknowledge their kindness herein.

3 And she went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her † hap was c to light on a part of the field belonging unto ‖ Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech.

† Heb. her happened. ‖ Called Mat. 1. 5. Booz.

c For it was indeed a chance in reference to Second Causes, but ordered and designed by God's Providence.

4 ¶ And behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem, and said unto the reapers, The LORD be with you: and they answered him, The LORD blesse thee d.

d They expressed and professed their Piety, even in their civil Conversation, and worldly Transactions; which now so many are ashamed of, and call it Hypocrisie or vain Ostentation thus to do.

5 Then said Boaz unto his servant that was set over the reapers, Whose damsel is this?

6 And the servant that was set over the reapers answered and said, It is the Moabitish damsel, that came back with Naomi e out of the country of Moab.

e i.e. That came with Naomi when she came back: for otherwise, as Ruth did not go from thence, so she could not properly be said to come back.

7 And she said, I pray you, let me glean f, and gather after the reapers amongst the ‖ sheaves: so she came and hath continued even from the morning until now g, that she tarried a little in the house h.

f She did not boldly intrude her self, but modestly ask leave of us. g She is not retired through idleness, for she hath been diligent and constant in her labours. h Not in Naomi's house, as many understand it, as may be gathered from v. 18, 19. but in the little House or Tent, which was set up in the Fields at these times, and was necessary in those hot Countries, where the Labourers or others might retire for a little repose or repast at fit times. Being weary with her continued labours, she comes hither to take a little rest.

8 Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Heareſt thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here fast by my maidens i.

i Not by the young Men, to avoid both occasion of sin, and matter of scandal. Herein he shews his Piety and Prudence.

9 Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after them: have I not charged the young men that they shall not touch thee k? and when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels and drink of that which the young men have drawn.

k So as to offer any incivility or injury to thee. Touching is oft taken for hurting, Gen. 26. 11. Psal. 105. 15.

10 Then she fell on her face l, and bowed her self to the ground, and said unto him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou shouldest take knowledge of me m, seeing I am a stranger?

l This was the humbleſt Posture of Reverence, either Civil when performed to men, or Religious, when to God. See Gen. 18. 2. and 33. 3. and 42. 6. Matth. 2. 11. and 8. 2. m i.e. Shew any respect and kindness to me. For words of knowledge in Scripture commonly include affection.

11 And Boaz answered and said unto her, It hath fully been shewed me, all that thou hast done unto thy mother in law, since the death of thine husband: and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not n heretofore.

n Of whom thou hadst no experience: for otherwise in general she could not be ignorant of this People.

12 The LORD recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the LORD God of Israel, under whose wings o thou art come to trust.

o i.e. Protection and Care, as Deut. 32. 11. Psal. 17. 8. and 36. 7. and 94. 3. An Allusion either to Hens, which protect and cherish their Young ones under their Wings; or to the Wings of the Cherubims, between which God dwelt.

‖ Or, I find favour. † Heb. to the heart.

13 Then she said, ‖ Let me find favour in thy sight p, my lord, for that thou hast comforted me, and for that thou hast spoken † friendly unto thine hand-maid, though I be not like unto one of thy hand-maidens q.

p I humbly implore the continuance of thy good Opinion of me, though I do not deserve it. q A Person more mean, and necessitous, and obscure, being a stranger, and one born of Heathenish Parents, and not of the Holy and Honourable People of Israel, as they are.

14 And Boaz said unto her, At meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread r, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar s. And she sate beside the reapers t: and he reached her parched corn u, and she did eat, and was sufficed, and left.

r Which in those simple and frugal times was the usual Food of Servants and the meaner Sort, at least when they were engaged in such Works as this, which required speed, and therefore must be quick in their Eating, as well as in their Work. Or, Bread may be here put for any Food, as it oft is. s Either simple Vinegar, in which the Poorer fort used to dip their Bread, and so Eat it in hot Countries, as they did not only in Canaan, but afterwards in Italy; it being very proper, especially in those Parts, for cooling them in those hot Seasons, for strengthning their Sinews, &c. or Vinegar mixed with other things to make some kind of Sauce. t Not with or among them, but at some little distance from them, and as one inferiour to them, as she had acknowledged before in Words, and now sheweth it by her Actions. u A Food in frequent use, and some esteem with them. See 2 Sam. 17. 23.

15 And when she was risen up to glean, Boaz commanded his young men, saying, Let her glean among the sheaves, and † reproach her not x.

† Heb. shame her not.

x As if she were rude or impudent in so doing, as otherwise they should have thought. Quest. Why did he not rather give her as much Corn as she could carry, and send her away? Ans. Because he would not have her to Eat the Bread of Idleness, but honestly to get it with the Sweat of her Brows, according to her Duty and present Condition.

16 And let fall also some of the handfuls, of purpose for her, and leave them, that she may glean them, and rebuke her not.

17 So she gleaned in the field until Even, and beat out that she had gleaned: and it was about an ephah y of barley.

y Which is thought to contain about a Bushel. See Exod. 16. 36. Levit. 5. 11.

18 ¶ And she took it up, and went into the city: and her mother in law saw what she had gleaned: and she brought forth, and gave to her that she had reserved, and was sufficed z.

z Or, that which she had left of her fulness, or after she was satisfied. She did Eat as much as she desired of what she had Gleaned, and her Mother, as I suppose, with her, and the residue she gave to her Mother, to lay up for future use.

19 And her mother in law said unto her, Where hast thou gleaned to day? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that did take knowledge of thee. And she shewed her mother in law with whom she had wrought, and said, The mans name with whom I wrought to day, is Boaz.

20 And Naomi said unto her daughter in law, Blessed be he of the LORD, who hath not left off his kindness to the living * and to the dead a. And Naomi said unto her, The man is near of kin unto us, ‖ one of our next kinsmen b.

* 2 Sam. 2. 5.

‖ Or, one that hath right to redeem.

a i.e. Which he formerly shewed to those who are now dead, to wit, my Husband and his Sons whilst they were living, and now continues to us, their Wives, who are now alive. b Heb. one of our Redeemers, or Avengers, to whom it belongs to Avenge our Persons, and to Redeem our Lands, and to Marry thee, the Widow and Relict of his next Kinsman, as is expressed, Ruth 3. 9. She saith, one of them, not that there were many who were immediately such, but that he was a very near Kinsman, and one to whom that Office belonged, in case of the refusal of one Person, of whom she rightly conjectured that he would refuse, as he did.

21 And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said unto me also, Thou shalt keep fast by my young men, until they have ended all my harvest c.

c Both Barley-Harvest, and Wheat-Harvest, as is said, v. 23.

22 And Naomi said unto Ruth her daughter in law, It is good, my daughter, that thou go out with his maidens, that they ‖ meet thee not in any other field d.

‖ Or, fall upon thee.

d Where thou mightst both expose thy self to many inconveniences, which thou may'st expect from Strangers; and incur his displeasure, as if thou didst either despise his proffered kindness, or doubt of the sincerity of his Affections and Offers.

23 So she kept fast by the maidens of Boaz to glean, unto the end of barley-harvest, and of wheat-harvest, and dwelt e with her mother in law.

e Heb. sat, or continued at home, when she had dispatched her occasions abroad, and did not wander or gad abroad, after the manner of idle Persons and Harlots, Prov. 7. 11, 12.

CHAP. III.

By Naomi's Advice, Ruth lieth at Boaz his feet, 1,——7. he awaking commendeth what she had done, and acknowledgeth the Right of a Kinsman. Tells her there was a nearer Kinsman, to whom he would offer her, who refusing, he would redeem her, 8, 13. Sends her away with 6 measures of Barley, 14, 18.

THEN Naomi her mother in law said unto her, My daughter, shall I not seek rest a for thee, that it may be well with thee?

a i.e. A life of Rest, and Comfort, and Safety, under the Care of a good Husband. The Question supposeth an Affirmative Answer: I will seek it, as my Duty binds me.

2 And now, is not Boaz of our kinred, with whose maidens thou wast? Behold, he winnoweth barley to night in the threshing floor b.

b Which was in a place covered at the top, but open elsewhere, whither Ruth might easily come. And this work of winnowing Corn was usually begun or ended with a Feast, as may be gathered both from v. 7. and from other Instances, wherein they used to do so upon like occasions; and this work was to begin this Evening, and, as some think, was done only in the Evenings, when the heat grew less, and the wind began to blow. See Gen. 3. 8.

3 Wash thy self therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment c upon thee, and get thee down to the floor: but make not thy self known unto the man d, until he shall have done eating and drinking.

c To wit, thy best Raiment. All this was done to render her self more Amiable in the Eyes of Boaz. Obj. But Boaz could not see her, the whole business being to be transacted by Night. Ans. First, It was begun in the beginning of the Night, as soon as Boaz had supped and composed himself to rest; as appears from v. 4, 7. when there was so much Light left as might discover her to him. Secondly, There being a Solemn Feast this Evening, as is very probably thought, and the Master of the Feast having Invited his Labouring People to it, and Ruth among the rest, it is likely that both she and the rest did put themselves into their best Dress upon that occasion, as the manner is even at this day; and so he had opportunity enough to see her. d To wit, not in so familiar a way, as she was appointed to do, so as he might know her, in the sence in which that word is sometimes used.

‖ Or, turn aside the clothes of his feet.

e To rest or sleep, as upon such occasions they used to do in those hot Countries. f Though Naomi and Ruth seem to be vertuous and modest Women, and their intent was Lawful and Honest; yet there seems to be a manifold irregularity in the manner of it. First, It seems to be against that Modesty, which should be eminent in that Sex, and in unmarried Persons. Secondly, Against Honesty, both because it was an injury to another Person, who was nearer akin, whose right this was; which Naomi could not be Ignorant of: and because it was a Preposterous and Precipitant Method, not agreeable either to the Rules of Scripture, or the Usage of well-mannered Nations, or that Decency which even Nature requries. Thirdly, Against Prudence; for it might have proved the occasion, as of many Sins, so of great shame to all of them; and a means to Alienate his Affection from her, which she sought to engage. And though there be some Circumstances which Alleviate the Fact, as the Experience which Naomi had of the Wisdom and Sobriety both of Boaz and of Ruth, yet she knew not what the event would be; and that there was something of shamefulness in the thing, may be gathered both from Naomite's choice of the Night for it, as if it were a work of Darkness; and from Boaz his fear least this should be known, v. 14. And it is an aggravation of it, that this Course was unnecessary, and she had a plain and likely way, which was directly to Address her self to Boaz, or the next Kinsman, and to require the Duty which by God's Law he was bound to perform, and this before Witnesses, as Boaz did. And her Clandestine proceeding seems to have arisen from a distrust of God's Providence, to bring about what she desired in the ordinary way. g Remove the Clothes which were upon his Feet; thereby to awaken him. h How thou shouldst carry thy self, or what course thou shalt take to obtain that Marriage which belongs unto thee. Only there were some Rites to be observed, and Circumstances to be done, before they came to the conclusion of the Marriage, about which Boaz would instruct her.

5 And she said unto her, All that thou saist unto me, I will do i.

i The Confidence she had in Naomi's Wisdom and Piety, and true Love to her, made her ready to follow her Advice, wherein she was the more excusable, because she did not understand the Laws and Customs of the Country, as Naomi did.

6 ¶ And she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother in law bade her.

7 And

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drunk k, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn: and she came softly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.

k To wit, liberally, as the manner was upon those occasions. See Judg. 9. 27. Psal. 4. 7. Isa. 9. 3.

‖ Or, took feet on.

8 ¶ And it came to pass at midnight l, that the man was afraid, and ‖ turned himself m, and behold, a woman lay at his feet n.

l He did not discover her sooner, though she did uncover his Feet, being it seems in a deep sleep, as is usual after Feasts, and she doing no more than her Mother commanded her, and using no words or gestures which might provoke his Lust: wherein she shewed her Temperance and Modesty, and that what she did was only by her Mothers Instigation and Advice, which plainly appeared from her desire expressed, v. 9. which he knew, she being a Stranger, was unacquainted with. And this was the reason why Boaz was not in the least offended with her, but only commends her Vertue, without any reflection upon her for this Fact. m From the place where he lay, he raised and turned himself towards the Feet, to learn who or what was there. Or, he was troubled, or afraid, or wondred. For the Hebrew word being but once used, is diversly rendred. n Which he might understand, either by some glimmering of Light which were after midnight, which discovered her; or rather, by her Voice, or out of her own Mouth, who being asked, told him so much in general, before he made particular enquiry.

‖ Or, one that hath right to redeem.

9 And he said, Who art thou? And she answered, I am Ruth thine hand-maid: spread therefore thy skirt over thine hand-maid o, for thou art ‖ a near kinsman.

o i.e. Take me to be thy Wife, and perform the Duty of an Husband to me. This Phrase is used in this sence, Deut. 22. 30. and 27. 20. Ezek. 16. 8. Either, First, Because the Wife is admitted into the same Bed with her Husband, and both are covered with one and the same Covering. Or, Secondly, From an ancient Ceremony of the Husbands throwing the Skirt of his Garment over her Head, in token both of her subjection, 1 Cor. 11. 5, 6, 10. and appropriation to him, being hereby as it were hid from the Eyes of others: See Gen. 20. 16. and also of that Protection which he oweth to her; see Ruth 2. 12.

10 And he said, Blessed be thou of the LORD, my daughter: for thou hast shewed more kindness p in the latter end, than at the beginning, in as much as thou followedst not young men q, whether poor, or rich.

p Both to thy deceased Husband, the continuance of whose Name and Memory thou preferrest before the satisfaction of thy own Lust; and to thy Mother-in-law, whose Commands thou hast punctually obeyed, even with thy own hazard in so doubtful an Enterprize. q To seek thy Marriage either here, or in thy own Country, as thou wouldst have done if thou hadst not preferred Obedience to God's Command, before the pleasing of thy self.

† Heb. eat.

11 And now my daughter, fear not r, I will do to thee all that thou requirest s: for all the † city of my people doth know, that thou art a vertuous woman.

r Think not that I Despise and Reject thee, because I do not immediately comply with thy Desire. s i.e. Marry thee, upon the Condition here following.

12 And now it is true, that I am thy near kinsman: howbeit, there is a kinsman nearer than I.

13 Tarry this night, and it shall be in the morning, that if he will perform unto thee the part of a kinsman t, well, let him do the kinsmans part: but if he will not do the part of a kinsman to thee, then will I do the part of a kinsman to thee, as the LORD liveth: lie down until the morning.

t i.e. Take thee to Wife, to raise up Seed to his Brother, as he ought to do.

14 ¶ And she lay at his feet until the morning: and she rose up before one could know another u. And he said, Let it not be known that a woman came into the floor x.

u i.e. While it was yet so dark that one Person could not discern another. Or, before one did know the other; i.e. before they were exactly known to one another. x He takes care to preserve not only his Conscience towards God, but his Reputation, and hers also, among Men.

‖ Or, sheet, or, apron.

15 Also he said, Bring the ‖ veil y that thou hast upon thee, and hold it. And when she held it, he measured six measures z of barley, and laid it on her: and she went into the city.

y Or, the apron, such as Women ordinarily wear. z Known and usual Measure: It is not determined how large those Measures were, but this the Nature of the thing shews, that they were no larger than one Woman could carry in her Veil, or Apron.

16 And when she came to her mother in law, she said, Who art thou, my daughter ∴? and she told her all that the man had done to her.

∴ Either, First, She did not distinctly know who she was, because it was dark, and to calls her Daughter only in general, as elder Women call the younger. But she could as easily have discerned who she was, as what her Age was. Or, Secondly, This is not a Question of doubting, but of wonder, as if she had said, Art thou in very deed my Daughter? I can hardly believe it. How comest thou hither in this manner, and thus early?

17 And she said, These six measures of barley gave he me, for he said to me, Go not empty to thy mother in law.

18 Then said she, Sit still my daughter until thou know how the matter will fall: for the man will not be in rest, until he have finished the thing this day.

CHAP. IV.

Boaz goeth up to the gate, calleth his kinsman: enquires whether he would redeem and marry Ruth, 1,——5. He refuseth, 6,——8. Boaz, the people witnessing and congratulating, buyeth the inheritance and marrieth Ruth, 9,——12. She beareth Obed the grand-father of David, 13,——17. The Genealogie from Pharez unto David, 18,——22.

THEN went Boaz up to the gate a, and sate him down there: and behold, the kinsman of whom Boaz spake, came by, unto whom he said, Ho, such an one b, turn aside, sit down here c. And he turned aside, and sate down.

a The place where Controversies were decided, and the People assembled, and where they used to go out, and come in to the Town; where he was most likely to find his Kinsman. b Doubtless Boaz both knew his Name, and called him by it, but it is omitted by the holy Writer; partly because it was unnecessary to know it: and principally in way of contempt, as is usual, and as a just punishment upon him, that he who would not preserve his Brother's Name, might lose his own, and lie buried in the Grave of perpetual Oblivion. c I have some Business of Importance with you.

2 And he took ten men d, of the elders of the city, and said, Sit ye down here. And they sate down.

d To be Umpires or Witnesses between them: for though two or three Witnesses were sufficient, yet in weighties Matters they used more. And ten was the usual Number among the Jews, in Causes of Matrimony and Divorce, and translation of Inheritances; who were both Judges of the Causes, and Witnesses of the Fact. See 1 King. 21. 8.

3 And he said unto the kinsman, Naomi e, that is come again out of the country of Moab, selleth a parcel of land f, which was our brother Elimelechs.

e Both Naomi and Ruth had an Interest in this Land during their Lives, but he mentions only Naomi, partly because all was done by her direction, to which Ruth wholly submitted her self; and partly left the mention of Ruth should raise a suspicion of the necessity of his marrying Ruth, before he had given his Answer to the first Proposition. f Which she might do because of her Poverty, Levit. 25. 25.

† Heb. I will it uncover thine ear. Reveal in thine ear.

4 And † I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people g. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it, but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it besides thee, and I am after thee. And he said, I will redeem it.

said, I will uncover

g Before this Assembly, that it may be Legally, and Firmly made over to thee.

5 Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must buy it also of Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of the dead h, to raise up the name of the dead i upon his inheritance.

h According to the Law, Deut. 25. 5, &c. Matth 22. 24, &c. i To revive his Name, which was lost and buried with his Body, by raising up a Seed to him, to be called by his Name.

6 ¶ And the kinsman said, I cannot redeem it for my self, lest I mar mine own inheritance k: redeem thou my right l to thy self, for I cannot redeem it.

k Either, First, Because having no Children of his own, he might have one, and but one Son by Ruth, who, though he should carry away his Inheritance, yet should not bear his Name, but the Name of Ruth's Husband; and so by preferring another Man's Name, he should lose his own. Or, Secondly, Because as his Inheritance would be but very little increased by this Marriage, so it might be much diminished by being divided amongst his many Children, which he possibly had already, and might probably have more by Ruth. l Which I freely renounce and resign to thee.

* Deut. 25. 7, 9.

7 * Now this was the manner in former time in Israel, concerning redeeming, and concerning changing, for to confirm all things m: a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour n: and this was a testimony in Israel o.

m i.e. In all Alienation of Lands. So that it is no wonder if this Ceremony differ a little from that Deut. 25. 9. because that concerned only one Case, but this is more general. Besides, he pleads not the Command of God, but only ancient Custom, for this Practice. n He who relinquished his Right to another, plucked off his own Shoe and gave it to him. This was Symbolical, and a significant and convenient vchient Ceremony, as if he said, Take this Shoe wherewith I used to go and tread upon my Land, and in that Shoe do thou enter upon it, and take possession of it. o This was admitted for sufficient Evidence in all such Cases.

8 Therefore the kinsman said unto Boaz, Buy it for thee: so he drew off his shoe.

9 ¶ And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelechs, and all that was Chilions, and Mahlons, of the hand of Naomi.

10 Moreover, Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of Mahlon have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place p: ye are witnesses this day.

p i.e. From among the Inhabitants dwelling within the Gate of this City, which was Bethlehem-Judah.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders said, We are witnesses: The LORD make the woman that is come into thine house, like Rachel, and like Leah q, which two did build the house r of Israel: and ‖ do thou worthily in Ephratah s, and † be famous in Bethlehem s.

‖ Or, get thee riches, or, power. † Heb. proclaim thy name.

q Amiable and Fruitful. Those two are singled out; partly because they were of a Forein and Heathenish Original, and yet ingrafted into God's People, as Ruth also was: and partly, because of that singular Fertility which God vouchsafed unto them above their Predecessors, Sarah and Rebecca. Rachel is placed before Leah, because she was his most lawful, and only intended, and chosen, and best-beloved Wife. r i.e. Increase the Posterity. See Gen. 16. 2. Exod. 1. 21. s Two Names of one and the same Place; of which see on Ruth 1. 2.

12 And let thy house be like the house of Pharez t, (* whom Tamar bare unto Judah) of the seed which the LORD shall give thee of this young woman.

* Gen. 38. 29. 1 Chron. 2. 4. Matth. 1. 3.

t As honourable and numerous as his Family was; whom, though he also was born of a Stranger, God so far blessed, that his Family was one of the five Families to which all the Tribe of Judah belonged, and the Progenitor of the Inhabitants of this City.

13 ¶ So Boaz took Ruth u, and she was his wife: and when he went in unto her x, the LORD gave her conception y, and in due time she bare a son.

u Which he might do, though she was a Moabite, because the Prohibition against marrying such, is to be restrained to those who continue in the Heathenish estate, as is evident from the reason of it: Whereas Ruth was a sincere Proselite and Convert to the God and Faith of Israel. x i.e. Had Conjugal Converse with her. See Gen. 6. 4. y i.e. Strength to conceive and retain Seed.

14 And the woman said unto Naomi, Blessed be the LORD, which hath not † left thee this day without a ‖ kinsman z, that his name may be famous in Israel a.

† Heb. caused to cease unto thee. ‖ Or, redeemer.

z Which is understood, Either, First, Of the Son new born. Or, rather, Secondly, Of Boaz: For the Name of Goel, which is translated Kinsman or Redeemer, is never, that I know of, given to the Child born, but always to the Person begetting him of his Brother's or near Kinsman's Wife. And whereas it is objected, That there was no Cause for this Congratulation at this time in reference to Boaz, because that was done divers Months before this time: It may be replied, That the Memory of that generous Action was revived upon this occasion, and therefore is fitly mentioned as the Foundation of this Child's birth: and this happy Effect justly leads them to the Cause and Original of it, which was this, That Boaz had shewed himself to be a Kinsman or Redeemer, not only in Name and Title, as the other Kinsman was, v. 6. but in Truth and Reality. The words may be rendred, Which hath not made, or suffered thy Kinsman to fail to thee; i.e. To neglect or refuse the performance of his Duty to thee and thine, as the other Kinsman did. a Heb. and his Name shall be famous in Israel, for this Noble and Worthy Action, wherein he gave so great an Example of Piety, Charity, Humility, and Self-denial.

15 And he shall be unto thee a restorer of thy life b, and † a nourisher of † thine old age: for thy daughter in law which loveth thee, which * is better to thee than seven sons, hath born him c.

† Heb. to nourish. † Heb. thy grayhairs. * 1 Sam. 1. 8.

b i.e. Of the comfort of thy Life, which was in a great measure dead and gone. c To wit, a Son: the Pronoun for the Noun, understood, which is frequent in the Hebrew Tongue. Or, Hath born to him; i.e. to thy Kinsman, to wit, a Son, which is easily understood: and so the Pronoun affix is put for the separate; of which there are Instances; as Jos. 15. 19. 1 King. 19. 21. Job 31. 37. Ezek. 29. 3.

16 And Naomi took the child, and laid it in her bosom, and became nurse unto it.

17 And the women her neighbours gave it a name d, saying, There is a son born to Naomi, and they called his name Obed e: he is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

d i.e. They gave her Advice about the Name; for otherwise they had no Power or right to do so. e A servant, to wit, to thee, to nourish, and comfort, and assist thee; which Duty Children owe to their Progenitors.

18 ¶ Now these are the generations of Pharez: * Pharez begat Hezron.

* 1 Chron. 2. 4. Matth. 1. 3.

19 And Hezron begat Ram, and Ram begat Amminadab, 20 And Amminadab begat Nahshon, and Nahshon begat ‖ Salmon,

‖ Or, Salmah.

21 And Salmon begat Boaz, and Boaz begat Obed,

22 And Obed begat Jesse, and Jesse begat David f.

f How can this be a true Genealogy, seeing by this means four Persons take up three hundred and eighty Years, which were between Salmon and David, and consequently every one of them must beget a Son when he was very old? Answ. 1. It is not certain, that each of these was the immediate Parent of him whom he is said to beget: for sometimes Grand-Fathers are said in Scripture to beget their Grand-Children, to wit, by the Intervention of their immediate Sons; whereof Instances have been given. And sometimes in Genealogies whole Generations are omitted, as may appear by Ezra 7. 2. compared with 1 Chron. 6. 3. and by Matth. 1. 8. which might be done here for divers reasons now unknown. 2. There are many Examples even in prophane Writers, both Ancient and Modern, of Persons that have not only lived 120, and 130 years and upwards, but have been vigorous, and have begotten Children at above 100 years old; and of Women that have conceived and born Children at the Age of 50, 60, yea, 70 years. And therefore if it were so in these more ancient Times, when Men were longer-lived, and under the Law, when long Life was expresly promised to the Obedient, and in Persons of strong Constitutions, and sober Conversations, such as some of these are known to have been, and the others may justly be presumed to be such, it is not strange, nor in the least incredible.

I. SAMUEL.

The ARGUMENT.

IT is not certainly known who was the Pen-man of this Book, or whether is was Written by one or more Hands; nor is it of any great Importance: For since there are sufficient Evidences that God was the chief Author of it, it matters not who was the Instrument. As when it appears that such a thing was really an Act of Parliament, or of the Council-Table, it is not considerable who was the Clerk, or which was the Pen that Wrote it. And this is the less material in such Historical Books, wherein there is but little which concerns the Foundation of Faith and Good Life, and therefore it was not necessary to Name the Writer of them. It may abundantly suffice, that there were in these Times divers Prophets and Holy Men of God; as Samuel, and Nathan, and Gad, and David himself, who might each of them Write some part of this and the following Book. But if any Man will out of perverseness doubt or deny that these Wrote it, yet this I suppose no discreet and impartial Man will deny, that it is wholly Incredible that such Books should be Written in their Times, and recommended to the Church as a Part of the Holy Scriptures, and so received by the succeeding Generation, without their Approbation, who had so great a Power and Authority in the Church and Commonwealth of Israel.

CHAP. I.

Elkanah goeth yearly up to the feast at Shiloh with his two wives: Hannah is barren; Peninnah upbraideth her, 1,—6. Hannah prayeth fervently to the Lord for a son: promising to separate him a Nazarite unto God, 7,—12. Eli thinking her drunk rebuketh her: upon her answer, blesseth her, 13,—18. She returneth home with Elkanah, and conceiveth; beareth Samuel: offereth her sacrifice: performs her promise concerning him, 19,—21.

NOW there was a certain man of Ramathaim Zophim a, of mount Ephraim, and his name was * Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephrathite b:

* 1 Chron. 6. 27, 34

a Called Ramah, v. 19. and here is the Dual Number Ramathaim; i.e. double Ramah, probably because it consisted of two parts, whereof the one might be called the Old City, the other the New, both being being united into one; and the additional Title of Zophim, which signifies Watch-Towers, or Watch-Men, may note either the height of its situation, which made it fit for that use; or, that the Prophets, who are called Watch-Men, as Ezek. 3. 17. had a School or College there. b i.e. One of Bethlehem-Judah, Ruth. 1. 2. to wit, by his Birth and Habitation, though by his Original a Levite. Thus divers Jews by Nation are called Medes, Elamites, Cretians, &c. Act. 2. 9, 10, 11. because they were born and bred there.

2 And he had two wives c, the name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

c As divers other good Men had in those Ages. And it is probable that he took a second Wife, to wit, Peninnah, because Hannah, who being first named seems to have been his first Wife, was barren.

3 And this man went up out of his city * † yearly d, to worship, and to sacrifice e unto the LORD of hosts in Shiloh f, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni, and Phinehas, the priests of the LORD, were there g.

* Deut. 16. 6. † Heb. from days to days, Lev. 25. 29.

d To wit, at one of the solemn Feasts, which probably was the Passover, when he not only went up himself, but carried his Wife and Children with him. Compare v. 7. Or, at the appointed days or times: Heb. from days to days; or, from time to time; i.e. at the three solemn Feasts, when he, together with all other Males were obliged to go to worship God in the Place appointed; and at other times, when he as a Levite, was to go thither in his course. e Not in his own Person, which the Levites could not do, but by the Priests; in which sence David, and Solomon, and Absalom are said to offer sacrifices, 2 Sam. 15. 8. 1 King 8. 63. 1 Chron. 21. 26. f Where the Tabernacle had long been, and now was. See Jos. 18. 1. Judg. 18. 31. and 21. 19. g Or, were the Priests of the Lord there, to wit, under their Father Eli, who is generally conceived to have been the High-Priest, but being very old and infirm, 1 Sam. 4. 15. and unfit for service, his Sons ministred in his stead, being as it were second Priests. See 2 King. 25. 18. And this Clause seems to be added, to shew that this good Man did not run into that vulgar Error, of neglecting his Duty of Offering to God for the wickedness of the Priests: Of which see Chap. 2. 17, 24.

4 ¶ And when the time was that Elkanah offered, he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and daughters, portions h.

h To wit, out of the Sacrifice of his Peace-Offerings, the greatest part whereof fell to the Offerer, and was eaten by him, and his Friends or Guests, before the Lord, Levit. 3. and 7. Deut. 12. 12. and 16. 11. and out of this he gave them all Parts or Portions, as the Master of the Feast used to do to Guests.

5 But unto Hannah he gave ‖ a worthy portion i: (for he loved Hannah k, but the LORD had shut up her womb.

‖ Or, a double portion.

i Or, an honourable or select Part, such as the Master of the Feast usually gave to the Person most respected or beloved. See Gen. 43. 34. 1 Sam. 9. 23, 24. k With a singular and eminent Love. Compare Gen. 29. 30.

6 And her adversary l also † provoked her sore, for to make her fret m, because the LORD had shut up her womb.)

† Heb. angred her.

l Or, her Troubler, or Vexer, or Enemy; for so her Envy or Jealousy made her, though so nearly related. Compare Gen. 29. 30. Levit. 18. 18. m Against her Husband, or against God, or within her self.

7 And as he did so n year by year o, ‖ when she went up to the house of the LORD p, so she provoked her: therefore she wept, and did not eat q.

† Or, from the time that she, &c. Heb. from her going up.

n i.e. Either as oft as he went and carried them with him to worship: or, as Elkanah expressed peculiar kindness to Hannah, as was said, v. 5. o i.e. Every year, at the days or times mentioned, v. 3. p This Circumstance is noted, First, As the occasion of the Contention, because at such times they were forced to more Society with one another, by the Way, and in their Lodgings; whereas at Home they had distinct Appartments, where they might be asunder; and then her Husband's extraordinary Love and Kindness was shewed to Hannah, whereby Peninnah was the more exasperated; then also Hannah prayed earnestly for a Child, which hitherto she had done in vain; and this possibly she reproached her with. Secondly, As the aggravation of her Sin, that when she came to worship God, and to offer Sacrifices, when she should have been reconciled even to her Enemies, Matth. 5. 23, 24. she did quarrel with so near a Relation. q Either little, or rather nothing at all, as being overwhelmed with Grief, and therefore unfit to eat of that Sacred Food, according to Deut. 12. 7.

8 Then said Elkanah her husband to her, Hannah, why weepest thou? and why eatest thou not? and why is thy heart grieved? am not I * better to thee than ten sons r?

* Ruth. 4. 15.

r Oughtest thou not to value my hearty Love to thee, more than the having of as many Sons as Peninnah hath? She would willingly change Conditions with thee.

9 ¶ So Hannah rose up after they s had eaten in Shiloh, and after they had drunk: (now Eli the priest sat upon a seat t by a post of the temple u of the LORD.)

s I.e. Elkanah and his Company, except Hannah. Or, She: for though at first she eat nothing, yet upon her Husband's Invitation and Encouragement, she might eat afterwards: though the former may seem more probable. t Or, Throne; for it is manifest it was raised higher than ordinary, chap. 4. 18. Here he might sit, either as the Judge; or rather as High-Priest, to hear and answer such as came to him for Advice, and to inspect and direct the worship of God, as need was. u i.e. Of the Tabernacle, which is called the Temple here, and chap. 3. 3. and 2 Sam. 22. 7. Psal. 27. 6. as on the contrary, the Temple is called the Tabernacle, Jer. 10. 20. Lament. 2. 6. And although this Tabernacle was but a Tent, yet it was supported by Boards and Posts, and especially at the Entrance, by which Eli sate, even by the Entrance into the outward Court, otherwise he could not have seen Hannah. See more on chap. 3. 15.

10 And she was † in bitterness x of soul, and prayed unto the LORD, and wept sore.

† Heb. bitter of soul.

x i.e. Oppressed with Grief, as that Phrase is used, Job 7. 11. and 10. 1. Ruth 1. 20.

11 And she vowed a vow y, and said, O LORD of hosts, if thou wilt indeed look on z the affliction a of thine hand-maid, and remember me, and not forget thine hand-maid, but wilt give unto thine hand-maid † a man-child, then I will give him unto the LORD † all the days of his life c, and * there shall no rasor come upon his head d.

Num. 21. 2. † Heb. seed of men. * Numb. 6. 5. Judg. 13. 5.

y Knowing that her Husband would willingly consent to it, otherwise she had not power to do it. z To wit, favourably, so as to remove it. a i.e. The Barrenness and Reproach which attends it. b i.e. Consecrate him to God's Service in his Temple, as far as in me lies: for if he had any blemish, he might not do it. c Not only from his 25*th.* to his 50*th* Year, as all the Levites, and so he himself, were obliged by God, Numb. 4. 2. and 8. 24. but for his whole time. Which is still to be understood with a reservation of God's Right, which her Vow must give place to, as indeed it did; for God called him to be a Prophet, and a General of the Army, and a Judge. d i.e. He shall be a perpetual Nazarite: for under this one Rule, as the Chief, all the rest are contained; as elsewhere the whole Mosaical Law is understood, under the Title of Circumcision.

12 And it came to pass, as she † continued praying e before the LORD, that Eli marked her mouth f.

† Heb. multiplied to pray.

e Heb. multiplied to pray. By which it appears that she said much more than is here expressed. And the like you are to judge of the Prayers and Sermons of other holy Persons Recorded in Scripture, which gives us only the summ and substance of them. Which Confideration may help us much in the understanding of some Passages of the Bible. f i.e. The motion of her Lips, as it follows.

13 Now Hannah, she spake in her heart, only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard g: therefore Eli † thought she had been drunken h.

† Heb. accounted her

g Partly, to avoid the suspicion of vain-glory: partly, because she would not have others acquainted with her Barrenness, which was matter of reproach: and partly, because she would not disturb others, who at this solemn Feast were probably imployed there in the same work. h Because of the multitude of her words, and those uncouth Gestures and Motions of her Face and Body, which the vehemency of her Passion, and her fervency in Prayer, caused in her, as it doth frequently in others; and because she was but newly come from a Feast, wherein the manner was to eat and drink liberally, (though not to excess) which he knew very well, both from the general Custom of that Season, and from the time of the day.

for drunken.

14 And Eli said unto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? put away thy wine from thee i.

i Come not before the Lord in thy drunkenness, but go and sleep it out, and repent of this thy Sin.

15 And Hannah answered and said, No, my lord, I am a woman k † of a sorrowful spirit l: I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink m, but have poured out my soul n before the LORD.

† Heb. hard of spirit.

k In whom Drunkenness is most abominable; so that the Romans punished it with death. Therefore judge me not so severely. l And therefore not likely to give up my self to Drink and Jollity, and far from that merry Temper which Drunkards have: I am drunk with Affliction, not with Wine, as is said Isa. 51. 21. m To wit, this day: See above, v. 7, 8. n Have been breathing forth the Griefs, and Perplexities, and Desires of my Soul. The like Phrase is Job 30. 16. Psal. 62. 8. and 142. 2.

16 Count not thine hand-maid for a daughter of Belial o: for out of the abundance of my ‖ complaint and grief, have I spoken hitherto p.

‖ Or, meditation.

o For such a wicked Monster, as a drunken Woman is. p The oppression of my spirits hath forced me to speak, and that so liberally at this time, for the ease of my sinking Heart.

17 Then Eli answered and said, Go in peace q: and the God of Israel grant r thee thy petition that thou hast asked of him.

q I recal my Censure, and give thee my Blessing, and wish thee Peace; i.e. a quiet and composed Mind, free from whatsoever it is that grieves and oppresses thee; and withal, good Success and Prosperity in what thou desirest; for Peace is a very comprehensive word among the Hebrews. r Or, will grant: for it may be either a Prayer, or a Prediction, which he might deliver, either from the consideration of God's known goodness and readiness to hear Prayers: or he might be directed to say so by a special instinct of God's God's Spirit, which sometimes was given to the High-Priests, even when they were wicked Men, as John 11. 51. and much more when they were holy Men, as Eli was. And some add, that he was a Prophet.

18 And she said, Let thine hand-maid find grace in thy sight s. So the woman went her way, and did eat, and her ‖ countenance was no more sad t.

‖ Or, heaviness was no more. See Job 9. 27. Hebr.

s That favourable Opinion, and good Will, and gracious Prayer, which thou hast expressed on my behalf, be pleased to continue towards me. t Her heart being cheared by the Priest's comfortable words, and especially by God's Spirit setting them home upon her, and assuring her that both his and her Prayers should be heard, it quickly appeared in her Countenance. Heb. her indignation, or vexation (as the word Face is sometimes understood, as Gen. 32. 20. Psal. 21. 9. and 34. 16.) was no more; i.e. it vanished away.

19 ¶ And they rose up in the morning early u, and worshipped before the LORD, and returned, and came to their house to Ramah: and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and the LORD remembred her x.

u Partly for their Journey, and partly for Prayer, as it follows, for which this was a very fit and usual time, Psal. 5. 3. 119. 147. x i.e. Manifested his remembrance of her by the effect.

† Heb. in the revolution of days. ‖ That is, asked of God.

20 Wherefore it came to pass † when the time was come about, after Hannah had conceived, that she bare a son x, and called y his name ‖ Samuel, saying, Because I have asked him of the LORD.

x So the sence is, When the usual time from the Conception to the Birth was past, she brought forth her Son. Heb. In or after the Revolution, or Expiration of some Days, Hannah conceived, and in due time bare a Son. So the meaning is, That although her Husband knew her Coniugally at his return, and God was mindful of her, and intended in his time to give her his Blessing, yet she did not Conceive at first, but after some days, or time afterwards. y i.e. She called, not doubting of her Husbands consent to the Name. The Names of Children were given to them, sometimes by the Fathers, and sometimes by the Mothers. See Gen. 4. 1, 26. and 5. 29. and 21. 3. and 19. 37, 38, &c.

21 And the man Elkanah, and all his house z, went up to offer unto the LORD the yearly sacrifice a, and his vow b.

z i.e. His Wife Peninnah, and his Children, which are oft-times called a Mans House in Scripture, Hannah only and her Child excepted, as it here follows. a That solemn Sacrifice which was offered up once every Year; probably the Paschal Lamb, which is oft called a Sacrifice, as Exod. 12. 27. and 34. 25. b By which it appears, though it was not expressed before, that he had consented to her Vow, which was necessary to make it Obligatory, Numb. 30. and that he added a Vow of his own, of some singular Sacrifice to be offered, if God answered his Prayers.

22 But Hannah went not up c, for she said unto her husband, I will not go up until the child be weaned d, and then I will bring him, that he may appear before the LORD, and there abide for ever e.

c To wit, at that sacred Anniversary-Feast, to which she went up before, but now did not, because she could not with satisfaction to her Mind and Conscience appear before the Lord Empty, or without paying her Vow; nor bring her Child thither to God, and then carry him away from God to her own House. Nor did she sin by not going up; for the Women were not obliged to go up at the solemn Feasts, but the Men only, Exod. 23. 17. d Not only from the Breast and the Milk, which was done within two or three Years at most, but also from the Mothers Knee and Care, and from Childish Food; till the Child be something grown up, and fit to do some Service in the Tabernacle: for it seems, that as soon as he was brought up, he worshipped God, v. 28. and presently after ministred to Eli, 1 Sam. 2. 11. And this may further appear from the very Nature of the Vow, which must needs design a Service and an Advantage to the Tabernacle, and not a Burden and Encumbrance, as it would have been if a young Child had been brought up to it, and left upon it. e That when once he is presented to the Lord, he may continue in his Service as long as he liveth, as is said v. 28.

23 And Elkanah her husband said unto her, Do what seemeth thee good; tarry until thou have weaned him, only the LORD establish his word f: so the woman abode, and gave her son suck until she had weaned him.

f Either, First, The word of God made known to them by Eli, above, v. 17. which being delivered by God's High-Priest, and that in answer to his and his Wives Prayers, he took to be a kind of Oracle sent from God. But that word was already fulfilled in the Birth of a Son. Or, Secondly, some other Word or Message from God to Elkanah or his Wife concerning Samuel; for such Revelations were frequent in those Ages of the Church, and were oft vouchsafed by God, concerning such Children as were extraordinary Persons, or in a special manner devoted to God; as concerning Isaac, Gen. 18. and Samson, Judg. 13. 3, 4. and John Baptist, Luke 1. 13, 14, &c. and others. And so it might be here, though it were not mentioned before, there being many such things in Scripture omitted in their proper places, which afterwards are expressed or implied upon other occasions. Or rather, Thirdly, It may be rendered, his matter or thing; i.e. the Business concerning the Child, that which thou hast Promised or Vowed concerning him, that he may grow up, and be accepted and employed by God in his Service; and that he, when he is fully grown, may not break thy Vow, but confirm it.

24 ¶ And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, with three bullocks g, and one ephah of flour h, and a bottle of wine i, and brought him unto the house of the LORD in Shiloh: and the child was young.

g Either, First, One to be offered at that time: the other two presented to the Priest, whether for his own use, or to be offered afterwards, as he saw fit. Or, Secondly, One for a Burnt-offering, the Second for a Sin-offering, the Third for a Peace-offering; of which they might all Feast together; for all these sorts seem expedient for this work and time. h For the Meat-offerings belonging to the principal Sacrifices, which to each Bullock were three tenth-deals, or three tenth parts of an Ephah, as appears from Numb. 15. 9. and 28. 12. and so nine Homers, or nine parts of the Ephah were spent, and the tenth part was either a reparate Meat-offering, or given to the Priest. i For Drink-offerings, according to the manner.

25 And they slew a bullock k, and brought the child to Eli.

k Either, First, One of the three at the present, reserving the rest for the future. Or, Secondly, The three Bullocks mentioned v. 22. to which the Article here added, in the Hebrew, seems manifestly to relate; there being no one Bullock there, singled out, to which it can belong. And so it is only an Enallage of the Singular Number for the Plural, which is frequent.

26 And she said, O my lord l, as thy soul liveth m, my lord, I am the woman that stood by thee here, praying unto the LORD.

l A Form of Speech to engage favourable Attention. m The usual Form of an Oath, as Gen. 42. 15. 1 Sam. 17. 55. and 20. 3. As surely as thou livest. Which Asseverations seem necessary, because this was some Years after it, and was quite forgotten by him.

27 For this child I prayed, and the LORD hath given me my petition, which I asked of him:

28 Therefore also I have ‖ lent him to the LORD n as long as he liveth, ‖ he shall be lent o to the LORD. And he p worshipped the LORD there.

‖ Or, turned to whom I have already petition, ‖ Or, he shall be lent

n Or, given him, &c. i.e. do now give or offer him: for she did not lend him for a time, with a purpose or right to require him again. o The LORD made my self to ask him (an usual Hebraism for the Lord; i.e. I whom I prayed for this Child, not only for my self, and to take away my Reproach, but especially that I might have a Child to serve and devote to the Lord. And so the following words, as long as he liveth, are not to be joyned with this foregoing Clause, but with those which come next after them; and that whole Clause may be thus rendred, as a consequent upon the former: And, or therefore all the days in which he is, or shall be, he is or shall be lent or given to the Lord; or, as one begged for the Lord, and for his Service, and therefore justly given to him. o Or, rendred, or used as one given in my Prayer; for this was the condition of my Prayer, that he should be the Lords. p Not Eli, who is not mentioned, but v. 25. and then only passively, not as speaking or doing any thing; nor Elkanah, of whom here is no mention: but young Samuel, who is the subject spoken of in this and the foregoing Verse, and who was capable of worshipping God in some sort, at least with External Adoration; of which see on v. 22. And so the Particle there is Emphatical, signifying that hereby he entred himself into the worship and service of God in that place, to which he was devoted by his Parents, and now did devote himself. lent to the LORD, tarrieth petition, shall be lent to the LORD, lent

CHAP. II.

Hannah's song, 1,—10. Samuel ministers before the Lord, 11. Eli's sons are wicked, 12,—17. Hannah beareth more children, 20, 21. Eli reproves his sons but mildly, 22,—25. God by a prophet foreteleth the destruction of Eli's house, 27,—36.

AND Hannah prayed a, and said, * My heart rejoiceth b in the LORD c: mine horn is exalted d in the LORD: my mouth is enlarged e over mine enemies f, because I rejoice in thy salvation g.

* See 1 Sam. 1. 45, &c.

a i.e. Praised God; which is a part of Prayer, Col. 4. 2. 1 Tim. 2. 1. so it is a Synecdochical Expression. b Or, leapeth for joy: for the words note not only inward Joy, but also the outward Demonstrations of it. c As the Author and the Master of my Joy, that he hath heard my Prayer, and accepted my Son for his Service. d My strength and glory (which are oft signified by an Horn, as Psal. 89. 17, 24. and 92. 10.) are advanced and manifested to my Vindication, and the Confusion of mine Enemies. e i.e. Opened wide to pour forth abundant Praises to God, and to give a full Answer to all the Reproaches of mine Adversaries; whereas, before it was shut through Grief and Confusion. f i.e. More than theirs, or so as to get the Victory over them, as the faith afterwards. Here she manifests her great Prudence, and Piety, and Modesty, that she doth not name Peninnah, but only her Enemies in the general. g Because the matter of my Joy is no trivial or worldly thing, but that strange and glorious Salvation or Deliverance which thou hast given me from my own oppressing Care and Grief, and from the Insolencies and Reproaches of mine Enemies, in giving me a Son, and such a Son as this, who shall be serviceable to God, and to his People, in helping them against their Enemies, which she presaged, as may be guessed from v. 10.

Deut. 32. 4. Psal. 86. 5. & 145. 9.

2 * There is none holy as the LORD b: for there is none beside thee i: neither is there any rock like our God k.

b None so perfectly, unchangeably and constantly Holy, as God hath shewed himself to be in this Act of Grace to me, whereby he hath both checked the proud and mighty, and pleaded the Cause of his afflicted Servant that trusted in him, and also fulfilled his Promise in giving me a Son, whom he hath sanctified by his Grace to his Service; all which are the proper Effects of God's Holiness. i Not only none is so Holy as thou art, but in truth there is none Holy (which word is easily understood out of the former Clause) besides thee; to wit, intirely, or independently, but only by participation from thee. Or, as none have any Holiness like thine, so none have any Being besides thee, unless by derivation from thee. k Thou only art a sure Defence and Refuge to all that flee to thee, and trust in thee, as I have found by my Experience.

1 Sam. 3. 13. † Heb. cut.

3 ¶ Talk no more so exceeding proudly l: * let not † arrogancy m come out of your mouth: for the LORD is a God of knowledge n, and by him actions are weighed o.

l Thou Peninnah, boast no more of thy numerous Off-spring, and speak no more insolently and scornfully of me, as thou hast done. She speaks of her in the Plural Number, because she would not expose her Name to Censure, but only instruct and reprove her for her good. m Heb. hard Speeches, as those are called, Jude v. 15. harsh, heavy, and not to be born. Or, the old Sayings, either the old Proverbs concerning barren Women, which thou applieds to me; or, the old Reproaches, to which for a long time thou hast accustomed thy self. n He knoweth thy Heart, and all that Pride, and Envy, and Contempt of me, which thy own Conscience knows; and all thy perverse Carriages towards me. o i.e. He pondereth, or trieth all Mens Thoughts and Actions, (for the Hebrew word signifies both) as a just Judge, to give to every one according to their Works; and therefore he hath pitied my oppressed Innocency, and rebuked her Arrogancy. Or, by him Councels, or Actions, or Events, are disposed or ordered, and not by our selves; and therefore he brings many things to pass contrary to Mens expectations, as now he hath done; he maketh one Barren, and another Fruitful, when, and how it pleaseth him. In the Hebrew Text it is Lo the Adverb; and so the words may be rendred thus, his actions are not, or cannot be directed, or rectified, or corrected by any others; none can mend his Work; he doth every thing best, and in the best season, as now he hath done. Or weighed, or numbred, his ways are unsearchable: Or thus, are not his works right and strait? who can blame his Actions? So Ls is for halo, as it is 2 Sam. 13. 26. 2 Kings. 5. 26. Job 2. 10.

4 The bows p of the mighty men are broken, and they that stumbled q are girt with strength r.

p This notes, either, 1. The Strength of which they boasted: See Psal. 33. 6. and 46. 9. Or, 2. Their malicious or mischievous Designs. See Psal. 7. 12. and 11. 2. and 37. 14. Or, 3. Their virulent Tongues, which are compared to bows that shoot their Arrows, even bitter Words; as it is said, Psal. 64. 3. Compare Jer. 9. 3. Or, 4. Their procreating Vertue, which may well be compared to a bow, both because it is called a Man's Strength, Gen. 49. 3. and because Children, which are the Effects of it, and are as it were shot from that bow, are compared to arrows, Psal. 127. 4, 5. And this seems best to agree with the following Verse. q Or, were weak, or feeble, in Body and Spirit, that had no strength to conceive, which was once Sarah's case, Heb. 11. 11. Or, to bring forth, which was Israel's condition under Hezekiah, 2 Kings. 19. 3. r Are enabled both to conceive and to bring forth, as the Church was, Isa. 66. 9.

* Psal. 37. 17. Jer. 5. 9.

5 * They that were full have hired themselves out for bread s: and they that were hungry, ceased t: so that the barren hath born seven u, and * she that hath many children x, is waxed feeble y.

s Through extreme Necessity, into which they are fallen from their greatest Plenty. It is the same thing which is expressed both in divers Metaphors in the foregoing, and following Verses, and properly in the latter branch of this Verse. t i.e. Ceased to be such, to wit, hungry; the hungry failed: there was none of them hungry or indigent. u i.e. Many; as seven is oft used. She speaks in the Prophetick Style, the past time, for the future; for though she had actually born but one, yet she had a confident persuasion that she should have more, which was grounded either upon some particular Assurance from God; or rather upon the Prayer or Prediction of Eli; which, though it be mentioned after this Song, v. 20. yet in all probability was spoken before it, even upon the Parents presentation of the Child to Eli, chap. 1. v. 25. it not being likely that she would sing this Song in Eli's presence, or before he had given his Answer to her Speech delivered, ch. 1. v. 26, 27, 28. there being nothing more frequent than such transpositions in Scripture. And the experience she had of the strange and speedy Accomplishment of his former Prophecy, made her confidently expect the same Issue from the latter. x i.e. Peninnah. y Either because she was now past Child-bearing, and impotent for Procreation: or, because divers of her Children, which were her strength and her glory, were dead, as the Hebrew Doctors relate.

* Deut. 32. 39. † Heb. hell.

6 * The LORD killeth, and maketh alive z, he bringeth down to † the grave, and bringeth up.

z Either, 1. Divers persons: he killeth one, and maketh another alive: Or, 2. The same person whom he first killeth, or bringeth very nigh unto death, he afterwards raiseth to life. Me, who was almost overwhelmed and consumed with Grief, he hath revived. The name of death both in sacred Scripture, and prophane Writers, is oft given to great Calamities; as Isa. 26. 19. Ezek. 37. 11. Rom. 8. 36.

7 The LORD maketh poor, and maketh rich: * he bringeth low, and lifteth up.

* Psal. 75. 7.

8 He * raiseth up the poor out of the dust b, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghil c, to * set them among princes, and to make them inherit d the throne of glory e: for the pillars f of the earth are the LORD's, and he hath set the world upon them.

* Psal. 113. 7. * Job 36. 7.

b i.e. Out of their low and miserable Condition; as this Phrase is used, 1 King. 16. 2. Psal. 113. 7. Compare Job 16. 15. Psal. 22. 16. c From the most fordid Place, and mean Estate. Compare 1 King. 16. 2. Job. 36. 11. Psal. 7. 5. c Which the poor are said to embrace, Lament. 4. 5. d Not only possess themselves, but transmit them to their Posterity, as hath oft happened in the World: or, possess. e i.e. A glorious Throne or Kingdom. f Either, 1. The Foundations of the Earth, which God created, and upholds, and wherewith he sustains the Earth, and all its Inhabitants, as a House is supported with Pillars; and therefore it is not strange if he dispose th of persons and things therein as he pleaseth. Or, 2. The Princes or Governours of the Earth, which are called, the corners, or cornerstones of a Land or People, Judg. 20. 2. 1 Sam. 14. 38. Zeph. 3. 6. and are fitly called Pillars, because they upheld the World, and keep it from sinking into confusion: See Psal. 74. 2. Jer. 1. 18. Revel. 3. 12. And these are here said to be the Lords, by Creation and Constitution, because he advanceth them to their state, and preserves them in it, Prov. 8. 15, 16. and puts the world, or the Kingdoms of the World, upon them, as burdens upon their shoulders: See Isa. 9. 6.

* Psal. 91. 11. † Heb. 91. 12. Psal. 94. 17.

9 He * will keep the feet g of his saints, and the wicked shall be † silent h in darkness i; for by strength shall no man prevail k.

g i.e. The Steps or Paths, their Counsels and Actions; he will keep; i.e. both uphold, that they may not fall, at least, into Mischief or utter Ruine; and direct and preserve from wandring, and from those fatal Mistakes and Errors that wicked Men daily run into. h Shall be put to silence: they who used to open their Mouths wide against Heaven, and against the Saints, shall be so confounded with the unexpected disappointment of all their hopes, and with God's glorious appearance and operations for his People, that they shall have their Mouths quite stopped, and sit down in silent Amazement and Consternation: See Isa. 15. 1. Jer. 8. 14. and 47. 5, 6. i Both inward, in their own Minds, which are wholly in the dark, perplexed by their own Choice and Counsels, not knowing what to say or do; and outward, in a state of deepest Distress and Misery. k To wit, against God, or against his Saints, as the wicked were confident they should do, because of their great Power, and Wealth, and Numbers: Whereas God's People were mean, and impotent, and helpless. And particularly, Peninnah shall not prevail against me by that strength which she hath, or thinks to have from her numerous Off-spring. But it is to be observed, that although Hannah takes the rise of this Song from her own Condition, yet she extends her Thoughts and Words further, even to the usual Methods of God's Providence in the Government of the World.

10 The adversaries of the LORD l shall be broken to pieces m: * out of heaven n shall he thunder upon them o: the LORD shall judge p the ends of the earth q, and he shall give strength unto his king r, and * exalt the horn s of his anointed t.

* Chap. 7. 10. * Psal. 89. 24.

l And of his People; especially the Philistines, who at this time were the chief Oppressors of Israel. m These and the following words are Prophetical of what God was about to do: They who are now our Lords, shall be subdued. n i.e. Out of the Clouds or Air, which is oft called Heaven. o As was done, 1 Sam. 7. 10. p i.e. Shall condemn and punish, as that Verb by a Synecdoche is oft used. q Or, of the land, to wit, the Philistines who dwelt in the utmost Borders of Canaan, even upon the Sea-coast. r Either, 1. Unto the Judge or Ruler whom he shall set up for the Protection and Deliverance of his People; the word King being elsewhere so taken. Or, 2. The King properly so called: And so the Prophesieth, That Israel should have a King, and that there should be a great difference between King and King; between the Peoples King, Saul, whom they would obstinately and passionately desire; by whom therefore they should have but little relief; and God's King, David, whom God would chuse as a Man after his own Heart, and whom he would strengthen and assist so, as by his Hands to break all his Enemies to pieces. s i.e. Increase, or advance the strength. t i.e. Of his King. The same thing repeated in other words; although it may have a Mystical sense and respect to Christ, the singular anointed one of God, and the special King of his People, whom all their other Kings did Typifie and Represent, and from whom they received Authority and Power.

11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his house, and the child did minister unto the LORD u before Eli the priest x.

u In some way agreeable to his tender Years, as in Singing, or playing upon Instruments of Musick, as they used then to do in God's Service; or lighting the Lamps, or some other way. For, I suppose, Samuel was not brought to the Tabernacle in such tender years as some think: of which, see on 1 Sam. 1. 22. i.e. Under the Inspection, and by the Direction and Instruction of Eli.

12 ¶ Now the sons of Eli were sons of Belial, they knew not y the LORD.

y To wit, practically; i.e. they did not acknowledge, honour, regard, love, or serve God: for so words of knowledge are commonly used in Scripture; See Rom. 1. 28. 1 Cor. 15. 34. Tit. 1. 16.

13 And the priests * custom with the people, was, that when any man offered z sacrifice, the priests servant came, while the flesh was in seething a, with a flesh-hook of three teeth in his hand, z i.e. Presented it to the Lord, to be offered by the Priest. a For as the Lord's part of the Peace-offerings was burnt upon the Altar, so the Priests and Officers parts were to be sodden.

* Chap. 8.

14 And he strook it into the pan, or kettle, or cauldron, or pot: all that the flesh-hook brought up, the priest took for himself b: so they did in Shiloh unto all the Israelites that came thither.

b Not contented with the Breast and Shoulder which were allotted them by God, Exod. 29. 27, 28. Levit. 7. 31. they took also part of the Offerers share; and besides, they snatched their part before it was heaved and waved; contrary to Levit. 7. 34.

15 Also before they burnt the fat c, the priests servant came, and said to the man that sacrificed, Give flesh to roast for the priest: for he will not have sodden flesh of thee, but raw.

c And the other parts to be burnt with it. See Levit. 3. 3, 4, 9. and 7. 31. So this was an additional Injury; for, lest the Fork should mistake and injure them, they took such parts as they best liked whilst it was raw, when it might be better discerned.

16 And if any man said unto him, Let them not fail to burn the fat † presently, and then take as much as thy soul desireth d: then he would answer him, Nay, but thou shalt give it me now: and if not, I will take it by force.

† Heb. as on the day.

d We are content to relinquish our parts to thee, only let not God be wronged of his due.

17 Wherefore the sin of the young men was very great e before the LORD f: for men abhorred the offering of the LORD g.

e Because they violently took away both Man's and God's Dues, and this before their time, and that with manifest contempt of God and Men; and all this meerly for the gratifying of their sensual Appetite. f i.e. Even in the place of God's special Presence, where he saw and observed all their Miscarriages: which argues the height of Impiety and Imprudence. g They neglected and abhorred the practise of carrying up Sacrifices to be offered, which they knew would be so grossly abused; and which, as they might think, would be rejected and abhorred by God himself; and therefore they would not contribute to the Priests Sin, and the corruption of God's Worship; but judged it better to neglect the thing, than to expose it to the Priests depravation; wherein yet they erred, as we see, v. 24.

18 ¶ But Samuel ministred h before the LORD i, being a child, * girded with a linen Ephod k.

* Exod. 28. 4.

h i.e. Performed his Ministration carefully and faithfully, not corrupting nor abusing it, as Eli's Sons did. i In God's Tabernacle: or as in God's presence, sincerely and regularly, with God's approbation. Compare Gen. 17. 1. 2 Chron. 26. 4. k A Garment used in God's Service, and allowed not only to the inferior Priests and Levites, but also to eminent persons of the People: as 2 Sam. 6. 14. and therefore to Samuel, who, though no Levite, was a Nazarite, and that from his birth.

19 Moreover, his mother made him a little coat l, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband, to offer the yearly sacrifice.

l Suitable to his Age and Stature, to be worn ordinarily: for coats were their usual Garments. See Gen. 3. 21. and 37. 3. 2 Sam. 15. 32. Cant. 5. 3. Dan. 2. 21. Luke 3. 11. and 9. 3. Knowing that he should not yet do much service, she would not have him too burdensom to the Tabernacle, and therefore she yearly provided him with a Coat, which was the chief and upper Garment; and under that his other Garments possibly are comprehended.

20 ¶ And Eli blessed Elkanah, and his wife m, and said, The LORD give thee seed n of this woman, for the ‖ loan which is lent to the LORD o. And they went unto their own home.

‖ Or, petition which she asked, &c.

m As their Superiour, and God's High-Priest, he blessed them in God's Name, and they received his Blessing by Faith, which made it effectual, v. 21. n i.e. A Child, or rather Children, as the Event shewed. o Or, for the petition; i.e. the thing desired, to wit, the Child; which she, thy Wife, asked of the Lord; or, for the Lord: as chap. 1. 28. to whom accordingly she hath given them. And therefore as she asked him not so much for her self, for she seldom sees him; as for the Lord, to whose service she hath wholly devoted him; so now I pray, that God would give you other Children for both your Comfort and Enjoyment.

21 And the LORD visited p Hannah, so that she conceived and bare three sons, and two daughters; and the child Samuel grew q before the LORD r.

p To wit, in Mercy, and with his Blessing, as that word is used Gen. 21. 1. Exod. 13. 19. Jer. 15. 15. not in anger, as it is taken Exod. 32. 34. Levit. 26. 16. q Not only in Age and Stature; but especially in Wisdom and Goodness, as Luke 1. 15. Or, was magnified: or grew great, famous and acceptable, as v. 26. r Not only before Men, who might be deceived, but in the presence and judgment of the All-seeing God.

‖ Or, assembled by troops, or warred. Ex. 38. 8. Num. 4. 23. and 8. 24.

22 ¶ Now Eli was very old s, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel t, and how they lay with the women that ‖ assembled u at the door x of the tabernacle of the congregation.

s And therefore unfit either to manage his Office himself, or to make a diligent inspectin into the Carriage of his Sons in holy Administrations; which gave them opportunity for their Wickedness. t Whom they injured in their Offerings, and alienated from the Service of God. u Or warred: which expression is used of them, either because they came to the Service and Worship of God in the Tabernacle, which is often called a warfare; or, because they came in considerable numbers, and due order, like to an Army. x The place where all the People both Men and Women waited when they came up to the Service of God, 1 Sam. 1. 9, 12. Luke 1. 10. because they could not have admittance into the Tabernacle, and because the Altar on which their Sacrifices were offered, was by the Door. Hence it seems probable, that these Women were not such as devoted themselves to the Service of God and of his Tabernacle, either by Fasting and Prayer, &c. or by Sowing, Spinning, &c. which, if then there were any such, had their Stations not at the Door, but in divers places allotted to them round about the Tabernacle; but of such as came up to worship God at his Tabernacle; as Women oft-times did, with their Husbands, as here Hannah did, and the blessed Virgin Mary, Luke 2. 41. or with their Parents. And this Exposition may receive strength from Exod. 38. 8. where the very same Phrase is used, and that when the great Tabernacle was not yet built, and so there was no occasion for any Women to come to the other less Tabernacle then used, save only to Pray or offer Sacrifices.

23 And he said unto them, Why do ye such things y? for ‖ I hear of your evil dealings by all this people z.

‖ Or, the evil was told

y As those above mentioned, v. 13. and v. 22. Eli's Sin in this matter was not only that he reproved them too gently, and generally, and sparingly; but especially, that he contented himself with a Verbal Rebuke, and did not restrain them, as is said chap. 3. 13. and inflict those punishments upon them, of putting them out of their Priests Office, and cutting them off from God's People; which such high Crimes deserved by God's Law, and which he as Judge and High-Priest ought to have done, without all respect of persons. z That dwell here, or come hither to worship.

24 Nay, my sons: for it is no good report a that I hear, ye make the LORD's people ‖ to transgress b.

‖ Or, to sin.

a Words too mild for such Diabolical Actions. b Either, 1. The Women that by your Instigation were drawn to Folly. Or, 2. Others who are easily brought to follow your pernicious Example. Or, 3. Other persons of pious and honest Minds, whom therefore he calls the Lord's people by way of distinction from the children of Belial, who were so highly offended with the great dishonour done to God, and to his Worship, and with the horrible wickedness of the Priests, that upon that occasion, they were hurried into the other Extreme, and lived in the neglect and contempt of their own indispensable Duty of offering Sacrifices, because they came through the Priests hands.

25 If one man sin against another c, † the judge shall judge him d: but if a man sin against the LORD, † who shall intreat for him f? notwithstanding, they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the LORD would slay them f.

† Heb. God shall judge him. Or, thy judges shall pray for him to the LORD. † Heb. shall not himself judge for him?

c By doing any Injury. d The Magistrate shall by his Sentence end the Difference, and both Parties shall acquiesce in his Determination, and so the Breach shall be made up. The sence is, If only Man be wronged, Man can right it, and reconcile the Persons. e To wit, in such manner as you have done, directly and immediately, in the matters of his Worship and Service, wilfully and presumptuously. f The Offence is of so high a Nature, that few or none will dare to intercede for him, but will leave him to the just Judgment of God. He speaks after the manner of Men, who do oft intercede with the Prince, for such as have injured any private person; but will not presume to do so when the Injury is committed against his own person. The words are, and may be thus rendred, Who shall judge for him? Who shall interpose himself as Umpire, or Arbitrator, between God and him? Who shall compound that Difference? None can or dare do it, and therefore he must be left to the dreadful, but righteous Judgment of God: which is your Case and Misery. f i.e. Because God hath determined to destroy them for their many and great Sins; and therefore would not, and did not give them Grace to hearken to Eli's Counsel, and to repent of their Wickedness, but hardned their Hearts to their destruction.

26 And the child Samuel grew on g, and was in * favour both with the LORD, and also with men.

* Prov. 3. 4. Luke 2. 52. Act. 2. 47. Rom. 14. 18.

g He grew better in bad Times, which is remembred to his Commendation.

27 ¶ And there came a man of God h unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, ‖ Did I plainly appear i unto the house of thy father k, when they were in Egypt l, in Pharaohs house m?

‖ Or, appearing did I appear.

h i.e. A Prophet or Preacher sent from God: See 1 Tim. 6. 11. 2 Tim. 3. 17. 2 Pet. 1. 21. Who this was, is not revealed by God, and therefore it is vain to enquire, and impossible to determine. i Did I indeed shew such a favour, and appear so evidently and gloriously to thee, and for thee, and is this thy requital? k i.e. Unto Aaron the Chief of thy Father's House. l See Exod. 4. 27. m i.e. Either, 1. 29 Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice q, and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation, and honourest thy sons above me r, to make your selves fat s with the chiefest of all the offerings t of Israel my people?

q Using them irreverently, contemptuously, and prophanely; both by abusing them to your own Luxury, and by causing the People to abhor and neglect them. He chargeth Eli with his Sons Faults. r Permitting them to dishonour and injure me, by taking my part to themselves; chusing rather to offend me by thy connivence at their Sin, than to displease them by severe Rebukes, and effectual Restraints, and just Punishments; and so preferr their Will, and Pleasure, and Honour, before mine. s To pamper your selves. This you did not out of any Necessity, but out of mere Luxury. t Not contented with those Parts which I had allotted you, you invaded those choice Parts which I reserved for my self.

30 Wherefore the LORD God of Israel saith, I said indeed u, that thy house, and the house of thy father should walk before me x for ever y: but now the LORD saith, Be it far from me z: for them that honour me a, I will honour b; and * they that despised me c, shall be lightly esteemed d.

* 1 Sam. 2. 5.

u Qu. Where, or when did God say this? Answ. Either, 1. When he made that Promise for the Perpetuation of the Priesthood in Aaron's Family, Exod. 28. 43. and 29. 9. Object. If Eli and all his Family had been cut off, yet that Promise had been made good in Eleazar's Family: how then was that promise recalled by this Sentence against Eli? Answ. It was recalled and made void, though not absolutely and universally to all Aaron's Family; yet respectively to Eli and his Family, which were wholly excluded from the benefit of it, wherein otherwise they should have shared. Even as Gods keeping of the Israelites out of Canaan, and in the Wilderness for forty Years, and destroying them there, is called his breach of promise, Numb. 14. 34. although the promise of Canaan was not simply made void to all the Israelites, but only to that evil Generation of them: Or, as God's Covenant with David, and with his Seed, of which God saith, that it should stand fast, Psal. 89. 28. and that he would not break nor alter it, v. 34. yet is said to be made void, v. 39. to wit, in regard of some particular Branches, or Members of that Family. Or, 2. To Eli himself, or to his Father, when the Priesthood was transfered from Eleazar's to Ithamar's Family for some cause not mentioned in Scripture, but most probably for some great miscarriage of some of them. If it be said, That there is no such promise recorded in Scripture; it may be so reply, pure, which were not spoken of in their proper times and places, as Gen. 24. 51. and 42. 21. Hos. 12. 4. Luke 11. 49. Acts 20. 25. So the sence of the place may be this, That promise and priviledge of the perpetuation of the Priesthood in Phinehas and his Family, made to them Numb. 25. 12. namely upon condition of his and their Faithfulness in their Office, which is plainly understood, I now take away from that Family for their wickedness, and I transfer it to thee and thine, and will fix it there upon the same condition. x i.e. Minister unto me as High-Priest. Walking is oft put for Discharging ones Office; before me, may signifie that he was the High-Priest, whose sole Prerogative it was to minister before God, or before the Ark, in the most Holy Place. y As long as the Mosaical Law and Worship lasted, as that Phrase is oft used. z To wit, to fulfil my promise, which I repent of, and hereby retract. a That worship and serve me with Reverence and godly Fear, and according to my Will, which I esteem as an Honour done to me. b I will advance them to honour, and maintain them in it. c Not formally and directly; for so Eli's Sons did not despise God; but indirectly and by consequence, by presumptuous Disobedience of my Commands; by dishing and disgracing my Worship and Ordinances, either by transgressing the Rules I have given them therein, or by their ungodly and shameful Conversation; and by making my Service contemptible and abominable to others through their Scandals; all which are manifest Arguments of contempt of God, and are so called, as Numb. 11. 20. 1 Sam. 12. 9, 10. Mal. 1. 6. and all which were eminently found in Eli's Sons. d Both by God and Men.

* 1 King. 2. 27. Ezek. 44. 10. See Chap. 4. 11, 18. and 14. 3. and 22, 15, &c.

31 Behold, * the days come, that I will cut off thine arm e, and the arm of thy fathers house f, that there shall not be an old man in thine house g.

e i.e. I will take away thy strength, which is oft signified by the word arm, as Job 22. 8. Psal. 37. 17. or all that in which thou placest thy Confidence and Security: Either, 1. The Ark, which is called God's strength, Psal. 78. 61. and was Eli's strength, who therefore was not able to bear the very tidings of the loss of it, chap. 4. 18. Or, 2. His Priestly Dignity or Employment, whence he had all his Honour and Substance. Or rather, 3. His Children, to whom the words following here, and in the succeeding Verses, seem to confine it, who are the strength of Parents: See Gen. 49. 3. Deut. 21. 17. Psal. 127. 4, 5. f i.e. Thy Childrens Children, and all thy Family: which was in great measure accomplished, 1 Sam. 22. 18, &c. g They shall generally be cut off by an untimely death, before they be old.

32 And thou shalt see ‖ an enemy in my habitation, in all the wealth which God shall give Israel h, and there shall not be an old * man in thine house for ever i.

‖ Or, the affliction of the Tabernacle, for all the wealth which God

* Heb. which God

h So the sence is, Thou shalt see, not in thy Person, but in thy Posterity; (it being most frequent in Scripture to attribute that to would have which properly belongs to their Posterity only; as Gen. given Is- Parents, which properly belongs to their Posterity only; as Gen. given Is- 17. 8. and 27, 29, 40.) an enemy; i.e. thy Competitor, or him rael. thou shall possess that place of high Trust and Honour which now * See Zech. thou enjoyest; (such Persons being through Man's corrupt Nature 8. 4. esteemed as a Man's worst Enemy:) in my habitation; i.e. in the Sanctuary. And then he adds by way of Aggravation, that this sad Accident should happen, in all the wealth which God shall give Israel; i.e. in a time when God should eminently bless Israel, and make good all his promises to them, which was in Solomon's days, when Abiathar of Eli's Race was put out of the High-Priesthood, and Zadock was put in his place, 1 King. 2. 27, 35. when the Priesthood was most glorious, and most profitable, and comfortable; and therefore the loss of it more deplorable. But the words may be otherwise rendered, as is noted in the Margent of our English Bibles; Thou shalt see, to wit, in thy own person, the affliction, or oppression, or calamity of my habitation; i.e. either of the Land of Israel, wherein I dwell; or of the Sanctuary, called the habitation by way of Eminency, whose greatest glory the Ark was, 1 Sam. 4. 21, 22. and consequently, whose greatest Calamity the loss of the Ark was; for, or instead of all that good wherewith God would have blessed Israel, or was about to bless Israel; having raised up a young Prophet Samuel, and thereby given good grounds of hope that he intended to bless Israel, if Thou and thy Sons had not hindred it by your Sins, which God was resolved severely to punish. So this Clause of the Threatning concerns Eli's person, as the following concerns his Posterity. And this best agrees with the most proper and usual signification of that Phrase, Thou shalt see. i i.e. As long as the Priesthood continues in thy Family; or as long as the Levitical Priesthood lasts.

33 And the man of thine k, whom I shall not cut off from mine altar l, shall be to consume thine eyes, and to grieve thine heart m: and all the increase of thine house n shall die † in the flower of their age o.

k i.e. Those of thy Posterity. l i.e. From attendance upon mine Altar; whom I shall not destroy, but suffer to live, and wait at the Altar. m Shall be so forlorn and miserable, that if thou wast alive to see it, it would grieve thee at the very Heart, and thou wouldst consume thine Eyes with weeping for their Calamities. So the Phrase is like that of Rachel weeping for her children, Jer. 31. 15. which were slain long after her death. n i.e. Thy Children. o About the thirtieth year of their Age, when they were to be admitted to the plenary Administration of their Office, Numb. 4. 3. then they shall die.

34 And this shall be a sign unto thee p, that shall come upon thy two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas: in one day they shall die both of them q.

p To wit, of the certain truth of all those said Predictions. q And so they did, chap. 4. 11.

35 And I will raise me up * a faithful priest r, * Ezek. that shall do according to that which is in my heart s, 44. 15. and in my mind, and I will build him a sure house t, and he shall walk u before mine anointed x for ever.

r To wit, of another Line, as is necessarily implied by the total removal of that Office from Eli's Line, before threatned. The person designed is Zadok, one eminent for his Faithfulness to God, and to the King, who, when Abiathar, the last of Eli's Line, was deposed by Solomon, was made High-Priest in his stead, 1 King. 2. 27, 35. 1 Chron. 29. 22. s And shall not dishonour or disobey me, to gratifie his Sons, as thou hast done. t i.e. Give him a numerous Posterity, as that Phrase is used, Exod. 1. 21. 2 Sam. 7. 11. 1 King. 11. 38. and confirm that sure Covenant of an everlasting Priesthood made to Phinehas, of Eleazar's Line, Numb. 25. 13. and interrupted for a little while by Eli, and his, of the Line of Ithamar, unto him and his Children for ever. And this was manifestly verified until the Babylonish Captivity, Ezek. 44. 15. and there is no reason to doubt of its continuance in the same Line till Christ Came. u i.e. Minister as High-Priest. x Either, First, Before King Solomon, who was anointed King, 1 King. 1. 39. and before the succeeding Kings, who are commonly called anointed, or the Lord's anointed, as 1 Sam. 12. 3, 5. and 24. 6. 10. Psal. 89. 38, 51. Lam. 4. 20. Or rather, Secondly, Before Jesus Christ; First, Because this Title of Anointed, or Christ, or Messias, (both which words signifie only the Anointed) is most frequently and eminently ascribed to Christ, both in the Old and New Testament, and therefore it is most reasonable to understand it of him, when there is nothing in the Text or Context which determines it to any other. Secondly, Christ is the main Scope and Design, not only of the New, but of the Old Testament, which in all its Types and Ceremonies represented Christ; and particularly, the High-Priest was an eminent Type of Christ, and did represent his Person, and act in his Name and Stead, and did mediately, what John Baptist did immediately, go before the face of the Lord Christ; and when Christ did come, that Office and Officer was to ceate. Thirdly, The High-Priest is seldom or never said to Walk or Minister before the Kings of Israel or Judah, but constantly before the Lord, and consequently, before Christ, who, as he was God Blessed for ever, Rom. 9. 5. was present with, and the Builder and Governour of the Ancient Church of Israel, as is manifest from Act. 7. 35. 1 Cor. 10. 4. Heb. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6. and many other places; and their Temple is particularly called his Temple, Mal. 3. 1. because all the Temple-worship was performed in his presence, and had a special respect unto him, and therefore the High-Priest is most properly said to walk before him.

36 And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left in thine house shall come † and crouch to him y for a piece of silver, and a morsel of bread z, and shall say, † Put me, I pray thee, into ‖ one of the priests offices ∴, that I may eat a piece of bread.

† Heb. to worship him. † Heb. join. ‖ Or, somewhat about the Priesthood.

y In way of humble Supplication. See 1 King. 2. 26. and 23. 9.

z Whereas before they were so nice and delicate, that my liberal Allowance could not satisfie them, but they must have their Meat raw and fat, &c. above, v. 13, 14, 15, 16. so the Punishment is suited to the nature of their Sin. ∴ Into the meanest Office belonging to it. See Ezek. 44. 10, 11, &c. Quest. How could they be reduced to so great straights, seeing, though they lost the High-Priesthood, they still were inferior Priests, and had a right to those plentiful Provisions which belonged to that Order? Ans. First, They might be degraded not only from the Office of the High-Priest, but also from that of the inferior Priests, and consequently might forfeit and lose all the Priviledges belonging to their Office. Secondly, This might be from the Tyranny and Violence of some of the succeeding Priests of Eleazar's Line, towards that other Line which had long stood in competition with them, and had for a season got away the Priesthood from them. For this Text only relates the matter of Fact, but doth not express an Approbation of it.

CHAP. III.

The Lord calleth Samuel three times: he knows not God's voice, but thinks it to be Eli who calls him: runs to him, who instructs him, 1,——9. At the fourth call he answers, 10. God acquainteth Samuel with the destruction of Eli's house, 11,——14. Samuel in the morning discovers it to Eli at his request: Eli's submission, 15,——18. All Israel acknowledgeth Samuel for a prophet, 19,——21.

AND the child Samuel ministred unto the LORD before Eli a: and the word of the LORD b was precious c in those days: there was no open vision d.

a i. e. Under his inspection and direction, which, being so young, he needed. b To wit, the word of Prophesie, or the Revelation of God's Will to and by the Prophets. c i. e. Rare of scarce, such things being most precious in Mens esteem, whereas common things are generally despised. d God did not impart his Mind by way of Vision or Revelation openly, or to any publick Person, to whom others might resort for satisfaction, though he might or did privately reveal himself to some pious Persons for their particular Direction. This is here premised, as a reason why Samuel understood not, when God called him once or twice.

2 And it came to pass at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place e, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not see f; e In the Court of the Tabernacle. f To wit, clearly and distinctly. This is added, as an Evidence of his Old Age, partly to shew God's Contempt of him, notwithstanding his venerable Age, and his preferring the Child Samuel before him in this Vision; and partly, as the reason why Samuel so readily ran to him upon the first call, because his great Age made him more to need his Servants help.

3 And ere the lamp of God went out g in the temple h of the LORD, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to sleep i:

g Before the Lights of the Golden Candlestick were put out; i.e. in the Night-season, or before the Morning, when they were put out, as they were lighted in the Evening, Exod. 27. 21. Levit. 24. 3. 2 Chron. 13. 11. h i. e. In the Tabernacle, which is sometimes called the Temple, as being of the same use and significancy. i Not that this happened when he first lay down, but whilst he was lying there.

4 That the LORD called Samuel, and he answered, Here am I.

5 And he ran k unto Eli, and said, Here am I, for thou calledst me. And he said, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

k Shewing his great Faithfulness and Diligence in the Service, either of the Lord, or of his Master Eli.

6 And the LORD called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel arose, and went to Eli, and said, Here am I, for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called not, my son; lie down again.

‖ Or, thus did Samuel before he knew the LORD, and before the word of the LORD was revealed unto him.

7 ‖ Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD l, neither was the word of the LORD yet revealed unto him.

l Either, First, He was not acquainted with God in that Extraordinary or Prophetical way. Or, rather, Secondly, He did not yet understand, any more than before, that it was not Eli, but God, who spake to him. And this Ignorance of Samuel's served God's Design, that his simplicity might give Eli the better assurance of the truth of God's Call, and Message to Samuel.

8 And the LORD called Samuel again the third time. And he arose, and went to Eli m, and said, Here am I, for thou didst call me. And Eli perceived n that the LORD had called the child.

m He persists in the same readiness to obey and serve him, and was not discouraged or driven from his Duty by his double mistake and disappointment. n By the consideration of of Samuel's Piety, of the Sanctity of the Place adjoyning, from whence God had oftimes spoken, and of the Solitude of the Place, where there was no humane Person besides himself, who could or would have called Samuel in that manner.

9 Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go, lie down: and it shall be, if he call thee, that thou shalt say, Speak LORD, for thy servant heareth o. So Samuel went, and lay down in his place.

o i. e. I am ready to hear what thou speakest, and to do what thou requirest.

10 And the LORD came p, and stood q, and called as at other times r, Samuel, Samuel s. Then Samuel answered, Speak, for thy servant heareth.

p Before, he spake to him at a distance, even from the Holy Oracle between the Cherubims; but now, to prevent all further mistakes, the Voice came near to him, as if the Person speaking had been present with him. q Before the Voice passed by him, now the Speaker fixeth his abode with him for a time, till he had uttered his whole Mind to him. r As he had done before. s His Name is here doubled, to engage him to the more speedy and diligent attention.

11 ¶ And the LORD said to Samuel, Behold I will do a thing t in Israel, at which both the ears of * every one that heareth it, shall tingle u.

* 2 Kin. 21. 12.

t Those things which are related in the next Chapter, which though done by the Philistines, God here ascribes to himself, because he was the first and chief Cause of it, by withdrawing his helping Hand from Israel, and by delivering the Ark, and Eli's two Sons, and the rest of People, into his and their Enemies hands. u Which will be so terrible, that not only those that feel it shall groan under it, but those that only hear the report of it, shall be struck with such Amazement and Horror, which will make their Heads and Hearts ake. A Metaphor from him, who being surprized with some great and hideous Noise, such as Thunder or great Guns, his Head is much affected with it, and the Sound or Tingling of it abides in his Ears a good while after it. This Phrase is used also, 2 Kerg. 21. 12. Jer. 19. 3.

12 In that day x I will † perform against Eli * all things which I have spoken y concerning his house: † when I begin, I will also make an end z.

† Heb. establish. * Chap. 2. 27. † Heb. I begin and make an end.

x In that time which I have appointed for this work, which was about Twenty or Thirty Years after this threatning. So long space of Repentance God allows to this wicked Generation, to make their Peace with God, and prevent the Execution, as others did in like Cases. y By that Prophet, chap. 2. 27. z Though this Vengeance may and shall be delayed for a season, to manifest my Patience, and incite them to Repentance; yet when once I begin to Inflict, I shall certainly go on with it, and not desist till I have made a full end.

13 ‖ * For I have told him, that I will judge a his house b for ever c, for the iniquity which he knoweth d; because his sons made themselves ‖ vile e, and he † restrained them not f.

* Or, and I told him, &c. * Chap. 2. 29, 31, 32. † Heb. restrained them not.

a i. e. Condemn, and Punish or Destroy, as the word Judge is oft used, as Gen. 15. 14. Job. 3. 18. and 16. 11. b His Children, and Posterity, as is manifest by the Story; as the word House is frequently taken, as 2 Sam. 7. 11. 1 King. 21. 29. So the house of Judah, of Aaron, of David, are oft taken for their Posterity. And to Build an House in Scripture use, is to encrease their Posterity, as Exod. 1. 21. Deut. 25. 9. Ruth 4. 11. Compare Gen. 16. 2. and 30. 3. c Till they be utterly rooted out: or, for a long time, as that Phrase is oft used. d Either by the information of the Prophet, chap. 2. v. 27, &c. or by his own guilty and self-accusing Conscience. For these, and the foregoing and following words, may well be, and are rendred thus; for this iniquity, because he knew (both by common Fame, and by his own observation) that his sons, &c. He cannot pretend ignorance, or want of proof of their wickedness, which aggravates his Sin. e Not only hateful to God, but contemptible to all the People, whereby they also brought their sacred Office, and God's Holy Ordinances into contempt. Heb. Cursed themselves, or made themselves Execrable or Accursed, both to God and Men: by their lewd and cursed Practices, they put themselves under the Curse of God, by such a gross Violation of God's Commands: Compare Jos. 6. 18. and 7. 12, 13. This expression may be used by way of reflection upon their Father, because he did not denounce the Curse of God against them, nor put them out of the Priesthood, as accursed Persons, although they were so vile, that they had prevented their Father's Censure, and meritoriously cast themselves out, and cut themselves off from the Priesthood and Congregation of the Lord, which their Father should have done Judicially. f He concerned himself with a cold and gentle Reproof, and did not severely rebuke, and punish, and effectually restrain them from their abominable Courses, nor use that Authority which God had given him, as a Father, as an High-Priest, and as a Judge, or Chief Magistrate, against them, as by the Law of God he was obliged to do.

14 And therefore I have sworn g unto h the house of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be purged with sacrifice, nor offering for ever.

g Which might be done before, though it be mentioned here only. Or, I do swear: the past Tense being commonly put for the present in the Hebrew Tongue. h Or, concerning, as the Praxis Lamed is oft used, as Exod. 14. 3. and 18. 7. 2 Sam. 11. 7. Psal. 91. 11. compare with Matth. 4. 6. i i. e. The Punishment threatned against Eli and his Family, shall not be prevented or hindred by all their Sacrifices, as they fondly imagine, but shall infallibly be executed.

15 And Samuel lay until morning, and opened the doors of the house of the LORD k: and Samuel feared to shew Eli the vision l.

k Although

k Although the Tabernacle, whilst it was to be removed from place to place in the Wilderness, had no Doors, but consisted only of Curtains, and had only Hangings before the entrance, instead of Doors; yet when it was settled in one place, as now it was in Shiloh, where it had been for a long time, it is more than probable, both from this place, and by comparing 1 Sam. 1. 9. and 2 Sam. 6. 17. and from the Nature and Reason of the thing, that it was inclosed within some solid Building, which had Doors, and Posts, and other Parts belonging to it. l i. e. The matter of the Vision or Revelation, partly from the Reverence and Respect he bore to his Person, to whom he was loth to be a messenger of such sad tidings; partly, lest if he had been hasty to utter it, Eli might think him guilty of Arrogancy or secret Complacency in his Calamity, which was like to rend to Samuel's advancement. And not being commanded by God to acquaint Eli therewith, he prudently suspended the publication of it till a fit occasion were offered, which he might reasonably expect in a very little time, knowing that Eli would be greedy to know the matter of that Revelation, the Preface whereof he was acquainted with; and that it would be less offensive, and therefore more useful to Eli, when he saw that Samuel was not puffed up with it, nor forward to vent it, until Eli forced it from him.

16 Then Eli called Samuel, and said, Samuel, my son. And he answered, Here am I.

17 And he said, What is the thing that the LORD hath said unto thee? I pray thee, hide it not from me: God do so to thee, and † more also m, if thou hide any ‖ thing from me of all the things that he said unto thee.

† Heb. to all. ‖ Or, words.

m God inflict the same Evils upon thee, which I suspect he hath pronounced against me, and greater Evils too. Or, God do so, i. e. let God deal with thee so severely, as I cannot, or am loth to express. So it is a kind of Apostiopesis usual in Oaths, and in Adjurations. The same Phrase is in Ruth, 1. 17. Thus he adjures him to utter the whole truth, as was usual among the Hebrews, as 1 Kings 22. 16. Matth. 26. 63.

18 And Samuel told him † every whit, and hid nothing from him. And he said, It is the LORD n: Let him do what seemeth him good.

† Heb. all the things, words.

n This severe Sentence is from the Sovereign Lord of the World, who hath an absolute Power and Right to dispose of me and all his Creatures as he pleaseth; to whose good pleasure I therefore freely submit: from Israel's God, who was known by this Name of Jehovah, who is in a special manner the Ruler of the People of Israel, to whom it properly belongs to punish all mine offences; whose Chastisement I therefore accept.

19 ¶ And Samuel grew o, and the LORD was with him, and did let none of his words * fall to the ground p.

* 1 King. 8. 56.

o As in Stature, so in Wisdom and Piety, and God's Favour, and Reputation with the People. p i. e. Want its effect or success: God made good all his Predictions. A Metaphor from precious Liquors, which when they are spilt upon the Ground, are altogether useless and ineffectual. This Phrase is oft used, as Jos. 21. 45. Esth 6. 10, &c.

20 And all Israel, from Dan even to Beersheba q, knew r that Samuel was ‖ stablished to be a prophet of the LORD.

q Through the whole Land, from the Northern Bound Dan, to the Southern, Beersheba; which was the whole length, and largest extent of the Land. See Judg. 20. 1, 2. 2 Sam. 17. 11. r Both by Eli's Testimony, and particular relation of the foregoing History, to the People that came from all Parts; and by succeeding Revelations made to him, whereof mention is made in the next Verse, which though placed after, might be done before.

21 And the LORD appeared again in Shiloh: for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel s in Shiloh, by the word of the LORD t.

s Or, did use to Reveal his mind to Samuel. t i. e. By his word, the Noun for the Pronoun, which is frequent, as Levit. 14. 15, &c. by his word of command, which he chose to deliver to Israel by his Mouth, as it here follows; or by his word of Prophesie concerning future events.

CHAP. IV.

The Israelites are smitten by the Philistines at Eben-ezer, 1, 2. They fetch the Ark from Shiloh: Receive it with a great Shout, to the Terror of the Philistines, 3,——7. Who yet take Courage, and a second time beat the Israelites: The Ark is taken: The two Sons of Eli are slain, 8,——11. Which Eli hearing, falleth backward from his seat, and breaketh his Neck, 12,——17. His Daughter in law falls in labour: Nameth her Son Ichabod: And dieth, 18,——22.

a i. e. The word of the Lord revealed to Samuel, and by him to the People; Either, First, The Prophetical Word mentioned before, chap. 3. 11, &c. which is here said to come, or to come to pass, as it was foretold, to all Israel. But the subject of that Prophesie was not all Israel, but Eli and his House, as is evident. Or rather, Secondly, A Word of Command, that all Israel should go forth to fight with the Philistines, as the following words explain it, that so they might be first humbled and punished for their Sins, and so prepared by degrees for their future Deliverance. b Or, to meet the Philistines, who having by this time recruited themselves after their great loss by Samson. Judg. 16. 30. and perceiving an eminent Prophet arising among them, by whom they were likely to be United, Counselled, and Assisted, thought fit to Suppress them in the beginning of their Hopes and Designs of rescuing themselves from their power. c A place so called here (by Anticipation) from a following event, chap. 7. 12. d A City so called in the Tribe of Judah, Jos. 15. 53. upon the borders of the Philistines Country: not that Aphek in Asher, Jos. 19. 30. Judg. 1. 31. which was very remote from them.

2 And the Philistines put themselves in aray against Israel: and when † they joyned battle, Israel was smitten before the Philistines: and they slew of † the army in the field, about four thousand men.

† Heb. the battel was spread. † Heb. the array.

e Heb. When the Battel was spread, i.e. when the two Armies had drawn forth themselves into Military Order, and put themselves into the usual posture for Fighting, and began to fight in their several places.

3 ¶ And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath the LORD smitten us to day before the Philistines f? Let us † fetch the ark of the covenant of the LORD g out of Shiloh unto us, that when it † cometh among us, it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.

† Heb. take unto us.

f Seeing our Cause is so just, our own just and necessary Defence from God's and our Enemies, and we came not forth to Battel by our own motion, but by God's command delivered by Samuel. This was strange blindness, that when there was so great a corruption in their Worship and Manners, chap. 2. and such a defection to Idolatry, chap. 7. 3. Psal. 78. 58. they could not see sufficient reason why God should suffer them to fall by their Enemies. g That great pledge of God's presence and help, by whose Conduct our Ancestors obtained success, Numb. 10. 35. and 14. 44. Jos. 6. 4. Instead of the performance of Moral Duties, humbling themselves deeply for, and purging themselves speedily and throughly from all their Sins, for which God was displeased with them, and now had chastised them, they take an easier and cheaper Course, and put their trust in their Ceremonial Observances, not doubting but the very presence of the Ark would give them the Victory. And therefore it is no wonder they meet with so sad a disappointment.

4 So the people sent to Shiloh, that they might bring from thence the ark h of the covenant of the LORD of hosts, which dwelleth between the * cherubims: and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas were there i with the ark k of the covenant of God.

* Exod. 25. 10, 22.

h Which it may seem they should not have done without asking Counsel of God, which they might easily have done by Samuel. i Either, First, In the Camp. Or rather, Secondly, In Shiloh. k Attending upon it, instead of their Aged Father.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout l, so that the earth rang again.

l Partly, from their great joy and confidence of success; and partly, in design to encourage themselves, and terrifie their Enemies.

6 And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews? And they understood m that the ark of the LORD was come into the camp.

m By information from the Israelites, who would readily tell them of it to affright them.

7 And the Philistines were afraid, for they said, God is come n into the camp. And they said, Wo unto us: for there hath not been such a thing † heretofore o.

† Heb. yesterday, or, the third day.

n To wit, in and with his Ark: or, they give the Name of God to the Ark, before which he was Worshipped, as they used to do to the Images of their false gods. o Not to our knowledge, or not in our times; for the forementioned removals of the Ark were before it came to Shiloh.

8 Wo unto us: who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty Gods p? these are the Gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness q.

p They secretly confess the Lord to be higher and greater than their gods, and yet against their knowledge presume to oppose him. q They mention the Wilderness, not as if all the Plagues of the Egyptians came upon them in the Wilderness, but because the last and forest of all, which is therefore put for all, to wit, the Destruction of Pharaoh and all his Host, happened in the Wilderness, namely, in the Red-Sea, which having the Wilderness on both sides of it. Ex d. 13. 18, 20. and 14. 3, 11. and 15. 22, &c. may well be said to be in the Wilderness. Although it is not strange if these Heathens did mistake and misreport some Circumstance, in a Relation of the Israelitish Affairs, especially some hundreds of Years after they were done, such mistakes being frequent in divers Heathen Authors, treating of those matters, as Justin, and Tacitus, and others.

9 Be strong, and quit your selves like men r, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, * as they have been to you: † quit your selves like men, and fight.

* Judg. 13. 1. † Heb.

r Since be men.

r Since you can expect no relief from your gods, who are not able to resist theirs, it concerns you to put forth all your Strength and Courage, and once for all to act like brave and valiant Men.

*Isa.78.9. 10 ¶ And the Philistines fought, * and Israel was smitten, and they fled every man into his tent s: and there was a very great slaughter, for there fell of Israel thirty thousand t footmen u.

s i.e. To his habitation, called by the Ancient Name of his Tent. t Before they lost but 4000, now in the presence of the Ark 30000, to teach them that the Ark and Ordinances of God, were never designed for Sanctuaries or Refuges to impenitent Sinners, but only for the Comfort and Relief of those that Repent. u Horsemen are not mentioned; Either First, Because they had few or none, God having forbidden the multiplication of their Horses, Deut. 17. 16. and the Philistines, their Lords and Oppressors, having taken away what they had. Or, Secondly, Because they fled away, as is usual in such Cases, whilst the Footmen were more easily overtaken.

*Psal. 78. 61. † Heb. died. 11 And * the ark of God was taken x, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinchas † were slain.

x Which God justly and wisely permitted; partly, to punish the Israelites for their Profanation of it: partly, that by taking away the presences of their Foolish and Impious confidence, he might more deeply humble them, and bring them to true Repentance: partly, that the Philistines might by this means be more effectually convinced of God's Almighty Power, and of their own, and their gods Impotency, and so a stop might be put to their Triumphs and Insultations, and to their Rage against the poor Israelites, whom otherwise in human appearance they might easily have rooted out. Thus as God was no loser by this event, so the Philistines were no gainers by it; and Israel, all things considered, received more good than hurt by it, as we shall see.

12 ¶ And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day, with his *Job 2.12 cloths rent, and with * earth upon his head y.

y The usual Rites in great sorrows; See Gen. 37. 29. Jos. 7. 6, &c. 2 Sam. 1. 2, 11.

*Ch. 1. 9. 13 And when he came, lo, Eli sate upon * a seat z by the way side, watching: for his heart trembled for the ark of God a. And when the man came into the city, and told it, all the city cried out.

z Placed there on purpose for him, that he might soon receive the Tidings, which he longed for. a Whereby he discovered a publick and generous spirit, and a fervent Zeal for God, and for his Honour and Service, which he preferred before all his natural Affections and worldly Interests, not regarding his own Children in comparison of the Ark, though otherwise he was a most Indulgent Father, and had reason to believe that they were out like Sheep for the slaughter, according to Samuel's Prediction.

14 And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, What meaneth the noise of this tumult? And the man came in hastily, and told Eli.

15 Now Eli was ninety and eight years old, and *Chap. 3.2 * his eyes † were dim, that he could not see. † Heb. stood.

16 And the man said unto Eli, I am he that came out of the army b, and I fled to day out of the army. † Heb. is the thing. And he said, What † is there done, my son?

b I speak not what I have by uncertain Rumours, but what mine Eyes were witnesses of.

17 And the messenger answered and said, Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there hath been also a great slaughter among the people, and thy two sons also, Hophni and Phinehas are dead, and the ark of God is taken.

18 And it came to pass when he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off the seat backward c, by the side of the gate d, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man, and heavy e, and he had judged Israel f forty years.

c Being so oppressed with Grief and Astonishment, that he had no Strength left to support him. d To wit, the Gate of the City, which was most convenient for the speedy understanding of all Occurrences. e Old, and therefore weak and apt to fall; Heavy, and therefore his fall more dangerous and pernicious. f He was their Supreme Governor, both in Civils and Spirituals.

¶ 19 And his daughter in law, Phinehas wife, was with child, near ‖ to be delivered: and when she heard ‖ Or, to cry out. the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father in law, and her husband were dead, she † Heb. were turned. bowed her self and travelled; for her pains † came upon her g.

g To wit, before her time, which is oft the effect of great Terrors, both in Women, and in other Creatures, Psal. 29. 9.

20 And about the time of her death, the women that stood by her, said unto her, Fear not, for thou † Heb. for not her heart. hast born a son. But she answered not, † neither did she regard it h.

h Being overwhelmed with Sorrow, and so uncapable of Comfort.

21 And she named the child ‖ Ichabod, saying, ‖ Where is the glory? Or, The glory * The glory i is departed from Israel (because the ark of God was taken, and because of her father in law, and her husband.) ‖ Or, The glory is gone. * Ch. 14. 3.

i i.e. The glorious type and assurance of God's presence, the Ark, which is oft called God's Glory, as Psal 26. 8. and 78. 61. Isa. 63. 11. and which was the great safeguard and ornament of Israel, which they could glory in above all other Nations.

22 And she said, The glory is departed from Israel, for the ark of God is taken k.

k This is repeated to shew her Piety, and that the Publick and Spiritual loss lay heavier upon her spirit, than her Personal or Domestick Calamity.

CHAP. V.

The Philistines place the Ark of God at Ashdod in the House of Dagon: Which falls down: once and again, 1, ——— 5. They of Ashdod are smitten with Emerods: They send the Ark to Gath, 6, —8. They are also smitten with Emerods, and send the Ark to Ekron: They resolve to return it back to the Israelites, 9, —12.

AND the Philistines took the ark of God a, and brought it from Eben-Ezer b unto Ashdod c.

a Quest. Why were not they immediately killed, who touched the Ark, as afterwards Uzzah was? 2 Sam. 6. 7. Ans. First, Because the Sin of the Philistines was not so great, because the Law forbidding this, was not given, or at least was not known to them; whereas Uzzah's Fact was a transgression, and that of a known Law. Secondly, Because God designed to reserve the Philistines for a more publick and more shameful punishment, which had been prevented by this. b Where they found it in the Camp of the Israelites, chap. 4. 1. c Called also Azotus: whither they brought it, either because it was the first City in their way, or rather because it was a great and famous City, and most eminent for the worship of their great God Dagon.

2 When the Philistines took the ark of God, they brought it into the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagon d.

d Either, First, Out of respect to it, that it might be worshipped together with Dagon. Or rather, Secondly, by way of reproach and contempt of it, as a Spoil and Trophy set there to the honour of Dagon, to whom doubtless they ascribed this Victory, as they did a former, Judg. 16. 23. And though they had some reverence for the Ark before, chap. 4. 7, &c. Yet that was certainly much diminished by their success against Israel, notwithstanding the presence and help of the Ark.

3 ¶ And when they of Ashdod e arose early on the morrow f, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth, before the ark of the LORD: and they took Dagon, and set him in his place again g.

e i.e. The Priests of Dagon. f Either to worship Dagon according to their manner: or being curious and greedy to know whether the Neighbourhood of the Ark to Dagon had made any alteration in either of them, that if Dagon had received any Damage, they might, if possibly they could, repair it, before it came to the Peoples knowledge, as indeed they did, to prevent their contempt of that Idol, by which the Priests had all their reputation and advantage. g Supposing or pretending that his fall was wholly casual.

4 And when they arose early on the morrow morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground, before the ark of the LORD, and the head of Dagon, and both the palms of his hands were cut off h upon the threshold, only ‖ the stump of Dagon i was left to him k. ‖ Or, the fishy part.

h The head is the Seat of Wisdom; the Hands, the Instruments of Action: both are cut off, to shew that he had neither Wisdom nor Strength to Defend himself, nor his worshippers. Thus the Priests by concealing Dagon's shame before, make it more evident and infamous. i Heb. Only Dagon, i. e. that part of it from which it was called Dagon, to wit, the Filthy part, for Dag in Hebrew signifies a Fish. And hence their Opinion seems most probable, that this Idol of Dagon had in its upper parts an human shape, and in its lower parts the form of a Fish; for such was the form of divers of the Heathen gods, and particularly of a god of the Phœnicians (under which Name the Philistines are comprehended) as Diodorus Siculus, and Lucian, both witness, though they call it by another Name. k Or, upon it, i. e. upon the Threshold, there the Trunk abode in the place where it fell, but the Head and Hands being violently cut off, were flung to distant and several places.

5 Therefore neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's house, tread on the threshold † Of the Temple. of Dagon in Ashdod unto this day m.

l Out of a Religious reverence, supposing this place to be Sanctified by the touch of their god, who first fell here, and being broken here, touched it more thoroughly than he did other parts. This Superstition of theirs was Noted and Censured long after, Zephan. 1. 9. Herein they manifested their stupendious Folly, both in making a perpetual Monument of their own and Idols shame, which in all reason they should rather have buried in eternal Oblivion; and in turning a plain and certain Argument of Contempt, into an occasion of further Veneration. m When this History was written, which if written by Samuel towards the end of his Life, was a sufficient ground for this expression, this Superstitious usage having then continued for many Years;

6 But

6 But the hand of the LORD was heavy upon them of Ashdod n, and he destroyed them o, and † Heb. in their secret parts. smote them † with * emerods p, even Ashdod, and the coasts thereof. * Psal 78. 66.

n For their Incorrigibleness by the foregoing Documents. o Partly, by wasting their Land, chap. 6, 5. and partly, by killing many of their Persons, as is sufficiently implied here, v. 10. p A Disease mentioned only here, and Deut. 28. 27. it was in the hinder parts. It is needless to enquire into the Nature of it. It may suffice to know, that it was a very sore Disease, and not only very Vexatious and Tormenting, but also Pernicious and Mortal.

7 And when the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said, The ark of the God of Israel shall not abide with us: for his hand is sore upon us, and upon Dagon our god.

8 They sent therefore, and gathered all the lords of the Philistines unto them, and said, What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? And they answered, Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about unto Gath q. And they carried the ark of the God of Israel about thither.

q Supposing that this Plague was confined to Ashdod for some particular Reasons, or that it came upon them by Chance, or from some bad Influence of the Air, or of the Stars, or for putting it into Dagon's Temple, which they resolved they would not do.

9 And it was so, that after they had carried it about, the hand of the LORD was against the city † Or, every great terror with ‖ a very great destruction: and he smote the men of the city, both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts r.

r Or, in their hidden parts, to wit, in the inwards of their hinder parts. Which is the worst kind of Emerods, as all Physicians acknowledge, both because its Pains are far more sharp and keen than the other; and because the Malady is more out of the reach of Remedies.

10 ¶ Therefore they sent the ark of God to Ekron: and it came to pass, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, saying, They have brought about the ark of the God of Israel to us, to slay us s and our people.

s Not that they intended this, but because this would be the event of it.

11 So they sent, and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines, and said, Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it go again to his own place, that it slay us not, and our people: for there was a deadly destruction throughout all the city t: the hand of God was heavy there.

t To wit, the City of Ekron, during its short stay there. Or, in every City, to wit, where the Ark of God came: for it came also to Gaza and Askelon, and produced the same Effects there, as may be gathered from chap. 6. 4, 17. though for brevity sake it be here omitted.

12 And the men that died not u, were smitten with the emerods: and the cry of the city x went up to heaven.

u Either of some other Plague, or Ulcer, as may be thought from v. 6. or of the Emerods, which Infested and Tormented even those whom it did not kill. x Or, of that City where the Ark was; and the City is put for the People Inhabiting it.

CHAP. VI.

The Philistines consult with the Priests how they shall return the Ark: They advise to send with it for a Trespass-Offering, five golden Emerods and Mice: On a new Cart, which they do: The Kine tied to the Cart, go strait way to Beth-shemesh: Which was for a sign to the Philistines, 1, ——12. They of Beth-shemesh rejoyce: The Levites offer Sacrifice for it, 13, —15. The People are smitten for looking into the Ark: And request them of Kirjath-jearim to fetch it thence into their own City, 16, ——21.

AND the ark of the LORD was in the country of the Philistines seven months a.

a So long they kept it, as loth to lose so great a Prize, and willing to try all ways to keep it, and yet free themselves from the Mischiefs accompanying its presence.

2 And the Philistines called for the priests, and the diviners b, saying, What shall we do to the ark of the LORD? Tell us wherewith c we shall send it to his place?

b Whose Art was in great esteem with Heathen Nations, and especially with the Philistines and their Neighbours, the Canaanites and Egyptians. c In what manner, and with what Gifts; for to send it, they had decreed before, chap. 5. 11.

3 And they said, If ye resolve to send away the ark of the God of Israel, send it not empty d: but in any wise return him a trespass-offering e: then ye shall be healed, and it shall be known to you f, why † Or, was cast. his hand * is not removed from you.

d i.e. Without a present; which they judged necessary, from the common Opinion and Practice both of Jews and Gentiles.

e Thereby to acknowledge our Offence, and obtain his Pardon. f You shall understand, what is hitherto doubtful, whether he was the Author of these Calamities, and why they continued so long upon you. Compare verse 7, 8, 9.

4 Then said they, What shall be the trespass-offering g, which we shall return to him? They answered, Five golden emerods h, and five golden mice i, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines: for one kind of plague was on † you all, and on † Heb. them. your lords.

g They desire particular Information, because they were ignorant of the Nature and Manner of the Worship of Israel's God, and they might easily understand that there were some kinds of Offerings which God would not accept. h i.e. Figures of that part of the Body which was the seat of the Disease, which by its swelling, or some other way, Represented also the Disease it self. Which they offered not in contempt of God, for they sought to gain his favour hereby; but in Testimony of their Humiliation, that by leaving this Monument of their own Shame and Misery, they might obtain pity from God, and freedom from their Disease. i Which marred their Land (as it is related v. 5.) by destroying the Fruits thereof; as the other Plague afflicted their Bodies.

5 Wherefore ye shall make images of your emerods, and images of your mice, that * mar the land, *Chap. 5.6. and ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel k: peradventure he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your gods l, and from off your land.

k The Glory of his Power in Conquering you, who seemed and pretended to have Conquered him; of his Justice in punishing you, and of his Goodness if he shall Relieve you. l They so speak, either because not only Dagon, but their other gods also, were thrown down by the Ark, though that be not related; or because the Plural Number in that case, was commonly used for the Singular.

6 Wherefore then do ye harden m your hearts, * as * Exod. 7. the Egyptians, and Pharaoh hardened their hearts n? 13. and 8. when he † had wrought ‖ wonderfully among them, 15. and 14. 17. * did not they let † the people go, and they de- † Gr. deluded them parted?

m Or, should ye harden, the Future Tense of the Indicative ‖ Or, removed being put potentially, as is not unusual. They express proachfully. themselves thus, either because they perceived that some opposed * Exod. the Decree of sending home the Ark, though the most had consented to it; or because they thought they would hardly send it † Heb. away in the manner prescribed, by giving Glory to God, and them. taking Shame to themselves. n Which they might easily learn, either by Tradition from their Ancestors, or by the Reports of the Hebrews.

7 Now therefore make a new cart o, and take two milch-kine, on which there hath come no yoke p, and tie the kine to the cart, and bring their calves home from them q.

o As David did for the same use, 2 Sam. 6. 3. in Reverence to the Ark. p Partly, in respect to the Ark; and partly, for the better Discovery, because such untamed Heifers are wanton, and apt to wander, and keep no certain and constant paths, as Oxen accustomed to the Yoke do, and therefore were most unlikely to keep the direct Road to Israel's Land. q Which would stir up Natural Affection in their Dams, and cause them rather to return Home, than to go to a strange Country.

8 And take the ark of the LORD, and lay it upon the cart r, and put the jewels of gold, which ye return him for a trespass-offering in a coffer by the side thereof s, and send it away, that it may go.

r Which God winked at in them, both because they were ignorant of God's Law to the contrary, and because they had no Levites to carry it upon their Shoulders. s For they durst not presume to open the Ark, to put them within it.

9 And see, if it goeth up by the way of his own coast s to Bethshemesh, then ‖ he hath done us this great ‖ Or, it. evil t: but if not, then we shall know that it is not his hand that smote us; it was a chance that hapned to us u.

s Or, Border, i.e. the way that leadeth to his Coast, or Border, viz. the Country to which it belongs. t Which they might well conclude, if such Heifers should against their common use, and natural instinct, go into a strange path, and regularly and constantly proceed in it, without any man's Conduct. u This Evil came to us from some Influences of the Stars, or other unknown Causes. Which was a weak and foolish Inference, depending upon a meer Contingency, it being uncertain whether God would please to give them this Sign; and probable, that he would deny it, both to punish their Superstition, and to harden their hearts to their further and utter Destruction. But wicked Men will sooner believe the most uncertain and ridiculous things, than own the visible Demonstrations of God's Power and Providence.

10 ¶ And the men did so: and took two milch-kine, and tied them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home.

11 And they laid the ark of the LORD upon the cart, and the coffer with the mice of gold, and the images of their emerods.

12 And the kine took the straight way to the way of Bethshemesh x, and went along the high-way, lowing lowing as they went y, and turned not aside to the right hand, or to the left: and the lords of the Philistines went after them z unto the border of Bethshemesh.

x i.e. Leading to Bethshemesh, a City of the Priests, Jos. 21.16. who were by Office to take care of it. y Testifying at once both their natural and vehement Inclination to their Calves, and the supernatural and divine Power which over-ruled them to a contrary Course. z Under preetence of an honourable dismission of it; but in truth, to prevent all Imposture, and to get assurance of the truth of the Event. All which Circumstances tended to their greater Confusion, and Illustration of God's Glory.

13 And they of Bethshemesh were reaping their wheat-harvest in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it.

14 And the cart came into the field of Joshua a Bethshemite, and stood there, where there was a great stone: and they a clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine, a burnt-offering unto the LORD b.

a Not the Lords of the Philistines, but the Bethshemites, to wit, the Priests that dwelt there. b There may seem to be a double Error in this Act. First, That they offered Females for a Burnt-Offering, contrary to Levit. 1.3. and 22.19. Secondly, That they did it in a forbidden place, Deut. 12.5, 6. into which they might easily be led by excess of Joy, and eager desire of returning to their long-interrupted course of Offering Sacrifices. And some think these Irregularities were partial Causes of the following Punishment. But this case being very extraordinary, may in some sort excuse it, if they did not proceed by ordinary Rules. As for the first, though they might not chuse Females for that use, yet when God himself had chosen, and in a manner Consecrated them to his service, and imployed them in so sacred and glorious a Work, it may seem tollerable to offer them to the Lord, as being his peculiar, and improper for any other use. And for the latter, we have many instances of Sacrifices offered to God by Prophets, and Holy Men, in other places, besides the Tabernacle, upon extraordinary occasions, such as this certainly was; it being fit, that the Ark should at its first return be received with Thanksgiving and Sacrifice; and this Place being Sanctified by the presence of the Ark, which was the very soul of the Tabernacle, and that by which the Tabernacle it self was Sanctified, and for whose sake the Sacrifices were offered at the door of the Tabernacle.

15 And the Levites took down c the ark of the LORD, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great stone: and the men of Bethshemesh offered burnt-offerings, and sacrificed sacrifices the same day unto the LORD.

c Or, For the Levites had taken down: for this, though mentioned after, was done before the Sacrifices were offered.

16 And when the five lords of the Philistines had seen it d, they returned to Ekron the same day.

d To wit, that prodigious return of the Ark to its own Country, and the entertainment it found there.

17 And these are the golden emerods which the Philistines returned for a trespass-offering unto the LORD: for Ashdod one, for Gaza one, for Askelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one.

18 And the golden mice according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines, belonging to the five lords: both of fenced cities, and of country villages e even unto the ‖ great stone of Abel f, whereon they set down the ark of the LORD, which stone remaineth unto this day in the field of Joshua the Bethshemite.

‖ Or, great stone.

e This is added for explication of that foregoing Phrase, all the cities; either to shew, that under the Name of the five Cities were comprehended all the Villages and Territories belonging to them, in whose Name, and at whose Charge these Presents were made; or to express the difference between this and the former Present, the Emerods being only five, according to the five Cities mentioned, v. 17. because it may seem, the Cities only, or principally were pestered with that Disease; and the Mice being many more according to the number of all the Cities, as is here expressed: the Word city being taken generally so, as to include, not only Fenced Cities, but also the Country Villages, as is here added, and the Fields belonging to them, these being the parts where the Mice did most Mischief. f Which is mentioned as the utmost border of the Philistines Territory to which the Plague of Mice did extend. The word stone being easily understood out of v. 14. where this great stone is expressly mentioned, as the place on which the Ark was set, which is also here repeated in the following words. And this place is here called Abel, by anticipation from the great Mourning mentioned in the following Verse.

19 ¶ And he smote the men of Bethshemesh, because they had looked into the ark of the LORD g, even he smote of the people h fifty thousand and threescore and ten men i: and the people lamented, because the LORD had smitten many of the people with a great slaughter.

g Having now an opportunity which they never yet had, nor were ever like to have, it is not strange they had a vehement curiosity and desire to see the contents of the Ark: or whether the Philistines had taken them away, and put other things in their place; and they thought they might now presume the more, because the Ark had been polluted by the Philistines, and was now exposed to open view, and not yet put into that most Holy Place, which they were forbidden to approach. h i.e. Of the People living in, and near Bethshemesh, or coming thither from all parts upon this great and glorious occasion. Heb. And, or Also he smote of the people; to wit, of or belonging to other places, though now here: So these are distinguished from the men of Bethshemesh, of whom he speaks only in general and indefinitely, he smote the men; i.e. Some, or many of them, and then sets down the number of the persons smitten, or slain, either excluding the Bethshemites, or including them. i This may seem an incredible Relation, both because that place could not afford so great a number, and because it seems an act of great rigour, that God should so severely punish those people who came with so much Zeal and Joy to Congratulate the return of the Ark, and that for so inconsiderable an Error. For the latter branch of the Objection, it may be said, 1. That God always used to be most severe in punishing his own People, as Sinning against more knowledge and warning than others; especially, for such sins as immediately concern his own Worship and Service. 2. That men are very incompetent Judges of these Matters, because they do not understand all the reasons and causes of God's Judgments. For although God took this just occasion to punish them for that Crime which was so severely forbidden even to the common Levites under pain of Death; of which see Numb. 4. 18, 19, 20. Yet it is apparent, that the People were at this time guilty of many other, and greater Miscarriages, for which God might justly inflict the present punishment upon them: and moreover there are many secret Sins which escape Man's Observation, but are seen by God, before whom, many Persons may be deeply guilty, whom men esteem innocent and vertuous. And therefore men should take heed of Censuring the Judgments of God, of which it is most truly said, that they are oft secret, but never unrighteous. And for the former branch of the Objection, many things are, or may be said; 1. That the Land of Israel was strangely populous, See 2 Sam. 24.9. and 2 Chron. 13.3. 2. That all these were not the setled Inhabitants of this place, but most of them such as did, and in all probability would resort thither in great numbers upon so illustrious an occasion. 3. That all these were not struck dead in the very Fact, and upon the place, which would have terrified others from following their example; but were secretly struck with some Disease or Plague, which killed them in a little time. 4. That divers Learned Men translate, and understand the place otherwise, and make the number much smaller. Josephus the Jew, and the Hebrew Doctors, and many others contend, that only seventy persons were slain. Which though it seem but a small number, yet might justly be called a great slaughter, either for the quality of the persons Slain, or for the greatness and extraordinariness of the Stroke; or because it was a great number, considering the smallness of the Place, and the sadness of the Occasion. The words in the Hebrew are these, and thus placed, he smote of or among the people seventy men, fifty thousand men; whereas, say they, The Words should have been otherwise placed, and the greater number put before the less, if this had been meant, that he smote 50 Thousand and 70 Men. And one very Learned Man renders the Words thus, He smote of the people seventy men, even fifty of a thousand, the Particle, Mem, of, being here understood, as it is very frequently. So the meaning is, That God smote every twentieth Man of the Transgressors, as the Romans used to cut off every tenth Man in case of the general guilt of an Army. Or the Words may be rendred thus, He smote of, or among the people, seventy men out of fifty thousand men; the Particle Mem, of, or out of, being understood before the Word fifty, which Bochart puts before a thousand; and it may be thus expressed, to shew, that God did temper his Severity with great Clemency: And whereas there were many thousands of Transgressors (every one following his Brother's Example, as is usual in such cases) God only singled out 70 of the Principal Offenders, who either sinned most against their Light or Office; or were the Ringleaders, or chief Encouragers of the rest. To which may be added, That the ancient Translators, the Syriack, and Arabick, read the place five thousand and seventy men, being supposed to have read in their Hebrew Copies, Chamesh, five, for Chamishim, fifty, which is no great alteration in the Word.

20 And the men of Bethshemesh said, Who is able to stand before † this holy LORD God k? and to whom shall he go up from us l?

† Heb. the Lord, the holy God.

k i.e. To minister before the Ark where the Lord is present. Since God is so severe to mark whatsoever is amiss in his Servants, who is sufficient and worthy to serve him? who dare presume to come into his presence? It seems to be a Complaint, or Expostulation with God, concerning this last and great instance of his Severity. l Who will dare to receive the Ark with so much hazard to themselves?

21 ¶ And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim m, saying, The Philistines have brought again the ark of the LORD: come ye down and fetch it up to you.

m Whither they sent, either because the Place was not far off from them, and so it might soon be removed, which they mainly desired: or because it was a place of Eminency and Strength, and somewhat further distant from the Philistines, where therefore it was likely to be better preserved from any new attempts of the Philistines, and to be better attended by the Israelites, who would more freely and frequently come to it at such a place, than in Bethshemesh, which was upon the border of their Enemies Land: or because they thought they would gladly receive it, being a pious and zealous People: or because it was in the way to Shiloh, its ancient ient Habitation; and whither they might suppose it was to be carried by degrees, and several Stages, whereof this was one.

CHAP. VII.

The Ark is placed in Kirjath-jearim: Eleazer his son is sanctified to keep it, 1, 2. Samuel exhorts them to Repent, and put away their Idols, they obey him. A Fast at Mizpeh, 3.——6. The Philistines intend to set upon the Israelites, who are afraid, 7. Samuel offereth and prayeth for Israel. God heareth: Terrifieth the Philistines with Thunder, and they are smitten: Are subdued: And the cities which they had taken from the Israelites are recovered, 8.——14. Samuel visiteth all the Cities of Israel, and returns to Ramah: There builds an Altar to the Lord, 15.——17.

Psal.132. 6. AND the men of * Kirjath-jearim came a and fetcht up b the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the house of * Abinadab in the hill c, and sanctified d Eleazar his son e, to keep the ark of the LORD f.

a They gladly embrace the motion, as wisely considering, that their great Calamity was not to be charged upon the Ark, but upon themselves and their own carelessness, irreverence, and presumption, in looking into the Ark. This place is elsewhere called Baalah, and Kiriath-Baal, as is evident from Jos. 15. 9, 60. and 18.14. and 1 Chron 13.6, 7. b i.e. Caused it to be brought up; to wit, by the Priests appointed to that work, whom they could easily procure, and undoubtedly would do it, especially having been so lately warned of the great danger of violating God's Commands in those matters. In Scripture-use, men are commonly said to do that which they order, or cause others to do. c This place they chose, because it was both a strong place, where it would be most safe; and an high Place, and therefore visible at some distance, and to many Persons, which was convenient for them, who were at that time to direct their Prayers and Faces towards the Ark, 1 Kings 8. 29, 30, 35. Psal. 28. 2. and 138.2. Dan. 6 10. And for the same reason David afterwards placed it in the Hill of Sion. Some translate the word, in Gibeah. But that was in the Tribe of Benjamin, Jos. 18. 28. Judg. 19. 14. whereas this Kirjath-jearim was in the Tribe of Judah, 1 Chron. 13.6, 7. d Not that they made him either Levite or Priest, as some would have it; for in Israel Persons were not made, but born such; and since the Institution of Levites and Priests, none were made such, that were born of other Tribes, or Families; but that they devoted, or set him apart (as this Verb sometimes signifies) wholly to attend upon this Work. e Him they chose rather than his Father, because he was younger and stronger, and probably freed from Domestick Cares, which might divert him from, or disturb him in this Work; or because he was more eminent for Prudence or Piety. f To keep the place where it was, clean and neat, and to guard it that none might approach or touch it, but such as God required, or allowed to do so.

2 ¶ And it came to pass while the ark abode in Kirjath-jearim g, that the time was long: for it was twenty years h: and all the house of Israel lamented after the LORD i.

g Where it continued, and was not carried to Shiloh its former place, either because that place was destroyed by the Philistines when the Ark was taken, as may be gathered from this History, compared with Jer. 7. 12, 14. and 26. 6, 9. Or because God would hereby punish the wickedness either of that particular place of Shiloh, or of the People of Israel, by keeping it in a private and obscure place, and that near to the Philistines, whither the generality of the People neither durst, nor could safely come. h He saith not, That this 20 Years was all the time of the Arks abode there, for it continued there from Eli's time, till David's Reign, 2 Sam. 6.2. which was 40 years, Act. 13. 21. but that it was so long there e're the Israelites were sensible of their Sin and Misery, e're they lamented, &c. as it follows. i i.e. They followed after God with Lamentation for his departure, and so long estrangement from them, and with prayers for his return, and favour to them.

3 ¶ And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel k, saying, If ye do return unto the LORD l with all your heart m, then * put away the strange gods n, and * Ashtaroth o from among you, and prepare your hearts p unto the LORD, and * serve him only; and q he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.

* Josh. 24. 14, 23.
* Judg. 2. 13.
* Deut. 6. 13. Matt. 4. 10. Luk. 4. 8.

k To all the Rulers and People too, as he had occasion in his Circuit, described below, v. 16. mixing exhortations to Repentance, with his judicial Administrations. l If you do indeed what you profess, if you are resolved to go on in that which you seem to have begun. m Sincerely and in good earnest. n Out of your houses where some of you keep and worship them; and out of your Hearts and Affections, where they still have an Interest in many of you. o And particularly or especially, Ashtaroth, which he mentions as a god, whom they, together with the neighbouring Nations, did more eminently worship. See Judg. 2. 13. p By purging them from all Sin, and particularly from all inclinations to other gods. Or, direct your hearts, having alienated your hearts from your Idols, turn them to God, and not to other Idols or Vanities. q Or, then, upon these conditions you may confidently expect it.

4 Then the children of Israel did put away * Baalim and Ashtaroth, and served the LORD onely.

* Judg. 10. 16.

5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the LORD.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh r, and drew water, and poured it out s before the LORD t, and fasted on that day, and said there, We have sinned against the LORD. And Samuel judged the children of Israel u in Mizpeh.

r Not that beyond Jordan, of which Judg. 11. 11, 29. but another in Canaan, where the Israelites used to assemble, Judg. 20. 1. 1 Sam. 10. 17. s Which they did either, 1. Figuratively, they drew tears out of their Hearts, and poured out of their Eyes as it were Rivers of Water; such descriptions of penitential Sorrow being not unusual: See Psal. 6.7. and 119. 136. Jer. 9. 1. Lam. 3.48, 49 Or, rather, 2. Properly, because they are said first to draw it, and then to pour it out. And this agrees well with the State of those Times, wherein such Rites as this were very customary. Now this course they seem to have used, either, 1. As a mean or instrument of their Purification. So they washed themselves in this Water, thereby acknowledging their filthiness, and cleansing themselves as the Law prescribed. But this seems not probable; 1. Because here is only mention of drawing and pouring forth this Water before the Lord, but not of any washing themselves with it. 2. Because this was not a fit time and place to purifie themselves in this great and general Assembly. Or, 2. As an External Sign, whereby they testified and professed, both their own great filthiness and need of washing by the grace and spirit of God, and blood of the Covenant, which are oft signified by Water, and their sincere desire to pour out their very Hearts before the Lord, in true Repentance, and to cleanse themselves from all filthiness of flesh and spirit. t i.e. In the publick Assembly, where God is in a special manner present, as hath been noted before. u i.e. Governed them, reformed all Abuses against God or man, took care that the Laws of God should be observed and executed, and wilful Transgressors punished.

7 And when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philistines went up x against Israel: and when the children of Israel heard it, they were afraid y of the Philistines.

x To wit, with an Army, v. 10. suspecting the effects of their general Convention, and intending to nip them in the bud. y Being a company of unarmed Persons, and unfit for Battel.

8 And the children of Israel said to Samuel, † Cease not to cry unto the LORD our God for us z, that he will save us out of the hand of the Philistines.

† Heb. be not silent from us from crying.

z We are ashamed and afraid to look God in the face, because of our great wickedness this day remembred and acknowledged: do thou therefore intercede for us, as Moses did for his Generation.

9 ¶ And Samuel took a sucking lamb a, and offered it b for a burnt-offering wholly c unto the LORD: and * Samuel cried unto the LORD for Israel, and the LORD ‖ heard him d.

* Psa. 99.6.

a Which it might be, though it was more than Eight days old, and so that Law, Exod. 23. 19. was not violated. b Either himself by Divine Instinct, which was a sufficient Warrant; or rather by a Priest, as Saul is afterwards said to have offered, 1 Sam. 13. 9. c Burning all the parts of it, according to the Law of the Burnt-Offerings; whereas in other Offerings some parts were reserved. d As appears by the Effects, the following Thunder, and the overthrow of the Philistines Host.

10 And as Samuel was offering up the burnt-offering, the Philistines drew near to battel against Israel: but the LORD thundred with a great † thunder on that day upon the Philistines, and discomfited them, and they were smitten e before Israel.

e Either by the Lightnings, or Thunderbolts, or other things which accompanied the cracks of Thunder: or by the Israelites, who perceiving them to be affrighted and flee away, pursued, and smote them, as the next Verse mentions.

11 And the men of Israel went out of Mizpeh, and pursued the Philistines, and smote them f, until they came under Beth-car.

f Qu. Whence had they Weapons wherewith to smite them? Answ. Divers of them probably brought them to the Assembly, others borrowed them at Mizpeh, or the neighbouring places: And the rest might be the Arms of the Philistines, which they threw away to hasten their flight, as is usual in such cases.

12 Then Samuel took a stone g, and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name thereof ‖ Eben-ezer h, saying, Hitherto hath the LORD helped us i.

‖ That is the stone of help.

g A rude unpolish'd Stone, which was not prohibited by that Law, Levit 26. 1. there being no danger of Worshipping such a Stone, and this being set up only as a Monument of the Victory. h By which, compared with Chap. 4. 1. it appears, that this Victory was gained in, or near the very same place where the Israelites received their former foral loss. i He hath begun to help us in some measure, though not compleatly to deliver us. By which wary Expression, he exciteth both their thankfulness for their Mercy received, and their holy fear and care to please and serve the Lord, that he might proceed to help and deliver them more effectually.

13 ¶ So the Philistines were subdued, and they came no more into the coast of Israel k: and the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.

k i.e. They came not with a great Host, as now they did, but only molested them with straggling Parties, or Garisons; as 1 Sam. 10. 5. and they came not, to wit, all the days of Samuel, as it follows, i. e. while Samuel was their sole Judge, or Ruler; for in Saul's time they did come, 1 Sam. 13. 5, 17. and 14. 52. and 17. 1. &c.

† Heb. returned.

14 And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel, † were restored to Israel l, from Ekron even unto Gath, and the coasts thereof did Israel deliver out of the hand of the Philistines: and there was peace m between Israel and the Amorites n.

l By the Philistines, who, it seems, were frighted into this Restitution by their dread of Samuel, and of the Divine Vengeance. Object. The Philistines had Cities and Garisons in Israel's Land after this time; as 1 Sam. 10. 5. and 13. 3. Answ. Either therefore those places were not any of these here mentioned; for it is not said, That all their Cities were restored, but only indefinitely, the cities, and those limited to a certain compass, from Ekron to Gath; or some of the Cities now restored by the Philistines, were afterwards retaken by them. m An agreement for the Cessation of all acts of Hostility. n i.e. The Canaanites, oft called Amorites, because these were formerly the most Valiant and Terrible of all those Nations, and the first Enemies which the Israelites met with, when they went to take Possession of their Land. They made this Peace with the Canaanites, that they might be more at leisure to oppose the Philistines, now their most Potent Enemies.

15 And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life o.

o For though Saul was King in Samuel's last days, yet Samuel did not then quite cease to be a Judge, being so made by God's extraordinary Call, which Saul could not destroy; And therefore Samuel did sometimes, upon great occasions, though not ordinarily, exercise the office of a Judge after the beginning of Saul's Reign; as Chap. 11. 7. and 15. 32, 33. And the years of the Rule of Saul and Samuel are joyned together, Act. 13. 20, 21. Qu. How doth the Office of a Judge agree with Hannah's Vow, whereby she devoted him to a perpetual attendance upon the Lord's Service? Answ. This was not inconsistent with her Vow, which consisted of two Branches, the one more general, that he should be given, or lent to the Lord all his days, 1 Sam. 1. 11, 28. which she faithfully executed, leaving him wholly to the service and disposal of the LORD, who thought fit to employ him in this way; and, if any thing therein was contrary to that Vow, could undoubtedly dispense with it, as being his own right only; the other more particular, that no Rasor should come upon his head; nor doth it appear that this part was violated; or if it was, it was done by Divine Dispensation.

† Heb. and he circuited

16 And he went from year to year † in circuit to Bethel p, and Gilgal q, and Mizpeh r, and judged Israel in all those places s.

p Either a place known by that name: or the house of God; to wit, Kirjath-jearim, where the Ark was. q In the Eastern Border. r Towards the West. s He went to those several places, partly in compliance with the People, whose convenience and benefit he was willing to purchase with his own trouble, making himself an itinerant Judge and Preacher for their sakes; and partly, that by his presence in several parts, he might the better observe, and rectifie all sorts of miscarriages against God or Men.

17 And his return was to Ramah: for there was his house, and there he judged Israel, and there he built an altar unto the LORD t.

t That by joyning Sacrifices with his Prayers, he might the better obtain direction and assistance from God upon all emergencies. Object. It was unlawful to build another Altar for Sacrifice besides that before the Tabernacle, Deut. 12. 5, 13. Answ. This was in part excused by the confusion of those times, wherein the Tabernacle and its Altar were Destroyed; as is most probable; but most fully, because this was done by Prophetical Inspiration, and Divine Dispensation, as appears by God's approbation and acceptance of the Sacrifices offered upon it.

CHAP. VIII.

Samuel makes his sons Judges over Israel: Their Names: And ill Government, 1,—3. The People ask a King: Samuel is grieved: Prays: 4,—6. God is displeased with the People: But commands Samuel to hearken to them, 7,—9. And to represent to them the Tyrannical Government of Kings, which he doth, 10,——18. The People continue in their Request: God commandeth Samuel to yield to them, 19,—22.

AND it came to pass when Samuel was old a, that he made his sons Judges b over Israel.

a And so unable for his former Travels and Labours. b Nor Supreme Judges, for such there was to be but one, and that of God's chusing; and Samuel still kept that Office in his own hands, Chap. 7. 15. but his Vicegerents or Deputies, who might go about and determine matters, but with reservation of a right of Appeals to himself. He advanceth his Sons to this place, not so much out of Paternal Indulgence, the sad effects whereof he had seen in Eli; but because he had doubtless instructed them in a singular manner, and fitted them for the highest Employments; and he hoped that the Example he had set them, and the Inspection and Authority he still had over them, would have obliged them to diligence and faithfulness in the execution of their Trust.

2 Now the name of the first-born was Joel, and the name of his second Abiah: they were judges in Beer-sheba c.

c In the Southern border of the Land of Canaan, where he placed his Sons, because these parts were very remote from his house at Ramah; where, and in the neighbouring places Samuel himself still executed the Office of the Judge; sending his Sons to reside and judge in distant places, for the ease and convenience of the People.

3 And his sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after lucre, and * took bribes d, and perverted judgment. * Deut. 16. 19.

d Opportunity and temptation drew forth and discovered that Corruption in them, which till now was hid from their Father, and, it may be, from themselves.

4 Then all the elders e of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah.

e Either for Age, or Dignity, and Power.

5 And said unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways f: now * make us a king to judge us g, like all the nations h. * Heb. 13. Act. 13. 21.

f They feared, that Samuel would not live long; and that either he through infirmity and indulgence might leave the Government in his Sons hands; or that they would invade and keep it, after their Father's Death; and therefore they joyntly make their Complaints against them, and procure their removal from their places. Thus they are brought low, and crushed by those very wicked ways by which they designed to Advance and Establish themselves. So true is it, That Honesty is the best Policy, and Unrighteousness the greatest Folly. g Their conclusion out-run their Premises, and their Desires exceed their Reasons or Arguments, which extended no further than to the removal of Samuel's Sons from their places, and the procuring some other just and prudent assistance to Samuel's Age. Nor was the grant of their Desire a Remedy for their Disease, but rather an aggravation of it. For the Sons of their King might and were likely to be as corrupt as Samuel's Sons; and, if they were, would not be so easily removed as these were. h i.e. As most of the Nations about us have. But there was not the like reason; because God had separated them from all other Nations, and cautioned them against the imitation of their Examples, and had taken them into his own immediate Care and Government; which priviledge other Nations had not.

6 ¶ But the thing † displeased Samuel i, when they said, Give us a king to judge us: and Samuel prayed unto the LORD k. † Heb. was evil in the eyes of Samuel.

i Not their complaint of his Sons, but their desire of a King, as is apparent from the following Words, and from the whole course of the Story. Which was so grievous to him; partly, because of their Injustice and Ingratitude to himself, whose Government, though it had been so sweet and beneficial to them, they plainly shew themselves weary of; and principally, because God was hereby dishonoured and provoked, by that distrust of God, and that vain-glory and ambition, and that itch after Changes, which were the manifest causes of this Desire; and because of that great servitude and misery, which he wisely foresaw the People would hereby bring upon themselves, as he particularly informs them, v. 11, &c. k For the Pardon of their Sin, and desire of direction and help from God in this great affair.

7 And the LORD said unto Samuel, Hearken unto the voice of the people l in all that they say unto thee: for they have not rejected thee m, but * have rejected me n, that I should not reign over them o. * Chap. 15. 26.

l God grants their desire in Anger, and for their Punishment, as is affirmed, Hos. 13. 11. Compare Numb. 22. 13, 20. Deut. 1. 22. Psal. 77. 20. m i.e. Not thee only, nor principally. Compare Gen. 32. 28. Exod. 16. 7. Hos. 6. 6. Mat. 10. 20. n This injury and contumely, reflects chiefly upon me and my Government. o To wit, by my immediate and peculiar Government, which was the great honour, safety, and happiness of this People, if they had had wit to know it, or hearts to prize it. And all the Infelicities of Israel, under this kind of Government, did not proceed from the Nature of the Government, but from the ungovernableness and wickedness of the People, which, they might be sure, would produce the same or greater Calamities under their Kingly Government. Qu. First, Did not God Reign over them when they had Kings? Ans. Yes, in a general way, but not in such a peculiar manner as he did by the Judges, who were generally raised and called by Gods particular Appointment, Endowed and Sanctified by his Spirit, directed and assisted by his Special Providence upon all Emergencies; whereas all things were for the most part contrary in their Kings. Qu. Secondly, Was it simply unlawful for the People to desire a King? Ans. No, as appears from Deut. 17. 14. but herein was their Sin, That they desired it upon sinful grounds, of which see on v. 7. and in an impetuous manner, and at an unseasonable time, and without asking Leave or Advice from God; which in so weighty and difficult a Case they could not neglect without great Sin.

8 According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt, even unto this day, wherewith they have forsaken me, and served other gods: so do they also unto thee p.

p Thou fares't no worse than my self. This he speaks for Samuel's Comfort and Vindication.

9 Now

9 Now therefore ‖ hearken unto their voice: ‖ howbeit, yet protest solemnly unto them q, and shew them the manner of the king r that shall reign over them. ‖ Or, they.

q That, if it be possible, thou mayst yet prevent their Sin and Misery. r i.e. Of the Kings which they desire like the Kings of other Nations. He speaks not of the just Authority, or the right of their Kings, but of their Practice, as is evident from divers of the following particulars, which are expresly forbidden and condemned in Scripture, as we shall see.

10 ¶ And Samuel told all the words of the LORD unto the people, that asked of him a king.

11 And he said, This will be * the manner of the king that shall reign over you: he * will take your sons s, and appoint them for himself, for his charets, and to be his horsemen t, and some shall run before his charets. * Chap 14. 52.

s To wit, Injuriously and by Violence, as this Hebrew word is often used, as Gen. 20. 3. and 27. 36. Job 5. 5. and so it must be here; because otherwise the King would have no more priviledge than any of his Subjects; for any Man might take a Son with his own or Parents consent. t Or, and for his Horses, for so the Hebrew word Parash, sometimes signifies, as Isa. 21. 7, 9. and 28. 28. to ride his Horses. * Heb. is.

12 And he will appoint him u captains over thousands, and captains over fifties, and will set them to ear his ground, and to reap his harvest x, and to make his instruments of war, and instruments of his charets y.

Heb. To, or for himself; Emphatically, i.e. for his own fancy, or glory, or conveniency, or evil design, and not only when the necessities of the Kingdom or Commonwealth require it, as the Judges did. And though this might seem to be no incumbrance, as it is here represented, but an honour and advantage to the Persons so advanced, yet even in them that Honour was accompanied with great Dangers, and pernicious Snares of many kinds, which those faint shadows of Glory could not recompense; and as to the publick, their Pomp and Power proved very Burthensome and Oppressive to the People, whose Lands and Fruits were taken from them, and bestowed upon these, for the support of their State, as it follows below, v. 14, 15. x Or, is own pleasure, and without their consent, when possibly their own Fields required all their time and pains. y He will press them for all sorts of his work, and that upon his own terms.

13 And he will take your daughters z, to be confectioners, and to be cooks, and to be bakers.

z Which would be more grievous to their Parents, and more dangerous to themselves, because of the tenderness of that Sex, and liableness to many injuries.

14 And * he will take your fields a, and your vineyards, and your oliveyards, even the best of them, and give them to his servants b. * 1 Kings. 21. 7.

a To wit, by fraud or force, as Ahab did from Naboth. b He will not only take the Fruits of your Lands for his own use, but will take away your Possessions to give to his Servants.

15 And he will take the tenth c of your seed, and of your vineyards, and give to his † officers d, and to his servants. † Heb. Eunuchs.

c Besides the several Tenths which God hath reserved for his Service and Servants, he will, when he pleaseth, impose another Tenth upon you. d Heb. to his Eunuchs, which may be properly understood, and may imply a further injury, that he should against the command of God, make some of his People Eunuchs; and take those into his Court and Favour, which God would have cast out of the Congregation, 16 And he will take your men-servants, and your maid-servants, and your goodliest young men, and your asses, and put them to his work e.

e By constraint, and without sufficient recompence.

17 He will take the tenth of your sheep, and ye shall be his servants f.

f i.e. He shall use you like Slaves, and deprive you of that Liberty which you now enjoy.

18 And ye shall cry out in that day g, because of the king which ye shall have chosen you: and the LORD will not hear you in that day h.

g Ye shall bitterly mourn for the sad Effects of this inordinate desire of a King. h Because you will not hear him, nor obey his Counsel in this Day. Compare Prov. 1. 24, &c. Zech. 7. 13.

19 ¶ Nevertheless, the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel: and they said, Nay i, but there shall be a king over us k:

i i.e. These things shall never be, these are but vain Suppositions to affright us from our purpose. Thus they are not ashamed to give Samuel the lye, of whose Modesty, Integrity, and Prophetical Spirit, they had so great assurance, as if he had feigned those pretences meerly to keep the power in his own and his Sons hands. k We will have a King, whatsoever it cost us, although all thy Predictions should be verified.

† In times of peace. †† Or, in times of War, as this is, 1 Sa. 12. 12.

20 That we also may be like all the nations l, and that our king may judge us † and go out before us, and fight our battels.

l Woful Stupidity! Whereas it was their Glory and Happiness that they were unlike all other Nations, Numb. 23. 9. Deut. 33. 28. as in other glorious Priviledges, so especially in this, That the Lord was their only and immediate King and Lawgiver.

21 And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he rehearsed them in the ears of the LORD m.

m He repeated them privately between God and himself; partly, for his own Vindication and Comfort: and partly, as a Foundation for his Prayers to God, for Direction and Assistance in this difficult case.

22 And the LORD said to Samuel, Hearken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Go ye every man unto his city n.

n Betake your selves to your several occasions, till you hear more from me in this Matter. For God hath heard your words, and will give way to your Irregular and Obstinate desire; and accordingly I shall wait upon God for the determination of the Person, which he hath wholly referred to himself, as for Judges, so for the King also, Deut. 17. 15. and for the Regulation of all the Circumstances.

CHAP. IX.

The Genealogy of Kish. 1. Saul's Person. 2. He is sent to seek his Father's Asses. 3. He Travels through the Country, and finds them not, 4, 5. By the Counsel of his Servant, 6,——10. And the direction of young Maidens, 11,——14. According to God's Revelation, 15,——17. He cometh to Samuel, who meets him: Entertaineth him at the Feast: Telleth him the Asses were found, and he should be King, 18,—20. Saul's Amazement, 21. Samuel gives him the highest place: And a peculiar Dish: Eats with him, 22,—24. After secret Communication leadeth him on the way: The servant goes before: Saul stands still with Samuel, 25,—27.

NOW there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was * Kish a, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, a ‖ Benjamite b, a mighty man of ‖ power c. * Ch. 14. 51. 1 Chron. 8. 33. ‖ Or, the a Obj. His Name was Ner, 1 Chron. 8. 33. and 9. 39. Ans. Either son of a his Father had two Names, as was usual among the Hebrews: or man of Kish was really his Father that begot him; and Ner, the Brother of Kish, 1 Sam. 14. 51. 1 Chron. 9. 36. is called his Father, because upon the Death of Kish, he took the care of his Education, and brought him up as his own Son. b Heb. the Son of a man of Jemini; i.e. either of Benjamin: or of a Place, or of a Man called Jemini. c i.e. A man of great courage and strength; which tends to Saul's commendation: Otherwise, a Man of great Wealth. But that seems confuted by Saul's words below, v. 21. and the Peoples contempt of him, chap. 10. 27. Jemini. Or, Substance.

2 And he had a son whose name was Saul, † a choice young man, and a goodly d: and there was not a man of the children of Israel a goodlier person than he: from his shoulders and upward, he was higher than any of the people e. † Heb. choice and goodly. Gr. a man proper and goodly.

d Heb. good, i.e. comely and personable, as that word is used, Gen. 6. 2. as evil is put for deformed, Gen. 41. 19. e A tall Stature was much valued in a King in Ancient Times, and in the Eastern Countries.

3 And the asses of Kish, Saul's father, were lost: and Kish said to Saul his Son, Take now one of the servants with thee, and arise, go seek the asses f.

f Which were there of great price and use, Judg. 10. 4. and 12. 14. because of the scarcity of Horses, Deut. 17. 16. and therefore not held unworthy of Saul's seeking, at least in those ancient Times, when Simplicity, Humility, and Industry, were in fashion among Persons of Quality.

4 And he passed through mount Ephraim g, and passed through the land of Shalisha, but they found them not: then they passed through the land of Shalim, and there they were not: and he passed through the land † of the Benjamites, but they found them not. † Heb. Jemini.

g A part of the Tribe of Ephraim, which bordered upon Benjamin; and therefore they could soon pass out of the one into the other, and back again, as they saw cause.

5 And when they were come to the land of Zuph h, Saul said to his servant that was with him, Come, and let us return, lest my father leave caring for the asses, and take thought for us.

h In which was Ramah, called also Ramah or Ramathaim Sophim, the place of Samuel's Birth and Habitation; 1 Sam. 1. 1. and 7. 17.

6 And he said unto him, Behold now, there is in this city a man of God i, and he is an honourable man ∴ : all that he saith, cometh surely to pass k: now let us go thither; peradventure he can shew us our way that we should go l.

i A Prophet as that Phrase is used, 1 Sam. 2. 27. Jos. 14. 6. Judg. 13. 6. ∴ One of great Reputation for his Skill and Faithfulness. k His Declaration of things secret or future, are always certain and confirmed by the Event. l The Course we should take to find the Asses. He saith, peradventure, because he doubted whether so great a Prophet would seek, or God would grant him a Revelation concerning such mean matters: A though sometimes God was pleased herein to condescend to his People, to cut off all pretence or occasion of seeking to Witches or Heathenish divination. See 1 Kings 14. 2. 2 Kings 1. 3.

7 Then said Saul to his servant, But behold, if we go, what shall we bring the man? for the bread † is spent in our vessels m, and there is not a present to bring to the man of God n: What † have we?

†Heb. is gone out of, &c.

m This he saith, because Bread was not unusually given by way of present, as we see 1 Sam. 10. 3, 4. Or Bread is put for all manner of Provisions, as is frequent, and among these they might have something not unfit, in these plain Times, to make a Present of, as Clusters of Raisins, or Cakes of Figs, such as Abigail presented to David, 1 Sam. 25. 18. See also 1 Kings 14. 3. 2 Kings 4. 42. n Such Presents were then made to the Prophets, 1 Kings 14. 2, 3. 2 Kings 4. 42. and 8. 8. either as a Testimony of Respect to him as their Superiour; upon which account Subjects made Presents to their Kings, 1 Sam. 10. 27. And the Persians never came to their King without some Gift: or, as a grateful acknowledgment of his Favour: or, for the support of the Prophets themselves: or, of the Sons of the Prophets: or, of other Persons in want, known to them.

8 And the servant answered Saul again, and said, Behold, † I have here at hand the fourth part of a shekel of silver o, that will I give to the man of God to tell us our way.

†Heb. there is found in my hand.

o Which was near a Groat. Which, though now it may seem a contemptible Gift, yet in those Ancient Times it was certainly of far more worth, and better accepted than now it would be, when the Covetousness, and Pride, and Luxury of men, hath raised their expectations and desires to far greater things.

9 (Before time in Israel, when a man went to enquire of God p, thus he spake, Come, and let us go to the Seer: for he that is now called a Prophet, was before time called a Seer q.)

p Or, a Man of God, which signified the same thing. q Because he did discern, and could discover things secret and unknown to others. And these are the words, Either, First, of some later Sacred Writer, which, after Samuel's Death, inserted this Verse. Or, Secondly, Of Samuel, who, being probably 50 or 60 Years Old at the Writing of this Book, and speaking of the state of things in his first Days, might well call it before-time. Or rather, Thirdly, Of Saul's Servant, who might be now stricken in Years, and might speak this either by his knowledge of what was in his Juvenile Years, or upon the Information of his Father or Ancestors. And so it is a fit Argument to perswade Saul to go to the Man of God, that he might shew them their way, and where the Asses were, because he was likely to inform them; for the Prophets were anciently called Seers, because they knew and could reveal hidden things. And the meaning is, that anciently they were not vulgarly called Prophets, but Seers only; whereas now, and afterwards, they were called Seers, yet they were more commonly called Prophets.

10 Then said Saul to his servant, † Well said, come let us go: so they went unto the city, where the man of God was.

†Heb. thy word is good.

11 ¶ And as they went up † the hill to the city, they found young maidens going out r to draw water, and said unto them, Is the Seer here?

†Heb. the ascent of the city.

r i.e. Out of the City, and down to the bottom of the Hill, where the Fountain or River was.

12 And they answered them, and said, He is: behold, he is before you, make haste now: for he came to day to the city s; for there is a † sacrifice t of the people u to day in the high place x.

s She so speaks, though this was his own constant habitation, because he had been travelling abroad, possibly in his Circuit, described 1 Sam. 7. 16, 17. and was now returned to his own House in Ramah, as he used to do, and so the implies they come in a good and seasonable time to meet with him. t Otherwise, Feast: But it seems to be understood of a Sacrifice. First, Because so the Hebrew word signifies most properly, and most frequently. Secondly, Because this Eating was in the High place, which was the common place for Sacrifices, but not for private Feasts. Thirdly, The Prophets presence was not so necessary for a Feast, as for a Sacrifice. u So this Sacrifice is called, because this was a publick Solemnity, and possibly the New Moon, when the People brought several Sacrifices; to wit, Peace-offerings, whereof part fell to the Offerer's share; and of these parts united together, they here made a common Feast; not without Samuel's direction, who being forewarned the day before, by God, of Saul's coming, made this Feast more solemn for his encertainment, v. 22, 23, 24. x Upon the Hill mentioned, v. 11. and near the Altar which Samuel built for this kind of use, 1 Sam. 7. 17. by Divine Dispensation, as was there Noted. Otherwise to Sacrifice in High places was forbidden by the Law, after the Building of the Tabernacle.

13 Assoon as ye be come into the city, ye shall straightway find him y, before he go up to the high place to eat z: for the people will not eat until he come, because he doth bless the sacrifice a, and afterwards they eat that be bidden: Now therefore get ye up b, for about † this time ye shall find him.

†Heb. to day.

y At Home and at leisure. z The Relicks of the Sacrifices, according to the manner. a i.e. Either, First, The Meat left of the Sacrifice, which is the matter of the following Feast; as this is commonly understood. Or rather, Secondly, The Sacrifice it self: For what reason is there to depart from the proper signification of the Word? For that the Sacrifices under the Law were accompanied with Confession, or Petition, or Thanksgiving, may be gathered from divers places of Scripture, as Levit. 5. 5. and 16. 21. Numb. 5. 7. Luke 1. 10. And who so proper to perform this work, as Samuel, an eminent Prophet? And the Blessing of this Sacrifice seems to have consisted both of Thanksgiving, this being a Thank-Offering, and of Prayer to God for his acceptance, Psal. 20. 3. b With speed, left he be far down before you come.

14 And they went up into the city: and when they were come into the city, behold, Samuel came out c against them, for to go up to the high place.

c Out of his own House, just as they passed by.

15 ¶ * Now the LORD had † told Samuel in his ear d, a day before Saul came e, saying, d i.e. Secretly. e That he might prepare himself for Saul's reception.

16 To morrow about this time I will send thee a man f out of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be captain over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hand of the Philistines g: for I have looked upon my people h, because their cry i is come unto me.

f I will by my secret Providence so dispose of matters, and of the Hearts of Saul and his Father, that Saul shall come to thee, though with another Design. g For though they were now most pressed with the Ammonites, as we read chap. 12. 12. yet they looked upon these as a Land-Flood, which they hoped would be soon up, and soon down again: but the Philistines, their constant, inveterate, and nearest Enemies, they most dreaded. And from these Saul did in some measure save them, and should have saved them much more, if his and the Peoples manifold Sins had not hindred it. h To wit, with Compassion and Resolution to help them. An usual Synedoche. i i.e. Their earnest Prayers to me for help.

17 And when Samuel saw Saul, the LORD said unto him k, Behold the man whom I spake to thee of; this same shall † reign over my people.

†Heb. restrain, &c.

k In his Ear, as before, v. 15. by secret instinct, so as none but he could hear it.

18 Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate l, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, where the Seers house is.

l The Gate, either First, of Samuel's House. But he was come out thence before, v. 14. Or rather, Secondly, Of the City, for the word Gate being put by its self, according to reason and common use, must be understood of the most eminent in its kind, which the Gate of the City is. And through this Gate Samuel seems now to have been passing to go to the High-Place, which probably was without the City: and there he makes a stand, to hear what these Persons now approaching to him, were about to speak.

19 And Samuel answered Saul, and said, I am the Seer: Go up before me unto the high place, for ye shall eat with me to day, and to morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart m.

m Either all that thou desirest to know, as concerning the Asses: or rather, the secret thoughts of thy heart, or such actions as none know but God and thy own heart; that so thou mayst be assured of the truth and certainty of that which I am to acquaint thee with. And this might be done, though it be not here particularly related.

20 And as for thine asses that were lost † three days ago, set not thy mind on them n, for they are found: And † on whom is all the desire of Israel o? is it not on thee, and on all thy fathers house p?

†Heb. to day three days.

†Or, for whom all the desire, &c.

n Trouble not thy mind about them. o Who is he that shall be that Thing or Person which all Israel desire to have, to wit, a King? p That Honour is designed for thee, and, after thy Death, for thy Family or Posterity, if by thy Sin thou dost not cut off the Entail.

21 And Saul answered and said, Am not I a * Benjamite, of the smallest of the tribes of Israel q? and my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin r? wherefore then speakest thou † so to me s?

* Psal. 68. 27.

†Heb. is this word to me?

q For so indeed this was, having been all cut off except 600, Judg. 20. which Blow they never recovered, and therefore they were scarce reckoned as an intire Tribe, but only as a Remnant or Fragment of a Tribe; and, being Ingrafted into Judah, in the division between the Ten Tribes and the Two, they in some sort lost their Name, and they, together with Judah, were accounted but one Tribe, as 1 Kings 11. 32, &c. r i.e. One of the least; obscure and inconsiderable, in comparison of divers others. Whence it may seem that Saul's Family was not so Noble and Wealthy, as some imagine. See on v. 1. s Why dost thou feed me with vain hopes of the Kingdom?

22 And Samuel took Saul and his servant t, and brought them into the parlour, and made them sit in the chiefest place u among them that were bidden, which were about thirty persons.

u Whom he honoured for Saul's sake: thereby both giving all the Guests occasion to think how great that person was, or should be, whose very Servant was advanced above the Chief persons of the City, who were doubtless present upon this occasion; and shewing how far himself was from envying Saul that Honour and Power, which was to be translated from him to Saul. u Thereby to raise all their expectation, and to prepare them for giving that Honour to Saul, which his approaching Dignity required.

23 And Samuel said unto the cook, Bring the portion which I gave thee x, of which I said unto thee, Set it by thee.

x Or, I appointed or disposed to thee; i.e. which I had thee reserve for this use.

24 And the cook took up the shoulder y, and that which was upon it z, and set it before Saul: and Samuel said, Behold, that which is ‖ left a, set it before thee, and eat: for unto this time b hath it been kept for thee, since I said c, I have invited the people d: so Saul did eat with Samuel that day.

y To wit, the left Shoulder, for the right Shoulder was the Priests, Lev. 7. 32, 33. This he gives him, either, First, As the best and noblest part of the remainders of the Sacrifice: the best parts being usually given by the Master of the Feast to such Guests as were most honourable, or best beloved, as Gen. 43. 34. Or, Secondly, As a secret Symbol or Sign of that Burden which was to be laid upon Saul, and of that strength which was necessary for the bearing of it; the Shoulder being both the seat of burdens, and the subject of strength. z Something which the Cook by Samuel's order was to put upon it when it was dress'd, either for Ornament, or in the nature of a Sauce. a To wit, left of the Sacrifice; but so all, or most, of the rest of their Provisions were left: Or rather, reserved, or laid by, by my order, for thy eating; when the rest of the Meat was sent up, and disposed of as the Cook pleased. b Till thou shouldst come hither and sit down here: whereby thou mayst know that thy coming hither was not unknown to me, and was designed by God for an higher purpose. c To wit, to the Cook, who was before mentioned, as the person to whose Care this was committed. d i.e. I have invited or designed some persons; for whom I reserve this part. For since the word People is not here taken properly, but for some particular persons of the people, which were not in all above thirty, v. 22. why may not the same word be understood of two or three persons whom Samuel specially invited, to wit, Saul and his Servant? So some learned Men understand this word People, of three Men, 2 King. 18. 36. And they further note, That in the Arabick, and Aethiopick, and Persian Languages, (all which are near a-kin, both to themselves, and to the Hebrew, and do oft-times communicate their signification each to other:) the word that signifies People, is oft used for some few particular Persons. Or, if the word People be meant of the Chief of the People, mentioned above, v. 22. then Samuel was the Principal Author of this Sacrifice and Feast, and it was not a Sacrifice of the People, as it is rendred v. 12. but a Sacrifice and Feast made by Samuel for the People, as it should be rendred there: and the sence is, When I first spake or sent word to the Cook, that I had invited the People, first to joyn with me in my Sacrifice, and then to partake with me of the Feast, I then bad him reserve this part for thy use.

25 ¶ And when they were come down from the high place into the city, Samuel communed with Saul e upon the top of the house f.

e Concerning the Kingdom designed to him by God, and his Duty to expect it patiently, till God actually called him to it; and to administer it Prudly, and Justly, and Valiantly. f Which was flat after the manner, Deut. 22. 8. and so fit for walking, and for secret Prayers, Dan. 6. 10. Acts 10. 9. or any private and familiar Discourses among Friends.

26 and they arose early: and it came to pass about the spring of the day, that Samuel called Saul to the top of the house g, saying †, Up, that I may send thee away h: and Saul arose, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel abroad i.

†After other discourse.

g A second time, to impart something more to him. h Prepare thy self for thy Departure and Journey. i Samuel accompanying Saul part of his way.

27 And as they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant pass on before us k, (and he passed on) but stand thou still † a while, that I may shew thee the word of God l.

†Heb. to day.

k That thou and I may speak privately of the matter of the Kingdom. Which Samuel hitherto endeavoured to conceal, lest he should be thought now to impose a King upon them, as before he denied one to them; and that it might appear by the Lot mentioned in the next Chapter, that the Kingdom was given to Saul by God's Destination, and not by Samuel's Contrivance. l i.e. A Message delivered to me from God, which now I shall impart to thee.

CHAP. X.

Samuel anointeth Saul, 1. Confirms him by prediction of three signs, 2,—8. Saul prophesies, 9,—13. He cometh to his uncle: telleth him what Samuel had said concerning the asses, but concealeth the matter of the kingdom, 14,—16. Samuel assembleth the people at Mizpeh, 17,—20. Saul is chosen king by lot; but hideth himself; is discovered by God. His stature, 21,—23. Samuel presents him to the people, who receive him with shouting, 24. Samuel writeth the manner of the kingdom in a Book, 25. God inspires the people with reverence towards Saul: but the children of Belial despise him, 26, 27.

THen Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it upon his head a, and kissed him b, and said, Is it not because the LORD hath anointed thee to be captain over his inheritance c?

a Which was the usual Rite in the Designation, as of Priests and Prophets, so also of Kings, as 1 Sam. 16. 1, 13. 1 King. 1. 39. 2 King. 9. 1, 3, 6. whereby was signified the pouring forth of the Gifts of God's Spirit upon him, to enable him for the Administration of his Office, which he might expect, and should receive upon the discharge of his Duty. b Partly in token of that Reverence which he did owe, and that Subjection which he and all the People were thereby to perform to him, whereof Kissing was a sign, as Gen. 41. 40. 1 King. 19. 18. and partly, as a Testimony of his sincere Friendship and Affection to him, and how far he was from envying his Successor in the Supreme Dignity. c i.e. Over his own peculiar People. Whereby he admonisheth Saul, That this People were not so much his, as Gods; and that he was not to rule and manage them according to his own Will and Pleasure, but according to the Will and Mind of God.

2 When thou art departed from me to day, then thou shalt find two men by * Rachels sepulchre, in the borders of Benjamin d, at Zelzah: and they will say unto thee, The asses which thou wentest to seek, are found: and lo, thy father hath left † the care of the asses, and sorroweth for you, saying, What shall I do for my son?

* Gen. 35. 19, 20.

†Heb. the business.

d In the way to Bethlehem, Gen. 35. 19. which City was in Judah; and her Sepulchre might be either in Judah, or in Benjamin; for the possessions of those two Tribes were bordering one upon another, and oft intermixed together. See Jos. 18. 11.

3 Then shalt thou go on forward from thence, and thou shalt come to the plain of Tabor e, and there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Bethel f, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread g, and another carrying a bottle of wine h.

e Not that at the foot of Mount Tabor, which was far from these parts; but another belonging to some other Place, or Man, called Tabor. f Properly so called, which was in Ephraim, where there was a noted high Place; famous for Jacob's Vision there, Gen. 28. 10. where it is probable they offered Sacrifices, in this confused state of things, when the Ark was in one place, and the Tabernacle, if not destroyed, in another. Or, to the House of God; i.e. to Kiriath-jearim, where the Ark, the habitation of God, now was, 1 Sam. 7. 1, 2, 16. g Which might be offered, either by themselves, as Levit. 2. 4. or with other Sacrifices. h Which was poured forth in Drink-Offerings. See Lev. 23. 13. Numb. 15. 5.

4 And they will † salute thee, and give thee two loaves of bread i, which thou shalt receive of their hand.

†Heb. ask thee of peace.

i Two of those three designed for Sacrifice, supposing they could easily procure a supply of other Loaves at Bethel. But the more strange the Present was, the more fit it was for a sign of God's extraordinary Providence in Saul's Affairs.

5 After that thou shalt come to the hill of God k, where is the garison of the Philistines: and it shall come to pass, when thou art come thither to the city l, that thou shalt meet a company of prophets m coming down from the high place, n, with a psaltery, and a tabret, and a pipe, and a harp before them o, and they shall prophesie p.

k An Hill near Geba, or Gibeah of Benjamin, where a Garison of Philistines was, 1 Sam. 13. 3. called here the Hill of God, because it was a place devoted to the Service of God; either for Sacrifice, this being an high place, as it here follows; or, for a School or College of Prophets. l Adjoyning to that Hill. m By Prophets here, and in such like places, he understands Persons that did wholly devote themselves to Religious Studies and Exercises, such as Preaching, Praying, Praising of God, &c. For the term of Prophesying is not only given to the most eminent act of it, viz. foretelling things to come; but also to Preaching, as Rom. 12. 6. 1 Cor. 14. 31, 38. 1 Thess 5. 20. and to the making or singing of Psalms, or Songs of Praise to God, as 1 Chron. 25. 1, 2, 3. And they that wholly attended upon these things, are oft called Sons of the Prophets, which were commonly combined into Companies or Colleges, as 2 King. 2. 3, 5. that they might more conveniently edifie and assist one another in God's Work. Which Institution God was pleased so far to honour and bless, that sometimes he communicated unto those Persons the knowledge of future things, as 2 King. 2. 3, 5. n Where, either, their habitation was, or they had now been offering Sacrifice. And although they used to perform this following Exercise, either in their College, or in the place of their Sacrifices; yet now they did it in the descent of the Hill, which probably was beside their Custom, and therefore more proper for a sign to Saul of a more than ordinary hand of God towards him. o Such Instruments of Musick being then used by Prophets and other Persons, for the exhilaration and excitation of their Spirits in God's Service. See 2 King. 3. 15. p Either sing God's Praises, or speak of the things of God.

6 And the spirit of the LORD will come upon thee q, and thou shalt prophesie with them, and shalt be turned into another man r.

q Heb. will heap or rush upon thee, to wit, for a season. So it may be opposed to the Spirits resting upon a Man, as Numb. 11.25. Isa. 11. 2. r i.e. Thou shalt be suddenly endowed and acted with another Spirit, filled with skill of Divine things, with Courage, and Wisdom, and Magnanimity; and other qualifications befitting thy Dignity.

† Heb it shall come to pass that when those signs, &c. † Heb. do for thee as occasion shall find.

7 And † let it be when these signs s are come unto thee, † that thou do as occasion shall serve thee t, for God is with thee.

s Which were certain Evidences of God's calling of him to the Kingdom, because they were all future Contingencies, which none but God could infallibly know or foretel. t Heb. do what thy hand finderh to do; i. e. As thou shalt have a Call and Opportunity. He doth not intend that he should take the Kingly Government upon him, before his Call to it was known to, and owned by the People, which had been preposterous and dangerous; but that he should dispose his Mind to a readiness of undertaking any Publick Service when necessity required it, and he should be called to his Office.

8 And thou shalt go down before me to Gilgal, and behold, I will come down unto thee, to offer burnt-offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace-offerings: * seven days shalt thou tarry till I come to thee u, and shew thee what thou shalt do.

* Chap. 13. 8.

u This, though now mentioned and commanded, yet was not immediately to be performed; as is evident, partly from the whole course of the Story, which shews, That Saul and Samuel, and the People, first met at Mizpeh, v. 17, &c. where Saul was chosen by God, and accepted by the People as King; and afterwards went to Gilgal once before the time here spoken of, chap. 11. 14, 15. and partly, by comparing this place with chap. 13. 8, &c. where we find Saul charged with the violation of this Command, two years after the giving of it, as appears from chap. 13. 1, 2. Quest. How then is this to be understood? Answ. 1. This may be given as a standing Rule for Saul to observe while Samuel and he lived; That in case of any great future Difficulties, as the Invasion of Enemies, Saul should resort to Gilgal, and call the people thither, and tarry there seven Days, which was but a reasonable and necessary time for the gathering of the people, and for the coming of Samuel thither. For though this be related as but once done, chap. 13. yet Josephus affirms, that it was to be constantly practised upon all such occasions. And Gilgal was chosen for this purpose as a very fit place; partly, because that place was famous for the solemn renewing of the Covenant between God and Israel, Jos. 4. and for other eminent Instances of God's Favour to them, the remembrance whereof was a notable Confirmation of their Faith; and partly, because it was a very convenient place for the Tribes within and without Jordan to assemble, and consult, and unite their Forces together upon such occasions. If you ask, Why then Saul did not practise this Precept upon the first Invasion of the Ammonites? It may be answered, That this was a Rule for Saul, when he and Samuel were asunder, whereas they were together in that Expedition, chap. 11. 7. And further, That necessity did excuse the violation of this Precept then, because Saul could not wait for Samuel, nor forbear his Action for seven Days, as is evident from chap. 11. 3, 9, 10. Or, 2. (which I propose with submission to Learned and Judicious) This may be here added as another sign to confirm his Faith, which having strengthned by three foregoing signs, he now fortifies it: by another sign which was to follow afterwards; it being very usual for God to give Men signs to confirm their Faith from future Events; as Exod. 3. 12. 2 King. 19. 29. Isa. 7. 13, 14. So the meaning may be this; Another sign I will add to strengthen thy Faith; Thou shalt in due time, and upon a great occasion which shall then happen, go down before me to Gilgal, and there I will come down unto thee to offer ——— Sacrifices, &c. But when thou comest thither, be sure thou tarry there seven days, and then I will come, as I have said, and give thee necessary Instructions and Assistance, as the matter shall require.

† Heb. shoulder. † Heb. turned. * See on v. 6.

9 ¶ And it was so that when he had turned his † back to go from Samuel, God † gave him another heart: * and all those signs came to pass that day.

10 And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a company of prophets met him, and the spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them x.

x Then the accomplishment of the two former Signs is supposed, and this only of the third is expressed, because this was more eminent and publick than the former; the other were only transient Acts, which passed in private between two or three Persons meeting together, and passing by one another; but this was a more permanent and more notorious sign, done in a more solemn manner, and before many, and very considerable Witnesses.

† Heb. a man to his neighbour. * Chap. 19. 24.

11 And it came to pass, when all that knew him before-time, saw, that behold, he prophesied among the prophets, then the people said † one to another, What is this that is come unto the son of of Kish y? * is Saul z also among the prophets?

y What means this strange and prodigious Event? z A Man never instructed, nor exercised in, nor enclined to these matters; a Man ever thought fitter to look to his Father's Asses, than to bear a part in the Sacred Exercises of the Prophets.

† Heb. from thence.

12 And one † of the same place a answered, and said, But who is their father b? Therefore it became a proverb c, Is Saul also among the prophets?

a Heb. one from thence; i.e. One of the company there present, or one of the Prophets there prophesying. b Who is the Father of all these Prophets of whom you speak, and among whom Saul now is one? Who is it that instructs and inspires them with this holy Art, but God? They have it not from their Natural Parents, nor from their Civil Education, but by Inspiration from God, who, when he pleaseth, can inspire Saul, or any other Man with the same skill. And therefore wonder not at this matter, but give God the glory of it. Father is here put for Teacher, or Instructor, as it is used; as Gen. 4. 20, 21. Matth. 23. 9. 1 Cor. 4. 15. And hence the Scholars are called sons of the Prophets. c Used when any strange, unlikely, or unexpected thing happened.

13 And when he had made an end of prophesying, he came to the high place d.

d Returning thither with the Prophets, there to praise God for these wonderful Favours, and to beg Counsel and Help from God in this high Business.

14 ¶ And Sauls uncle e said unto him, and to his servant, Whither went ye? and he said, To seek the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel.

e Being there present, and observing this great alteration in his Nephew.

15 And Sauls uncle said, Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said unto you.

16 And Saul said unto his uncle, He told us plainly that the asses were found. But of the matter of the kingdom, whereof Samuel spake, he told him not f.

f Partly in obedience to Samuel, who obliged him to secrecy: partly, from an humble Modesty which appeared in him, v. 22. and partly, in Prudence, lest by an unseasonable publishing of it, he should raise Envy in some, Disbelief and Contempt in others, &c.

17 ¶ And Samuel called the people together unto the LORD g to Mizpeh h, g To appear, before the Lord. So he speaks, either, 1. Because the Ark was carried thither upon this occasion. Or, 2. Because God is present in all the Assemblies of his People, whereof this was an eminent one: See 2 Chron. 19. 6. Psal. 82. 1. Or, 3. Because they did in a manner erect a Tribunal for God; and intreated, and consequently obtained his Presence there to supervise and direct the whole business by his Sentence, which also he did, v. 19, &c. See of this Phrase Judg. 11. 11. and 20. 1. h A City of Benjamin, Jos. 18. 26. where all Israel had met before upon a publick and solemn occasion, 1 Sam. 7. 5.

18 And said unto the children of Israel, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all kingdoms i, and of them that oppressed you.

i To wit, the neighbouring Kingdoms, which molested you from time to time.

19 And ye have this day rejected your God k, who himself saved you l out of all your adversities, and your tribulations: and ye have said unto him m, Nay, but set a king over us. Now therefore present your selves before the LORD by your tribes, and by your thousands n.

k You this day declare, That you persist in your former act of rejecting God's Government: See on chap. 8. 7. l Who by his own special Providence took Care to raise up Judges and Saviours for you, and to deliver you at all times, when you needed his help, and did not by your Sins obstruct it. m i.e. Unto me his Prophet and Ambassador; and consequently unto the Lord whom I represented, and in whose Name I spake and acted. n For each Tribe was divided into Thousands, Numb. 10. 36. Deut. 33. 17. Josh. 22. 14, 21. Mic. 5. 2. as in England, Counties are into Hundreds.

20 And when Samuel had caused all the tribes of Israel to come near o, the * tribe of Benjamin was taken ‖. * Josh. 7. 14, 18.

o Unto the place appointed for the casting of Lots. ‖ Which Tribe was now preferred before Judah, because the Kingdom was freely promised by God to Judah, and was to be given to him in love; but now the Kingdom was in a manner forced from God, and given to them in anger, Hos. 13. 11. and therefore confetred upon an obscure Tribe.

21 When he had caused the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri was taken, and Saul the son of Kish was taken: and when they sought him, he could not be found.

22 Therefore they enquired of the LORD p, further, if the man should yet come thither: and the LORD answered, Behold, he hath hid himself among the stuff q.

p Either by Urim or Thummim, which was the usual way of enquiry, Numb. 27. 21. 1 Sam. 23. 9. and 28. 6. Or by Samuel, who by his Prayer procured an answer. q Among the Carriages or Baggage of the People there assembled. This he might do, because he either had, or at least would be thought to have a modest sence of his own unworthiness, which was a likely way to commend him to the People.

23 And

23 And they ran and fetched him thence, and when he stood among the people, he was higher than any of the people, from his shoulders and upward.

24 And Samuel said to all the people, See ye him whom the LORD hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? and all the people shouted, and said, † God save the king s.

† Heb. let the king live.

r As to the height of his Bodily Stature, which was in it self commendable in a King, and some kind of indication of great Endowments of Mind. † Heb. Let the King live; to wit, long and prosperously; for an afflicted Life is reputed a kind of Death, and is often called. Hereby they accept and own him for their King, and promise Subjection to him.

25 Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom t, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the LORD u, and Samuel sent all the people away, every man to his house.

r Not the manner of the King, of which he had spoken before, chap. 8. 11, &c. but of the Kingdom; to wit, the Laws and Rules by which the Kingly Government was to be managed; agreeable to those mentioned Deut. 17. 16, &c. which peradventure Samuel did expound, and apply to their particular Case. u Before the Ark, or in the Sanctuary, where it was kept safe from depravation.

26 ¶ And Saul also went home to Gibeah x, and there went with him y a band of men, whose hearts God had touched z.

x Not being actually inaugurated into his Kingdom, he thought fit to retire to his former Habitation, and to live privately till he had an occasion to shew himself in a more Publick and Illustrious manner, which he speedily obtained. y To give him safe and honourable Conduct to his House, though not to abide with him there, which did not suit with his present Circumstances. z i.e. Either, 1. Disposed or inclined to this work. Or, 2. Affected or renewed by his Grace and good Spirit working upon their Hearts; those that feared God, and made conscience of their Duty: for they are opposed to the children of Belial in the next Verse. These, though they did not desire a King, as the generality of the People did; yet when God had given them a King, they were most forward to pay him that Reverence and Obedience which they owed him: both which proceeded from the same Principle, that they were in both cases guided by God's Will; which was, that they should not desire a King in their Circumstances; and yet, they should obey him, when God had set a King over them.

27 But the children of Belial said, How shall this man a save us? and they despised him, and brought him no presents b: but ‖ he held his peace c.

† Or, he was as though deaf.

a So mean a Person, and of the weakest of all the Tribes. b As Subjects in those times and places used to do to their Kings: See 1 King. 10. 25. 2 Chron. 17. 5. Matth. 2. 11. and as Saul's mean Condition, wherewith they upbraided him, required. c Thereby manifesting his Prudence and Clemency, which was of great use in the beginning of his Government.

CHAP. XI.

Nahash besieged them of Jabesh-Gilead: offereth them a reproachful condition: they have seven days granted them to consult and seek relief: they send messengers to Saul, 1,—5. He is provoked: sends messengers to all the Israelites to come in to their help: they come to the number of three hundred and thirty thousand men, 6,—8. He sends word to the besieged, who deceive Nahash: who with his army is slain, 9,—11. The people are ready to slay Sauls enemies: in which he opposeth them: he is invested in the kingdom at Gilgal, 12,—15.

THen a Nahash the Ammonite b came up c, and encamped against Jabesh-Gilead d: and all the men of Jabesh said unto Nahash, Make a covenant with us e, and we will serve thee f.

a i e. About that time; this Particle being used in some Latitude, as is frequent: for that this happened before, and was the occasion of their desire of a King, may seem from chap. 12. 12. Although it is possible, that Nahash his preparation, and declared intention of Warring against them, might cause that desire, and that Nahash did not actually come against them (which is here related) till their King was chosen. b Either the same with him, 2 Sam. 10. 2. or his Father and Predecessor. c To War, probably to revenge and to recover their former great loss by Jephthah, Judg. 11. 33. d Which was beyond Jordan, and near the Ammonites, who dwelt in part of Arabia. e To wit, upon good Conditions, so as we shall enjoy our Religion and Properties. f In other things we will be thy Subjects and Tributaries. The occasion of this offer was, that they saw no likelihood of relief from their Brethren the Israelites in Canaan, who were remote from them, and then weak and divided, and scarce able to defend themselves from the Philistines.

2 And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, On † this condition will I † make a covenant with you, that I may thrust out all your right eyes g, and lay it for a reproach upon all Israel.

† Heb cut. (see Exod. 21. 32. Gen. 15. 18. Jer 34. 18.)

g Partly for a Reproach, as it here follows; and partly, to disable them from managing offensive Weapons in Battel; for their left Eye served only, or chiefly for Defence, being covered by those large Shields which then they used, and held in their left Hand. He leaves them one Eye, that they might be fit to serve him in any mean and base Office.

† Heb. Jabesh in.

3 And the elders of Jabesh said unto him, † Give us seven days respite h, that we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel: and then, if there be no man to save us, we will come out to thee.

b Which it is very probable, and Josephus and others affirm, That Nahash granted, out of a foolish self-confidence, and contempt of the broken Condition of the Israelites, which he thought utterly unable to give them any relief; at least, in so short a time.

4 ¶ Then came the messengers to Gibeah of Saul i, and told the tidings in the ears of the people: and all the people lift up their voices, and wept k.

i Partly, because it was not far from them; and partly, because it belonged to the Benjamites, who had a special Obligation to take more care of that Place from whence they had their Wives, Judg. 21. 10, &c. And partly, because Saul, their new chosen King, was there. k Both in compassion towards them, and for fear of themselves, lest it should shortly be their own Lot.

5 And behold, Saul came after the herd out of the field l, and Saul said, What aileth the people that they weep? and they told him the tidings of the men of Jabesh.

l For being only anointed King, and not publickly inaugurated, nor owned, nor presented by the generality of the People, nor having yet had opportunity of doing any thing worthy of his Place, he thought fit to forbear all Royal State, and to retire to his former private, and Country Life, which, howsoever despised in these latter, vain, ambitious, and slothful Ages of the World, was anciently in great esteem among the Greeks and Romans, whose Princes and Generals did frequently exercise themselves in it. Though some conceive that he now lived in some State, and that he had been in the Fields only to recreate himself, and that his coming after the Herd was but accidental, and is mentioned only to usher in what follows of the Yoke of Oxen.

6 And the spirit of God came upon Saul m, when he heard those tidings, and his anger was kindled greatly n.

m Inspiring him suddenly with more than ordinary Courage, and Zeal, and Resolution, to ingage himself and the People for their Rescue. Compare Judg. 3. 10. and 6. 34. and 11. 29. n Against Nahash, for so insolent and barbarous a Proposition.

7 And he took a yoke of Oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the coasts of Israel o, by the hand of messengers, saying, Whosoever cometh not forth after Saul, and after Samuel p, so shall it be done unto his oxen: and the fear of the LORD q fell on the people, and they came out † with one consent.

† Heb. as one man.

o Wisely considering, that the sight of Mens Eyes do much more affect their Hearts, than what they only hear with their Ears. p Whom he joyns with himself, both because he was present with him; as appears from v. 12. and that hereby he might gain the more Authority to his Command, and strike the greater Terror into all Despisers of it. q Either, 1. A great fear; great things being oft thus expressed; as Cedars of God, Mountains of God, &c. Or, 2. A Fear expressed; as by God, as Gen. 35. 5. that they should not dare to deny their help.

8 And When he numbred them in Bezek, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand r, and the men of Judah thirty thousand s.

r This great Terror drew so many forth: which is not so strange to him that knows what none deny, That the Land of Canaan contained vast Numbers of People in a little compass. s Who are numbred apart to their honour, to shew how readily they, to whom the Kingdom was promised, Gen. 49. 10. submitted to their King, though of another and far meaner Tribe; and how willingly they were to hazard themselves for their Brethrens Rescue, although they might have excused themselves from the necessity of defending their own Country from their dangerous Neighbours the Philistines.

9 And they said unto the messengers that came, Thus shall ye say unto the men of Jabesh-Gilead, To morrow t by that time the sun be hot, ye shall have ‖ help. And the messengers came, and shewed it, to the men of Jabesh, and they were glad.

t To wit, the day after your departure hence, or return home; for it seems probable, that some few days had been spent in the gathering and disposing of the Forces, and bringing them towards those parts.

10 Therefore the men of Jabesh said, To morrow we will come out unto you, and ye shall do with us all that seemeth good unto you u.

u They did, and might reasonably and justly understand their own Condition before proposed, v. 3. if none came to save them; which they were not now obliged to repeat, although they conjectured, that their Enemies would understand it absolutely, whose Error therein they were no more obliged to Correct, than to prevent their Destruction. Nor did they tell any lye herein, but only concealed part of their Intentions, to render their Enemy more secure and fit for Ruine; which kind of Stratagems are usual, and allowed by all Persons.

11 And it was so on the morrow, that Saul put the people into three companies x, and they came into the midst of the host in the morning watch y, and slew the Ammonites, until the heat of the day: and it came to pass, that they which remained were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.

x That

x That so Invading them on several sides with a great Force, he might both strike them with the greater Terror, and prevent their escape. y Having marched all the Day and Night before it.

* Chap. 10. 27. * Luke 19. 27.

12 ¶ And the people said unto Samuel, * Who is he that said, Shall Saul reign over us z? * bring the men, that we may put them to death a.

z They did not say so in terms, as we may see, chap. 10. v. 27. but this was the Design and Consequence of their Speech, as they rightly construe it. a Which till this time they were not able to do, because that Infection was then almost universal.

* 2 Sam. 19. 22.

13 And Saul said, * There shall not a man be put to death this day: for to day the LORD hath wrought salvation in Israel b.

b I will not destroy any of those whom God hath so graciously preserved; nor fully the Mirth of this glorious and comfortable Day with the slaughter of any of my Subjects: and therefore I freely forgive them. Wherein Saul shewed his Policy as well as his Clemency, this being the most likely way to gain his Enemies, and secure his Friends, and stablish his Throne in the Hearts of his People.

14 Then c said Samuel to the people, Come, and let us go to Gilgal d, and renew the kingdom there e.

c Whilst the People were together by Jabesh-Gilead, wherein Samuel's great Prudence and Fidelity to Saul is evident. He suspended the Confirmation of Saul at first, whilst the generality of the People were dissatisfied and discontented at the meanness of his Person: and now when he had given such eminent proof of his Princely Vertues, and when the Peoples Hearts were unanimously and eagerly set upon him, he takes this as the fittest season for that work. d This place he chose, both because it was near, and, to most of them, in the way to their homes; and because thither the Israelites on this side, and beyond Jordan, might more easily resort; and because it was famous for publick Conventions there kept, and particularly, for the Covenant there renewed by Joshua between God and the People. e i.e. Confirm our former Choice, to prevent all such Seditious Expressions and Actions as we had experience of at the former Election.

15 And all the people went to Gilgal, and there they made Saul king f before the LORD g in Gilgal: and there they sacrificed sacrifices of peace-offerings h, before the LORD: and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoyced greatly.

f i.e. They Recognized him, or owned and accepted him for their King by consent; for to speak properly, Saul was not made, or constituted King by the People, but by the Lord's immediate Act; see chap. 8. 9. and 10. 1. g Who was there present in a special manner; both because the People of the Lord were there Assembled, and because there was an Altar, as the following Sacrifices shew. The same Phrase is used chap. 10. 17. and 14. 18. h Partly to praise God for so glorious a Victory, and for the firm Settlement of the distracted Kingdom; and partly, to implore the Presence and Assistance of God to the King and Kingdom, in all their Affairs and Exigencies.

CHAP. XII.

Samuel having appointed a king unto the people: testifieth his own Integrity, to which they witness, 1,—5. He setteth before them the sins of their ancestors: and their own sin in asking a king, 6,—13. Comforteth them if they will obey the Lord: threateneth the disobedient: terrifies them by thunder in harvest: they confess their sin, and desire to be reconciled to the Lord, 14,—19. He comforts and exhorts them to fear and serve the Lord: promising also to pray for them, 20,—25.

AND Samuel said unto all Israel a, Behold, I have hearkned unto your voice in all that ye said unto me, and have made a king over you.

a Whilst they were assembled together in Gilgal. And this is another instance of Samuel's great Wisdom and Integrity. He would not reprove the People for their Sin, in desiring a King, whilst Saul was raw, and weak, and unsettled in his Kingdom, and in the Peoples Hearts; lest through their accustomed Levity, they should as hastily cast off their King, as they had passionately desired him, and so add one Sin to another; and therefore he chuseth this Season for it; partly, because Saul's Kingdom was now confirmed and illustrated by an eminent Victory, and so the danger of rejecting him was out of doors; which Circumstance was also considerable for Samuel's Vindication, that it might appear, that his following Reproof did not proceed from any selfish Respects or Desires, which he might be supposed to have of retaining the Power in his own Hands, but meerly from the Conscience of his Duty, and a sincere Desire of all their Good; and partly, because the People rejoiced greatly, as is said in the next foregoing Verse; and upon this occasion applauded themselves for their desires of a King; and interpreted the Success which God had now given them, as a Divine Approbation of those Desires; whereby they were like to be hardened in their Impenitency, and might be drawn to many other Inconveniencies: Samuel therefore thinks fit to temper their excessive Joys, and to excite them to that Repentance and Holy Fear, which he saw wanting in them, and which he knew to be absolutely necessary, to prevent the Curse of God upon their new King, and the whole Kingdom.

2 And now, behold, the king walketh before you b: and I am old and gray-headed c, and behold, my sons are with you d: and I have walked before you e from my childhood unto this day.

[- b Goeth out and cometh in before you; i.e. Ruleth over you, as that Phrase signifies, Numb. 27. 16. Deut. 31. 2. 2 Chron. 1. 10. To him I have fully resigned all my Power and Authority, and do here by renounce it, and own my self for a private Person, and one of his Subjects. c And therefore unable to bear the burden of Government, and feel my self greatly at ease to cast upon other Shoulders; and therefore do not speak what I am about to say, from envy of Saul's Advancement, or from discontent at the Diminution of my own Power. d Or, among you, in the same State and Place, private Persons, as you are; if they have injured any of you in their Government, as you once complained, the Law is now open against them; any of you may accuse them, your King can punish them, I do not intercede for them, I have neither Power nor Will to keep them from receiving the just Fruits of their Misdemeanours. e e.i. Been your Guide and Governor; partly, as a Prophet; and partly, as a Judge.

3 Behold, here I am, witness against me f before the LORD, and before his anointed: * Whose ox have I taken? or whose asse have I taken? or whom have I defrauded? whom have I oppressed g? † Heb. ransom. or of whose hand have I received any † bribe h || to blind mine eyes therewith i? and I will restore it || Or, shall hide mine eyes as this. you k.

* Num. 16. 15. † Heb. Accusation.

f I here present my self before the Lord, and before your King, being ready to give an account of all my Administrations, and to make satisfaction for any Injuries that I have done. And this Protestation Samuel makes of his Integrity, not out of Ostentation or Vain-glory; but partly, for his own just Vindication, that the People might not hereafter for the Defence of their own Irregularities, reproach his Government; partly, that being publickly acquitted from all Faults in his Government, he might more freely and boldly reprove the sins of the People, and particularly, that sin of theirs in desiring a King, when they had so little reason for it, and they had so just a Governor, from whom they might have promised themselves an effectual Redress of his Sons male-administrations, if they had acquainted him therewith; and partly, that by his Example he might tacitly admonish Saul of his Duty, and prevent his misunderstanding of what he had formerly said, chap. 8. v. 11, &c. and mistake that for the Rule of his just Power, which was only a Prediction of his evil Practices. g Whom have I wronged, either by Fraud and false Accusation, or by Might and Violence? h Heb. Price of Redemption, given to Redeem an unjust and lost Cause or Person, from that Righteous Sentence which they deserved. i That I should not discern what was right and just, or dissemble it as if I did not see it. Or, that I should hide or cover mine eyes (i.e. wilfully wink at the plain truth) for it; i.e. for the Bribe; or, for him; i.e. for his sake. k Or, and I will cover mine eyes for him; i.e. I will take shame to my self, and cover my Face as one ashamed to look upon him.

4 And they said, Thou hast not defrauded us, nor oppressed us, neither hast thou taken ought of any mans hand.

5 And he said unto them, The LORD is witness against you l, and his anointed is witness this day, that ye have not found ought m in my hand: And they answered n, He is witness.

l To wit, if you shall at any time hereafter reproach my Government or Memory. Or rather, against you, that I gave you no cause to be weary of God's Government of you by Judges, or to desire a change of the Government; and therefore the blame of it wholly rests upon your selves. But this was only insinuated, and therefore the People did not fully understand his drift in it. m i.e. Any thing which I have gotten by Bribery or Oppression. n Heb. he answered; i.e. the whole People, who are here spoken of as one Person, because they answered thus with one Consent.

6 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, It is the LORD that || advanced Moses and Aaron o, and that brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt. || Or, made

o That for your sakes raised, constituted, and exalted Moses and Aaron, to that great Power and Reputation which they had, and used, to deliver you.

7 Now therefore stand still, that I may reason with you p before the LORD, of all the † righteous acts q of the LORD, which he did † to you and your fathers. † Heb. Righteousnesses or benefits.

p Since God hath laid so great Obligations upon you, let us a little consider whether you have answered them. q Heb. the Righteousnesses; i.e. Mercies or Benefits; for so that word is oft used, as Psal. 24. 5. and 36. 10. Prov. 10. 2. and 11. 4. and that is the chief Subject of the following Discourse; some of their Calamities being but briefly named, and that for the illustration of God's Mercy in their Deliverances. † Heb. with.

8 * When Jacob was come into Egypt, and your fathers * cried unto the LORD, then the LORD * sent Moses and Aaron, which brought forth your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place r.

* Gen. 46. 5, 6. * Exod. 3. 10. † Heb. made. & 4. 14.

r In this Land: in which Moses and Aaron are said to settle them; partly, because they brought them into, and seated them in part of it, to wit, that without Jordan; partly, because they were, under God, the Principal Authors of their entring into the Land of Canaan; inasmuch as they brought them out of Egypt, conducted them thorough the Wilderness; and there by their Prayers to God, and Counsel to them, preserved them from utter Ruine, and gave Command and Direction from God for the distribution of the Land among them, and incouraged them to enter into it by promises and assurances of Success. And lastly, Moses substituted Joshua in his stead, stead, and commanded him to carry them thither, and seat them there, which also he did.

9 And when they forgat the LORD their God s, * he sold them into the hand of Sisera, captain of the host of Hazor, and into the hand * of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king * of Moab, and they fought against them t.

* Judg. 4. 2. * Judg. 10. 7. * Judg. 3. 12.

s i.e. They revolted from him, as it is explained v. 10. and carried themselves as ungratefully and unworthily towards God, as if they had wholly forgotten his great and innumerable Favours, and their infinite Obligations to him. Forgetting of God, is oft put for all manner of Wickedness, whereof indeed that is the true cause. See Isa. 17. 10. Jer. 3. 21. Ezek. 22. 12. This he saith, partly, to Answer an Objection, That the reason why they desired a King, was, because in the time of the Judges they were at great uncertainties, and oft-times exercised with sharp Afflictions: to which he Answereth by Concession that they were so; but adds, by way of Retortion, that they themselves were the cause of it, by their forgetting of God: So that it was not the fault of that kind of Government, but their transgressing the Rules of it; and partly, to mind them, that this their ungrateful Carriage towards God, was no new or strange thing, but an hereditary and inveterate Disease, that so they might more easily believe their own Guilt herein, and be more deeply humbled, both for their own, and for their Parents Sins. t To wit, with success, and subdued them.

10 And they cried unto the LORD, and said, We have sinned, because we have forsaken the LORD, and have served Baalim, and Ashtaroth: but now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will serve thee.

11 And the LORD sent * Jerubbaal, and Bedan u, and * Jephthah, and * Samuel x, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and ye dwelled safe y.

* Judg. 6. 32. * Judg. 11. 1. * Chap. 7. 13.

u This certainly is one of the Judges; and because there is no Judge so called in the Book of Judges, it is reasonably concluded, that this was one of the Judges there mentioned, having two Names, as was very frequent. And this was, either, First, Samson, as most Interpreters believe, who is called Bedan; i.e. in Dan, or of Dan, or the Son Dan, one of that Tribe, to signifie that they had no reason to distrust that God, who could, and did, raise so eminent a Saviour out of so obscure a Tribe. Or, Secondly, Jair the Gileadite, of whom Judg. 10. 3. which may seem best to agree, First, With the Time and Order of the Judges; for Jair was before Jephthah, but Samson was after him. Secondly, With other Scriptures: for among the Sons of a more ancient, and a famous Jair, of whom see Numb. 32. 41. we meet with one called Bedan, 1 Chron. 7. 17. which Name seems here given to Jair the Judge, to distinguish him from that first Jair. Thirdly, With the following words, which shew that this Bedan was one of those Judges who delivered them out of the hand of their Enemies on every side, and made them to dwell safely; which seems not so properly to agree to Samson, who did only begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines; as was foretold of him, Judg. 13. 5. as to Jair, who kept them in peace and safety, in the midst of all their Enemies, as may be gathered from Judg. 10. 3, 4, 5, 6. And so did all the rest of the Judges here mentioned. x He speaks of himself in the Third Person, which is frequent in the Hebrew Tongue, as Gen. 4. 23. Psal 132. 1, 10, 11. Dan. 1. 6. Isa. 1. 1. And he mentions himself not through vain ostentation, but for his own just and necessary Vindication, and for the justification and inforcement of his following Reproof, to shew that he had not degenerated from his Predecessors, nor had been so inconsiderable and unprofitable to them, as to give them any occasion to contrive or desire this change of Government in his days. y So that it was no Necessity, but meer Wantonness, that made you desire a Change.

12 And when ye saw that Nash the king of the children of Ammon came against you, * ye said unto me, Nay, but a king shall reign over us z, when the LORD your God was your king a.

* Chap. 8. 19.

z See the Notes on Chapter 11. 1. a i.e. When God was your immediate King and Governor, who was both able and willing to deliver you, if you had cried to him, whereof you and your Ancestors have had plentiful experience; so that you did not at all need any other King; and your desire of another, was a manifest reproach against God, as if he were either grown Impotent, or Unfaithful, or Unmercitful to you.

13 Now therefore, behold the king whom ye have chosen b, and whom ye have desired: and behold, the LORD hath set a king over you c.

b Though God chose him by Lot, yet the People are said to chuse him; either generally, because they chose that Form of Government: or particularly, because they approved of God's choice, chap. 10. 24. and confirmed it, chap. 11. 15. c He hath yielded to your inordinate desire.

14 If ye will fear the LORD, and serve him, and obey his voice, and not rebel against the † commandment of the LORD, then shall both ye, and also the king that reigneth over you, † continue following the LORD d your God. † Heb. mouth. † Heb. be after.

d Heb. Then shall — ye — be, (i.e. walk, or go) after the Lord; i.e. God shall still go before you, as he hath hitherto done, as your Leader or Governor, to Direct, Protect, and Deliver you; and he will not forsake you, as you have given him just cause to do. Sometimes this Phrase of going after the Lord, signifies a Man's Obedience to God; but here it is otherwise to be understood (as it is no new thing, for the same Phrase in several places, to be understood in quite different Senses;) and it notes not a Duty to be performed, but a Promise of a Privilege to be received upon the performance of their Duty; because it is opposed to a threatning denounced in case of Disobedience, in the next Verse.

15 But if ye will not obey the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then shall the hand of the LORD be against you, as it was against your fathers e.

e Who lived under the Judges; and you shall have no advantage in that Point by the change of Government, nor shall your Kings be able to Protect you against God's Displeasure.

16 ¶ Now therefore stand f, and see this great thing which the LORD will do before your eyes.

f He intends not the Posture of their Bodies, but the Consistency of their Minds, by serious and fixed Consideration.

17 Is it not wheat-harvest to day g? I will call unto the LORD, and he shall send † thunder, and † rain h, that ye may perceive and see that your wickedness is great, which ye have done in the sight of the LORD, in asking you a king. † Heb. voice.

g At which time it was a rare thing in those parts to have Thunder or Rain, as the Scripture oft implies; and St. Jerome affirms, who was an Eye-witness of it; the Weather being more constant and certain in its Seasons there, and in divers other parts, than it is with us who live in Islands, as all Travellers inform us. h That by this unseasonable and pernicious Storm you may understand that God is displeased with you; and also how Foolishly and Wickedly you have done in rejecting the Government of that God, at whose Command are all things both in Heaven and in Earth.

18 So Samuel called unto the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day: and all the people greatly feared the LORD, and Samuel i.

i Who had such great Power and Favour with God.

19 And all the people said unto Samuel, Pray for thy servants k unto the LORD thy God l, that we die not m: for we have added unto all our sins, this evil, to ask us a king n.

k For so we shall still own our selves to be, though we have got another Master. l Whom thou hast so great an Interest in, and canst so easily prevail with for any Mercy, whilst we are ashamed and afraid to call him our God, because we have so highly offended him. m That this terrible Storm may be taken away, lest our Persons and the Fruits of the Earth be all destroyed. n So horribly were they biassed with their Prejudices and Passions, that nothing but a Miracle could convince them of this particular Sin.

20 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, Fear not o: (ye have done all this wickedness, yet turn not aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart:

o To wit, with a servile and desponding Fear, as if there were no Hope left for you.

21 And turn ye not aside p, for then should ye go q after vain things r, which cannot profit nor deliver s, for they are vain.)

p To wit, after Idols; as they had often done before; and, notwithstanding this warning, did afterwards. q Or, should ye turn aside; which words are easily to be understood out of the foregoing Branch, such Ellipses being most frequent in Scripture, as Deut. 1. 4. 1 King. 14. 14. 2 King. 9. 27. r So Idols are called, Deut. 32. 21. Jer. 2. 5. and so they are, being meer nothings, 1 Cor. 8. 4. having no Divinity nor Power in them; no Influence upon us, nor Use or Benefit to us. s i.e. Which will not only be unprofitable, but highly pernicious to you; the contrary Affirmative being understood under the Negative, as Exod. 20. 7. Numb. 21. 23. Deut. 2. 30.

22 * For the LORD will not forsake his people for his great Names sake t: because it hath pleased the LORD to make you his people t. * Psal. 94. 14.

s i.e. For his own Honour, which would seem to suffer much among Men, if he should not preserve and deliver People in eminent Dangers; as if he were grown feeble, or forgetful, or inconstant, or unfaithful, or regardless of Human Affairs, or unkind to those who own and worship him, when all the rest of the World forsake him. Hence this Argument hath been oft pleaded with God, not without good success, as Exod. 32. 12. Numb. 14. 13, &c. And this reason God here alledgeth to take them off from all conceit of their own merit; and to assure them, that if they did truly repent of all their sins, and served God with all their heart, which is here supposed; yet even in that case their Salvation would not be due to their Merits; but only the effect of God's Free Mercy. t To wit, out of his own Free Grace, without any desert of yours, as he saith, Deut. 7. 7. and 9. 5. and therefore he will not easily forsake you, except you thrust him away.

23 Moreover, as for me, God forbid that I should sin against the LORD, † in ceasing to pray for you u: but I will teach you x the good and the right way. † Heb. from ceasing.

u Think not that because you have so highly disobliged and rejected me, that I will revenge my self, by neglecting to pray for you, or by Praying against you, as I have now done for your Conviction and Humiliation, and so for your Preservation; I am sensible it is my Duty, Dury, as I am a Man, an Israelite, a Minister, a Prophet, to Pray for you. x Heb. and I will, &c. i.e. I will not only Pray for you, which is one Branch of my Duty; but will also Teach and Instruct you, which is the other Branch of it. And though you have cast me off from being your Judge and Ruler, yet I will not cease to be your Instructor and Monitor, to keep you from Sin and Destruction.

24 Only fear the LORD, and serve him y in truth with all your heart: for consider ‖ how great things he hath done for you z.

‖ Or, what a great thing, &c.

y Otherwise neither my Prayer nor Counsels will stand you in any stead. z Or, among you, both at this time and formerly.

25 But if ye shall still do wickedly, ye shall be consumed, both ye and your king.

CHAP. XIII.

Saul and Jonathan's select band. Jonathan smiteth the garison of the Philistines at Gibeah: the people are called together at Gilgal, 1,—4. the Philistines great host: the Israelites run into caves: and tremble, 5,—7. Saul offereth before Samuel cometh to him: he reproves him for it: foretelleth him that his kingdom should not last long, 8,—14. three companies of the Philistines invade the land: they had no smith to make them swords, &c. Nor had any of the Israelites, save Saul and Jonathan, sword or spear, 15,—23.

† Heb. the son of one year in his reigning.

SAul † reigned one year a, and when he had reigned two years over Israel, a i.e. Had now reigned one Year, from his first Election at Mizpeh, in which time these things were done, which are recorded chap. 11. and 12. to wit, Peaceably, or Righteously. Compare 2 Sam. 2. 10.

2 Saul chose b him three thousand men of Israel c: whereof two thousand were with Saul in Michmash d, and in mount Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent every man to his tent.

b Heb. And (i.e. Then, as that Adverb is oft used, as Gen. 3. 5. and 18. 10, &c.) Saul chose. c Which he thought sufficient for constant Attendance and Service, intending to summon the rest when need should be. d A Track of Ground near Ramah and Bethel, in the Border of Benjamin, and near to the Philistines.

* Chap. 10. 5. ‖ Or, the hill.

3 And Jonathan smote the * garison of the Philistines e that was in ‖ Geba f, and the Philistines heard of it: and Saul blew the trumpet thorowout all the land, saying, Let the Hebrews hear g.

e The first Defign of Saul and Jonathan, was to Free their Land from the Garisons which the Philistines had in it; and they first begin to clear their own Country of Benjamin. f Not the same place called Gibeah, v. 2. (for if the place were the same, why should he vary the Name of it in the same Story, and in the next Verse? Nor is it likely that Jonathan would chuse that place for his Camp, where the Philistines had a Garison:) but another place in the same Tribe, in which there were two distinct places, Geba and Gibeah, Josh. 18. 24, 28. g i.e. He sent Messengers to tell them all what Jonathan had done, and how the Philistines were enraged at it, and made great preparations for War; and therefore what necessity there was of gathering themselves together, and coming to him, for his and their own Defence.

† Heb. did stink.

4 And all Israel heard say, that Saul b had smitten a garison of the Philistines, and that Israel also † was had in abomination with the Philistines: and the people were called together after Saul to Gilgal i.

b i.e. Jonathan by Saul's Direction and Encouragement. The Actions of an Army are commonly ascribed to their General. i The place before appointed by Samuel, chap. 10. 8.

5 ¶ And the Philistines gathered themselves together to fight with Israel, thirty thousand charets k, and six thousand horsemen, and people as the sand which is on the sea-shore in multitude, and they came up and pitched in Michmash, eastward from * Bethaven.

* Josh. 7. 2. & 18. 12, 13.

k This number seems incredible to Infidels. To whom it may be sufficient to reply, That it is far more rational to acknowledge a mistake in him that copied out the Sacred Text in such Numeral or Historical Passages, wherein the Doctrine of Faith and Good Life is not directly concerned, than upon such a Pretence to question the Truth and Divinity of the Holy Scriptures, which are so fully Attested, and evidently Demonstrated. And the mistake is not great in the Hebrew, Schalosh for Schelishim; and so indeed those two Ancient Translators, the Syriack and Arabick translate it, and are supposed to have read in their Hebrew Copies, Three thousand. Nor is it necessary that all these should be Military Charets, but many of them might be for Carriage of things belonging to so great an Army; for such a distinction of Charets we find, Exod. 14. 7. But there is no need of this Reply. Charets here may very well be put for the Men that rode upon them, and fought out of them, by a Figure called a Metonymy, of the Subject for the Adjunct; or the thing containing, for the thing contained in it, than which none more frequent. In the very same manner, and by the very same Figure, the Basket is put for the Meat in it, Deut. 28. 5, 17. the Wilderness, for the wild Beasts of the Wilderness, Psal. 29. 8. the Nest, for the Birds in it, Deut. 32. 11. the Cup, for the Drink in it, Jer. 49. 12. 1 Cor. 10. 21. And, to come more closely to the Point, an Horse is put for an Horse-load of Wares laid upon it, 1 King. 10. 28. and an Asse of Bread, is put for an Asse-load of Bread, both in the Hebrew Text of 1 Sam. 16. 20. and in an Ancient Greek Poet. And, yet nearer, the word Charets, is manifestly put, either for the Horses belonging to them; or rather, for the Men that fought out of them, as 2 Sam. 10. 18. where it is said in the Hebrew, that David slew seven hundred Charets; that is, seven thousand Men, which fought in Charets, as it is explained, 1 Chron. 19. 18. and 1 King. 20. 21. where Ahab is said to smite Horses and Charets; and 1 Chron. 18. 4. and Psalm 76. 6. where the Charet and Horse (i.e. the Men that ride and fight in Charets, or upon Horses) are said to be cast into a dead sleep: and Ezek. 39. 20. where it is said, ye shall be filled at my Table with Horses and Charets, (i.e. with Men belonging to the Charets, for surely the Charets of Iron had been very improper Food,) with mighty Men, &c. And let any cavilling Infidel produce a wise Reason, why it may not, and ought not to be so understood here also? Add to all this, that the Philistines were not alone in this Expedition, but had the help of the Canaanites, and the Tyrians, as is very credible, both from Ecclesiast. 40. 20. and from the Nature of the thing. If it be further enquired, Why the Philistines should raise so great an Army at this time? The Answer is obvious; That not only their Old and Formidable Enemy Samuel was yet alive, but a New Enemy was risen, even King Saul, who was lately confirmed in his Kingdom, and had been flushed with his good Success against the Ammonites, and was likely to grow more and more Potent, if not timely prevented; and they thought that now the Israelitish Affairs were come to some Consistency, being put into the hands of a King; and therefore they thought fit once for all to put forth all their Strength to suppress the Israelites, and to prevent that Ruine which otherwise threatned them.

6 When the men of Israel saw that they were in a strait l: (for the people were distressed m) then the people did * hide themselves in caves n, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in high places, and in pits.

* Judg. 6. 2.

l Notwithstanding their former Presumption, That if they had a King, they should be free from all such straits. And hereby God intended to teach them the Vanity of all Carnal confidence in Men; and that they did not one jot less need the Help and Favour of God now, than they did before, when they had no King. m They were not mistaken in their apprehensions of Danger, as Men oft are, for they were really in great Danger, their Enemy's Host far exceeding theirs, both in Number, and Order, and Courage, and Arms. n Whereof there were divers in those parts for this very use, as we read in Josephus, and in the Holy Scripture.

7 And some of the Hebrews went over Jordan, to the land of Gad and Gilead: as for Saul, he was yet in Gilgal, and all the people o † followed him trembling.

† Heb. trembled after him.

o To wit, his whole Army, opposed to the common People, v. 6.

8 ¶ * And he tarried seven days p, according to the set time that Samuel had appointed: but Samuel came not to Gilgal, and the people were scattered from him.

* Chap. 10. 8.

p Not seven compleat Days; for that the last Day was not finished, plainly appears from Samuel's reproof, which had then been groundless and absurd, and he had fully charged Saul with breaking God's Command therein, v. 13. And as Samuel came on the seventh Day, and that with intent to sacrifice; so doubtless he came in due time, for that Work which was to be done before Sun-setting, Ex. 29. 38, 39. So Saul waited only six compleat Days, and part of the seventh, which is here called seven Days: for the word Day, is oft used for a part of the Day, as among Lawyers, so also in Sacred Scripture, as Matth. 12. 40. where Christ is said to be in the heart of the Earth three days and three nights; i.e. one whole Day, and part of the other two Days. Moreover this place may be thus rendred: He tarried until the seventh day, (as this same Phrase is used, Gen. 7. 10. Heb. until the seventh of the days) (as the Hebrew Lamed is oft taken) the set time that Samuel had appointed.

9 And Saul said, Bring hither a burnt-offering to me, and peace-offerings. And he offered the burnt-offering q.

q Either himself; or rather by the Priest, as Solomon is said to offer, 1 King. 3. 4. Compare 1 Sam. 1. 3.

10 And it came to pass, that as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt-offering, behold, Samuel came r, and Saul went out to meet him, that he might † salute him s.

† Heb. bless him.

r i.e. It was told Saul, Behold Samuel is coming. s i.e. Congratulate his coming. This he did, partly out of Custom; and partly, that by this Testimony of his Affection and Respect to Samuel, he might prevent that Rebuke which his guilty Conscience made him expect.

11 ¶ And Samuel said, What hast thou done t? And Saul said, Because I saw that the people were scattered from me, and that thou camest not within the days appointed u, and that the Philistines gathered themselves together to Michmash:

t He suspected that Saul had transgressed; either by his dejected Countenance, or some Words uttered by him, though not here expressed: but he asks him, that he might be more fully and certainly informed, and that Saul might be brought to an ingenuous Confession of his Sin, and true Repentance for it. u i.e. When the seventh Day was come, and a good part of it past, whence I concluded thou wouldst not come that Day, and that thou hadst forgotten thy Appointment, or been hindred by some extraordinary Occasion.

12 Therefore said I, the Philistines will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not † made ‖ supplication unto the LORD x; I forced my self therefore, and offered a burnt-offering y.

† Heb. intreated the face.

x Hence it appears, that Sacrifices were accompanied with solemn Prayers. y I did it against my own Mind and Inclination. My Conscience told me I should forbear it, and punctually obey God's Command delivered to me by Samuel, but my necessity urged me to make haste.

13 And Samuel said to Saul, Thou hast done foolishly z: thou hast not kept the commandment of the LORD thy God a, which he commanded thee: for now would the LORD have established thy kingdom upon Israel for ever b.

z In that very thing wherein thou thinkest thou hast done wisely and politickly, in disobeying my express Command upon a pretended necessity, or reason of State. a Not only upon common grounds, as thou are his Creature, and one of his People; but in a special manner, who hath conferred peculiar Favours and Honours upon thee: which is an aggravation of thy sin. b Quest. How could this be true, when the Kingdom was promised to Judah, Gen. 49. 10. and consequently must necessarily be taken away from Saul, and from his Tribe? Ans. First, The Phrase, for ever, in Scripture use, often signifies only a long time; as Gen. 43. 9. Exod. 21. 6. 1 Sam. 28. 2. So this had been abundantly verified, if the Kingdom had been enjoyed by Saul, and by his Son, and by his Son's Son; after whom the Kingdom might have come to Judah. Secondly, Though the Kingdom had been promised to Saul, and to his Posterity for ever in a larger sence, yet that was upon condition of his Obedience. And therefore God might well promise the Kingdom to Judah, because at that time, and before, he foresaw that Saul would by his Disobedience forfeit that Promise, and that he would take the forfeiture, and transfer the Kingdom to Judah.

14 But now thy kingdom shall not continue: * the LORD hath sought c him a man after his own heart d, and the LORD hath commanded e him to be captain over his people, because thou hast not kept that which the LORD commanded thee f.

* Psal. 89. 20. Acts 13. 22.

c i.e. Hath found or discovered, as Men do by seeking. An Antitropopathy. d i.e. Such a Man as he desires, one who will fulfil all the desires of his Heart, and not oppose them, as thou dost. e i.e. Hath appointed or decreed, as the word command is sometimes used: for it was not yet actually done. f Quest. First, What was Saul's sin? Ans. Either, First, That Saul invaded the Priests Office, and offered the Sacrifice himself: which is not probable, both because he had Priests with him, and among others an eminent one, Ahiah, chap. 14. 3. and therefore had no occasion nor presence for that presumption. Or rather, Secondly, That Saul did not wait the full time for Samuel's coming; for that is the thing which God commanded, chap. 10. 8. and the breach of this Command is the only thing for which Saul makes an Apology, v. 11. 12. Quest. Secondly, Why did God so severely punish Saul for so small an Offence, and that occasioned by great Necessity, and done with an honest Intention? Ans. First, Men are very incompetent Judges of God's Judgments, because they see but very little, either of the Majesty of the offended God, or of the heinous Nature and Aggravations of the Offence. For instance, Men see nothing but Saul's outward act, which seems small; but God saw with how wicked a Mind and Heart he did this, with what Rebellion against the Light of his own Conscience, as his own words imply; with what gross infidelity and distrust of God's Providence; with what contempt of God's Authority, and Justice, and many other wicked Principles and Motions of his Heart, unknown to Men. Besides, God clearly saw all that wickedness that yet lay hid in his Heart, and foresaw all his other Crimes; and therefore had far more grounds for his Sentence against him, than we can imagine. Secondly, God doth sometimes punish small sins severely, and that for divers weighty reasons, as that all Men may see what the least sin deserves, and how much they owe to God's free and rich Mercy, for passing by their great Offences; and what need they have not to indulge themselves in any small sin, as Men are very prone to do, upon vain presumptions of God's Mercy, whereby they are easily and commonly drawn on to heinous Crimes; and for many other Reasons: so that some such instances of God's Severity, are necessary Discipline and Caution to all Mankind in the present and future Ages; and therefore there is far more of Mercy and Kindness in such Actions, than of Rigour and Harshness, since this is but particular to one Person, and the other is an universal Good. Thirdly, It must be remembred, that the Kingdom of Saul, and of Israel, was now in its Infancy; and that this was the first Command which he received from God. And it hath been ever held a piece of Wisdom in all Law-givers, severely to punish the first Violations of their Laws, to secure their Honour and Obedience, and to affright and caution Offenders for the future. And accordingly God dealt with Cain the first Murderer; with Israel, for their first Idolatry with the Calfs with the first miscarriage of the Priests, Levit. 10. 1. with the first prophaner of the Sabbath, Numb. 15. 20. with the first gross Hypocrites in the Christian Church, Acts 5. 5, 10. And therefore it is neither strange nor unjust, if he deal with Saul after the same manner, and upon the same grounds. Fourthly, Though God threaten Saul with the loss of his Kingdom for this sin; yet it is not improbable, that there was a tacit condition implied, as is usual in such cases, as Jonah 3. 4. to wit, if he did not heartily repent of this and of all his sins; for the full, and final, and peremptory Sentence of Saul's rejection, is plainly ascribed to another Cause, chap. 15. 11, 23, 26, 28, 29. and till that second Offence, neither the Spirit of the Lord departed from him, nor was David anointed in his stead, chap. 16, 13, 14.

15 And Samuel arose, and gat him up from Gilgal, unto Gibeah of Benjamin g. And Saul numbred the people that were † present with him, * about six hundred men.

† Heb. found. * Chap. 14. 2.

g Whither Saul also followed him; as appears from the next Verse: either, because it was better fortified than Gilgal: or, because he expected a greater increase of his Army there, it being in his own Tribe, and nearer the heart of his Kingdom: or, because he hoped for Samuel's Assistance there.

16 And Saul, and Jonathan his son, and the people that were present with them, abode in Gibeah of Benjamin: but the Philistines encamped in Michmash.

17 And the spoilers came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies h; one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ophrah i, unto the land of Shual.

h That they might march several ways, and so waste several parts of the Country. i A City of Benjamin, Jos. 18. 23. South-west from Michmash.

18 And another company turned the way to Bethhoron k: and another company turned to the way of the border that looketh to the valley of Zeboim toward the wilderness l.

k A City of Ephraim, Jos. 16. 3. Northwest from Michmash. l i.e. The Wilderness of Jordan, Eastward.

19 ¶ Now there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel m: (for the Philistines said, † Lest the Hebrews make them swords or spears.)

† We must take them away.

m This was a Politick course of the Philistines, which also other Nations have used. So the Chaldeans took away their Smiths, 2 King. 24. 14. Jer. 24. 1. and 29. 2. And Porsenna obliged the Romans by Covenant, That they should use no Iron but in the Tillage of their Lands.

20 But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines n to sharpen every man his share, and his coulter, and his axe, and his mattock.

n Not to the Land of the Philistines, for it is not said so, and that was too remote; but to the Stations and Garisons which the Philistines yet retained in several parts of Israel's Land, though Samuel's Authority had so far over-awed them, that they durst not give the Israelites much Disturbance. In these, therefore, the Philistines kept all the Smiths; and here they allowed them the exercise of their Art for the uses here following.

21 Yet they had † a file for the mattocks, and for the coulters, and for the forks, and for the axes o, and † to sharpen the goads.

† Heb. a file with mouths. † Heb. to set.

o So the fence is, They allowed them some small helps to make their Mattocks, and in some sort to serve their present use. But these words may be otherwise translated, and are so by some Learned, both Ancient and Modern, Translators: Thus, Therefore the mouths or edges of the mattocks, and coulters, &c. were dull or blunt. Or rather thus, When (Heb. and put for when, as the Particle, and, is sometimes rendred, as Mark 15. 25.) the mouths or edges of the mattocks, &c. were blunt. So this passage very well agrees both with the foregoing and following words; and the whole sence of the place is intirely thus, They went to the Philistines to sharpen their shares, and mattocks, and coulters, and axes, when they were blunt, and (which was more strange, They were forced to go to them, even) to sharpen their goads.

22 So it came to pass in the day of battel, that there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people, that were with Saul and Jonathan p, but with Saul and with Jonathan his son was there found.

p Quest. How could the Israelites smite either the Garison of the Philistines above, v. 3. or the Host of the Ammonites, chap. 11. 11. without Arms? And when they had conquered them, Why did they not take away their Arms, and reserve them to their own use? Ans. 1. This want of Swords and Spears is not affirmed concerning all Israel, but is restrained unto those 600. who were with Saul and Jonathan? whom God by his Providence might suffer to be without those Arms, that the glory of the following Victory might be wholly ascribed to God; as for the very same reason God would have but 300 Men left with Gideon, and those armed only with Trumpets, and Pitchers, and Lamps, Judg. 7. There were no doubt a considerable number of Swords and Spears among the Israelites, but they generally hid them, as now they did their Persons, from the Philistines. And the Philistines had not yet attained to so great a power over them, as wholly to disarm them, but thought it sufficient to prevent the making of new Arms; knowing that the old ones would shortly be decayed, and useless. 2. There were other Arms more common in those times and places, than Swords and Spears; to wit, Bows and Arrows, and Slings and Stones; as appears from Judg. 20. 16. 2 Sam. 1. 18, 22. 2 King. 3. 25. 1 Chron. 12. 1, 2. besides Clubs, and Instruments of Agriculture, which might easily be turned into Weapons of War. 3. God so governed the Affairs of the Israelites, that they had no great number of Swords, or Spears, Judg. 5. 8. that so they might be kept in more dependence upon, and subjection unto God, wherein their Safety and Happiness consisted. And therefore, that famous Victory obtained against the Philistines in Samuel's days, was not got by the Sword of Men, but only by Thunder from Heaven, chap. 7. 10.

23 And the ‖ garison of the Philistines went out to the passage of Michmash q.

‖ Or, standing Camp.

q A place so called, because it was near to Michmash, and led towards Gibeah, which, it seems, they designed to besiege; and in the mean time, to waste the adjoyning Country.

CHAP. XIV.

Jonathan and his armour-bearer secretly smite the Philistines army: they slay one another, 1,—15. Which being perceived, 16, 17. Saul pursueth the Philistines: the captivated and hidden Israelites joyning in the pursuit, 18,—23. Saul adjureth the people not to eat any thing till evening: Jonathan eateth honey: the Philistines are smitten, 24,—31. The people eat flesh with the blood: Saul reprehendeth them: and buildeth an altar, 32,—35. Designing to pursue the Philistines by night: consulteth God: who answers not: Saul casts a lot to find out the cause: Jonathan is taken: Saul doems him to die: the people rescue him, 36,—45. Saul's wars, sons, daughters, wife, &c. 46,—52.

‖ Or, there was a day.

NOW ‖ it came to pass upon a day, that Jonathan the son of Saul said unto the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over to the Philistines garison a, that is on the other side b: but he told not his father c.

a This was a rash and foolish Attempt, if it be examined by common Rules; but not so, if we consider the singular Promises made to the Israelites, That one should chase a thousand, &c. and especially the heroical and extraordinary Motions which were then frequently put into the Minds of gallant Men, by God's Spirit, whereby they undertook and accomplished noble and wonderful things; as did Samson, and David, and his Worthies. b Beyond that Rocky Passage described below, v. 4. 13. which he pointed at with his hand. c Left he should hinder him in so improbable an Enterprize. Nor was it necessary he should inform him of it, because he had a Commission from his Father, to fight when he saw occasion; as he had done without his Father's privity, chap. 13. 3.

2 And Saul tarried in the uttermost part of Gibeah d, under a pomegranate tree, which is in Migron e: and the people that were with him, were * about six hundred men:

* Chap. 13. 15.

d In the Outworks of the City where he had intrenched himself to observe the Motion of the Philistines. e Or, towards (as the Hebrew Beth is oft used) Migron, which was another place, but near Gibeah: See Isa. 10. 28.

* Chap. 4. 21.

3 And Ahiah the son of Ahitub f, * Ichabods brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the LORD's priest in Shiloh, wearing an ephod g: and the people knew not that Jonathan was gone.

f The same who is called Abimelech, 1 Sam. 22. 9, 11, 20. the High-Priest, who was here to attend upon the Ark which was brought hither, v. 18. g To wit, the High-Priests Ephod, wherein the Urim and Thummim was.

† Heb. the tooth of a rock. See Job 39. 28.

4 ¶ And between the passages b, by which Jonathan sought to go over unto the Philistines garison, there was † a sharp rock on the one side, and a sharp rock on the other side i: and the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.

b So these might be two known and common Passages, both which Jonathan must cross, or pass over to go to the Philistines, between which the following Rocks lay. But the words may be rendred thus, In the middle (for so the Hebrew Particle, ben, signifies, as Isa. 41. 4. and beth, in, is understood by a very frequent Ellipsis) of the passage; the Plural Number being put for the Singular, as is frequent. i Which is not so to be understood, as if in this Passage one Rock was on the right hand, and the other on the left; for so he should have gone between both: and there was no need of climbing up to them, which is mentioned below, v. 13. But the meaning is, that the tooth (or prominency) of the one rock, (as it is in the Hebrew) was on the one side; i.e. Northward, looking towards Michmash (the Garison of the Philistines) and the tooth of the other rock was on the other side; i. e. Southward looking towards Gibeah (where Saul's Camp lay) as the next Verse informs us: and Jonathan was forced to climb over these two Rocks, because the other and common ways from one Town to the other, might now be obstructed, or were not so fit for his present Design.

5 The † fore-front of the one was situate northward over against Michmash, and the other southward over against Gibeah.

6 And Jonathan said to the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over unto the garison of these uncircumcised k, it may be l that the LORD will work m for us: for there is no restraint to the LORD n * to save by many, or by few.

* 2 Chron. 14. 11.

k So he calls them, partly in Contempt, and principally to strengthen his Faith by this Consideration, That his Enemies were Enemies to God, and without any hope in God, or help from him; whereas he was Circumcised, and therefore in Covenant with God, who was both able, and engaged to assist his People. l He speaks doubtfully: for though he found and felt himself stirred up by God to this Exploit, and was assured that God would deliver his People; yet he was not certain that he would do it at this time, and in this way. m To wit, great and wonderful things. n There is no Person nor Thing which can hinder God from thus doing.

7 And his armour-bearer said unto him, Do all that is in thine heart: turn thee o: behold, I am with thee according to thy heart.

o March on to the Enemies.

8 Then said Jonathan, Behold, we will pass over unto these men, and we will discover our selves unto them.

† Heb. be still.

9 If they say thus unto us, † Tarry until we come to you: then we will stand still in our place, and will not go up unto them.

10 But if they say thus, Come up unto us: then we will go up: for the LORD hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a sign unto us p.

p Jonathan not being assured of the Success of this present Exploit, desires a sign; and, by the instinct of God's Spirit, as the Success shews, pitcheth upon this. Divers such Heroical Motions and extraordinary Impulses there were among great and good Men in ancient Times; as Gen. 24. 13. Judg. 6. 37. which are not precedents to us.

11 And both of them discovered themselves unto the garison of the Philistines: and the Philistines said, Behold, the Hebrews come forth out of the holes q, where they had hid themselves.

q Therefore Jonathan chose that rocky and unusual way, that the Philistines might suppose they did not come from Saul's Camp to fight with them, but rather out of the Caves, and holes of the Rocks, from which their Necessity had now driven them.

12 And the men of the garison answered Jonathan and his armour-bearer, and said, Come up to us, and we will shew you a thing r. And Jonathan said unto his armour-bearer, Come up after me, for the LORD hath delivered them s into the hand of Israel.

r We having something of Importance to communicate to you. A Speech of Contempt and Derision. s He piously and modestly ascribes the Success which he now foresees, to God only.

13 And Jonathan climbed up upon his hands, and upon his feet, and his armour-bearer after him r: and they fell before Jonathan, and his armour-bearer slew after him u.

r The Philistines could easily have hindred their Ascent, but thought scorn to do it, not questioning but they could cut them off in a moment when they were come up to them according to their Invitation. u For being endowed with extraordinary Strength and Courage, and having with incredible boldness killed the first they met with, and so proceeding with success, it is not strange if the Philistines were both astonished and intimidated; God also struck them with a Panick Terror; and withal, infatuated their Minds, and possibly, put an Evil Spirit among them, which in this universal Confusion made them conceive that there was Treachery amongst themselves, and therefore caused them to sheath their Swords in one anothers Bowels; as appears from v. 16. 20.

14 And that first slaughter which Jonathan and his armour-bearer made, was about twenty men, within as it were ‖ an half acre of land, which a yoke of oxen might plow.

‖ Or, a furrow as oxen † Heb. tilled.

15 And there was trembling x in the host, in the field y, and among all the people z: the garison, and the spoilers, they also trembled, and the earth quaked a: † so it was a very great trembling.

† Heb. a trembling of God. ‡ Gen. 35. 5.

x A great Consternation; partly, from this unexpected and prodigious Slaughter, which made them suspect, there was more than Man in the Case; and that the Lord (of whose infinite Power they had had former experience) was come forth to fight against them; and partly, from the Lord, who took away their Spirits and Strength, and struck them with Fear and Amazement. y i.e. In the whole Host which was there in the Field. z i.e. Among all the rest of their Forces, as well those in the Garison, (as it is here explained in the following words) at Michmash, as the Spoilers, mentioned chap. 13. 17. the report of this Prodigy, and with it the Terror of God speedily passing from one to another. a Either, 1. Metaphorically and Hyperbolically, the whole Land; i.e. the Inhabitants of the Land: to wit, of the Philistines, trembled. Or rather, 2. Properly, God sent an Earthquake among them, which probably overthrew their Tents and Chariots, and destroyed many of their Persons, and scattered the whole Host, making them to flee away for their lives.

16 And the watch-men of Saul in Gibeah b of Benjamin looked: and behold, the multitude c melted away d, and they went on beating down one another e.

b Or, in the hill, as the very same word is rendred, chap. 13. 16. and that was the fittest place for Watch-men. c To wit, of that numerous Host of the Philistines. d i.e. Were strangely and suddenly dispersed, and put to flight. e Either, 1. Accidentally through hasty Flight: Or, 2. With design to destroy one another, as the Authors or Abettors of the present Calamity. Possibly God blinded their Eyes or their Minds, that they could not distinguish Friends from Foes. Compare Judg. 7. 22. 2 King. 6. 18, &c. 2 Chron. 20. 23.

17 Then said Saul unto the people that were with him, Number now, and see who is gone from us f. And when they had numbred, behold Jonathan and his armour-bearer were not there.

f For he probably supposed, that not only Jonathan, but also some considerable number of his Army was gone, and that by them that slaughter was made.

18 And Saul said unto Ahiah, Bring hither the ark of God g: (for the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel h.)

g That

g That the Priest may put on the Ephod, and may enquire of the Lord before the Ark what the occasion of this Tumult among our Enemies is, and what we shall do. h To wit, in the Camp, whither sometimes it was brought; as 1 Sam 4. 5. And now the rather, partly because it was now in an unsettled condition, and without the Tabernacle, and therefore easily removed from place to place: and partly, because Saul thought to compensate Samuel's absence with the presence of the Ark.

19 ¶ And it came to pass while Saul talked unto the priest, that the ‖ noise that was in the host of the Philistines went on and increased: and Saul said unto the priest, Withdraw thine hand i.

i Trouble not thy self in putting on the Breast-plate, with the Ephod, to enquire of God; for I now plainly discern the matter, the business calls not for Prayer, but for Action. But if it did so, there was the more need of God's direction and blessing, that they might act with more success. Herein therefore he shews his Impatience in waiting upon God; his Hypocrisie, in pretending to Religion; and yet his Prophaneness, in neglecting and despising it.

20 And Saul and all the people that were with him, † assembled themselves, and they came to the battel, and behold, * every mans sword was against his fellow k, and there was a very great discomfiture.

† Heb. were cried together. * Judg. 7. 22. 2 Chr. 20. 23.

k The Philistines slew one another; which might come, either from mistake, of which, see on v. 16. Or from mutual Jealousies and Passions, to which God could easily dispose them.

21 Moreover, the Hebrews that were with the Philistines before that time, which went up with them into the camp l, from the countrey round about, even they also turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

l Either by constraint, as Servants; or in Policy, to gain their favour and protection.

* Ch. 13. 6. 22 Likewise all the men of Israel, which * had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines fled, even they also followed hard after them in the battel.

23 So the LORD saved Israel that day: and the battel m passed over unto Beth-aven.

m i.e. The Warriers who were engaged in the Battel, and were pursuing and fighting with the Philistines.

24 ¶ And the men of Israel were distressed n that day; for Saul had adjured the people, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food until evening, that I may be avenged on mine enemies o: so none of the people tasted any food p.

n With Hunger, and Weakness, and Faintness, thence arising; and all by reason of the following Oath. o As Saul's intention was good; namely, to execute Vengeance upon God's and his Enemies: so the matter of the Obligation was not simply and in it self Unlawful, if it had not been so rigorous in excluding all Food, without any exception of Cases of Necessity; and in obliging the People to it under pain of a Curse, and an accursed Death; v. 38, 39, 44. which was a Punishment far exceeding the Fault. p Partly, in obedience to the King's Command; and partly, for fear of the Curse.

25 And all they of the land q came to a wood, and there was honey upon the ground.

q Heb. all the land, i. e. The People of the Land; as it is explained below, v. 30. and so the word is taken, Gen. 41. 57. All the Israelites who were with Saul.

26 And when the people were come into the wood, behold, the honey dropped r, but no man put his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the oath.

r It hath been observed by many Travellers, and Writers, That Bees do oft-times settle themseves, and make their Hives, and Honey, in the Trunks of Trees, or Clefts of Rocks, or Holes of the Earth; and this in divers Countries, but eminently in this of Canaan; as may be gathered from Deut. 32. 13. Psal. 81. 16. whence it was called, a land flowing with milk and honey.

27 But Jonathan heard not s, when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipt it an honey comb, and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes were enlightned t.

s Being then absent, and in pursuit of the Philistines, divers of the Israelites having joyned themselves with him. v. 21. t He was refreshed, and recovered his Soft Spirits, whereof part went into his Optick Nerves, and so cleared his sight, which was much darkned by Famine, as is usual.

28 Then answered one of the people u, and said, Thy father straitly charged the people with an oath, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food this day. And the people were ‖ faint.

‖ Or, weary.

u Who came along with Saul, whose Forces were now united with Jonathan's.

29 Then said Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land x: see, I pray you, how mine eyes have been enlightned, because I tasted a little of this honey.

x i.e. The people of the Land, the whole Army, whom by this rash Oath he hath greatly injured. The zeal of defending himself, makes him run into the other Extream of accusing his Father, and that before the People, whom by this means he might have stirred up to a Sedition.

30 How much more, if haply the people had eaten freely to day of the spoil of their enemies which they found? for had there not been now a much greater slaughter among the Philistines?

31 And they smote the Philistines that day from Michmash to Ajalon y: and the people were very faint.

y Either that in Dan, Jos. 19. 42. Or rather, that in Judah, 2 Chron. 11. 10.

32 And the people flew upon the spoil z, and took sheep and oxen, and calves, and slew them on the ground, and the people did eat them * with the blood a.

* Lev. 7. 26. and 19. 26. Deut. 12. 16.

z To wit, at Evening, when the time prefixed by Saul was expired. a Not having patience to tarry till the blood was perfectly gone out of them, as they should have done. See Gen. 9. 4. Levit. 17. 14. Deut. 12. 16. So they who seemed to make conscience of the King's Commandment for fear of the Curse, make no scruple of transgressing God's Command.

33 ¶ Then they told Saul, saying, Behold the people sin against the LORD, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye have ‖ transgressed b: roll a great stone unto me c this day.

‖ Or, dealt treacherously.

b He sees their fault, but not his own, in giving the occasion to it. c That the correct matter be all killed in one place, under the inspection of Saul, or some other appointed by him for that work; and upon the stone, that the blood may sooner and better flow out.

34 And Saul said, Disperse your selves among the people, and say unto them, Bring me hither every man his oxe, and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and eat, and sin not against the LORD in eating with the blood. And all the people brought every man his oxe d † with him that night, and slew them there.

† Heb. in his hand.

d And his Sheep, which is to be understood out of the foregoing words.

35 And Saul built an altar unto the LORD e: † the same was the first altar that he built unto the LORD f.

† Heb. that altar he began to build unto the LORD.

e Either for a Monument of the Victory: or rather, for Sacrifice, as the next words imply. f Though he had occasion to do so oft e're this time. So this is noted as another Evidence of his neglect of God, and his Worship. It is true, Saul Sacrificed before this, as at Gilgal; but that was upon an old Altar, Erected by others.

36 ¶ And Saul said, Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and spoil them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoever seemeth good unto thee. Then said the Priest g, Let us draw near hither h unto God.

g Remembring Saul's Contempt of God's Ordinance the last time, and the ill Consequence of it; and perceiving Saul ready to run into the same Error again, even though he had not now the same pretence of the necessity of haste as before, and that the people were forward to comply with the motion; he gives them this pious and prudent Advice. h To wit, to the Ark, as above, v. 18.

37 And Saul asked counsel of God, Shall I go down after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Israel? but he answered him not that day i.

i Either, 1. Because he was displeased with Saul for his former neglect, v. 18, 19. where he began to ask advice of God, but was so rude and impious, as not to tarry for an Answer; and therefore it was but a just Retaliation, if when Saul did ask, God would not vouchsafe him an Answer. Or, 2. To manifest his dislike of the violation of Oaths. For although Jonathan might have a fair excuse from his invincible Ignorance, and urgent Necessity; and though Saul had done foolishly in making this Oath (which alSo God would this way discover,) yet, when once it was made, God would hereby teach them, that it should be observed; and that they should abstain, even from all appearance of the Breach of it.

38 And Saul said, Draw ye near hither all the † chief of the people k: and know and see wherein this sin hath been this day.

† Heb. corners. Judg. 20. 2.

k In the Name of all the People, that you may be Witnesses, and may see where the Fault lies.

39 For as the LORD liveth which saveth Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die. But there was not a man among all the people that answered him l.

l None of those who either saw Jonathan Eating, or heard of it, informed against him; partly, because they were satisfied, that his Ignorance excused him, and that there was some other reason of God's not answering: and partly, from their great Love to Jonathan, whom they would not expose to Death for so small an Offence.

40 Then said he unto all Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side: and the people said unto Saul, Do what seemeth good unto thee.

41 Therefore Saul said unto the LORD God of Israel, † Give a perfect lot m. And Saul and Jonathan were taken: but the people † escaped n.

†Heb. Give Thummim Deut. 33 8 ‖ Or, shew the innocent. † Heb. went forth.

m Or, declare (for giving, is oft put for declaring, or pronouncing, as Deut. 11. 29. and 13. 1, 2. Prov. 9. 9.) the perfect, or guiltless person. i.e. O Lord, to guide the Lot, that it may discover who is Guilty in this Matter, and that it may clear the Innocent. n To wit, the Danger, they were pronounced Guiltless.

42 And Saul said, Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son: and Jonathan was taken m.

m God so ordered the Lot; not that he approved Saul's Execration, v. 24. or his Oath that the Transgressor should die, v. 39. nor that he would expose Jonathan to Death (for he designed so to rule the hearts of the People, and of Saul also, that Jonathan should not die); but because he would have the whole matter brought to light; partly, that Saul's Folly might be chastised, when he saw what Danger it had brought upon his Eldest and Excellent Son; partly, that Jonathan's Innocency might be cleared; and partly, to stablish the Authority of Kings and Rulers, and the Obedience which Subjects owe to all their lawful Commands.

43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, Tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said, I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and lo, I must die n.

n I am sentenced to Death for it; which is hard measure. He had another Answer, That he knew not of his Father's Command: but that being said before, v. 27. it was needless here to repeat it.

*Rut. 1. 17. 44 And Saul answered, * God do so, and more also o: for thou shalt surely die p, Jonathan.

o From this, and other like expressions of Saul's, some gather that he was exceeding prone to the vice of Swearing and Cursing. p Strange perverseness! He who was so indulgent, as to spare wicked Agag, chap. 15. is now so severe as to destroy his own worthy Son: he that could easily dispense with God's Righteous and Reasonable Command, will not bear the violation of his own rash and foolish Command; because his own Authority and Power is concerned in this, and only God's in the other.

45 And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: * as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought with God q this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.

* 2 Sam. 14. 14. 1 Kings 1. 52.

q i.e. In concurrence with God, or by God's help he had wrought this Salvation. God is so far from being offended with Jonathan, as thou apprehendest, that he hath graciously owned and assisted him in the great service of this day.

46 Then Saul went up from following the Philistines r: and the Philistines went to their own place.

r Partly, because he was discouraged by God's refusing to Answer him; and partly, because his delays had given them occasion to secure themselves.

47 ¶ So Saul took the kingdom s over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, and against the children * of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah t, and against the Philistines: and whithersoever he turned himself, he vexed them u.

* Chap. 11. 11.

s i.e. Recovered it, and resumed the administration of it, after he had in a manner lost it; partly, by Samuel's Sentence, chap. 13. 14. and partly, by the Philistines, who had almost turned him out of it. But now being encouraged by this success, he returns to the exercise of his Kingly Office. t Which lay not far from Damascus. See 2 Sam. 8, 5. u Heb. He condemned them, he treated them like wicked People, and Enemies to God and his People: or, he punished them.

‖ Or, wrought mightily. * Ch. 15. 9. 48 And he ‖ gathered an host, and * smote the Amalekites x, and delivered Israel out of the hand of them that spoiled them.

x Which is here mentioned only in the general, but is particularly described in the next Chapter.

49 Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui y, and Melchishua: and the names of his two daughters were these; the name of the first-born, Merab, and the name of the younger, Michal.

y Called also Abinadab, chap. 31. 2. and 1 Chron. 8. 33. Ishbosheth, Saul's other Son, is here omitted, because he intended to mention only those of his Sons who went with him into the Battels here mentioned, and who were afterwards slain with him.

50 And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz: and the name of the captain of his host was Abner, the son of Ner, Saul's uncle.

51 And Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner was the son of * Abiel. * Chap. 9. 1.

52 And there was sore war against the Philistines all the days of Saul: and when Saul saw any strong man, or any valiant man, * he took him unto him z. * Chap. 8. 11

z Into his Service, or Army.

CHAP. XV.

Samuel sendeth Saul to destroy the Amalekites: His Army, 1, —9. He favoureth the Kenites: Spareth Agag, and the best of the Spoil: God rejects Saul from being King, 6, —11. This Samuel declares to Saul: he commendeth, excuseth, at last humbleth himself, 12, —25. Samuel is unmoved herewith: His Mantle Rent is a sign to Saul of his Ruine, God cannot lye, 26, —29. Samuel killeth Agag: Goeth from Saul, and mourneth for him, 30, —35.

SAmuel also said unto Saul, * The LORD sent me to anoint thee to be king over his people a, over Israel: now therefore hearken b thou unto the voice of the LORD thy God. * Chap. 15.

a The Lord made thee King, and therefore thou art highly obliged to serve and obey him. b Thou hast committed one Error already, for which God hath severely rebuked and threatned: now therefore make amends for thy former Error, and regain God's Favour by thy exact Obedience to what he now commands.

2 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I remember that which Amalek did to Israel c, * how he laid wait for him in the way when he came up from Egypt d. * Ex. 17. 8. Numb. 24. 20.

c I seem to have forgotten, but now I will shew that I remember, and now will revenge those old Injuries done 400 Years ago, which now I will punish in their Children: which was the more just, because they continued in their Parents cruel Practices; below, v. 33. d When he was newly come out of cruel and long Bondage, and was now weak, and weary, and faint, and hungry, Deut. 25. 18. and therefore it was Barbarous and Inhuman, instead of that pity which even Nature prompted them to afford, to add affliction to the afflicted; it was also horrid Impiety to fight against God himself, and to lift up their Hand in a manner against the Lord's Throne, as some Translate these words, Exod. 17. 16. whilst they struck at that People which God had brought forth in so stupendious and miraculous a way.

3 Now go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy all that they have e, and spare them not f; but slay both man and woman, infant and suckling g, ox and sheep, camel and asse h.

e Both Persons and Goods, kill all that live, and consume all things without life, for I will have no Name nor Remnant of that People whom long since I have Cursed and Devoted to utter Destruction. f Shew no Compassion or Favour to any of them. The same thing repeated to prevent mistake, and oblige Saul to the exact performance hereof; or, to leave him without excuse, in case of neglect. g For their Parents Crime and Punishment: which was not unjust, because God is the Supreme Lord and giver of Life, and can require his own when he pleaseth; Infants also are born in sin, Psal. 51. 5. and therefore liable to God's Wrath, Eph. 2. 2. and to death, Rom. 5. 12, 14. Their death also was rather a Mercy than a Curse to them, as being the occasion of preventing the vast increase of their Sin and Punishment. h Which being all made for Man's benefit, it is not strange nor unjust, if they suffer with him, and for him, and for the instruction of Mankind.

4 And Saul called the people together, and numbred them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Judah k.

k Who are particularly Noted here, as also chap. 11. 8. either as Select Persons of extraordinary Strength and Courage: or to commend that Tribe, which though the Kingdom had been promised to their own Tribe, yet were forward in serving and obeying a King of another, and that a far meaner Tribe.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek l, and ‖ laid wait m in the valley. ‖ Or, set l Their chief City, where their King was, as is probable from v. 8. m Intending to draw them forth of their City by some pretence, like that of Joshua, Josh. 7. and then to intercept them, and so surprize their City: which hapily they did, though it be not here Recorded, it being not worth while to mention all the minute Circumstances of such matters.

6 ¶ And Saul said unto the Kenites n, Go, depart, get ye down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed kindness p to all the children of Israel, when they came up out of Egypt. So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

n A People descending from, or nearly related unto Jethro, who anciently dwelt in Rocks near the Amalekites, Numb. 24. 21. and afterwards some of them dwelt in Judah, Judg. 1. 16. whence it is probable they removed, (which, dwelling in Tents, they could easily do) and retired to their old habitation, because of the Wars and Troubles wherewith Judah was annoyed. p Some of your Progenitors did so, Exod. 18. 12. Numb. 10. 31. and for their sakes all of you shall fare the better. You were not Guilty of that sin for which Amalek is now to be destroyed.

7 And

7 And Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah until thou comest to * Shur q, that is over against Egypt. Gen. 16. 7. Ch. 25. 18.

q i.e. From one end of their Country to the other; he smote all that he met with: but a great number of them fled away upon the noise of his coming, as is usual in such cases, and secured themselves in other places, until the Storm was over, when they returned again: of whom we read before, chap. 13. 6. and 14. 22.

8 And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive r, and * utterly destroyed all the people s with the edge of the sword. * See Chap. 22. 19.

r Whom Saul spared, either out of foolish pity for the goodliness of his Person, which Josephus Notes: or, for his respect to his Royal Majesty, in the preservation of which he thought himself concerned: or, for the Glory of his Triumph: Compare v. 12. s To wit, the Body of the People, but not every individual Person, as hath been shewed. Universal Particles are commonly thus understood, as is confessed.

9 But Saul and the people t spared Agag, and the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, and ‖ of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good u, and would not utterly destroy them: but every thing that was vile, and refuse, that they destroyed utterly x. ‖ Or, of the second sort.

t The one proposed to do so, and the other consented to it, and so both were Guilty. u Which it is more than probable they reserved for their own use, rather than for Sacrifice; because they knew God would not accept a Sacrifice contrary to his own command. x Thus they obey God only so far as they could without inconvenience to themselves; they destroyed only what was not worth keeping, nor fit for their use.

10 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Samuel, saying,

11 It * repenteth me y that I have set up Saul to be king: for he is turned back from following me, and hath not † performed my commandments. And it grieved Samuel, and he cried unto the LORD all night z. * Gen. 6. 6. † Heb. confirmed.

y Repentance properly Notes grief of heart, and change of Counsels, and therefore cannot be in God who is unchangeable, most Wise, and most Blessed; but it is ascribed to God in such cases, when men give God cause to Repent, and when God alters his Course and Method of dealing, and Treats a Person as if he did indeed repent of all the kindness he had shewed to him. z To implore his pardoning Mercy for Saul, and for the People; so far was he from rejoycing in their Calamities, as an envious and self-seeking Person would have done.

12 And when Samuel rose early to meet Saul in the morning, it was told Samuel, saying, Saul came to Carmel a, and behold, he set him up a † place b, and is gone about, and passed on, and gone down to Gilgal. † Heb. hand.

a Not Mount Carmel, of which Josh. 12. 22. but another Mountain or Town in the Tribe of Judah; of which see Josh. 15. 55. b i.e. A Monument or Trophy of his Victory, as the same Hebrew word is used, 2 Sam. 18. 18. And this may be here Noted by way of censure, That he set it up not to God's honour, but to himself, i.e. to his own praise; which he minded in the first place, and afterwards went to Gilgal, as it here follows, to offer Sacrifice to God.

13 And Samuel came unto Saul, and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the LORD c; I have † performed the commandment of the LORD d. † Heb. confirmed.

c I thank thee, and I beg that God would bless thee, for sending me upon this Employment, and giving me this opportunity of manifesting my Obedience to God. d To wit, for the main and substance of it, to wit, the Extirpation of that wicked People: for he thought the sparing of Agag and the Cattel very inconsiderable in the case; though indeed it was expresly contrary to God's Command: but Self-interest made him exceeding partial in his own Cause: or else like a bold Hypocrite, he pretends that for his part he had obeyed God; resolving, it seems, to cast the blame upon the People, as he did.

14 And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear e?

e How can this Evidence of Guilt consist with the profession of thy Innocency?

15 And Saul said, They f have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto the LORD g thy God h, and the rest we have utterly destroyed.

f i.e. The People. Thus, after the manner of all Hypocrites, he excuseth himself, and lays the blame upon the People; whereas they could not do it without his privity and consent; and he should have used his Power and Authority to over-rule them for God's sake, as he had done formerly for his own sake. But the truth is, he was zealous for his own Honour and Interest, but luke-warm where God only was concerned. g It is not likely that this was his and the Peoples Design; but this he now pretends, and ascribes that to his Piety, which was indeed the effect of his Impiety and Avarice. h Whom thou Lovest and Servest, and therefore must needs be pleased with our Pious respect to him and his Service.

16 Then Samuel said unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what the LORD hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

17 And Samuel said, When thou wast little in thine own sight i, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel, and the LORD anointed thee king over Israel?

i i.e. Modest, Humble, and Submissive, as 1 Sam. 9. 21. and 10. 22. Whereby he implies, that now he was grown Proud, and Stubborn, and Impudent, both to commit sin, and justifie it.

18 And the LORD sent thee on a journey, and said, Go, and utterly destroy the sinners k the Amalekites, and fight against them, until † they be consumed. † Heb. they consume them.

k So called by way of Eminency, as that word is used, Gen. 13. 13. Matth. 9. 10. John 9. 24, 31.

19 Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of the LORD, but didst flye upon the spoil, and didst evil in the sight of the LORD l?

l Who cannot be deceived by thy fair professions of Religion, but knows very well, that thou didst not seek Sacrifices for God, but Prey for thy self.

20 And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the LORD m, and have gone the way which the LORD sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek n, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.

m He addeth Obstinacy and Impenitency to his Crime, and justifies his Fact, though he hath nothing of any Moment to say, but what he said before. So he gives Samuel the lye, and relies upon him, as one that had fully Accused him. n To be dealt with as God pleaseth, and as thou thinkest fit.

21 But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the things which should have been utterly destroyed o, to sacrifice unto the LORD thy God in Gilgal.

o Heb. the chief of the devoted things: which being devoted to Destruction, I thought it most proper to destroy them by way of Sacrifice to God. But God had commanded Saul himself to smite and slay all upon the place, above, verse 3.

22 And Samuel said, * Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt-offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, * to obey is better than sacrifice p: and to hearken q, than the fat of rams r. * Psal. 50. 8, 9. Isa. 1. 11. * Eccl. 5. 1. Hos. 6. 6. Mat. 5. 24. and 9. 13. and 12. 7.

p Because Obedience to God is a Moral Duty, constantly and indispensably necessary; but Sacrifice is but a Ceremonial Institution, sometimes unnecessary, as it was in the Wilderness; and sometimes sinful, when it is offered by a polluted hand, or in an irregular manner. Therefore thy gross Disobedience to God's express Command, is not to be compensated with Sacrifice. q i.e. To obey, as hearing is oft used in Scripture, r Then the choicest part of all the Sacrifice, to wit, the Fat, which was appropriated to God, Levit. 3. 16. Whereas the Offerer might partake of other parts of it.

23 For rebellion s is as the sin of † witchcraft t, and stubbornness u is as * iniquity and idolatry x: because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king y. † Heb. divination. * See Isa. 66. 3. Heb.

s i.e. Disobedience to God's express Precept, which was Saul's case. t Is, though not so great, yet as inexcusable and impudent a sin, as Witchcraft; as plainly Condemned, and as certainly Destructive and Damnable. u Either, wilful and presumptuous sin, whereby a man violently breaks loose from God's Command, and resists his Authority: Or rather, Perseverance or Contumacy in sin, justifying it, and pleading for it, which was Saul's present Crime. x Or, the Iniquity of Idolatry; this being an Hendiadin; as Judgment and Justice, Deut. 16. 18. is put for the Judgment of Justice, or Just Judgment. Or, Idolatry (for so the Hebrew word Aven signifies, as Jer. 10. 15. Hos. 4. 15. and 10. 5. Compare with 1 Kings 12. 29.) even the Teraphim, which is here mentioned as one of the worst kinds of Idolatry. y i.e. Hath pronounced the Sentence of Rejection: for that he was not actually Rejected or Deposed by God, plainly appears, because not only the People, but even David, after this, owned him as King; and Samuel, at Saul's desire, did honour him; i.e. own him as King, before the People, v. 30.

24 ¶ And Saul said unto Samuel, I have sinned z: for I have transgressed the commandment of the LORD, and thy words u; because I feared the people b, and obeyed their voice.

z Which confession proceeded not from true Repentance, but from the fence of his great Danger, and from a desire of recalling that dreadful Sentence denounced against him. a i.e. The Commandment of the Lord delivered to me by thy words. Another Hendiadin. b Who, as thou knowest, are set upon mischief, and would probably have broken forth into a Mutiny or Rebellion, had I done otherwise. But how little he feared the People, may be seen by 1 Sam. 11. 7. and 14. 24. But this was a false cause: nor doth he acknowledge the true cause, which was his Covetousness, and because he did not fear God.

25 Now therefore, I pray thee, pardon my sin c, and turn again with me d, that I may worship the LORD e.

c Use thy great Interest with God to obtain the Pardon of my sin. Or, do thou pardon my sin against thee: for he had sinned not only against God, but against Samuel also, as God's Prophet; and therefore needed a Pardon both from God and Man. d To Gilgal, whence Saul was gone forth to meet Samuel; and Samuel is here said to turn again to Gilgal; not properly, for he had not now been there: but by way of Concomitancy, because he accompanied Saul, who was come thence, and returned thither: See the like expression, Ruth 1. 10, 22. and 2. 6. e That I may offer further Sacrifices to God; partly, to praise him for the past Victory; and partly, to implore his Mercy, and the taking off of my sin and punishment. This was a politick device of Saul's; That Samuel might at least seem to countenance his Design, in referring the Cattel for Sacrifice: which Samuel seeing, refused to do it. Heb. and I will worship the Lord, i. e. I will seek his Pardon and Favour.

26 And Samuel said unto Saul, I will not return with thee f: for thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD hath rejected thee from being king over Israel.

f This was no lye, though he afterwards returned, because he spoke what he meant; his words and intentions agreed together, though afterwards he saw reason to change his Intentions. Compare Gen. 19. 2, 3. Which may relieve many perplexed Consciences, who think themselves obliged to do what they have said they would do, though they see just cause to change their minds.

*See 1 Kin. 11. 30. Ch. 28. 17. 1 King. 11. 31.

27 And as Samuel turned about to go away, * he laid hold upon the skirt of his mantle, and it rent.

28 And Samuel said unto him, * The LORD hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee g this day, and hath given it to a neighbour of thine h, that is better than thou.

g Samuel makes use of the emergent occasion, as a sign, to signifie and confirm his former Prediction. h Either, another Man: or another Israelite: for the word Neighbour, is used both ways: or rather, one of the Neighbouring Tribe, even Judah, whose Inheritance did not only joyn to that of Benjamin, but was partly mixed with it.

‖ Or, eternity, or, victory. *Num. 23. 19. 2 Tim. 2. 13. Tit. 1. 2.

29 And also the ‖ strength of Israel i * will not lie k, nor repent l: for he is not a man that he should repent.

i So he calls God here; partly, to shew the reason why God neither will nor can lye; because lying is a weakness, and proceeds from the fence of a Man's weakness, because he cannot many times accomplish his Design without Lying and Dissimulation; which thereof re many Princes are used for this very reason. But, saith he, God needs no such shifts; he can do whatsoever he pleaseth by his Absolute Power, and hath no need to use lyes to accomplish his Will: partly, to shew that Israel should be no loser by Saul's loss, as he might vainly imagine, because he had saved them from their Enemies on every side, chap. 14. 47. For not Saul, but God, was the Strength and Protector of Israel, and he would continue to save them when Saul was lost and gone: and partly, to assure Saul that God would execute this Threatning, because he wanted not strength to do it, and none could hinder him it it. l i. e. Nor change his Counsel; which also is an effect of weakness and imperfection, either of Wisdom or Power.

30 Then he said, I have sinned; yet honour me now, I pray thee, before the elders of my people, and before Israel m, and turn again with me, that I may worship the LORD thy God.

m Here he plainly discovers his Hypocrisie, and the true motive of this and his former Confession; he was not solicitous for the Favour of God, but for his Honour and Power with Israel.

31 So Samuel turned again after Saul n, and Saul worshipped the LORD.

n Not to Worship the Lord with him, for that he did not; and therefore it is here mentioned that Saul only Worshipped the Lord: but for two other reasons; First, That the People might not upon pretence of this Sentence of rejection, immediately withdraw all Respect and Obedience to their Sovereign; whereby they would both have sinned against God, and have been as Sheep without a Shepherd. Secondly, That he might rectifie Saul's Error, and execute God's Judgment upon Agag.

† Heb. of Amalek.

32 ¶ Then said Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag the king † of the Amalekites: and Agag came unto him delicately o. And Agag said p, Surely the bitterness of death is past q.

o Or, in Delights; or, in his Ornaments; i. e. He came not like an Offender, expecting the Sentence of Death; but in that Garb and Gesture which became his Quality. p Or, for Agag said: This being the reason why he came so. q I who have escaped Death from the hands of a Warlike Prince in the fury of Battel, shall certainly never suffer Death from an old Prophet in time of Peace.

* Numb. 14. 45.

33 And Samuel said, * As thy sword hath made women childless r, so shall thy mother be childless among women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces s before the LORD t in Gilgal.

r Whereby it appears; that he was a cruel Tyrant, and guilty of many bloody Actions, and that towards God's People, though it be not related elsewhere. And this seems to be added for the fuller vindication of God's Justice, and to shew, that although God did at this time remember and revenge a Crime committed by this Man's Ancestors 400 Years ago, yet he did not punish an Innocent Son for his Father's Crimes, but one that allowed and persisted in the same evil courses. s This he did by divine Instinct, and in pursuance of God's express and particular Command, above, v. 3. which being sinfully neglected by Saul, is now executed by Samuel. See the like example 1 King. 18. 40. But these are no Precedents for private Persons to take the Sword of Justice into their hands. For we must live by the Laws of God, and not by extraordinary examples. t Either, before the Ark, which, it seems, Saul carried with him in this, as he did, in his former expedition, chap. 14. 18. or, before God's Altar: or, in the publick Assembly.

34 ¶ Then Samuel went to Ramah, and Saul went up to his house to * Gibeah of Saul.

* Ch. 11. 4.

35 And Samuel came no more to see Saul u until the day of his death: nevertheless, Samuel mourned for Saul u: and the LORD repented that he had made Saul king over Israel.

u i. e. To visit him, either, in token of Respect or Friendship: or, to seek Counsel from God for him, or to give Counsel to him. Seeing is put for Visiting here, and 2 Kings 8. 29. Otherwise he did see him afterwards, chap. 19. 24. Though indeed it was not Samuel that came thither with design to see Saul, which is implied in the Phrase here; but Saul went thither to see Samuel, and that accidentally. x Partly for Saul's sake, whose sad condition he lamented: and partly, for Israel's sake, whose estate he feared might by this means be doubtful and dangerous.

CHAP. XVI.

Samuel is sent by God; who, under pretence of a Sacrifice for fear of Saul, cometh to Bethlehem: Sanctifieth Jesse and his sons, 1, —5. His humane Judgment in chosing Eliab the eldest son is reproved, 6, 7. God had chosen David the youngest to be King in Saul's place, 8, —12. Samuel anointeth him, and the spirit of God cometh upon him: But departeth from Saul: And an evil spirit cometh upon him, 13, 14. He sends for David to quiet it: His Praise: Saul loveth him, and maketh him his Armour-Bearer: He playeth before Saul when the evil spirit disquieted him, 15, —23.

AND the LORD said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul a, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel b? Fill thine horn with oyl c, and go, I will send thee to Jesse the Bethlehemite: for I have provided me † a king d among his sons.

a And pray for his Restitution, which the following words imply that he did. b The manifestation of my peremptory Will, should make thee submit to my pleasure. c Which was used in the Inauguration of Kings, as chap. 10. 1. and 1 Kings 1. 39. But here it is used in the Designation of a King, though David was not actually made King by it, but still remained a Subject, as is evident from chap. 24. 6. And the reason of this Anticipation was, partly, the comfort of Samuel, and other good men, against their great fears in case of Saul's Death, of which they expected every day to hear: and partly, the assurance of David's Title, which otherwise would have been very doubtful. For the prevention of which doubts, it was very meet, that the same Person and Prophet who had Anointed Saul, might now, upon God's rejection of Saul, Anoint David to succeed him upon his Death; and because Samuel was now not far from his Death, and was to die before Saul, it was fit that David's Anointing should be hastned and done before its proper time. d This Phrase is very Emphatical, and implies the difference between this and the former King. Saul was a King of the Peoples providing, he was the product of their inordinate and sinful desires; they desired him for themselves, and for their own glory and fancy, as they supposed: but this is a King of my own providing, one that I have spied out, one of that Tribe to which I have allotted the Kingdom, Gen. 49. 10. A King for me; not one to gratifie the People's desires, but to fulfil all my Will, as is said, Act. 13. 22. and to serve my Glory. Or, my King; the Hebrew Phrase, to me, or for me, being commonly used for the word mine.

2 And Samuel said, How can I go e? if Saul hear it, he will kill me. And the LORD said, Take an heifer † with thee, and say, I am come to sacrifice † to the LORD f.

† Heb. in thine hand.

e To wit, Safely? A Question which seems to favour of Human frailty; for he should have strongly believed that God who had set him upon the Work, would carry him through it. f Which he used ofe to do, sometimes in one place, and sometimes in another, that so he might encourage and keep up the Worship of God in all of them. This was one cause, though not the only cause, of his coming: nor was he obliged to declare all the causes of it.

3 And call Jesse to the sacrifice g, and I will shew thee what thou shalt do: and thou shalt anoint unto me him whom I name h unto thee.

g i. e. Invite him to the Feast, which, after the manner, was made of the Flesh of the Sacrifice: and it belonged to Samuel, as the Offerer of the Sacrifice, to invite whom he pleased. h i. e. Whom I shall describe, as it were by name.

4 And Samuel did that which the LORD spake, and came to Bethlehem: and the elders of the town trembled at his † coming i, and said, Comest thou † peaceably k?

† Heb. meeting.

i Partly, because it was strange and unexpected to them, this being but an obscure Town, Mich. 5. 2. and remote from Samuel, and therefore they justly thought there was some extraordinary reason for it; and their guilty Consciences made them fear that he came to denounce some dreadful and particular Judgment of God upon them: and partly, lest Saul, whose heart was estranged from, and and incensed against Samuel, should upon this occasion conceive a jealousie of them, and a displeasure against them. k Heb. in or with Peace; either, first, to thy self. Comest thou voluntarily, or to flee from the Rage of Saul? Or, Secondly to us. Comest thou to flee from thy Fellows to us, either from God, or from Saul? The Hebrew Phrase, comest thou in Peace, being as much as to say (in our Phrase) it all well?

5 And he said, Peaceably: I am come to sacrifice unto the LORD: sanctifie your selves l, and come with me to the sacrifice m: and he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice n.

l Prepare your selves in the manner expressed, Exod. 19. 14, 15. m Heb. in the Sacrifice; i. e. joyn with me in this act of Worshipping God, and offering this Sacrifice, thereby to give Thanks for the Blessings you have received from him, and to pray for what you want. n Ie seems evident, that there was something peculiar in Jesse's Invitation. For First, Both he and his Sons were Invited, whereas the others are only Invited for their own Persons. Secondly, The different Phrase here used, that he Sanctified these, when he only bad the other Sanctify themselves; argues a singular care and agency of Samuel in their Sanctification: (unless we should say, He sanctified them, is no more but that he caused them to be sanctified; that is, these in particular amongst others.) Which makes it probable, that the rest were only to joyn with him in the act of Sacrificing; but these, and only these, were Invited to Feast upon the remainders of the Sacrifice; which Feast is here called a Sacrifice, as it is above verse 3. And the only inconvenience of this Interpretation is, that the word Sacrifice is taken in different senses in the same Verse, which is no unusual thing. See Matth. 8. 22. And this difference may possibly be intimated by the differing prepositions prefixed to the same word, the first being Bazzabach, and the latter Lazzabach. Howsoever, that only Jesse and his Sons were present at the Feast, may seem probable, from Samuel's design of Privacy, and from the following Relation.

6 ¶ And it came to pass, when they were come o, that he looked on * Eliab, and said, Surely the LORDS anointed is before him p.

* 1 Chron. 27. 18. Eliab.

o When the most of Jesse's Sons were come, either to the place of the Feast, or to some other place near it, appointed for this private Discourse, whither they were to come before they went to the Feast. It must also be understood, that Samuel had acquainted Jesse with his Design, which is easily gathered out of the context, and needed not be expressed. p i. e. Is in this place where God is now present. For it is observable, that not only the Sacrifice is said to be Offered, but even the Feast upon the remainders of it is said to be, eaten before the Lord, Deut. 12. 7. i. e. before or near his Altar, where God was present in a special manner. And the ground of this expression seems to be this, That Jesse brought not all his Sons together, but made one after another to come to the place, and to pass before Samuel, who stood before the Lord, in some place near the Altar, that this great business might be managed with more Solemnity. And Eliab being the Person now before Samuel, is said to be now before the Lord. But whatsoever the ground of this Phrase is, this is certain and confessed, that this is his meaning, This I take to be the Person whom I am sent to Anoint; wherein yet he was greatly mistaken, as other Prophets sometimes were, when they hastily spake their own thoughts, before they had consulted God in the case, as 2 Sam. 7. 3.

7 But the LORD said q unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature r, because I have refused him: for the LORD seeth † Heb. sees not as man seeth: For man looketh on the † outward appearance s, but the LORD looketh on the

* 1 Chron. † heart t.

1 Sam. 9. 2. Psal. 147. 10. and q By secret inspiration. r Whereby thou wast once deceived in Saul, chap. 10. 23, 24. and therefore shouldst not now be deceived a second time. s Men value Men by their outsides. t God values and esteems of Men by the goodness of their hearts, and hath now proceeded by that Rule in the choice of a King, and would have done so before, if the People's sinful desires had not provoked him to give them a bad King.

* Chap. 17. 13.

8 Then Jesse called * Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel: and he said, Neither hath the LORD chosen this.

9 Then Jesse made Shammah u to pass by: and he said, Neither hath the LORD chosen this.

u Called also Shimeah, 2 Sam. 13. 3. and Shimmah, 1 Chron. 2. 13.

10 Again Jesse made seven of his sons x to pass before Samuel; and Samuel said unto Jesse, The LORD hath not chosen † these.

† Heb. any of.

x i. e. The rest of his Sons, which were seven, besides David; for in all he had eight, 1 Sam. 17. 12. It is true, there are but seven of them named, 1 Chron. 2. 13, 14, 15. but that may be, because one of them was either born of a Concubine; or an obscure Person: or, one that died immediately after this time.

11 And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and behold, he keepeth the sheep y. And Samuel said unto Jesse, * Send and fetch him: for we will not sit † down z till he come hither.

* 2 Sam. 7. 8. Psal. 78. 70.

y And consequently is the most unfit of all my Sons for that high Employment. Either therefore he did not throughly understand David's great Wisdom and Valour, or he judgeth him unfit, by reason of his mean Education. And God so ordered it by his Providence, that David's choice might plainly appear to be God's Work, and not Samuel's, or Jesse's Design. z To wit, to the Feast. Qu. How could David be admitted to this Feast, being, as it seems, not sanctified with the rest of his brethren? Answ. 1. It is not strange, if the Prophet, by God's direction, dispensed with the ordinary Rule, in a Person so extraordinary, both for his Piety, and the Dignity to which he was chosen. 2. It is not affirmed, that David did sit down with them to the Feast; but only, that they would not do so till he came. And when he was come, and Samuel had done what he intended with him, David, for ought we know, might depart, and the rest sit down to the Feast. For David was not now actually raised to any higher degree, but returned to his former employment; as we read below, v. 19.

12 And he sent, and brought him in: now he was ruddy a, and withal, † of a beautiful countenance, † Heb. fair of eyes. and goodly to look b to, and the LORD said, Arise, anoint him: for this is he.

a Which may be referred either to the colour of his hair; or rather, to the complexion of his Face. b Of a comely, but Masculine and Majestick Aspect.

13 Then Samuel took the horn of oyl, and * anointed him in the midst of his brethren c: and * the spirit of the LORD came upon David from that day forward d. So Samuel rose up and went to Ramah.

* Psal. 89. 20. *See Num. 27. 18.

c According to this Translation, his Brethren were present at this Act, and knew that David was Anointed King. But this seems to some, neither consistent with Samuel's design of Secrecie; nor with Eliab's scornful words concerning him after this, Chap. 17. 28. But to this, others reply, That David's Brethren saw David's Unction, but did not particularly understand, that he was Anointed to the Kingdom; but were only told by Samuel, that he was Anointed to some great Service, which hereafter they should know, but at present it was fit to be concealed: Thus Jesse only, and David, understood the whole business, and his Brethren were able to attest to that Act of Samuel's Anointing him, which, with other collateral Evidences, was abundantly sufficient to prove David's Right to the Kingdom, if need should be. And this seems fairly to accord, and explain the matter: But the words may be otherwise Translated out of the Hebrew, That he Anointed him out of the midst of his brethren; i. e. He selected him from amongst the rest of his Brethren to be King. As Christ is said to be raised from the midst of his brethren. And whereas, the Hebrew Word is Bekereb, in the midst; not mikkereb, out of the midst; it is confessed, that the Preposition beth, in, is oft used for min, of or out of, as hath been formerly shewed by many instances; and so it may be here. And further, the place may be thus rendred; that Samuel anointed him, being taken out of the midst of his brethren: and so these words may be added, to signifie, That Samuel took him out from the rest of the Company, and privately Anointed him; Jesse only being present at the Action. And thus there is an Ellipsis of a Verb or Particle, which is frequent; as Gen. 12. 15. The woman was taken (i. e. was taken and carried) into Pharaoh's house; and many such places. d i. e. He was immediately endowed with extraordinary Gifts of God's Spirit, as Strength, and Courage, and Wisdom, and Magnanimity, and other excellent qualities which fitted him for, and put him upon Noble Attempts; for which, he presently grew famous, even whilst he lived a private Life: See below v. 18. and 17, 34, &c.

14 ¶ But the spirit of the LORD departed from Saul e, and an * evil spirit f from the LORD g troubled him h.

* Chap. 19. 9 ‖ Or, terrified.

e God took away that prudence, and courage, and alacrity, and vigor, other gifts and assistances of God's Spirit, wherewith he had qualified him for the management of his Publick Employment. f Properly so called: for what need is there of forsaking the proper signification of the Word? It is evident both from Scriptures, and Experience, that God hath permitted some men to be really acted, and disquieted by the Devil: and why not Saul as well as others? g i. e. By God's permission or judgment, delivering him up to Satan. h Stirred up in him unruly and tormenting Passions; as Envy, Rage, Fear, Despair, and the like.

15 And Saul's servants said unto him, Behold now, an evil spirit † from God troubleth thee. † Heb. of God.

16 Let our lord now command thy servants which are before thee, to seek out a man, who is a cunning player on an harp, and it shall come to pass, when the evil spirit from God is upon thee, that he shall play with his hand, and thou shalt be well i.

i And the Success confirms their Opinion. For although Musick cannot directly have any influence upon an Evil Spirit to drive him away; yet, because the Devil, as it seems, had not Possession of him, but only made use of the Passions of his Mind, and ill humours of his Body to molest him: and because it is manifest, that Musick hath a mighty Power to qualifie and sweeten these, and to make a man sedate and chearful, as is evident by the unanimous consent of Learned Writers, and by common Experience; it is not strange, if the Devil had not that power over him when his Mind was more composed, which he had when it was disordered; as the Devil had less power over Lunaticks in the decrease, than in the increase of the Moon: Mat. 17. 15. 18. And seeing Musick prepared the Lord's Prophets for the Entertainment of the good Spirit, as 2 Kings 3. 15. Why might it not dispose Saul to the resistance of the evil Spirit? and why might not the chearing of his Heart, in some measure strengthen him against those temptations of the Devil, which were fed by his Melancholick Humour?

17 And Saul said unto his servants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 Then answered one of the servants, and said, Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in ‖ Or, speech. matters k, and a comely person, and the LORD is with him l.

k Wonder not, that David was so suddenly advanced, from a poor contemptible Shepherd, to so great Reputation; for these were the Effects of that Spirit of the Lord which he received when he was Anointed. Though some would hence inferr, that the things related in this Chapter, happened after the History of Chapter 17. though it be placed before, such Transpositions being not unusual in Historical Relations. l i.e. Directs and prospers all his undertakings.

19 ¶ Wherefore Saul sent messengers unto Jesse, and said, Send me David thy son, which is with the sheep.

20 And Jesse took an ass laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and sent them by David his son unto Saul m.

m This Present, though in our Times it would seem contemptible, yet was very agreeable to the usage of those Times, and to the condition of Jesse, which was but mean in the World. And it seems to have been the Custom of those Times, as it is yet in the Eastern Countries (when they made their appearance before Princes, or great Persons, to bring a Present; See Gen. 32. 20. Gen. 43. 25, 26. and elsewhere.) To which civil Custom, that Religious Precept seems consonant, Exod. 23. 15. Deut. 16. 16. None shall appear before me empty. And he might send it; partly, as a Testimony of his respect to his Sovereign; and partly, to gain David favour and acceptance with him; being sensible, that he was going into a place and state of hazard; but knowing Saul's furious Temper, he durst not refuse to send him; and he sent him the more willingly, because this seemed a most likely means to accomplish God's Promise of the Kingdom, and to prepare him for it.

21 And David came to Saul, and stood before him n: and he loved him greatly, and he became his armour-bearer o.

n i.e. Minisired unto him; or, (as we use to speak) waited upon him, as that Phrase oft signifies; as Deut. 1. 38. and 10. 8. o He had that Place conferred upon him, though we do not read that he ever exercised it; for it seems he was gone back to his Father upon some occasion not related; and had abode with him some considerable time before the War described, Chap. 17. happened.

22 And Saul sent to Jesse, saying, Let David, I pray thee, stand before me: for he hath found favour in my sight.

23 And it came to pass, when the evil spirit † Heb. of God. † from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him p.

p To wit, for a season. And the reason of this Success, may be, partly natural and common; of which, see on v. 16. and partly, supernatural and special, respecting David; whom God designed by this means, to bring into favour with the King and his Court, and so to smooth the way for his Advancement.

CHAP. XVII.

The Armies of the Israelites and Philistines ready for Battel: Goliah terrifieth the Israelites with his Stature, Armour and Challenge, 1,——11. David sent by his Father to visit his Brethren; is willing to Encounter with him, 12,——27. for which Eliab chideth him: He is brought to Saul, and sheweth the reason of his Confidence, 28,——37. He taketh a Staff: And Sling, with five Stones, 38,—40. Goliah curseth and threateneth him, 41,—44. David's Faith: He slayeth him, 45,——50. The Philistines flee: Are smitten and plunder'd, 51,—54. Saul taketh notice of David, 55,—58.

NOW the Philistines gathered together their armies to battel a, and were gathered together * Josh. 15. 35. at * Shocho, which belongeth to Judah, and pitched between Shocho and Azekah in ‖ Ephesdammin.

a To Revenge their former great and shameful Defeat, Chap. 14.

‖ Or, the coast of Dammin.

2 And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together, and pitched by the valley of Elah, and † set the battel in array against the Philistines. † Heb. ranged the battel.

3 And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: b: and there was a valley between them.

b Where they had disposed and fortified their Camps, that if the one should assault the other, the Assailant should have the disadvantage, and be obliged to fight from a lower place.

† Heb. a middle man, or a man between two.

4 ¶ And there went out † a champion c out of the camp of the Philistines, named Goliah, of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span d.

c Heb. a man between two; either because he used to come forth, and stand between the two Armies; or, because he moved that the business should be decided between two, whereof he would be one. d Which is not strange, for besides the Giants mentioned in Scripture, Herodotus, Diodorus Siculus, and Pliny, and others, make mention of persons seven Cubits high; which is near double to an ordinary mans height.

5 And he had an helmet of brass upon his head; and he was † armed with a coat of mail: and the † Heb. clothed. weight of the coat was five thousand shekels e of brass.

e The common Shekle contained only a fourth part of an Ounce; and so 5000 Shekels made 1250 Ounces, which make exactly 78 pounds. Which weight is not unsuitable to a man of such vast greatness and strength as his Height speaks him to be.

6 And he had greaves of brass upon his legs: and a ‖ target of brass between his shoulders. ‖ Heb. caper.

7 And the staff of his spear was like a weavers beam f, and his spears † head weighed six hundred † Heb. flame. shekels of iron, and one bearing a shield went before him. Neh. 33. Heb. 31.

f On which the Weavers fasten their Web. It was like this for thickness; and for length, that he omits, as easie to be collected by proportion to the rest. And though the whole weight of Goliah's Armour may seem prodigious; yet it is not so much by far, as one Athenatus did manage: of whom Pliny relates, That he saw him come into the Theatre with Arms weighing 12000 Ounces.

And he stood and cryed unto the armies of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come out to set your battel in array? am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul? choose ye a man for you, and let him come down to me g.

g That the Battel may be decided by us Two alone. Such offers were frequent in those Times. And possibly he thought the Valiant Jonathan, who had Assaulted an whole Army, would never have refused this Challenge. But God so ordered the matter, that none should accept it, because he would reserve this Honour for David, as a step to his Kingdom.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I prevail against him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us.

10 And the Philistine said, I defie the armies of Israel this day: give me a man that we may fight together.

11 When Saul and all Israel heard those words of the Philistine, they were dismayed, and greatly afraid h.

h Which may seem strange, considering the glorious Promises, and their late Experiences of Divine Assistance. But the truth is, all Men do so intirely depend upon God in all things, that when he withdraws his help, the most Valiant and Resolute Persons cannot find their Hearts nor Hands, as daily experience shews.

12 ¶ Now David was * the son of that * Ephrathite i of Bethlehem-Judah, whose name was Jesse, * Chap. 16. 1. Gen. 35. 19. and he had eight sons k: and the man went among men for an old man in the days of Saul.

i i.e. Of the man of Ephrathah, or Bethlehem, Gen. 35. 19. k See on chap. 16. 10.

13 And the three eldest sons of Jesse went, and followed Saul to the battel: and the names of his three sons that went to the battel, were Eliab the firstborn, and next unto him Abinadab, and the third Shammah.

14 And David was the youngest, and the three eldest followed Saul.

15 But David went and returned from Saul l to feed his fathers sheep at Bethlehem.

l Either 1. From Saul's Court: where having been entertained by Saul, to relieve him in his Melancholy Fits, he was permitted to go to his Father's House, to be sent for again upon occasion. Or, 2. From Saul's Camp, whither he used to come to visit his Brethren; as appears from v. 17.

16 And the Philistine drew near morning and evening, and presented himself forty days.

17 And Jesse said unto David his son, Take now for thy brethren an Ephah of this parched corn m, and these ten loaves, and † run to the camp to thy † Heb. carry them to. brethren.

m A Food then much in use, which they used to mix with running Water, or Milk, or Oyl, &c.

18 And carry these ten † cheeses unto the captain † Heb. cheeses of milk. of their thousand n, and look how thy brethren fare, and take their pledge o. † Heb. captain of thousand.

n In whose Power it was in a great measure, either to preserve them, or to expose them to utmost hazards. o i.e. Bring me some token of their welfare from them.

19 Now Saul, and they, and all the men of Israel were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines p.

p i.e. In a posture and readiness to fight with them; as it is explained, v. 20, 21. Men are oft said in Scripture, to do what they intend, and are prepared to do; as hath been shewed formerly by instances.

20 And

20 And David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and took, and went as Jesse had commanded him: and he came to the ‖ [Or, place of the carriage. trench q as the host was going forth to the fight, and shouted r for the battel.

q i.e. To the Camp or Army which was there Intrenched. r As the manner was, both to animate themselves, and to terrifie their Enemies.

21 For Israel and the Philistines had put the battel in aray, army against army.

22 And David left his † carriage s in the hand of † Heb. the vessels from upon him. the keeper of the carriage, and ran into the army, and came and † saluted his brethren. † Heb. asked his brethren of peace.

s The Provisions which he had brought to his brethren.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, there came up the champion (the Philistine of Gath, Goliah by name) out of the armies of the Philistines, and spake according to the same words: and David heard them.

24 And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled † from him, and were sore afraid. † Heb. from his face.

25 And the men of Israel said, Have ye seen this man that is come up? surely to defie Israel is he come up: and it shall be that the man who killeth him, the King will enrich him t with great riches, and * will give him his daughter, and make his fathers house free u in Israel. * Josh 15. 16.

t It is observable, that Saul in his great Distress, doth not encourage himself in God, nor seek his counsel or favour by Prayers and Sacrifices, but expects Relief from Men only. This was one effect and sign of the departure of God's Spirit from him. u Free from all those Tributes and Charges which either the Court or the Camp required.

26 And David spake to the men that stood by him, saying, What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistine, and taketh away the reproach from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should defie the armies of the living God x?

x Why should you all be thus dismayed at him? he is but a Man, and that of an accursed Race, a Stranger and Enemy to God, and no way able to stand before them who have the Living and Almighty God for their Strength and Refuge?

27 And the people answered him after this manner, saying, So shall it be done unto the man that killeth him.

28 ¶ And Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men, and Eliab's anger was kindled against David y, and he said, Why camest thou down hither? and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness z? I know thy pride, and the naughtiness of thine heart a; for thou art come down that thou mightest see the battel.

y Either because he thought him guilty of intollerable Folly, and Pride, and Presumption, in pretending to such an Attempt: or because he feared and concluded he would be certainly Ruined in the Enterprize: or rather, because he envied him the glory of so great an undertaking; and took this proffer of David's to be, what indeed it was, a Reproach to himself, and to all the rest, that having the great God on their side, had not the Faith or Courage to fight with him. z Thou art much fitter to tend Sheep, than to appear in an Army, or to fight with a Giant. a Thy self-confidence, and vain-glory, and curiosity.

29 And David said, What have I now done? Is there not a cause b?

b Either, 1. Of my coming: My Father sent me on an Errand. Or rather, 2. Of my thus speaking: Is there not Reason in what I say? Is this Giant Invincible? is our God unable to Oppose him, and Subdue him?

30 ¶ And he turned from him towards another, and spake after the same † manner c: and the people † Heb. word. answered him again after the former manner.

c For being secretly moved by God's Spirit to undertake the Combat, he speaks with divers Persons about it, that so it might come to the King's ear.

31 And when the words were heard which David spake, they rehearsed them before Saul: and he † sent † Heb. took him. for him.

32 ¶ And David said to Saul, Let no mans heart fail because of him; thy servant will go and fight with this Philistine.

33 And Saul said to David, Thou art not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him: for thou art but a youth d, and he a man of war from his youth.

d Either, 1. For Age, to wit, comparatively to Goliah, being now not much above 20 years old, as is supposed. Or rather, 2. For Military skill, as the words following explain it; as if he should say, Thou art but a Novice, a raw and unexperienced Soldier, and therefore unable to Fight with him.

34 And David said unto Saul, Thy servant kept his father's sheep, and there came a lion and a bear e, and took a ‖ lamb out of the flock: ‖ Or, kid.

e Not both together, but one after another, at several times.

35 And I went out after him, and smote him f, and delivered it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by his beard, and smote him, and slew him.

f To wit, the Lyon, as appears by his Beard: which having particularly mentioned, it was easily understood, and believed, that he did the same to the Bear; which therefore it was needless to express.

36 Thy servant slew both the lion and the bear g: and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, seeing he hath defied the armies of the living God.

g This he is probably thought to have done after he was Anointed; when he was endowed with singular gifts of God's Spirit: and among others, with extraordinary courage of Heart, and strength of Body.

37 David said moreover, The LORD that delivered me out of the † paw of the lion, and out of † Heb. hand the † paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the † Heb. hand hand of this Philistine h. And Saul said unto David, Go i, and the LORD be with thee.

h His Good-will is the same to me, that it then was, and his Power is not diminished. i It is not strange, that Saul consents to the Combat, considering David's pious and convincing Discourse, grounded upon sensible Experience; and withal, the dangerous condition of the Israelitish Affairs, and the absolute refusal of all other Persons.

38 ¶ And Saul † armed David with his armour k, † Heb. and he put an helmet of brass upon his head, also he clothed &c. with his cl. thes. armed him with a coat of mail.

k Either, 1. With Saul's own Armour which he used to wear in Battel; which seems not to agree with the extraordinary height of Saul's Stature, 1 Sam. 10. 23. Nor is it like that Saul would disarm himself, when he was going forth to the Battel, v. 20, 21. Or, 2. With Armour taken out of his Armory. Not that the whole Armory of Saul was brought into the Field; but that some chosen Arms were taken out thence, and brought for any emergent occasion. Or rather, 3. With his vestments, or garments. For, 1. So the Hebrew Word properly and usually signifies; and so this same Word is Translated, 1 Sam. 18. 4. 2. His Armor is distinguished from this, and is particularly described in the following words. He seems therefore to speak of some Military Vestments which were then used in War, and were contrived for defence; such as Buff-coats now are.

39 And David girded his sword upon his armour, and he assayed to go, for he had not proved it: and David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these: for I have not proved them l. And David put them off him.

l I have no skill nor experience in the management of this kind of Arms.

40 And he took his staff m in his hand and chose him five n smooth stones o out of the ‖ brook, and put ‖ Or, Valley. them in a shepherds † bag which he had, even in a † Heb. scrip. scrip, and his sling was in his hand p, and he drew Vessel. near to the Philistine.

m His Shepherds Staff. These Arms were in themselves contemptible, yet chosen by David; partly, because he had no skill to use other Arms; partly, because he had inward assurance of the Victory, even by these Weapons; and partly, because such a Conquest would be most honourable to God, and most shameful, and discouraging to the Philistines. n That if one should fail him, he might make use of another. o Because such Stones would go most freely out of the Sling; and consequently, with more force and certainty, directly to the Mark which he aimed at. p This sort of Weapons was not unusual in the Fights of ancient Times; and many arrived at great dexterity in slinging Stones with great certainty; of which we have instances both in Scripture, as Judg. 20. 16. and in Diodorus Siculus, and Livy, and other Authors.

41 And the Philistine came on, and drew near unto David, and the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 And when the Philistine looked about, and saw David, he disdained him: for he was but a youth, and ruddy, and of a fair countenance q.

q Not having so much as the countenance of a Martial Person.

43 And the Philistine said unto David, Am I a dog, that thou comest to me with staves r? and the Philistine cursed David by his gods s.

r i.e. With a Staff. The Plural Number for the Singular; as Gen. 21. 7. and 46. 7. s He prayed that his god Dagon, and Ashtaroth, &c. would destroy him.

44 And the Philistine said to David, Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beasts of the field.

45 Then said David to the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield: but I come to thee in the name of the LORD of hosts r, the God of the armies of Israel, whom thou hast defied u.

t i.e. By a Commission from him, with confidence in him, and assurance of his Help, and for the vindication of his Honour. u In defying that Army and People whereof he is the Lord and Protector.

† Heb shut thee up. 46 This day will the LORD † deliver thee into mine hand, and I will smite thee, and take thine head from thee, and I will give the carcases of the host of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the air, and to the wild beasts of the earth, that all the earth may know that * there is a God in Israel x.

* 2 Kings 5. 15.

x Heb. that God, the only true God, in for Israel; or on Israel's side, and against you. Or, that Israel hath a God, a God indeed, one who is able to help them; and not such an impotent Idol as you serve.

47 And all this assembly shall know, that the LORD saveth not with sword and spear y, (for the battel is the LORD's z,) and he will give you into our hands a.

y i.e. That he can save without these Arms, and with the most contemptible Weapons, such as mine seem to thee. z i.e. The Events of War are wholly in his Power, to give Success to whom, and by what means he pleaseth. a David speaks thus confidently, because he was assured of it by a particular Inspiration from God.

48 And it came to pass, when the Philistine arose, and came, and drew nigh to meet David, that David hasted, and ran toward the army to meet the Philistine.

49 And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistine in his fore-head, that the stone sunk into his fore-head b, and he fell upon his face to the earth.

b Either, 1. The Stone pierced through his Helmet; which such Stones being slung would not seldom do; as even Diodorus Siculus relates. Or 2. The Stone might get in through one of those holes which are left in Helmets, that he that wears it may see his way, and how to direct his blows. Or rather, 3. The proud Giant had lift up that part of his Helmet which covered his Fore-head; and that in contempt of David and his Weapons, and by the singular direction of God's Providence.

50 So David prevailed over the Philistine, with a sling, and with a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him; but there was no sword in the hand of David.

51 Therefore David ran and stood upon the Philistine, and took his sword c, and drew it out of the sheath thereof, and slew him d, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philistines saw their champion was dead, they fled.

c Hence it appears, that David was not a little Man, as many fancy; but a Man of considerable bulk and strength, because he was able to manage a Giant's Sword; which also he did, both here and below, Chap. 21. 9. d Qu. How could this be, when he slew him before with the Stone, v. 50? Ans. There he gives a general account of the Event of the Battel; and of the Giant's Death: but here he gives a particular Relation of the manner and instrument of his Death. The Stone threw him down to the Earth, and bereaved him of the use of his Sense and Motion; but there remained some Life in him, (as frequently doth in such cases) which the Sword took away, and so compleated the Work.

52 And the men of Israel and of Judah arose, and shouted, and pursued the Philistines, until thou come to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron: and the wounded of the Philistines fell down by the way to Shaarim, even unto Gath, and unto Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and they spoiled their tents e.

e Heb. their camps i.e. Their Camp: but he speaks of it in the Plural Number, because of the great extent, and various quarters of their Camp.

54 And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem f; but he put his armour in his tent g.

f Either, to terrifie the Jebusites, who yet held the Fort of Zion, 2 Sam. 5. 7. or, for some other reason not Recorded, nor now known. g i.e. In the Tent which was erected for him in the Camp, upon this occasion. There it was kept for the present, though afterwards it seems to have been translated to the Tabernacle; where we find his Sword, Chap. 21. and it is not unlikely the rest of his Armour was there also.

55 And when Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner the captain of the host, Abner, whose son is this youth h? and Abner said, As thy soul liveth, O king, I cannot tell i.

h Qu. How could David be unknown to Saul, with whom he had lived, Chap. 16. 21? Ans. That might well be, for divers reasons, because David was not constantly with him; nor, as it seems, used by him, but upon extraordinary Occasions, and desperate fits of Melancholy; from which, possibly he had been free for a good while, by God's special Providence and Care for his People Israel, that so he might be capable of Governing and Protecting them against the Philistines, who watched all opportunities against them; and at last broke forth into an open War. Thus David had been for some considerable time dimissed from Saul's Court, and was returned home. And therefore it is not strange, if Saul had for the present forgotten David. For Kings, because of the Incumbrance of Publick Business, and the multitude of Persons who come to them on several occasions, may easily forget some Persons; yea, such as have frequently been with them, especially their Servants whom they do not use to observe with so much attention and care as they do others. Add to this, that the distemper of Saul's mind might make him forgetful; and that David might now be much changed, both in his countenance and in his habit, from what he had before; and it is apparent, that the change of habits makes so great a difference, that it oft keeps us from the knowledge of those Persons whom in other habits we very well know. Some give this Answer, That this was the first time that Saul had seen David; and that David's exploit here Recorded, was performed before that which is Recorded Chap. 17. 15, &c. though it be placed after it: But that is confuted by comparing Chap. 18. 1, 2, 3. i Which is not strange, because Abner's conversation and employment was generally in the Camp, when David was at the Court; and when Abner was there, he took little notice of a Person so much inferior to him as David was.

56 And the king said, Inquire thou whose son the stripling is.

57 And as David returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philistine in his hand.

58 And Saul said to him, Whose son art thou, thou young man? and David answered, I am the son of thy servant Jesse, the Bethlehemite.

CHAP. XVIII.

Jonathan loved David: They Covenant together, 1,—4. Saul envieth David's praise: In his fury seeketh to kill him, 5,——11. is afraid of him: And removeth him: He is loved by the People, 12,——16. Saul offereth David his Daughters, first Merab: who is given to Adriel; then Michal who loveth David, 17,——20. Saul demandeth 100 foreskins of the Philistines for a Dowry: David promiseth: Delivereth double the number: Obtaineth Michal, 21,——27. Saul's fear and hatred: And David's Glory increaseth, 28,—30.

AND it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was † knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul a.

† Heb. was knit.

a Partly, for his excellent Vertues and Endowments, which shone forth both in his Speeches and Actions; partly, for the great and good Service which he had done to God and to his People; and partly, for the similitude of their Age and Qualities.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his fathers house b.

b By which it appears, that before-time David had not his constant residence at Court, but did return to his Father's House, and thence again to the Court, as occasion required.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant c, because he loved him as his own soul.

c i.e. An agreement of sincere and perpetual Friendship between them.

4 And Jonathan stript himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle d.

d Partly, as a pledge of his great respect and affection to him: and partly, to vindicate David from that contempt which might cleave to him for his former Pastoral habit and condition, and to put him into an habit suitable to his present Greatness and Glory.

5 ¶ And David went out e whithersoever Saul sent him, and ‖ behaved himself wisely: and Saul set him over the men of war f, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

‖ Or, so prospered.

e Upon Military expeditions, of which that word is oft used. f Gave him some considerable Command in his Army, though not the Supreme.

6 And it came to pass, as they came, when David was returned from the slaughter of the ‖ Philistine g, that the women came out of all the cities of Israel h, singing, and dancing i, to meet king Saul, with † tabrets, with joy, and with † instruments of musick.

‖ Or, Philistims.

g Either, First, From some eminent victory obtained by him against the Philistines, though not particularly related, wherein also Saul might be present and concerned. Or rather, Secondly, From the slaughter of Goliah, and the other Philistims with him. Against this it is Objected, That this Song was Sung either after David

David was advanced and employed, as is related v. 5. and therefore not immediately after that great Victory; or, before he was so advanced; and then it would have raised Saul's Jealousie and Envy, and consequently hindered David's Advancement. But it may be replied, That this Song, though placed afterwards, was sung before David's Advancement, related v. 5. And that this did not hinder David's preferment, must be ascribed, partly, to Saul's Policy, who, though he had an Eye upon David, and designed to crush him upon a fit occasion; yet saw it necessary for his own Reputation, and the encouragement of other Mens Valour, and for the satisfaction of Jonathan's passionate Desire, and the just and general Expectation of the whole Army and People, to give him some considerable Preferment for the present; and principally, to God's Providence over-ruling Saul, against his own Inclination, and his mistaken Interest. h i.e. Out of all the neighbouring Cities, by or through which the Victorious Army marched. i According to the Custom of those times and places: Of which see Exod. 15. 20. Judg. 11. 34.

* Chap. 21. 11. & 29. 5

7 and the women answered one another k as they played, and said, * Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands l.

k Singing by parts alternately. l So they said, because David killed Goliah, which was the principal cause of all the following slaughter of the Philistines.

† Heb. was ill in his eyes.

8 ¶ And Saul was very wroth, and the saying † displeased him, and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousands, and to me they have ascribed but thousands: and what can he have more, but the kingdom m?

m What greater honour can they give him, but that of the Kingdom? Or thus: And moreover, this will not rest here, they will certainly give him the Kingdom: they will translate the Crown from me to him. Or thus: And moreover, the Kingdom certainly belongs to him; i.e. I now perceive that this is the Favourite of God, and of the People; this is that Man after God's own Heart, to whom Samuel told me that God would transfer my Kingdom.

9 And Saul eyed David n from that day and forward.

n i.e. Narrowly observed all his Counsels and Actions, that he might understand whether he had any Design upon the Kingdom or no, and that he might find some colourable Pretence of putting him to death.

* Chap. 16. 14.

10 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that the * evil spirit from God came upon Saul o, and he prophesied p in the midst of the house: and David played with his hand as at other times: and there was a javelin in Sauls hand q.

o Saul's Envy, and Jealousie, and Discontent revived his Melancholick Distemper, which the Devil, according to his wont, struck in with. p Or, he feigned himself to be a Prophet, for so Hebrew Verbs in Hithpahel oft signifie; i.e. he useth uncouth Gestures, and Signs, and Speeches, as the Prophets, or Sons of the Prophets used to do: for which they were by the ignorant and ungodly fort reputed mad Men, 2 King. 9. 11. And it may seem probable, that Saul did now speak of Divine Things politickly, that thereby he might lull David asleep, and kill him, before he suspected any Danger. q Which he kept there for the following purpose.

11 And Saul cast the javelin; for he said, I will smite David even to the wall with it: and David avoided out of his presence twice r.

r Once at this time, and another time upon a like occasion, chap. 19. 10.

12 ¶ And Saul was afraid of David s, because the LORD was with him, and was departed from Saul.

s Lest as he had gotten the favour of God and of all the People, he should also take away his Kingdom.

13 Therefore Saul removed him from him t, and made him his captain over a thousand, and he went out, and came in u before the people.

t From his Presence and Court; which he did, partly, because he feared lest David should watch and find an opportunity to kill him, as he had designed to kill David: partly, because he was a great Eye-sore, and his presence now made him more sad than ever his Musick had made him chearful: and principally, that thereby he might expose him to the greatest hazards, and in some fort betray him into the hands of the Philistines. u He led his Soldiers forth to Battel, and brought them back again with safety. Compare 2 Sam. 5. 2. Or else the Phrase of coming in and going out, may be understood (as elsewhere) for conversing; or (as we use to say) going to and fro about business; as chap. 29. 6.

‖ Or, prospered.

14 And David ‖ behaved himself wisely in all his ways, and the LORD was with him x.

x So that he had great Prudence in his Conduct, and prosperous success following his Designs: which are two principal Qualifications of a General, and of a Prince. That God turned all Saul's Devices upon himself, and to David's Advantage.

15 Wherefore when Saul saw that he behaved himself very wisely, he was afraid of him.

16 But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and came in before them.

17 ¶ And Saul said to David, Behold, my elder daughter Merab, her will I give thee to wife y: only be thou † valiant for me, and fight the LORD's battels: for Saul said, Let not mine hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philistines be upon him z.

y This was no more than Saul was obliged to do by his former promise, chap. 17. 25. which here he renews and pretends to perform, though he intended nothing less, as the Sequel shews. Whereby he makes himself guilty of Ingratitude, Injustice, and breach of Trust, and withal of gross Hypocrisie. z He thought so great an offer would oblige him, who was of himself Valiant enough, to give proofs of more than common Valour, and to venture upon the most dangerous Enterprizes.

18 And David said unto Saul, Who am I? and what is my life a, or my fathers family in Israel, that I should be son in law to the king?

a i.e. My manner of living! How obscure is that Condition in which I was born and have been bred! Or rather thus: How little is my life worth, that by the exposing of that to some hazard (which Saul required of him) I should purchase a King's Daughter! In these Expressions David sheweth not only his Humility, but also his Wisdom, in discovering so deep a sense of his own meanness, that Saul might see how far he was from aspiring at the Kingdom, and might have no occasion to suspect that he was already anointed thereto.

19 But it came to pass at the time when Merab Sauls daughter should have been given to David b, that she was given unto Adriel the Meholathite c to wife.

b When the Marriage was even ready to be solemnized. c The Son of Barzillai, as he is called 2 Sam. 21. 8. This was an act of great Injustice and Perfidiousness; and accordingly this Marriage was accursed by God, and the Children begotten in it, were by God's appointment cut off, 2 Sam. 21.

† Heb. was right in his eyes.

20 And Michal Sauls daughter loved David: and they told Saul, and the thing † pleased him d.

d Not for any Respect he had to David; but for his own malicious and wicked Ends, that he might make use of her Love to David, to ensnare and ruine him, which he thought might be done many ways, whereof one is here expressed.

* Verse 26.

21 And Saul said, I will give him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. Wherefore Saul said to David, Thou shalt * this day e be my son in law, in the one of the twain f.

e i.e. Suddenly, within a time which probably Saul prefixed. f Whereas I have only two Daughters, and thou wast disappointed of thy expectation in the one by an unexpected accident, thou shalt certainly have the other, which is the same thing. Heb. in the twain. Thus the Cities of Gilead is put for one of them, Judg. 12. 7. And the sides of the Ship for one of the sides, Jonah 1. 5. Or, he saith, in the twain, or, in both, because he was in effect betrothed to the one, and should be married to the other, and so was his Son in law upon a double account.

22 ¶ And Saul commanded his servants, saying, Commune with David g secretly, and say, Behold, the king hath delight in thee, and all his servants love thee: now therefore be the kings son in law.

g Whom having so lately and grossly deceived, he found backward to embrace his motion, and therefore sets others on work to persuade him.

23 And Sauls servants spake those words in the ears of David: and David said, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a kings son in law, seeing that I am a poor man, and lightly esteemed h?

h And therefore neither have Estate nor Credit to give (according to the manner, Gen. 34. 12. Exod. 22. 16, 17.) a Dowry suitable to her Quality.

† Heb. according to these words.

24 And the servants of Saul told him, saying, † On this manner spake David.

25 And Saul said, Thus shall ye say to David, The king desireth not any dowry, but an hundred fore-skins i of the Philistines, to be avenged of the kings enemies. But Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines.

i These he desires rather than their Heads; partly, for the greater convenience of bringing them, and presenting them before him; partly, to cover his Malice against David with a pretence of Zeal for God, and for his People, and for the Covenant of Circumcision; and partly, that the Philistines might be the more enraged against David for this reproachful and barbarous usage of them, and might therefore watch all opportunities to destroy him.

† Heb. three fulfilled.

26 And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well to be the kings son in law k: and the days l were not † expired.

k As for other Reasons, so especially because this opened the Door to the Kingdom which God had promised him. l i.e. The time allowed by Saul to David for the execution of this Exploit.

27 Wherefore David arose, he, and his men, and slew of the Philistines two hundred men, and David brought their fore-skins, and they gave them in full tale to the king m, that he might be the kings son in law: and Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.

m He doubled the number required; partly, to oblige Saul the more to the performance of his Promise; and partly, to shew his great Respect and Affection to Saul's Daughter.

28 ¶ And

28 ¶ And Saul saw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal Sauls daughter loved him.

29 And Saul was yet the more afraid of David n, and Saul became Davids enemy continually.

n Because he both lost his Design against David's life, and had now paved a way for him to the Throne.

30 Then the princes of the Philistines went forth o: and it came to pass after they went forth, that David behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul, so that his name was much † set by.

o To wit, to war against the Israelites, being provoked both by their former losses, and especially by that act of David's, related above, v. 27.

CHAP. XIX.

Saul purposeth to kill David: Jonathan discloseth it: speaketh in his behalf to Saul: who sweareth not to kill him: he returneth to court, 1,—7. By reason of his success in a new war, Saul again seeketh to kill him: Michal acquainteth him with it: he flieth: she deceiveth her father, 8,—17. David cometh to Samuel at Ramah: Saul sendeth messengers twice to apprehend him: they both prophesie, 18,—21. He goeth himself thither and prophesieth likewise, 22,—24.

AND Saul spake to Jonathan his son a, and to all his servants b, that they should kill David.

a Whom, though lately engaged in a League of Friendship with David, he thought to oblige to it by sense of his own Interest, as being the next Heir of the Crown, and likely to suffer most by David's advancement. b What before he secretly designed, now he openly and impudently avowed.

2 But Jonathan Sauls son, delighted much in David: and Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father seeketh to kill thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thy self until the morning c, and abide in a secret place, and hide thy self.

c Lest he kill thee before I discourse with him, and endeavour to reconcile him to thee; which I think not fit to attempt as yet, whilst he is in the fit of Rage against thee; but I intend to do in the morning, when I may hope to find him in a better Temper.

3 And I will go out and stand by my father in the field, where thou art d, and I will commune with my father of thee, and what I see, that I will tell thee.

d In the Field where my Father useth to walk, where also I would have thee to hide thy self, that I may know where to find thee at hand, to acquaint thee with the success of my Endeavours, that thou maist accordingly either return to Court, or speedily depart.

4 ¶ And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father e, and said unto him, Let not the king sin against his servant, against David: because he hath not sinned against thee, and because his works have been to thee-ward very good.

e Which he could not do without hazard to himself. Herein therefore he performed the Duty of a true Friend, and of a valiant Man.

5 For he did put his * life in his hand f, and slew the Philistine, and the LORD wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and didst rejoyce: wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?

* Judg. c. 17. & 12. 3. Ch. 28. 21. Psal. 119. 109.

f i.e. He exposed his life to eminent hazard. See the Notes on Judg. 12. 3.

6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan, and Saul sware, As the LORD liveth, he shall not be slain g.

g This great change is not to be ascribed to any true Repentance for his sin against David, or any better affection which he now had to him; but meerly to his own worldly Interest; because he was convinced by Jonathan's discourse, that he could not kill him, without great inconvenience and shame to himself.

7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan shewed him all those things: and Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as † in times past.

† Heb. yesterday, third day.

8 ¶ And there was war again: and David went out, and fought with the Philistines, and slew them with a great slaughter, and they fled from † him.

† Heb. his face.

9 And * the evil spirit † from the LORD was upon Saul h, as he sat in his house with his javelin in his hand: and David played with his hand.

* Chap. 18. 10. & 18. 10. † Heb. of the Lord.

h David's successes against the Philistines, which should have cheered his heart, made him sad, and the Devil watched the opportunity to improve his Melancholy, as before he had done.

10 And Saul sought to smite David even to the wall with the javelin: but he slipt away out of Sauls presence; and he smote the javelin into the wall: and David fled, and escaped that night.

* Psal. 59 title.

11 *Saul also sent messengers unto Davids house to watch him, and to slay him in the morning i: and Michal Davids wife told him, saying, If thou save not thy life to night, to morrow thou shalt be slain k.

i Why not in the Night? Ans. Partly, because it would have been barbarous, and most dishonourable to Saul, to break into David's House by Night, and kill him in his own House and Bed; and it seemed more expedient to kill him as he came out of his House in the Morning: partly, because the Night might give David some opportunity of escaping, which the Day-light would prevent: and principally, by God's singular Providence, infatuating Saul's Mind to take the worst course, that David might be delivered from him. k Which she might learn, either by information from Jonathan, or some other Courtier that was privy to the Design: or from her own observation of some suspicious or dangerous Persons hovering about the House.

12 ¶ So Michal let David down thorow a window l: and he went and fled, and escaped.

l Because they lay in wait for him at the Doors of the House, whence over he should come forth there.

13 And Michal took † an image m, and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow of goats hair for his bolster n, and covered it with a cloth o.

m Heb. Teraphim, which was an Image made in human shape: which she might keep secretly, either out of a superstitious regard to it, or out of meer curiosity. This stratagem she used, because knowing her Fathers unquiet, and jealous, and furious Temper, she suspected he might come or send, to see whether David was there or no. n Or, put great Goats hair upon his Bolster; i.e. upon the Head and Face of the Image, which lay upon his Bolster, that it might have some kind of resemblance of David's Head and Hair, at least in a sick man's Bed, where there useth to be but a glimmering light. Goats is here put for Goats hair, as it manifestly is, Exod. 25. 4. and 26. 7. and 35. 26. It is acknowledged by learned Writers, that in those Eastern Countries, Goats had much longer hair than ours have, and were shorn like Sheep, and that their hair was not unlike to a Mans or Womans hair; as may also be gathered from Cant. 4. 1. thy hair is as a flock of Goats; i.e. as the hair of a flock Goats. And as there was Goats hair of several colours, (as the Wool of Sheep in divers parts is of very differing colours, as white, or black, or yellow, &c.) so it is most probable she took that colour which was likest the colour of David's hair. And she took this rather than the hair of another Man, because the procuring and ordering of that would have taken up some time; whereas she had Goats hair of all sorts at hand, as being used in Spinning or Weaving, &c. Or, the sense may be this, according to our Translation, That she put a Pillow of the softest part of Goats hair under the head of the Image, as they used to put under the heads of sick Men; whereby also the head of the Image sinking into the Pillow, might be less discerned, especially when it was either wholly or in part covered with a Cloth. And all this Art was used, that David being supposed, and, by some Persons who were sent to enquire, perceived, as they thought, to be in the Bed, Saul might be hindred from pursuing and overtaking him before he had got into some secure place. o Upon pretence of his being sick, and needing some such covering, but really in design to prevent the discovery of her Deceit.

14 And when Saul sent messengers p to take David, she said, He is sick.

p To wit, other Messengers in the Morning, supposing the former to be either slow or perfidious.

15 And Saul sent the messengers again to see David q, saying, Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may slay him.

q Or only, to see David, which they did not before, but went away satisfied (as it was fit they should) with her Report and Testimony of his Sickness.

16 And when the messengers were come in, behold, there was an image in the bed, with a pillow of goats hair for his bolster.

17 And Saul said unto Michal, Why hast thou deceived me so, and sent away mine enemy, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go: Why should I kill thee r?

r If thou dost not permit me to escape, without discovery, I shall be forced for my own defence to kill thee. Though it is most likely, this was a Lye, and a Fiction of her own.

18 ¶ So David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuel to Ramah s, and told him all that Saul had done to him: and he and Samuel went and dwelt in Naioth.

s Partly, for Comfort and Direction in his great Distress; and partly, for Safety, supposing that Saul would be ashamed to execute his bloody Designs in the presence of so venerable a Person as Samuel, who had laid so great Obligations upon Saul, and had such great and just Reputation with the People.

19 And it was told Saul, saying, Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah t.

t Or, near Ramah; the Hebrew preposition beth: in, being oft put for near, as it is apparently used, Numb. 33. 37, 38. Jos. 5. 13. Jer. 20. 2. and 32. 7. Naioth was either an House or College in the Town of Ramah, or a Village in the Territory of Ramah, or near to the Town of Ramah; in which there was a College of the Prophets, amongst whom Samuel thought David might be secure.

20. And Saul sent messengers to take David u: and when they saw the company of the prophets prophesying u, and Samuel standing as appointed over them y, the spirit of God was upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied z.

u Thus Saul's Wickedness and Fury increased; and he that at first used only secret Practices against David, now breaks forth into open and impudent Hostilities; plainly declaring, that he neither feared God, nor reverenced Man. He would have punished Samuel, as afterwards he did Abimelech, for giving David Entertainment, but that he feared the People, who had so great and unanimous a Veneration for him. x i.e. Speaking of God, or of the things of God by Divine Inspiration; either praising God, or instructing Men. Compare Numb. 11. 25. 1 Sam. 10. 5. y To instruct, moderate and direct them in those Holy Exercises. For though they prophesied by Divine Inspiration, which Samuel could not govern; yet they were both to prepare and dispose themselves for it beforehand, and to make good improvement of it afterwards, in both which they needed Samuel's Counsel and Assistance. And whereas some might falsly pretend to those Raptures; or the Devil might transform himself into an Angel of Light, and convey some evil or false Suggestions into some of their Minds, Samuel's Presence and Judgment was necessary to prevent and to detect such Impostures. Besides, Samuel would by his present Conjunction with them in those Holy Exercises, encourage them, and stir up others to the coveting of those Gifts, and the performance of such Religious Duties. z Being inspired by God to do so, as wicked Balaam also was; that being wrapt up into such an Extasie, their Minds might be wholly taken up with those matters, and quite taken off from their Design of seizing David.

21 And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likewise: and Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they prophesied also.

22 Then went he also to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu: and he asked, and said, Where are Samuel and David a? And one said, Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramah.

a For, his Messengers not returning, he knew not exactly where they were.

23 And he went thither to Naioth in Ramah: and the spirit of God was upon him also b, and he went on, and prophesied until he came to Naioth in Ramah:

b It came upon him in the way; whereas it came not upon his Messengers till they came to the place. Whereby God would convince Saul of the Vanity of all his Designs against David, and that in them he fought against God himself.

24 And he stript off his clothes c also d, and prophesied before Samuel e in like manner f, and † lay down g naked h all that day, and all that night i: wherefore they say, * Is Saul also among the Prophets k?

† Heb. fell. Num 24. 4. * Chap. 10. 11.

c To wit, his Military or Royal Garments: which he did, either that he might suit himself and his habit to the rest of the Company; or, because his mind being altogether taken up with Divine things, he did not understand nor heed what he did. d This implies, that the Messengers which he sent, who probably were Military Persons, had done so before him. e This doth not contradict 1 Sam. 15. 35. where it is said, that Samuel came no more to see Saul: for here Saul goes to Samuel, and that not with design to see him, but to surprize David. f As the rest of the Prophets there did. g Heb. fell, to wit, down upon the Earth; for his Mind being in an Extasie, he had not the use of his Senses or Motion, as he, Numb. 24. 4. God so ordering it, that David might have an opportunity to escape. h i.e. Strip of his upper Garments, as was said before, and as the word Naked is oft used, as Isa. 20. 2. Mich. 1. 8. See also 2 Sam. 6. 20. Job. 22. 7. And it is here repeated to signifie how long he lay in that posture. i So God kept him as it were in Chains, till David was got out of his reach. k The same Proverb which was taken up upon a like occasion, 1 Sam. 10. 12. is here remembred and revived upon this new occasion, as an Evidence of God's wonderful Care over David; he made in some sort a Prophet, that he might make David a King.

CHAP. XX.

David complaineth to Jonathan of Saul: he comforteth him: can hardly believe what David saith of his father: promiseth to give him notice how his absence was taken: they renew a covenant of friendship, and swear to each other, 1,—17. Their sign, 18,—23. Saul asketh for David at the feast of the new moon, 24,—27. Jonathan excuseth David: Saul incensed hereat revileth Jonathan, and seeketh to kill him, 28,—34. Jonathan adviseth David, 35,—40. They part with tears, 41, 42.

AND David fled a from Naioth in Ramah b, and came and said before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity? and what is my sin before thy father c, that he seeketh my † life d?

† Heb. soul.

a Whilst Saul lay in an Extasie. b To Gibeah where Jonathan was, taking the opportunity of Saul's absence. c What is it which thus incenseth thy Father against me? What Crime doth he charge me with? d To wit, to destroy it, as this Phrase is oft used, as chap. 22. 23. Psal. 38. 12. and 54. 3. and 63. 9.

2 And he said unto him, God forbid; thou shalt not die e: behold, my father will do nothing either great or small, but that he will † shew it me: and why should my father hide this thing from me? it is not so.

† Heb. uncover mine ear.

e I will secure thee by my Interest with my Father; nor doth he design to destroy thee; for what he doth in his frantick fits is not to be imputed to him; and when he comes to himself, I doubt not to reconcile thee to him. For Jonathan gave credit to his Father's Oath, chap. 19. 6. and the worthiest Minds are least suspicious, and most charitable in their Opinions of others.

3 And David sware f moreover, and said, Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes; and he said, Let not Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved: but truly as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, there is but a step between me and death.

f The matter being of great moment, and Jonathan doubting the truth of it, he confirms his word with an Oath, which follows in the end of the Verse. Only he interposeth a reason why Saul concealed it from Jonathan.

4 Then said Jonathan unto David, ‖ Whatsoever thy soul † desireth g, I will even do it for thee.

‖ Or, say what is thy mind, and I will do, &c. † Speaketh, or thinketh.

g To wit, for the discovery of the truth, and for the preservation of thy life.

5 And David said unto Jonathan, Behold, to morrow is the new moon h, and I should not fail to sit with the king at meat i: but let me go, that I may hide my self in the fields, unto the third day k at even.

h Which was a solemn and Festival time, as among the Romans and other Heathens, so also with the Hebrews, who solemnized it with offering Peace-offerings to God, and Feasting together upon the remainders of it, after the manner. See Numb. 10. 10. and 28. 11. Psal. 81. 3. i Then he useth to be part a company above other times. k i.e. Unto the next Day, but one after the new Moon; as appears by comparing v. 19, 27, 35. His meaning is not, that he should hide himself in any certain place all the three Days, but that he should secure himself either at Bethlehem with his Friends, or in any other Place till the third Day.

6 If thy father at all miss me l, then say, David earnestly asked leave of me m, that he might run to Bethlehem his city n, for there is a yearly ‖ sacrifice o for all the family p.

‖ Or, feast.

l Quest. How could David imagine that Saul would expect his Company, whom he had once and again endeavoured to kill? Ans. First, He might suppose that David would ascribe all that to his Madness and frantick Fits, which being over, he would promise himself safety in the King's presence. Secondly, David might not think that Saul would indeed expect him to Feast with him, considering his late and great danger from Saul; but that Saul would make use of this Pretence, and require his presence, that he might lay hold upon him; and therefore he desired to try the Experiment. m Who being the King's Son and Deputy, used to give Licence to Military Men to depart for a season upon just occasions. n i.e. The place of his Birth and Education, John 7. 42. o A Sacrifice which was offered up in some high place there Yearly, upon some special occasion not mentioned in Scripture, which was accompanied with a Feast: or, a yearly Feast, as the Hebrew word is sometimes used. p Wherein all the Members of our Family used to meet together, when they will earnestly expect me above others, and will charge me with Pride and Unnaturalness, if I neglect their Invitation.

7 If he say thus, It is well, thy servant shall have peace: but if he be very wroth then be sure q that evil is determined by him.

q Heb. know thou: For indeed David knew well enough that Saul designed to kill him; but he useth this course for Jonathan's Information and Satisfaction, and for his own greater Vindication, if he did wholly withdraw himself from Saul, and from his Wife; which he foresaw he should be forced to do.

8 Therefore thou shalt deal kindly with thy servant r: for * thou hast brought thy servant into a covenant of the LORD s with thee: notwithstanding, if there be in me iniquity, slay me thy self t: for why shouldest thou bring me to thy father u?

* Chap. 18. 3. & 23. 18.

r In giving me timely notice, and a true account of Saul's Disposition and Intention towards me. s i.e. A solemn Covenant, not lightly undertaken, but seriously entred into, in the name and fear of God, and in his presence, calling him to be the Witness of our Sincerity therein, and the Avenger of Perfidiousness in him that breaks it. t I am contented thou shouldst kill me. u Why shouldst thou betray me to thy Father, by concealing his evil Intentions from me?

9 And Jonathan said, Far be it from thee x: for if I knew certainly, that evil were determined by my father to come upon thee, then would not I tell it thee?

x I abhor the Thoughts of either killing thee my self, or giving thee up to my Father to slay thee.

10 Then said David to Jonathan, Who shall tell me y? or what if thy father answer thee roughly?

y By what Means or Messenger shall I understand this? for peradventure thou wilt not be able to come to me thy self.

11 ¶ And Jonathan said unto David, Come, and let us go out into the field z. And they went out both of them into the field.

z Lest we be over-heard.

12 And

12 And Jonathan said unto David, O LORD God of Israel a, when I have † sounded my father, about to morrow any time, or the third day, and behold, if there be good toward David, and I then send not unto thee, and † shew it thee;

† Heb. searched.

a Do thou hear and judge between us. It is an abrupt Speech, which is usual in great Passions.

13 The LORD do so, and much more to Jonathan: but if it please my father to do thee evil, then I will shew it thee, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace; and the LORD be with thee, as he hath been with my father b.

† Heb. uncover thine ear.
